SCS or EPA: Who Will Oversee the Farm?

The State Conservationist, the highest ranking official with the SCS in Texas, met with farmers from this area in Memphis last Thursday. His message was cordial but uncompromising: either farmers and the SCS demonstrate that they can control wind and water erosion, or Congress will turn conservation enforcement over to the Environmental Protection Agency.

Wes Oneth, State Conservationist, described the difference in the two agencies. The Department of Agriculture and the SCS believe in conservation, the intelligent use of resources in such a way as to avoid depleting them. The EPA believes in preservation, which Oneth described as preserving a resource without using it. The resource in question is the farmer's land.

The Soil Conservation Service has set up a program that allows some latitude within acceptable margins. The EPA can be expected to allow "zero tolerance".

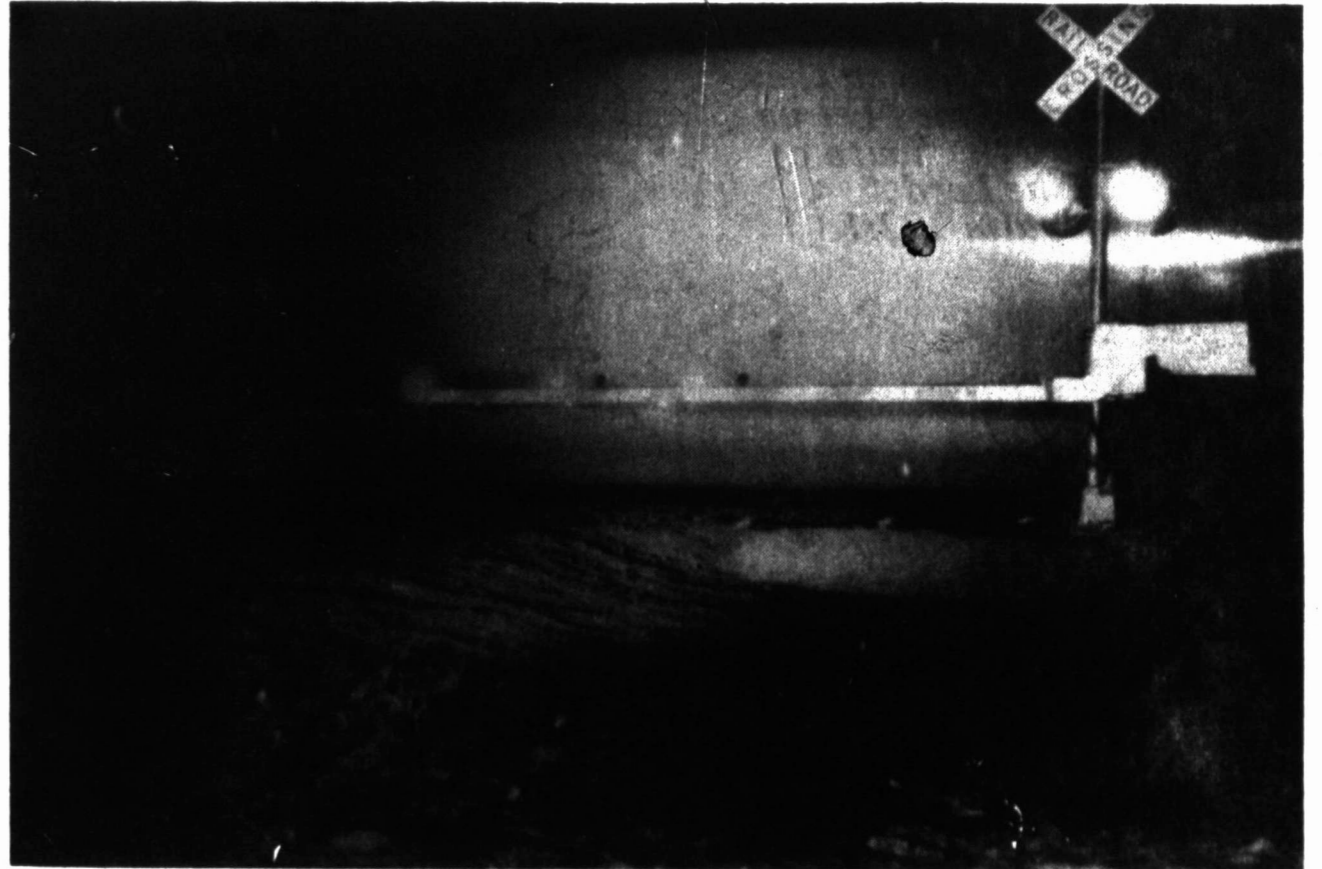

ROY LEE HELMS

EARL SHIELDS

Several farmers spoke at the meeting. Roy Lee Helms of Clarendon described his experience with cover crops and other conservation practices. Earl Shields of Lelia Lake told what had worked for him. Most of the farmers at the meeting objected to delaying plowing until April 1, the current requirement. They would prefer a date of March 1. But the SCS official in charge of research said that he could not agree to that date because of scientific data. He said that the agency had given in all that it could. "We have to make the current rules work, and make them work by December 31, 1994."

Today's Congress is overwhelmingly dominated by urban politicians who think that eggs and milk come from the grocery store and couldn't tell a pig from a porcupine. Such congressmen have numerous rabid environmentalists in their districts for each real dirt farmer. Some urban congressmen have proposed the abolition of the Department of Agriculture as an economy move. And the EPA is looking enviously at the job of overseeing soil conservation.

In informal discussion after the meeting, several area farmers wondered where city folks will get food if the EPA is successful in putting the continent back in tress and grass.

THIS NIGHT PHOTO of the Ayers Street Crossing shows what a dramatic difference the new signals make. The signals appear to be in operation and working properly.

Clean Up Clarendon

Clarendon has established a tradition of cleaning up each Spring. People haul off the trash out of their yards and streets, plant flowers, fix up fences, build new trellises and sometimes paint their houses. Businesses wash windows, fix up their storefronts and sometimes remodel the interior a bit.

As a result of several years' cleaning up, fixing up and painting, the town looks better. Over the years, a number of organizations have participated in cleaning, repairing and painting, including Boy Scouts, The Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Little League, Merchants Association, VFW and Volunteer Fire Department and several churches.

Some of these organizations may choose a specific day to emphasize. But everyone in Clarendon can start now. When folks are proud of their community, it shows.

Cancer Fraud Back in Clarendon

Every year about this time, the American Cancer Society—a very legitimate organization—starts its annual fund drive. And every year another organization takes advantage of the legitimate drive to conduct its own fund raising campaign. And the so-called "Cancer Research Foundation of America" donates only a fraction of a fraction of its donations to real research, reportedly less than one percent.

According to their documents, the so-called Cancer Research Foundation of America collected $924 in Clarendon last year and seeks $1,016 this year. The Foundation reportedly is under indictment in a couple of states and under investigation in most of the rest.

Clarendon residents can do three things to help with this situation.

First, donate to the American Cancer Society. DO NOT donate to the Cancer Research Fund or other similarly named organizations.

Second, alert neighbors, friends and relatives to the scam that is in progress.

Third, if you receive material from "Cancer Research Foundation of America" forward it to the Attorney General of the State of Texas, Box 12548, Supreme Court Building, Austin, Texas 78711.

Warning! Rattlesnakes Are Out

Vernie (Bubba) Ford and wife Peggy came by The Clarendon News with the first rattlesnakes reported killed this year. Ricky Cannon shot and killed 3 rattlesnakes, which were in a den, along with 8 racers. The snakes were found East of Clarendon behind the Circle C.

Everyone needs to be aware of the danger of rattlesnakes, and that with the warm weather, these creatures will be on the prowl!

Grant To Benefit Research

Cancer research in the Panhandle of Texas is alive and kicking, due to a National Grant awarded by the American Cancer Society.

The American Cancer Society recently awarded a $100,000 National Research grant to Dr. Judith Kapp in Amarillo. Beginning in January 1993 and continuing through the end of the year, this grant allows Dr. Kapp to study how specific genes regulate the body's defense.

A researcher at the Harrington Cancer Center in Amarillo, Kapp is one of 61 American Cancer Society National Research Grant recipients currently working in Texas. "Money raised by our local units for research does return to the Panhandle and other research facilities throughout Texas" says Camille Nies, Field Representative for the American Cancer Society.

To learn more about Texas Research Grants in your area, contact the American Cancer Society office at 806-353-4306. 37% of all money raised in Texas by the ACS goes to research. Because of such research, 73% of kids with leukemia survive today, compared to 45 in the 1960's. The survival rate of skin cancer (the most common type) is now 90% when detected early and the chance of surviving localized breast cancer is now 92%.

New Director Appointed

By Michael Hughes, Globe-News Medical Writer

The Texas Panhandle Mental Health Authority's board of trustees on Thursday appointed Sandy Skelton as the agency's new executive director.

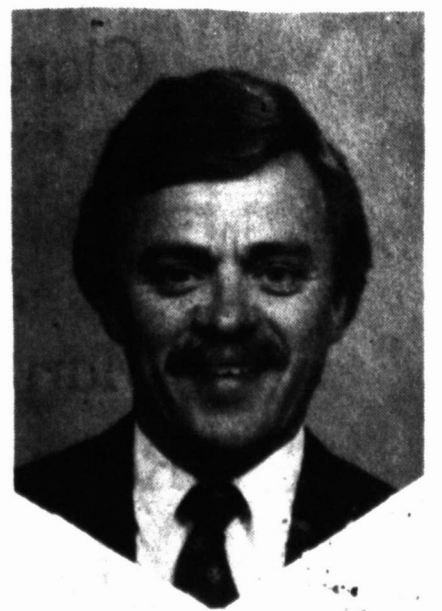

Skelton will take the helm following the retirement of Claire Rigler, who has held the position for the past-13 years. Rigler, a recognized state leader in the field of mental health, announced her retirement at the end of January.

Skelton is the authority's director of clinical services, a position he has held since 1989.

Rigler praised Skelton's combination of clinical mental health experience and administrative experience.

Skelton earned bachelor's and master's degrees in psychology and clinical psychology at what is now the University of North Texas. He since has completed 30 hours toward an additional master's degree in management.

"As far as major changes are concerned, I don't foresee making any in the first 60 days," he said. "Claire is going to be here until June 1, so I'll get some help settling in and being brought up-to-date on some things that I haven't been involved in."

We Need ...

We need the very best education possible for our children.

We need better communication between parents, faculty and children.

We need team effort. There has to be a sense of cooperation. We should be working together to fight ignorance, not each other.

We need a united community behind our children. We should put their welfare ahead of personal convenience.

We need high standards, both in academic areas, and in behavior. Children may learn fairness, integrity and equality as ideas, but these become real by example and experience.

We must make every child feel valuable, like a worthwhile individual. Even one child is too terrible a loss to consider.

Everyone is invited to an "old-fashioned Ice Cream Social" on Sunday afternoon, April 4th, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. to help them celebrate the 18th Birthday of our Senior Citizens Center. There will be "home-made" ice cream and cake and since we are all kids at heart, a birthday party wouldn't be complete without some clowns to "just clown around" with us. So please drop by the Center, have some ice cream, sign our big birthday card, enjoy the clowns and help us commemorate this special year in the history of the Center.

On Tuesday evening, March 23rd, Darrel Harper took another Van load of folks to the Big Texan Opry in Amarillo. Ann Harper performed again in the Opry. Everyone enjoys this evening of food entertainment.

Helena Catoe hosted the Skip-Bo tournament at the Center on Thursday evening, March 25th. Those participating reported an enjoyable time. Darrel Harper was the evening winner and Jill Chambless was runner-up. Ann Harper made and donated the grand prize and Darrel in turn presented it to 2nd place, Jill Chambless. We welcome the "young, future Senior Citizens" and are delighted to have them participate in our activities anytime. It's true that Senior Citizens have more fun!

If you like to play games just for the fun of it, the Center is offering regular Game night for three nights each month being on the 1st, 3rd, and 4th Thursday evenings starting at 6:30 p.m. There will be dominos, forty-two, skip-bo, pinochle, bridge or what ever your favorite game is. The younger people are welcome and any others in the community who enjoy playing.

At noon hour on Friday, March 26th, we bid farewell to volunteer Joe Conti, who is returning to New Mexico. We have appreciated Joe who took care of our vehicles on regular basis, a driver on the Home Delivery route and always on call for extra duties. Ann Harper came down and sang a beautiful song called "Friends" dedicating it to Joe.

Now that the weather is much nicer, we would like to get a bus load of folks to go to Silverton Caprock Jamboree this Saturday evening, April 3rd. Lacy Noble has volunteered to drive the Van for us so let us know if you would like to go and put your name on the list.

Blood Pressure and Blood Sugar Clinic will be on Tuesday, April 6th from 9:30 til noon.

Skelton said he is wary of possible large cuts within state's Department of Human Services. He said community mental health center will weather the storm because they will have to.

"Unless I'm being naive, we're not expecting any cuts at the community mental health level," he said. "If they close down beds at the state hospitals, it will put a great deal of pressure on us to serve a lot more people."

Skelton said providing services to additional consumers will be difficult without additional funding, especially when the state's recommended cuts involve closing one of every four state hospital beds.

"But we're not going to get any more money," he said. "If we can just maintain what we've got, we'll have to be happy."

In other action, the board approved spending $34,234 of reserve funds for a computer system that will bring the mental health authority into compliance with state and federal law requiring drug-use review.

Rigler said the agency has been out of compliance since Jan. 1, 1993, and has been operating on a grace period.

Smokey The Fireman

Smokey is not able to work this morning, he got burned yesterday at a grass fire. Not only did he get scorched the City got to have the fire truck repainted and a little repair work done to it. Got called to the country on a pasture fire. Some joker had followed the fire truck and blocked the gate where Smokey came in. Mr. John O. Public done lost interest in watching the fire and went for a beer with his friend leaving his pickup blocking the gate. Now grass fires burn kinda funny sometimes depending on how the wind is blowing and you know how suddenly that changes. The fire truck engine had died and flooded down so it didn't start as quick as it could have. The wind had changed and caused the fire to come back under the truck. It set the engine on fire cause of the flooding and burned of the wiring and messed up the paint. Smokey jumped out and grabbed the Chemical extinguisher put it out saved the truck but he got burned. The Ambulance couldn't get through the gate to come to him so he had to walk wern't so far but his feet were what got burned.

Now Mr. Public didn't mean no harm when he followed the fire truck but he did break the law. Ya ain't sposed to follow a fire truck to a fire not jst cause they don't want you in the way. But you might get hurt. Now these volunteers aint out in them trucks riding their girl friends round or herding their sheep they is out there for a real purpose. Now they got one of them F.C.C. (Chief says that don't mean Fuzzy Cheddar Cheese) Licensed Radios and they don't care for you listening to them. They'll be talking bout the fire, where it is etc. They ain't got no secrets bout fighting fires. Sometimes one of them might slip and say dern or sumthing like that. Now they's got a code they use for certain things they really don't want to say and most folks really don't want too know or see what all them codes mean. Fires can do some ugly things to people and things. It is illegal to chase a fire truck. It is illegal to listen to fire department or other special emergency or public service radio but you must obey F.C.C. regulations regarding such communications.

Club Holds Meeting

The Les Beaux Art Club met on Friday, March 5, 1993, at the First United Methodist Church at 3:00 p.m. Hostesses for the meeting were Linda Kay Bell, Jamie Deyhle, Lura Dell Helms, Ruth Robinson, and Zell SoRell. Following a brief business meeting, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The art on view for St. Roosts Day will be provided by Artist Joan Avant. Ms. Avant is the mother of club member Jamie Deyhle. The St. Roosts Day will be held on Saturday, May 1, 1993, at the Patching Club House. The memorial plaque for the Patching Club House has been completed.

Genevive Caldwell introduced the guest speaker, Evelyn Bowie of Amarillo. Ms. Bowie reviewed the book, "Puttin' on the Dog." The presentation was informative and entertaining.

yet the levels remained steady. Producers have until Dec. 31, 1994, to have their conservation program in place. "Congress made the recommendations, we happen to be the agency responsible for seeing that you do it," Oneth said. "We have some alternatives here that are very lenient. "If we don't make this work, there's another agency that doesn't believe in voluntary compliance - the Environmental Protection Agency - waiting to take over," he said.

Farmers Need To Comply

By Kay Ledbetter, Farm and Ranch Editor, Amarillo Daily News

Memphis - Not all conservation compliance regulations meet with farmer approval, but Soil Conservation Service officials say they are here to stay and must be complied with because they are working.

Wes Oneth, SCS state conservationist, was in Memphis Thursday for a conservation workshop. He told the crowd, after hearing their complaints about the program, that "the choice is yours."

The program, he said, is voluntary, but if the land is considered highly erodible, then there are certain standards that have to be met if the producer wants to receive government program benefits.

Oneth said that without the commodity program, much of this land would not be economical to farm. And that would have an impact, not only on the farmer, but the nation's trade balance.

"Farmers are not just farming for the government check," he said.

He added the provisions in place are not only preserving the land, but in a recent study of dust particles, the level is at its lowest now and has been steady for several years.

"The reason is now we have conservation compliance on the adjoining acres to CRP (conservation reserve program) lands," Oneth said. That's a side benefit. The people in town probably don't know why they're not seeing as much dust, but it's because of the activities going on out here.

Oneth said two years ago this area had the most windstorms ever and the highest probability for dust,

Workshop Planned

The Texas Historical Commission (THC) will conduct a workshop on "Community Preservation Strategies" from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, April 6, in the Bairfield Activity Center at Clarendon College. All interested area residents are invited to attend.

Speakers from the THC staff will be Dwayne Jones, Coordinator, Certified Local Government Program/Preservation Planner; Anice Read, Director, Texas Main Street Program; Frances Rickard, Director, Local History Programs; and Jim Steely, Director, National Register Programs.

Presentation topics include the Texas Main Street Program, the Certified Local Government Program, documentation of historic properties, nominations for Recorded Texas Historic Landmarks and the National Register of Historic Places, historic preservation ordinances and incentives, and heritage tourism.

"Our state historical commission is committed to the economic enhancement of our communities through the preservation and promotion of historic properties," said Pat Kaiser, president of Yesterday's Children, who is coordinating the workshop in cooperation with Dr. Zell SoRelle, chairman of the Donley County Historical Commission.

Lunch is $3.50 each, paid at the door, and the workshop is free. Participants are asked to make reservation for both by contacting Dortha McNutt at Yesterday's Children, P.O. Box 716, Clarendon, Texas 79226, or 874-3429.

Fatalities Decline

Traffic accidents killed fewer people in Texas during 1992 than in any other year since 1974, according to figures compiled by the Texas Department of Public Safety. Traffic deaths have declined during each of the past four years.

Last year, 2,690 fatal traffic accidents claimed 3,057 lives - a 0.7 percent reduction from the 3,079 deaths in 1991.

"Although we are pleased that there has been a decrease in the number of traffic deaths, we are still concerned about the number of lives lost because of traffic accidents, DPS Director Col. James R. Wilson said. "Some of those deaths could have been avoided if motorists and their passengers had adhered to our traffic laws."

Of the traffic fatalities in 1992, 40 percent (1,222) were killed in alcohol or drug related accidents, a decrease from the 40.6 percent in 1991. Nearly 65 percent of all people killed in the front seats of passenger cars and light trucks were not wearing seat belts, and approximately 24 percent of the 1434 fatally injured motorcyclists were not wearing helmets.

The state's death rate, 1.9 deaths per 100 million miles traveled, remained the same as in 1991. The Texas Department of Transportation reported that 162.769 billion vehicle miles were traveled in Texas in 1992, which is a very slight reduction from 1991.

"The DPS and other Texas law enforcement agencies will continue to work hard to maintain a downward trend in traffic fatalities," Wilson said. "The combination of legislation and increased social pressure against drinking and driving, along with the increased use of safety belts, child safety seats and helmets by motorcycle riders will help law enforcement agencies keep our streets and highways safe."

Severe Weather Seminar To Be Presented

A seminar on severe weather will be presented on Thursday, April 8, 1993 at 7:00 p.m. at the Clarendon Fire Station. The seminar is hosted by the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department and will be presented by KAMR TV Channel 4 Meteorologist Steve McCauley. The public is invited to attend this free seminar to learn more about what to do in the event of severe weather and how to recognize the threat of potentially dangerous weather conditions. Emphasis will be on how the public should react in the event severe weather threatens our area.

Mr. McCauley is well known to most area television viewer and is widely recognized as one of the foremost authorities on the subject of adverse weather conditions in the Texas Panhandle. He presented a similar program here last year which was very informative and educational to those attending. His common sense approach and style of presentation makes it possible for anyone in his audience to understand the anatomy of the many types of severe and often unexpected spring and summer storms which threaten this area each year at this time.

For a most informative evening, plan to be in attendance at this seminar and be prepared to learn the lessons that could most certainly save your life if our community is faced with threatening severe weather.

For more information, please contact one of the members of the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department.

Awards Ceremony To Be Held

Members of the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department, Clarendon Emergency Medical Services, and Clarendon Firebelles are reminded that the annual presentation of awards will be held at 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, April 3, 1993 at the Clarendon Fire Station. This awards ceremony is for all of the members of these organizations and their immediate family members.

Awards which will be presented by the Fire Department are Firefighter Of The Year, Rookie Firefighter Of The Year, Firebelle Of The Year, Years Of Service pins, and certificates for those firefighters who have attained their Basic State Volunteer Firefighters Certification. This is something new that is being implemented by the state and those reaching this level have been training and working toward this goal for over two years. Besides the benefits of having a highly trained department, an added benefit will be that this certification will apply toward the city key rate credit which determines the rates home and business owners pay for insurance premiums. The lower the key-rate, the lower the premiums.

The Clarendon EMS Association will present the award for the EMS Member Of The Year as well as service pins for years of service to the organization.

The awards ceremony will begin with a hamburger and hot dog supper followed by the awards presentation.

All members of these organizations are encouraged to attend.

Volunteers To Trash Off Roads

There are two things every Texan can count on in the spring time -- lots of wild flowers and less litter. Some 85,000 Adopt-A-Highway and Keep Texas Beautiful volunteers across the state will help keep this tradition going strong on Saturday, April 3, when the Texas Department of Transportation hosts the eighth annual "Great Texas Trash-Off."

This massive effort which is considered the largest one-day clean up in the nation is part of TxDOT's "Don't Mess with Texas" antilitter campaign.

"The Trash-Off helps us get ready for the wildflowers and all the visitors that come to see them," says J. Don Clark, Director of TxDOT's Division of Travel and Information. "It's also a great way to remind people not to mess with Texas."

Trash-Off volunteers are expected to pick up nearly 6.8 million gallons of litter that day, with the Adopt-a-Highway participants taking to the state's roadways while Keep Texas Beautiful groups scour the city streets and parks. Coca-Cola, which has sponsored this event for three years, will provide giant trash bags and special coupon books to volunteers.

Since TxDOT launched the Don't Mess with Texas and Adopt-a-highway programs in 1985, the state has seen a 72 percent reduction in roadside litter and has saved an estimated $7.1 million in litter expenditures. The Adopt-a-Highway program which originated in TxDOT's Tyler District, has been duplicated in 47 other states. In Texas, nearly 4,000 groups have adopted some 8,000 miles of highways.

Keep Texas Beautiful, The state affiliate of Keep America Beautiful, coordinates Texas, accredited community litter prevention, beautification, and solid waste education programs.

I am NOT a Professional Golfer or a champion Race Car Driver or a Famous Movie Star. Obviously they need the money since they advertise those Petroleum Oils for big bucks.

I also need the money but I'd rather save YOU money. Petroleum Oil you change ever 3000 to 5000 miles. If its so good why do you have to change it that often?

AMSOIL the leader in synthetic lubricants you only change once a year or 25,000 miles. And by using a bypass oil filter, it will last 100,000 miles or more.
