Grand Jury indicts Era athletic director

by Elaine Schad

A Cooke County Grand Jury has indicted Era school district Athletic Director and Assistant Principal Duncan Hudson on eight counts of indecency with a child.

Hudson was arrested at 6 p.m. May 13 and posted a $200,000 bond about 45 minutes later at the Cooke County Jail, said a spokesman with the jail.

The indictments charge that Hudson, 37, engaged in sexual contact with children under the age of 17. Cooke County District Attorney Janelle Haverkamp said the indictments stem from eight separate incidences which allegedly occurred between Jan. 5, 1989, through March 25, 1993. Many of the offenses allegedly occurred on school property, during school hours, during school functions and at Hudson's residence, which is located on school property, Haverkamp said. Each charge is a second-degree felony, with each carrying a penalty of from 2 to 20 years in prison with a maximum $10,000 fine upon conviction.

"This entire investigation has been a number one priority of the district attorney's office and the sheriff's department for quite some time," Haverkamp said. "I want to emphasize that this is an ongoing criminal investigation. This is not the end of it. We are still investigating further allegations," she said. The investigation may spread to other communities where Hudson was formerly employed, but the district attorney's office is mainly concerned with allegations in Cooke County, Haverkamp said.

Hudson was suspended with pay in April pending an investigation of the matter, Era school officials said.

"I think we started out with shock and anger," Beaver said. "We're trying to be open and honest. The hardest part is trying to give evidence that this school has not known about these allegations in the past," he said.

Counselors have been working with students to cope with the situation along with the county crisis center Friends of the Family, Beaver said. "A lot of people are blaming us, and realistically, we as administrators have lost some credibility with our patrons," he said. "He (Hudson) was extremely popular and well-liked, and it was not reported by the kids or the parents. It's going to have an impact on us," he said.

Hudson was named the first assistant principal in the school's history March 1. He was named athletic director in May 1990 after working for two years as the district's head basketball coach and assistant football coach, mainly working with junior high and high school students. Hudson began his teaching career in Nocona in Montague County, where he was coach from 1978 to 1983. He was principal and head basketball coach at Huckabay before coming to Era in 1988.

Telephone Company expands business office

by Alvin Fuhrman

Construction has started on a two story building addition to the Muenster Telephone Corporation business office here in Muenster. The addition will give 4,800 square feet of office space. This includes space for 10 additional offices, on the two floors, a conference room, kitchen and break area and a record storage facility.

When the addition is completed, the outside plant department, kitchen and break room will be moved into the new area. This will make room to expand the accounting, administration, and commercial office in the existing office area. The marketing and sales department will also be located in the new addition.

Conrad Staley & Associates of Wichita Falls is the architect. J.A. Owens Contractors, Inc. of Gainesville is the general contractor.

Muenster Telephone Corporation serves 2,700 subscribers in Cooke, Montague and Denton counties. It has six exchanges, all fully digital. A new toll system was recently completed. Over 42 miles of fiber optic cable was buried, giving subscribers the full benefit of equal access to all long distance companies.

Also on May 1, full portability of 800 service became available to the subscribers. With this, your 800 number is no longer locked in with one long distance company. You can keep the same 800 number and change to a different long distance company.

Roxie settles for silver

Defending state shot putter Roxie Knabe, a Muenster High School senior, was threatened at the Class A, UIL, State Track and Field meet last weekend by Rhonda Wilson of Slidell.

Wilson's final throw of 39' 8 3/4" passed Knabe's best throw by 4 3/4". Knabe's second place throw of 39' 4" came on her second prelim attempt.

"Roxie had her best throw going into the finals," said Coach Brian Strother. "After Wilson's final throw, Roxie's just wouldn't go out there."

"What a time to throw my worst meet," Knabe commented.

Roxie has the best throws in girls' Class A and was the defending champion. In her three years at Austin, she finished third, first, and second place medalist.

Stephanie Vietenhaimer of Windhorst had a best throw of 38' 6" that gave her a fourth place.

Other local athletes placing at the state meet included Matthew Thomas of Saint Jo who finished second with a shot put throw of 52' 11 1/4". Era's Matt Lyons ran the 400 m dash in 50 seconds for a sixth place.

Valley View's girls 800 m relay team of Courtney Miller, Stacy Hieb, Kami Kizzar and Alisha McLaughlin finished in fourth place with a time of 1:46.7. Alvord's Allison McKinney came in fourth in the 800 m at 2:25 and sixth in the 400 m with a time of 60.8.

Preschool a probable no-go for MISD '93-'94

by Elaine Schad

The Muenster school board heard an update on the gymnasium construction project during its regular May meeting.

Workers are completing the outside framing and are expected to begin this week with installing the drywall material. The new gym is expected to be completed by early this summer.

Superintendent Steve Cooper told board members the district probably will not offer a pre-school program for 1993-1994. There is a space problem at that level, there is not enough funding available, and there may not be a large enough number of children to justify the program, he said. The pre-school program was begun earlier this year for three and four-year olds on a half-day basis.

Cooper updated trustees on the North Texas Educational Network (NTEN) fiber optic project. A tentative schedule of classes has been worked out with Era, Forestburg and the Muenster ISD for the fall. Cooke County College is expected to be involved in some way by sending instructors out to the school district campuses to utilize the NTEN system in offering dual credit courses. Cooper said a bill pending in the Texas Legislature could give some fee relief to phone companies in what they must charge to customers. If the bill is approved, the costs to the school districts for the fiber optic service could be reduced, he said. Cooper encouraged people interested in the NTEN project to contact their state legislators concerning the pending bill.

Cooper told trustees that the district is still waiting on Austin to sort out the education funding issue. If the business transfer proposal goes through, some very

Letters to the Editor

Open Letter to the Cooke County Soccer Association:

Many thanks for all the time and effort required to provide a soccer program for our kids.

I would like to thank Randy Barnhill for his "encouragement" style of coaching and for all the time he devoted each week.

Thanks also to the Muenster Jaycees for being our sponsors.

Special and sincere thanks to Elizabeth Smith and Shirley Knabe for their hard work and very long tournament day. You both did a terrific job in spite of a shortage of help, rain, complaining parents, hot tempers and very tired players. I even saw some smiles on you two. People like you make the world a better place.

Thank you for caring about our kids!

Dear Editor,

First I would like to thank you and your paper for not following the norm of the media. It is wonderful to pick up a paper that doesn't dwell on the bad things in this world. In today's world you hear so much about Satanism, the new age and violence that the media fails to or belittles the reports of good deeds, faithfulness and religious happenings.

Just as the media fails to recognize these things we also fail, by not talking about them or not properly thanking someone, which brings me to the following. Recently my children received a pocket New Testament and Psalms Bible from the Gideons. I would like to thank everyone involved in this bible giveaway. Our children receive free gifts quite often but nothing can compare to the feeling that these wonderful people care about our children and about their spiritual lives. Please keep up the good work.

Thank you,

Hello Muenster from the Australian Outback,

Yes, I'm out on a several thousand acre farm with the whole team, just spending the night, passing through on our way to Perth, WA (Western Australia). We left Adelaide, SA (South Australia) this morning, and pretty well left civilization behind. There are some small communities here and there as we move along the southern coast of Australia, but they seem to get a bit sparser the further we go. This dry time for them, and it is dry. But I'll tell this story to completion next week, when it's completed.

Last week, we visited Barnah State Park on the northern border of Victoria, up on the Murray River, upstream from Echuca. It is the largest river red gum forest in the world, and it is indeed big. The trees are beautiful, and there are lots of critters in there, too. In the small amount of time we spent there, I spotted about 10 big grey kangaroos. Stephanie nearly stepped on a red-bellied black snake, which is very poisonous to shake hands with. It was sunning itself on top of the dense green grass of a marsh bottom, very calm. Usually they are aggressive, but this one was rather laid back, so Stephanie was spared a little unnecessary stress. The snake was about four and a half feet long and extremely beautiful: a slick jet black with red scarlet dots closely cluttered on its belly. Also, we checked out a really nice visitor center which showed how the Aboriginals had lived in the forest. And a very nice Aboriginal lady was the ranger there, and she was quite informative of details which even she had remembered experiencing as a child in the bush. Just for kicks then, we all went to Echuca to check it out to round out the day. It is an old port town on the Murray River, where steamboats still operate today.

Meanwhile, back in the retreat circuit, we had a challenge. We had to do an overnight retreat for St. Mary's of Nathalia. A few years ago, when NET had visited for the first time, they had had a bad experience and bad tastes were left on both sides' mouths. So we were only the second NET group to be asked there, and we were not very favorably looked upon by the majority of religion teachers there. That first NET group had had the retreat as their second one. It was our thirtieth or fortieth. We had to win over not only students, but faculty as well. To make a long story short, the students were awesome, very easy to work with. We did our usual bit, and everybody was happy, and so NET is now redeemed in Nathalia. I kinda enjoyed it all, too, actually. We held the retreat at Feathertop Chalet in Harrierville, a ski resort in the mountains just west of the Snowy Range. We even drove up to the top of Mt. Hotham and viewed the world beneath us, laid out so spectacularly. It was definitely a "thank you and praise you God" retreat when it was all over.

So anyway, now we're on our way across the Nullarbor Plain and the Great Australian Bight, headed to the West Coast. God bless you all.

A Time to be a Squeaky Wheel

The U S Congress will soon consider President Clinton's request to repeal the Hyde Amendment. This amendment bans the use of tax dollars for abortions. If we taxpayers are looking for a way to save tax dollars what better method than supporting the Hyde Amendment as it now stands.

In 1975, the year before the Hyde Amendment became law, tax dollars paid for 300,000 abortions. Since the Hyde Amendment became law only a few abortions were funded. In 1990 just 69 abortions were funded. Today, 4,400 babies are killed daily by abortion. If the Hyde Amendment is repealed, it wouldn't take prob-abortion bureaucrats and supporting medical doctors long to find a way for the government (we the government) to pay for a larger share of the 1,548,800 yearly abortions. When this happens we the taxpayers will again have to pick up the tab.

Once the door is open for government funds, most programs grow and grow every year thereafter. This is due mainly to the efforts between the government employees who service the programs and pressure groups who stand to make money from them. Both groups are eager to keep their program alive and growing. Once federal funds for abortion are approved, other related programs will follow. Not far behind funded abortions will be demands by the medical profession for additional government funds to experiment in fetal brain tissue transplant (the so called recycling of discarded humans).

We who are a moral majority must not allow this happen. We can no longer remain a silent majority. We must raise our voices like a squeaky wheel, and insist that our congressmen grease our "wills". Let's write our congressman or call them personally to let them know we are against the repeal of the Hyde Amendment. Your US Congress switchboard number is 202-225-3121.

Standard of living for Texans could depend on calls, letters to Washington

by Mary Scott Nabers, Railroad Commissioner

Attention, Texans! Have you called your U.S. senator or representative lately? If not, now is the time to do it. It is critical to let Washington know how we Texans feel about a proposed energy tax that will severely impact this state's economy. Together, believe it or not - it is possible to make a difference, and we had better do it. Otherwise, buckle your seat belts, we are in for a fall in Texas.

How Will It Affect You?

The BTU tax plan now being considered by the U.S. House Ways and Means Committee might sound like a great idea. We are all in agreement that the federal deficit must be reduced, and the BTU tax would generate more than $72 billion in revenues - one sixth of the total net deficit reduction planned through 1998. The tax could also encourage the use of cleaner-burning fuels, reduce pollution, and encourage conservation. But, the reality is that the BTU tax would be devastating for Texas and Texans.

Proposed energy taxes under this plan will cost the average household anywhere from $301 to $475 a year. Simply put, Texans will be forced to add up to $128 in federal taxes to already rising gas and electric costs. Specifically, that means:

*The average electric bill will be taxed an additional 3.3 percent by July 1, 1996

*The price of gasoline will be taxed an additional 5.7 percent by July 1, 1996

*Home-heating oil will be taxed an additional 3.5 percent by July 1, 1996

Why will this tax hit us so disproportionately? First, Texas is unique for two reasons - this is a big state, and our industries require more energy than most. Texans do more driving to get from town to town than do any other Americans. And, the industries targeted in the BTU tax are the livelihood of much of our economy. From agriculture to trucking, to manufacturing to petrochemicals, the BTU tax crushes Texas companies and, as a result, impacts jobs, jobs, jobs! It has been estimated that Texans will pay 12.5 percent of the total tax paid even though we have only 6.8 percent of the U.S. population.

The Administration addresses the disparate impact on the southwest region with one statement: "While the tax burden on a given region may be higher than the national average on a per capita basis, it is often lower than the national average as a percentage of income." Needless to say, this offers little comfort to Texans who are finally gaining a glimmer of hope that a rebounding oil and gas industry might be a reality.

The conservation measures touted as a benefit of the bill will hit Texas doubly hard. As the lower demand for energy results from the tax hike, oil exploration and drilling will decline. This will weaken an already fragile industry that reported a record low rig count of 721 last year. It is difficult to justify anything that is a disincentive to exploration when this nation is paying $150 million a day for imported oil.

The estimated job loss from a BTU tax is 600,000 jobs, and most of those jobs will come from energy-producing states - i.e.: Texas. Add that to the 160,000 jobs lost in Texas' energy sector over the last decade and one gets a clearer picture of the hit this state will take if the bill is passed. While promoting consumption is a noble idea, any such program must be backed up by efforts to retrain and reinvest in workers who will most definitely lose their jobs.

How Can You Make A Difference?

I travel the state talking to business and consumer groups, and the main message I try to convey is that government belongs to the citizens it serves. Government can be responsive and elected officials are there to represent the interests of the people in their home districts, but government will not be responsive if taxpayers are not vocal!

Texans deserve fair treatment in Washington. No tax should be imposed that impact one segment of the country so disproportionately. Yet, if Texans do not do their part and contact congressional representatives, we should not complain about the outcome. If you need addresses to write to your U.S. senators and representatives, or want more information, give me a call at 1-800-RRC-MARY. I urge you to take 10 minutes out of your day to let Washington know how you feel about this proposed tax. Our economic future depends on some rather serious activity right now.

Tax Talk

By: Duane Knabe, CPA

Duane Knabe will discuss a different topic each week. Any questions should be directed to him at 759-4010.

This week's topic is for non-profit organizations. Although, organizations may be granted tax-exempt status they may be subject to a tax on income from a business enterprise not related to their exempt status.

Unrelated business taxable income is derived from an activity that constitutes a trade or business that is regularly carried on and is not substantially related to the organization's tax-exempt purposes. The only organizations exempt from this tax are government instrumentalities and certain federally licensed businesses carried on before May 27, 1959

The proceeds from bingo games conducted by most exempt organizations are not unrelated business income if the games are conducted in accordance with local law and do not compete with profit-making businesses. Tax-exempt organizations that derive income from other games of chance are subject to tax on unrelated business income. The first $1,000 of unrelated business income is not subject to tax.

preliminary figures would indicate that the Muenster ISD would probably have to increase its tax rate by 8 to 10 cents from the present rate of 92 cents per $100 valuation of property. The district is paying about $50,000 into the Cooke County Education District system. If the transfer proposal goes through, the district would be able to keep all that money, but the state funds would probably be lowered to correspond with that increase, Cooper said.

In other business the board tentatively approved a 175-day calendar for 1993-1994 and studied a comparison of area school personnel salaries to the Muenster ISD for future reference. The board also accepted the resignation of teacher aide Anna Baxter.

Gertrude Catherine Sims dies at age 81

Mass of Christian Burial was held Monday, May 17, 1993 in Sacred Heart Church at 10:00 a.m. for Gertrude Catherine Sims, who died May 15 at 8:22 a.m. in Denton Community Hospital. She died on the anniversary date of her husband's death on May 15, 1971 of a heart attack.

Gertrude Sims was born on May 25, 1911 at the farm home three miles west of Muenster to pioneer residents, H.M. Wolf, a native Texan and Mary (Peitzmeier) Wolf a native of Germany. She attended Sacred Heart Grade School in Muenster until the family moved near Saint Jo where her father built a new home in 1925. After graduating from the eighth grade in Saint Jo, she attended Our Lady of the Lake in San Antonio and graduated from its high school. She then entered Draughon's Business School College in Dallas, when she was employed until moving to Muenster to assist her brother Bill in the operation of The Wolf Cafe.

It was there she met her future husband, Cecil Sims during the Muenster Oil Boom. They were married on Dec. 7, 1938 in Sacred Heart Church of Texarkana. Cecil Sims was owner/operator of a Cable Tool/Well Service business. After his death Gertrude went to work in the Muenster Memorial Hospital Dietary Dept. She retired in 1984.

Survivors are one daughter, Flora Mae Knabe of Muenster and one son-in-law Charlie Knabe, and one brother Bernard Wolf.

Preceding her in death were her parents, and five brothers Ed, Henry, Lou, Bill, and Charlie Wolf. She was a homemaker, member of Saint Anne's Society, the Catholic Daughters of America and Sacred Heart Parish. A Rosary Service was held in McCoy Chapel on Sunday at 4:00 p.m. and Vigil at 8:00 p.m.

Officiating for the Mass of Christian Burial were Father Victor Gillespie OSB, Father Camillus Cooney OSB and Father Joseph Weinzapfel.

MHS Trig Class places fifth in the State

On Feb. 23, 1993 the Muenster ISD Trig/Elem. Analysis class took out of the 12 Muenster students who competed. He received an honor pin for the top student. Melissa Fisher was second and Chelby Schoppa, third.

There were 24 Class A, small schools. The only other schools competing in North Texas were Hico, Imperial, and Cierra Blanca.

They did not place in the top 10.

Darren Bindel scored the highest out of the 12 Muenster students who competed. He received an honor pin for the top student. Melissa Fisher was second and Chelby Schoppa, third.

It was a 30 multiple choice question test, that was timed for 90 minutes. It was a very tedious test that covered all advanced math classes through pre calculus.

"When we first received the information to take this test, we thought we would give it a shot," commented Muenster teacher Danna Hess. "It was very difficult! With my experience in math I would say the test required at least two years of college material. So I was very pleased to find out that they received fifth place as a team. I was very proud of my students! We hope that other schools in our area will take it next year."

The test is offered in the spring semester to any high school student. The best 12 scores are used to determine the team score.

Cooke County Chorale will present superior program in spring concert

In store for area residents Sunday, May 23 at 4 p.m. is a unique musical experience far surpassing any program yet presented by Cooke County Chorale, when the more than 50 voice group sing John Rutter's "Requiem". This British composer employs both English and Latin in the lyrics in pure melodic joy. Held in Gainesville First Baptist Church, the program will include the "Pie Jesu" movement by boy soprano Aaron Gonzalez. He is a member of the Gainesville Junior High School Choir and an honor student. Also a soloist will be Nocona resident Brenda Marmaduke, who will carry one solo with chorale background, the "Lux Aeterna (Light Eternal)". In the group also are 10 members from Muenster.

People who have attended previous concerts by the Cooke County Chorale have been unanimous in their praise and appreciation. Others who were unable to attend have expressed "Wish I'd been there."

Here is another opportunity! "This One You Should Not Miss!" Tickets are available from any member at $2 each, or at the door on Sunday. Dr. Linder is director; John Dill is organist; and Dr. Martin Kralicik is president.

Gramm urges America to remember its heros

"A country that forgets the heroes who have given their lives to preserve its life will itself be forgotten," said U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, quoting the advice of an ancient philosopher.

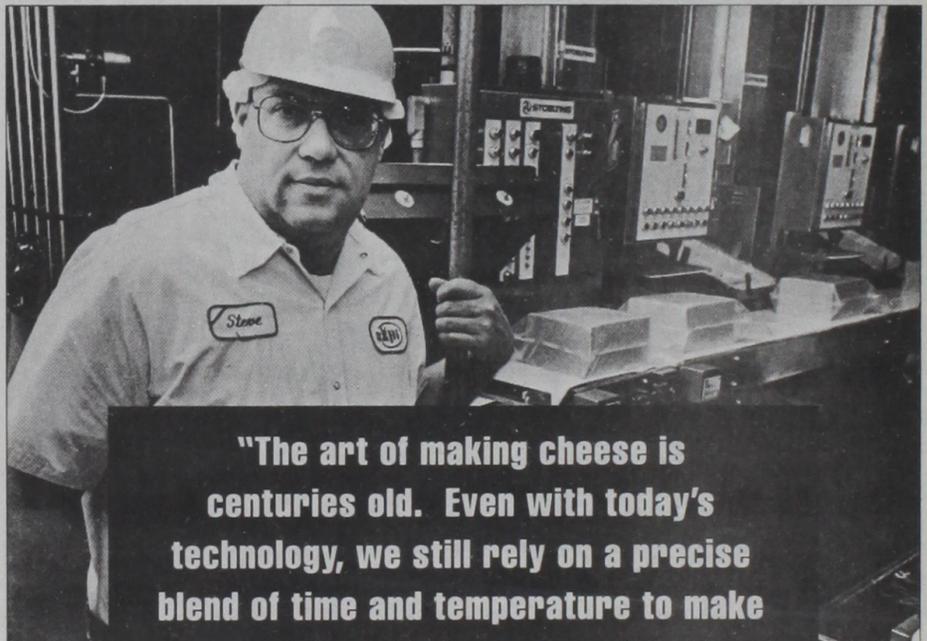

Memorial Day, he said, "is a time to pause and commemorate the gallantry of those thousands of American heroes who have fought and died to preserve our liberty."

Memorial Day 1993 marks the 126th commemoration.

"As Americans, we have much to be thankful for on this Memorial Day, but nothing more than the fact that ours is a nation worth protecting," the senator said.

Memorial Day was born in the wake of the Civil War as a reunited nation sought to honor the sacrifices of soldiers from both the Union and the Confederacy.

Long known as Decoration Day, it has been observed since 1868.

"The art of making cheese is centuries old. Even with today's technology, we still rely on a precise blend of time and temperature to make the perfect product. Our electric cooperative understands that."

"When Associated Milk Producers decided to build this automated cheese plant four years ago, we knew we wanted to locate it here in the heart of Texas dairy country.

We are fortunate to have a cooperative provide our electricity. The cooperative really understands the special needs of an agricultural-based business... when it comes to service, they are always eager to go the extra mile. And when you are responsible for turning 1.35 million pounds of milk into 135,000 pounds of cheese every day without fail, you need a power supplier that prides itself on reliable service.

You have heard people say: 'If you can't stand the heat, stay out of the kitchen'. With the cooperative backing me, I know that when the pressure is on, one thing I don't have to worry about is our electric service."

SACRED HEART Math-A-Thon participants earning tee shirts by soliciting $30 or more dollars in pledges to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

Sacred Heart students participate in St. Jude's Math-a-thon

Sacred Heart again this year participated in the Math-a-thon held by St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. No matter how many hours are spent on research, testing and development, and no matter how many doctors, researchers and technicians are involved, the search for treatments and cures for cancer can not begin until St. Jude's has the necessary money. That is why Sacred Heart's participation is so important.

This year 145 students participated and earned $2,480.22 for St. Jude Children's Hospital. The second grade class earned the highest amount with the first grade coming in a very close second.

Five students earned more than $75. They are Christina Weinzapfel, Kimberly Hess, Mark Bayer, Thomas Whitecotton, and Travis Bayer.

Thirty-seven students earned between $30 and $75. They are: kindergarten Andrew Yosten, John Pels and Andy Davis; first grade Kevin Walterscheid, Kathleen Sanchez, Kate Sepanski, Jayna Biffle, Melinda Walterscheid, Ashley Walterscheid, Tony Koesler and Lynn Sicking.

From second grade Daniel Bartush, Michelle Bayer, Mikey Bayer, Jack Biffle, Joseph Davis, Lisa Felderhoff, Matthew Fleitman, Tiffany Richey, Clint Sicking, Elizabeth Smith and Stacie Yosten; third grade Sara Sepanski and Jeremy Yosten; fourth grade Diane Becker, Jessica Koesler and Dana Miller; fifth grade Michelle Fuhrmann, Matt Bayer, Adrienne Bartel, Andrea Bartush and Sarah Hess.

From sixth grade Allison Bayer, Joe Becker, Deann Felderhoff and Russell Fette; seventh grade David Hesse and Jessamy Sicking; and eighth grade Jody Felderhoff. The students who participated in this worthy cause are to be commended.

FHA closes year with banquet

By Allison Klement

The Muenster FHA held its end of the year festivities with the Annual Mother/Daughter Banquet on Tuesday, May 4, 1993. The banquet was the result of much planning and preparation on the part of all FHA members. The purpose of the event is to appreciate and acknowledge our mothers for all the hard work they put into us.

Mistress of ceremonies, Melissa Fisher opened the evening as members introduced their mothers. Next, Vice-President Cindy Culp welcomed everyone with the response coming from Emily Klement. The invocation was then read by Shelly Klement. The meal was then served by eighth grade students. They wore "Hard Rock Cafe" t-shirts in keeping with the 50's theme. The meal consisted of lasagna, green beans, tossed salad, and strawberry shortcake for dessert. All of the food was prepared by the Homemaking classes with the help of Joni Sturm, Gertie Wimmer, and Mary Ann Fleitman.

After the meal came the Annual Style Show. Members modeled clothes they themselves had made in Apparel class, and clothing borrowed from the Charm Shop. The show was emceed by Dianne Pagel, Amy Sturm, and Lori Klement. The Style Show is a good opportunity to preview the new summer fashions.

Reporter Allison Klement gave a recap of all activities that the FHA had participated in throughout the 1992-93 school year. Sponsor Joni Sturm then gave Special Recognition to the regional meeting delegates.

Cox hurdles gold medal... Lindsay girls finish second at State

Five Lindsay High School girl runners brought home four gold, four silver and the second place trophy from the UIL State track and field meet last weekend in Austin. The Lady Knightettes worked up 36 points to Moulton's 58 for the Class A team standing.

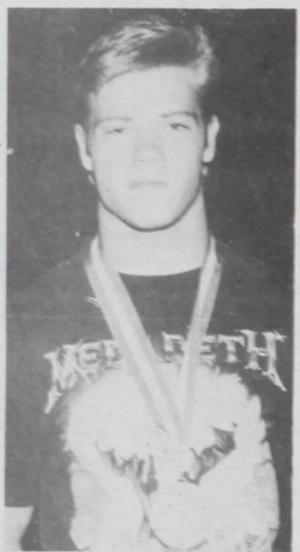

The Lindsay 400m relay team led from start to finish with a time of 49.9.

The 800 m relay team of Tepera, Sharp, Hellinger and Christy Zimmerer brought home silver medals with a time of 1:4.0.

"This was our best chance of winning first places at state," said Coach George Thomason. "We finished like we qualified," Thomason was most concerned that the hand-offs would go well. "Can't do much about speed so the hand-offs called the shots."

Lindsay sprint relay ran normal except the first leg where Keleigh O'Dell had her best leg of the year. "That was pretty significant," the coach added. In the 800 relays the Knightettes had races before where two or three girls ran well, this time they all ran good legs.

Senior Lindsay hurdler Donnie Cox brought home a state championship in the 110 hurdles. Cox quickly came out of the blocks in the 110 m hurdles, took the lead and kept the lead for a 14.8 second gold finish. In the 300 meter intermediate hurdles Cox almost pulled an upset. Leading on the final curve, an attempt to pull out a win, Cox stumbled on the next to last hurdle and finished sixth in 42.6 seconds.

Weekly outdoor news on TV

Texans in 18 cities can now get timely news on television about hunting, fishing, state parks, wildlife conservation and more. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has teamed up with the syndicated TV series, "Alan Warren Outdoors," to air weekly video news reports in the 18 Texas cities where the series now runs.

The TPWD news reports, which all run 1:45, air midway through the one-hour show. These often involve conservation projects like those designed to help red drum and wild turkeys, two species that once faced serious declines but are now recovering thanks to restocking efforts and conservative regulations. Some reports cover environmental threats to wildlife, such as one on multinational efforts to study pollution in the Rio Grande.

Local TV stations airing the program include KXTX and KDFI in Dallas and on HSE Network on Thursday nights at 6 p.m.

Student council election results

Fourteen Muenster High School students were officially installed as officers and members of the school's Student Council for 1993-1994 during an assembly May 10 in the high school auditorium.

Next year's leaders are Brandon Walterscheid, President; Kay Grewing, Vice-President; Theresa Kubis, Secretary; Shelley Klement, Treasurer; Amy Sturm, Reporter; and Amy Fette, Parliamentarian. Class representatives are: Freshman Holly Mullins and Eric Miller; Sophomores Mary Knabe and Jeff Flusche; Juniors Ashley Hartman and Tommy Joe Dankesreiter; Seniors Danell Reiter and Jay Hennigan. These students filed petitions to run for their positions that were signed by registered student voters, designed their campaign posters, and presented campaign speeches in a student assembly before being elected May 5.

After the installation ceremony, these new members were treated to refreshments in the school's library and observed the last meeting of the year for the current Student Council. The Spring Book Fair netted $365.00 for the organization and over a $100.00 in free books for the library. The current council dedicated these funds to pay for two picnic tables for the gazebo area used by students at lunch. The tables will be built by the school's Ag Department this fall.

The group's final activity for the year was its annual senior-faculty volleyball game. Students and visitors each donated a can of non-perishable food to the Social Concerns Committee of Muenster as the admission fee.

Lindsay High School also announced Wednesday the acceptance of the roles of Gina Baugh (Senior), Tanner Neidhardt (Sophomore), Nicole Arendt (Junior), and Allison Walterscheid (Sophomore) as the Student Council of LHS.

Baugh succeeds Senior Leslie Cler as president of the Council as Neidhart, Arendt, and Walterscheid become Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer, respectively.

Era ISD offers Tech prep program in fall

by Elaine Schad

The Era school district has been approved as a Tech Prep site and is expected to offer a micro-computer class in conjunction with the program this fall.

In another matter, the Era school district is expected to join with Sacred Heart and Muenster Public schools as well as Forestburg schools in offering a fall schedule of courses through the new fiber optic technology set up in those schools, Beaver said.

In a related matter, Beaver said the Era and Valley View ISD's have been turned down and will not receive grant money through an innovative grant program that would have allowed the district to offer summer school classes this summer utilizing the fiber optic network.

Farm & Ranch

Cattle rustlers . . . still goin'

The theft of livestock and ranch equipment in 1992 cost Texas and Oklahoma cattlemen and farmers millions of dollars, according to Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, a Fort Worth-based producer group that has fought the theft problem for more than a century.

In an annual report given March 31 to members attending the 116th annual TSCRA convention in Austin, Secretary-General Manager Don C. King said in 1992 the association's 33 field inspectors, all certified peace officers with special Ranger commissions, developed 144 theft cases, primarily involving cattle thefts. Working closely with state and local law enforcement officers, the inspectors recovered or accounted for 2,407 head of cattle and horses, 51 trailers, 47 saddles and miscellaneous ranch property valued at $3,036,816.76, or $8,320.04 per day. "The role brand inspection in Texas played in solving many of these cattle-related cases and in the eventual recovery of these valuable animals for their owners cannot be emphasized strong enough to illustrate brand inspection's importance to identification of individual animals," King said. The cattle raisers group also employs approximately 82 brand inspectors who identify five to six million head of cattle at the time of their sale each year. The inspectors report their findings to the group's Fort Worth headquarters, where the information is processed for computer retrieval. The cattle raisers have the only centralized and computerized in the United States. The cases worked in 1992 by the TSCRA field inspectors and other law enforcement officers, when presented for prosecution, resulted in more than 860 years of prison, pro-bated, deferred, suspended and community service sentences for the offenders. The courts ordered those convicted to pay $271,686 in restitution to the victims. Fines, court costs and other compensation were assessed. In Texas, the theft of livestock is a felony offense even for the theft of one animal, King said. The veteran lawyer encouraged all cattlemen and owners of farm and ranch equipment to take steps to protect themselves from theft. He invited them to contact their local TSCRA field inspector of the Fort Worth office for theft prevention and brand information.

Rustlers hit hard by Finnell's Bills

The House of Representatives approved a Rep. Charles Finnell Bill that makes it tougher on horse thieves only a week after it approved a Finnell amendment to the Texas Penal Code making any livestock theft a state jail felony.

Both measures are now before the State Senate.

The House of Representatives approved the proposed revised Penal Code (SB1067) already approved by the Senate, and sent it back to the Senate as amended by Finnell. His amendment provides that it is a state jail felony if "the property stolen is one or more head of cattle, horses, sheep, swine, or goats . . . regardless of value." If approved as expected by the Senate, this means rustlers would serve their felony time in state jails rather than state prisons where they might gain early release because of alleged crowding.

Finnell's tough horse theft bill (HB658), approved by the House, attacks directly horse thieves who steal horses for sale to slaughter houses, who export the meat for human consumption abroad. The measure establishes theft prevention measures and investigation training programs for law enforcement officers.

NAFTA could cause jobs to go to Mexico

Joe Rankin, president of Texas Farmers Union commented, "Present wording of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) would cause the loss of Section 22, since NAFTA eliminates import controls in favor of tariffs, which are then phased out over periods of five, ten and fifteen years.

"Loss of Section 22 will destroy all of the price and supply management features of the dairy, peanut, sugar and cotton provisions of the present farm programs. This will open the door for imports to the U.S. in ever increasing quantities and does not require adequate country of origin identification by labeling or other means," Rankin continued.

When asked if NAFTA does, in fact, create free trade among the United States, Mexico and Canada, Rankin responded, "No. While it reduces and/or eliminates tariffs and changes trade regulations on specified products, commodities and services, it does not provide for free or fair trade, nor does it necessarily provide for full market access among these countries.

"Another primary concern to our family farmers and ranchers is the fact that producers in all three countries will not be required to meet the same health and safety standards. For example, there are a variety of pesticides which are banned in the United States, but are allowed to be used in Mexico. Border inspections involve only a small fraction of food products which enter the U.S. So, even with import standards, it is very likely that imported foods may have chemical residues which would otherwise be prohibited in the United States," Rankin said.

My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

In the later twenties, as many of us will remember, oil was discovered near Muenster. The first well was brought in on the Hubert Felderhoff farm about 11/2 mi. north of town. Some time later more oil was found just west of Brushy Elm creek, on the Mike Kleiss, Hacker, Koelzer and Luke farms.

Needless to say Muenster quickly became a small boom town. What was once a sleepy farming community, soon became a beehive of activity as many people began moving in to try and cash in on the boom, one way or another. In a short time new buildings were being thrown up to house a cafe, movie theater, and a rooming house. There was even a small house of "ill repute" a bit south of the railroad tracks, and it was this establishment that gave our local pastor ammunition for some of his fiercest sermons, as he took up the fight against Satan's latest threat to the youth of our community.

Most of the people who moved in were good people, some were "boomers" who would work a short time, always looking for an easy way to make a buck, and then move on. There were also the drunks and hangers on who seemed to have a gift for making trouble where ever they were, and the place became pretty rowdy at times, so much so that soon a Texas Ranger was sent in to keep the peace.

I was 12 or 13 at the time, but I remember the man, I believe his name was Price. He was a quiet lawyer who kept to himself as much as he could, but he was always willing to talk to the kids, me included, who would come and sit beside him on one of the benches that used to be on the walk in front of some of the buildings. We were real proud to consider ourselves friends of a Texas Ranger, especially one who could keep the town as peaceful as he did.

A year or so later, after the stock market crash of '29, that marked the onset of the worst depression in the history of our country, the oil business, like everything else, came almost to a stand still, and did not revive again for several years.

County Agent's Report by Craig Rosenbaum

The pecan nut casebearer is the most common insect pest facing Texas pecan producers. It is found in almost all the pecan growing areas of Texas and can cause serious crop loss nearly every year if left uncontrolled. Casebearer larvae tunnel into nutlets shortly after pollination, often destroying all of the nutlets in a cluster. The most effective and reliable method of control is a well-timed insecticide application(s) made in the spring to kill hatching larvae before they tunnel into the nutlets.

The pecan nut casebearer completes several generations each year. Adults of the overwintering generation emerge in the spring and lay eggs on pecan nutlets soon after pollination. These eggs result in first generation larvae which feed on nutlets and generally cause the most damage. Second generation larvae attack the nuts in mid-summer about six weeks after nut entry by first generation larvae.

First generation larvae feeding on nutlets usually have the greatest potential to cause economic loss. For this reason, control is directed primarily to this spring generation.

Insecticide applications must be accurately timed to control newly hatched casebearer larvae before they enter the nuts. Once inside, larvae are protected from insecticide treatments.

One method of predicting egg lay is the use of a computer model developed at Texas A&M which uses heat units or degree-days. Temperature data are compiled from cities throughout Texas and used in the model to predict the date when the first significant nut entry by casebearer larvae will occur. This date is the predicted optimum spray date. These predictions can be obtained from your county Extension office. Computer predictions are best used to determine when to look for eggs and to plan insecticide applications. Orchard scouting for eggs should begin a week before the predicted spray date as unusual weather conditions near the spray date can accelerate or delay egg laying activity.

Most casebearer eggs are found at the tip of the nutlet, either on the top (stigma) or hidden just under the tiny leaves (sepals) at the tip of the nutlet. A good hand lens is necessary to identify casebearer eggs and determine their development (hatched, white or pink). Also, look for bud feeding just below the nut cluster to detect the presence of newly hatched larvae.

A good way to sample the orchard is to examine ten nut clusters on each of 30 trees. If one to two percent (3-6 in 300) of the nut clusters are infested with eggs or newly hatched larvae, an economic infestation is likely to develop and treatment is recommended. Determine egg color and hatch to time application.

If no or very few eggs are found, scout the orchard again in two or three days.

Insecticide sprays should be applied with caution in backyard and urban areas because of the great potential for spray drift onto nearby gardens, pets and living areas. Only products labeled and packaged for homeowner use should be used for control of pecan nut casebearer in urban areas.

Commercial producers must carefully read and follow label restrictions and requirements regarding use of insecticides. A pesticide license is required to purchase restricted use pesticides.
