THE WEATHER.

Speaking of West Texas brands of weather, if you don't like it, just wait a minute. The next change may suit you exactly.

TOURIST ROADS.

If one may judge from the way some of our smaller towns have been passed up, it looks like the Highway Commission had the tourist's interest more in mind than the native's interest when it came to locating highways.

WIVES.

An American thinks he gets a wife for nothing because he does not buy her. The pay comes later. The Arab of Morocco pays $2.50 to the parents for his first wife and $4 for his second wife. According to the custom of that country, the wives do the work and an Arab owning two wives is independent living a life of ease. No doubt if the wives did the buying there would be few marriages in Morocco.

COTTON GRADING.

The cotton grower is interested as much in finding out how his cotton will be graded this fall as he is in cutting production—possibly more.

Cotton raisers claim that a government grader alone can solve the problem. This plan is to be adopted, and has already been adopted according to reports, in a number of towns.

Would it not be a good time to solve this important problem locally. A large amount of cotton grown in Donley county went out of the county to find a better market last season. This matter should be remedied and it is not too early to begin plans right now.

FREE ADMITTANCE.

We have never been in favor of charging an admittance price at an Interscholastic meet of any kind. Somehow it never did occur to us as being exactly fair to charge a parent a price to see the son or daughter in action at a county meet.

If Clarendon does not think enough of the next meet to contribute the expense money, it should go elsewhere. The folks here have never been asked to contribute to a cause of this kind and we believe they will be more than glad to foot the bill if asked to do so.

Free admittance means a bigger crowd. A bigger crowd means more business. It also means that a lot of folks will attend the Meet who have been staying away because of the admittance charge. The cost of the Meet just held here last week amounted to less than $110. This money was spent for ribbons, pennants, judges, etc.

BATH TUBS MAY WIN.

Some time ago the state of Wisconsin excluded from her borders realty men selling land in the lower Rio Grande valley, basing their objections on the intimations that statements made by Texas realty men might be far-fetched and bordering on the ridiculous.

It so happens that the governor of Wisconsin, Walter J. Kohler, is the owner of the factory producing the well known line of Kohler bath tubs and other plumbing supplies at Kohler, Wisconsin.

Governor Moody has extended an invitation to the Wisconsin governor to visit the Valley and view at first hand the great possibilities of a field for bath tub exploitation in order to make peace between the enterprising gentlemen of the two states.

It is claimed that the only natives who take a bath are those who fall into the river and drown. Perhaps Kohler can convince our Valley population of a more humane method of sanitation with far less hazardous results.

Temple of Truth

By the Apostle

Folks, there is nothing harder on "pome" writing than snow, blows and bum weather, therefore there won't be any more of that stuff this week. Thanks folks, for all the nice compliments on that effort. You may have to suffer through some more later, but the weather will have to clear up first.

Does a marcel wave cause a brain storm? This question has consumed a lot of time among the younger set the past week. Frankly speaking, it does in some cases on the part of the man who pays the bill.

The Liar's Club has disbanded and while the Apostle hates to admit it, he is the cause of the whole thing going "bluole". The last session was held at the Court-house by accident. E. Price started off by telling about a pet pig he once owned. Among its many accomplishments, he taught it to whistle. It also was of a purple color and had a topnot pretty much like a peacock and walked like a tap dancer. Cecil Alexander related the story of a parrot that would shed tears when it would recite "Home, Sweet Home". The Apostle knew a man back in Arkansas who tamed a crow to warn wild crows to stay out of his field. As time went on that crow learned to speak wonderfully and recited the "Village Blacksmith" for the amusement of visitors because when he spoke the beautiful poem sparks would fly from his tail. All went well until the pet crow flew to the top of a straw stack to warn his thieving brethren. After exhausting his vocabulary of profanity, he hit a striking attitude and began on the "Village Blacksmith." The sparks from his tail set the stack on fire destroying the life of the speaker who was so engrossed with his oration that he fled too late—in fact he did not flee at all—he burned.

Will Rogers says that some farmer's idea of making a crop is to plant paper in a country bank. Barney Fielder says that if that be the case, his crop is bound to be late this season.

Wisconsin has excluded Rio Grande Valley real estate men accusing them of over estimating the possibilities of that wonderful section. By way of retaliation, the Valley has boycotted Wisconsin products.

There is no comparison in the states except that each have a "border" across which the principal business is transacted. Wisconsin has her "punkins and Texas grapefruit that is larger. Wisconsin has her LaFollette and the Valley has many his equal running loose and five in jail. Wisconsin has her black mosquitoes and the Valley has her's of the beauty parlor complexion, far more diplomatic because they strike from the rear with less offense by not "ringing the bell."

Wisconsin has her woods while the Valley has her logs of far more enduring texture because of having passed through the stage of petrification. Wisconsin has her Bolshevics and the Valley her

Mexicans who will probably raise more disturbance when they find what it is all about. The Valley just simply has the old cheese state skinned on every score and it was because our "realtors" showed them a few things unheard of before, that they got sore. Who was that said "hope for the best, expect the worst, and take what comes?"

A San Francisco man was arrested for driving a tractor through the Alameda-Oakland tube without a registration certificate, chauffeur's license, rubber tires on trailer, horn, windshield, muffler and a special permit to operate a tractor on city streets. Anyway, he wasn't speeding.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL TEAM RECEIVE SWEATERS

The Girls' Basket ball team received their sweaters Tuesday morning. Twelve sweaters were presented to the following: Claudine Smallwood, Gladys Noble, Jewell Rhodes, Mary Slater, Helen Slater, Lois Strawn, Ruth Donnell, Robbie Shepherd, Ruth Nichols, Ruth Hartzog, and coaches Price and Patton.

The girls wish to thank business men for their loyal support in helping them get the sweaters. In helping them get the sweaters. The following business men contributed to the team:

- A. N. Wood, $50; Mitchell's Barber Shop, $50; Hokus-Pokus, $50; Bon Ton, $50; Greene Dry Goods, $50; Bob Hays, $50; Judge Alexander, $50; Dr. Strickland, $2.50; Goldston Bros. $1.00; Rexall Drug Store, $1.00; Alene Parks, $2.5; Patman Insurance, $50; Walter Clifford, $50; Clarendon News, $1.00; West Texas Utilities Co., $2.50; Piggly Wiggly, $1.50 Alderson Studio, $50; Dr. Sherman, $1.00; Estlack's Printery, $2.00; Bryan-Miller, $50; Stockings Drug Store, $1.00; Rathjen's Shoe Store, $1.00; Chenaults, $1.00; Thompson Candy Kitchen, $2.5; Pastime Con. $1.00; Kerbow Hardware, $1.00; City Drug, $50; Rudel, $2.5; Heath Cleaner, $50; Bill Ray, $2.5.

All of the business men were not asked to contribute because enough money was secured from the above to finish getting the sweaters, however we believe the others would have contributed as willingly as the above did.

HENCE THESE TEARS

"What on earth is the matter, Ed? What are you and Cy crying about?"

"Boo Hoo! Just as we were preparing to make the most of that Kansas fellow kissing the negro woman's hand, down in Porto Rico, and tell everybody how unlike a Democrat it was—to love the negro here comes that Tammany congressman and appoints two negroes to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

"How can we get Al Smith recruits in Alabama, or even hold those we have, if the Tammany Roman Catholics are going to act that way? Taint fair. Boo hoo-oo-oo-oo!"—Abeville Daily Independent.

BOYS' NOTICE!

I want to buy several pairs of live muskrats. They must not be injured. Will pay you well for your trouble. Write at once to W. H. Crum, Ferris, Texas. 6p

A TRIBUTE TO OUR TEACHER

Oh why should we worry about our children so dear, When we have such good teachers to teach all the year. They teach our children good morals, honesty and truth Everything that is good for the young tender youth.

Our teachers mind is absorbed in things that is higher To instill the pupils mind with great things to aspire, Miss Howrens is always right along in the path To help her boys and girls with difficult Math.

Miss Weidman with Spanish you must study to win She will give you the credits when you bring them right in.

Miss Headrick teaches English and Mrs. Cox does the same The boys and girls will make it if they stay in the game. Miss Harris with Latin and History too. Gives her pupils their lessons with plenty to do.

And then there is Mrs. Rita Stockings When her pupils study there is nothing that is shocking. When comes sewing and cooking oh its better than we expect For that is all taught by Miss Helen Beck.

Prof. Burton our Supt. is always on the job He has a great influence that nothing can rob Oh the rest of the teachers they are so good and so great; There is none that is better anywhere in the State.

Our ladies that teaches in our school we all know. Too much honor we never an them could bestow. Lets encourage our teachers and be right by their sides, While they are now striving our children to guide.

—By Mrs. W. T. Lowe.

SAID ABOUT WIVES

An eastern editor says that a man out west got himself into trouble by marrying two wives.

A western editor replied by assuring his contemporary that a good many men in that section have done the same thing by marrying one.

A northern editor reports that quite a number of his acquaintances found trouble by merely promising to marry, without going any further.

A southern editor says that a friend of his was bothered enough by simply being found in company with another man's wife.—Poultry Item.

THE JUNIOR COLLEGE GETS RECOGNITION

Has established itself as a part of the educational structure of the country.

Has it? Former Governor George W. Donaghey of Arkansas thinks so. He is so completely sold on it as being the most valuable institution of our educational system that he has recently given to the Little Rock Junior College (established at the same time Clarendon Junior College was) two of Little Rock's largest office buildings valued at $2,000,000. The income from this property is to be used for the sole benefit of the public junior college. There are colleges and universities, no doubt, which would be willing to change their name to honor any donor who would give them such a sum of money. Mr. Donaghey believed, however, that no greater field for service exists than that of the municipal junior college.

The people of Clarendon have a junior college which has the recognition equal to that of the Little Rock Municipal Junior College. It can be maintained very economically. The tax payers could not make a better and more productive investment than to vote to provide 20 cents on the $100.00 state and county valuation for the support of the junior college.

If Mr. Donaghey thinks the Little Rock Junior College is worth $2,000,000, should not the tax payers, the owners of Clarendon Junior College, place at least a $4,000 a year value on it? A vote for the 20 cent junior college maintenance tax is a vote for progress.

WEST TEXAS DEVELOPMENT

April 1, 1930—Nearly 90 industrial enterprises were established in West Texas during 1929, according to a report compiled by the Industrial Department of the West Texas Utilities Company over the 45 counties they serve. This Department is maintained to aid Chambers of Commerce and other organizations in locating industries in West Texas.

The report consisted of major industrial concerns such as carbon black plants, gins, airports, hotels, produce companies, supply companies, compresses and other productive concerns which, though just beginning business activities during 1929, have materially added to West Texas progress. The location of these business enterprises has not only gone a great way in adding to the creative or manufacturing volume of West Texas but has also served to relieve the general unemployment condition. The new concerns have given employment to nearly 2,100 persons. This averages approximately 25 employees per concern.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tice of Wellington and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Baker of this city visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Cox at Panhandle Sunday where the birthday of Lola Pearl Cox was celebrated with a special dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tyree made a business trip to Matador Monday.

Minor Jones of Amarillo visited his sister, Mrs. T. E. Trostle and family here the past week.

Houston R. Miller, the Piggly Wiggly man of Canadian, visited his friends and relatives here Sunday.

T. W. Smith Announces For Public Weigher

The Leader is authorized to run the announcement of T. W. Smith as a candidate for the office of Public Weigher of the Clarendon precinct.

Mr. Smith is too well known here to require an introduction of any kind having been a resident here for the past twelve years. Thirty-eight years of his life has been spent in the Panhandle where he has always been numbered among the leading men actively working for better conditions.

He promises to faithfully discharge the duties of the office if elected, without showing any special favors and will appreciate all the support given him in his candidacy.

THE JEWELERS CRAFTSMANSHIP

There are so many things in a jeweler's shop which assist in putting the finishing beauty-touch to a home. Fine silverware and beautiful cut glass of course head the list. Then there are the refinements of clocks, vases, works of real art. They belong in the modern home conducted in the modern, progressive manner. They are signs of quiet prosperity and of discriminating taste. Therefore they play their vital part in the present campaign.

Farming in 1930

Farmers of Donley county are pretty generally agreed that the cotton acreage will not be reduced to any great extent, and that this idea prevails over the entire cotton growing area. The next best thing, according to one of our largest producers of the staple, is to cut the cost of production because the price does not measure in importance with the cost of producing the crop. As an illustration, Clarence Piery, out in the J A country, with double lister and a tractor recently purchased here, listed up 32 acres in 12 hours on quarter mile rows at a cost of $2.41, or little more than 7 cents an acre. It is estimated by those who have tried out the modern machinery method, that the cost of listing land for instance, will average around ten cents an acre. Wheat growers on the Plains are making more on dollar wheat using modern machinery, than they did during war times with the old method and wheat selling at $2.60. This gain is clearly shown in cutting the cost of production and the statement was made this week by a wheat grower who had experience in both instances. Mrs. O. D. Meador was a Clarendon shopper Monday from the Hudgins community. Mrs. Perk Ligon and little son Duane are visiting with Mr. Ligon's relatives at St. Jo, Texas.

Beautiful WICKER FURNITURE The time has come in the manufacture of wicker furniture when it is very much a fine art. You can remember the day when the wicker splintered, and the life of such pieces was not long, but nowadays the manufacturer produces furniture which is not only serviceable, but is beautiful beyond words.

Great, easy, comfortable porch chairs for the sun parlor, settees, magazine racks, lamp stands, bird cages, all in wicker, which, if you wish a year or so later, you can do over again in charming, enamel or lacquer colors.

WHY WE NEED A JUNIOR COLLEGE

Joyce Link
(Prize Article)

To you, Mr. Taxpayer, we, the students of the Clarendon Public Schools, wish to convey the advantages of a junior college. You are willing to do all you can for the upbuilding of some lodge or club; you are always ready to put forth every effort in the construction of a new building; you are foremost in the promotion of some new ideal or custom. Are you an advocate of education? Are you striving to help maintain a junior college for the growing town of Clarendon?

A junior college in a town such as Clarendon not only means better education for the students, but it also means a constant and steady growth for our part of the country.

It would be a financial asset, not only to the student who would have no tuition to pay, but likewise to the city as a whole. It would give employment to many a boy and girl who might otherwise be an idle nuisance to the town. The tax needed for its upkeep is so small that it would mean comparatively little to you, but how beneficial it would prove itself to the many boys and girls whom it would favor!

As time passes on, and civilization advances, the fact is very obvious that the graduates of the many high schools are too young to go off to school. Since a few of them are only fifteen years of age, some sixteen, and the most of them seventeen, we are confident that they need, as yet, the direct home influence.

Another outstanding advantage of the junior college lies in the fact that not over one fourth of the students can afford to go elsewhere. Therefore, since three-fourths of the high school graduates must give up their ambitions and desires for a college education, cannot you, loyal citizen, see the need of such an institution?

Again, we find that in a school of this size, every student is given some personal attention. How far can we carry this statement into the hustle and bustle of the large senior college? We find it merely a mechanical institution with each student a part of their mighty machine. He is given a task to perform; if he fails, he is discharged with no further ceremony whatsoever.

In a small institution where one is recognized for what he knows, he receives a broader vision and insight into the true purpose of a college education. Thus, he is better fitted to take up the work in large schools.

In our present Clarendon Junior College, all the required subjects of a widely known university are within grasp of every pupil just entering into college life. He is given credit for his work done here, and his experience has taught him as much as his books ever could.

So we, the boys and girls of the senior class of 1930, are at the crossroads of our lives. Which path are we going to take? Are we behind our parents to support this slight tax of only twenty cents on every hundred dollars? Are we urging every loyal citizen of Clarendon to do his part? We shall be the backbone of our nation of tomorrow. From us, the new ideals and desires of a country will spring. Are we going to be proud of the age in which we live, proud that we have aided in making that generation what it is? Hence, we must plan our courses in life, and do our utmost to follow them out to the end.

WHY WE NEED A JUNIOR COLLEGE

"Why do we need a Junior College?" The question seems to be gaining in importance as our Texas Educational System is growing in efficiency. Everywhere Educators are being bombarded by uninformed citizens with the question, "Why do we need a Junior College? What part does it play in the educational life of our young people?"

I shall not attempt to enumerate all the excellent reasons for our needing a Junior College, for two or three outstanding arguments in its favor, should be enough to convince even the most reluctant taxpayer.

In the first place, a Junior College affords to the great majority of High School students, who otherwise would be denied this privilege, an opportunity for a College education here at home. Only about twenty five percent of our boys and girls are financially able to attend a distant College or University, while many of those who are fortunate enough to go away to school, haven't the necessary funds to stay the four full years. This, then, is the part the Junior College plays. It offers two full years of College training without the added expense of railroad fares, extra clothes, increased price for tuition, board, and those incidentals which seem as nothing while at home, but become a large item when away.

Then there is the age question! The child just ready to enter College is at that impressionable age, when proper influences, examples, and attention are so necessary. What really conscientious parent is willing to take the child, still in his teens, from his own watchful care, and that of the teachers who have learned to understand his characteristics and capabilities, and place him in the hands of strange house mothers, indifferent professors, and doubtful associates. In a large college or university, one is known only by the number he bears. Is this what we would want for the child too young to realize the huge power of early impressions; the tremendous importance of correct habit formations?

Besides the great advantage of a Junior College to the pupil himself, there is the benefit, both financially and socially, to the town which harbors it. Indeed, the financial benefit can be reckoned in actual dollars and cents. The average expenditure yearly of each student is $500.00. As little as this may seem, it amounts to approximately $50,000 in Clarendon. Some times this is slightly less, often it is more.

The social benefit is not so pronounced, but it is present, nevertheless. A higher and more intelligent class of people are to be found where there is a college; a class of people interested in learning, religion and clean sports; a class of people altruistic in their desires for the permanent uplifting of humanity. It has been positively proven that in no place are ambition, whole-heartedness, and loyalty more prevalent than in a town supporting a Junior College.

(Honorable Mention)

As citizens of the United States of America, we should be proud of our American system of education, a system which shares a common parentage with that of other countries in having been descended from the spread of knowledge beginning with the Italian Renaissance and Grecian culture.

We have in our little city today a Junior College which is the greatest community asset of any one plant of Clarendon. It was only by inserting a special clause in the state constitution of Texas that this institution was permitted to be established. Should we then, through criminal negligence and disregard of the public interests, be allowed to tear down the work of those statesmen who saw through the years of the future and realized the advantages of a college thus established?

The youthfulness of the high school graduate has introduced a question on the advisability of sending students away from home at such an early age. Social influences are strongly manifested in colleges and universities, and there is a decided disposition among many students to regard the social attractions of a collegiate environment as of more importance than the opportunity it presents for acquiring scholarship. A high school graduate, because of his lack of experience and years, is incapable of comprehending the important necessity of an education.

In the universities and senior colleges, the senior class dominates the student morale and determines standards that inspire emulation. To the upper classmen, the "freshie" is the "goat". To the faculty, he is just another chair filled in the chapel exercises. To the instructor, he is only another name on the roll book, his, another paper to be graded.

With these conditions in mind, we turn to our Clarendon Junior College. Here we find required courses under correct supervision. The classes are not so large that the student is unable to arouse the interest of his instructors; and, with the aid of the twenty-cent tax, he is able to receive two years of valuable instruction for practically nothing. By the time those two years are up, the youth will be old enough to thoroughly understand the vital responsibilities of this great world and can take his place in life as a promising citizen of the United States.

Citizens of Clarendon and surrounding communities, there arises before you the gigantic problem of deciding forever the future of that grand old institution—the Clarendon Junior College. It is your task to hold the torch high or trail it in the dust—that marvelous work of those immortals who gave their best to provide the coming generations with that invaluable factor—the education of the American youth.

WHY WE NEED A JUNIOR COLLEGE

Helen Smith
(Honorable Mention)

The advantages of a junior college in Clarendon are many. We already have buildings, one of the largest and best junior college libraries in the state, a complete chemistry department and laboratories, a well-equipped commercial department, and all courses, required and elective, that students in first and second year college work generally take. When a student finishes one year's required work in Clarendon Junior College, he is entitled to a two-year high school and a four-year elementary school teacher's certificate. Two years' work entitles him to a four-year high school and a six-year elementary school certificate.

A junior college helps to bridge the great breath-taking change from high school to senior college. Because a majority of high school graduates of today are too young to go away from home to school and because they do not have the individual attention or home influence required at their age, a great many students fail in freshman work and also fail to be started on the right road in life to make them useful, high-minded and democratic citizens.

In addition to all this is the financial advantage. Seventy-five percent of the high school graduates in Clarendon will never have the opportunity of receiving higher education if they can not go to junior college at home. By avoiding the expense of board, room and extra clothes, many students can acquire two years college education here, thus fitting them for earning their own way through a higher college.

A junior college is advantageous to the business men also, because they are sure to receive some of the money that the college students spend.

America is a country that boasts of democracy. What could be more democratic than firmly establishing a college to foster and help posterity? What could be more evident of ambition for higher ideals, progress, and democracy, for these are all results of educated minds? The college needs to be firmly established because the present junior college was established by a special amendment to the Junior College law of the State Constitution, allowing for exemption from two requirements. That is the reason that the college should be provided for now, because if it is ever lost, there will be no possible chance for Clarendon to ever have another Junior College.

So, we are hoping that the citizens of Clarendon School District will be willing to dedicate a monument for higher education and progress in the form of a Clarendon Junior College.

Club Notes

On going away to school I want to commend the work of the clubs in the county to the new Demonstration agent. There are 138 girls and 204 women in Home Demonstration clubs who are loyal to the Home Demonstration program and on whom I feel that she may depend for loyal cooperation and good club work regardless of their personal likes and dislikes. The women and girls have made progress since I have known them and have tried to hold high the standards and join on great common interests, even if they may have had personal differences at times.

Women, it doesn't matter if you don't always love the person at the head of the work, if she plays the game fairly she will keep personal thought and objectives subordinate to the good of the county.

Development along Home Demonstration lines and you can learn to understand and respect even those whom you never love. If I have not been able to hold these principles before you well enough that you will go on and succeed, no matter who my successor may be, she will have a hard time and so will you. But I know from the experience of almost 2 years in the county that you will cooperate and I feel that when the new Demonstrator gets acquainted with you that she will love you all as I do and then all will be well. I shall watch papers for news of club women and girls of Donley County and I shall count on seeing you at A & M Short Course and Dallas Fair and even in Donley county after I get back into the work next fall. May God's best blessings be with you.

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT

The word 'church' is from a word which means "a called out assembly," and is therefore described as "a congregation of faithful men and women." As we trace it in the New Testament, we see it to be an assembly of faithful followers of Jesus Christ, meeting together regularly in any given place and steadfastly following the teaching of the apostles; helping one another, both spiritually and materially; observing the Lord's Supper on the first day of the week and uniting together in prayer and thanksgiving. (See Acts 2:42.)

Elders or bishops were appointed to provide spiritual food for the flock (I. Pet. 5:1-4); and deacons to attend to its physical needs (Acts 6:1-6). All of the members were expected to take some part in the edification of the church (I. Cor. 14).

The reason of the church's existence is to glorify God, by his holy life and good works, to win the world to Christ and to mutually edify one another for the higher life to come.

The one thing worse than a quitter is the man who is afraid to begin. Every one is helping the world either up or down. Are you using your time, talent and influence to build up the Church? If you are not, line up with the Church now. DON'T TRY TO BE NEUTRAL TOWARDS CHRIST AND HIS PROGRAM; IT'S IMPOSSIBLE.

In Revelations we read, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give to the crown of life," (Rev. 2:10). Sunday morning our theme will be, "WHERE TO GET STARS FOR OUR CROWN."

A king once said to his people, "It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem." Just an innocent sounding text, yet this short sentence was the destroyer of multitudes, in fact it was the wrecker of a nation. Learn more about it, Sunday night in 'EASY STREET.' You are invited. W. E. Ferrell, Minister, First Christian Church, Clarendon, Texas.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

We are glad for the privilege to make the following announcement in regard to a series of services beginning May the second under the auspices of the Church of the Nazarene, we expect to have one of the outstanding women evangelists of the Lone Star State and expect an old time revival. We hope to secure a convenient location and invite one and all, as we believe you will hear the Truth from the Word of God in a convincing and acceptable way, that you may get better acquainted with the Church of the Nazarene and what we believe we shall from time to time give you some of the things which are most sturdy believed by the church of the Nazarene, we believe the Bible to be God's word and will to man, (11 Tim. 3: 16, 17). That in the beginning God created all life and by him all things consist, (Col. 1: 17).

We believe that our first parents broke God's law and thereby brought sin upon all the offspring of Adam, (Romans 5:12). So sin is not only an act (1 Jno. 3:4) but is also a contamination of the heart of man, and must be made right by the operation of God, (Col. 2:12).

We will be glad to have you attend our services and get better acquainted with us.

Yours in the Master's service,
J. P. Fisher, Pastor.

A CORRECTION

There was an error in March 18 issue in regard to the revival services at Amarillo being conducted by the church of the Nazarene, as it is the Pentecostal Holiness, therefore we make the foregoing correction with better information.

INDIGESTION GONE HAS A FINE APETITE SINCE TAKING ORGATONE—F E L S SPLENDID

"I am certainly glad to say a good word for Orgatone (Argotane) said Mr. J. L. Towell, retired business man who was formerly in the real estate and oil business who resides at 1500 Burnett.

"I am enjoying better health than I have in years since I have taken two bottles of Orgatone (Argotane) he continued.

"For about the last 10 or 20 years I have suffered dreadfully from stomach trouble and indigestion. I've had several pains in my right side I had no appetite at all and I would bloat up and gas formed on my stomach after eating. Gas crowded my heart and caused me to have smothering spells, and I thought I had heart trouble. My nerves were so badly upset and for months and months I couldn't get any rest and would not go to sleep until about 3:30 o'clock in the morning.

"When I saw Orgatone (Argotane) advertised I began taking it. I had not finished my first bottle when I noticed I was getting better. My appetite is simply enormous and I eat anything I want without being troubled afterward. I never have a headache and the gas that used to form around my heart has left me and I know now that it wasn't heart trouble. My nerves are in good condition and I sleep like a log every night in fact whole system has been relieved and Orgatone (Argotane) has done wonders for me and I am glad to recommend it." Genuine Orgatone (Argotane) may be bought in Clarendon at the Stocking's Drug Store.
