Valley Basketball Teams Take Third Consecutive District Title

The Valley Patriots and the Valley Lady Patriots both took their third consecutive District 2-1A Basketball Championship Title with the ending of the season's District play.

Coach Waldrop and his girls won 20 of 25 games, to take the District 2-1A title. Coach Waldrop says two of the highlights of the season came when the Lady Patriots won first place at the Kress Tournament. The Valley girls were also rated seventh by the Texas High School Basketball Association.

Coach Adams says, "Valley has good boys and girls and Valley will have good teams for years to come." That says it all in a nutshell. The Valley Patriots won the district title for the third time consecutively. Coach Adams says this was very rewarding since there were NO STARTERS returning from last year's team. Valley Patriots posted records of 39-3, 29-5 and 23-3, over the past three years while advancing to the Regional Tournament.

The Valley Tribune staff and the area congratulate the boys and girls and ALL the coaches for the efforts put forth and the sportsmanship shown at each game.

The boys have played smaller teams and they were up against real competition Tuesday night, according to Coach Adams. The Lorenzo team lost by just a few points to Dimmitt, ranked No. 1 in the state in Class 3A.

Coach Adams says this was a good game for the Patriots, and they have two more to play before bi-district action. The Valley boys play McGargle Friday night at Quanah, beginning at 7:00 p.m., and they play Stratford at Panhandle at 6:00 p.m. Monday.

In Tuesday night's game with Lorenzo, the opposing team was ahead all the way with 14-12 at the end of the first period, 39-27 at halftime, 57-42 at the end of three periods, and 80-64 at the final bell. Tommy Williams and Randy Fuston each scored 13 points for individual honors.

The Valley Lady Patriots played Hart at Tulia Tuesday night and they also lost by a small margin. The Hart girls were behind 6-8 at the end of the first quarter of play, then at halftime they had gone ahead 23-20. At the end of three periods the Hart girls were 39-34 and the game ended with the Longhornettes taking the match 51-46. Angie Clay scored 14 points and Mary Dowd 12 for honors.

Lloyd Bentsen
 Report

We may look back on 1982 as the year we turned the tide in excessive government regulation.

From 1970 to the end of 1981, the Federal Register, which lists all government rules, regulations and fiats, exploded from 20,000 to 87,000 pages.

By the end of 1982, though, the Federal Register had dropped to 58,492 pages. That's still far too much "red tape," but it's a good start in our efforts to reduce government intrusion into our lives.

I have long been concerned about excessive government paperwork and the burden it creates, especially for small businesses. Six years ago I had the Joint Economic Committee study the costs of federal regulations and paperwork.

The Committee's report showed that complying with and enforcing all of these rules and requirements cost the U. S. economy more than $100 billion annually—and that was back in 1978.

I then made proposals to help ensure that federal regulations are more cost-effective. Those were incorporated into a Presidential Order aimed at cutting down the number of federal regulations.

But that order did not affect dozens of independent federal agencies, so I introduced legislation that would also rein in some of the regulatory activities of the independent agencies.

Again, my proposal was adopted by the President as the core of a new regulatory review mechanism for the Office of Management and Budget. The slimmer Federal Register demonstrates that an effective program of outside review, such as this one, can go a long way toward eliminating duplication and unneeded regulation.

But there is more to be done.

Last year, I introduced legislation requiring that federal regulations affecting small businesses, farms and ranches be reduced by 25 percent across the board in two years. My bill passed the Senate, but was stalled in the House of Representatives when the 97th Congress ended.

I'm going to submit my proposal again in the new Congress because these people need help now more than ever.

My bill requires the President to annually prepare estimates of the cost to farmers, ranchers and the small business community of federal regulations and paperwork. This would be reported to the Congress no later than January 31 of each year.

A second part of the bill stipulates that within two years after enactment, all federal agencies must cut the burden of their major regulations on farmers, ranchers and small businesses by 25 percent.

If we keep plugging away, maybe we can get the burden of government regulation back down to a manageable load.

Thomas Jefferson, in his first inaugural address in 1801, said government has an obligation to keep people from injuring one another, but otherwise, Americans should be left free "to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement."

President Jefferson would have been pleased by our recent progress in this area.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Owens:

Thank you for your recent correspondence in opposition to the 10 percent withholding tax on interest and dividend income. As you know, this provision was part of President Reagan's 1982 tax increase bill. I understand your concerns and agree with you that withholding on interest and dividend income will discourage savings and investments and create a tremendous paperwork burden for our nation's financial institutions.

This withholding provision is scheduled to take effect on July 1, 1983. It is my hope that Congress will have an opportunity to vote on whether to repeal this burdensome provision before the July 1 effective date. Please be assured of my continued efforts in this regard.

I appreciate receiving your views on this important issue.

Sincerely,
 Kent Hance

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hill over the weekend were the Jerry Weatherlys of Memphis and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Gillette of Jal, New Mexico. The Gillettes also visited her mother, Mrs. Mabel Christian.

HIGHTOWER SEEKS

TO OVERTURN PIK TAX RULING

As a result of a recent Internal Revenue Service tax ruling potentially affecting farmers participating in the Payment-in-Kind program, Congressman Jack Hightower is co-sponsoring a bill to correct what he calls "a potentially disastrous and unfair tax situation" for farmers and for the PIK program.

The IRS ruled February 7 that current tax law would require farmers receiving surplus government crops under the PIK program to pay taxes on them when farmers receive their certificate for the crops, not when the crops are actually sold. Hightower's legislation would delay the taxes until farmers have actually sold the crops.

"I know farmers who can't afford to participate in the PIK program the way the tax law stands now," Hightower said. "Our bill will make it clear that farmers in this situation will be treated fairly in the tax laws and won't pay taxes until they've sold their commodities under this program." Hightower explained that a farmer pays taxes on his crop when he markets the crop, not at harvest time. This situation should be no different Hightower argues. "Current law treats the farmer as if the PIK commodity was a cash payment," Hightower said, "but it's not, it's a commodity to be marketed."

The bill is likely to gain bipartisan support because the effectiveness of the Administration's PIK program in reducing commodity surpluses now depressing market prices depends on the level of farmer participation. That level may, in turn, be directly affected by whether Congress can change the tax law before the March 11 PIK sign-up deadline for farmers.

"We're going to push the House Ways and Means Committee to take this up quickly," Hightower said, "and I hope we can see floor action in the next several weeks." Similar legislation has been introduced in the Senate where it must first be approved by the Senate Finance Committee before possible Senate passage. If the change is approved in both Houses in identical form, it then goes on to the President for his signature.

PRODUCTION CREDIT ASSOCIATION PRESIDENTS GATHER FOR ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Bill Black, president of Plainview Production Credit Association, was among farm credit officials throughout Texas who gathered in Austin for the 1983 Annual PCA Presidents' Conference February 3-4.

According to Black, the meeting serves as a place for PCA presidents to exchange ideas and gather information on the status of the Tenth Farm Credit District. Presentations revolved around the theme "Growing Stronger in this Economic Crisis."

Sessions ranged from area and committee progress reports to the prospective use of microcomputers in handling agricultural financing.

Plainview PCA is a member-owned agricultural finance cooperative which serves the credit needs of 1,202 farmers and ranchers in Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Farmer and Swisher counties.

In 1982 the association loaned approximately $224 million to area farmers and ranchers. Black said loans made last year were down from the 1981 figure of $243 million due to adverse trends in the state's agricultural economy, which reduced loan demand.

Plainview PCA is one of 30 PCAs in Texas. Collectively they serve more than 16,000 agricultural producers and aquatic harvesters. Last year more than $2 billion was loaned through Texas PCAs.

PCAs have been a source of agricultural loans since 1933. Nationally they serve the credit needs of more than 380,000 farmers, ranchers and commercial fishermen, with more than $22 billion in loans outstanding.

SOCIAL SECURITY IN BRISCOE COUNTY BY TERRY J. CLEMENTS

The celebrity with a somber tone explained that Medicare pays less than half of one's medical bills. He continued the television commercial by recommending that the viewers call toll-free for information about the medical plan endorsed by him.

It is true that Medicare, like most medical plans, will not cover all costs. However, a person considering additional coverage probably will need more of an explanation about Medicare than provided by the gentleman in the commercial. First, Medicare consists of two parts. Part A is a hospital insurance plan while part B is designed to help pay for other medical expenses.

Hospital insurance (part A) has a $304.00 deductible for the first 60 days that a beneficiary is a patient in the hospital. This deductible has to be paid for each hospital stay in which more than two months have elapsed since the previous stay. Part A covers services for a beneficiary while in the hospital such as semi-private room, meals, special care units, drugs, blood transfusions, lab tests, X-rays and radiology, medical supplies, operating and recovery room, anesthesia and rehabilitation therapy. Medicare will not pay for personal convenience items such as TV or radio. Private rooms are covered if medically necessary. After 60 days in the hospital, Medicare pays all covered services except $65.00 per day. When the hospital stay is over 90 days, Medicare will only pay if the patient draws upon a "life-time reserve" that is available to each beneficiary.

Part B, the medical insurance plan, pays 80% of approved charges. The plan has a yearly deductible of $75.00. Part B of Medicare helps pay for medical and surgical services, diagnostic tests, X-rays, drugs that cannot be self-administered, transfusions, medical supplies and physical therapy. Medicare will not pay for routine physical exams, routine foot care, eye or hearing exams for glasses or hearing aids, immunizations, or cosmetic surgery.

The amount of approved charges is determined by a yearly study. Claims are handled by an organization known as the carrier. Each year, the carrier reviews the actual charges by physicians for the previous year in the respective geographical area. The carrier, from this review, determines the "customary" and "Prevailing" charges. The customary charge is the amount most frequently charged by physicians and suppliers for each type of service. The prevailing charge is the amount high enough to cover the customary charges in three out of every four bills submitted in the previous year. When a claim is filed, Medicare will pay 80% of the customary or prevailing charge, whichever is lower.

If you are considering additional medical insurance or just want to know more about Medicare, write or call the Social Security office in Plainview. What is Flu?

The actual definition of "flu" is: an infectious disease caused by the influenza virus. However, the word is commonly used to describe severe colds and sinus infections as well as influenza.

Most people say they have the "flu" when they refer to a severe bout of illness similar to a cold but with fever, aches and pains added.
