FOUR-YEAR-OLD GIRL WITNESSES WACO MURDERS

WACO, Feb. 13.—Daybreak Sunday revealed one of the boldest murders in the history of McLennan county with the discovery at Concord, seven miles northeast of Waco, of the lifeless bodies of W. H. Barker and his wife, Mrs. Lou M. Barker, while Homer Turk, 13-year-old son, was found with his skull crushed, but still alive.

Mr. Barker, who was proprietor of a grocery at Concord, was shot through the head, the bullet entering under his left eye, while his wife's head had been cleaved with an ax.

Late Sunday afternoon seven negroes had been taken in custody by the officers, while nine Mexicans were under surveillance. The men are employed on farms near the scene of the tragedy. The only eyewitness to the murder who was in condition to talk is Willie Lou Barker, the four-year-old daughter of the murdered couple.

VALERA OPENS FIRE ON TREATY WITH ENGLAND

DUBLIN, Feb. 13.—Evacuation of British troops and other military forces from Dublin was unexpectedly suspended today. It is thought the suspension is due to events in Ulster.

DUBLIN, Feb. 13.—Eamon de Valera Sunday opened the campaign against the provisional government with a great demonstration held in O'Connell street. Three large platform tents had been placed for the speakers and each was surrounded by large crowds. Members of the republican and metropolitan police regulated the gathering. All traffic in O'Connell street was suspended for a hour by order of the republican chief of police.

Mr. De Valera was accorded a great reception. He spoke from the principal platform at the Parnell statue. Count Plunkett, who presided, introduced Mr. De Valera as "president of the Republic." Six resolutions were proposed during the meeting, outlining the attitude of the republicans.

The resolutions affirmed that the Irish nation was one and indivisible and that the state authority in Ireland is derived solely from the Irish people; that the British crown is an alien crown, and that Ireland is not part of the British Empire.

The resolutions further declared that the articles of the London agreement failed to represent the true desires of the Irish people; that the treaty was obtained under duress and that the Dail Eireann is not competent to give it legal sanction and therefore it is null and void. They added that to force upon Ireland an election involving recognition of partition by the Dail Eireann has expressed a sanction is unconstitutional. An additional resolution called upon the people for support of the dependents of prisoners.

Uncle Joe Cannon Announces That He Intends to Retire

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Uncle Joe Cannon, the oldest member of the house of representatives, announced today that he will not be a candidate for re-election as representative from the 18th Illinois district.

The former speaker announced his intention to retire from politics. While he gave no reasons for his retirement, in a statement to close friends he declared that he made his decision in the belief that his health and his age made a less strenuous life advisable.

Uncle Joe expects to retire to his home in Danville, Ill., after finishing his present term.

EASTLAND, Feb. 13.—New Mahaney, facing three indictments, was brought back to Eastland Saturday afternoon from Fort Worth by Sheriff Nolley and was placed in the jail here. Starkey and assault to murder Ross Marchman as the result of the occurrence on February 3, at Cisco, and he also was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of carrying a pistol. This last charge is alleged to have been committed some time ago.

A bond of $2,500 was required in each of the assault to murder cases and a bond of $500 was required on the pistol-carrying charge. The bonds were signed by R. L. Day, Charles Downtain and Jack Brindell.

BRICK ROAD TO THE PALO PINTO LINE PROPOSED

RANGER, Feb. 13.—The extension of the brick paving on the Bankhead highway from Ranger to the Palo Pinto line, approximately ten miles out of the Thurber road, is contemplated in plans now being discussed by county officials and interested Ranger citizens. Under special arrangements with the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company for free sledge rock along the road and special discounts on purchases of crushed rock and brick and the elimination of freight hauls, a brick-paved road with wide asphalt macadam curbs could be constructed as cheaply as the entire asphalt macadam road calling for under the county road building program, it is thought.

The road planned would be brick paving in the center, twelve feet wide and asphalt macadam curbs three feet wide on either side, laid flush with the brick.

M. H. Hagaman, one of those interested in securing the higher type of road, stated yesterday afternoon that such a road would long outlast the bonds and be good for another generation. All traffic, he pointed out, would use the center of the road except when passing traffic from the opposite direction and as the result the asphalt macadam curbs could be expected to last for a long while and at the same time would cheapen the cost of the road sufficiently to bring it within reach of the county's allowance.

The road as part of the Bankhead highway would pick up the brick paved stretch from Cisco at the end of the paving on the east side of Ranger and run to the point where the Strawn road leaves the Thurber road on the high hill, and then turn north on the Strawn road to the Palo Pinto line. Such a road it is pointed out, would give Eastland county one of the longest and best stretches of county road in the state. It is also expected that some state and federal aid could be obtained for the project.

NEGRO IS TAKEN FROM OFFICER AND SHOT BY MOB

TEXARKANA, Ark., Feb. 13.—The body of P. Norman, negro, who was taken from Deputy Sheriff Will Jordan near Texarkana Saturday night about 8 o'clock, was found shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday morning on a road two and a half miles northwest of the city, where he had been shot to death.

Three bullets had entered his head and one penetrated his right breast.

Norman is said to have been the negro who last Wednesday drove Deputy Sheriff Jordan from a farm near Texarkana, using a rifle to enforce his commands. He was not wanted here for any other offense and had no connection with the murder of K. W. Landers, the Elyau storekeeper who was fatally wounded Thursday night in an attempted holdup, according to officers. Landers died within an hour after he was shot.

RAIL WORKERS WILL NOT JOIN MINE WORKERS

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—Developments of the last week have made impossible an effective alliance between the railroad unions and the United Mine Workers of America, in the opinion of railroad authorities here.

Despite their acceptance of the invitation of President John L. Lewis of the miners, the "big four" train service brotherhoods are now declared to be withdrawing from an active part in the coming conference. President Warren S. Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the other brotherhood chiefs have announced from Cleveland that they will not come to the conference themselves, but will send lesser officials, because, they say, regional conferences with railroad executives interfere.

It is pointed out here that the railroads and the "Big Four" brotherhoods have come to an understanding in regard to wages and working rules and that any controversy between the carriers and their employees in the future will not include the train service men.

MEDIEVAL POMP AT CROWNING OF THE NEW PONTIFF

ROME, Feb. 13.—With all the ritualistic magnificence that marked back to the Middle Ages, the Eternal City acclaimed Pius XI, as the supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church Sunday.

Rites which began within the Vatican early in the morning and continued with increasing pomp until at noon the triple crown of St. Peter was placed over the head of the new bishop of Rome and the adulation of the church and people reached its climax and left him at the end almost exhausted from the strain.

WACO TRAGEDY A MYSTERY TO ALL OFFICERS

Dawn of the coronation day found the streets and piazzas near St. Peter's Cathedral a scene of great humanity.

At 8:30 o'clock in the morning the Pope, surrounded by members of the noble guard, his household and the sacred college, entered the sacrament chapel from the papal apartments in the Vatican. Here, because of the cold weather, the first homage was rendered him instead of in St. Gregory's chapel, as has been customary.

Here the Pope descended from the sedia gestatoria and mounted the papal throne, where he listened to Cardinal Merry Del Val's address of felicitation. At the conclusion of this reading the cardinal paid the first homage, kissing the Pope's hand and foot. The Pope then embraced Cardinal Del Val, after which the members of the chapter kissed his foot and knee. Other ranks of the hierarchy kissed his feet.

Following this ceremony Pope Pius entered the nearby chapel, bowed before the sacrament crossed there, and then mounted the royal chair once more.

Here a cottage was formed headed by the master of ceremonies, apostolic functionaries, the choir of the Sistine chapel, shers, penitentiaries, bishops and archbishops, the cardinals and ending with Pope Pius in his white robe trimmed with gold and wearing a mitre studded with precious stones. A gorgeous canopy was supported over his head, carried by eight members of the segreteria tribuna. The cortege swung out into the central nave of the cathedral.

The board's rules affect more than 12,000 rail workers and become effective February 16. According to figures based on interstate commerce commission statistics it is estimated that the annual labor bill of the railroads will be cut about $300,000 by eliminating the overtime pay provisions of the national agreements.

WACO TRAGEDY A MYSTERY TO ALL OFFICERS

WACO, Feb. 13.—A drag-net by the sheriff's department, the city detective force and the constable's office, spread over the vicinity of Concord, near here, where W. H. Barker, a merchant, and his wife were murdered Saturday night and Homer Turk, 13-year-old son of a neighbor, was stricken down, has resulted in the arrest of nine negroes who are in jail here as suspects.

The tragedy is still shrouded in mystery and early today the officers were in doubt as to the motive.

All suspects are being held for further investigation but no evidence has been secured against any but two who are described by the Berkers' little girl as looking like Mexicans but talking like negroes. The fact that these two men, according to information obtained by detectives, left their homes Saturday night and did not return is considered significant.

The little girl of the murdered couple remained in bed alone in the house from the time of the murder, about 10 o'clock Saturday night, until after daylight Sunday.

The wounded boy lay on the floor beside her bed, unconscious, and she, hearing him enter after the murder, thought him one of the murderers and was afraid to move.

The girl is with an aunt at Lakeview, and the boy is in a sanitarium with no hope of his recovery held out.

SOLDIER BONUS CALLS FOR FACTS.

Discussion of the bonus bill has reached a stage of paramount public interest. Whether it is right or wrong in principle has been subordinated by the more insistent query as to how are the funds to be raised and how large shall the funds be.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon who is opposing the bonus says it will cost $3,000,000,000. Senator McCumber who favors the bill says its cost will not be above $200,000,000 in any one year.

Obviously the imperative thing is to get the facts in the case and the ex-service men should be no less insistent than other taxpayers in demanding all possible information on this subject which is giving the economists of the nation so much concern.

The difference between the $200,000,000 of McCumber's and the $3,000,000,000 of Mellon's is what will make proponents or opponents of thousands of veterans and other taxpayers.

If the bonus is to cost $200,000,000 annually that sum might be absorbed by taxation in the economic processes of the nation. If its cost is $3,000,000,000 then the service men, no less than the other taxpayers, will want to know just where the money is coming from, for the welfare of the service man is as fatefully linked up with this matter as the welfare of the most insignificant taxpayer.

It is a noteworthy fact that some of the men who served in the war are either lukewarm on the bonus proposal or are against it. Some of the veterans object to it on principle, alleging their dislike of the idea of having their patriotism commercialized.

A greater number undoubtedly feel that the question of principle is not pertinent, that an adjusted compensation is not commercialized patriotism and that they who went out, facing dangers and enduring discomfort, left behind other men of the same age and fighting eligibility who reaped the harvest of high wages in munition plants and shipyards and experienced none of the dangers or discomforts of military life.

Still others see in a certain kind of bonus a grave economic risk to the country. This view, rather than the principle of the thing, makes absolutely necessary the bringing forward of all facts in the case. With a full treasury and normal conditions, it is doubtful if a corporal's guard could be mustered against a bonus. Unhappily the treasury is neither full nor conditions normal. To add billions now to the national treasury would, in Mr. Mellon's opinion, delay further the return of prosperity and handicap the country's business recovery.

The adjusted compensation bill might supply ready money for many who probably would elect that form of settlement, but if it did that at the expense of opening up mills and factories, the relief would be only temporary. Ready money is very desirable when jobless, but ready money and a steady job are much more preferable for the American service man. There are some economists, one of whom is Mr. Mellon, who wonders how old jobs can be restored and new ones created if further taxes are imposed on the country.

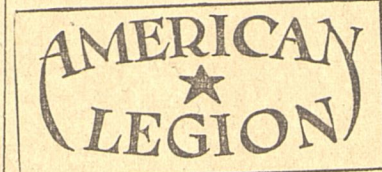

Yet all this is speculation based on a very high cost of the bonus. Senator McCumber's view be the correct one, the situation would be much different and the adjusted compensation bill, in the Senator's opinion, would work no economic hardship on the nation.

These varying and differing views call for undisputed facts. Service men, no less than those less honored, should demand the truth about the situation. One set of figures involves, in Secretary Mellon's opinion, grave economic risks to the country. Another set involves, in Senator McCumber's opinion, no serious impediment to business recovery. But which figures are accurate? The country ought to know.

in the world war to support his contention and quoted numerous medical investigators to prove that victims of gas were no more subject to tuberculosis than other casualties.

Figures without end may be cited to prove all that the general claims, but they will not convince the plain citizen that gas is a humane weapon. There are too many young chaps within the view of any of us who are suffering today from the effects of gas—men whose efficiency has been lowered, men who have been reduced to invalidism.

There is nothing very humane about war or any of the weapons of war, and public opinion rightly holds that there is less about poison gas in its various forms than about any other.

The regular meetings of John William Butts Post, No. 123, of the American Legion, are held at the city hall auditorium the first and third Mondays of each month, at 7:30 o'clock. Crigger Paschall is the post commander and T. F. Fullerton is the post adjutant.

Investigation by congress of the alleged illegal hangings in the A. E. F. is termed "a farcial burlesque" by the American Legion at Mineral Wells, Tex. "This abortive investigation is an insult to every loyal American," a resolution reads. "We believe it is time members of the board began devoting their efforts to matters of import instead of indulging in the hearing of unsupported and absurd complaints made by a few obviously disgruntled and irresponsible muck-rakers."

The American Legion Weekly of February 10 prints an article by an ex-captain in the signal corps, quoting General Bullard's order to shoot "on the spot" any person advising surrender during battle, but flatly denying that evidence of any such instance has been substantiated.

District schools in Moffat county, Colo., had decided to close their doors for a period of weeks, due to insufficient funds. The American Legion succeeded in raising $916 to keep them going, taking the stand that "a shortening of the school term or a curtailment of athletics would be a backward step, depriving children of rightful advantages."

Found wiping his auto with an American flag, a man in Tampa, Fla., was questioned by the American Legion. He was pronounced "simply ignorant," and given instruction in how to treat the colors. Hearing of the incident, the man's employer presented the Legion with a large flag.

A complete French village, with a "Hotel de Ville" accommodating 1,000, will be planted at Medicine

Parka, Okla., as a recreation center for the American Legion. Posts will build cottages where members may spend their vacation.

Ex-service men in Calcutta, India, have applied to the American Legion for a charter.

Hiring squads of unemployed ex-soldiers, each squad in charge of an ex-nurse, has been suggested to the American Legion in Toledo, O., as a means of tearing down unsightly election posters.

"Nervous" ex-soldiers present a special problem in hospitalization. Neuropsychiatric treatment at government institutions is under investigation by the American Legion, and a conference of specialists has been called by the veterans' bureau.

John J. Payne, released two years ago from a German prison, is being looked for by the American Legion. His mother, at Newburg, N. Y., has not seen him since Christmas, 1920.

Holding aloft a tin can labeled "For ex-soldiers," a man raised $9,000 in New York streets. The American Legion learned that ex-soldiers got about $50 of it—the man got a jail sentence.

Gathered at the call of radical New York labor leaders, 600 unemployed men threatened a tear-gas attack on Fifth Avenue financiers. The American Legion was condemned at a "tit of capitalism," and ex-soldiers present were told they should have kept their army guns to "force the government to give them jobs."

Brooding over war horrors continues to wreck minds of ex-soldiers. The American Legion at Tampa, Fla., reports twelve cases of ex-service men pronounced "incurably insane" since Thanksgiving.

Good standing in the American Legion will be the only security required to float a loan from the Legion's rotating fund for disabled and needy ex-soldiers.

History as taught in public schools prejudices children against foreign countries, Alvin Owsley, head of the American Legion's Americanism commission, told educational authorities at New York.

"To sail away for a year and a day" New York state delegates plan to charter a steamer to take them to the American Legion convention at New Orleans.

Literature "on the wing" is the latest convenience provided American Legion members. Traveling libraries are being loaned to posts of the Legion by the Oklahoma State Library commission.

OUTLOOK GLOOMY FOR UNIVERSITY BASEBALL NINE

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 13. — Confronted by a very strenuous schedule and with only fair material working out for places on the 1922 Varsity baseball nine, Coach Billy Disch, veteran Longhorn baseball mentor, will have the fight of his life, if he is to win the eleventh consecutive Southwestern conference diamond championship. Southwestern conference baseball, with veteran nines such as the Texas Aggies and Baylor Bears will place upon the diamond, promises to be very fast and hard fought.

The hardest game the Longhorns will be called to play are, doubtless, the six games to be played upon the spring southern trip. On this tour, the Longhorns meet Alabama University's great nine, the Tulane University nine and the Mississippi Aggie team. A clean record in these six games would be a great feat for the Longhorns to perform, in view of the known class of the teams to be met. It is thought that an even break in the six games to be played will be commendable.

In order to place a well balanced team on the diamond, Coach Disch must develop a catcher, a number of good pitchers and three or four hitters with the ability to ram out long base-hits.

Maxey Hart, of Austin, the great receiver of other days, is no longer available. If he is able to get into condition, Arthur Allen, of Dallas, a promising maskman of last year, may get the job.

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

Mary Jane Meets Jumbo—The Big Elephant

"Mary Jane", said Jumbo, "folks only knew how sweet and good this Mary Jane Syrup is, why everybody would eat it all the time."

ONE day, the circus came to town. There were trained pigs, and clowns, and beautiful ladies riding in chariots, and a cage full of monkeys. But what Mary Jane liked best was the great big elephant, Jing Lin Ousanni. But everybody called him Jumbo.

Jumbo had a very wonderful nose. It was four feet long. And Jumbo could wrap it around a big man, and lift the man right up on his back. Jumbo could pick up a pin with his nose. And he put the end of it right into Uncle Jim's pocket and took out a lot of peanuts.

Mary Jane got talking with Jumbo and he told her all about Africa and crocodiles, and tigers, and jungles where you get lost right away, just as soon as you stepped off the little path.

Mary Jane was so pleased to hear Jumbo that she opened up her lunch basket and brought out two great big slices of bread spread with delicious Mary Jane Syrup, that she had for when she would get hungry from watching the lions.

She gave one of them to Jumbo, and he took it right up, and curled his long nose around till he put the whole piece of bread in his mouth at once. "Mary Jane", said Jumbo, if folks only knew how sweet and good this Mary Jane Syrup is, why everybody in the world would eat it all the time." And Mary Jane said that's what she thought, but she didn't like to say so out loud for Mary Jane Syrup was named after her. And then she said "good-bye" to Jumbo, and drove home with her Uncle Jim in his Ford.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF CISCO HIGH SCHOOL

CISCO, TEXAS, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1922.

NUMBER 21.

SENIORS AS SECURITY.

Individually Guarantee Payment For Annual.

Amid great solemnity and awed silence the Seniors filed quietly, one by one, around the great wooden desk of Miss McCarty's last Thursday and with a pompous flourish affixed their signatures to an important and tearful document. This was nothing more than the "spontaneous" signing of a certain financial agreement which pledges the Seniors to reach down into their well-worn pockets and pay for the Occidental should funds not be forthcoming for that purpose.

ASSEMBLY SEATS ASSIGNED

A Place for Every Student, and Every Student in His Place is the Program. Now.

Our high school has started a new regime. Everyone has a certain seat in the study hall for chapel period. This order was put into effect Monday morning at chapel by Mr. Wells.

the only safe place for a fellow would be under the feet of the afore-mentioned, where he would be amply protected. Assigning seats in chapel had a varied effect upon the students and faculty alike. In fact, one of the faculty (no names mentioned) was heard to remark, "I'm gonna leave before the man assigns me a seat."

SING SING. WHAT SHALL WE SING

The chapel period Tuesday morning was taken up in testing the vocal powers of the students and faculty and in trying to arouse a little class rivalry. Mr. Kelly had the entire student body sing and then had each class choose what it could do. It was a close decision as to which class made the most noise, because none of them made enough noise to hear.

When the faculty had satisfied their curiosity, someone suggested that the faculty render a selection. This suggestion was immediately acted upon, and most of the faculty responded and sang the same song. Mr. Turner, however, distinguished himself by singing bass (not basso) and proved to be a rare treat for the students who had not suspected him. However, the good effect produced was marred somewhat when someone noticed that the faculty was not all there. Mr. Williams, Mrs. Kean, and Mr. Herndon were absent, discreetly or otherwise.

After the song service, Mr. Wells made a short talk in which he set forth the need of class rivalry and the method of achieving this. This method was that of selling tickets for the coming minstrel. The class selling the most tickets is to have the privilege of selecting the "most popular girl," whose picture is to be in the Occidental.

BRICK TOPS HOLD BRAINS.

Strawberry Blonds Find Champion in C. H. S. Student. I am going to undertake to show you, dear reader, that the "auburn haired," most commonly called "red-headed," person is more distinguished than the other human beings in this red world. In the first place, the red-headed person is always jolly. Did you ever see Edward Lee, Eugene Smith, or Zella Blanche McClinton when they were not "grinning like a cat licking paste?" Edward Lee is always doing something (yes, it's true that something sets him in a little sometimes). Why, the red-headed people are the "spice of life." (Mostly red pepper).

people are blessed with by far a greater amount of beauty than any of the other creatures of this world. Just look at James (Red) More; could any living being be more handsome? I think you will agree with me in saying that that is impossible. Then there's Willie Ross White. I do love girls with red robed hair. (You know, Mary Pickford's hair is "auburn.")

In the third place, the red-headed people are distinguished because of their great brilliancy in their studies. Now, there is Linouise Campbell. Why, she makes A plus on all her subjects every month. Travis Watson is very brilliant in chemistry class. (Her hair makes her brilliant). Edward is a wonderful English student, but he excels all others in mathematics. Senator Carmack of Tennessee, was red-headed, but still he was regarded by many people as being the "brainiest" man in the Senate, so you "red-headed boys," don't lose hope, because you will be great after all. I know what I'm talking about because I'm red-headed myself.

Do you like plantation melodies? Do you like to see old-fashioned jigging? Do you like to watch a regular old-timey country dance? Do you like to hear the caller's voice shouting, "De si do; gents ought to know," or "balance you eight?" Do you like to hear a male quartet sing? Do you like chorus singing and plenty of it?

Then, gentle reader, don't lose that ticket to the Blackface Minstrel next Friday night. With an entire cast of more than sixty people, including not only high school talent, but also town talent; with a capable orchestra, with costumes brilliant and original; and best of all, with the ingenuity and experience of Miss McCarty and Miss St. John directing all, the performance at the city hall, February 17, at 8 o'clock bids fair to eclipse anything seen in Cisco in recent years.

During the past week the halls of Cisco school have resounded, after school and late in the evenings, with the tuneful melodies of the "old south." The clatter of jigging feet has been heard. Merry voices of high school misses have chanted bewitching "jazz." Occasionally (and at such times, even Mr. Wells' typewriter is silent) a rich baritone has reverberated through the building, carrying a crooning, half mournful tune that leaves regret when it is done. In fact, the atmosphere about C. H. S. is charged with expectancy.

More than by any other one thing, the excitement has been heightened by the contest between classes to see which one shall elect the popularity queen for the current school year. According to plans outlined by Miss McCarty, the class selling the greatest number of tickets to the minstrel shall select from its personnel the girl whose picture appears in "The Occidental" as most popular of Cisco girls. Since almost every class has a favorite miss, upon whom her classmates are anxious to bestow this honor, the contest has already waxed very warm—one class even planning a house-on-house canvass to sell tickets.

Although the performance is, primarily, a benefit performance, since the proceeds will be devoted to defraying the expenses of the Occidental, the chief benefit will accrue to those who attend, for they will see a first class performance at a very modest price. Mr. Tom Bristor and Mr. Jack Colquitt who will take prominent part in the entertainment, lend to it a high degree of artistic finish, as both have had much experience in amateur dramatics. One feature which will be greeted enthusiastically by all at attendance is the singing of Mr. F. A. Smith, who never fails to capture his audience. Singing by a quartet of well-known Cisco singers will add the finishing touch to the program.

All aboard for Al Field's land! Everyone who goes will see the strangest wedding in the world; and hear the best and latest jokes in Cisco.

"JAIL BIRDS IS BIRDS, ANYHOW."

Room 26 is the most popular place in school as shown by figures. There was a total of one hundred fifty in Room 26 for one week. An average of thirty per day. The question is, is this the same thirty every day? Well, that cannot exactly be said, but one-half of the school goes to Room 26 each week. The following are the numbers from each class: Freshmen, 51; Sophomores, 61; Juniors, 25; Seniors, 13. The Seniors show smallest number, then Juniors. Sophomores should come next, but Freshmen sent ten less than the Sophs. Sophs deserve a banner with "Soph's 1922 Room 26" in big letters o. it. Seniors are holding the dignified record.

"FIRST CALL FOR BREAKFAST"

The Domestic Economy class II has been preparing and serving breakfast every morning for the past week. Monday and Tuesday the entire class prepared the food and served members of the class. Tuesday morning Miss Robbins was one of the guests. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings individual girls prepared the food and served the meal. Wednesday morning Avis Hamor prepared the breakfast alone, and served Molly Caldwell, Linouise Campbell, Laura Fay Wilson and herself. Thursday morning Edna Mae Westerfeld prepared breakfast and served Marie Pratt, Nora Lee Carroll, Ruby Williams and herself. Friday, Marie prepared and served the meal, serving Daisy Caldwell, Laura Fay Wilson, Dibbon Choate and herself. This plan has been worked out by Miss Tucker, in order to instruct the girls in the quickest way to prepare the meal.

CISCO VS. DOTHAN

In a basketball game with Dothan at the Labor Temple Tuesday afternoon, Cisco took the long end of a 42-26 score. The Cisco team completely outclassed and outplayed the Dothan team in every way. Both sides played well and showed good team work although the advantage lay with Cisco. The feature of the game was three field goals made from past the middle of the court by Yager, guard for Dothan. Herndon of Cisco was the highest score maker, making 14 points. The Cisco team showed better teamwork and better playing than in former games. The score at the end of the first half 24-13 in favor of Cisco. In the second half Barto Erwin of Cisco drew a thunderous cheer when he made a field goal. The line-up: Cisco: Herndon and Pippin, forwards; Hart, center; McCord, guard; B. Erwin, guard. Dothan: Agnew and Yager, forwards, Penn, center; Houstess and Kile, guards. Substitutes, Shepherd for Pippin. Referee, Polsky.

CISCO VS. SCRANTON

By way of revenge Cisco defeated Scranton at the Labor Temple Friday evening by a score of 33-26. In this game Cisco had the best line-up and outplayed Scranton. Frank Turner of Cisco was the outstanding star of the game. The game was roughly played on both sides, being one of the roughest games ever played in the Labor Temple. The Scranton team played more of a defensive game. Each of their men stayed with a Cisco man throughout the game. The score at the end of the first half was 20-13 in favor of Cisco. The line-up for Cisco: Herndon and Pippin, forwards; Hart, center; McCord and Turner, guards. Substitutes: Erwin for Turner in the last part of the last half. Referee, Polsky.

IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE THIS ASK THE SENIORS

What are the seniors doing? They are advancing and coming to the front in everything, even the front row of seats in the study hall. They are paying five dollars each month to the Near East Relief Fund. They are running the lunch room, in order to make money to publish the annual. To tell the truth, they are doing just worlds of good and no harm to anyone. Talk about pep, they are getting fuller of it all the time. If you don't believe it, just watch them. In order to do them justice, ask yourself this question: "Where would this school be, and what would it do, without the seniors?" Just think of not having an annual, of having to go to town every time you wanted some candy to eat during classes or study period. Consider those honest men of the senior class, such as Forrest Herndon, Frank Turner, Alec Martin, Paul McCarty, Rex Carrothers, and Edward Mancill who proved themselves real stars on the football team. Look over the basketball team and see who are members of the senior class. If you have time, find out the names of the officers of the various school organizations and not how many of them are seniors. After taking all these things into consideration, the least thing that can possibly be said is "that's a pretty good senior class after all."

BREVITIES

Ara Ravenscraft was absent from school Monday because of sickness. Sherman Watson was absent from school Tuesday morning. Sherman Mancill was absent from school Monday and Tuesday. James Moore (In Geometry III): "Angle D-A-M equals B-C", but no more could be heard. Every day at the fifth period there seems to be a wild stampede for the library. Such a stampede makes one wonder what the big attraction is. The frantic rush will likely result in a casualty or a panic or something if an efficient traffic cop is not installed immediately. In Tuesday's rush Lorna Bateen was almost exterminated between two rude fish.

Low Freshman (on examination):

"Mr. Turner, when you're adding, you change the signs of the bottom row, don't you?" Mr. Williams: "And now she is dead." Raymond S.: "Is she dead?" Johnnie Massie was absent for several days on account of sickness. Mr. Turner (giving out spelling): "Spell finance." Low Fish: "Oh, that's something that I'd like to have!" Mr. Hilgenberg: "Alline, whom did the Assyrians get their culture from Was it the Babylonians?" Alline C.: "Yes sir, the Baby Lenas." Mary McGinnis is expecting to move to Ranger soon.

FISHIES

If you're a freshman, It's all you hear is, "Fishie, fishie, fishie!" You want to look around And see who's near And calling, "fishie, fishie!" You do, if you're outside, But it does no good. See their big fists open wide? Anyway it's some relief To imagine you could Tan their hide.

THE LAST THING ONE WOULD THINK OF

1. Porter in a fight with Ancil. 2. Thelma Fairless without a smile. 3. Garland not talking about Lerma. 4. Joe Kilborn not making you laugh. 5. Zella Blanche without a ready blush. 6. Mr. Herndon without a story to tell.

Mr. Hilgenberg: "God gave the countries different tongues." Alline: "They couldn't have the same tongue."

Mr. Turner: "Some people say that the low eighth is the best grade in school."

Mattie G. Rupe: "Mr. Turner, I think you are the sweetest thing!" Mr. Turner: "Now what do you want? A plus?"

A VERY GOOD SHOT
on even though it delayed the Cabinet meeting until he had put that little bird safe in its mother's nest. Carefully he picked up the wounded creature and placed it in his hat. Then with his hat under his arm he climbed the tree and placed the little bird beside its brothers in the nest. With a clear conscience and a light heart he went on to the meeting. It is told of Lincoln that while still a little boy of seven he untiringly animals. Tears of indignation often sprang to the tender hearted boy's eyes when he saw his fellows ill-treating helpless animals. One day he saw several of them putting live coals on the back of a mud turtle with a shingle. He snatched the shingle from the hand of one of the mischievous boys, knocked off the coals with it, and then began to punish the lad for his cruelty. Lincoln's first writing in school was in defense of dumb animals.

Carefully He Picked Up The Wounded Creature
and with great pains cut splintered wood to burn in the open fireplace, to make a pleasant perfume and a bright light while his mother read stories to him and his sister from the Bible and The Philgrim's Progress. Lincoln had a great love for dumb animals.
Few living room accessories are of more importance in helping the mother of a family in producing order from chaos than a pair of convenient book ends, which may be brought closely together to support a few books, or extended to support many. These described by the sketch may be made of any wood desired, though wood softer than whitewood, or poplar or gum wood is not strong enough to hold the screws, and to resist the pressure of the books and the handling to which they must be submitted. Prepare the wood for bottom first; shape the ends to the desired design, plane them to the thickness they will be when finished and make the groove in the bottom to receive them. This must be marked with a sharp knife and cut to fit the thickness of the ends with the greatest degree of accuracy possible; the depth and bottom of the groove must be made carefully or the ends will not stand upright. Note that the taper begins at the groove. The holes for the 1/4" No. 7 screws should be bored through the bottom and countersunk to be sure the heads of the screws will not scratch the top of the table. The ends should be put in place and fastened temporarily with the screws, and the edges smoothed off, though if the ends are not to be decorated the ends may be glued and fastened permanently. Though the ends may be decorated after they are in place, the design may be made more conveniently, and the ends sandpapered afterward more thoroughly if they are done before being fastened into the bottom. To make the design, separate the pieces by removing the screws which hold them together and sketch lightly the design to be made upon the end, or upon a piece of paper and transfer it to the wood by using carbon paper. If an original design is preferred to the one shown, it should conform to the shape of the ends by following the general form of the ends as regards the angles. In a manner similar to the design shown. We are now ready for the decoration which is made by punches of different shapes made by filing the ends of 10 or 12 penny common nails to the shapes indicated. Numbers 1 and 4 may be used for outlining, not for making the line continuous, but instead the line should be of the nature of a dotted line; it must be made accurately for carelessness will be apparent in the results. The spaces enclosed by the outline may be stippled or punched with points 2 and 3, tapping the head of the nail lightly and covering the space evenly, leaving no thin places. Sandpaper the bottom and both sides of the ends, spread glue on the bottom of the groove and turn the screws home. Be sure the ends stand upright, squaring from the bottom, not from the tapered top of the bottom, for the ends must stand square with the top of the table on which the book ends rest. Usually the ends may be pushed one way or the other to make them stand correctly, if it is done before the glue hardens. Clean away all glue or finger marks and sandpaper carefully. Finish with stain and shellac or shellac only and rub down with 0000 sandpaper and polish with prepared wax in both cases.

AMUSEMENTS

TEARS AND LAUGHTER BLEND IN "THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET"

May Tully's screen version of "The Old Oaken Bucket," at the Judia Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is a story sprinkled with smiles and tears and memories.
Adapted from the old song near and dear to millions of people, "The Old Oaken Bucket" is a heart-throbbing story of childhood days as every man and woman has lived them. "The orchard, the meadow, the deep-tangled wood, and every loved spot which your infancy knew" are pictured in this drama of the heart with a realism that is surprising as it is entertaining.
"The Old Oaken Bucket" is a sincere and earnest attempt to catch the theme that inspired the writing of the best loved song in America, and reproduce it in nature's own setting. Those who are fortunate in seeing this delightful visualization of the days of childhood, and the many happy incidents associated with it will be amazed at the manner the ideal in production.

DON LIVINGSTON, representative of the U. S. Farm Bureau, and State Agricultural Commissioner for South Dakota, is one of the men appointed by President Harding on the Purchasing Commission for Russian Relief.
This Commission is now engaged, in conjunction with the American Relief Administration, in purchasing, shipping and distributing food and seed wheat and corn for the Russian famine sufferers.
Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce and chairman of the American Relief Administration, is head of the Commission. Other members are former Governor James P. Goodrich of Indiana, E. M. Flish, treasurer of the U. S. Grain Corporation, and Edgar Rickard, director of the ARA.
Under the provisions of the act, signed by the President, appropriating $20,000,000 for Russian relief, large quantities of food and grain have been bought and at present are being rushed by ships to Russian ports, where the American Relief Administration is handling the distribution.
The Purchasing Commission for Russian Relief is bending every effort towards facilitating the speedy shipment of the needed commodities to the famine regions. Large quantities of supplies, grown and purchased in America are being sent as fast as American ships can be chartered and loaded.
Secretary Hoover has announced that 3,000,000 bushels of grain have been shipped as of January 25th and instructions given to rush the shipment of further cargoes.

POWELL & DOSSETT "MAKE GOOD"

Accidents will happen. The fire in the Powell & Dossett Tailorshop was not the result of carelessness. However, Powell & Dossett will make good out of their own pockets on losses which the insurance will not cover. The public knows that Powell & Dossett can be depended upon to do the "right thing." The insurance adjuster has surveyed the damage and adjustment of losses will be made with our customers at an early date. The fire interrupted our business only an hour or two.
