Dear Santa,
First off I want to let you know that even though this letter comes later than my usual it is not because I am wondering about Santa. I hear the big kids talking and I do still believe. I have just been busy starting Pre-K that Mrs. Lemons and my mom have me learning my ABC. It's all fine as long as you get this early enough.

I went with my Mom to the Ranch show and I saw the most awesome Bull rider kit. It has everything! Bulls, bells, pens, and even the Clown in the Barrel. I wanted it so bad but my mom said to ask you. The lady said they were from Colorado, and that those one of a kind bull sets were going back there. I was scared that you wouldn't find the place so I got one of their cards (enclosed in envelope). I know you go around the world but it's a little place in the mountains and I think they know you, so I was hoping you will get it for me. I promise you just like I promised my mom that just because I get it doesn't mean I will be a bull rider. My mom says it's way to dangerous to get on a bull. If she only knew I really want to be the clown in the barrel!

I think I'm on the Nice list but just in case let me explain what may have put me on the Naughty list. Yes, I did pour milk on Grant's head at school. He wasn't listening to me and I thought by doing that he would. What will make you proud was even though I was in trouble I didn't want Grant to be mad so I took his milk, and poured it on top of my head in front of everyone. My mom was still upset, and Mrs. Lemons still pulled my ticket. I thought I had made it all better. I can say I tried. The other thing sounds worse but when my little sister Lilly looks at her Christmas pictures she will thank me. I was doing my homework like a good boy when my scissors just wouldn't cut. I wanted to see how sharp they were, and she was sitting right there with a big ponytail on top or her head that was just calling my name. So, I cut it off! I really didn't think they were sharp. I tried to put it back on her head but it wouldn't stay. Santa I did learn my lesson. My mom was crying since I gave my sister her first hair cut. Only Cory smiled since he didn't like the pebbles look, and was wanting my mom to do her hair different. She finally doesn't have a choice. Now she has a cute hairdo thanks to me. See, I told you everything turned out fine.

Last thing is I have no chimney. My parents say you can still get in but just in case I want you to know that if you knock twice on the door my mom will be up waiting. Thank you so much Santa for everything! Oh, I forgot to tell that I wanted to help shoot my first deer this year but since I may have a question mark next to me I decided to wait for next year. I wouldn't want to shoot one of you're gang. I would really rather the Bull set anyway than rudolph on my wall.

Love Always,
Bailey Robert Fox,
Pre-K

The Forgotten Dog's Christmas
 "Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
 Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse
 The stockings were hung by the chimney with care
 In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there
 The children were nestled all snug in their beds
 With no thoughts of the dog filling their head
 And mamma in her 'kerchief, and I in my cap
 Knew he was cold, but didn't care about that
 When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter
 I sprang from the bed to see what was the matter
 Away to the window I flew like a flash
 Figuring the dog was free from the chain and into the trash
 The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
 Gave a luster of mid-day to the objects below
 When, what to my wondering eyes should appear
 But St. Nick - with his eyes full of tears
 He un-chained the dog, once so lively and quick
 Last year's Christmas present, now thin and sick
 More rapid than eagles he called the dog's name
 And the dog ran to him, despite all his pain
 "Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen
 On, Comet! on, Cupid! On, Donner! and Blitzen!
 To the top of the porch! To the top of the wall!
 Let's find this dog a home where he'll be loved by all."

I knew in an instant there would be no gifts this year
 For Santa Claus had made one thing clear
 The gift of a dog is not just for the season
 We had gotten the dog for all the wrong reasons
 In our haste to think of gifts for the kids
 There is one important thing that we missed
 A dog should be family, and cared for the same
 You don't give a gift, then put it on a chain
 And I heard him exclaim as he rode out of sight
 "You weren't given a gift! You were given a LIFE!"
