The cost for the previous years has been $400.00 per county to work with the Texas Predatory Animal Control Board, administrator of the program. In Briscoe County, the Commissioners provided $100.00 and supporting farmers and ranchers contributed $300.00 by donation only.

The program will cost $450.00 per month in 1986-87, due to increased budgetary problems at the state level.

For the same group there is no charge for a fishing license, but all under 17 and over 65 must sign up for one.

The combination hunting and fishing license for all other ages is $15.00.

As usual, all licenses expire August 31.

NAMED TO TSTI

PRESIDENT'S HONOR ROLL

Jose (Angel) Castillo was recently named to the President's Honor Roll for the summer quarter at Texas State Technical Institute in Amarillo.

Honorees must achieve a 4.0 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

Castillo, son of Domingo Castillo of Quitaque, is a 1980 graduate of Valley High School. He is a construction student at TSTI.

Public Notice

It has been brought to the attention of the editor that the rumor is going around that the Valley Tribune is "folding." We wish people would not spread that rumor until they know what they are talking about. The Tribune is staying in business as long as the people support it.

The Valley Tribune is changing helpers again at Turkey. Mrs. Nadine Baisden will be helping at Turkey. She has years of experience in the newspaper, having been editor of the Turkey newspaper at one time. She has had experience in assembling yearbooks for study clubs and she got the "Old Filings", a 24-page newspaper for the Turkey Sesquicentennial, together.

Mrs. Smith has done an excellent job for the Valley Tribune, and we hate to lose her, but she needs some more time to try writing for the newspaper. We have asked her to try her hand at this and hope we can use her again. She has done a superb job of getting the news, advertising, etc., but there are articles in other newspapers concerning Turkey (and Quitaque) that it takes more experience to edit them to be legal. The editor doesn't have time to help Debra, with school starting. We hope you will help Nadine. She is going to work out of her home.

Conservation Reserve Program Meeting Is Fri.

Briscoe County farmers who have bid land into the Conservation Reserve Program should attend an important meeting at 10:00 a.m. Friday in the Pioneer Room of First State Bank in Silverton.

James Griffin from the ASCS office will discuss how the program will be handled and how payments will be made to participants.

John Crowell from the Soil Conservation Service will discuss the requirements for planting of dead-litter crops, native grass seeding, and other requirements for establishing CRP land to native grass.

A question-and-answer session will follow the presentations by Griffin and Crowell. New contracts will be reviewed after the meeting.

You are encouraged to attend this meeting if you have a CRP contract, or plan to bid in a future signup. For more information, contact the Soil Conservation Service in Silverton at 823-2320.

Each session offers a variety of "hands on" experiences as well as a wide range of recreational activities. Reservation forms are available at any County Extension office and should be received by the Texas 4-H Center at least one week prior to the camp the individual plans to attend.

Educational Planned For

The Extension Home Economics Committee met Thursday August 21, to plan for Extension educational programs for families in the county for the remainder of 1986 and for 1987.

An informational seminar on Alzheimer's Disease will be scheduled this fall with a speaker from Amarillo and a panel of local residents who have been associated with the disease conducting the program.

Plans are also underway for a program for families with a family member in a nursing home and for those who may need to make a nursing home choice in the future.

The Valley Tribune received an article taken from the Abilene-reporter News and sent to the Tribune by Faylice (Bomar) News that was quite interesting. Fay states she liked the article, but didn't like the pronunciation of Quitaque (Kitty-Kay). Fay is a Briscoe County native, born and reared at Silverton. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Oren Bomar. Fay called the reporter and told her it is pronounced (Kitty-Quay).

Excerpts from the article, written by Nancy Robinson, follow: "Sectional charts used by pilots for navigation are noted for accuracy, be it lake, bridge, road—even places out of the 'boonies' where cattle congregate routinely, so you may find the brands deciphered on their rumps. You who fly northwest Texas across the Caprock in the area of the Prairie Dog Fork of the Red River should stop whatever you are doing right now and mark on your sectional the location of the Quitaque International Airport (pronounced Kitty-Kay). The recent Home Economics Task Force identified Family Economics, Family Stability and Family Health and Nutrition as priority issues of concern to county families and the committee will be planning educational programs in these areas for 1987.

If there are topics individuals would like to have presented in public or club programs, they should contact chairman Jackie Mercer or County Extension Agent Lynda Fogerson at 823-2343.

"Now I admit I had never heard of Quitaque until last April 23. The fact that there are 596 people living in this agricommunity with a good 2,800 foot dirt airstrip located a mile south of town used by duster pilots and buzzards on an equal basis wouldn't have interested me in the least under normal circumstances.

"The circumstances on April 23 weren't normal—for a number of reasons. First, it was Wednesday and I normally would be at work selling gas to Lone Star Gas customers. Second, I was on my way to be honored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as one of the 1985 Cultural Achievement Award recipients during its spring meeting in Amarillo. Third, I was riding as a passenger in the back seat of Cessna 210 instead of the front seat. The pilot, my husband, and a friend, were in the front seat, and my friend and I were in the back seat.

"The last abnormal thing to happen was a narrow film of oil began showing along the bottom of the airplane's windshield as we cruised along at 6500 feet over some of Texas' most rugged terrain. The film got wider and wider. This is certainly not normal and needs must be to find a safe landing which my husband did. Bill had been over Silverton and began calculating how far away from the landing field there. By this time, the windshield was covered and my husband told his friend to watch for a ditch. He saw an old wooden hangar on a strip of land near some country homes and we made a safe landing. We signaled to the plane following us and my friend and I were transferred into it and carried on to Amarillo in time for the meeting.

"The men, with the help of a West Texas Utilities lineman, were taken to Tulia where they were picked up by WTCC transportation and they arrived in Amarillo in time to see me receive the big silver cup.

"The 210 had to set in the hangar at Quitaque for several months before a new crankshaft could be found and installed. Bill, my husband, figures we had about another five minutes before the propeller would have left us. It is a good thing I didn't buy a new dress for the shindig because a new crankshaft cost $3200.

"You won't find the Quitaque airstrip on your sectional, but I'd advise you to make it on there anyway. You never know when you may need to stop in for a little West Texas hospitality in a hurry."

CUTTING DOWN ON FAT IN PROTEIN FOODS

Red meat, poultry and fish are a major source of protein, niacin, B-vitamins, iron, phosphorus and zinc, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

Consumers should choose among these protein foods and protein alternates for variety in their diets, explains Mary K. Sweeten. Protein alternates include dried beans and peas, eggs and various nuts and seeds.

"Some people are convinced that the way to reduce the fat intake in their diets is to cut back on these protein foods," she says, "but foods from this group can be selected and prepared so that the amount of fat is quite modest."

The nutritionist recommends choosing lean cuts of red meat, trimming off visible fat from meat, removing the skin from chicken and preparing by baking or broiling instead of frying.

SYNCHRONIZATION, EARLY BREEDING PAYS

Synchronizing estrous in beef heifers and exposing them to bulls 30 days earlier than the rest of the cow herd are two practices that can pay dividends for cattle-men.

A demonstration by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Victoria County showed that early exposed synchronized heifers will return $25.25 more per head than heifers exposed at the normal start of the breeding season without synchronization.

Heifers exposed early without synchronization will return $13.38 more per head than those exposed normally without synchronization. In addition, those exposed at the normal time with synchronization will return $3.15 more per head.

RANCHING PROFITABILITY

To regain profitability, beef cattle producers of Texas must be the low-cost producers of a commodity or produce a superior product for which they will receive a premium, said a speaker at the International Ranchers Roundup at Kerrville on Monday, August 18.

Dr. Gary Smith, head of Texas A&M University's Department of Animal Science, said that beef production must have a total action-agenda to survive and hopefully prosper in the future.

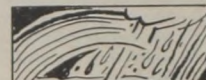

"The future of beef cattle ranching lies in our ability to develop integrated beef management systems that combine current biological knowledge with economic models to allow for simultaneous consideration of all the ramifications of each decision before the decision is made," Dr. Smith said.

PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT IMPORTANT IN RANCHING

Ranch personnel management is a large part of the overall resource management for ranching success, and good communications and clear directions are keys to managing personnel, Atascosa County rancher Lytle Tom told participants at the International Ranchers Roundup at Kerrville on Monday, August 18.

"Ranch personnel have the same needs and limitations as other groups," Tom said. "By improving your own leadership style, you will find the task of managing personnel to be much easier." Mutual respect is the real meaning of good leadership, Tom added, noting that authority is something "we must earn from our subordinates."

"IMMUNIZE CHILDREN"

Now that school is about to start, parents of new kindergarten students know their children must have certain immunizations before enrolling in school. However, parents shouldn't wait that long before beginning children's shots.

Why do many parents put off this important step in their child's life? Some mistakenly believe that childhood diseases are under control, so there is no need for immunizations. This is not true. Only smallpox is controlled in this country. Children can still get mumps, measles and even polio. (I remember how my parents were terrified of polio when I was a child and made sure that I received the vaccine as soon as it became available.)

Other parents simply don't know about the many diseases that are preventable by vaccinations, such as measles and mumps. Parents may believe that because they had these diseases, it's normal for their children to have them, too.

A few parents think possible side effects from immunizations outweigh the risks of childhood diseases, but the opposite is true.

Since the rate of immunization for young children has dropped, disease rates have gone up. The incidence of whooping cough (pertussis) in Texas increased 532% from 1984 to 1985. Almost a third of the youngsters who get the disease had no history of the immunization.

If you want to keep up with your children's immunization dates and other family medical history information, call my office, 823-2343, or come by and pick up a FREE copy of the "Family Health & Medical Record" booklet.

Do We Really Eat Too Much?

For years Americans have thought of themselves as big meat eaters, but new ways of measuring meat consumption show that isn't the case.

Until last year, annual per person red meat consumption was figured by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on the basis of carcasses sold, says meat scientist Dr. Dan Hale. According to the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist, that's like reporting the yearly sweet corn consumption by including the weight of the corn stock, husk, corn silk and cob in the figure.

New figures take into account that meat packers and store butchers remove fat, bone and gristle before meat is placed in the grocery store meat case. Dr. Hale says these figures show that the average daily consumption of red meat is 2.1 ounces per day, which is less than the recommended daily allowance of two 3-ounce servings of cooked lean meats or meat alternatives.

Hall Commission Pass Three Resolutions

At Monday's Hall County Commissioners Court meeting, special election votes were canvassed and the Commissioners certified an official tally of 1,006 votes in favor of the creation of a Hall County Hospital District and 137 votes against it.

In other action by the County Commissioners, the Court ordered that $100 be contributed to the High Plains Food Bank toward services rendered in Hall County.

The Commissioners voted they were not in favor of posting federal warning signs on county bridges. Although the federal program pays for the signs to be erected initially, the county would be required to replace any or all damaged signs at county's expense. Annually, the replacement costs could exceed the original cost, after damaged from farm equipment, hunters, etc. each year.

The court ordered the paying of Texas Mental Health Authority for the year 1986-87, $25 per commitment that Family Services provides screening for in Hall County.

The commissioners opened janitorial bids and accepted the bid submitted by Garvin Speed in the amount of $7,200 yearly to become effective October 1, 1986.

The Hall County Commissioners passed three resolutions, one directed to the State of Texas, one to the Texas Legislature and one to the Texas Delegation in the U. S. Congress.

The resolution to the State of Texas ordered that any property seized by the Hall County Sheriff's department will remain the property of the County and Hall County Law Enforcement.

The other two resolutions concerned federal highways.

The resolution addressed to the Texas Legislature asked that the members of the Texas Senate and Texas House of Representatives to honor the commitment made in the 1984 Special Session to repair and improve the state's 72,000 mile highway system. Essential highway improvement funds must not be diverted to other uses. Projects to prevent traffic accidents, reduce congestion...

Essential highway improvement funds must not be diverted to other uses. Projects to prevent traffic accidents, reduce congestion, and improve mobility of all Texans must be completed without delay, according to the commissioners' resolution.

Hall County Commissioners in the other highway resolution urged the Texas Congressional Delegation in Washington, D. C. to support legislation which would continue the present 85 percent minimum allocation program; remove transportation trust funds from the Unified Federal Budget, allowing revenues from user fees to flow unimpeded to provide improvements in transportation facilities and funding levels should fully utilize revenues available in the trust funds; authorize the Secretary of Transportation to approve the Interstate Cost Estimate Administratively; provide adequate general revenue appropriations to meet transit capital needs; and to continue to dedicate all fuel tax revenues to the Highway Trust Fund.

The Commissioners Court passed an order stating that county road equipment and machinery is not demanded for the service of building and the upkeep of the roads of Hall County at this time.

A second order unanimously passed by the commissioners authorized soil conservation work of some public benefit be done for landowners R. S. Wansley and Carroll Fowler and contracts be signed billing at the rate of $45 per machine.

Texas Farmers Union Members Meet With Congressmen

During the Labor Day Congressional recess, members of Texas Farmers Union met with their respective congressmen to relate the inadequacies of the current farm program.

The results of the recent wheat poll have once again proven that the genuine wheat farmers are ready and willing to implement a realistic farm program with effective supply management, affordable to the consumers and taxpayers, in return for assurance of a fair and equitable price in the marketplace.

It is with shock and disbelief that we read the statement by Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng on the Wheat Poll results: "Based on the relatively small response to the wheat poll, I don't think a great deal of significance can be attached to the results. I therefore consider the poll to be inconclusive."

"My position on the overall subject of the poll has been well publicized and is unchanged."

Joe Rankin, President of Texas Farmers Union, commented, "There are a number of conclusions which can be drawn for the statistical data provided in the U. S. Department of Agriculture news release, aside from the negative approach used in the release. Beyond conclusions, several questions may be asked about the design, counting and detailed ballot which provided the statistical data set forth by USDA."

Mr. Rankin said, "To my knowledge, there were no qualifications attached to the 1,565,517 ballots that were mailed. Since the qualifications of the ballots were 'inconclusive,' and no yield or acreage value attached to those ballots, it definitely appears that of the 319,408 ballots tallied, 66.6% of those voting, or 212,957, were producers of 40 acres or more. This result could point to a majority of the largest producers voting for mandatory controls."

The TFU President went on to say, "Since the wheat referenda was adequately publicized by USDA as being non-binding, that single issue might have been responsible for the small voter response alluded to by the press release. However, in 1980 the presidential election in which Mr. Reagan was elected with a 54% vote was described as a 'mandate from the country that change was necessary.' About the same percentage of eligible voters actually voted in the 1980 election as the percentage of wheat producers who returned ballots in the wheat referenda. The major difference in this conclusion is that the presidential election was indeed binding, and the percentage of votes was significant enough for the election of a president."

Mr. Rankin added, "We would like to add our support to that of our National Farmers Union in calling for a referendum that would bind the USDA to a mandatory control program for wheat as well as other major commodities. At this time in the history of agriculture, it is imperative that the producers have a voice in their own destiny, and the support of the U. S. Department of Agriculture for this very basic democratic principle."

NATURAL FIBERS IN THEIR NATURAL STATE

Now is the time to be thinking about your fall wardrobe. One thing to watch for in your fall clothes purchases is the fabric which you buy. Watch for natural fabrics such as mohair, wool and cotton. Texas is the leading producer of these three natural fibers.

Mohair is the long, strong, lustrous fiber made from the coat of the Angora goat. This fiber has been prized for centuries. The majority of mohair is produced in the Edwards Plateau area of Texas. Approximately 95% of American production comes from this area.

Mohair has a rich look and fine quality. It is noted for its strength and natural sheen. It is a very versatile all-season fiber. It possesses a lightweight warmth in the winter yet its smooth cylindrical structure allows free air circulation in warmer weather.

Texas is the leading wool producing state in the U. S., with San Angelo known as the Wool Capital of the World. Wool has been known from pre-civilization time. It has meant warmth and comfort for many. Wool is known for its resiliency because each wool fiber is made up of millions of "coiled springs" that stretch in use, but coil back to their original positions. That is why wrinkles disappear from wool garments when they are rested, and why wool rugs retain their springy pile for many years.

Use of cotton dates back as far as five thousand years. Cotton was known to have been growing wild in Texas as of 1530. Texas has long been the leading producer of cotton. Cotton fiber has a natural luster. It is extremely durable and takes easily to dyes, thus creating clear fast colors. Cotton is a wearable fabric, soft to the touch, and static-free. It is famous for its comfort and is non-allergenic.

Alzheimer's To Be Discussed at Meeting

The state's hard-hitting new antilitter slogan is gaining popularity, even among tourists, according to Texas experts on tourism.

"Don't Mess with Texas" is a different approach to getting people to stop littering. And it's gotten a lot of publicity in recent weeks. Some Texans were fearful that visitors to the Lone Star State would think the welcome mat had been pulled in. Not to worry.

"We've reached the conclusion that most tourists think it's clever," said Tom Taylor, director of the Travel and Information Division of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Taylor's division is responsible for the 12 Texas tourist bureaus throughout the state. Each year, some 3.2 million visitors pass through the tourist bureaus.

"We've talked with our travel counselors, and they tell us that out-of-staters appreciate the campaign. They've noticed the trash along the roads, and they're glad to see we're finally getting serious about the problem," said Taylor.

Larry Todd, executive director of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, agrees with Taylor. "People I've talked to from other states really like the 'Don't Mess with Texas' approach. They feel like only Texans can get away with such a bold, brash approach because it fits our image. We're known throughout the world as a friendly bunch that's proud of our heritage and protective of our state."

During the Sesquicentennial year, Texas is expecting to attract 20 percent more tourists than last year. Tourism is one of the largest income-producing industries in the state.

planned by the Extension Home Economics Committee as a part of their efforts to provide families with health-related information.

Becky McGee, a volunteer from Amarillo who presents programs on the disease, will be the speaker. She also has a film on the subject.

Families are asked to mark their calendars on this date if they would like to learn more about Alzheimer's Disease.
