

Jerry Don George

Jerry Don George, who was reared in Turkey and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. George of Turkey, has been named Administrative Assistant to the Superintendent of Hereford School and will assume the duties of that office July 1, according to a recent announcement. George has been principal of La Plata Junior High School in Hereford since it was opened in 1966. George joined the Hereford school system in September, 1958, as high school baseball coach and freshman football mentor. He later joined the coaching staff at Stanton where he coached for the next three years.

George holds his bachelor's degree in social science from Texas Tech College, and his masters degree in administrative education from West Texas State University. He is married to the former Miss Donna Sue Lacy and the couple has three children.

Mrs. Buster Chadwick and Laquita were in Lubbock Monday of last week where Laquita received medical attention. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Larry Clark and family while there. Mrs. Clark is Buster Chadwick's sister.

Mrs. Buster Chadwick and girls and Jolene Hall, and Mrs. P. T. Clark of Turkey spent Friday night in Levelland. Mrs. Clark spent the night with her son, P. T., Jr. and his family, and Mrs. Chadwick and girls spent the night

Secrets Of Garden Expertise!

Peat growth test Alive peat-like compost growth test

Coleus Flower Experiment
Texas A & M University
February - April 1968

Truck Farmer Alford Froberg
Alvin, Texas

Deep in the heart of Texas, Alford Froberg operates a prolific truck garden in the midst of an area famed for its difficult, gumbo-like soil. Located near the hamlet of Alvin, this truck gardener entrepreneur, despite scant scientific training, brims with growing expertise. No gentleman farmer, he is an astute man of the soil. 1968 was a banner year for Froberg. He escalated tomato production from 150 bushels to 500 bushels per acre. Peaches bore double the previous year's yield. Bean production rose from 100 to 175 bushels per acre. Potato production came in as a bumper crop with 200-225 bushels per acre, up from 150 previously. Other crops showed similar dramatic yields.

Actually, Froberg's experience is not an untold mystery. No at all. The secret is as old as man. Nature herself is the tipster. Perpetually since creation she has known the secret of providing her plant kingdom with a soil environment of abundant fertility. But nature's area of influence is shrinking. Now only in the diminishing and undisturbed meadows and woodlands of our planet can she naturally energize her domain through the ingenious composting technique of organic decomposition.

With few exceptions, traditional man-developed methods of duplicating nature's supply of quality organic compost have been crude, too slow, and costly. But again, modern technology has come to the rescue. Fused with nature's age-old composting technique, a newly patented refuse conversion process bids to furnish society with a peat-like, super-grade organic compost. In the same quantity. And at low cost. The product, marketed as "Live," is a "living" soil conditioner.

For centuries, peat, or peat moss, has been in demand by gardeners. Peat adds several important characteristics to depleted soils and vastly improves its water-retention capabilities. Being granular, peat adds physical structure to fine soils, loosens compacted soils, and contributes importantly to soil aeration. With its humus-like quality, peat aids in making a true loam.

But for all its nobility as a soil amendment, peat adds little food value to the earth since it is derived from the decayed remains of plants that are ages old. Moreover, peat often contributes an acid-forming factor. It should be understood that our planet's dirt is mostly a mass of sterile rock particles worn to microscopic fragments. In its normal nutritionless state, it is not capable of supporting healthy plant growth. Dirt never becomes fertile soil until LIFE has been added to it. Where there is no life, there is no soil . . . they are inseparable!

economic product. In a variety of soil amendment tests between German Sphagnum peat (the Cadillac of peats) and Alive at Texas A & M University in the spring of 1968, results graphically proved Alive's superiority in increasing growth yield of vegetables, flowers, etc.

The secret of Alford Froberg's dramatic crop yield was his use of a generous supply of Alive. He was fortunate to be located near Houston, Texas. There the compost was provided to him as one of many tests being conducted by an ingenious young firm operating an Alive composting facility in that city. The product is produced through an accelerated composting process using municipal refuse as raw material. It is converted in a modern plant processing 360 tons of solid waste daily. After mechanical extraction of non-compostables from incoming trash, the residue, mostly putrescibles, is refined, ground, processed and completely sanitized. After six days' detention in huge digesting tanks the length of a football field, the product emerges as a dark brown, tobacco-like compost substance of abundant fertility.

Alive is economical. It is available throughout most of the U. S. in jumbo-size bags at competitive prices. Also, it is furnished in bulk to large users such as land reclamationists, hydro mulching firms, golf courses, and highway landscapers. In addition to the Houston plant, a 150-ton demonstration plant is now in operation at Gainesville, Florida under sponsorship of the U. S. Department of Public Health. Company officials anticipate erection of additional composting plants in metropolitan areas in the near future.

SUCCESS

Success doesn't come easy to most people in this world. It takes a lot of hardship most of the time and usually many years to achieve one's dream. The Lions Club and FFA Chapter recently heard, in my opinion, one of the best speeches ever presented here in Quitaque when Bill Sarpaulis, State FFA President, said that a person, if he put his mind to it, could set an impossible dream and reach it. Jim Ryan, the mile record holder, didn't make the track team in high school. But he had a dream and he reached that dream. Today, all of us should have a dream, and to reach this dream, we will have many hardships to overcome. Today one must have a good education to become successful. Five years ago a high school education was necessary. Today a college education is almost a necessity. One must put out a little effort to be successful.

"Effort is the key to success." So stay in school, put out some effort and get a good education.

QUITAQUE JUNIOR HIGH TEAMS WIN DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIPS

Quitaque Junior High has recently wound up their basketball season and both teams won their district championship. The District titles were cinched by both teams when they won victories over the Matador Jr. High teams.

In the girls game with Matador Valerie Robison led the scoring with 12 points. Deana McWilliams made 7 points and Cherri Brown scored 2 points as they won 21-8.

The final score in the boys game was 42-25 with Zeldon Rice leading the way with 12 points. Other scoring was as follows: Danny Curry 11, Danny Payne 9, Alvin Ivory 6, and David Johnston 4.

In district play the Quitaque girl won 7 of their eight games, the only loss being to Estelline. Their overall record is 13 wins and 3 losses. They won second at the Lockney tournament and first in their own tournament. Coach Dean Johnson says that the girls have worked extra hard and he feels that this has been the key to their success.

The boys wound up their season with a 7 won, 1 loss record also. Their only district loss was to Matador. Their overall record was 11 wins and four losses. They won first place in their own tournament. According to their coach, Dean Johnson, the boys also put in a lot of hard work this season, and all games that were lost were close games and hard ones to lose.

The teams and their coach have appreciated support given them all season by the fans. The Tribune and his basketball teams for a congratulates Coach Dean Johnson fine season.

Shirttail Sermon

The text for our thinking is Matthew 6:5-13. We see in this passage that three things are required for our prayers to be heard.

The first requirement for heard prayer is belief that it will be heard. Prayer without belief is in vain. We are simply wasting time and breath. If we do believe there is no limit to the power of prayer. We always benefit from prayer and, in the case of prayer for another, that person also benefits. This is true whether or not that person is a believer.

The second requirement for our prayer to be heard is simplicity. The Lord does not enjoy hearing a long prayer any more than we enjoy hearing a long-winded sermon. Long, involved phrases and sentences add nothing to the effectiveness of prayer: it only makes us feel better, and our pride aside when we are preparing ourselves for prayer. A simple prayer, such as "Lord, forgive me, a sinner" is sufficient to blot a whole lifetime of sinful living. "Lord, help me" will give us more strength than all the armies that have ever existed could do.

The third requirement for effective prayer is sincerity. No matter the reason for prayer, insincerity cancels the chance for it to be heard more quickly than anything else. Man may pray, hoping that it will be heard, even though he has his doubts. That prayer is better than no prayer at all. Man may use long words and difficult phrases. Even this will not assure its not being heard. But the prayer of an insincere man will never be heard. It may be offered for the most worthy cause but it is not heard if sincerity is lacking.

Let us pray at every opportunity: let us be sure that our prayer is offered in faith, simplicity, and sincerity. It will then be heard.

A NEW CHURCH FOR A NEW WORLD

This week we will take a look at the people who are members of the Council on Ministries.

The Lay Leader is the person elected by the Charge Conference for the following responsibilities: (a) membership in the Charge Conference, the Administrative Board and the Council on Ministries where he shall serve as an interpreter of the actions of the Annual Conference and its boards and agencies; (b) continuing involvement in study and training opportunities to develop a growing understanding of the Church's reason for existence and the types of ministry that will most effectively fulfill the Church's mission; (c) assisting in the interpretation of the role of the local church in the community; and (d) alerting the Administrative Board and its council on Ministries to the opportunities available for more effective ministry of the Church through the laity. He shall be expected to take advantage of the opportunities provided for his training by the Annual Conference and shall serve as a member of the District Board of the Laity.

The Secretary of Enlistment shall coordinate and guide a program of interpretation and enlistment for Church-related occupations and an understanding of vocation in Christian terms.

The Charge Conference may elect a Superintendent of the Study Program of the church who shall be responsible for the supervision of the school of the church. His particular responsibilities shall be that of (a) educational consultant to age-group and family coordinators and (b) coordinator of study activities involving more than one age group.

The Treasurer of the local church shall receive the contributions of the local church, keeping records of the contributors and their contributions and disburse all money contributed to causes represented in the local church budget, and such other funds and contributions as the Administrative Board may determine. The treasurer shall remit each month to the conference treasurer all world service and conference benevolence funds then on hand. Contributions to benevolences shall not be used for any cause other than that to which they have been given.

The Chairman of the Commission on Education shall keep the Council on Ministries aware of sound educational procedures and encourage and facilitate the use of curriculum resources based on curriculum plans developed by the Program - Curriculum Committee. The commission shall recommend activities and structure for study and interpretation of the Christian faith and life at each age level. It shall work with the age-group councils to coordinate the study program of the church, particularly when activities involve more than one age group. It shall provide for the promotion and support of the interests of higher education and campus ministry. It shall plan for the ministry to students related to the local church and shall observe Methodist Student Day and receive an offering for the support of National Methodist Scholarships and for the Student Loan Fund for United Methodist Students. It shall provide for the Conference Board of Education for the program of its local church division.

The Chairman of the Commission on Evangelism shall keep the Council on Ministries aware of the aim and means of evangelism in the goals for the Church's ministry.

The Chairman of the Commission on Missions shall keep the Council on Ministries aware of the purpose and needs of programs and institutions supported by the Church in the nation and around the world. It shall provide resources to be used in the study program of the local church.

New Exerciser Proves Effective For Both Young And Elderly

BENSENVILLE, ILL. — In response to the need for a suitable exercise for both the young and the elderly as well as those in between, inventor-industrialist Frank Flick has developed a new conditioning device that is proving surprisingly effective in building health and fitness for people of all ages.

Increasingly, Flick points out, medical specialists are observing there are plenty of challenging sports and rewarding exercise programs for persons from high school age to 35, but often no adequate exercise for those too young or too old for highly competitive sports, vigorous calisthenics, cycling, running or jogging.

The device's suitability for the young and elderly is indicated by the accompanying photos, showing its use by a young school boy and an 81-year-old woman.

Kneeling, Standing, Sitting

The new trim compact device on which the user cycles back and forth on all fours in a rhythmic, graceful movement—or uses in a standing or sitting position—is meeting this need for proper exercise for the young and the elderly as well as those in middle years. It can be adjusted to fit virtually any size person, and can be used for exercises ranging from very mild to strenuous.

Children Enjoy It

While Exer-Cor has been enjoyed by pre-school children, in actual fact it is used more frequently by those at first grade level and beyond.

The younger the child is, the more familiar the movement will seem, for its hands-and-knees position allows a youngster to duplicate the natural, rhythmic pre-walking exercises which some educators believe improve children's coordination as well as strength.

As children grow to adolescence, they use Exer-Cor to build stamina, improve posture, and increase sports skills.

Exer-Cor builds health, fitness and coordination for all ages from school children to octogenarians, in 6-10 minutes a day. Even lively 81-year-old Mrs. Ursula Resch, enjoys it.

It's for the Elderly

"After 30," inventor Frank Flick says, most people tend to exercise less, yet with each passing year they need to exercise more to fight the ravages of time. While most users are in the 30-64 age group, there is mounting evidence that it is a superb exercise for the elderly. Older people especially appreciate the fact that they can use it in the privacy of their homes, without exposure to heat, cold or public scrutiny.

An enthusiastic user is Mrs. Ursula Resch of Oak Brook, Ill. Mrs. Resch comments, "I am just crazy about Exer-Cor. It has done a lot for me. I've just turned 81 and I use it every day. It is excellent for older people. As you get older, you get stiffer but Exer-Cor limbers you up. You feel better and I believe you even THINK better."

Illinois Product

Exer-Cor is manufactured by Flick-Reedy Education Enterprises, 7N015 York Road, Bensenville, Illinois 60106, and sells for $99.50. Inquirers may obtain a highly informative free booklet about new developments, concerning health, exercise and reporting on the exerciser in detail, simply by mailing a request.

Users include school boy.

How To Reduce Non-Crop Weed Costs

It's been said that the only good weed is a dead one. And that goes for weeds around the farm as well as on crop land — especially when you consider the time and money they can cost.

For example — weeds along field borders, fence rows, and roadways are a major cause of weedy crops. They can produce thousands of seeds which can move directly onto your crop land.

What's more, these weeds along with those around the farmstead act as a cover for destructive insects and rodents. Then, too, in late summer and fall, when they dry out, weeds around farm buildings become a dangerous fire hazard.

What's the answer to weed control in non-crop areas? Traditionally, it's been to either mow or hand hoe. As many growers know, this takes time away from crops — especially since the job must be done several times a year. And this is costly.

To solve the problem, many growers have begun treating non-crop areas with herbicides. Applied by sprayer, granular spreader, or even by hand for hard to reach areas, an effective non-selective herbicide such as Pramitol will control most weeds after they have emerged. It even gets the tough varieties like Johnsongrass, Bermudagrass, bindweed, and crabgrass — and it keeps the area weed-free for a full season.

What's the best time to go after non-crop weeds? Many growers say that right now is the ideal time — when planting is finished, spray equipment is still geared up, and before weeds are too tough and woody.

So, to get rid of these troublesome weeds and the hazards they cause, treat now. It helps beautify the farmstead, too.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESS ARE MEETING IN SNYDER

Hundreds of families will meet together this weekend in Snyder, Texas to share in 3 days of special Bible instruction in what is described as a semi-annual Circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, to be held in the Snyder High School Auditorium, March 7-9.

Meetings regularly held in Quitaque will be canceled this weekend so that local members of the Witnesses can attend the program in Snyder which will include instruction on "Making Wise Use of the Remaining Time," theme of the Christian convention.

More than 500 are expected to attend the gathering. Many delegates from this area are planning to depart for the assembly city early Friday so they can participate in the opening sessions Friday evening at 6:45 p. m.

Pointing to the fact that family participation in a convention of Jehovah's Witnesses is one of the unique features, Von Tiffin, presiding minister of the Quitaque congregation, stated that children and parents alike have featured parts on the program. All listen attentively to Scriptural discussions on important subjects centered around family living in these troubled times. "This is why there is no generation gap," he said.

Another convention highlight will be the ordination ceremony of newly dedicated ministers which will include their being baptised under water in symbol of their dedication.

"Law and Order — When and how?" will be the main subject to be discussed and will come as the highlight of the convention Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. when L. M. Dugan, traveling minister from the world headquarters of the Witnesses, will give the featured public discourse.
