EDITOR'S NOTE

The Christmas holiday couldn't have come on a more inconvenient day for the small newspaper than on a Wednesday. Most of the larger newspapers waited until Christmas week to have their newspapers printed, BUT the Valley Tribune wanted the Christmas paper printed the week before to benefit our advertisers more and to keep more money in our local businesses instead of going out of town to trade, but the main reason was that the printer, Blanco Offset in Floydada, had so many newspapers to print that they had to print some earlier in order to get any holiday. They worked day and night in order to get Christmas Day and the New Year holiday.

The editor and Mrs. Patterson want to thank all the businesses and those who had news and other items which did not get into the newspaper on time, for your patience and cooperation. Christmas won't occur on a Wednesday again for awhile, and this will help even though all Christmases are hectic. Thanks again for your courtesy.

The Tribune editor mentioned getting a renewal from Venoi Cain who lives in the Texas Valley. He said he is telling all the winter vacationers in the Valley about Caprock Canyons State Park and many of them are planning to stop back by enroute home. That is good, the best advertising we can get.

The Tribune received a renewal from the Sublets, Paul and Mary Lou, who live in Bronte, Texas. He is a former West Texas Utilities manager in Quitaque. The letter in context follows: "Hi, just a note. Please say 'hi' to all our friends in and around Quitaque. We are doing fine. Think of all of you often."

"Grady and Delene Tyler (of Quitaque) stopped by to see us a short time back. Was so glad to see them."

"We stay busy. Paul has been busy building a den on to our house. He still goes hunting (mostly deer)."

"We have mother with us. We have dad in the nursing home here."

"I stay busy. We see Becky, Edwin and Becca pretty often. Enjoy them."

"Stephen got his wings in March. He is in California in the Marines. He flies a helicopter. Paul, jr. and family are still in Pampa."

"Hope you have a Merry Christmas. Mary Lou and Paul Sublett."

Another note from Sharon Brummett Kell of Forgan, Oklahoma included a new subscription for her sister, Delores Scarberry of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Sharon says she especially enjoyed the article, "In Praise of Small Towns." She says that is so true and it is so good to get the hometown newspaper and a letter from "home."

Bonnie Hill and Mabel Christian visited Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Weatherly and family and Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Davis in Memphis Sunday afternoon.

Some economists say that prices for farm and ranch products compared to the cost of production are the lowest this century.

Because of depressed prices, some people are reluctant to install needed soil and water conservation practices. Yet postponing the use of these measures can damage land and water resources while increasing the cost of correcting the problem later.

Practices such as parallel terraces, waterways, shaping and brush control are expensive, but remember that some practices cost very little. If you do not think you can afford conservation work, perhaps you can use some alternative treatments that are relatively inexpensive and will help reduce long-term costly damage.

On cropland, for example, you may want to consider using better crop residue management, or you may need to rotate your crops to include a high residue producing crop every other year. Few practices can do as much to protect the soil and conserve moisture as good as crop residue management. Conservation tillage, strip crops, windstrips and furrow diking are also inexpensive but effective conservation measures.

On rangeland, you should consider using planned grazing systems (rotation) to maximize grazing efficiency. Prescribed burning of rangeland is another inexpensive measure that is effective.

The problems of depressed prices won't be easy to solve. But you might want to consider conservation treatment alternatives, some of which are very effective with little capital investment.

English New Year's

The English in the 1200's revived the old Roman custom of giving gifts to the emperor. Queen Elizabeth I (1533-1603) had a large collection of hundreds of pairs of bejeweled and/or richly embroidered gloves due to this custom. The term "pin money" comes from another English New Year's custom. English husbands gave their wives enough money to buy pins for the whole year. That was before pins started being easily manufactured in the 1800's, but the term still continues as it refers to small amounts of spending money.

Meeting Planned

All farmers and ranchers are invited to attend a marketing meeting from 9:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, January 7, at the Swisher Memorial Building on Highway 86 in Tulia.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Briscoe and Swisher County Extension offices.

The morning program will be conducted by Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension economic specialist, and will consist of an introduction to options and futures, as well as cash contracting. This will be very informative because cash flow planning at this time of year is very helpful.

Dr. Smith will also have available a display of Extension computers and software relating to all phases of agriculture.

The noon meal will be provided by program sponsors.

The afternoon program will be conducted by Don McCasland, owner of the Wheeler Feed Yard. He will speak on how he uses options, futures and cash contracting in his livestock program. He will show how he uses these in making decisions in cash flow planning.

Those who plan to attend are asked to make a reservation by contacting the County Extension Office by 12:00 noon Monday, January 6. There will be no charge for the program and meal.

CHIMNEY!

Close Your Fireplace Damper When You're Not Using It.

Many people leave their fireplace damper open all year long, so it's always ready when they want to build a fire. An open damper lets winter heat and summer air conditioning escape through your chimney. As conditioned air rises out of your home, your electric bill rises, too. So, be sure to close the damper in your fireplace when you're not using it.

A glass fireplace cover can also help you save energy and money this winter. With your damper closed and with an airtight glass screen in front of your fireplace when it's not in use, you can help prevent ENERGY DOLLARS from escaping through your chimney.

Remember REDDY Supplies the energy—but only YOU can use it wisely!

Mrs. Wedge is Leader For Turkey UMW Christmas Program

The United Methodist Women of Turkey United Methodist Church met Monday afternoon in the church fellowship hall for a Christmas program led by Mrs. Wilma Wedge. The program was entitled "How We Celebrate Christmas" and the focal point was the lighted, decorated tree. The group sang "O, Come All Ye Faithful," with Mrs. Kathleen Green accompanying at the piano. Scriptures read were Isa. 9:6 and Luke 2:14.

Mrs. Jill Flaughter gave the part about how Christmas is celebrated in Austria; Mrs. Virginia Degan discussed China's celebration, and placed an arti-cial flower on the tree. She said they used colored paper chains also and had a parade with lighted lanterns, and had a burst of firecrackers.

Mrs. Marjorie Bain told that religious activities are very important to the celebration in France, with the singing of old hymns and the celebration of mass. Mrs. Marcella Patterson told about Mexico and Mrs. Green described the celebration in Poland. Mrs. Fredia Fuston said in Puerto Rico they play guitars and go caroling. Mrs. Flaughter also told about customs in the United States.

Mrs. Wedge summed up the remarks by saying that it is the same message, with different ways of observing it.

Cookies and hot tea were served and the group adjourned to meet on January 6, 1986 with an installation service led by the pastor, Rev. Dennis Flaughter.

The ladies brought their lap robes they had made for Turkey people who are in convalescent homes. These Christmas gifts were given to different ones to take to the various places.

Texas Wagon Train Will Start To Roll January 2

Texas and Texans enjoy a distinctiveness that is immediately identified around the world. Anything that happens in Texas or with Texans is of interest to most of the peoples of the world and can be attributed to its unique history, fabled size, broad geographic diversity, distinctive people, western atmosphere, and positive "can do" attitude.

The Sesquicentennial celebration in Texas will be an event of significance to the entire world and the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train will have a major role in this historic observance. The Texas Wagon Train will begin to roll on January 2 from Sulphur Springs, Texas. The wagon train will cover 3000 miles on a circular route around the great state over a six-month period. The Texas Wagon Train will arrive in Turkey on May 24 and will spend two nights at Turkey. This will be quite a historic event in Turkey that people will be able to remember for many years to come.
