VOTERS RETAIN MAYOR AND TWO ALDERMEN

MAYOR SEEKS CO-OPERATION IN CLEAN-UP

Requests That All Trash Be Sacked and in Alleys for Collection

Special arrangements are being made for the convenience of citizens to encourage their whole-hearted co-operation during the clean-up campaign next week, Mayor M. J. Endres advised Tuesday. Trucks will be employed to drive down every alley and pick up bags of rubbish placed there by the citizens.

Each citizen is asked to clean up his own premises and sack up all trash that cannot be burned—but not the things that can be burned. Included in that would be especially tin cans and broken glass. On Monday and Tuesday trucks will make the rounds through the alleys and haul all debris to the city dump.

The reason for requesting that trash be sacked is apparent. Time would not permit the haulers to pick up hundreds of pieces at each junk deposit.

Fire Department Acts Promptly to Prevent Loss of Fuhrbach Barn

An early alarm enabled members of the volunteer fire department to get everything under control before serious damage had been done as fire threatened to destroy Mrs. John Fuhrbach's barn Monday about 7 p.m.

In the confusion of rushing to the fire Jacob Pagel was run over after being thrown under the truck. No serious injuries were sustained but he was badly bruised.

The fire started from a kerosene brooder stove that apparently was too near a partition wall. It was discovered by Edward Hess and Leo Henscheid who rushed to Henry Luke's home across the street to phone in the alarm. The blaze was extinguished in a few minutes after the truck arrived.

The total loss of the fire is estimated at $25. Only the brooder stove and a small amount of lumber were lost. The baby chicks that were huddled about the brooder had moved to the opposite corner of the room and were still in a good condition after the fire.

Muenster Pastors Take Part in District Meet Program at Pilot Point

A recently received program of the North Texas District meeting of the Catholic State League to be held at Pilot Point on April 20 and 21 indicates that both of the Muenster priests will be prominent. Father Frowin Koerd, the organizer of the society in this district, will first address the delegates on April 20 and on the following day will be the celebrant of a Solemn High Mass. Father Francis Zimmerer will be deacon at the Mass and will deliver the sermon.

Muenster's delegates to the meeting have been selected only in the mothers' and young ladies' societies to date. The Holy Name and St. Joseph's societies are expected to choose their delegates Sunday. Representing the mothers' group are Mesdames Henry Fleitman, Ben Hellman, J. M. Weinzapfel, and John Kathman. Young ladies' delegates are Irene Walterscheid, Emma Hoehn, and Marie Flusche.

County Softball Winners Announced by Mr. Burger

Winners of the softball tournament at Gainesville last Saturday as announced by Mr. Burger are as follows:
Grammar boys, Era.
Grammar girls, McMurray.
Rural boys, Rock Creek.
Rural girls, Bulcher.
High school junior boys, Gainesville.
High school junior girls, Callsburg.

Singers Attend Dallas Concert, Celebration

Twelve members of the Muenster Men's Choir and Anthony Luke, piano accompanist, had a big time as honor guests of the 60th anniversary celebration of the Gesangverein Frohsinn and participants in their concert at Dallas Sunday.

So impressed were members of the Dallas group of singers with Muenster's choir that they extended an invitation to join them in a State concert to be presented in Houston sometime next summer. Though the invitation was not definitely accepted many of the local singers expressed their desire to join in the program unless it interferes too greatly with the usual rush of summer activities here, Leo Henscheid, director of the choir, stated.

The Muenster singers appeared in two numbers of their own selection and joined with other singers on the program for six group numbers. A choir from Fort Worth also joined in the concert.

Leaving Muenster about 11 o'clock Sunday in three automobiles the singers arrived in Dallas considerably before 3:30, the time scheduled for the concert. They were then joined by Leonard Endres, now employed with Armour & Co. who came to the concert for a visit with homefolks and could not pass up the opportunity of accepting a guest card. As a guest Leonard got along as well as any of them, but as a singer he found himself handicapped. Nevertheless he carried on with a splendid exhibition of lip movements minus the musical notes.

Guests at the celebration were presented with badges and 20 tickets each—tickets were to be used at a refreshment counter that was used jointly by participants and patrons at the concert.

Members of the choir who attended the celebration were Anthony Luke, Leo Henscheid, M. J. Endres, J. M. Weinzapfel, Walter Becker, Werner Becker, Al Kleiss, Andrew Hoffbauer, Bill Henscheid, Ben Luke, Henry Luke, and Frank Walterscheid.

MUENSTER IS ONLY COUNTY SCHOOL TO SPONSOR BASEBALL

As the only school to enter a team in the county race for baseball honors, Muenster automatically holds the county title for that sport.

Toney Burger has his group of youngsters working seriously in an effort to develop the snappiest baseball club in the history of the school and if possible bring back some of the laurels they have sought in regional competition the past two years.

Most of Burger's players are members of the "Pepper-Shaker" crew that blazed the local sandlot last summer. The two Hoehn and two Lehnertz youngsters along with Fisher, Fette, and Becker all worked together in a successful season against other nines of local baseball talent, and Coach Toney is counting on each of them to do a good job in his old position.

ONE IN A MILLION, HE OFFERS TO PAY FOR HIS ACCIDENT

Al Walterscheid goes on record as one of that rare group of automobile drivers who is offered a payment after an accident.

While leaving Gainesville Monday afternoon Al's car was hit by one that popped out of a side street without warning. Immediately after the accident the offending driver said, "It was my fault. What will it cost to fix that car?"

All of them drove to the J. B. Wilde Garage here and appraised the cost of putting on a new fender and running board. After that the man wrote out a check for the new parts and went his way.

Don Jaime Farley, Pan Am Ambassador

Postmaster General James A. Farley became an Ambassador of Goodwill for the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition opening in Dallas, June 12. He received his commission on his recent trip through Texas, and is shown here standing before a microphone wearing the official regalia of the International fair—a serape and sombrero.

COUNCIL APPROVES METER, STOP SIGNS; VETOES CROSSINGS

Difficulty over water shortages will soon be a thing of the past, is the hope of the city council since their decision to install a new master meter at the reservoir. In the past the total volume of water for the city was estimated from the current used by the booster pump and no meter was used to measure the water itself. It is thought that present miscalculations are caused by a loss in the pump's efficiency. The city receives its water from the deep well owned by the Farmers' Marketing Association.

Final arrangements were also made for the transfer of a small portion of the Schmitz estate to the city, for use as a passage for lug-bearing equipment, with the submission of a $25 check to the estate administrator. Nick Yosten has spent several days working on the new street lately.

Stop signs for the intersection of Highway 5 and Main Street were approved by the city council and Mayor Endres was authorized to buy and install them immediately. The type to be used is the "button" sign in the center of the street and equipped with a red reflector to warn night drivers from the light of their own headlights.

A motion to build concrete street crossings to join the sections of sidewalk being built by the State Highway was defeated on the grounds that improvements in other parts of town are needed worse and would benefit more people than the short links of cement to be used by only a few families.

Roy Wilson, county superintendent, accompanied by the assistant State superintendent of this district, were in Muenster on a tour of inspection Tuesday, and will submit to the local school board in the near future a report on their findings and suggested improvements for the school.

Knights Plan Major Degree For Sherman

The Muenster K. of C. Council will participate in a district major degree initiation to be held on May 2 at Sherman, it was decided in a meeting of officers from Muenster, Gainesville, Sherman, and Denison following the regular business meeting here Wednesday night.

Those who represented neighboring councils at the meeting are District Deputy Francis Mooney of Denison, Grand Knight Joe Walter of Gainesville, and Grand Knight John Arnold of Sherman.

The principal reason for selecting Sherman for the scene of the initiation is that the council there had not been honored with a major degree for about 10 years.

With normal sized classes already assured from Gainesville, Denison, and Sherman, and the usual large group from Muenster expected, officers of the district are looking forward to an impressive affair.

An unusually good attendance responded to Grand Knight Hennigan's notice ring and enjoyed short addresses by the visiting officers. After the meeting all of them gathered in the basement for a round of refreshments.

Next in importance to plans for the initiation was the election of alternates for the State convention to be held May 11 and 12 at Mineral Wells and sponsored by the Ranger council. M. J. Endres and J. S. Horn were elected first and second alternates respectively. Henry Hennigan and Herbert Meurer are automatically delegates as grand knight and past-grand knight.

Three visiting members, Madden, Becker, and Walcott, accompanied Mr. Mooney and Mr. Arnold to Muenster for Wednesday's meeting.

Though no official mention of it was made at the meeting, some members of the local council are already forming plans to attend the National K. of C. convention which will be held in San Antonio this year.

MUENSTER'S FIRST CAR OF DYNAMITE

Probably the first full car load shipment of dynamite ever to be delivered in Muenster arrived a few days ago for use in highway construction on the Muenster-St. Jo road. Henry Stelzer, local freight agent, states that in the 48 years that the Katy Railroad has been serving Muenster it had never before delivered a full car load of the explosive here.

All reasonable precautions were taken by Contractor R. W. McKinney to prevent any catastrophe with the 571 50-pound cases of dynamite. At a point one mile from the highway and two miles from the nearest home he constructed a special two-wall building with sand packed between the two walls and an extra heavy door. The special design was followed to assure a more even temperature as well as to insure against stray bullets from neighborhood hunters.

The dynamite is to be used for blasting down several hills on the highway.

The Muenster Cheese Factory sent another 7,000-pound load of cheese to Dallas Wednesday.

RECREATION ROOM IS FAVORED WITH RENOVATING WORK

The former garage building that was remodeled into a recreation parlor a few years ago is now being favored with a general renovating job. F. J. Schenk is replacing all defective boards in the floor with new ones and is providing a number of new electrical sockets for more convenient plug-ins. The carpenter work is being done by Henry Henscheid, Jr., and the electrical work by J. M. Luke.

The next step in the improvement program is a complete wall papering job to cover the drab dark paint

TEXAS BEAUTIES

In the "Texanita" contest to select Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition official hostesses, McClelland Barclay judged these five girls most beautiful among 500 entrants.

MUENSTER ENTRIES TAKE 3 TROPHIES IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Louise Schmitz fought her way through a hard match to give Muenster its second blue ribbon for Cooke County Interscholastic League tennis when she defeated Miss Newby of Gainesville Saturday afternoon. The week before Bertha Jane Hoehn and Bernice Kathman won the High School Junior Girls' event.

Less fortunate were other Muenster entries. After winning from Era by default and from Bulcher in consecutive sets, Albert Hoehn lost his match to White of Valley View. As darkness called a halt in that division White had won two out of three sets in a five-set match with Neeley of Myra.

Pat Stelzer and Clarence Hoehn likewise lost their match to the Valley View entries after defeating Myra. Valley View easily won the division from Callsburg.

In the senior girls doubles division Alvina Gehrig and Mildred Patrick won two easy sets from Era and lost consecutive sets to Valley View. Bulcher took the blue ribbon by defeating Valley View in the final contest.

At the time of this writing Muenster entries still have chances at two of the titles. In junior boys doubles Maurice Pagel and Norman Luke have entered the finals with Myra by defeating Valley View. Herbert Camp faces a hard match with Gainesville's high school jun-

Census Shows Fewer Scholastics Here for Coming School Year

The Muenster school district has 28 scholastics fewer than it had last year, according to census figures completed early this week by Rosabell Miller. The total for the coming school year as revealed by the new census is 304 as compared with 332 for last year.

The decrease in number of scholastics points to a considerable decrease in next year's balance in the school treasury. The school board, receiving slightly less than $20 per scholastic per year from the State will get about $550 less than it did this year.

Figures recently released by the school trustees reveal that they started the present school year with a balance of $217.80. To that amount the State added $6,242.75, bringing the total to $6,461.55. Expenditures to date have been $4,744.04, leaving a balance of $1,717.54, which probably will be reduced to about $1,450 at the end of the current year.

TRACHTA LOSES TO FLEITMAN BY 5-VOTE MARGIN

Hot Campaign Closes With Largest Vote to Date in City Election

The Muenster city council remains substantially unchanged as a result of Tuesday's election in which Mayor Endres and Aldermen Hennigan and Fisher were re-elected to another term in their old positions. The only change made is the election of Henry Fleitman to replace J. C. Trachta as alderman.

In spite of all the campaign fever the election was not nearly as close as had been anticipated. Every one of the re-elected persons was favored with a substantial majority. Of those John Fisher took the lead with 160 votes out of the 142 cast, M. J. Endres, getting 99 votes, ranked second in strength and Henry Hennigan polled 89 for a lead of 37. The tightest race of them all was that between Henry Fleitman and J. C. Trachta in which the former won by only five votes. H. S. Wilde, running for the same position, received only 10 votes.

While the election was not the closest Muenster has had, it drew considerably more votes than any in the past. The 142 votes cast Tuesday loom up as a sizeable total when compared with the 43 cast in the election two years ago. Probably the reason for the increased turnout at the polls is the increased interest resulting from a more lively campaign.

Until the latter part of the day the election was quiet. At noon only about 30 votes were cast and voting in the early afternoon was only slightly faster. But as the closing hours approached certain candidates began hauling in voters and others came around in greater numbers so

Eighty-Five Muenster Farmers Sign Up for Conservation Program

About 85 farmers of the Muenster community signed up for the 1937 soil conservation program at the special session conducted in the bank building Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week by G. H. Hellman, committeeman for Muenster. Mr. Hellman stated that the total number as yet does not equal that of last year but it is probable that many farmers, as in the past, will sign up at the county agent's office.

Discussing the program Mr. Hellman stated that every farmer would do well to sign up and become eligible for payment at the end of the year. Even those who are opposed to the principle of the program should make themselves eligible now for by doing so they have nothing to lose and at least something to gain. Should they decide not to follow the program they need not make application for payment later, but should they find that unfavorable weather later deprives them of the expected income, they are at least eligible for some compensation from the government.

Electric Power Wired To Two More Homes of Muenster Community

Two more local persons to be favored with rural power extension by Texas Power & Light Co. are Theo. Walterscheid and Frank Walterscheid. T. P. & L. linemen were busy extending the lines Monday.

Frank Walterscheid will probably be able to use the power as soon as connections are made, his house was previously wired in several rooms for Wincharger current. Theo's house had to be specially wired.

The extension of electrical service to these two homes brings the total score for recent rural electrification up to five. Only a few weeks ago power lines were extended to the homes of John Walter, Will Richter, and Tony Feldrhoof.

John Wieler Marries Miss Walterscheid

John Wieler and Susannah Walterscheid of Tishomingo, Okla., were made man and wife at a Nuptial High Mass Monday, April 5, at 8 o'clock with Father Campbell, pastor of the Tishomingo parish blessing the union and celebrating the Mass.

Bridesmaid and best man at the wedding were the groom's sister, Catherine of Dallas and the bride's brother, Otto. Catherine had come from Dallas to Gainesville by bus Sunday afternoon and was met there by Mr. Wieler.

An old-time all day German wedding was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Walterscheid, who are former residents of Muenster. Feasting and a general all day visit were the order of the occasion.

Several of John's relatives and friends who drove to Tishomingo for the wedding were pleased to spend the day with old friends who formerly lived here and at Lindsay.

Shortly after noon the newly married couple left on a week's honeymoon trip to El Paso. They were accompanied as far as Dallas by Catherine Wieler, who was due to return to her duties as a registered nurse at St. Paul's Sanitarium Tuesday morning. When John and his bride return from their trip they will make their home here with John's aged mother.

Those of Muenster who attended the wedding were Mrs. Elizabeth Wieler, Mrs. Ben Roewe and children, Mrs. Henry Feltman and daughter, Irene, Joe Felderhoff and children, and F. E. Schmitz. At Ardmore Mrs. Wm. Billingsby, who is better known to Muenster people as the former Emma Wieler, and her young son joined the wedding-bound party.

Miss Schmitz Becomes Wife Of Jake Horn

Lindsay, April 7.—Before an altar banked with greenery and bridal wreath and tall candles that burned in silver candle-sticks Miss Louise Schmitz, daughter of Theo. Schmitz of Lindsay, became the bride of Jake Horn, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Horn of Muenster.

The ceremony was performed in St. Peter's Church Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock with the Rev. Father Francis, O. S. B., of Muenster reading the marriage vows and celebrating the nuptial High Mass.

Frederick and John Schmitz, Jr., Hubert and Bobby Bezner, and Walter Schmitz, five cousins of the bride, served at the Mass and the Caeclia choir, under the direction of Father John, sang John C. Bonner's Mass in honor of St. Aloysius.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin's wedding march, played on the organ by Miss Regina Fuhrmann. J. L. Battmann's "Processional Voluntary" was used as a recessional.

The bride was lovely in a floor-length wedding gown of heavy white satin made with a fitted waist and a wide swing skirt. Her sleeves were long and close fitting and the gown had a beautiful calla lily neck. Her fingertip veil was of white silk bridal illusion edged with narrow lace. Miss Schmitz wore silver sandals and carried a bouquet of white lilies and fern tied in white tulle.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Hulda Kuntz, who wore a floor-length dress of pink taffeta made with short puffed sleeves and a wide swing skirt. Her close fitting turban was of pink straw with a nose veil. Silver sandals and a shoulder corsage of pink carnations completed her ensemble.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the home of the bride's father, Theo. Schmitz north of Lindsay, followed by an informal reception at which uncles and aunts of the young couple were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Horn will make their home in Muenster.

SHIPWRECKED on the African coast! That's the theme of the story that Christian Brodersen of Valley Stream, N. Y., is going to tell us today. And though a tale of shipwreck usually involves a battle with the sea and a grim fight against thirst and starvation, you'll find that none of those dangers bothered Chris. Shipwreck is one thing—but shipwreck on the African coast is another, involving perils far more horrible than anything Old Father Neptune has to offer.

It was on May 25, 1903, that Chris Brodersen signed as a messroom steward on the steamer Lulu Bohlen sailing out of Hamburg, Germany, for the west coast of Africa. After an uneventful trip with stops at Madeira and Palma in the Canary islands, the ship arrived at Monrovia, Liberia, on June 16. There they took on 40 Kroo boys and sailed that same afternoon for Cape Palmas on the Liberian coast. But the ship never reached Cape Palmas—and neither did any of the crew.

On the Rocks, Twenty Miles Off Shore.

At 11:30 that night the Lulu Bohlen ran on the rocks, 20 miles out from shore, off the mouth of the Sanguien river. They didn't know it then, but fires lighted by the treacherous natives had led the ship off its course, and they were in for trouble. The passengers, including about 40 women and children, took off in boats manned by most of the crew. The captain, second officer, chief steward and a few others remained behind on the wrecked ship.

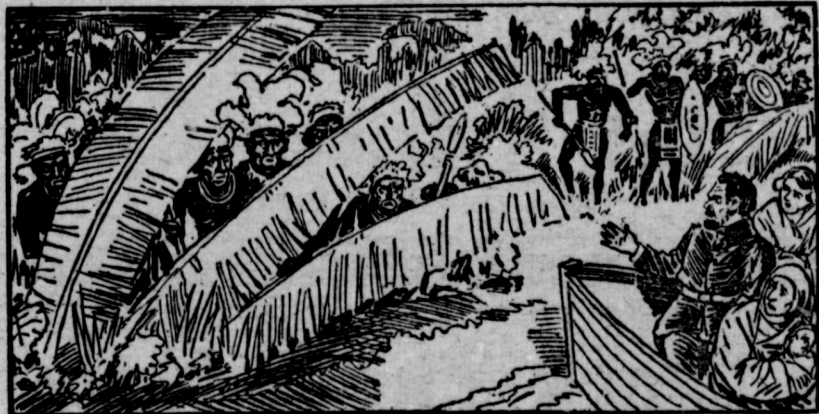

Following the captain's instructions, the boats headed for the trading post at River Cess, 60 miles away. They drifted all night close by the steamer and started for River Cess at daybreak. They reached it that evening—to find that the natives had already started looting the Lulu Bohlen and had part of the cargo drawn up on shore near the post.

From that moment on, life was a horrible grisly dream for the passengers and crew of the wrecked ship. The minute the boats were beached they were surrounded by a horde of natives, who snatched the small belongings the passengers had saved from the wreck and vanished with them into the bush. It was only with difficulty that they reached the protection of the trading post stockade, and even then the natives threatened until the trader gave them gin to keep them quiet.

Week of Terror at the Post.

"The natives swarmed around the post day and night," says Chris. "We had to watch our boats incessantly, as they kept trying to smash them to prevent us from getting away. After about two days, some of the crew started back to the ship to get the captain and those who had remained with him. That left only 16 of the crew to protect the women and children. And never in my life shall I forget the week that followed."

Day by day the natives became more restive and more threatening. Again and again the trader gave them more gin to keep them from attacking the post and slaughtering its inhabitants. Anyone who ventured outside the gates now, was stripped of all his belongings and whatever of his clothes took fancy of the blacks. When the gin gave out, the trader was forced to part with other articles of his stock. Before the week had passed he had lost everything he owned. And still the natives threatened and demanded more.

Things had come to a critical point. The natives, with no prospect of more loot from the trading post, were about to attack and slaughter those inside. Then, in the nick of time, a German steamer, the Kurt Woermann, hove in sight. Inside the post, the trader ran up the distress signal—the company flag, turned upside down and tied in a knot—and the steamer sent a landing party to investigate.

Rest of Crew Found in Sad State.

The Kurt Woermann took passengers and crew of the Lulu Bohlen aboard, and then proceeded down the coast to look for the rest of the crew—those who had set out in one of the boats to bring back the captain and those others who had remained behind on the wrecked ship.

"We sighted them," says Chris, "about 30 miles from the wreck, and the landing party that went after them found them in terrible state. They had barely got outside of the river mouth when their boat was wrecked in a heavy surf. They swam to shore, only to be met by a crowd of natives, who followed them, stole everything they had, including most of their clothes. Some of the natives even bit the plumper ones in the arms and chest until the more civilized blacks drove them off."

Those fellows never had reached the Lulu Bohlen. They had followed the shore line for more than a week, walking first, then staggering and close to exhaustion. For the entire time they had had nothing to eat, for their supplies had been lost when the boat overturned in the surf.

The steamer Kurt Woermann proceeded on down the coast. When it reached the scene of the wreck, they found the Lulu Bohlen, her keel broken in the middle and her decks awash, but no sign of the captain, the mate, chief steward, or any of the rest. The Kurt Woermann moved on down the coast.

At Sinoe, they found the captain, but none of the others. The captain had paid two natives to take them to Sinoe in a canoe. That was the last he had seen of them. "They found the missing men at last in a native kraal," says Chris. "Instead of taking them to Sinoe, the blacks in the canoe had put them on shore at the mercy of other natives. They barely escaped being made into pepper soup. We got back to Germany about the end of July, and a month later British, French and German gunboats shelled the coast villages to punish the natives for wrecking ships—and for cannibalism!"

Barney Oldfield, dean of American race drivers, presents the formula for safe driving. When your speedometer goes to 50, think of 55 feet. That is how far the car will travel after you decide to stop, before your foot can touch the brake pedal. When the speedometer says 40 think of 44 feet; if 30, think of 33 feet, and so on. Experts call this the "reaction distance."

To find out how much room you need to stop safely at 40 or 50 miles an hour, Oldfield's formula multiplies the "reaction distance" by three. At 50 miles an hour, you would multiply 55 by three, and know that a distance of 165 feet should be necessary to stop the car. —Chicago Journal of Commerce.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

BOUGHT ADMIRATION IS RIDICULE

WE ARE told the occupation of gigolo is on the increase in this country. In Paris, where the idea of idle young men selling their time to women who can pay for it does not meet our prejudices, escort-hire has long been a common thing.

Why, it is argued, should not a bored, lonesome and wealthy middle-aged woman take a leaf out of the masculine book and buy the charm of the other sex, or—what may be more important to her—buy herself some admiration?

More and more men have entered the ranks of the idle in this country, and of the country's wealth forty-one per cent is in the hands of women. Is it not natural then that men should adopt the occupation of pleasing women, as it has been for centuries the occupation of women to please men? Then why shouldn't the gigolo flourish?

I'll tell you why, my friends. And that entirely apart from the question of masculine inclination or disinclination for that particular way of earning a living.

The reason is simply this: that women are not so much addicted as men to fooling themselves! And people who can get pleasure from a social or sex relationship for which they have to pay must be willing to fool themselves.

The middle-aged man whose mirror tells him plainly that his good points lie neither in his looks nor a devastating charm, may really enjoy having a blond baby doll tell him—for a price—that he's "just gorgeous" and "I'm crazy about you." But to enjoy that he must be able to fool himself. And many of him are eminently able to; they have had generations and generations of practice at fooling themselves in that way.

But not so with women. A woman of whatever years and dimensions undoubtedly enjoys dancing with a young Apollo with the winged feet of Mercury. And she would enjoy more his appearing to enjoy dancing with her—and telling her that she is "gorgeous" or "ravishing" (I believe the gigolo is more subtle than the baby doll)—if way back in her own mind there were not that insistent voice telling her that bought admiration is ridicule, and that bought gallantry is an ugly thing. In other words, she cannot fool herself.

Here and there one or two of her may fool themselves, just as always, here and there, some men could not be fooled. But the number of exceptions in the case of women are hardly enough to foster the growth of such a masculine occupation, even if our men were willing.

CHECKING FIRE HAZARDS

A RECENTLY released report on fire losses in Texas for January reveals the total damage is decreased 35 per cent as compared with January of 1936. The figure is encouraging but other items on the report give good food for thought.

Defective or overheated chimneys, flues and fireplaces caused 45 fires. Thirty-five were caused by defective stoves, boilers, and furnaces; 49 were caused by defective gas appliances or having gas stoves too near curtains or walls. Twenty-five were caused by smoking and 11 by careless use of matches. One hundred ten are charged to unknown causes and it is probable that many of them come under the above headings.

These figures are mentioned because they reveal the most common causes of fire. One or the other of those causes may at this very time be causing the destruction of one of our homes.

Knowing that those are the most common fire hazards, would we not do well to check them over without further delay? Let's know that chimneys, flues, gas connections, and stoves are safe. Let's resolve to break all careless habits regarding smoking, matches, location of gas stoves, etc.

Three hundred ninety-one fires in January cost Texans $292,973. From the misfortune of those people we can learn to prevent misfortune to ourselves.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE MONEY

TRUSTEES of the Muenster school advise that after all of the year's bills are paid their fund will contain something between $1,400 and $1,500. Since it contained less than $300 at the beginning of the last year, we know that almost $1,200 was saved this year.

And for what? For the privilege of returning it to the County or State, unless we do something with it.

Many of the people in this community have been wanting a gymnasium. If those same people will show a little spirit now we can have a gymnasium. If each one of them would remind members of the school board that Muenster really wants a gym, those same trustees would be willing to think it over.

Of course there are a few difficulties regarding the financing. The school's surplus isn't as favorable every year as it is now so the school could not possibly assume the total burden. But business people of Muenster should be willing to help along. Community spirit should prompt some support; business judgment should prompt some more.

Why not look at the problem from this angle? Our school treasury can stand a small expenditure each year on payment for the gym (and unless we spend the money it will be sent out for others to spend) Muenster people would save transportation costs to other towns and keep at home the admission price of games. Neighboring communities would provide some revenue by renting the gym and acquire a more friendly feeling that would eventually result in increased business for Muenster merchants. As regards running expenses and interest on indebtedness, admission prices would more than provide for them.

Muenster can take its choice. Put up a gym, or give the money away and at the same time pass up a good chance for better business.

THE COUNTRY PRESS

IN ENGLAND, where almost everyone can have a London morning paper at his breakfast table, newspapers published in small towns have become more parochial than in this country and often have been neglected. Today, however, as England faces the possibility of mobilization for a new war, the importance of the country press is becoming recognized anew.

The British leaders are aware that winning a war involves mobilization of more than military, naval and air forces. Industrial production must be regimented, food supplies conserved and equitably distributed, and public opinion whipped into line in support of the Government's war policies. In gaining these ends, the local papers are just as important as those in metropolitan centers.

In the United States, the more enlightened politicians and industrial leaders have been aware all along of the importance of the country weekly as an organ of news and opinion. No matter how many large dailies a small-town resident may take for his national and foreign news, he depends on his local paper for news of neighborhood happenings and for grass-root opinions.

Since the day of the hand press, the country editor has been one of the real leaders of his community. His aid is one of the earliest sought when any public improvement or civic campaign is desired. He makes little money, but he has the satisfaction of helping to develop his home town and of upholding the most basic of our American traditions.—Dallas News.

THE REAL TROUBLE AND THE ONLY REMEDY

WHAT a sorry mess we human beings can make of a wonderful world!! Twenty years ago we were engaged in a wholesale slaughter. Other wars have been fought since then. Today the people of Spain are butchering one another to decide whether the survivors will be free men or slaves. Today the people of America are waging an industrial war that brings poverty and hunger to helpless women and children.

Regardless of who is right in every one of these struggles, it is undeniable that every one is at least partially wrong. The old regime in Spain had its faults or Communism could not have secured a foothold. If Capital had always been fair, Labor agitators could not have won their present power.

And now Communism and Labor Radicals seek to paralyze the opposition; they are the unfair ones now.

Diplomats and arbitrators have been trying to maintain satisfactory relations for years, but every one of them seeks to gain a slight advantage. They try to pacify the opposition by artificial means rather than by going to the heart of the trouble.

The world is made up of thinking people, and people who think are certain to have conflicting ideas and conflicting interests, and such conflicts can be satisfactorily settled only by compromise. At times people can be forced into submission but not without leaving a smouldering feeling of discontent.

People do not have to study complex systems of economics to make this a better world. They need above all to observe Christ's first and second Commandment: "Love thy God above all things, and love thy neighbor as thyself."

Think it over. Would we have wars if people loved God and their fellow man?

Would people live in luxury while others starve?

Would workingmen betray a fair employer? Would stealing, cheating, or murder be known?

The world that was given us as a habitation is the best possible world but it was messed up by a lot of spiritual illiterates who had no idea of their obligations to God or fellowman.

To a certain extent every community is a small world within itself. This community can be made better by a more general feeling of friendship and it can be kept better by preserving the traditions of Christianity.

With one voice Christianity and sound judgment beg for consideration to the other fellow. Regardless of the rest of the world, let us improve our own little world by heeding their plea.

The Will to Live

After a certain trench raid during the World War an A. E. F. surgeon told the chaplain that one poor fellow was quite beyond hope. The chaplain leaned over him: "My dear fellow, you are very badly wounded; have you anything to say, or any word you want to send to your family?"

"My inside coat pocket," breathed the soldier, painfully.

The chaplain felt a pocketbook, and took it out. "Is this what you want?"

"Yes, open it."

"Here is a $10 bill; is that what you want?"

"Yes," said the soldier, in a whisper; "bet you THAT that I don't die." And he did not.—Frank H. Cheley.

MOSQUITOES AND FLIES ARE MENACE TO PUBLIC HEALTH

Austin, April 8.—Word has just been received by the State Department of Health that Mr. and Mrs. Mosquito and Mr. and Mrs. Fly, with their kinfolks, are on their way to Texas for the summer season. They state that, although many had died since last summer, they would soon have large families. Mrs. Mosquito raises from 50 to 300 children at one time and only takes around two weeks to have full grown children. Mrs. Fly admitted that she and her husband could be ancestors to a million flies in one season.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, stated that Texas hospitality could be refused the Fly and Mosquito families if Annual Clean-Up Week was observed.

Mosquitoes are responsible for the spread of malaria, dengue, and yellow fever. Malaria is spread by the bite of the anopheles or malaria mosquito. Dengue fever and yellow fever are transmitted by the Aedes Aegypti or Tiger mosquito. The best way to prevent these diseases is to destroy breeding places of the mosquito. They breed in standing water, therefore, you should drain, ditch or fill such places, spray oil on water each week, too, or stock the water with surface minnows as they will eat the wiggle-tails. Houses should be screened.

Flies help spread typhoid fever, dysentery, diarrhea, tuberculosis, anthrax, and cholera. They breed, live and feed in filth. To prevent their increase all refuse should be disposed of at once, garbage kept in covered containers, privies made sanitary and houses screened. Every neighborhood raises its own flies so that their number is an excellent index to the sanitary conditions.

"Reprisals" against high Texas taxes on products exported to other States are threatened in Iowa and Illinois, reports the All-South Development Council, in the form of proposed levies in those States against Texas natural gas and cotton seed oil shortening. It is pointed out this tendency deflates the argument that Texas producers can "pass along" mounting tax costs to out-of-State consumers with impunity to the State.

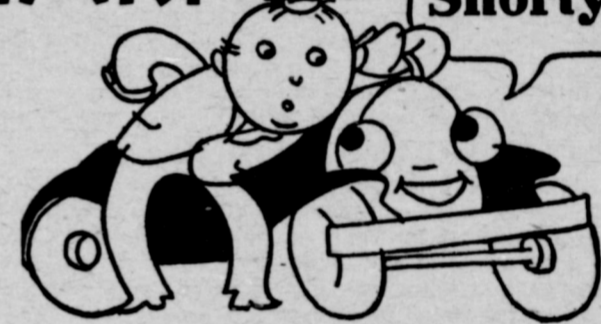

The fire brigade of South Cork, Irish Free State, has refused to attend fires outside the city unless the county contributes to its support.

MUENSTER CHOIR WILL GIVE BENEFIT DANCE IN PARISH HALL TUESDAY

The Muenster choir is now making preparations for a benefit dance to be given next Tuesday for the purpose of raising money to provide new song books and other necessary paraphernalia for the singers. A part of the money cleared at the dance will probably be used to sponsor the concert on the following Sunday, Leo Henscheld, director of the choir, said.

Since the dance was decided upon only recently, arrangements have not been made for an orchestra but Henry Luke, secretary of the singers, stated that an effort would be made to engage Gordon Shay's band of Wichita Falls. In the event Mr. Shay cannot play that night Berry Garner will be asked to play.

The local songsters are hopeful that they will have a good crowd for the affair. Since they receive no compensation for their regular practice sessions or singing at church services they are giving the dance for badly needed funds.

Jacob Pagel Hurt When Run Over by Fire Truck

Jacob Pagel spent Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday in bed as a result of injuries received when he was run over by the fire truck Monday evening.

In attempting to answer the fire summons when Mrs. Fuhrbach's barn caught fire Mr. Pagel was thrown off and under the truck and the right rear wheel is reported to have passed over both his legs above the knees.

No bones were broken but Mr. Pagel was badly bruised and a blood vessel was broken. He is expected to be back at his regular duties in the store next week.

I. A. Schoech Elected to Succeed Theo Miller on Muenster School Board

I. A. Schoech was elected Saturday as the new member of the Muenster school board in the dull school election to be held here in several years. He replaces Theo. Miller who declined to accept the position for another term and hence did not have his name on the ballot. Mr. Schoech's was the only name on the ticket.

Fourteen persons voted in the election. Of that number 11 votes were cast for Mr. Schoech and Mr. Miller's name was written on the other three. Comparatively few people were aware of the election and of those few some declined to vote because there was so little concern over the election.

Old-timers were reminded of the school elections years ago when, after sitting at the desk all day, the election judge would call in a sufficient number of voters to make the election legal.

After resting here since March 18 from the effects of her appendicitis operation on March 1, Eugenia Luke is planning to return to her old duties at Fort Worth this week-end. During her stay here Eugenia was the guest of the W. H. Endres and Ben Luke families.
