

Refund checks sent to Cooke County taxpayers

by Elaine Schad

The Cooke County Appraisal District has mailed 35,000 checks to county property owners totaling $469,636, returning money as a result of a successful county rollback.

About 40,000 corrected property tax statements have been mailed along with the checks, CCAD Chief Appraiser Ross Fry said this week. Fry emphasized that the statements are corrections from those issued in 1993. Those taxpayers who have already paid their 1993 taxes should retain the corrected tax statements for their records. The payment deadline has been extended to June 21 for those property owners who have not yet paid their taxes, he said.

There has been some confusion over the statements that property owners have received in the mail, with some people thinking they owe more money despite having paid their 1993 taxes, Fry said. "Those taxpayers who received a refund check have already paid their 1993 county taxes and should not pay again," he said. The phones have been very busy at the appraisal district office since the notices have been sent, he said. The appraisal district did not send a cover letter with the checks and corrected statements because it would have meant about $5,000 in additional postage costs, Fry said.

County property owners were due refunds following a successful Feb. 5 rollback election which voters approved by an 80 percent margin. The vote rolled back the 1994 county tax rate from 48 cents to 41.4 cents per $100 valuation of property. The checks represented refunds to those property owners who had already paid their 1993 taxes. The checks included a refund for penalty and interest for those people who paid their taxes after Feb. 1, Fry said. Cost for mailing the corrected tax statements and checks totaled between $8,000 and $10,000, he said.

Cooperative's annual meeting set for April 11

Outstanding entertainment, prizes and a meaningful message await those who attend Cooke County Electric Cooperative's annual meeting on Monday, April 11.

The Cooperative provides electric service to more than 10,000 meters in rural Cooke and Montague counties. All of its members are invited to attend the meeting. As usual, members in attendance are eligible for door prizes. This year, they include a cordless electric mulching mower, a VCR, a breadmaker, a countertop convection oven, other electrical appliances and power bill credits. Registration for the meeting begins at 6 p.m. in the foyer of the Muenster Public School Auditorium.

First Edition, show choir from Naaman Forest High School in Garland takes the stage at 6:15 and the local audience is in for a real treat.

First Edition is a talented group of young performers who have been well-received by diverse audiences. The choir performs more than 35 shows per year at community, school, church and civic functions. A highlight of the choir's 1993 season was singing for a crowd of 2,500 at the Wesley-Rankin Benefit held in the Great Hall of the Apparel Mart.

The select group is made up mostly of high school juniors and seniors. All are also members of the high school's acclaimed Acappella choir which has performed in New York's Carnegie Hall and also made trips to Los Angeles and Colorado. This spring, the choir will perform in Nashville.

The First Edition entertains audiences with a wide variety of popular music including current hits and favorites dating back to the 1920s and 1940s. The group chooses music appropriate for each audience. "It's really neat to watch them warm up to different styles of music," said Sharon King, Choral Director. Mrs. King has taught choral music in the Garland ISD for 12 years.

Members of the First Edition excel not only in music, but as leaders in academics, athletics, clubs and service organizations. A large percentage of the students receive college scholarships because of their musical ability. Two members of the group have auditioned for roles as entertainers in Opryland this summer and have been among a select few called back for videotaped auditions.

First Golden Eagle takes flight with MSB donation

by Janet Felderhoff

A donation of $10,000 will bring Muenster State Bank the distinction of being the first Golden Eagle to join the Muenster Memorial Hospital Eagles Club. The late J. M. Weinzapfel, former Muenster Bank president and board member, was instrumental in founding the Muenster hospital. He felt that the hospital was a vital part of the local community. In keeping with this community spirit, the Muenster State Bank decided to show its support of the hospital by making this donation and encourage everyone who can to join in this endeavor.

Three types of eagles will be recognized in the club -- Golden with a $10,000 or more donation, Silver with a $5,000 or more donation, and Eagle with a $1,000 or more donation.

It is the goal of the Eagles Club to raise enough funds to furnish the equipment needed to open an obstetrics department in Muenster Memorial Hospital. State of the art equipment is necessary to provide added safety to mother and baby and to comply with federal and state requirements. Extensive remodeling will be done to create an environment that is appealing to mother and child and meet with government regulations.

Members of the Financial Planning and Endowment Fund Committee have set a minimum goal of $250,000 with $300,000 as an ideal target. Jerry Hess is the committee chairman and Arthur Felderhoff, co-chairman. Other members of the committee are Stan Endres, Werner Becker, Jr., Jack Endres, Frank Cromeens, Chuck Bartush, Jr. and serving as treasurer for the group Mary Lou Hess. Each committee member has several other people working with them.

Pledge sheets are being distributed. With the pledge sheets people can indicate the amount they wish to donate and if they will give the total in one balance or will be paying a certain amount each month. Donors may choose to be recognized publicly or to remain anonymous.

There is a list of equipment that must be purchased. It includes remodeling information also. Anyone wanting this information can obtain it by contacting any committee member or by calling the Muenster Hospital, (817)759-2271.

With the help of the local community Muenster Memorial will again be able to deliver babies and will offer an outstanding obstetrics department.

Statewide runoff election set for April 12

by Elaine Schad

Cooke County voters will return to the polls on Tuesday to decide one local runoff primary race and a handful of statewide runoffs in both the Democratic and Republican primaries.

Early voting began Monday and will continue through 5 p.m. Friday, April 8, at the County Clerk's office located on the second floor of the Courthouse in Gainesville. As of Wednesday, 128 people had cast votes early. Those who cast ballots are eligible to vote in the same primary as they did on March 8. Those who did not vote on March 8 may choose the primary in which they wish to vote.

Several Republican precincts have been combined for Tuesday's runoff. In the Muenster area, those voting in the Republican Primary may cast ballots in the following places:

- Precinct 11: First Baptist Church in Valley View.
 - Precincts 12, 14 and 15: Myra Community Center.
 - Precincts 16, 19, 21 and 33: St. Peter's Parish Hall.
 - Precincts 17 and 18: Sacred Heart Community Center.
 - Precincts 3 and 35: Cosmetology building at Cooke County College.
- Democratic primary voting locations will be the same as for the March 8 primary. Muenster area

Democratic Primary voting locations include:

- Precinct 3: Library at Cooke County College.
- Precinct 11: Fellowship Hall of the Valley View First Baptist Church.
- Precinct 12: Fire Station in Era.
- Precinct 14: Rosston Fire Station.
- Precinct 15: Myra Community Center.
- Precinct 16: South Lindsay will vote at the Janet Beazer Home, 130 S. Willow Street in Lindsay.
- Precinct 17: South Muenster, VFW Hall, 113 S. Main Street.
- Precinct 18: North Muenster, First Baptist Church, 111 N. Pecan Street.

-Precinct 19: Frank Sandmann Home in Lindsay.

-Precinct 21: North Lindsay will vote at Lindsay Town Hall.

-Precinct 33: Sivells Bend School.

The lone county runoff will be for the Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 2 position where Samuel Mason Winters and Connie Mazingo Welch are squaring off in the Democratic primary. The winner will advance to the November general election. Neither candidate received 50 percent of the vote in the March 8 primary when a host of candidates vied for the seat that is being vacated by Dorothy Smith who is retiring.

On the statewide level, the runoff election that has generated the most interest and the most heat has been in the Democratic Primary for the U. S. Senate where Jim Mattox is squaring off against Richard Fisher. The winner will face Republican Kay Bailey Hutchison in the November general election. The two candidates have debated each other, with their last debate held on Monday. Fisher, a Dallas businessman, has raised questions about Mattox's refusal to release his federal income tax returns, while Mattox has indicated that he thinks Fisher is "too Republican" to represent Democrats against Hutchison.

In addition to the races for justice of the peace and the Senate, there are two other races on the Democratic runoff ballot. Raul A. Gonzalez is challenging Rene Haas for the Justice of the Supreme Court, Place 1, while Gene Kelly and Betty Marshall are opponents for the judgeship, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 2.

Voters in the Republican Primary will cast ballots in two runoff contests. Patricia "Pat" Lykos is running against Don Wittig for State Attorney General while Sharon Keller is opposing Sam Bayless for the judgeship, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 2. Anyone with questions about Tuesday's runoff election may call the county clerk's office at 668-5420.

Council at it again

by Dave Fette

Members of the Muenster City Council and the mayor revealed, in still greater depth, their distrust for each other at Monday's City Hall meeting. Arthur Hennigan demanded that letters be sent to the proper agencies stating complete rejection of any further federal grant business. "I know you people (meaning Mayor Bill Miller and Councilwoman Fran Voth), next month you'll be applying again," he said. Hennigan, along with Marianne Grant and Mike Trubenbach, have fought for months to have the grant applications terminated. Miller and Voth have used various arguments and delaying tactics to preserve the chance to get grant money to install a new water well and some connected housing assistance grants.

The mayor vetoed the council vote last month to terminate the application. He said, "I just want to know why you don't want to take government money!" The three council members' reasons have been explained repeatedly in previous meetings and stories.

Hennigan replied, "I want to override the veto and send the letters tonight." They fear that even though the water well grant failed, the housing assistance grants would be automatically reapplied for and they want none of it.

Fran Voth said, "Art, you've got a pretty lively imagination."

The mayor finally called for the vote and his veto was overridden.

Later in the meeting, Hennigan asked for a council resolution and ordinance requiring that a copy of each veto made by the mayor be sent to the Texas Attorney General for a ruling. City Attorney Chuck Bartush Jr. explained that such a rule was both cumbersome and vague because of the time and expense and gray areas involved.

Miller addressed Hennigan, "You try to tie my hands and I'll come after you, too, Buster. I'm trying to keep you from plunging the city deep in debt," Miller said.

Hennigan replied, "You are out of order. Do you know about Roberts' Rules of Order?" Miller said, "You and your two always come to the meeting with your mind made up."

Grant retorted, "It's Fran who is with you five days a week conspiring."

The argument proceeded for a while with most of the recent charges and countercharges being dredged up. Councilman Rick Stewart was not to be left out this time as he questioned the mayor's motives in calling him outside of regular meeting time to inquire about whether he was going to run for re-election. Further discussion followed about possible violations of the Open Meetings Act. No action was taken concerning the Attorney General ruling.

Other discussion and action included:

- Curtis Campbell of the Red

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

The past primary elections were a positive for the Republican Party in that we doubled the numbers voting in this primary from 1992, but it was a disappointment in that more people didn't vote. Why are we not having a response from our voters? I'm not sure, but when it averages out that it costs approximately $10.00 a vote to run a primary - I submit to you that you should have a voice and vote - it's expensive in more ways than one!

I encourage you to vote, we have run-offs in the Attorney's race - John Wittig and Pat Lykos, and in the Supreme Court race, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 2 - Sharon Keller and Sam Bayless and, in Precinct 19, we have a run-off for precinct chairman, Barbara Felderhoff and Imogene Zimmerman.

If you have not voted in the Democratic primary on March 8, you can still become a part of the Rising Tide - vote Republican, April 12!

Dear Editor:

The month of April is becoming known across the country for something far more significant than April Fool's Day or even Daylight Savings Time. April is also officially designated as "Alcohol Awareness Month" and has become a time for recognizing the kinds of things we can do all year long to fight problems like illegal underage drinking and drunk driving.

With prom and graduation just around the corner, now is a key time to talk with young people about the importance of respecting themselves and the law, especially when it comes to alcohol beverages. That's why we at Ben E. Keith Beers, Denton's distributor of Anheuser-Busch beers, make available free of charge to parents the "Family Talk About Drinking" program. Developed with authorities in education and youth counseling, "Family Talk" helps parents talk with their kids about family rules, respect for the law, and peer pressure. We invite readers to call us at 817-383-3502 for their free set of guidebooks. Readers outside the area can call Anheuser-Busch's toll-free number, 1-800-359-TALK.

As a nation, we have made great progress in addressing illegal underage drinking. According to University of Michigan research, drinking by high school seniors is at its lowest level since 1975, when the University began monitoring this trend. What's more, according to the U.S. Department of Transportation, the number of teenage drunk driving fatalities decreased 60 percent between 1982-92.

Let's work together with our children to keep this progress improving this April and throughout the 1990s.

Sincerely,
Carl Hager III

Dear Editor:

We have an excellent opportunity to have a good candidate run against Attorney General Morales in November. This candidate still has a run-off in the Republican Primary. Her name is The Honorable Pat Lykos. She recently met with the Cooke County Republican Women, to talk about her tough stance on criminals and the justice system, and about family values and how she works to put the juveniles back into the system in a positive way by having them not only make restitution but also give community service and try to give them positive feelings about themselves as mentors to others.

She also spoke about the fact that Morales has not truly represented the people of Texas - instead of fighting for the schools, he gave in. Instead of fighting for Texas on the Ruiz suit, he settled for something that "limits the state and pampers inmates." She suggests that she would attempt to reopen the 20-year-old Ruiz prison lawsuit that was settled last year.

Judge Lykos began her criminal justice career as a Houston police officer in 1963. She left the department in 1970, upon earning a law degree from South Texas College of Law. She first served as a county court-at-law judge before being elected state district judge in 1981.

Dear Editor:

The recent death of NBA Celtics star Reggie Lewis has sparked an interest into what constitutes a healthy heart. Unfortunately, maybe now there will be more research as to what makes the heart beat properly whether heart disease is present or not.

Millions of people suffer from benign palpitations and the like. The symptoms - an uncontrollable twitching sensation, much like a muscle spasm in your arm or leg, and dizziness - are very frightening. Ironically, many physicians call this a "human condition" because there is no heart disease and, in turn, they send their patients home telling them not to worry. But, how do you not worry?

I'm currently in the process of setting up support groups via telephone on a national level. However, because of my age (29) I've been questioned about my credentials. I tell these people that I have more than eight years experience living with this condition and that I've written a book on the subject. This satisfies their curiosity every time!

If you would like to talk with someone in your town or city about this problem - no telephone charges will be incurred this way - just mail your name, address and telephone number with a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Peter John Raposa, P.O. Box 556, Tiverton, RI 02878. And, I'll be in contact with you.

"Civic Outlook"

by Mayor Bill Miller

It's time to take out the trash! On Saturday, April 9, some 100,000 Adopt-a-Highway volunteers will help ready the Lone Star State for another colorful wildflower season by participating in the ninth annual "Great Texas Trash Off." This event is considered the largest one-day cleanup in the nation.

In preparation for our own upcoming Germanfest on the weekend of April 22, 23 and 24, it is time to spruce up our own properties as well. The Muenster Chamber of Commerce has sent out the invitations and a lot of people from all over the world will be visiting here to help us celebrate our German heritage.

The Chamber sponsors this celebration as an economic stimulant for our community, paving the way for more successful developments. As more shoppers are attracted to our businesses, more jobs are created. The Germanfest gives our local and county businesses a chance to show their merchandise and meet the customer's needs.

No one knows how much our community will actually benefit in the future as satisfied customers return to visit us again and again.

This celebration was brought to Muenster from Germany and is a traditional festival with entertainment featuring the classic German music of the old country, Um-Pa-Pa style.

In preserving our heritage, the residents of Muenster are proud to be a part of the work involved in hosting this gala event. Historical costumes, good German food, Polka music, modern music, the Fun Run, the Bicycle Rally, games and arts and crafts are just part of the fun waiting for our visitors.

And everyone is welcome to join us at the Fest.

Cooke County government joins other counties to spur investment in I-35 corridor

by Elaine Schad

Cooke County has joined a coalition of 21 Texas counties in an attempt to assure that Interstate 35 will continue as the primary north-south transportation route throughout the state, officials said.

Cooke County Judge Ray Russell is expected to attend the second meeting county judges representing each county on Saturday, April 9, in Salado. The group held its first meeting Feb. 26 in Salado and elected Denton County Judge Jeff Moseley as chairman. Counties represented in the newly formed coalition include Denton, Dallas, Tarrant, Johnson, Ellis, Hill, McLennan, Falls, Bell, Williamson, Travis, Comal, Guadalupe, Bexar, Atascosa, Medina, Frio, LaSalle and Webb.

Russell said it's imperative that counties along Interstate 35 work together to ensure that the economic potential of the route is fully developed. With the recent passage of the NAFTA treaty that will allow the free flow of goods between the United States, Mexico and Canada, there has been talk of developing a second major roadway in Texas, he said. Currently, the I-35 corridor directly affects more than six million Texans, or one-third of the state's population, Russell said.

The coalition could help ensure that I-35 remains the primary north-south thoroughfare for state and federal funding, officials said. "By all the counties banding together, we can work toward maintaining funding for existing projects and enhance our potential to meet future needs," Tarrant County Judge Tom Vandergriff said.

The group hopes their efforts will help in getting I-35 established as the nation's first super-highway under the federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act, for which some $1 billion has been earmarked.

Moseley thinks Interstate 35 is just as much of an economic engine to Denton County as is the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport. "We need to begin treating I-35 like the asset it is, and that will take a concentrated effort of all counties," he said.

Memories of World War II

This week's feature for "50 Years Ago in WWII" will honor the life of Richard Fette, Muenster's third man to lose his youthful life in service to his country, between the years 1941-1944 - a story made more poignant by the words of his mother, "... no longer will his letters begin 'Dear Mom' ..."

by Elfreda Fette

Mildred ("Mickey" Becker) Fette accompanied the body of her husband, Ensign Richard C. Fette, victim of a bomber crash near San Diego Naval Air Base, as they returned by train from California on Jan. 25, 1944, enroute to Muenster for his funeral.

A soldier sat down beside her, berated her severely for being "a civilian taking up space in a train seat when the military needed it."

Her only response was, without a tear, "My reason for being here is in a casket in the last car." She saved her tears for solitude when she could hide away in a corner and grieve for the young man to whom she had been married scarcely two months.

The telegram that arrived at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fette, brought the message, "We regret to inform you that your son..."

The next telegram that arrived, stated in part, "The remains of your son, Richard, accompanied by his wife and a Naval Escort left San Diego on Tuesday and will arrive at the Santa Fe Depot in Gainesville, Texas on Thursday, Jan. 27, 1944."

Ensign Richard C. Fette, 24, U.S. Navy Air Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fette, was Muenster's third young man to give his life in World War II. He was preceded by two former schoolmates, Ensign Robert Weinzapfel whose dive bomber crashed in the Pacific off the carrier USS Lexington a day after Pearl Harbor, and 1st Lt. M.J. Endres Jr., who was killed when his two-motored bomber exploded over San Pablo Bay, California on Aug. 8, 1942. Another casualty from Muenster, Frank Yosten, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Yosten, a fireman aboard the ill-fated destroyer, the Jarvis, was reported missing in action since that ship was lost at sea in September 1942.

Ensign Richard Fette was killed at 11:15 a.m., Jan. 20, 1944, at the San Diego Naval Air Base. Four Navy officers and nine enlisted men were killed in one of the worst military crashes on record, when their four-engined Liberator bomber crashed in flames on take-off from Camp Kearney Airstrip. Two motors failed before the huge plane reached altitude and speed. All the men were killed outright and their bodies burned almost beyond recognition. Ensign Fette was co-pilot on the plane.

The body arrived at the Gainesville Santa Fe Depot on Thursday, Jan. 27, to lie in state at the home of his parents overnight.

The funeral was held on Friday, Jan. 28, in Sacred Heart Church with Solemn Requiem High Mass officiated by the pastor, Father Thomas Buegler, OSB, Most Reverend Augustine Danglmayr, Auxiliary Bishop of Dallas, Father Richard Eved, OSB, and Father Juvenal, a visiting missionary. Military rites were conducted in Sacred Heart Cemetery by personnel of the Naval Training Station of Grand Prairie.

Ensign Fette had been stationed at the San Diego Naval Air Base, on routine patrol duty while awaiting assignment for overseas duty, after serving in Corpus Christi and Pensacola and Jacksonville, Florida Air Base. On Nov. 27, 1943, he was married to Miss Mildred (Mickey) Becker of Gainesville at the historic old San Juan Capistrano Mission, famous for many reasons, one being the song, "When the Swallows Come Back to Capistrano." In attendance at the wedding were the groom's mother and his only sister, Vina Voth, who had made the arduous trip by bus from Texas to California. Vina Voth was the wedding attendant.

Survivors of Ensign Fette included his wife, his parents, his sister and six brothers, Joe, Emmet, Herbert and Jerry of Muenster, Edgar of White Horse, Canada and in later years Alaska and Lt. R.N. Fette stationed at Fort Sill, who wrote and published a most touching tribute to his kid brother. One dignitary who responded, with praise, was Bishop Danglmayr. His letter is still treasured by the family.

The tribute from R.N. said, in part, "In his flying lingo, Richard would have described this as the take-off for his flight into eternity ... for his was a simple philosophy. He lived in the firm belief that anyone who plays the game of life according to the Creator's rules will enter the great beyond as a winner. Sharing that belief, we are convinced he is in the very best Company now - a Company that can appreciate his generous, cheerful, adventurous spirit far more than the rest of us ever did."

"So there's a comforting note in the toll of the bell that marks his departure. He has improved his status ... Of course, it would be ridiculous to minimize the grief that his passing has brought. His wife, his family, and hundreds of friends will miss him. They'll miss his laughter and his pranks and the thoughtful little things he used to do. They'll miss his optimism, his confidence, his energy, his sense of humor ... They'll deplore the success and happiness he might have attained in a normal span of years..."

"During his short life he had more fun, accomplished more work and spread more happiness than most would in a regular lifetime. Since before his first possum hunt; through his school athletic career when he was a basketball star on Toney Burger's Muenster High School championship team; his globe-trotting experiences; his Navy training; and his brief married life; his existence was a glorious adventure ... He was the kind of fellow who could seek a favor and then be thanked for the pleasure of helping him. Down to his last few bucks, he'd land a few-weeks' job to finance his continued travels and find his employer reluctant to see him go. Richard had friends scattered from here to the Arctic circle. He liked people and they liked him. He had a wonderful time and left the world a little better wherever he went ... In time we will adjust and accept that his passing was inspiring rather than sad."

His mother, Mrs. Henry Fette, expressed her grief and loss more vividly ... "no longer will his letters begin 'Dear Mom' ..."

MMH Board anticipates busy upcoming agenda

by Janet Felderhoff
Physician recruitment, Home Care, and Golden Eagles were the main topics covered at the March 30 regular meeting of the Muenster Memorial Hospital Board. All nine board members were in attendance.

Administrator Jack Endres announced that Muenster Memorial Home Care was up and operating after being surveyed and approved during the first week of March. Certain areas of the Home Care policy required changes being made before the surveyor returns. Jerry Hess made a motion to make the amendments. Sharon Felderhoff seconded the motion which was passed unanimously.

Jack Endres asked that the board give him the authority to make on behalf of the board any subsequent changes to policy or of procedure changes that the surveyor might request. Lora Hennigan made this motion and Stan Endres made the second. All members were in favor.

"As far as Home Care our current census is on track with what the consultants predicted," noted Endres. "Actually we are doing better than was projected and are increasing steadily. It looks like it's going to do real well for us."

Margie Starke and Sharon Felderhoff gave reports on physician recruitment. A number of physicians interested in relocating have been in Muenster recently. Since Sharon has decided not to seek reelection, Don Flusche, board chairman, asked members to consider volunteering to fill her place on the recruitment committee. Jerry Hess, head of the fund raising committee for the obstetric ward, reported on the progress of his committee. Volunteers of that committee are looking for donors from the MMH district.

In other business:
*Jack Endres reported on the status of the Rural Health Alliance
*Discussion was held on the potential hazard of MMH's radio tower to pilots of Care Flites having to land at night

Candidates still needed for MMH Board election

With the Tuesday, April 12 deadline approaching, only two candidates have actually filed in the Muenster Memorial Hospital Board election. Board secretary Margie Starke reported that Duane Knabe and incumbent Don Flusche have declined to run for another term.

The five expiring two-year terms are now held by Werner Becker, Jr., David Bright, Sharon Felderhoff, Don Flusche, and Lora Hennigan. Bright and Felderhoff have declined to run for another term. Anyone interested in filing for this election should contact Margie Starke or Jack Endres.

Taxpayer information pamphlet available from Appraisal Office

Ross Fry, chief appraiser for the Cooke County Appraisal District, offers property owners a 1994 pamphlet called Texas Property Taxes: Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies & Responsibilities to help them save on their property taxes.

Published by the State Comptroller's Office in Austin, the "Remedies" pamphlet explains how the property tax system in Texas works and offers ways for possible tax savings.

Fry noted that the pamphlet applies to property taxes collected by all types of taxing units: counties, cities, school districts and special districts (such as municipal utility, junior college and hospital districts).

For example, all homeowners may file for a $5,000 general exemption from their principal home's value for school taxes. In addition, certain disabled homeowners and those aged 65 or older may qualify for an additional $10,000 exemption from the value of their homes.

"A tax freeze, or ceiling, for school taxes is a benefit for homeowners who were 65 or older on Jan. 1 of this year," Fry said.

The chief appraiser pointed out that homeowners age 65 or older do not need to reapply for the exemption this year if they received the exemption and tax ceiling last year. Only those who became 65 during 1993 and those who never had the exemption and tax ceiling must apply in 1994.

Homeowners are also eligible for a $3,000 general exemption because the county levies a tax for farm-to-market roads or flood control.

The pamphlet also describes other exemptions available, such as those for disabled veterans, other disabled persons and senior citizens.

Productivity appraisal is another type of tax relief available to agricultural or timber land owners. It is available in two forms, referred to by its location in the Texas Constitution: "1-d" or agricultural-use appraisal and "1-d-1" or open-space land appraisal.

"I urge all property owners in the Cooke County Appraisal District to read the pamphlet and learn about all possible property tax relief," Fry said. "Remember, taxpayers must file exemption applications with the appraisal office by April 30 and any protests by May 31 of this year."

Pamphlets may be picked up at CCAD office located at 200 W. California Street between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Valley View School Board plans expansion and renovation

by Elaine Schad
Valley View school district officials are reviewing renovation and expansion plans as their schools continue to grow.

School trustees, at their March meeting, heard a presentation for Architect Allen Nelson who outlined a proposal for renovation and expansion. The district is planning to remodel the old elementary building that now houses grades one through three, especially the restroom area. Also in the plans is placing a brick exterior to the steel building located just south of the old elementary building which houses grades four through six. Valley View Superintendent Steve Schneider said the building has extensive leakage around all the windows. The plan would call for replacing all the windows and bricking the building to match the district's new library facility. Combined cost for both projects would be about $60,000, he said.

Trustees are discussing the possibility of expanding onto land that is located just west of the school campus across Lee Street. The district has taken legal proceedings involving eminent domain in an attempt to obtain about 40 acres of land which is part of a 200-acre tract. The case has been filed in 235th District Court, and the district is awaiting a hearing date, Schneider said.

Should the district obtain the property, officials are discussing the possibility of building a football and track athletic complex. Once that is completed, the existing football field possibly would be used for an expanded playground area for the elementary students or for other facilities. Schneider said the district is presently landlocked on all sides and has been unable to obtain property for expansion.

The Valley View school district has about $1.8 million in reserve funds which would be used for the projects, should they be approved, Schneider said. The board is expected to hire an architect at its April meeting, he said.

In another matter, trustees approved the hiring of two additional teacher coaches for the district subject to assignment. One teacher coach will be hired for the boys' program and one for the girls' program. As larger elementary classes progress to the junior high and high school levels, the district's sports and physical education programs are being forced to add sections for all classes, Schneider said. The participation level in sports is also high, with about 94 percent of the district's junior high students participating in extra-curricular activities, he said. In the high school, about 85 percent of the boys and 60 percent of the girls are participating, he said. The district also may add girls' volleyball and softball programs next year, he said.

In other business, the school board:

--Approved the district's athletic budget for 1994-1995.

--Renewed all contracts of professional personnel for 1994-1995.

--Adopted the school calendar for 1994-1995. Classes will begin Aug. 15 and end on May 26.

--Awarded bids for surplus equipment, including a flatbed truck, old cafeteria equipment and a used bus.

--Approved the purchase of a new school bus and authorized bids for the purchase of a pickup for the agriculture department and a van for school use. Schneider said travel requirements will increase for next year when the district moves to 2A competition.

--Adopted a policy for community use of the old gymnasium. Now that the gym has been renovated, there will be posted hours of operation when the gym will be open to the public.

--Approved a resolution to join a lunchroom cooperative. The district will join with Denton and other regional schools to purchase lunchroom products in bulk with the hopes of saving some money in the operation of the lunchroom, Schneider said.

--Heard a report on a district inspection from the Texas Department of Health. Some minor recommendations were made, and the district is in the process of complying with those recommendations, Schneider said.

--Awarded a bid for the district's property and vehicle insurance for 1994-1995 to the Texas Association of School Boards.

--Took no action on increasing the district's homestead exemption to property owners.

Tax Talk
by: Duane Knabe, CPA

Duane Knabe will discuss a different topic each week. Any questions should be directed to him at 759-4010.

This week's topic is the Optional Method for Self-employment Tax. Self-employment tax is imposed if you are in business for yourself and on most partnership income. An optional method for computing the tax is available and may help one's tax in certain situations.

The optional method may help in the areas of social security coverage, the earned income credit or the child and dependent care credit. This method may give you credit toward social security even though you have low income from self-employment. Also, this method may help you claim or increase the amount of the two credits mentioned.

Lone Star Gas to add new telephone numbers

In an attempt to make it easier for Lone Star Gas customers to conduct business with the company, additional telephone numbers have been added.

Customers wishing to conduct routine business should call 1-800-460-3030. In the event of a gas leak or damaged gas lines, customers should call 1-800-817-8090. This is a restricted line. Non-emergency calls cannot be accepted on it. If a customer has received notice that his/her gas service is being discontinued due to non-payment of bill, they should call 1-800-817-8877. Customers may also continue to use the telephone numbers listed in their local phone book.

The new numbers are being added as one more step toward Lone Star being able to provide telephone service to its customers 24 hours a day. Currently, Lone Star provides telephone service from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, except in the case of emergencies. By April 1, the company hopes to expand these hours to provide service from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week.

- The City will seek bids on paper and plastic garbage bags this year and is considering ending the providing of heavy paper bags for city garbage.

- City water samples tested for lead and copper content register well under allowable maximum content.

- Discussion concerning damage by people riding four-wheelers in the park brought no action.

On Saturday, April 2, 1994, 10 persons were initiated into the Catholic Church at the Easter Vigil Service at Sacred Heart. Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, presided; Father Frowin Schoech, OSB, and Father Joe Weinzapfel concelebrated. The service began with the blessing of the fire and preparation of the Easter candle, followed by a candlelight procession into the darkened church. This was followed by the singing of the "Exultet" by Father Frowin, Scripture readings and the Gloria.

After the homily, the two candidates for Baptism, Carrie Covington and Melissa Knisley, were called forward with their godparents, Aileen Knabe and Linda Becker. The mixed choir, led by Pam Fette, then sang the Litany of the Saints and Father Victor did the blessing of water. After each made a profession of faith, Melissa and then Carrie were baptized. While they changed clothes, the choir sang "Put On Christ." After that, each was presented with a white garment and candle.

Afterward, Barbara Fuhrmann, RCIA director, read the general intercession as the choir led the sung response, "Lord, hear our prayer." Melissa and Carrie and their godparents brought up the Offertory gifts.

At Communion, all 10 received the Eucharist for the first time while accompanied by their sponsors. After Mass, they processed out and were greeted by the congregation. There was also a reception for them in the cafeteria, hosted by Patsy Bayer and the Social Activities Commission.

Forestburg Historical Society begins restoration of bank

Sixteen people met Tuesday evening at Cactus Ridge to discuss plans for restoring the old First State Bank Building in Forestburg.

The original siding is gone. They would welcome any donations of lumber, nails, money, labor, tar paper or paint. Anyone interested in the restoration project is welcome.

The old bank is a landmark in Forestburg. It was started in 1904 and continued to operate until 1930 when it was robbed. Then it merged with the First National Bank of Saint Jo. The robbers were not caught for a year or more. One night in Wichita Falls, a noisy party was going on. Some of the neighbors called the police. When the policeman came to the door of the house where the disturbance was going on, the man put up his hands and said, "I knew you would catch me," and named his partners in the crime.

The building was used as a funeral home as well as a bank. Caskets were kept there, for it was a long drive by wagon or buggy to Saint Jo. Few people had cars in the '20s.

Harlan Bridwell and his father, Mr. Louis Bridwell, bought the building from Scott Brothers in 1938. They started printing the "Forestburger," the first and only newspaper Forestburg ever had. Harlan stated that when they moved their printing press into the building, some baby caskets still remained.

During World War II, as each local boy left for service, his name was painted on the wall of the building. Many still remain. It is hoped to restore them all.

The door to the vault has been located. John Willis and Steve Sandusky are taking it to Bridgeport to be sandblasted and restored.

If anyone has an old building they would like torn down and removed from their property, or any questions about the project, please call 964-2521, 964-2314 or 964-2336.

The next meeting will be April 19 at 6:30 p.m. There will be a tour of the building to help develop more plans for work that needs to be done.

Those who attended the meeting were Peggy Cain, J.R. Biffle, Joe and Jay Haid, Shirley Harvill, Bobby Wylie, Beckey Scott, Veda Brogdon, Dollie Orrell, Gordon Wade, Steve Sandusky, John and Wanda Willis, all from Forestburg, and Harlan and Rosemary Bridwell from Bridgeport.

Computer figure analysis programs on April 18

by Evelyn Yeatts
Cooke Co. Extension Agent, H.E.

Basic fashion trends are concerned with proportion such as skirt fullness, pant shape, shoulder width, skirt length, belt placement, etc. Just because a style or fashion is "in" doesn't mean everybody will look terrific wearing it, however.

A special computer program, "Your Ideal Silhouette", allows women to see what styles and what lines are best for them. Few women have perfect measurements or proportions, however, we can learn how to draw attention away from an imperfect one, de-emphasizing unbecoming characteristics and create the illusion of a perfectly proportioned figure.

Two programs are scheduled for Monday, April 18, on "Your Ideal Silhouette". The first will begin at 1:30 p.m. with an evening program at 7 p.m. Both will be in the Cooke County Library Meeting Room, 200 S. Weaver, in Gainesville. Individual computer printouts will be distributed and questions answered following the program.

Prior to the program, on Tuesday, April 12, a special "measuring session" will be conducted from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. or from 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the Cooke County Library Meeting Room. Members of the Extension Service Home Economics committee will be on hand to help measure women. It will take only about 10 minutes for individual measurements, so participants can come anytime during the scheduled time. If participants prefer to measure themselves at home, an explanatory sheet can be mailed to them or participants can call the Extension office and set up an appointment to be measured.

Interested women should pre-register by calling the County Extension office at (817)668-5412.

Classic styles are always correct and in good taste. They should be staples of your wardrobe. Classics are always in style and flattering for almost everyone. The program will give information on Classics but will also help individuals hide their figure imperfections and wear styles that look best on them. The computer program is based on this formula: Your Body Shape + Your Best Garment Style = A Balanced Proportion and an Improved Image. Any women interested in knowing more about what looks best on her individual figure is invited to participate.

Middle School Mathematicians go on a roller coaster ride at Six Flags on Saturday, April 9

Thousands of middle and junior high school students will trade their school desks for roller coaster seats April 9.

Six Flags Over Texas' Math and Science Day will challenge the youngsters to apply what they have learned in class to problems based on their experiences in the theme park.

Example: "Select a point along the Texas Giant track and obtain the time it takes for the train to pass this selected point. If the length of the train and the time for it to pass a fixed point are known, the speed can be estimated. A Texas Giant train is 14.7 meters long."

Other problems involve such things as determining the total weight of all the water used in the park's five water rides.

The program is an outgrowth of Six Flags' popular Physics Day outing for high school students.

Today In Banking

Some "Straight Talk" On Banking Today... That Can Make Banking Better For You...

Where Does the Money Come From?

Unlike the government, a bank can't just print up a bunch of new money when the supply runs low. The money we loan to you comes from the money you invest with us. When you buy a C.D. or make another investment with the bank, we take that investment and use it to make ag loans as well as the other loans needed in our community. Out-of-town investments take your investment dollar and re-invest it somewhere else.

So when it comes time to invest your money, remember who will be loaning you the money to make some more. Save where you borrow. Substantial penalty for early withdrawal on Certificates of Deposits.

Space Derby tops Cub Scout March meeting

Rocket ships were flying in the First Space Derby held by the Cub Scouts Monday, March 22, at the VFW Hall. Cub Scoutmaster Shirley Knabe oversaw this event as her last task before she moved on to the next level, working with the Boy Scouts and on the Troop Committee.

Each year, the Cub Scouts and parents build some type of simple kit which is raced against each other. For a first this year, balsa wood rocket kits were provided. The model is formed, assembled and painted by the boys and their parents. The race is conducted on two taut fishing lines with rockets suspended below. Power to the rockets is provided by rubber bands and a propeller. The competition is to encourage the young Scouts to have a goal, complete a task and to physically engage in a social event to interact with others.

Each Den had 1st, 2nd and 3rd place winners, and each Den had a Race-Off for Grand Champion. Karl Fisher took Grand Champion honors. Den 2's 1st place was Joseph Dangelmayr; 2nd, Tony Koesler. Webelos' 1st place was Adam Bayer; 2nd, Jacob Endres; 3rd, Daniel Rohmer. Den 1 had Karl Fisher as 1st, Jack Biffle 2nd and Michael Voth 3rd.

Cub Scout awards given, Shirley Knabe recognized

At the March 22 Pack Meeting for the Muenster Cub Scouts, awards were presented to the Scouts completing the necessary requirements. The Cub Scouts have a wide selection of award areas in which they can work towards a specific patch or medal for their uniform. Through completion of the various awards, a Scout is taught the basic skills of social behavior, craftsmanship and technical accomplishments of Scouting. When a predetermined course is finally completed, a Cub Scout can "bridge over" into the next level, which is the Boy Scouts.

The following Cub Scouts were presented awards, patches and emblems: Family Member and Sportsman, Jacob Endres and Daniel Rohmer; Handy Man, Jacob Endres; Scholar Showman, Nick Musick; Railroad Patches, Luke Endres, Daniel Rohmer, Jonathan Bayer and Adam Bayer; Religious Knot, Adam Bayer, Daniel Rohmer, Jacob Endres, Jonathan Bayer, Luke Endres, Daniel Bartush, Dewayne Montgomery and Michael Voth; World Conservation, Nick Musick and Andy Warren; Texas Badge, Jonathan Bayer, Daniel Rohmer, Adam Bayer, Jacob Endres, Andy Warren, Nick Musick, Luke Endres and Terry McCullum.

Reaching their "Wolf" status in Tuesday's meeting were Tony Koesler and Joseph Dangelmayr.

During the March 22 meeting, Shirley Knabe was presented with a gift from her Cub Scout Troop for all her many years of volunteer efforts. Shirley is retiring from the Cub Scouts to assist at the next level, the Boy Scouts. A replacement is needed and anyone, even without experience, can be a Cub Master. They just have to have the desire to help young kids. At this time, a replacement has not been found.

Needed!...

Cub Scout volunteers

What does it take to be a Cubmaster or Assistant Cubmaster? Just the desire to help young kids get a firm grasp on life! It has to be a spark from within. Certainly, Shirley Knabe had that "spark" five years ago when she volunteered to be Cubmaster for the Muenster Troop.

"When I first took this job, I didn't think I could do it either," commented Shirley. "Once in the job, I realized that a person can make the job as simple or as involved as they want. Anyone can do it, but they have to see themselves doing the job before they will step forward."

Shirley Knabe has retired from Cubmaster to move on to the next level of Scout management. She will be working with the District and Local Troop Committee for the Boy Scouts. Her position of Cubmaster must be filled soon for the Muenster Cub Scouts or Muenster will lose their Charter.

According to Shirley, the Cubmaster position can be filled by someone who has no prior experience. "The person does not have to have a boy in Cub Scouts. Someone retired and looking for something very worthwhile would find Cubmaster a wonderful and rewarding experience. Besides, troop parents are delegated 98% of the work," says Shirley.

To date, no one has been found to be Cubmaster. Call Shirley Knabe if you can help the Cub Scouts and wish to investigate being a volunteer.

MISD hosts Staff Development Program

by Steve Cooper, MISD Superintendent
Muenster ISD was the site, on April 4, for a combined day of staff development for Era ISD and Muenster ISD.

Gail Clark, Project Coordinator for the Educational Development and Training Center at East Texas State University, was the facilitator for the day's activities.

The program content dealt with the challenge and need to restructure Texas schools. Teachers were exposed to the realities of developments in the real world. The move by U.S. businesses to better compete, in the world, has caused a great deal of evaluation and scrutiny of the way business, in this country, operates. It is certainly no secret, if you read the newspaper, watch TV or listen to the radio, that America is changing the way it does business. This, of course, directly impacts what schools must do to meet the needs of those that have the jobs.

Also included in the day's activities were insights into different types of teaching strategies such as Cooperative Learning, Integrated Learning and Interdisciplinary Studies. These activities stressed the "how to" involved in addressing the different learning abilities of the students we serve. In order to better prepare our students for the real world, some change is absolutely essential. We must be able to do all that we can to reach all our students.

Ms. Clark also covered new direction, from the state (TEA), in curriculum, Tech Prep initiative and accountability. It was emphasized that all schools will be moving more and more toward accountability not only to the parents and community we serve but also to the students we serve. Curriculum demands by business are reflected in the new TEA Recommended Curriculum, giving students options for various career paths while they are still in high school. Technology becomes monumentally important for our kids.

Schools that do not, or cannot, provide technical support and skills to their students simply are not equipping those students to be successful in the new world. MISD is committed to the practical preparation of each student and we are moving to implement curriculum and structure that will enable us to deliver these skills to our students.

The staff development day was very informative and productive and gave everyone ideas on how we could better serve our students.

COORDINATOR GAIL CLARK and ROBERT McDANIEL

Hornet Relays Friday

Münster will host their Annual Hornet Relays Friday, April 8, on the Hornet Track. The meet is being run on Friday instead of the traditional Saturday due to the conflict of Prom Night.

Action begins at 4:30 p.m. with all field events. The 3200m run will start at 5 p.m. with the running events kicking off at 6:30 p.m. There will be no preliminaries in any event.

Area schools scheduled to attend include Münster, Sacred Heart, Lindsay, Era, Valley View and Saint Jo.

Tigers win 1st in Lindsay

The Sacred Heart Tigers took the championship trophy home last Friday from Lindsay's first hosted track meet with 143 points, 19 medals and 27 personal records. "Lindsay gave us a close battle. I'm sure it was a disappointment to lose, but they have nothing to be ashamed of because they are an excellent team," commented Sacred Heart Coach John Nasche. "We were three players short due to Easter Break and sickness and were scared that we might not have enough for Lindsay," Nasche continued. "The kids dug deep, put forth the best team effort and rallied back to hold off the Knights to win by 3 points!"

Nasche said the comeback was fueled by Scott Frost who ran 5 races (preliminaries and finals) and had 5 personal records with each race. "That's incredible, he never let up!" the coach remarked. "In that effort, he came within 16/100 of a second for a new school record in the 330m hurdles."

Two other events were also just seconds from being new school records - Aaron Berres in the 800m and the 1600m relays' fastest shift time. Nasche also noted that his 1600m runners of John Bartush, John Klement and Berres all broke 5 minutes.

White bass season approaching

Warming temperatures have Texas fishermen ready to get back on the water. White bass will soon begin spawning in the state's reservoirs, rivers and streams, if they haven't already begun.

"White bass are out of Lake Corpus Christi, Lake Texana and Choke Canyon," said Mike Reed of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. "I'll start going good, then cold weather hits. If the good weather will hold for a few days, fishing will really take off."

White bass and crappie begin their spawning movements earlier than other freshwater game fish, he said. Their pre-spawn migrations usually concentrate them in areas where they are very accessible to anglers.

"White bass are a very active, schooling fish. During most of the year, they feed actively in early morning and late evening. However, they can be found pursuing small prey fish at any time of day or night," Reed said. "They are especially aggressive during their spawning run."

Mature adult white bass begin moving upstream from reservoirs and lower river reaches into tributaries in early spring. Females reach spawning areas a month or so later than the males.

Reed said spawning occurs at midwater or near the surface, over gravel, rock or sand in moderate to swift current. No nest is prepared. The eggs are small; a female can produce as many as one million during a spawning season. The eggs settle to the bottom where they become attached to rocks and hatch in about two days. The fry then drift with the current, ending up in the reservoir or downstream reaches of the larger rivers.

There is a statewide 10-inch minimum length limit on white bass. The bag limit is 25 per day, 50 in possession. Some water bodies have a 12-inch minimum length limit, so anglers should check their fishing guide to be sure.

For more information on white bass, TPWD has a free publication, "The White Bass in Texas," available to the public. The brochure discusses the distribution and biology of white bass in Texas as well as listing some locations and methods to catch the fish.

John Hudspeth has great swimming career at Texas A&M

Texas A&M University senior John Hudspeth's college swimming career came to a close with his third-place finish in the 200 Backstroke 1:46.38 at the Southwest Conference Championships on March 4, 5 and 6. He placed 6th in the 100-yard Backstroke and 7th in the 400 Individual Medley 3:55.62, thus helping Texas A&M to a 2nd-place finish. This is the first time since 1956 that TAMU finished ahead of SMU in swimming.

John Hudspeth was named one of the top 25 Americans by "Swimming World Magazine," in its Top 25 World and U.S. Rankings in the March 1994 issue.

He is a senior Civil Engineer major at TAMU, the son of Dan and Paulette Hudspeth and grandson of Clara Walterscheid of Münster and the late Paul Walterscheid.

Recognition program draws interest from Texas anglers

Almost 4,500 awards have been issued over the years as part of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Angler Recognition Programs. Most of the programs set record highs for awards given in 1993 as the programs continue to gain in popularity.

Through 1993, the department has issued 616 state record, 1,431 water body records, 1,776 big fish awards, 519 luncheon catch and release awards, 18 outstanding angler awards and 113 first fish awards.

Certificates are awarded for anglers who qualify with a state record, water body record or first fish award. The big fish award enables anglers to receive a certificate for a qualifying fish (by weight).

An application for any of these programs is available at all TPWD field fisheries offices and at many retail outlets.

Lake Texoma has several state fishing records. C.D. Martindale of Era still holds the record for Blue Catfish caught on a trotline in April 1985. The fish weighed 116 pounds. Other records caught at Texoma in the Rod and Reel category include a 17.65-pound Bigmouth Buffalo; 82.50-pound Blue Catfish; .84-pound Gold-eye; and a 18-pound Longear Sunfish.

Nocona Lake is credited for the record Tiger Muskie, 9.06 pounds, caught in 1979, with Lake Ray Roberts holding the Gizzard Shad record at 2.31 pounds.

MHS girls golf team advances to regional

MHS girls are the defending champions again in District 12A. The meet was held Monday, April 4, at Nocona Hills Country Club. Münster finished 1st with 454 and Valley View was 2nd with 468. Both teams will advance to Regional, held in Abilene on April 25 and 26. The girls had 2 of the top 3 finishers. Jessica Haney from Valley View was first with an 84, Brandi Grewing was second with a 94 and Dalana Endres third with a 102. Finishing off the team scores were Petrolia 502, Lindsay 509 and Saint Jo 517.

"I was very impressed with our girls, for their hard work and dedication. The wind was a big factor in both the girls' and boys' scores; the weather plays a big factor in anybody's game!" said Coach Danna Hess. "But we now have three weeks to prepare for Regional and work on their game."

Boys came in 5th at the District Meet, behind Petrolia "A" with 349, Petrolia "B" with 386, Lindsay 390, Saint Jo 404, Münster and Alford 440 and Valley View 470. "If the boys would have played their best as a team, they could have come in 2nd. Last week at Nocona, the boys shot a 386, but it was a bad day for everyone! They worked hard all year, but the competition was tough this year and they have nothing to be ashamed of," said Coach Hess.

"The Trip to El Paso"

by Donetta Hess

It was 5 a.m. Sunday morning, March 20, as 30 students and two teachers loaded one bus to Dallas Love Field Airport. They had a scheduled flight to board at 8 a.m. to El Paso. They arrived at the airport at 7 a.m. and Coach John Nasche, the gracious bus driver, drove back to Muenster after dropping the students off. Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Ellender met the students and Sr. Cabrini with all the tickets.

Before they knew it, it was time to board. The sun was shining bright and there were clear skies as they left Dallas. It was a warty moment for those with first-time flight jitters. The plane took off the runway with extreme force and then there was lift-off! Thirty-three Sacred Heart people were actually in the air at 35,000 feet and going 400 miles per hour! Not only could they see the clouds, but they were in them. Dallas, Texas now looked like a miniature city, just like the toy sets our little siblings play with. Every city was now just an outline of blocks on a map. When they thought they had seen it all, they entered the edge of Southwest Texas. How did they know that? There were huge, rough, yet spectacular mountains that caught their eyes!

Then the airplane landed with a little jerk as it touched the ground. They were then in El Paso and it was only 9 a.m., an hour earlier than they were in Muenster. Mrs. Jo Bedowitz, Mrs. Linda Becker and Mrs. Sandy Fuhrmann picked up the students with the van they had driven to El Paso.

After a long tour of Mesilla, New Mexico on Sunday, and Academic Competition on Monday at the University of Texas in El Paso, the students were "worn out." But not so when they took off for Muenster at 9 p.m. that Monday night - their eyes were caught again. This time by a spread of lights all from El Paso, New Mexico and Mexico! It was an extraordinary sight, one worth coming back to see some time in the future. Everything they had done those two days was over and life was continuing on back in the town of Muenster. The Sacred Heart Academic Team members would never forget their experiences that were made fortunately through their efforts and the efforts of the school.

Lost purse comes home by mail

Picked up from Lindsay News in the Muenster Enterprise, Feb. 28, 1964. People are honest. At least, some of them are, and Mrs. Julius Hess will vouch for it.

While in Fort Worth a week ago, she lost her purse, but didn't miss it. She thinks it must have dropped out of the car. She was surprised when the handbag was returned to her by mail. Nothing was missing. Money, driver's license, credit cards, etc. were all there.

The finder in Fort Worth dropped the purse in a mail box. The Post Office there wrapped it and mailed it to Lindsay Postmaster Ewald Hoelker, who had to open the package to see what it was. Then he delivered to Mrs. Hess, postage free!!

"Experience the Old West"

by Melissa O'Brien

Students from Sacred Heart High School that attended the Texas Association of Private and Parochial Schools Academic Meet in El Paso "Experienced the Old West" with Outrider Tours. Mr. Paul Northrop was our tour guide. The students went on the Old Mesilla Tour. The tour took them up the Rio Grande Valley to Old Mesilla.

Old Mesilla is an enchanting New Mexico town with its own plaza and church. This was where "Billy the Kid" spent time in jail and was sentenced to hang in Old Mesilla. Students shopped around the plaza for souvenirs and other miscellaneous items.

Students took a tour of an old fort, Fort Seldon, used by the cavalry in their search for Geronimo. Students then headed back to El Paso. Students and sponsors stayed at the Embassy Suites.

Students from former Soviet Union to visit U.S.

More than 200 high school students from the Newly Independent State of the former Soviet Union will be arriving in the U.S. this August for a 10 month stay with American host families across the nation. The students are participating in a program sponsored by the Freedom Support Act and American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE), a non-profit organization. These exceptional students, ages 15 through 18, are proficient in English and fully covered by health and accident insurance. Students are also available from Europe, South America, Australia and Asia.

AISE is currently seeking families to host these new students. The teenagers live with their American families from the time they arrive in August 1994, until their departure in June 1995. They attend the local high school and return to their home countries with a deeper understanding of the American people and their customs.

Perry urges President to sign bill delaying new worker protection standard Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry praised the U.S. Congress for passing legislation that delays enforcement of the new Environmental Protection Agency Worker Protection Standard. Perry urged President Bill Clinton to sign the bill so agriculture can implement the new regulations in a timely and efficient manner.

"This extension until Jan. 1, 1995 gives EPA time to provide us the needed information and gives us time to educate our farmers on these new complicated regulations," Perry said.

Perry said the regulations scheduled to take effect April 21 could result in farmers being fined or penalized for violations they did not realize they were committing. In addition to delaying enforcement of new regulations for nine months, the bill requires EPA to provide states with all educational and training materials by Sept. 23, 1994.

"I urge the President to sign this bill and give farmers an honest chance to get up to speed on what these new laws require," Perry said. "EPA has been late with everything right down to the training manuals. They sent us a 132-page compliance manual last October that was due in July - 120 copies to distribute to 180,000 farmers and ranchers. American agriculture certainly wants to protect farm workers and anyone who handles pesticides, but this policy should be implemented in a way that is reasonable to all."

Mild winter benefits 1015 onion crop

A relatively mild winter in South Texas has provided excellent growing conditions for the ever popular Texas 1015 SuperSweet onion crop with harvest expected to begin sometime between April 15-20.

About 4,000 acres of 1015s are planted this year. A total of 15,000 acres of spring onions are planted, with harvest expected from 14,500 acres.

Read the fine print... ICA warns of dangers in signing easement contracts

The Independent Cattleman's Association of Texas is warning cattle raisers to pay close attention to the fine print when signing new easement contracts with rural electric cooperatives. Jim Selman, ICA First Vice President, notes that many new contracts contain clauses or sections that could infringe on private property rights.

These new provisions are in response to requests from federal officials who have enlisted the aid of electric co-ops to gather archaeological, historical and biological information (particularly relating to endangered species). The co-ops are in a unique position to gather this data because their utility infrastructure covers a large portion of rural Texas, and because they have gained the trust of ranchers and farmers who rightly view the co-ops as being historically pro-agriculture.

Selman encourages his colleagues in the cattle and ranching business to protect themselves by reading proposed easement contracts carefully and cautiously, paying particular close attention to any language that goes beyond the normal rights associated with electric construction or conveyance.

"Based on their good reputation, people won't look too hard at rural co-op contracts," Selman says. "But the co-ops are being pressured to infringe on private property rights, and rural people need to alert themselves and look out for their own interests."

Billy Bob Low is an ICA board member who ranches near Gonzales. His family was asked to sign an easement contract to facilitate relocation of some power lines. The proposed contract contained a section that gave the electric co-op the right to conduct "archaeological, historical, environmental or other studies" on the property covered by the easement. In addition, Low was concerned about a provision that authorized the co-op to clear the brush or other unwanted vegetation with chemical herbicides.

Low was worried that the blanket authorization for environmental, historical or archaeological studies could dramatically affect his property rights in the future, particularly if a significant cultural find was made on his land or an endangered species habitat was discovered. Similarly, Low was apprehensive about the possible negative impact on his cattle and land from the co-op's unrestricted use of chemical herbicides within the easement area.

After expressing his strong objections to these provisions, the co-op agreed to remove them from the contract and the easement was granted without any infringement on Low's property rights.

"I told them I wouldn't sign the contract with those provisions," Low says, "and the co-op took them out immediately without argument or fuss."

ICA supports a strong and healthy working relationship between electric cooperatives, which have done much to improve the quality of life in rural Texas, and the thousands of Texans who make their living through ranching and farming. However, ICA urges rural property owners to be wary of new easement contracts that contain potentially harmful sections and encourages its members to work with co-ops to renegotiate the contracts so their rights are protected.

"We just need to pay attention to the fine print," Low says.

EPA approves propazine for use on grain sorghum

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency approved a specific exemption under the provisions of Section 18 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act for use of propazine in Texas to control weeds in grain sorghum.

Propazine, found in Milo-Pro 4L, may be applied by ground or air at the rate of 1.2 pounds per acre. One application per crop growing season may be made and may be applied only by TDA-certified applicators or persons under the direct supervision of a certified applicator.

EPA approved the exemption after determining that alternative herbicides are not effective. The exemption expires Aug. 1, 1994.

TQM Focus of Beef Cattle Symposium

Total Quality Management (TQM), a zero defects approach to beef cattle production, will be the focus of two North Texas Beef Cattle Symposia. The Wichita Cow-Calf Symposium will be Tues., Apr. 19, 1994, at Arrowhead Livestock Auction located on Highway 79 south of Wichita Falls.

The other symposium will be in Fort Worth Tues., Apr. 26, 1994, at the West Arena in the Richardson-Bass Building at the Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show Complex. A Trade Show will be held in conjunction with both Symposia. Registration and the Trade Shows open at 8:00 a.m. The program begins at 8:45 a.m. at both Symposia.

Defects in quality and production cost ranchers millions annually. Identifying and eliminating these deficiencies will be the underlying theme to this year's program. The TQM initiative within the Texas Agricultural Extension Service Animal Science Project group is targeted at reducing losses to Texas beef cattle producers.

The concept of TQM across all segments of beef production will be covered by Bill Mies, Professor of Animal Science, Texas A&M University. Discussions will center around Producer Partnerships in which ranchers, feeders, packers and retailers cooperate in management and marketing to ensure a minimum of defects occur along the production chain.

Results of the National Beef Quality Audit and the implications of these findings to ranching operations will be discussed by Dan Hale, Extension Meats Specialist. This national effort identified defects in beef quality and resulting lost income to producers.

Implementing TQM concepts on ranching operations is the focus of the Texas-Value Added Calf (Tex-VAC) management program. Ronald Gill, Extension Livestock Specialist, will lead live animal demonstrations of management practices designed to eliminate many common defects in beef production and quality.

John McNeill, Associate Department Head, Extension, Texas A&M University, will cover results of the Ranch to Rail Program and their implications to cow-calf, stocker and feedlot operators. This program has identified many causes of quality defects exposed in the Beef Quality Audit.

A hands-on calf processing and handling demonstration will show participants how to implement many of the Tex-VAC recommendations discussed during the Symposium.

A prime rib lunch will be provided by the Texas Beef Industry Council. A small registration fee will cover coffee breaks and a copy of Symposium proceedings. The program is sponsored and hosted by the County Extension Beef Cattle Committees. Additional sponsors include the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Beef Industry Council, Arrowhead Livestock Auction, and Trade Show Exhibitors.

Check Soil Temperature

Soil temperature is a factor few gardeners check before planting, yet it is probably the most important factor affecting seed germination and plant growth.

Soil temperatures at which vegetable seed will grow include the minimum temperature required for seed growth, an optimum temperature and a "realistic" soil temperature. The realistic soil temperature is somewhere between optimum and minimum; it is the temperature at which you should plant to insure maximum success.

For instance, the optimum soil temperature for seed germination of vegetable crops, such as cucumber, cantaloupe, okra, pumpkin, squash and watermelon, is 95°F. However, if planted late enough during the year for soil to reach this temperature, summer heat will decrease plant vigor and yield. The minimum soil temperature for these crops is 60°F; yet, at this temperature the seed will not grow vigorously. Thus, there must be an intermediate soil temperature that is more realistic. Realistic soil temperatures for the best plant production are cucumber (64°F), cantaloupe (68°F), okra (73°F), pumpkin (75°F), squash (70°F) and watermelon (72°F).

Crops such as beans, beets, cabbage, chard, eggplant, pepper, radish, tomato, turnip and corn have an optimum soil temperature for seed germination of 85°F. The minimum soil temperature required for some of these cold-tolerant crops, such as beets, cabbage, chard, radish and turnip, is as low as 40°F. The realistic soil temperatures recommended for these crops are beans (72°F), beets (45°F), tomato (55°F), turnip (50°F) and corn (55°F).

As might be expected, vegetables which are really cold-tolerant, such as carrots, parsley, lettuce and spinach, have lower optimum soil temperatures for seed germination. For instance, the optimum soil temperature for seed germination of carrots is 80°F, for parsley and lettuce 75°F, and for spinach 70°F. The minimum temperature required for these crops is 35°F. The realistic soil temperature at which all of these crops should be planted is 45°F.

"Productivity appraisal" may lower the property taxes on your farm, ranch or timber land!

Texas law allows farmers, ranchers and timber growers to pay property taxes based upon the "production value" of their land rather than on its market value. This "productivity appraisal" means qualified land is taxed based on its ability to produce crops, livestock or timber—not on its value on the real estate market. And it can mean substantial property tax savings.

When is the application deadline?

If your land has never had a productivity appraisal, you must apply to your local appraisal district by April 30 to take advantage of this benefit on your 1994 property taxes. You may get up to 60 extra days if you have a good reason and ask for it by April 30. If you miss this deadline, you may still be able to apply, but you will pay a penalty. Check with your appraisal district office.

Do you need to reapply annually?

If your land already receives agricultural or timber productivity appraisal, you normally don't need to reapply unless the chief appraiser requires you to. If a new application is required, the appraisal district will notify you by mail.

Perry says Coastal Coordination Council to create wasteful bureaucracy

The Coastal Coordination Council will create a new, costly layer of bureaucracy under the guise of protecting Texas' coastal resources - a job already being done by other state, local and federal government agencies, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said recently.

Perry said the seven-member CCC, chaired by Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, is granting itself sweeping powers that duplicate efforts, waste taxes and threaten private property rights.
