COMPROLLER IS OPPOSED TO TAX EXEMPTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Limitation of the privileges of rediscounting bank paper as a means of extending credit was recommended to congress today by D. R. Crissinger, comptroller of the currency in his report for the year ending last October 31. Rediscounting of one bank's paper by another bank is, at best, he said, "a questionable procedure" and is liable to become a menace when "a bank pyramids its credits" through misuse of the privilege.

"I feel that recent experience admonishes us of the need for limitations and safeguards against the possibility of excesses," Mr. Crissinger said, "if the law had placed a wise and proper limitation upon the extent of these rediscounts, very few national banks, in my opinion, would have failed or even been gravely embarrassed."

The comptroller recorded his emphatic opposition to the tax exemption proposed by congress of $300 of income received from money invested in building and loan associations, declaring that it "offers a new method for the tax dodger, is undesirable and class legislation." He reiterated sundry recommendations to meet "changed conditions in methods of banking" all of which, he said, already have been embodied in resolutions presented in congress.

Mr. Crissinger devoted considerable space in his report to an eulogium of the national banks of the country which, he said, throughout the trying period of last year "demonstrated a most impressive stability, strength and soundness of management."

National banks chartered during the year totalled 169, the report showed, with aggregate capitalization of $20,005,000. In the same period 34 banks were reported to have failed and 93 to have gone into voluntary liquidation.

State commercial banks showed the greatest increase for any single class of banking institution, the comptroller reported, growing from 18,195 to 18,875 with aggregate resources increasing by $190,000,000. Loans and Trust companies increased 66 in number but decreased $138,900,000 in resources.

CHICAGO FAILS TO ENTHUSE OVER DRY RAID PROGRAM

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 9.—Having received a chilly reception from officials here whom he endeavored to enlist in a "mop-up" campaign, Prohibition Commissioner Roy Haynes Sunday addressed two church gatherings and prepared to return to Washington.

The advent of the dry chief was heralded as the forerunner of an attack on liquor law violators that would eclipse all former efforts. Stephen A. Cuneo, assistant to Commissioner Haynes, attempted to arrange a conference with Mayor William Hale Thompson. The Mayor, it was said, according to Cuneo, was out of town.

Cuneo then "invited" Police Chief Charles Fitzmorris to a meeting. Fitzmorris replied, Cuneo said, that he appreciated the invitation, but that he had other business on hand. State's Attorney Robert Crowe could not be reached. District Attorney Charles R. Clyne accepted the invitation, but, according to Cuneo, was called out of town before the conference.

R. C. HOLBERT AND R. C. PASS HAVE TROUBLE

In Justice of the Peace A. E. Eaton's court Monday morning R. C. Pass was fined $1 and costs, amounting to $16.70, for assault on R. C. Holbert.

It is said that Pass accused Holbert of stealing a watch chain from him, and that Holbert resented the accusation with some pretty strong language. Then Pass is alleged to have struck Holbert.

Holbert faces two charges in Justice Eaton's court, one alleging abusive language and the other alleging theft from person. He will stand trial. The arrests were made Sunday.

Sunday evening Holbert was arrested by Officer Hicks on a charge of drunkenness and disturbing the peace, and was assessed a fine of $1 and costs in corporation court Monday morning. Judge Montgomery acting for Mayor Williamson. He paid the fine. Hicks alleges that Holbert tried a mixture of corn liquor and gasoline in driving out West Seventh street, with the result that his automobile got stalled.

TWO CHILDREN AND MATCHES CAUSE A FIRE

Two children playing with matches was responsible for a fire Monday morning which destroyed a one-room house and shed on East Tenth street, in the Olson addition. The house was the property of Virgil Williams, who resides near Cisco. No one has been living in the house for some time. The house was almost gone when the alarm was turned in, and the fire department did not turn the water on, feeling that it was useless to waste so much water when it is getting so scarce at the lake. The supply of water in Cisco is getting low at Lake Bernie, and while there is no cause for fear of a water shortage at present, water users are urged to be careful and not waste it.

COLLECTIONS OF INTERNAL REVENUE OFF

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The internal revenue collections of the government for November of last year amounted to about $164,500,000, a decrease of $22,500,000, compared with November of 1920. For five months of the fiscal year, or from July 1, the collections were about $1,250,000,000, a decrease of $250,000,000.

Transportation tax upon oil by pipe lines was one of the very few items showing an increase for the month. There was collected in this tax for November 1921, $556,037, an increase of 121,788 compared with the previous November, while for the five months of 1921 the collections from this source amounted to $5,358,468, an increase of $1,399,968 over the same period of 1920.

Heavy decreases were shown on freight and passenger shipments and passenger tax for the month. The freight collections were $4,500,000 in November 1920 and for the five months of the two years, 1921 was $8,700,000 less than the same months in 1920. Passenger tax for November was $2,000,000 less than the same month in 1920, and for the five-month period 1921 recorded a $5,000,000 decrease.

Express shipments, however, for November was $1,000,000 in tax over 1920, and for the five month period was $429,000 increase. All transportation taxes were repealed effective January 1.

NO ONE STAYS OUT OF CHURCH UP IN ALASKA

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—When the first Eskimo church was built inside the arctic circle in Alaska, its lights went out, according to Bishop Peter T. Rowe, Episcopal bishop of Alaska, who is here in the interest of the Alaska Indians. This was because it was a snow church and the Eskimos had to pack into its small interior so closely that they used the oxygen, Bishop Rowe said.

The snow roof dripped, too, and altogether the big igloo did not prove a good meeting place, Bishop Rowe added. So they built the first frame structure, above ground, on Alaska's northern shore.

"The Eskimos did not know how to use tools," he said, "and the missionary and I took two sets of them, four in each, and showed them how, and altogether we built the church."

All along the northern coast of Alaska there are Eskimo villages today holding Episcopal services regularly every Sunday, Bishop Rowe reported.

"They do better than many of the congregations in the United States," he remarked. "The whole community turns out. No one stays away except for illness or accident. You can't see an Eskimo village from a little distance, and it is an odd thing on a Sunday morning, when the church bells ring, to see them all come out of the snow."

The Episcopal church has been working among the Eskimos so long that they are entirely familiar with its ritual and conduct services themselves when alone, the bishop said, adding that a number of villages had vested choirs.

Bishop Rowe began his labors in Alaska in the winter of 1895-6 before the great gold stampede and on his first trip camped on the site of Dawson, then without inhabitants. In each succeeding year he has made 2500 miles through the country, most of it with dog teams. He observed here that his coldest weather was 78 degrees below zero, encountered on the Dahl river north of the Yukon. He goes back to Alaska next month.

PROTECTIVE TARIFF IS NECESSARY, SAYS KIRBY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Southern business men are awakened to the need of a protective tariff, the senate finance committee was told today by John H. Kirby, lumber man of Houston, Texas. Mr. Kirby is president of the Southern Tariff Association. "We are not following our politicians on this question any longer," said Kirby.

HENRI LANDRU MAY HAVE BEEN A MASTER SPY

PARIS, Jan. 9.—The idea that Henri D. Landru may have been a master spy who employed as his agents the 10 women he is convicted of murdering has been advanced by Henri Javal, a member of the Paris bar.

This suggestion is advanced in an effort to account for the fact that no direct evidence of the murders was brought out at Landru's trial. The absence of this evidence has caused a feeling of uncertainty by most Parisians in regard to this mysterious case and numerous attempts have been made to solve the mystery on some other basis than murder.

Developing his theory, Maitre Javal says: "Eleven persons, 10 fiancées and the son of one of them, have disappeared. Landru alone knows what has become of them, and he says nothing. By his silence he puts his head at stake. This can only mean that the truth, were it known, would be as fatal for him. But the whole affair takes on another complexion if we imagine, for the sake of argument, that his victims were his accomplices in crime, and that crime espionage."

"Let us suppose," he continues, "that during the war Landru was a German spy recruiting agent. He prefers to work through women. At times this explains his meetings, sometimes five in the same day, with hundreds of women, of whom he chooses only a few, and those few without friends or relatives who might be surprised at their long absence. He takes a lonely villa as far from other habitations as possible where he can receive them. There he fabricates false identity papers for them, keeping their own, and sends them forth on their missions of treason. Arrested, Landru says nothing, and his 'victims' naturally do not break the silence."

"Can you imagine, by any other hypothesis," Maitre Javal concludes, "why so careful, calculating a criminal as Landru should burn the bodies of his victims with great difficulty and yet neglect to throw into the all-consuming flames such damaging evidence as their identity papers?"

"And does not this theory explain why he should keep such an incriminating diary, in which reference to his victims is made by initials other than his own? He needed their identity papers and the entries in his diary to show to those who employed him as a recruiter of spies."

IRRIGATION AT NAVASOTA

NAVASOTA, Jan. 9.—Feasibility of creating a reservoir for the purpose of impounding sufficient water to irrigate a large area of land in the vicinity of Navasota was discussed by C. S. Clark and A. H. Dunlap, of the state board of water engineers, with the local chamber of commerce.

FIVE CHILDREN FATALLY BURNED

GALVESTON, Jan. 8.—Cooper Bevil, aged 6, died Sunday morning at the John Sealy Hospital from burns received when a Christmas tree at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Biron caught fire. Four of his playmates who were in the room died late Saturday night and early Sunday morning. The dead are:

John Bevil, 3, and Cooper Bevil, 6, sons of L. R. and Mrs. C. P. Bevil; Roswell Moreland, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Moreland; Junior Biron, 7, and Betty Biron, 5, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Biron.

The children had locked themselves in the room when a negro nurse, who was in charge of the children absented herself to attend to Jane Biron, 1 year old sister of Betty and Junior Biron. The fire is thought to have started when one of the children attempted to light a candle on the tree and dropped a match in some cotton lintens, which was placed around the tree to represent snow. Passersby first discovered the fire by the glare of the flames through the window.

SANGER MAN'S HAND CAUGHT IN SAUSAGE MILL

SANGER, Denton County, Texas, Jan. 9.—B. W. (Doc) Miller of the City Meat Market, while grinding sausage, had the misfortune to get his hand caught in the electric sausage mill and so badly mangled that it is probable that it will have to be amputated.

Mechanics had to be summoned and a part of the sausage mill detached, with his hand in it, and carried to a nearby garage and machine shop, where, after some time, he was finally extricated.

Physicians carried Miller to a sanitarium at Gainesville.

TWO CHILDREN ARE BURNED TO DEATH

DURANT, Okla., Jan. 9.—Winnifred Conley, 7 years old, and Hazel Conley, 9, are dead, and the mother, Mrs. C. W. Conley, is expected to die as a result of Mrs. Conley mistaking gasoline for kerosene in starting a fire at Kearsy, five miles west of here, at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

The gasoline exploded, setting the house on fire. Hazel was gotten out and lived an hour. Winnifred was not rescued and the body was burned up in the home.

C. W. Conley, the father and husband, is postmaster and merchant at Kearsy.

ONE IS KILLED FOUR WOUNDED IN A GUN FIGHT

OKMULGEE, Okla., Jan. 9.—One man was killed and four others, two of them policemen, were wounded in a gun battle here today which began when officers approached to investigate a closed automobile on one of the downtown streets and were fired upon by six men occupying the car.

After a man known as "Blackie" had been killed, the two policemen, both of them wounded in the leg, wounded two of the men in the car, and captured two others. The sixth man escaped.

Frown of Hunger Sign of Childhood In Russia Today

If the photographer had only had a piece of bread in his pocket, he could easily have banished the frown from this little Russian face. Russian babies do not look for candy. All they want is food—bread preferably. That is the greatest luxury after one has lived on horseflesh and chaff.

This little boy, who was found in a river camp on the Volga, absolutely destitute but for the clothes he has on, is typical of the 1,200,000 children whom the American Relief Administration is feeding in the kitchens this winter. There are 30,000,000 people in all who face the New Year, knowing that it means slow death by starvation or the diseases caused by hunger, unless America comes to their aid.

That she may have the opportunity to do so, the American Relief Administration has opened a food Remittance Department, where packages to the value of from $10 to $50 in 10 units can be bought for delivery to designated individuals in Russia by friends, relatives or well-wishers in this country. In these packages are 50 pounds of flour, 25 of rice, 10 of cooking fats, 10 of sugar, 5 of tea and 20 cans of condensed milk—the maximum quantity at the minimum cost of the most nourishing food to be had for the money. Packages to the value of $500 can be bought for recognized institutions—orphansages, hospitals and homes for the aged.

JUDGE HILL CHARGES GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE THE DEBAUCHERY OF YOUTHFUL GIRLS AT RANGER

Enforcement of the Prohibition laws, the Stealing of Automobiles, the Writing of Bad Checks and the Disposition of Mortgaged Property With Intent to Defraud Also Mentioned in Judge's Charge—Grand Jury Advised to Take Action in All Cases of Homicide, Regardless of Circumstances.

EASTLAND, Jan. 9.—Judge E. A. Hill of the 88th district court this morning charged the grand jury of Eastland county to investigate the debauchery of young girls in Ranger, making the statement that word had come to him of many instances where girls of tender years were being seduced at that place. Judge Hill also urged the grand jury to investigate the enforcement of the prohibition laws, the stealing of automobiles, the writing of bad checks and the disposition of mortgaged property with intent to defraud.

In regard to homicide, the judge said that the grand jury should take some action in all cases where a human life was taken, regardless of the circumstances.

Thirteen men were present at 10 o'clock this morning in answer to the summons for grand jury service. J. W. Shook of Ranger was excused when it was learned that he had been previously summoned for trial jury service in the 91st district court.

None of the other twelve men asked to be excused, but when Judge Hill made the announcement that a legitimate excuse might be considered, W. M. Compton of Nimrod and W. H. White of Staff came forward with the announcement that they could be looking after the watering of their cattle if excused, while they would have to hire it done if they remained on the grand jury.

Judge Hill thereupon declared that he would like to have Cisco and Ranger better represented on the grand jury, and summons were immediately for B. S. Huey of Cisco and Howard Gholson of Ranger.

The grand jury went into session this afternoon with the following members: R. F. Cox, Rising Star; M. G. Joyce, Rising Star; E. A. Merritt, Scranston; Tom Dingler, Carbon; H. E. Clewell, Ranger; J. E. Kuykendall, Eastland; C. L. Garrett, Eastland; George D. Fee, Cisco; H. T. Hamrick, Gorman; Lee Burland, Staff; B. S. Huey, Cisco; Howard Gholson, Ranger. The foreman is H. T. Hamrick.

ARBUCKLE IS ON TRIAL FOR SECOND TIME

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, will be placed on trial probably Monday for the second time on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, 24-year old Los Angeles motion picture actress.

Arbuckle's first trial, which lasted three weeks, ended in a disagreement of the jury on December 4, after a deliberation of 44 hours. The vote, it was announced, was ten for acquittal and two for conviction.

Miss Rappe, who was a guest at an informal party given by Arbuckle in his suite at the Hotel St. Francis here Sept. 5, died in a hospital four days later. It was charged by the prosecution that Arbuckle was responsible for her death. A police court hearing followed and the comedian was held to the superior court on a charge of manslaughter.

An autopsy on Miss Rappe's body disclosed that her death resulted from a ruptured bladder which the state asserted was caused by external force applied by Arbuckle.

Two prosecution witnesses, Miss Zey Provost and Miss Alice Blake, show girls, testified that Miss Rappe was alone with Arbuckle for a time in his bedroom during the party and when the bedroom door finally was opened they saw the actress lying on the bed writhing in pain.

Arbuckle took the stand at the trial and testified that he did not know that Miss Rappe had entered his room until he found her on the floor of the adjoining bathroom apparently in great pain. He said he tried to assist her in every way possible, carrying her to the bed and summoning other guests to aid her.

Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont, a guest at the party, filed a murder charge against Arbuckle soon after Miss Rappe's death. After the police court hearing the charge was reduced to manslaughter. Police Judge Lazarus declaring that nothing was shown to connect Arbuckle with the charge of murder, which was brought under a California statute providing that life taken in rape or attempted rape is murder. A grand jury indictment charging Arbuckle with manslaughter was also returned and has not been disposed of.

Mrs. Delmont, the complaining witness, did not testify at either the preliminary hearing or the trial. During the trial she was arrested at Madera, Cal., on a charge of bigamy but later was released on probation after she had entered a plea of guilty.

During Arbuckle's trial, Mrs. Irene Morgan, a Pasadena nurse and defense witness, was poisoned in mysterious manner, and another defense witness, Mrs. Minnie Neighbors, Los Angeles, was charged with purgery. Mrs. Morgan recovered.

A charge of violation of the prohibition laws in that he possessed and served liquor illegally during his party, was filed against Arbuckle and is still pending.

Gavin McNab, prominent San Francisco attorney, is chief counsel for Arbuckle. He was retained by motion picture interests to handle the case.

L. A. BEDFORD SAYS NUECES IS A REAL COUNTY

L. A. Bedford of Corpus Christi is in Cisco for a few days, the guest of his brother, Chief of Police G. E. Bedford. Mr. Bedford is a cotton buyer, and he declares that within a few years Nueces county will be raising 150,000 bales of cotton. This year Nueces county was outstripped only by Ellis county, which for many years has been the banner cotton county of the state. Planted as it is in February and March, Nueces county cotton always gets a good price when it is marketed in July, and the farmers get away from the boll weevil pest through the early crop. Farmers in that county, Mr. Bedford says, are specializing on long staple cotton this year.

Mr. Bedford came to Eastland county when he was about eight years of age. He was formerly in the cotton buying business at Eastland. He has been located at Corpus Christi for nine years.

OUR FARM TERRITORY.

Since the discovery of oil in this section there has been a tendency on the part of all of us to neglect agriculture.

As business men we have seen so much greater business possibilities to oil development that we have been in a measure blinded to the importance of agriculture.

From the standpoint of available land in our trade territory Cisco is probably more fortunate than any other town or city in the country.

As the oil industry recovers from the blow which struck it last summer we are going to profit by increased development. But we should not depend entirely on oil.

It is with details such as these that we must seriously concern ourselves during the year 1922.

Judge Lynch's 1921 Record. (Temple Telegram.)

Mob law in the United States in 1921 claimed sixty-three victims, which is greater than the record of 1920 by two. It is a sad commentary upon the efficiency and dispatch of law enforcement that such a record should be written in this country.

In pleasing contrast to this gruesome record is the showing that in seventy-two cases lynchings were prevented by officers of the law—sixty-four of which were in southern states and eight in northern states.

In this situation the mind again reverts to the oft-attempted justification of mob law because of the tardiness of trial courts, the successful resort to technicalities of the law in behalf of perpetrators of horrible crimes and the too-often questionable character of jurors in criminal cases.

But when we come to apply our system of taxation, fellow-citizens, the man with the one-story building pays far less than the man with the four-story building.

But the courts refused to let it stand on the ground, we believe, that it violated the constitutional requirement that taxes shall be equal and uniform, and their finding in the matter is in accordance with tradition.

But is tradition just right? That is the question we are trying to get you to help us answer correctly, ourselves not being fully persuaded that tradition is right in the matter.

When the best citizens of the country evade jury service, and deny to the courts their active support and sympathy, the mob is encouraged and justice and good government is endangered.

District Judge R. I. Munroe of Waco, pointed out this fact Monday when he charged the McLennan county grand jury to investigate a recent lynching there.

The average citizen doesn't seem to realize, in a personal way, that the court house and the constitution belong to him, just as much as they do to President Harding or Governor

Neff. Some of our very best citizens stretch the truth just to keep from serving on a jury. They may not be prevaricating, but they come mighty close to it.

"The court house and the officers are merely agencies for carrying on the business of the people. It makes no difference how learned the courts are, or how diligent the officers may be, unless the juries do their duty, failure must result, and if any miscarriage of justice comes the people have only themselves to blame.

"I was born and reared in the South and I have been used to mob law—or mob outlaw—all my life. The average citizen will condemn mob law in a sort of perfunctory way, not seeming to realize that nothing will tend to more quickly undermine respect for law.

An aroused citizenship, and an aroused officialdom, will stop mob outlawry. And its menace is so great that it must be stopped, else anarchy will replace orderly government and chaos will reign.

Getting Better. (Mineral Wells Index.)

We have some positive proof that the world is getting better and the country returning to normalcy along lines of modest decency. In a nation wide beauty contest made by states, winners selected by photographs submitted, the Texas girl winning the honors was dressed in the very acme of modesty.

Seeking Information. (Waco Times-Herald.)

Here are two tracts of land side by side. One man puts his land in a state of cultivation, builds him a nice residence, puts up good barns, and thus contributes to the welfare of society while the other man, for reasons of his own, lets his tract remain in its raw state, which is his privilege, of course.

But no sooner has the one tract been put in a state of cultivation than along comes our method of assessing for taxes and says he must pay on a higher valuation than was the case when the land was in a raw state.

Here are two lots in the city side by side.

One man puts up a four-story building, and the man along side puts up a one-story building and the newspapers take note of both buildings, but there's a bit more praise for the man who put up the four-story structure, and everybody votes that right and just.

But when we come to apply our system of taxation, fellow-citizens, the man with the one-story building pays far less than the man with the four-story building.

A factory comes to town and occupies some heretofore vacant land, and at once we apply our tax methods and thereby lessen the chance of the factory to win ultimate success.

Nobody is to blame for this sort of thing; it is an inheritance, coming down through the centuries.

But is it just? As we now recall, a certain municipality undertook to correct in part this method of imposing a fine on enterprise.

But the courts refused to let it stand on the ground, we believe, that it violated the constitutional requirement that taxes shall be equal and uniform, and their finding in the matter is in accordance with tradition.

But is tradition just right? That is the question we are trying to get you to help us answer correctly, ourselves not being fully persuaded that tradition is right in the matter.

We go back to those two tracts of raw land side by side, one as good as the other, and yet the moment the plow starts in the one and not in the other, we say that that plow has added to the value of that tract and we proceed to assess it for taxation at a higher value than the undeveloped tract, and won't you please tell us why we do that?

We ask for information.

Easy Sledding Now. (San Angelo Standard.)

Here's a page from an old diary: "September 18, 1873—Jay Cooke & Co., bankers of New York, fail. A financial panic is precipitated. The New York clearing house is forced to suspend. The presidents of the banks meet in council to devise ways of relief.

"President Grant declines to accede to the bankers' request to aid the banks with the treasury balance of $44,000,000. Runs are made on banks and private bankers, and many strong houses fall during the ensuing 10 days."

Americans lately have been talking about business depression. Compared with some of the old time panics, sledding is easy. Get grandpa to tell you about 1873. Then you'll appreciate the Federal Reserve banking system, the shock absorber.

Legion News

Jim ("Sailor") White, the strong man of the navy, is in the habit of pulling loaded freight cars with his teeth and cracking railroad spikes between his thumb and forefinger. When he entered state headquarters of the American Legion, he offered to lift desks and things with one hand, he wanted to tear up radiators by their roots, he wanted to bash in the front of iron safes. He was out of a job, and his energy, with no outlet, was becoming terrific. The legion succeeded in placing him—opening and closing doors in a club.

A national archives building in which would be assembled all of the records of the World War is the aim of the American Legion's committee on memorials. A bronze tablet erected to a comrade who gives his life "in line of duty," upholding law and order, is a further recommendation of the committee.

Government nurses will not rank with "scrub maids" if a protest to the Senate made by John Thomas Taylor, of the legislative committee of the American Legion, bears fruit. Taylor objects strenuously to the section of the pending reclassification bill which he says "will tend to lower the nursing profession in the eyes of the public."

Loans, without security and at low rate of interest, will be provided for sick and wounded ex-service men by a big rotating fund, plans for which are being worked out at national headquarters of the American Legion. Ex-soldiers who do not need the ready cash from government compensation would contribute their bonus to the fund.

English and civics will be taught at American Legion posts in Greater New York, at the request of the board of education. This furthers the Americanization campaign already under way.

To aid in combating the "dope" evil which has invaded a number of ex-service hospitals in California, the American Legion is working with the Narcotic Control Association. James A. Johnston, warden of the California state prison, is present of the organization.

Rah-rahs have supplanted dough-boy battle cries with 100 former soldiers who have enrolled as students in colleges and universities of Wisconsin. The service men are going to school again under the provisions of a state bonus which allows them $30 a month for four years along with their education.

President Harding has received the first consignment of cherries from the Argentine to arrive in the United States. They were brought from Rio de Janeiro by the steamship American Legion, which broke all records between that port and New York by a 10 day run.

The famous surgeons, Drs. William and Charles Mayo, will treat former soldiers of the world war in a $200,000 hospital which the American Legion posts of Minnesota will erect. Patients will be charged according to their ability to pay, as determined by Legion officials.

Russia's New Year Blessing Comes in the Guise of Food Remittances From Relatives Here

Not an exciting holiday hamper, this, if you are looking for turkey and cake, but it's the favorite style in Russia this year. For Russia is hungry. She needs bread—and milk—and beans—the stuff which saves the body from death by hunger. Thirty million of her people are in a state of acute want. Thousands are dying—dying now—while in America the talk is of New Year and what new dainties can be devised for the well-stocked tables this year.

THE KNITTED SUIT IS IDEAL FOR TRAVELING

That garments of knitted fabric are growing in favor cannot be denied. One need not be a dyed-in-the-wool enthusiast of knitted outerwear to feel confident that when the resort season gets under way, the woman whose wardrobe trunk contains a variety of knitted outer garments will carry off the palm.

home, can purchase these packages in units of $10 to the value of $30 and have them transmitted free of cost to designated individuals in person. The American Relief Administration guarantees the condition and quality of the food, and so economical and efficient is the buying and freighting system that for $10 the same quantity is given as could be purchased in New York City for the same money.

Those wishing to avail themselves of this service should apply to the Food Remittance Department of the American Relief Administration at 42 Broadway, New York, for a blank to be filled out with the name and address of the person they are anxious to help feed this winter. Food can also be transmitted to recognized institutions in Russia, the maximum amount in this case being to the value of $500.

may not match her hats. As a matter of fact a clever milliner discovered that these scarfs make attractive hats, the stripes or other decorative border providing the trimming for crown or brim.

The scarf sketched combines stripes with a blocked border, and does it without distributing one's sense of design. It is worn with a two piece knitted silk suit, the skirt black, excepting for its border, which is black and white, this design being repeated on the patch pockets. Pockets are an almost unfailing note in knitted things, so many interesting bindings and decorative features being possible in their construction.

This suit shows a nice restraint, by the way, in the matter of decoration. It would have been so easy to carry the border design on to the Tuxedo collar, or to have made the belt a more conspicuous detail. But the best makers of knitted outerwear realize that there is a perfection of detail and of fit, which counts quite as much for merit as for decoration.

One sense, of course, that the belt is adjustable and the coat may be bloused or not, as one wishes. There is a preference for the slightly bloused effects for many women, particularly those who have left slenderness behind with their youth; they find that by this simple adjustment they obviate the possibility of the coat fitting too closely.

It becomes more and more apparent that knitted outer garments are not going to be allowed to remain the property of youth. Why should they be? It is not difficult for the older woman to wear them; besides, they are ideal for traveling, no matter what the conveyance. The non-crushable qualities of the knitted suit, whether it be silk or wool, or a fashionable blend of the two, should endear it to the traveler.

CISCO DEBATE MEET DEFEAT AT BRECKENRIDGE

In the debates at Breckenridge last Friday evening Cisco came out with the little end of the decision. But although our debaters failed to win they are not discouraged. In fact, they feel more optimistic about the future, because they discovered that they are well up on the question as compared with other schools. In their hearts they feel that they will win in the league contests, and this feeling has been strengthened by the recent debates. The decisions did not depress their spirits in the least. The debates were called at 7:00 o'clock since the Cisco people wished to leave on the 9:30 train. However, the usual preliminaries caused the usual waste of time and the first debate was not started until 7:30. The girls occupied the platform first. The Cisco girls, Lela Latch, Wade Cook, Muriel Bowler, and Cecil McAfee, attempted to prove that for social, economic and political reasons we should prohibit all immigration to the United States for two years. The Breckenridge girls, on the negative, tried to show that by prohibiting immigration we would lose our standing with foreign countries. They also pleaded that it was America's duty to open her doors to the downcast of Europe. As a plan for solving the problem they introduced the Sterling bill that is now before congress.

they had not been torn down, but summing up the negative's points and showing how they had not satisfactorily met the requirements, and by giving a general summary and comparison of the whole debate: He was called down however, before he could finish. The decision was unanimous in favor of the negative. The Cisco party was composed of Miss Clara Thacker, Mrs. E. E. Keen, Muriel Bowler, Lela Latch, Wade Cook, Marion Olson, and Cecil McAfee.

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE DEBATE

One of our boys wanted to know whether the girls' debate was an oratorical or a beauty contest. In making the word "am" emphatic one of the Breckenridge boys loudly shouted "ham." Wade Cook is very practical. He said "They speak of a million as if it was a basket of chips." It is wonderful how some people's emotions are so easily affected. Judging by the similarity between the speeches of Breckenridge, there are four people in that town whose minds run in the same channel.

The chairman offered to show our boys the decision but Wade said "We will take your word for it. The decision is already made anyhow." We didn't know that "fingers" could play so important a part in debate.

A little mud-slinging occurred between the debaters, but not enough to get anyone real dirty. The two faults a certain person found with Breckenridge were that they spent too much time on minor details and that they contradicted themselves too much.

If you want to know the faults of our debaters read the "Breckenridge American."

One of the most exciting incidents of the trip was the race to the train after the debates were over. That was the only thing Cisco won.

OCCIDENTAL STAFF GETS BUSY

The prospects this year for an annual more beautiful and better than any hitherto published by the Cisco high school are very good. The staff is composed entirely of competent and experienced students in this line of work. The line-up for the staff for this year's annual is as follows: Editor-in-chief, Thelma Fairless; Co-Editor, Kathleen Cunningham; Athletic Editor, Wightman Moore; Art Editor, Edward Mancill and Lydia Jensen; Photographic Editor, Rex Carrothers; Business Manager, Wallace Bateman; Advertising Manager, Frank Turner; Circulation Manager, Edith Hall; Joke Editor, Vera Hyatt. This year the staff is honored by having connected with it, several students who have had previous experience in the production of an annual. The two art editors this year are thoroughly qualified for their important and responsible positions upon the staff. This year the annual will be entirely original in its construction. It will also be unusually artistically and ornamentally decorated. The joke department will be composed of entirely original jokes heard in or around the school building. The athletic department will have a full account of all sports indulged in during the year. One of the most interesting sections of the annual will be that section devoted to the popularity contest. Hark! Hark! A surprise is waiting for you in that section. Don't fail to buy an annual and discover the surprise. Due to the amount of money needed to finance the production of an annual only a limited supply is being ordered, and, as the early bird catches the worm, it would be wise if the students wishing to purchase annuals would deposit one dollar, as security, with Wallace Bateman, business manager. The total cost of the annual will be two dollars apiece. One dollar should be paid immediately so as to insure for the purchaser his receiving an annual. To the business men of Cisco: The high school asks a favor of you. Advertise freely in the annual and it will give you and your business a wide-spread notice as well as supporting the high school with the necessary capital to finance the editing of an annual.

BREVITIES

Lona Fay Reagan was absent from school Monday. Alta Liesenbe was absent from school Monday on account of sickness. Mable Latson was absent from school Tuesday on account of sickness. Lula Price would like to have people notice that her name is Lula, not Luler. Miss Alma Copelin, who was an English teacher in the Cisco high school for four years, spent her Christmas holidays here with her mother. Miss Copelin is now attending the University of Texas, where she is studying for an A. B. degree. After she has finished this she will teach in Cisco high school again. She visited the school Monday morning until about ten o'clock and then left for the University. The Girls' Chorus met Tuesday afternoon under the supervision of Miss McCarty, and elected officers for the club. Catherine Cunningham was elected president, Helen Kough, vice president, Zella Blanche McClinton, secretary and treasurer, and Vista Mae Mahan accompanist. The meetings will be held every Tuesday afternoon. Sweaters have been ordered recently for the football boys. They will be awarded to all men who have played sixteen quarters or more. Thirteen men will receive sweaters which are heavier than the ones issued last year. The sweaters, which are coat style, are black with an orange "C" in front. Service stripes will be secured if possible, to show how many years the boys have played on the team. What's going to happen! Lerma Bateman just took one book home last week.

A WORD TO THE WISE

A large number of our students are beginning to wonder if their names will be on the "funkt" list in the coming examinations. Some of them have just cause for wonder. From outward appearance some students seem to have a hard time to keep up with their lessons. This is caused from various reasons. A few of our students seem to enjoy having a good time rather than getting an education. Others are naturally a little slow and have to work hard for what they get. Still others are just "plain lazy." They are too lazy to study and too lazy to have a good time. There is little hope for the last class. For the first class there is a little hope. For the second class there is considerable hope. The first class, in order to keep from "funking" in the coming ordeals, must settle down to real work. They must stop attending picture shows, mid-week parties, and other evening amusements. They must pay very close attention to their teachers, keep out of the library, and work late and hard every night. By hard cramming they may possibly squeeze through if the signs are right. There is, by very hard work on the part of the student, a very good chance for the second class student. This student has a good memory and what work he has covered he remembers. So real hard reviewing will put them over the safety line. For the third class, "Wee be unto you." You that are so lazy you will not study; so lazy that you will not study for examinations. There is little hope for you unless you suddenly wake up, find out where you are, and work as you have never worked before. As we all have found out before, the only thing that will keep us out of the N. G. list is work, more work, and still more work. The only way to work is to wave a fond farewell to the unnecessary amusements until after the coming ordeals and trials are over.

by taking a bite of apple he got up with the others. "Edward, wipe that butter off your nose," shouted somebody. When all of the boys were looking their best the photographer snapped the picture. "All ready for the Hi-Y members," he called. Edward remained standing. "Do you belong to this too?" asked the photographer. "Sure I do, and the orchestra, too," answered Edward. "You're not through with me yet." "W. H., will you close your mouth just a little? Are you scared?" asked the photographer. "Now be still and it will soon be over." The picture was taken and the man called for the members of the orchestra to bring their instruments forward and take their places. As there was no piano in the room, Thelma had brought her doll piano from home, so she sat down on the floor with it. Edward Lee was standing near her with his French harp and the other musicians were either sitting or standing near. When this was finished there remained only one more group to be taken--The Girls' Chorus Club. "All ready for the Girls' Chorus," shouted the photographer. Edward started forward again. "Hey, Edward Lee, will you please get out of this picture, unless you're the mascot or something worse." So Edward called it a day and picked up his lunch basket and departed.

SIDE LIGHTS IN THE PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY

"Edward Lee, will you please be still!" shouted the photographer. There had been an almost uninterrupted flow of students from the different organizations of the Cisco high school Thursday morning, who were coming to have their pictures made for the Occidental; and it was then ten o'clock and the photographer had not made a single picture. Every time he was ready one of the girls would powder her nose or a boy would smooth his hair or something would happen, and now he was trying to make a picture of the Dramatic Club, and Edward Lee positively would not be still. Edward had brought his lunch and was prepared to stay all day because he belonged to so many organizations it would be impossible to get through with all his pictures until afternoon. Thelma Fairless had brought her dinner also, and she was then engaged in tasting some of it. "Will the members of the Dramatic Club kindly be quiet a minute so that I can get your picture?" shouted the photographer at the top of his voice. At this moment Bettie Mae Rominger, Garland Shepherd, and Hester Tume came into the room with some stick candy. All of the girls and boys made a dash for them, and it was fully thirty minutes before the photographer could maintain silence and get the picture. "We'll now have the members of the Debating Club come forward," he said. Edward Lee was the first to make a run for the place indicated. "Marion Olson, will you and Lula Bell Frigg please throw your chewing gum," suggested the photographer. "Now everyone be still and look at the little birdie." Snap! went the camera, but just as it did, Lerma Bateman moved her foot. "We'll have to take it over," roared the photographer. After much labor the picture was taken and some of the students departed. "Twenty minutes for lunch," said the photographer. Edward Lee grabbed his lunch basket and went over into a corner and began to eat. Thelma did likewise, and soon the only sound that could be heard was the "smacking" of lips. Presently the pupils began coming, and pictures were to be made that afternoon. "Will the members of the male quartette please step forward?" called the photographer. Edward Lee was in this, too. Hastily step and trying to float. My point is: If all the girls of C. H. S. would be so graceful they could float, causing the air to be foiled with lovely or various angels, would it be Wise, or Otherwise? "CISCO'S RECORD AT TEXAS U." The former students of Cisco high school at the University of Texas at Austin are doing good work; but good work was to be expected because of the good foundation they received here in our school and because of their past records. A contrast between work of the students who were at the University last year and those who are there this year shows a great difference in the work and proves that the Cisco high school is offering better opportunities and putting out better prepared students. Last year there were only two Cisco students at the University and they failed in all of their subjects. This year there were six Cisco students at the University and there were only two failures, one in English and one in Latin. Only two of them were taking chemistry and both of them made B. In History, one B and three C's were made. In German, one D and one C. In English one C, one A, one B and two D's. In Physical Training, three A's, one B and two C's. In Mathematics one A and one D. In Physics two C's and one B. In Zoology, two C's and one D. In Spanish one D and one B. In Education one B was made. These records, when compared with those of the students who were there last year from Cisco, show a remarkable increase in the quality of the work of the students. This increase was possible only because of the better equipment and co-operation on the part of the faculty and the students. The records of our former students should continue to grow better each year as new opportunities are offered.

TEACHERS' FAVORITES

Miss St. John: "This room is too noisy." Mr. Wells: "The following will report to room 26." Miss Robbins: "That's not hard, that's easy." Mr. Cather: "Where are you going?" Mr. Williams: "Child, you are off." Mr. Higgenberg: "How do you do? How are you this fine morning?" Mr. La Roque: "You cannot see yourself as others see you." Miss Rumsey: "Get it back by nine in the morning." Miss Soderstrom: "Oh! Hable Vd. an espanol." Mrs. Keam: "Sit up straight." Mr. Turner: "All right, let's get quiet." Mr. Herndon: "Now, I want to see all you boys out for practice." Miss McCarty: "Why! Little boy." Miss Tucker: "Your negative speech is no good at all." Mr. Kelley: "Let's all sing this morning." A very interesting little speech was made by Mr. La Roque the second period on Thursday morning. The subject of his speech was "Grace." He declares that the beauty of a young lady is determined by her carriage. About the time he remarked about some people being so small and walking like a cow, a girl of small stature walked in, and I dare say she felt rather embarrassed, as all eyes were turned to her. Now, would it have been wise or otherwise that she should have awaited a more opportune time to make her entrance? Mr. La Roque also remarked that there was one girl in the study hall that simply looked as if she were floating when she walked. Of course, each and every girl had a broad smile on her face, feeling that it was she, as girls have great imagination. I consider this statement wise, as it afforded the girls such a vast amount of pleasure. All day the girls were watching their

Even in Algebra II we hear such expressions as "Don't know beans," and "Would Caesar seize her if he sees her," and they don't come from any of the students either. Some of our teachers seem to delight in the game of "Follow me," or at least it seems that way, for in the study hall Tuesday morning one of the girls chased Mr. Galthier around the building and started upon the stage after him. He eluded her by jumping off the stage, but there they met. What student holds not in his dim memory, The years that are past, and the school that used to be; No prison was there then with 26 over the door; But that room is now here, to vanish no more. When four o'clock came, to home we'd go. But now we stay and suffer in that horrid room of woe; The teacher, he may spy you With a smile upon your lips; And down will go your name On the "clip of all the slips"; And though talking you were not, Your name shan't be forgot, And you stay in the room. That we all do wish was not.

SUSAN SMARTWEED SAYS:

LA GRIPPLUE Ever since the world began Logripflue has been troubling men, women and children. This disease affects the head, the lungs and the disposition. It is more common among school children than any other group. There are various reasons why it should be more common among the children. If the children should be asked why, they would say there is no heating system at school and they have to sit there and freeze to death. To a certain extent this statement would be true, for the boiler of the furnace has been broken for some time. During this time, however heaters have been placed in all parts of the building, making it very comfortable. This being the case our wise students cannot blame the spreading of Logripflue on the heating system of C. H. S. Some possible ways of spreading Logripflue are first, by going thinly clad on a cold day. The body soon becomes chilled and the Logripflue germ can easily enter into it. Another method of spreading Logripflue is by coming in close contact with the lips of another person who has the disease. Little experienced are most students, so good advice to those who are would be "Less kissing, less Logripflue." By close observation I have found that Logripflue was spread by young girls who delight in riding these cool evenings without a coat or wrap. The wind chills their bodies and the Logripflue germs enter without hesitating. Girls, if you are going to ride, wear a coat, for the simple reason, Logripflue is a killing disease and the world can't do without women. A person is subject to a desperate cough when Logripflue grasps him with a strong hold. This brings another method of spreading the disease. When a person has Logripflue he should cover his face with a handkerchief when he must cough. (Just a hint to those who do not wish to spread Logripflue by coughing--"Don't lend your handkerchief to anyone.") With the many cautions of prevention it is nothing but wise that you should be told how to cure this disease if taken. A very good remedy is to take a cold bath before retiring at nine o'clock, use a large quantity of mentholatum in the nose and throat, and take a cold tablet. Oh, now! I have told you the Logripflue means nothing but a Bad Cold.

TRANSFER BASKETBALL COURT

The Cisco high school and the American Legion are moving their indoor basketball court from the Judia building to the second floor of the Labor Temple on Third street. This floor is larger than the Judia building and better arranged for basketball. The Judia building was unsatisfactory because the playing made too much noise and practically ruined the Judia show business. It looked for a time as if we would not be able to get an indoor court and we would have to play basketball outdoors as we have done in preceding years. Afterward someone thought of the Labor Temple which was not being used often. A business deal was made with the owner and we took possession of the Temple for the basketball season. We have to pay the Labor Temple 75 per cent of the net proceeds after paying the expenses. The Labor Temple is wider than the Judia building and will hold a fair-sized crowd. The American Legion and high school will play each other and visiting teams in this court and both will use it for practice. The high school has been handicapped in the preceding years for lack of an indoor court and could play only day games, but we can play any time now. This is an advantage because indoor games are more interesting than outdoor games.

"IN the course of the effort the American nation is making to check the habitual use of drugs, it should not forget the innocent-looking cathartic that may be found in the vest pocket of so many office workers and others in sedentary callings."
This call to action against habit-forming drugs was sounded recently by Dr. Ralph Bernstein, professor in Hahnemann Medical College of Philadelphia, and an eminent authority on dietetics and skin diseases.
"Of the many thousands of men and women who are coming to rely upon such remedies there are few who realize they are falling prey to the drug habit," Dr. Bernstein continued. "A prolonged use of drug cathartics tends to result in a lowered health standard in the community where such a practice exists.
There seems to be no doubt but that in many cases intestinal trouble follows it."
"Where laxatives are required anyone would profit by relying upon the natural laxatives such as fruit, fruit juices and more particularly bran."

Club Entertains Club.

On Saturday evening the Thursday
"42" Club entertained the members of the Merry Wives Club and their husbands. This was conceded to be the most enjoyable affair of the new year.
The guests assembled at the Alexander Hotel, where a delicious four-course dinner was served. The decorations, which were very pretty, embodied the use of Christmas greens and the holiday colors. Red bells marked covers for 40 guests. After the dinner the guests repaired to the home of Mrs. L.
A. Harrison, where ten tables were arranged for "42." The beauty of the new home of the hostess was further enhanced by the use of cut flowers and ferns. Twenty-three games were played, with E. R. McDaniel making high score for the men and Mrs. H. L.
Winchell for the ladies. The following
