NEIGHBORS PERFORM REAL FRIENDLY ACT MONDAY

Being sick in a hospital is bad. Being injured and stored away in the same place is said to be worse, and especially at crop time.

Neighbors of Howard R. King pulled nineteen tractors into his field Monday morning, and by eleven o'clock, had listed one hundred and twenty-five acres, the entire field. Neighbor women had brought in food. This with the help of Mrs. King and her good lady friends, gave the tractor crews a real dinner.

In the afternoon, fourteen of the tractors were driven over to the field of Walter Howard where they listed up one hundred and five acres for him.

Both the King and Howard families are most grateful for having been placed in a community where practical christianity is yet made a portion of the daily life.

Those helping on this fine job of work were G. D. Martin, Boyd Waddill, R. O. Espey, E. R. Meyer, J. C. White, Alvin Mace, D. B. Koen, W. Z. Bain, Clyde Grimsley, B. F. Wolford, W. C. Holland, Quinn Aten, J. H. Woods, L. D. Aten. These men worked the Howard field.

In addition to the above named men, C. L. Lewis, W. N. Poole and A. M. Anderson worked on the King farm. They were not needed on the Howard farm.

MARTIN SCHOOL WILL EXHIBIT FRIDAY
There is pride in possession. If you don't think so, see that wonderful exhibit of the school folks at the Martin school tomorrow, the 18th.

Room work done by the pupils the entire term up to the present will be shown. You will have some one handy to explain any feature you don't understand. After you have seen the exhibit, you will, if you are an elder person, recall the times in the long ago when your teacher whipped you for drawing pictures. Now they encourage it. Perhaps you will want to return to school days again.

At any rate, the Martin school is one of the very best rural schools of the Panhandle, and the folks out that way are proud of it, and have a right to be.

MCCRAW FINDS INDIAN "GRAVELY" SITTING

Finding an Indian skeleton in a sitting posture is something new in this section, according to Chas. M. Lowry, the best informed authority on Indian life in this section.

Be that as it may, J. Roy McCraw secured an Indian skeleton a few days ago from a point near Clarendon. He found the skeleton upright. The leg bones appear to have been hacked with a crude stone axe. The lower jaw is missing. When consulted on the matter, Indianologist Lowry allowed as how the Indian had been given a course of rough treatment, either live or dead, and possibly might have fallen a victim of the cannibal tribe of Kankawas who had drifted up from the Gulf coast.

The exhibit is on file at the West Texas Utilities building, in process of preparation in order to make it presentable to the public.

"THE ROCK" TO BE PRESENTED AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The annual exchange of the ministers of the Christian Church in the Panhandle will be held this year on Sunday, April 27. The Hereford Christian Church will present the evening service here on that date.

An offering will be taken that will be used for the Summer Conference fund of the young people. The people of Clarendon are invited to see this fine play on Sunday night, April 27th.

STRONG DRIVERS LICENSE LAW PASSED; INCREASES STATE HIGHWAY PATROL 110

With the passage of the new drivers license law Monday, our state highway patrol will have an additional 110 men, and a predicted increased revenue of $1,210,000 every two years. The law provides for a standard drivers license payment of fifty cents for two-year licenses for the average motorist, $1 a year for commercial operators, and a $3 a year for chauffeurs. Licenses cannot be suspended during appeal from court decision against the motorist under the new law.

Safety Leader Hails Bill.
George Clarke, executive secretary of the Texas Safety Association, said:
"The association and thirty-seven co-operating organizations hail the passage of the bill as jubilantly as England must have cheered passage of the lend-lease bill. It means men, money and weapons for Texas to win its war on accidents."

"Particularly is the safety movement grateful to the sponsors of the bill—Rep. Clinton Kersey and Senator Vernon Lemons—as well as the entire Legislature for their recognition of the emergency and their early passage of the law.

"Although it is not all the state needs for winning the war on accidents, particularly from the standpoint of man power, it

ADAIR HOSPITAL CONTINUES TO RECEIVE PATIENTS

The County Hospital Board met with the County Commissioners Monday afternoon in a joint session at the courthouse. Judge R. Y. King advised the Board that the county would, under the state law, continue to take care of indigent county patients as physicians directed, giving them hospitalization if the patient's physician directed.

Later, a motion made by Commissioner J. A. Tollett and seconded by Marvin Hall reads as follows: "Motion made to authorize Cap B. Morris to employ sufficient help and incur necessary expenses connected therewith to care for and give medical treatment to the indigent county patients during the pendency of the injunction suit filed now on the docket of the District Court by Dr. B. L. Jenkins as plaintiff." The motion carried unanimously, according to the minutes of the court. Cap B. Morris is secretary of the County Hospital Board.

Mr. Odos Caraway resigned from the Hospital Board Monday after a tenure of more than ten years. G. G. Reeves stated later that no successor to Mr. Caraway would be named until the injunction suit matter is settled.

At a meeting of the hospital staff named by the Board, Dr. Keith S. Lowell was made president, Dr. J. C. Coffey of Hedley vice president, and Dr. J. Gordon Stewart secretary of the Hospital Staff.

MRS. MAHER LOOKS AFTER CHILDREN'S LUNCHES

Mrs. Maher is a registered nurse of several years experience. She is also a trained dietician from schooling and experience.

Some children get plenty to eat, and yet are undernourished, we are told. Knowing how to plan the balanced diet, is a part of the work of Mrs. Maher. Her efforts in behalf of the school children is meeting with popular approval.

Clarendon Wins Swine Contest

O. T. Ryan, Area Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture for the 53 Northwest Texas Counties, has announced that the Clarendon Chapter won the Area 1 Swine Production Contest sponsored by the Texas Swine Breeders Association for the second consecutive year. The local chapter won the $100 prize presented by the Swine Breeders Association last year and expects to be near the top of the contenders for the 1940 year when the state judges have announced their decision.

The Clarendon youths fed out 612 pigs and produced over 130,000 pounds of pork in 1940. Each of the youths owns one or more registered sows, over half of them own registered Hampshires, and each youth provided a self feeder for the pigs, and all but two of the members provided a pasture for one or more swine projects.

The youths featured home grown grains in their rations; they fed over 400,000 pounds of grains sorghums, and supplemented this feed with tankage, alfalfa, cottonseed meal, and minerals. Each youth exhibited one or more head of swine in the spring or fall show, and each member mated his sows with the registered boars provided by the chapter.

HAS 85th BIRTHDAY

FEMALE CAT JOINS POULTRY COLONY

Before the end of cold weather, a gray mongrel female cat took up with the poultry flock of A. W. Simpson at his 'poultrytorium' at his home in the southwest part of town. He was disturbed late one cold night by the poultry squawking, Simpson investigated and found the gray cat nudging the biddies on the roost. She wanted a warm place—and got it. He noticed the cat staking a claim with the flock in the yard, and remained with the flock constantly. She slept in a nest by day after filling up on laying mash.

"Did she finally lay an egg?" Mr. Simpson was asked. "No," he replied, "but she had four kittens in the nest!"

Clean-Up Week Designated

Mayor Tom F. Connally announced today that the week from April 21 to 28th had been designated as "clean-up" week in Clarendon.

The Mayor suggested that proper caution be used in burning papers to avoid fire spreading during the windy days. "Burn everything that can be burned," he stated, "to save hauling expense.

Do not pile up dirt and expect it to be hauled away. It won't be done. The City will supply trucks and haul free of charge all trash that cannot be burned. But the trash must be piled at a point easily reached by the truck drivers.

Bury tin and iron around trees and help the trees. Our soil is deficient in iron causing the leaves to turn yellow at times.

After the trash is collected next week, trucks will begin hauling the following week. If you are overlooked by the truck, call the City Hall, and the matter will have prompt attention.

KING IMPROVING AT ADAIR HOSPITAL

Reports this morning indicate that Howard R. King of Lelia is steadily gaining following the accident that crushed his skull last week. It will be recalled that the block and tackle fell from the top of the windmill tower crushing his hat into his skull.

In addition to the head injury, his left side was affected by a condition of paralysis. He has begun to regain use of the fingers of his left hand, and it is now believed by his surgeon that normal use of his left side will return.

Fruit Growers Are Jubilant

With spring conditions farther advanced at this time of the year, far ahead of the average year, fruit growers are jubilant over the prospect of a record crop. Cherries seldom fail here, but peaches do not make every year.

J. N. Riley, the most extensive orchardist in the county, specializes largely on choice peaches in variety. Some are the old-time seedlings of the Indian cling type. His orchard prospects could not be better.

Varieties of fruits here include apples, peaches, pears, plums, cherries, apricots, persimmons, grapes and black and dew berries, though a few raspberries and gooseberries are grown.

The wild varieties of fruits is limited to grapes and plums. Few counties in the Panhandle produce more of either than Donley county.

More orchard trees than usual is being planted out each season since the black locust trees have largely been cut out. The locust is an incubator for hatching all kinds of tree pests, including the borers, two types of which are very destructive.

GRAND JURY IN SESSION SINCE WEDNESDAY

The Grand Jury was called back for final investigations Wednesday morning. A number of matters were gone over, it is said. The only bills of indictment returned up to noon today were two against J. W. Adamson charging embezzlement of county funds.

FOOD STAMP PLAN TO REPLACE COMMODITY STORE HERE

The food stamp plan was designed to enable the purchase of food locally rather than to have it shipped in from a distance at greater cost to the Surplus Commodities Corporation.

Instead of the commodity store, as we now have it, a stamp issuing office under a bond of $5,000, will issue stamps upon approval of the applicant. These stamps will be accepted as cash at any of the stores.

That the plan will be in operation soon is attested by a telegram received from Dallas by county commissioner Garland Reeves Tuesday. It reads as follows:

"Designation by Secretary of Agriculture of Donley county, along with 21 other Texas counties, for food stamp plan scheduled for twelve noon, CST, today, April 15. Have requested J. R. Gillham, secretary Clarendon Chamber of Commerce to make announcement to press. James S. Allen, Regional Director."

Earlier in the day, Mr. Gillham is said to have received a telegram advising him of the matter, but requested that the information be not given the press. Hence the explanation in message to Mr. Reeves, as he explains it.

Earlier in the day, your Donley County Leader had received the following message from Cong. Gene Worley from Washington:

"Just secured final designation Donley County for participation food stamp plan. Department says program should be in full operation within one month. Gene Worley."

Miss Mary Gartner, District Welfare Supervisor, Pampa, Texas will select all clerical help, the Leader has been informed.

The stamp issuing office will be selected by Jas. S. Allen, Surplus Commodity Corporation, 525 Fidelity Building, Dallas, Texas. The S.C.C. will have direct charge of the food stamp plan here as elsewhere.

While the county commissioners will have no further official connection with the plan, they sponsored the movement and secured the recognition by concerted action. If the plan works out satisfactorily, the commissioners will have done a noble deed for both the indigent population, and the local merchants as well.

Tom Bolton of Oklahoma City is expected to arrive soon to organize the program for Donley county. He will advise the county commissioners when organization is to begin.

SENATORIAL TIMBER.

Among the galaxy of senatorial aspirants due to the recent death of Senator Morris Sheppard, none stand out more than that of Gerald C. Mann, present attorney general.

Above all, he is a clean, honest christian gentleman and plays no favorites. He sees his duty and drives straight ahead.

In the bright galaxy of senators who have represented Texas we find Houston, Rusk, Coke, Reagan, Mills, Chilton, Culberson, Connally and Sheppard.

Since Gov. O'Daniel has shown no disposition to be side-tracked from the fulfillment of his promises to his people, he will continue as Governor, and will likely be a third term candidate.

FAITH IN GOD HAS MADE AMERICA GREAT

Faith in God is an essential characteristic of the American people. In God, Americans have placed their trust for more than three hundred years.

Part and parcel of their coming to the New World has been their search for religious freedom. Freedom did not mean to them the opportunity to forsake God, as advocated by the New Order of liberators of Europe today.

Strange to say, these new settlers managed at times to persecute their brethren for unlike beliefs, as the land became more thickly populated.

But as the frontiers spread westward, religious differences began to be thrust into the background and men learned to live in peace with more tolerance.

Today, that is America's greatest blessing. Men may worship when and where they choose in a manner suitable to their ideals.

Only Sunday, in the observance of Easter, hundreds of different churches observed the day, differently perhaps, but just as devout.

TOO MUCH WASTE (Polk County Enterprise)

As a taxpayer you will doubtless be interested in the following from the Texas Tax Journal regarding wilful extravagance in State expenditures.

hither and you:

"Repairs to autos, gasoline and grease, tires and tubes, $362,370. New cars purchased amounted to $115,000. The Texas Liquor Control Board was allowed $126,708 of personal car allowance, and an additional $52,000 for hotel and meals."

"The total traveling expense for the past fiscal year shows a total for all the departments—traveling expenses alone—of more than two million dollars."

The average taxpayer, while he naturally grumbles at having to pay any taxes at all, doesn't mind contributing his share toward the general expenses of his State Government. He does mind, and rightly so, having to pay so much just in order that several hundred State employes can drive automobiles around over the State and stop at the best hotels.

There is much talk about more and higher taxes being needed. Something ought to be done to bring down the expenses of the State Government by eliminating a lot of the extravagance that exists now.

Dr. C. G. Stricklin left Sunday for Dallas for medical treatment.

THE TEMPLE OF TRUTH

GOOD OLD DAYS. In reading a series of sermons recently, allegedly written by one Hugh Mercier of old Salem in 1760, he said: "Heaven is the place all people go to who have been too good on earth, that they may have a little fun. The other place is where people go who have had so much fun on earth that they are willing to pay an eternity for it." The old Parson was never known to smile, likely.

THE SUPER MAN. While the tribe has practically passed away who would publish a boasting paper, making false and extravagant claims, occasionally one bobs up where the ego explodes internally. It reminds me of this story:

"A pioneer newspaper editor has a reputation for assuming infallibility and superior enterprise. His paper announced the death of Frank Brown, who it turned out, was not dead. Next day the paper printed the following note: "Yesterday we were the first newspaper to publish the death of Frank Brown. Today we are the first to deny the report. The Morning News is always in the lead."

INFORMATIVE. Notice a sign in a printing establishment which read: "We require part payment in advance on work for our customers we do not know." An Alabama newspaper remarks: "We require full payment in advance from some of those we do know."

LIFE'S LIKE THAT! Then there was the fellow who left a night club with $50 and two girls, and after being hit on the head, woke up without a dame.

TWO CHANCES. You've probably heard this one but we got a big chuckle out of it and are passing it along. A negro was explaining to his buddy the finer points of the conscription acts: "The way I looks at it, you got two chances—either you is drafted or you isn't. If you is drafted you got two chances—either you goes to war or you stays in camp. If you goes to war you got two chances—either you gets shot or you doesn't. If you gets shot you got two chances—either you dies or you doesn't."

Devil's Canyon Drive

One of the most entrancing mountain drives to be found below the timber country in Arizona is the Devil's Canyon route between Superior and Miami. Here the autoist travels a wide, modern and gently curving highway through Claypool tunnel and onward high above the waters of Queen Creek. Rock formations to be seen along the walls of Devil's Canyon are to be compared with similar vistas found in many sections of southern Arizona and the Wonderland of Rocks of Cochise county. Not far from the head of the canyon lies one of Arizona's earliest fruit ranches from which still come fine varieties of apples and other deciduous fruits.

And even if you dies, you still got two chances."

PIIONEER STUFF. The mayor of a tough border town was about to engage a preacher for the new church. Parson, you aren't by any chance a Baptist, are you? "No. Why?" "Well, I was just going to say that we have to haul our water twelve miles."

DAME NATURE. It's lightning that does the face lifting job for Dame Nature, but thunder advertises the fact.

YOU NEWS GUYS. No news is good news—except when you are a news reporter. And it's the news that isn't fit to print that makes a lively evening.

OPEN SHOP! It's the bore who always opens his mouth and puts his feats in it.

The old Apostle will attend the largest regional press association on the Globe this week end in Amarillo. We call it the Panhandle Press Association. Strange as it may seem to the average reader, these some three hundred publishers and allied workmen, plan more how to help their communities they serve than any other one thing. There are no secret sessions. Visitors outside the profession are welcome to drop in on the sessions any time they choose.

"Quick Freeze" Machine Gets Patent Now

AUSTIN—The University of Texas has "come through" again for the Texas farmer.

A University engineer this week put the last touches on a new "quick freeze" machine that slashes (a) cost, (b) time of freezing, and that (c) can be quickly and economically set up anywhere—even on board ship to process shrimp and other seafoods "almost before the fish stop kicking."

Patent on the new device has been obtained from the U. S. Government Office of Patents in the name of the University of Texas Research Corporation. University laboratories will manufacture the machines and lease them to users—income going into a pool that can be tapped only to endow further research and secure other patents at the state institution.

Inventor of the new unit is Luis H. Bartlett, University research engineer, who has worked under the supervision of one of the country's most authoritative food preservation specialists, W. R. Woolrich, dean of the University's College of Engineering.

The new device—a box like structure five by five by eight feet—can be built for $1,500, less than one-fifth the cost of the most advanced equipment of similar capacity now in use. It is only half as heavy, requires about 10 per cent of the quick freezing method needed in other immersion methods, and reduces freezing time from about an hour to three minutes!

One man can operate units that will freeze 5,000 pounds of food per hour, the inventors said.

In University laboratories here, the new process has already "laid by" some two tons of frozen foods—from figs and grapefruit to shrimp and green peas.

Speed of freezing—a special feature of the Texas process—is vital to frosted foods, Dean Woolrich pointed out. If foods are frozen too slowly, long jagged ice crystals puncture food tissues, allowing taste and food value to escape.

Instead of freezing produce into a solid, awkward block, this process works on each separate piece of foodstuff, allowing packaging after freezing and a reduction of bruise-damage or spoilage incurred by packing before frosting.

Casa Grande Ruins

For at least 600 years the Casa Grande, or large house, of a now long forgotten Indian tribe has reared its walls high above the surrounding mesas of Casa Grande valley. Located one mile north of Coolidge on State Highway 87, this adobe ruin of an ancient civilization was first discovered by Father Eusebio Kino in 1694 who believed it had been abandoned for more than two hundred years. Having a five room floor plan this ruin is 38 feet in height. Archaeologists believe the Casa Grande was built primarily as a watchtower but served secondarily as living quarters and warehouse.

Montezuma's Well

Rimmed with ruins of pre-historic Indian dwellings unoccupied for more than 1,000 years Montezuma's Well presents one of nature's true oddities. The well has a highly mysterious note in that once each month its waters seem to boil and become troubled as mire and mud comes from its depth. These disturbances are said to be coincidental with volcanic disorders in Mexico. The well, 80 feet below its rim, is 750 feet in diameter and the water has a constant temperature of 75 degrees. Fine roads, offshoots of State route 79 lead to Montezuma's Well 23 miles from Cottonwood in the Verde Valley.

Judiciary Fund Bill Passes

AUSTIN, April 15.—The first major appropriation bill of the session—a $4,905,193 bill for the upkeep of the judiciary for the next two years—was readied for the Governor's signature Monday when the House adopted, 125 to 7, a conference committee report on the measure.
Rep. W. O. Reed explained that the conference committee restored the assistant district attorney places in the bill, which were first eliminated by floor amendments in the Senate. Provision was also made for a new district court at Corpus Christi, Reed said.

By a 129 to 7 vote, the House passed a $300,000 per diem and mileage appropriation bill which will bring the total expenses of this session to $850,000.
Rep. Reese Turner again brot up a supplemental appropriation bill of the Department of Education for $7,000 to aid in taking school census in national defense areas and finally passed it, 106 to 22. The bill was passed once before, but lacked the necessary 100 votes to make it become effective immediately.

Man Captured by Indians When Nine Dies Easter at Apache, Aged 91

APACHE, Okla., April 15.—Funeral services were held here Tuesday for Rudolph Fischer, about 91, who died Easter Sunday. He had lived with the Indians since his capture when 9 years old.

Rudolph was born in Gillespie county, Texas, of German parents. His father operated a tannery about two and one-half miles from the German colony.

Rudolph and a boy named Johnson were journeying to the tannery one day when they met a man racing a big black horse, pursued by a band of hostile Comanche Indians.

The youths darted behind a tree trunk, but not before their presence was discovered by the warriors. They were tied on horses.

In Palo Duro Canyon
The band of Indians, led by Black Crow, was on a raiding expedition, chiefly for the purpose of taking horses from white settlers. The boys were taken to the Indian camp in the Palo Duro canyon of the Texas plains. They soon learned to love the outdoor life of the simple natives.

The Johnson boy accompanied a band of raiding warriors into Mexico and never returned.

Fischer remained with the Comanches and retained many of their customs even until his death.

He was a companion of the late Chief Quannah Parker on numerous expeditions. At the historic battle of Adobe Walls, he fought side by side with the famous chief.

Fischer was wounded in the shoulder by an arrow while engaged in a skirmish with a band of Cheyennes. He carried the scar until his death.

Remembers Name
When the Comanches surrendered to Gen. R. S. McKenzie and were brought to Fort Sill, Fischer was singled out because of his long auburn hair. Fischer remembered his name and recollected the town of Austin, Texas.

A band of soldiers escorted Fischer to Austin and discovered his parents. They had offered a reward of $1,500 for his return.

At this time he was 19 years old. However, the only tongue he commanded was the adopted Comanche language. He had forgotten German and English.

He remained with his parents for a while, but soon yielded to the urge to return to the plains of Oklahoma. One night he took one of his father's horses and headed north to Fort Sill and his adopted tribe.

Fischer married two Indian wives. They were twins. Missionaries persuaded him to give up one of the wives. However, she was at his bedside when he died. The first wife died several years ago.

Two of Fischer's daughters married sons of Quannah Parker and reside near Fort Sill today.

THE SAN SABA PADRES MEET THE COMANCHES

The history of Eighteenth-Century Texas is essentially the story of its first large-scale pioneering movement—the rise, prosperity, and sudden decline of its Franciscan missions—which, though given up in 1794, prepared the way for permanent settlement by Anglo-Saxons in the 1820's.

They were not easily discouraged, the padres of those missions; yet, as all pioneers must, they met some severe setbacks. In his third volume of "Our Catholic Heritage in Texas", a seven volume work being published by the Knights of Columbus, Dr. C. E. Castaneda of the University of Texas gives a detailed account of the most dramatic of them—the San Saba massacre of 1758.

The mission on the San Saba River, near present-day Menard, was founded in 1757 as the first of a chain which were to bring the gospel to the Apache Indians of central Texas; but it was a great disappointment. For after eleven months — by March, 1758—no Apaches had presented themselves, except in passing. Only three still-hopeful padres remained: Fray Alonso de Terreros, Fray Jose Santiesteban, and Fray Miguel Molina.

Enter the Indians

On March 2, however, a great horde of warriors from the north, mostly Comanches, appeared in the neighborhood—but in war dress, come to wipe out their ancient enemies, the Apache tribes. And on the 16th, early in the morning, they called on the mission, two thousand strong. Many had rifles.

The padres, who had refused to take refuge in the fortified presidio across the river, received them with friendliness. Fray Alonso gave them tobacco, but without effect. He stood quietly by while they looted his storehouses. And when they announced that they were going on to the presidio to seek out Apaches, he gave them a message for the commandant urging him to admit them peaceably.

The Spanish officer, however, had decided to take no chances, and when the Comanches approached, his men fired a volley which sent them scurrying back to the mission. Now Fray Alonso offered to return with them and, taking one of five soldiers he had, rode calmly out of the patio. Then without warning, both were suddenly shot down, and the massacre was on.

A Day-Long Riot

From early morning on through out the day it continued. Fray Santiesteban was struck down as he knelt in prayer; his head was cut off and played with as if it were a ball. The soldiers were shot and cut to pieces. Only eight persons, including Fray Molina, held out beyond noon in a barricaded room.

There they were by no means safe and twice had to flee to new refugees to escape roasting to death, for the Indians were firing and destroying everything they could not carry away. By nightfall only Fray Molina and three companions survived, the padre with a broken arm; and in the darkness, somehow, they reached the safety of the presidio.

For three days the Comanches lingered, considering an attack on the fort. Then at last, on the 20th, they seemed to have gone, and the few soldiers in the presidio ventured out to the mission. It was ashes and ruins, and the bodies of eight victims lay in and about it, all mutilated.

This was the death-blow to the missionary movement on the San Saba. Although the greatest prosperity of the Franciscan missions in Texas was still to come, henceforth the Apaches and their northern neighbors were left to their own religious devices.

If you have no enemies you are to be pitied. If you have an unusual number you are to be blamed.

GET PAID FOR HAVING HAPPIEST MOMENT

That's a fact. You can be paid for telling of your happiest moment. The idea is brand new in the contest line originated by the producers of Admiration coffee. Turn to Page 2 and read how easy it is to win. At the same time, you have nothing to lose by the effort.

Yours may be a modern day episode, or it may revert back to pioneer days. It makes no difference so long as you tell the story of your "happiest moment." It may have been your first auto ride, or plane trip, or a visit of your grand children. There are a lot of things that can happen in a woman's life to make her happy.

After you have read the simple directions in the advertisement on Page 2, write your letter right then. Don't put it off. Remember that other women are winning prizes every week. You might as well get yours.

Turn to the front page of Section Two of this issue and take a look at the Amarillo lady who won the big prize. Women in small towns win, too. But do it today. Write the simple facts in your own style. You don't have to be a college graduate to enter this contest.

An Easter egg hunt was held at six, and the picnic lunch was served at seven.

Pat Grady and Wilma Henson won the award for the two finding the greatest number of eggs when they presented 52 eggs to the judges.

ADEQUATE CULTIVATION MAKES SUCCESSFUL SHELTERBELTS

"The key to a successful shelterbelt is adequate cultivation," stated Forest Officer Doug Miller of the Prairie States Forestry Project.

"Trees are like cotton, maize, or any other row crops. They must be freed of weed competition to thrive and the more they are cultivated the faster they will grow."

"The best time to cultivate is before the weeds get much of a start," declared Mr. Miller. "Never let them get over six inches high, for then the job to get rid of them is harder."

Usually clean cultivation around the first of April, followed up every ten days or two weeks until around July 15, will give the trees a good start in life.

British Form Agency, Take Over Cotton

British imports of cotton will drop from a normal 3,000,000 bales a year to a war supply of only 1,000,000 bales, D. D. Livesey Sr., head of Livesey Brothers, a Liverpool cotton import firm, said in a letter to his Texas associates.

"Our government has been compelled to take over the sole importation of all cotton to this country for the period of the war, so that the long-established connections between southern shippers and Lancashire importers have come to an end," the British merchant said.

"The shortage of foreign exchange and the uncertainty of the freight situation made this decision inevitable and, in order to assist their regulation of necessary supplies to the trade, our government will also take over all merchants' stocks and open contracts. This automatically will close the futures market."

"A small trading company is to be formed with no financial standing or other function than to make purchases and distribution of cotton as agents for the government—such purchases probably will be in bulk, as in the cases of the barter cotton and this country's purchase of the Egyptian crop."

"Obviously, two thirds of the firms in this market, which were maintained on a normal turnover, cannot be maintained on this reduced volume and will be forced out of business."

"If only America had decided to give us her full co-operation in credits and ships before this change was forced upon us, the repercussions of this costly interference in our trading relationship, which must be felt throughout your own cotton interests, could have been avoided."

The letter was urgent in its plea for material aid from the United States and expressed the belief that, with such aid, Britain could resist the attack on democracy.

"Men, we hope, we shall never require, but freighters and naval escorts, yet, most urgently," the writer said.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY

By Charles O. Hucker University of Texas Library

OF BUFFALO, BEARS AND BUGS.

If some old-time Texas frontiersman could be revived in our time, he would have good reason to suppose that the days of adventure are o'er forever. Just think of it—no buffalo, no great black bear, no ferocious Mexican hog, no leopard to hunt!

Now, Texans enjoy good hunting today, better than most other people in the country, possibly. But in comparison with, say, the 1820's! For a born huntsman, those must have been the good old days.

Workers in the Texas Collection of the University of Texas Library know this. Its copy of Mrs. Mary Austin Holley's "Texas," dated 1836, has a section which treats pretty comprehensively of the wild life of the brand new Republic. Just consider some of the things she knew to exist in the territory:

First of all, of course, there were buffalo. Not a mere handful, either: they roamed in great herds of tens of thousands in the interior and now and again wandered southward almost to the Gulf coast. The Texas Indians lived on buffalo meat; it has been recorded that some of them ate nothing else whatsoever.

"The deer," Mrs. Holley noted, "are still more numerous than the buffalo, being found in every part of Texas in great abundance." Colonists in the coastal settlements could apparently shoot them almost from their back doors. And on the frontiers even moose could be tracked with considerable success.

Hunting panthers, wildcats and leopards seems to have been a favorite sport among the early settlers, who used an almost infallible hunting technique. They called it "shining the eyes." During the night they'd go for a walk through the woods, carrying a lighted torch. Attracted by it, the game would approach, and the light of the torch was reflected so brightly from their eyes that the hunters found them perfect targets.

Mrs. Holley wrote that black bears, as well, could be found in the forests and cane-brakes along the coast and were "favorite objects of the hunt." And there were black wolves which "prove a great annoyance to the farmers, carrying away pigs and sheep and even, when rendered desperate by hunger, will venture to attack, and often succeed in carrying off calves."

The "Saber-Tooth" Hog "The most dangerous wild animal in Texas," however, was the Mexican hog, which ran in gangs and thought nothing of attacking a man. "It is armed with tusks several inches in length," she wrote, "which curl back from the under jaw, and its aspect altogether is very ferocious."

Another nuisance was the alligator, which sometimes grew to a length of thirty feet, according to Mrs. Holley, and had an armor on its back which could not be penetrated by a rifle ball. "All the rivers and bayous," she remarked, "are infested with alligators, which follow the boats so closely that they can be struck with the oars." Several times they are known to have caught and eaten men.

But if all these made life in the open a risk, though a hunter's joy, life indoors wasn't the height of comfort, for mosquitoes, tarantulas, horse flies and red bugs were everywhere. And worst of all, ticks! Ticks so large and so industrious, according to Mrs. Holley, "that in one night's time, if not carefully guarded against, they will spoil the beauty of the fairest face in creation beyond the redemption of all cosmetics for days to come."

AND YUGOSLAVIA, TOO

Hitler's justification of his invasion of Yugoslavia is the usual one that the action has been taken in self-defense. The big Yugoslavia power was going to attack the poor, defenseless Germans. And so there was nothing else to do but to strike first.

Which reminds us of a recent observation of the newspaper columnist, H. I. Phillips, to the effect that Hitler is the kind of a man who celebrates the coming of Spring by shooting the first robin and then justifies his act by contending that the robin was about to attack him.

Hitler invaded Yugoslavia because the new Yugoslavic Government would not agree to demobilize its army and permit the passage of German troops across its borders to invade Greece. Yugoslavia attempted to follow a course of strict neutrality and refused to submit to the complete destruction of its national independence. If its independence was to be destroyed, its people preferred that it should be after they had defended it with their lives. Only this promised a day of resurrection.—The Texas Digest.

Claudius T. Murchison, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, says it is futile to hope that this country can solve its cotton problem through export trade. The only hope is to utilize surplus cotton at home.

Methodists take the lead and Baptists hold a close second among University of Texas student church members. Nearly nine-tenths of the student body goes to church, a current Registrar's report shows.

Early Texas wasn't very quiet, according to records at the University of Texas. Travelers described "hideous bellows" of alligators on river banks, hoots and howls of owls and wolves, "sil very notes" of whippoorwills, and the mosquito's "tuneful song."

LOCAL F.F.A. YOUTHS MARKET FRYERS

Cooperative marketing of fryers brooded by the local F.F.A. chapter as a chapter project, and of battery brooded individually owned birds is proving successful for the local F.F.A. youths. Several hundred birds have been marketed in the past ten days, and several thousand will be sold within the next several weeks.

The youths raise the fryers in batteries and only the best of balanced feeds is fed to insure tender birds. The boys purchased their birds from the Clarendon Hatchery, a member of the Texas Baby Chick Association.

You might better be called an old fogey than to step on the accelerator and be cried over.

When the teacher asked the question, "Is there anything that God cannot do?" there was some hesitation in the class but at last one hand shot up. "He cannot please everybody," said the child.

Rising payrolls and an increasing farm cash income will soon drive Texas business to an all-time peak, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Judge Fires Dies After Short Illness

Judge A. J. Fires, first County Judge of Childress County and an outstanding jurist in the Panhandle for half a century, died Sunday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ross Robertson, at Wichita Falls. He was nearly 81 years old.

Judge Fires retired Jan. 1, 1937, after ten years as District Judge of Childress, Collingsworth, Hall and Donley Counties, a post to which he was appointed first by Gov. Dan Moody and later elected twice. He had been ill about two weeks before coming to Wichita Falls Friday.

Born at Jeffersonville, Ind., in 1860, Judge Fires finished law school at Louisville, Ky., and came to Texas in 1883. Two years later he settled in Childress County. He took lodgings in a sod-covered dugout which served as a hotel in Old Childress, four miles west of the present city of Childress. Two years later he aided in organizing the county and was elected County Judge.

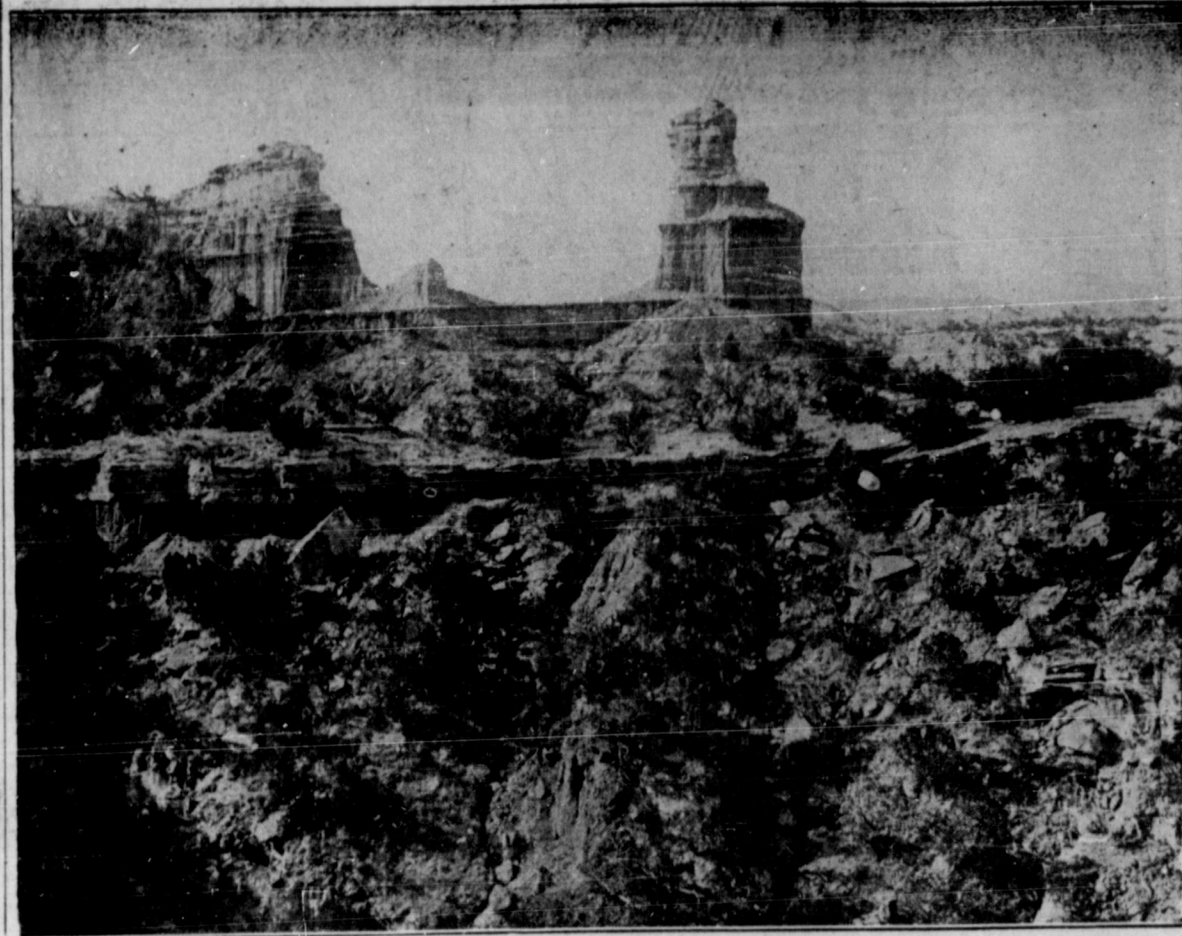

He was married in 1888 to a boyhood schoolmate and established his residence in Childress. His parents came from Indiana to that city in 1890.

Associated with Senator Temple Houston, son of Gen. Sam Houston, in legal practice, Judge Fires compiled an amazing record of only four cases lost in 123 murder cases he handled.

Funeral rites were conducted from his Childress home Monday at 4 p. m.

Survivors include two sons, Dr. I. W. Fires of Throckmorton and Chester Fires of Wellington; three grandchildren, A. J. Fires Jr. of Wellington, Mrs. John Vaughan of Sherman and Mrs. Lloyd Dixon of Electra and a great-grandson, Jimmie Clark of Electra.

THE LIGHTHOUSE—One of hundreds of beautiful scenes in Palo Duro State Park near Canyon, Texas. The Palo Duro Canyon has aptly been termed the "Baby Grand Canyon" because of the similarity to the Arizona Grand Canyon.

In addition to the stately cedars and clear streams, the Park may boast of the only spot in Texas where the Columbine of the Rockies grow naturally. There is a riot of color in flowers, rocks and earth to enchant the visitor—both casual and scientific. Those from other states who have seen Palo Duro Park, declare it one of the scenic wonders of the Southwest, second only to Carlsbad Caverns.

DRIVERS—Minimum age for driving is placed at 16 by the bill, with 14 being permitted if County Judge recommends the person to the Department of Public Safety as being capable.

The new license law provides for numerical, staggered issuance of operators licenses. Present licenses are renewable without examination upon application and payment of fees. Licenses listed numerically from No. 1 to 450,000 expire Dec. 31, 1941, and are renewable on or after Oct. 1, 1941, Clarke explained. Licenses listed from 450,001 to 900,000 expire March 31, 1942, and are renewable on and after Jan. 1, 1942. Those from 900,001 to 1,350,000 expire June 30, 1942, and are renewable on and after Jan. 1, 1942; those above 1,350,000 are renewable July 1 to Nov. 1, 1942.

Clark saw the main teeth of the new law as being the suspension and revocation power given the Department of Public Safety to designate court—Mayor, Justice of Peace, Corporation Court—before hearing for suspension may be held.

The Department of Public Safety is given authority to call up for re-examination any licensee whose ability to operate a vehicle safely may be in question. A licensee who appeals from suspension ruling is given the right of jury trial.

Accidents involving $50 or more in property damage or where there is serious injury or fatality, must be reported within forty-eight hours to the department.

CERTIFIED SEED BEING SOLD BY THOMAS

The Thomas Feed Store today received a shipment of certified seed including maize, June corn, Hegaria and other seeds. The producer is L. J. Knight of San Jon, N. Knight says he has farmed there 27 years, and offers only certified seed for sale.

Girls Learning By Experience

Securing a "loan" of "one-half block of land adjoining their part-time home, girls at the National Youth Administration Clarendon Resident Center will have an abundant supply of fresh vegetables this summer through a gardening project, according to Harold V. Hamilton, Area 1, Director.

Tomatoes, sweet peas, peppers, eggplant, cabbage, and head lettuce, are already in hot beds, with radishes and leaf lettuce in frame gardens. Other vegetables that will be produced are onions, peas, lima and green beans, mustard, rape, cucumbers, cantalopes, beets, yellow and white squash, okra and turnips.

Surplus from the garden will be canned. A related course of instruction will be under the supervision of Miss Lillian Ewin, Vocational Education instructor. Miss Eula J. Burleson is project supervisor.

The land was secured from W. H. Cooke, Jr., and the City of Clarendon donated old pipes to be used for subirrigation purposes.

The girls have just completed a second course of Red Cross first aid under the direction of Bill Riney, state highway foreman. Twenty-six girls attended the classes of 20 hours, instruction being given two nights each week.

SHERIFF FINDS WESTERN DESERTS VERY WET

Returning home around three o'clock Wednesday morning from a trip to California, Sheriff Guy Pierce stated that California was really having plenty of rain. He saw lakes in the desert and snow in the mountains, he says.

The sheriff was accompanied by county attorney John C. Knorpp and Heckel Stark. They returned Jess W. Adamson to the local jail where he is charged with embezzlement of county funds during his tenure of office as tax collector. He had been in jail in Los Angeles, having been picked up there after a grand jury indictment was returned here some two weeks ago.

The party left Los Angeles at 3 p. m. Monday, coming by El Paso. They drove some fifteen hundred miles without stopping, the sheriff stated, taking turn about at driving the car.

Miller Rites Held Monday

Funeral services for James B. Miller, 63, were held at the First Methodist church here at 10 a. m. Monday, Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum, Jr., the pastor, conducting.

Attending the casket were J. Roy Bartlett, W. N. Merritt, Roy L. Clayton, W. L. Clappitt, J. T. Patman and Homer Taylor. The Buntin mortuary had charge of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Miller had resided in this section for a long number of years. Before taking ill a few weeks ago, he was employed on the Willow Springs ranch of Gilbert and Son. He was brought to Clarendon when he became ill, staying at the home of his sister, Mrs. Eula Cox until his death the 10th.

He is survived by a son, J. Stanley Miller, Washington, D.C. Four sisters: Mrs. T. L. Gore, Canyon; Mrs. T. R. Moreman, Hedley; Mrs. Rana Groves, Ryan, Okla.; Mrs. Eula Cox, Clarendon. Two brothers are Houston and Marvin Miller who resides in Missouri.

His father was the late Rev. T. L. Miller, Methodist Minister.

Chevrolet Is Training Men For Army

Approximately 1,000 commissioned U. S. army officers will be trained by Chevrolet in the repair and maintenance of the new 4x4 army trucks which the division has been building for the army since last fall. Fifteen officers are enrolled in the initial school Chevrolet will stage beginning April 14th.

Under the direction of Ed Hedner, national director of service for Chevrolet, a series of weekly schools will be held throughout the next eight months. After the original class, enrollment will be doubled so that eventually nearly 1,000 officers will have been trained. These men, in turn, will instruct non-commissioned officers in their respective camps and they will be in charge of mechanic instruction among enlisted men and draftees.

Chevrolet has conducted service training schools for more than 25,000 dealers' service men, and the same operating system will be employed in the army training program. Chevrolet service experts, and specialists in truck maintenance will compose the staff of the schools.

Chevrolet is the leading manufacturer of trucks in the world.

Dairy Cow And Spring Feed

COLLEGE STATION—Spring is the season when dairy cows normally are in best production. But to get top production it is necessary to watch the cows' rations.

E. R. Eudaly, extension dairyman, says that green grass is much higher in protein than dry grass. Protein is the element that stimulates milk production, and green grass is high in minerals.

Many good cows do not produce as much in the spring as they could even though they produce more than at other periods of the year. The reason, the specialist says, is that protein in the grain mixture is not kept in balance with that in the grass. There should be enough protein to supplement the cows' needs for maintenance and milk production, but too much protein should not be fed. Feed that is too high in protein is bound to be low in carbohydrates, and a cow must have sufficient carbohydrates to furnish the energy to walk, digest her feed and produce sugar and fat in the milk.

A cow might get enough protein to produce five gallons of milk and only enough carbohydrates to produce three gallons. In that case she can produce only three gallons after she has drawn upon her body for the carbohydrates required to make the extra two gallons.

As young, tender grass is high

Cotton Made Into Paper

COLLEGE STATION—Use of low-quality raw cotton in the manufacture of high-grade writing paper is expected to make another dent in the nation's staggering surplus. A federal program directed by the marketing division of the Surplus Marketing Administration is designed to result in consumption of up to 10,000 bales during 1941. Last year 19 manufacturers used 510,000 lbs. of lint of 16 grades, staples, and qualities in demonstrating that cotton has many desirable characteristics as raw material for the making of fine papers.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Watson, Jr. and little daughter, Helen Hope, of Lubbock, were here Sunday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Watson, Sr. Miss Dorothea Watson accompanied them home.

In protein and low in carbohydrates the cow should be fed a grain mixture high in the latter and low in the former.

"When we get the protein in the grain mixture in balance with that in the roughage (hay, grass and silage) we find that if we add the percent of crude protein in the grain mixture to that in the roughage it always makes 27," Eudaly says. "Therefore, if you will subtract the percent of crude protein in the grass from 27, you will know what you want in the grain mixture." Extension Bulletin B-69 explains the figuring.

Shelterbelt Trees Live

COLLEGE STATION—About three of every four trees planted in Texas shelterbelts under the Prairie States Forestry project during the 1940 season have survived, according to the Forest Service. The average survival in Texas was computed at 76 percent.

Trees and shrubs which continue to show the highest survival in the shelterbelt plantings include the green ash, cottonwood, American and Chinese elms, hackberry, black and honey locust, osage orange, native wild plum and choke-cherry, caragana, Russian mulberry, desert willow, catalpa, black walnut and cedar.

EXAMPLE TO THE NORTH

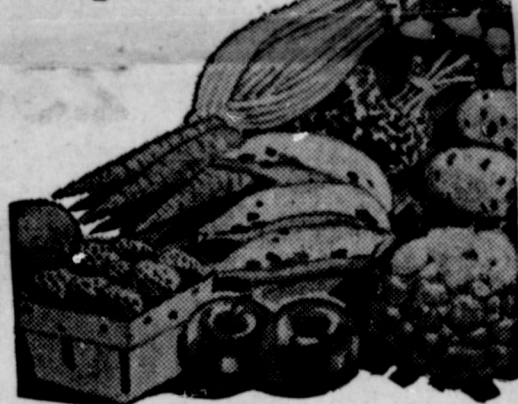

In Canada they apparently aren't fooling about cutting down governmental costs as an aid in meeting the national emergency.

Thorough surveys of all governmental expenditures have been made to determine what costs can be eliminated, what costs reduced, what departments consolidated and better systematized.

All possible capital expenditures have been postponed for the duration of the emergency.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Heisler of Wayside brought his aunt, Mrs. Cleo Keys home Thursday and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Keys and family.

The first Saturday saw 17 crates of eggs arrive, most of them being resold to A. M. Lanham who sold them in Pampa. The Leader thus creates a market for eggs and at the same time enables its readers to pay their subscription when money is scarcer than "hen's teeth," as one reader stated.

TAXES AND WEALTH

(San Diego Facts)

The rapidly increasing cost of city, county, State, and Federal governments is destroying assessable values in many cases and is entailing a severe hardship on everybody.

Very few governing or taxing bodies ever try to reduce expenditures, but are always on the alert to find new sources of revenue to meet the increase in cost of government.

As the rate increases, property values decline or are destroyed. As values disappear, the rates of taxation must be increased to make up for the loss, and we have a returning cycle of destroyed values and increased tax rates which, if allowed to run uncontrolled, will destroy all the wealth of the country and reduce the United States to a land of poverty.

Wealth is measured by its present sales value and not by its usefulness alone.

Business property provides a great majority of real estate taxes, and as two-thirds of the vast wealth of this nation is in real estate, it is easy to compute the burden placed upon business property to support the various types of government.

RIDING TO SCHOOL

Grandad and dad rode horses or walked to school; but the present day youngster, if he lives any appreciable distance at all from the school house, rides a bus.

In Texas, 290,219 school children, approximately one-fifth of the scholastic population, ride 5,505 buses at an average daily cost of 7 1/2 cents a pupil. The average bus transports 55 pupils daily and travels a distance of 48 miles, an average mileage that is much more than that in other States, due to the long routes necessary for the sparsely settled portions of the State.

Investment in the buses represents $8,188,172, and about one-fourth of them are privately owned. Those equipped with steel bodies number 3,330; and 4,328 of the buses receive regular inspections.

Economists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture are predicting that sheep farmers will receive a larger income from wool this year than they did last year. Last year's wool income was 30 percent above the 1939 figures.

A cow must eat 100 pounds or more of grass daily to produce 20 to 25 pounds of milk.

Significant Cardiac and Vascular Irregularities

In this day and age patients have become more and more conscious of their blood pressures and perhaps not without good reason, since their blood pressure acts as barometric indicators to the economic and social strain of our time. Therefore, due to these circumstances we cannot modify their standards of living but we can disclose the resulting consequence produced by a high blood pressure with the hope that they can adjust their nervous mechanism and glandular system to a normal pace.

Hydrodynamic pressure or arterial tension is dependent upon the following factors: increase in the volume of blood as observed in polycythemia, usually occurring in those individuals residing in mountainous regions; the size and character of the blood vessels, as observed in the arteriosclerotic or in those suffering from a disturbance in the vasomotor mechanism; peripheral resistance as observed in the old suffering from renal disease and finally the force of the cardiac muscle as seen in cardiac hypertrophy. This condition is evidenced by an incompressible pulse, accentuated aortic sound, prolonged cardiac first sound and an abundant watery urine.

Hypotension or low blood pressure is invariably due to a decrease in the cardiac force, as the result of cardiac dilation, inanition, anemia, hypoadrenia or cardiac failure, and is evidenced by a dicrotic pulse, feeble cardiac sounds, scanty urine, pallor, vertigo and faintness. In contrast to hypertension the patient complains of somnolence especially in the recumbent position.

Monument Valley

Fantasies of form and color, huge, cathedral-like monuments, towering spires and totem pole formations, amphitheatres scooped into sandstone cliffs and natural bridges rising abruptly from the desert floor constitute the most weird and pleasurable area of all the southwest. Known as Monument Valley this area straddles the Arizona-Utah border within the boundaries of Navajo Indian reservation and may be reached from U. S. Highway 89, northbound route between Flagstaff on U. S. 66 and Southern Utah. Here it was the now famous motion picture "Stagecoach" was filmed. The valley forms a vast quasi-triangle ranging from the Segi mesa on the southwest to Utah's San Juan river on the north.

ICE MACHINE HAS NO MOVING PARTS

If the combined ice production of all the refrigerators manufactured by Servel, Inc. in the past twenty years were to be formed into one icicle a foot square it would measure 240,000 miles long.

L. E. Thompson, Manager of the Thompson Bros. Co., said today. "This icicle would be long enough to reach from the earth to the moon and then extend a couple of thousand miles on the other side."

"We have received in one of our communications from the manufacturer of the gas refrigerator many interesting achievements concerning the company and its product," Mr. Thompson said. "As you know this is the only refrigerator which makes ice with no moving parts in its freezing system, cannot wear out or make noise. It is a refrigerator that will stay silent, last longer."

The Story of "Land of Liberty"

P.-T. A. BENEFIT SHOW

Four years ago the motion picture industry was approached with the request that it should make some contribution to the New York World's Fair and the Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco.

Leaders of the industry felt that the most fitting contribution would be a motion picture. It was pointed out that in the course of providing entertainment for millions, motion pictures have assembled a complete record of every phase of growth of the American republic. In consequence, the decision was made to put together the complete visual history of America. Not a foot of film was to be shot; complete photographic material for such a story was already available in Hollywood film vaults; the job was to coordinate and develop a comprehensive story of the great American experiment in democratic government from hundreds of motion pictures made in the past.

This unique and important task was entrusted to Cecil B. DeMille, who, with the aid of an editorial and technical staff, at once began to assemble the framework of the picture, "The Land of Liberty," in which scores of stars and irreplaceable footage were to figure.

Dr. James T. Shotwell of Columbia University was engaged to supervise the historical sequences of the story.

When the picture was completed and prints were sent to both the New York and Frisco Fairs, it

TWO DUCKS SURVIVE CIVILIZATION

Stories of two ducks which had contact with civilization, but which escaped have reached the Game Department office. One duck was seen waddling down the main street of Aransas Pass and was captured by two women. However, they decided they were unlawfully in possession of the fowl and released it. They found it had been slightly injured, which accounted for its inability to fly. When last seen the duck was waddling contentedly down the street.

The other duck, a big mallard drake, apparently mistook Highway 87 northwest of Dalhart for a river and landed on it with a bump which must have jarred his ancestors, as the editor of the Matador Tribune puts it. A light snow had fallen, but had not remained on the highway, although covering the countryside. The sheen of bright moisture probably made the road look like a river and the mallard dove onto it. However he was able to crawl off into the weeds and disappeared.

created a sensation. Long lines of people were constantly waiting to see the screening of the film. Thousands of requests were received asking for public screening of the picture. The information service of the New York World's Fair reported that twenty five per cent of all its inquiries related to where "The Land of Liberty" might be seen.

As a result of this public expression of interest, leaders of the companies who had been responsible for production of "The Land of Liberty" united in plans to release it generally through Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with the cooperation of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

All sales profits from the film realized by the distributors are to be donated to war emergency welfare work by the motion picture industry.
