While there she visited Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wilhelm. She accompanied her children and grandchildren to Thompson Park for a picnic one day.

On Sunday, Sept. 15, Mrs. Harley Eddleman of Claude honored her mother, Mrs. Hulsey, and her brother, Jackie Hulsey, with a birthday dinner. They enjoyed games of "42" in the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. John Rogers entered Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Monday and underwent surgery Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson White and son, Paul, and Mrs. Ben White of Tulia spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. John Monk. Mrs. Ben White was celebrating her birthday anniversary.

Edward Monk, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. John Monk left Thursday to resume his tour of duty with Uncle Sam. He leaves Amarillo at midnight tonight by train for New York and will leave there by plane Sept. 30 for a tour in Turkey.

The Rev. Robert Gauer of Turkey stopped in the Tribune Tuesday morning to give his new address. We hate to lose this good family from the Valley, but we wish them great success in their new venture.

FARMERS CONTINUE TO MEET PRODUCTION CHALLENGES
 College Station — The total volume of farm output in the United States in 1967 was a record 4 per cent above 1966 and 18 percent above the 1957-59 average. Production increased for cattle, calves and hogs but was lower for sheep and lambs, reports C. A. Parker, Texas A&M University Extension economist.

Poultry and egg production, he adds, was at a new high with record output of eggs, broilers and Turkeys. Dairy products remained at about the same level as in 1966.

Cotton production was the smallest since 1895 and only half of 1961-65 average. Record corn and sorghum grain output pushed the feed grain total to a new high. Food grain production increased 14 percent above 1966. Oil crops continued to increase, primarily because of a rise in soybean output.

Labor used on farms in the United States totaled 7.4 billion man-hours in 1967. This, explains the economist, was lower than any previous year and 1.4 percent less than in 1966. Farm output per man-hour in 1967 rose more than 6 percent from a year earlier. The increase in livestock production per man-hour was greater than for crops. Fewer farm workers in 1967 supplied food and other farm products to an increased domestic population. Each farm worker in 1967 supplied 42 domestic and foreign consumers with their needed agricultural products.

The total volume of inputs in 1967 was nearly 2 percent larger than in 1966, says Parker. Agriculture in the United States, he says is increasingly dependent in the non-farm sectors of the economy for production inputs. The record high volume of purchase inputs in 1967 was 24 percent greater than in 1957-59. The volume of purchase inputs has decreased 19 percent since 1957-59. Inputs used in agriculture in 1967, however, were more productive than in 1966. Farm output per unit of input in 1967 was about 2 percent greater than in 1966 and 8 percent greater than in 1957-59.

TB IS STILL MOST COMMON INFECTIOUS CAUSE OF DEATH

Tuberculosis is still today the most common infectious (contagious) cause of death not only in the U.S. but also throughout the world.

Drugs have aided mightily in the treatment of tuberculosis. Only recently, however, have drugs been used to prevent tuberculosis in those people who have been infected with the TB germ, but in whom active disease has not yet developed.

According to Charles McIntosh of the Top of Texas Tuberculosis Association, the United States Public Health Service has made tests which show that from 50 to 75 per cent of TB cases can be prevented by the use of drugs by those people who have been found to be infected — who are "positive reactors" to the tuberculin test. It is thought that extensive use of drugs would likely reduce by 300,000 the total number of TB cases in the U.S. in the next 15 years.

A single drug, isoniazid, is generally used for this treatment. It is given in a single daily dose for a period of 12 months. In tests for more than 15 years, no evidence of bad effects from its use have been revealed. In addition, it is inexpensive.

Mr. McIntosh points out that there are certain groups of "positive reactors" for whom drug taking is particularly important. These include ex-patients, people with certain other types of ailments such as leukemia, people who are contacts of recently discovered new active cases, and people who have recently become "positive reactors." Most patients will accept and stay on the drugs for the full course, he believes, providing they understand the advantages to be gained from taking the medicine regularly and for as long as the physician recommends.

BI-DISTRICT POLICY MEETING TO BE HELD AT AMARILLO

A bi-district meeting of the Farmers Home Administration will be held in Amarillo on September 24 and 25 according to County Supervisor, Don Cruce.

Information obtained at a regional meeting held in St. Louis on how to check the flow of rural people into urban areas will be discussed by the state Office staff. Mr. Wayne Nelson, President of the Young Farmers Association of Texas will be guest speaker.

The local Farmers Home Administration office will be closed from September 24 to September 25 due to the meeting. Those attending from Tulla will be Don Cruce County supervisor, Larry Treybig Assistant County Supervisor and Glenna Reynolds, County Office Clerk.

Don Cruce said that through 13 county offices, the Farmers Home Administration in Texas will loan about $130 million to rural families and communities this fiscal year.

Last year, about $60 million was loaned for operation expenses. Over 4,100 rural Texans received loans to improve or construct homes. More than 660 farmers became land owners through the FHA Farm Ownership loan program and nearly 250 Texas communities received FHA loans to build or expand water systems, sewer systems, recreation projects, and grazing associations.

Technical Schools Unlock Opportunity

Two fields offering unlimited career opportunities in the years ahead are health services and communications. Here students at Career Academy, one of the nation's leading technical training school systems, receive job-related experience as they prepare for careers in dental technology and radio-television broadcasting.

While young Americans flock to colleges in record numbers, a most significant revolution is unfolding in specialized education. For every college-bound youngster there will be another high school graduate or veteran headed for a private school for broadcasters, dental assistants, hotel management, electronic technicians, or other fields requiring technical training.

After completing accelerated training programs, ranging from 4 to 24 months, the technical school graduate can be earning good wages and facing a bright and promising future while helping to solve some critical national manpower needs.

Technical or vocational education has taken its place as an important segment of our national educational system.

One authority, Wesley D. Pavalon, president and board chairman of Career Academy, which operates 14 resident technical schools and four home study schools in North America, cites these reasons:

—Educators, businessmen and parents realize there is a basic fallacy to a system geared to college degrees which are earned by only two out of 10 seeking them. Job-oriented training is gaining stature.

—At the same time, our rapidly growing and changing economy, which is becoming increasingly technological, demands new skills from workers—but not necessarily college graduates. Technical schools are doing an excellent job of meeting the demand.

—There is increasing awareness that it's the trained and skilled who have the best opportunity to pluck the plums from the job market.

What was once virtually a no-man's-land—between the high school and college diploma—is now populated by millions seeking bigger paychecks, a better home, family security, self-satisfaction, and the means to enjoy leisure.

More than five million are seeking improvement through home study alone, while thousands more are enrolling in institutions like Career Academy for resident training to benefit from the drastic shortages of skilled specialists.

THE 1968 HOUSING ACT

L.J. Cappelman, Texas State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, said today he had been notified by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman of the rural housing and rural community planning features of the newly enacted 1968 Housing Act.

The Act was signed into law on August 11 by President Johnson.

Secretary Freeman's statement pointed out the new housing program is part of the President's drive to remove all substandard housing in the nation within a decade, including the 3 million substandard houses that exist in rural America.

Mr. Freeman announced that benefits of the new Housing and Urban Development Act will be channeled into Texas rural areas through the 138 local county offices of the Farmers Home Administration, and through the rural system of Technical Action Panels.

The Farmers Home Administration, a Department of Agriculture supervised credit agency for housing, farming, and community facilities, carries on rural housing programs, established by the new act and previous legislation, for farmers and for other people in the countryside and in rural towns of up to 5,500 population.

New housing services under the act will include -

- Housing loan interest supplement payments for families with incomes too low to meet in full the amortized loan payments on the individual rural housing loans.
- Interest supplements on loans to develop nonprofit rental and cooperative housing for low-income people.
- Financial support for "self-help" housing projects for low-income families including grants to nonprofit organizations for the development and supervision of "self-help" housing projects land to be used as building sites.
- Housing and training facilities for rural job trainees and their families.

- Expanded housing credit for city people who work in rural areas.
- Loans for the purchase of building sites for farm-labor housing.

would be due if the interest rate were one percent.

The actual amount that a low-income family will need to pay will depend on its income and the size of the family.

Mr. Freeman announced that the interest-supplement program for individual borrowers under the Farmers Home Administration authority (Title X of the Act) will be placed in effect immediately. Individual loans may be made up to 33 years, loans for rental and cooperative housing may be made payable over periods up to 50 years.

Freeman said the new Act will facilitate a back-to-the-country movement by city dwellers who work in rural areas. They no longer will be required to own rural homesites in order to be eligible for Farmers Home Administration rural housing loans to build homes where they work. They also will now be able to buy an existing home in a rural area.

The interest-supplement program for rural nonprofit rental housing organizations and cooperatives of low-income families will take effect when administrative arrangements are completed. The new provisions for job-trainee and self-help housing assistance will not take effect until funds are appropriated.

The act also eliminates an old provision that any tenant admitted to a Farmers Home Administration-financed rental unit, or any new member of a rural housing co-op, units.

The interest-supplement plan seeks to put adequate housing within reach of lower-income families by reducing their loan or rent payments. The supplement payments will be made by the Federal Government.

Technical Action Panels, which include top local representatives of USDA agencies that have local offices in rural areas, will help rural communities gain access to all provisions of the new housing legislation that can be adapted for use in small towns.

A minimum requirement is that a home-ownership borrower who does not have enough income to pay his loan installments in full will pay at least the amount that

To Whom This Letter Concerns:

I hope that the ones that are putting out poison for dogs have strong consciences. They need it.

I'm just wondering if you know how a child feels when they see a pet, whom they love very much, dying of convulsions, while you stand by helplessly.

If you would just stop and think a minute, you would realize some child could pick up the poison, just as easily as a dog, and then you would be in trouble, because it is against the law to put out poison of any kind.

I wish there was some way to find out who is doing this, but I probably never will. But, please—next time, have the decency to shoot the dog instead of poisoning it.

Sue Chadwick

SCHOOL ECONOMIST DEMONSTRATE FOR SCHOOL LUNCH WORKSHOPS

Austin — Children in approximately 1,300 schools may be eating more fish this year due to the efforts of two home economists.

Miss Henrietta Gosset, home economist for the Seafood Marketing Division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and Mrs. Rose Mary Peterson, home economist for the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, spent the summer demonstrating fish recipes at school lunch workshops over the State.

Their purpose was to convince school lunch managers that fish provided an economical and nutritious way to vary the school menu.

The home economists demonstrated four recipes — Spicy Oven-Fried Ocean Trout Fillets, Shrimp Salad, Tangy Fish - Cheese Sandwich and Tuna - Salad. Miss Gosset says the recipes can be fixed in large quantities with relative ease and at cost ranging from six - and - one - half cents per portion to 16 cents per portion.

"There are several things which make fish ideal as an institutional food," says Miss Gosset. "For one thing, fish is faster to cook than other protein foods. It also requires less preparation time prior to cooking."

Miss Gosset and Mrs. Peterson received nine weeks training by the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries in College Park, Md., on how to cook fish in large quantities.

Both women are home economics graduates of East Texas State University in Commerce and received training in cooking in small portions of fish in Pascagoula, Miss., from the Bureau.

SALT SHORTAGE CAUSES THIRST

On hot days when you can't seem to get enough to drink, try adding a pinch of salt to your water. Lack of salt, curiously enough causes the thirst.

TOOTHPASTE SHINES SPOONS

A tube of toothpaste keeps spoons shiny. Rub paste on spoon with fingertip. Slight abrasion shines'em up.
