"O" POSITIVE Donors Needed Now

There is currently a severe shortage of "O" positive blood at Coffee Memorial Blood Center" says Kitty Weidayer, Asst. Manager Mobil resources at the Blood Center. We have had a high usage rate lately and out blood drive totals have been lower than usual. That combination isn't good for the Panhandle's blood supply, she continues.

Turkey and Quitauque are hosting their Community Blood Drives on Tuesday, September 27th and we desperately need to draw 15 to 20 units of blood at each location. Hopefully, we will pick up some "O" positive's there.

The Blood Drives are from 4:30 to 6:00 pm, Tuesday, September 27th. Turkey's Blood Drive will be at the Bob Wills Center and Quitauque's will be held at the Senior Citizen Building.

We are asking for everyone who can, to donate Tuesday. All blood types are needed, however, if you are an "O" positive blood donor we ask that you make a special effort to come in and donate, added Mrs. Weidauer. You may donate every 56 days.

Men Still Required To Register with Selective Service

Responding to a recent decision by the President, the U. S. House of Representatives voted on May 23 to continue the requirement for all men to register with Selective Service upon reaching age 18. The members considered a proposed amendment to the Defense Authorization Bill, H. R. 4301, that would have ended registration. The amendment was rejected 125 to 273.

Five days before the vote, President Clinton notified Congress that continuing draft registration and providing funding to operate the Selective Service System is "essential to our national security." In letters to the leadership of the House and Senate on May 18, the President based his decision on a recently completed review of the program by a National Security Council Working group. He concluded that the Selective Service System and peacetime registration must be retained as a prudent military preparedness measure in an uncertain world, as a link between American society and the volunteer military, and as a symbol of national resolve.

Although there has been no need to draft men for military service during the past 21 years, the nation has maintained the capability to reinstate a draft in a major crisis. Since July 1980, draft registration has been an obligation of virtually every man, ages 18 through 25. Federal law requires that every man must register within 30 days of his 18th birthday. Each man completes a short form to provide Selective Service with his name, date of birth, address, phone number and Social Security number. Registration forms are available at any post office. Most men also receive a registration reminder in the mail a few months before reaching age 18, and they may use it to register by return mail. The Selective Service System has a telephone line dedicated to answering questions about registration: (708) 688-6888.

Men who don't register are in violation of Federal law. Non-registrants can be prosecuted and they are ineligible for Federal student financial aid, most Federal jobs and job training. The law applies to male immigrant aliens, 18 through 25 years old, as well as male citizens.

THEN and NOW!

by Eunice McFall

Last week this column contained an article about a New Mexico lady suing McDonald's because of burning herself with their coffee. The day the paper came out I listened to Paul Harvey, news commentator and he was telling that another lady from Toledo, Ohio was also suing McDonald's as she had burned herself also. Just goes to show what an example can do!

Today this column is featuring a young man from Quitauque who is now writing for the Amarillo Globe News in their new publication Y Generation. The following was printed in that paper last Friday.

Athletes have duty to act as role models for teens

Who's your role model? Who's your favorite athlete? If your answers are the same, you might be in trouble. "I wanna be like Mike." Got a good poker face? Don't get me wrong; Michael Jordan's a great basketball player. I'm just focusing on the one point that keeps him from being an all-around role model—but one is all it takes.

Who doesn't want to be able to jump like he can? He's worked very hard to earn three world championship rings, an Olympic gold medal, a whole cabinet full of MVP defensive player of the year and about any other basketball award you can think of. No, it didn't come to him easily; he had to work, and that's a very admirable side to the superstar.

However, gambling takes a lot away from him. Maybe it is just one point that keeps him away from the ring of the role models. But one is all it takes.

Former heavyweight champion Mike Tyson may have gotten aggressive only once, but that's all it took. Tennis prodigy Jennifer Capriati may have been in possession of marijuana only once—but that's all it took. The Cleveland Indian pitchers Steve Olin and Tim Crews may have been drinking only once—but it could have been the reason they lost their lives. It takes only once.

Isn't there a good guy—somewhere? Teens are mature enough to know the difference between Jordan on the court and Mike in the casino (or on the golf course.) The sad thing is, though, that teens do have to separate the admirable part of an athlete and the "real" human being. In today's world of lost morals and a shortage of great role models, sports heroes' real lives are hurting American teens more than they will ever help. So, is it possible for an athlete to be a role model?

Yes. Just as long as you do the "Pinocchio with a stopped-up nose" thing—and get picky.

Athletes can and should be role models for America's youth. A great one can really make an impact on a young person's life as long as you make sure you find the right one, with the right quality.

Get a work ethic like Nolan Ryan or Larry Bird. Do like Joe Montana: never give up. Take the abuse like Hank Aaron and still do what you love. There's always a good guy—somewhere.

Memphis Is New Home of Father Domingo Castillo

Taken from Texas Panhandle Star
 In July Father Domingo Castillo was assigned to the Catholic Church in Memphis.
 Having grown up in Quitaque and going to Clarendon College for a year Father Castillo said he felt like he was coming home. He received the rest of his secondary education at the College of Santa Fe and trained at the Oblate School of Theology in San Antonio.
 Prior to this assignment Father Domingo Castillo was in Dumas for two and one half years.
 The Memphis church ministers to about 40 area families.
 "I have so many plans and hopes that I don't really know where to start talking about them," Father Castillo said. "But the biggest endeavor is to make Catholics proud to be Catholics and to know the history of their church. If I can do that they will know where they came from and where they are going as Catholics."
 According to the Father, his leadership in the Memphis church will not lead to a "big shakeup." But he does have some definite changes in mind.
 "My biggest problem is getting people to come back to the church," the Father said. "For whatever reason many Catholics in this area have grown away from their church, I want to discover the reason for this and convince them to come back to the church."
 He knows this will not happen overnight.
 "I'm figuring on a five-year plan of getting Catholics to come back. And it is important for them to know that it is 'their' church. Priests come and go, but the people will always be here. The people are the church."

 Father Castillo is proud of his Mexican, Italian and American Indian heritage and is interested in Indian art. Native American art objects from his collection decorate his home adjacent to the church in Memphis. Father Castillo is the son of Domingo Castillo who still resides in Quitaque.

Information On Marijuana Sought

With marijuana use and concealed growing operations on the rise, the Texas Department of Public Safety Narcotics Service has established rewards for those providing information leading to the seizure of growing marijuana.

A new toll free number will allow the public to call the authorities when operation of an indoor or outdoor growing site is suspected. Callers who identify themselves and the situation can receive a cash reward.

Murray listed several things that may indicate an indoor growing operation: covered or blacked out windows; loud humming sounds (from fans or ballasts); a strong musty odor; large amounts of potting soil, containers, fertilizer, hoses, halide light system, and ballasts; use of guard dogs; or security systems.

Many times marijuana is grown outdoors on public land. Indicators may be: large purchases of fertilizer, garden hoses, PVC pipe, and camouflage netting; 'No Trespassing' or 'Keep Out' signs; guard dogs; unusual structures or items in remote forested areas (buckets, garden tools, fertilizer bags).

"Marijuana growers can be dangerous; investigations should be left to the law enforcement officers," Murray said.

When a caller notifies the authorities, the exact location, address, landmarks, and whether persons or vehicles are in the area will assist the officers in their investigation.

The number to call for an area in question is 1-800-868-MARI(6274).

Payne - Grimland Vows Said August 20, 1994

Amy Michelle Payne and Jeffery Lynn Grimland were joined together in matrimony Saturday evening, August 20, at the Church of Christ in Turkey. Elgin Conner of Lampasas was the officiating minister.

The bride is the daughter of Jana Payne and Lyn Payne, both of Quitaque and the granddaughter of G. P. Driskill of Turkey and Ernestine Payne of Quitaque.

The groom is the son of Terry and Sally Grimland of Silverton and the grandson of Grace Hutsell of Beach, North Dakota, Riddell Hutsell of Los Angeles, California, and Doris Yates of Silverton.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents, and she wore a lovely white satin wedding gown by Sweetheart. The bride's gown had both a sabrina neckline and a lower sweetheart neckline with a layer of net connecting the two. The bodice was adorned by venetian lace appliques trimmed with pearls and iridescent sequins. Strings of pearls hung over the keyhole back which was edged with appliques, pearls and sequins. The puffed sleeves were accented with net, lace, and pearls. Extending from the puffs were long, fitted sleeves decorated by lace, pearls and iridescent sequins. A candy box bow sat at the back waist, and a wide row of schiffli lace edged the hem of the full satin skirt. The bride wore a garland of white ribbons, roses and leaves. A curly pouf sat at the back of the garland, and lily of the valley, satin ribbons and pearls fell from the pouf over the fingertip veil. The bride's bouquet was a spray of white flowers, baby's breath and ribbon.

Lori Conner of Lampasas was maid of honor, and she wore a royal blue gown with a fitted bodice and a full skirt. Her gown was accented by a band of white lace that ran across the shoulders and into a V in the back. She carried a bouquet of white and royal blue flowers and ribbon.

Jason Payne, the bride's brother, of Quitaque and Justin Vaughan, the groom's cousin, of Dallas were candlelighters and ushers.

Julie Ross of Canyon registered guests. A reception was held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the wedding. Members of the house party were Julie Cruz and Brandi Gaddis of Quitaque and Mandy Adams of Canyon.

Following their return from a honeymoon in Ruidoso, New Mexico, the couple will reside in Levelland.

The bride is a soon to be graduate of Valley High School, and both a college and high school student at Texas Tech through Independent Study.

The groom is a 1992 graduate of Silverton High School and is attending South Plains College in Levelland. He is currently employed at Worley Welding Works, Inc.

Hostesses Mmes. B. Rogers, Lucille Monk and Barbara Payne presided at a refreshment table centered with a colorful autumn flower arrangement. They served sandwiches, chips and dips, cakes and cookies with fruit punch and coffee.

WEATHER REPORT

A stationary cool front brought needed moisture across northwest Motley County early Thursday morning, Sept. 8. Majority of the cotton farmers felt the rainfall was too late for this year's crop, but a benefit for wheat and ranchland.

Area rain reported was 1.00 to 1.20 of an inch in Whiteflat. Tommie Cruise, NWSV of Flomot, officially reported 1.05 of an inch. Other Flomot residents reported as much as 1.30, so it was a good general rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stephens were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jones in Lockney, Sunday. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jones of Henrietta and Mrs. Juddie Stephens of the Lockney Care Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Calvert returned home Monday night, Sept. 5 from a vacation trip to New Mexico. Claude Stops Valley Jr. High

The Valley Jr. High football team opened the 1994 season last Thursday night. The Patriots lost a hard fought decision by the score of 22-0.

The Patriots fell behind early in the contest, trailing 22-0 at half-time. The Patriots' defense stiffened in the second half, however, and held Claude scoreless.

Coach Saul stated, "The kids really played hard and seemed to improve as the game progressed. We are looking forward to our game this week with Aspermont."

Valley Patriots Fall To Claude Mustangs

The Valley Patriots took another tough loss Friday night against the Claude Mustangs, 20 to 6. When asked how the team took the loss, Coach Satterwhite said "I think that the team was hurt by the loss, but there's an understanding that we are going through a period of transition."

Coach Satterwhite feels the team did well, especially the defense, but they need more production from the offense. One aspect of the offense he hopes to improve on this week is the passing game.

This Friday night's game will be against the Aspermont Hornets. The Hornets have a young team and they are also just switching over from six-man to eleven man.

The Valley Patriots would like to express their appreciation to all the people that have shown their support so far this season, and would like to invite everyone out to the Homecoming game this Friday night.

Students Pray During Fifth "See You at the Pole"

More than 100,000 Texas high school and junior high school students statewide will pray around their schools' flagpoles September 21 during the fifth annual See You at the Pole, said Chuck Flowers, youth associate in the Texas Baptist Evangelism Division.

"We did not know if there would be a lasting impact, but out of that first See You at the Pole came prayer groups continuing throughout the school year."

"Many students reported a renewed encouragement when they discovered there were other believers on the campuses they had not known about."

Last year more than 2 million students participated in the event in the U.S. and in foreign nations including Russia, Mexico, Canada, England, Germany, Australia and Brazil.

Adults also participated, praying around the flagpoles at city halls and other public locations.

"Students will pray on September 21 for their fellow students and teachers, asking for God's power over the violence, depression, hopelessness and other problems faced by their classmates," said Flowers.

Flowers also noted that under the U.S. Constitution, students are guaranteed the right to pray on campus, alone or with others, so long as it does not disrupt school activities or is not forced on others.

Valley Patriots In New District For Sports

The Valley Patriots are in a new district this school year of 1994-95. Teams that they will be playing are Motley County, Kress, Spur, Petersburg and Lorenzo.

Due to the District Committee decision admission to football games at Valley will now be $3 for adults and $1 for students.

You Can Choose Discipline or Guidance

Ronda Alexander, County Agent Society has encouraged today's parents to be disciplinarians to their children, rather than guides. One definition of discipline is punishment intended to correct or train, according to "The American Heritage Dictionary".

Instead of associating discipline with punishment, we should think of it as providing guidance to our children so that they are able to function in today's society. Isn't it much easier and more pleasant to learn from following a good example, rather than being punished for doing something that you didn't know was wrong?

Things looked at patiently from one side after another generally end by showing a side that is beautiful.

"To Russia With Love", Be A Penpal

The organization "SAPE" (formerly "The Soviet-American Penfriend Exchange" in New York) is looking for 100,000 Americans between the ages of 10 and 40 who would like to strike up a penpal friendship with someone in the former Soviet Union.

SAPE has linked up more than 20,000 pairs of penpals. News of that success has spread via word-of-mouth all across the former Soviet republics. This has resulted in an avalanche of mail- more than 100,000 letters-which has completely overwhelmed the small group of volunteers who operate SAPE.

SAPE pens are matched up on the basis of age, gender, choice of male or female penpal and, in the case of the small percentage who do not know English, common language. Because of the wide variety of mail, SAPE is usually able to fulfill requests for penpals from a specific geographic area.

Letters have arrived from every major city in the former USSR, as well as from remote Siberian villages. Despite the recent backlash against western-style reforms in Russia, the majority of young people remain avid fans of American music, films and TV shows.

Individuals, classes, scout troops or youth groups who would like to participate in this program should send self addresses, stamped envelope to: SAPE-Dept. N, 1400 Midvale Ave., #408, Los Angeles, CA 90024-5498. Since 1989, more than 300 US schools have participated in this program.
