MYSTERY MAN SHOTS PARTY IN FARM HOME

SCOTLAND, S. D., Nov. 16.—(P)—Two persons were shot to death and three others were wounded at the John Grosz farm near here last night by a mysterious assassin, who fired through a window with a shotgun. The dead are Robert Zwiefel, 18, and Mrs. John Grosz, 50, wife of the owner of the farm. The wounded are Clarence Zwiefel, 15, brother of Robert; Emmanuel Grosz, 25, and Mrs. Solomon Grosz, 30. Several other occupants of the room escaped the blast of bullets that swept through the window just as the party prepared to sit down to a game of cards. According to information received here, the slayer fired four or five charges from his shotgun without revealing himself to any of the victims. No motive was known for the attack. Fleeing from the murderous hail of lead that swept the room, Clarence Zwiefel and Emmanuel Grosz dashed from the building. Grosz ran through a corn field with the assassin pursuing him a quarter of a mile, firing as he ran, according to the account of the affair received here.

Former Sherman Women Implicated in Garland Case

DALLAS, Nov. 15.—(P)—Miss Juanita Overly, 18, and Mrs. Gladys Redding, 23, were today released on $2,500 bonds after formal complaints were filed charging them with killing Ira Crosby. The grand jury started an investigation. Crosby was shot at Garland Saturday night at a cold drink stand. SHERMAN, Nov. 15.—(P)—Juanita Overly, 20, and Mrs. Marie Redding, 23, both of whom are reported to claim responsibility for the death of I. V. Crosby, 30, at Garland Saturday night, were formerly of Sherman. Crosby was under indictment here for alleged perjury in the trial of Juanita Overly here October 14, 1925, on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor. She was convicted and given a one year suspended sentence and went to Dallas shortly afterward with Mrs. Redding, a chum. Her mother, Mrs. Nellie Overly, was convicted of selling intoxicating liquor and given two years October 15, 1925. Her half brother, Graydon, recently returned from the penitentiary where he served a term after conviction of a liquor law violation. Crosby's bond was forfeited here last week when he failed to appear for trial on the perjury charge.

Behind---and Beyond

Thanksgiving is a fitting occasion on which to survey the days, months and years that have gone. In the looking backward, we find much that is worthy of gratitude. In the looking forward, there is more. There is the inspiration to guide our eyes toward the future, that it may be moulded by the finest achievements of the past. The Pilgrim Forefathers were the original enablers of the American race, and gave impetus to ideals that have made us a better set of people. We should not forget them, this Thanksgiving, and we should be thankful for the magnificent momentum toward happiness, freedom, and the ultimate clarification of strife and problems that are after all only the growing plants of a country's perfection.

ONE IS KILLED FOURTEEN ARE BADLY INJURED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—(P)—One man was killed and fourteen others injured in a fight with machine guns, shotguns and pistols at Gentilly bayou, De La Croix island, today. The fight marked a renewal of the trappers war which has been waged annually through several trapping seasons. Sam Gwoland, deputy sheriff, formerly a justice of peace of St. Bernard parish, was killed. Injuries to the others were not believed to be serious. Details Are Vague. Versions of the shooting were at variance. The fight occurred as ten deputy sheriffs and guards protecting leased trapping lands posted a group of trappers and their sympathizers on the levee. The officers asserted that as they reached a point near De La Croix island, the crowd of trappers opened fire upon them with machine guns, shotguns and other weapons. The trappers declared the guards fired upon them first after they pleaded for an interview to bring to an amicable settlement misunderstandings between the trappers, the land owners and guards. After a score of shots had been fired, a bullet struck the gas tank of the launch carrying the officers and the boat sank after the engine had been put out of commission. The guards swam ashore in the face of the trappers fire, reports said, and fought their way through the crowd grouped about the top of the levee. Sheriff Moreaux, of St. Bernard parish, with all available deputies hurried to the scene in automobiles, arriving after the battle had ended. Captain J. H. Asher of Dallas, Texas, in charge of the corps of guards, and slightly wounded in the affray, said that he and his men had been forced to sign statements to the effect that they had fired upon the trappers before being allowed to leave. Four of the party on the launch and Captain Asher were numbered among the injured. Two trappers were hurt on the other side. Albert Gonzales, a trapper, contradicted the claim of the officers. He asserted that the deputies had fired upon the trappers from the launch with a machine gun and other weapons after the group on the levee had hoisted a white flag signifying that they desired to have a friendly talk. Captain Asher said that the guards had not been given the slightest warning. Ill feeling which has existed among trappers and land owners for several years had been increased this season by the importation of armed guards from Texas. The war grows out of a disagreement over leases of the trapping rights.

NEXT SATURDAY CALLS FOR ELECTION WATER IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT

The water improvement election will be held in two places outside of Brownwood, that is, outside the city limits, next Saturday. This election is for the purpose of creating a water improvement district, also for authorizing the issuance of bonds in an amount to be used in preliminary work in the area to be included in the conservation program; ascertaining just what is necessary and getting ready for future work in the matter of building the dam, which will require an issuance of bonds and which will be referred to the voters at a later date. Five directors are also to be elected next Saturday. Much has been said in regard to this big industrial project, which means so much to Brownwood. The big dam would be located nine miles north of Brownwood at a place known as "The Narrows," just below the junction of the Jim N-d Creek and the Pecan Bayou. The creation of the water improvement district will make it possible for Brownwood to install a permanent water supply, a condition which has not prevailed here, since civilization reached this part of the central west. If the election fails, Brownwood will be set back, or will remain, rather, in the same situation that has always prevailed, and always threatened with a dearth of water. Few people, perhaps, take into consideration that it takes a great deal more water for Brownwood now than it required last year, the year before.

that and for all the years that are past. Brownwood is growing and will continue to grow if the water supply is made permanent, and large enough in volume to take care of all future years. The election next Saturday is very important. There will be six voting places—the four in Brownwood, in the wards, and the two places outside the city limits—one at the old Blue Ribbon Refinery and one on the Lucas farm. People who live outside the city limits west of the Bayou will vote at the refinery box, and those who are outside on the east side of the Bayou will vote at the Lucas farm box.

MEDICINAL WHISKEY SUPPLY EXHAUSTED DECLARES ANDREWS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(P)—America's good whiskey has reached the vanishing point and a state of emergency requiring congressional action was declared today by General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the dry forces. He is preparing a measure to permit distilleries again to turn out their forbidden wares in order to insure a supply of medicinal liquor. Only a bare five year stock of about 15,000,000 gallons of medicinal whiskey is on hand. General Andrews said today and if the supply is not to be exhausted, the distilleries must be opened immediately. White details of his program have not yet been worked out, General Andrews plans to have the distilleries turn out two brands, probably rye and bourbon.

CIGARETTE SMOKING BY SCHOOL GIRLS IS PRESSING PROBLEM

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Cigarette smoking among the high school girls is one of the phases of scholastic life deserving an official frown from the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers Associations...

There is a law against selling tobacco to minors in Texas and it is the duty of the Texas Congress of Mothers not only to insist that the law is observed but to foster a wave of public sentiment against cigarette smoking among high school girls, she declared.

Asked if she thought enough Texas school girls smoke to justify a remedial campaign, Mrs. Porter said: "I know that a great many Dallas high school girls are smoking and I am assuming that a similar condition exists in other cities in the state."

NEW MOVEMENT FOR CALLES OVERTHROW STARTS IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 15.—(AP)—That enemies of the government are endeavoring to start a movement for the overthrow of Calles is evident from the newspapers, which record activities of rebel and bandit groups in various parts of the country.

The war department asserts that the revolutionary outbreaks do not offer a military problem because the rebel groups are very small and lack of unity of action. In a majority of cases the revolutionists are said to be bandits who are profiting by the opportunity offered them by the religious unrest again to become active.

The war department says it has the situation under control. Federal soldiers in motor lorries are patrolling the highways in zones where rebels are active. Passenger and freight trains are running under military escort, while troops are being held in readiness at various points along the railways to be rushed to places where rebels or bandits hold up trains.

IMPROVEMENT IN TREASURY IS REPORTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—If Congress approves the Coolidge-Mellon plan to allow credits on income tax payments next year, the treasury secretary now believes that 15 per cent, instead of 10 or 12 1/2 as formerly suggested, can be lopped off the levies.

Mr. Mellon's new estimate is based on continued improvement in the treasury's surplus prospects, the figure having risen to $200,000,000. When President Coolidge made his original suggestion, calling for a 10 per cent allowance, he based his calculations on an estimate that the treasury would have $200,000,000 on hand at the end of the current fiscal year. Seeing $50,000,000 more in prospect, the secretary shortly afterwards figured that a credit of 12 1/2 per cent was possible, but since then, another $50,000,000 has come into view, bringing another 2 1/2 per cent boost.

Opposes Legislation. The latest estimate would mean that the tax payers, making returns next year on this year's incomes, could be granted 30 per cent reductions on their first two quarterly instalments. This change, however, carries with it no alternation in the opinion of treasury officials that legislation to make a permanent reduction in the tax rate at this time is not justified by visible long range prospects under the present law.

Meanwhile, sentiment in congressional circles discloses no sign of crystallizing for or against the administration's credit proposal, and it remains clear that the treasury officials would not be overwhelmed with disappointment if it should fail to survive the clash of conflicting ideas already in evidence in the capitol office buildings. In that event, the treasury's original plan to apply the surplus to the public debt and thereby indirectly relieve all taxpayers by cutting down the annual interest requirements, would be effected, although Secretary Mellon regards the $500,000,000 reduction already in prospect, regardless of the surplus, as being sufficient for this purpose.

Albert Bonds Surrenders to Rangers Saturday

BELTON, Texas, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Albert W. Bonds, former sheriff under murder indictments charging the fatal shooting of Chief of Police Wiley Fisher of Temple, who was released under $10,000 bond here Sunday by District Judge Lewis H. Jones, spent Sunday night at home with his family and was meeting his friends there this morning.

In a statement to the press he said that he would not discuss his case nor would he say anything about where he had been in hiding. He said that he surrendered late Saturday night to Frank Hamer at Austin and spent the night with Mr. Hamer, coming to Belton Sunday morning.

"I surrendered as soon as I felt that it was safe to do so," he said. "My future plans depend on the advice of my attorneys and largely will hinge upon the setting of my case."

Bonds was accompanied to Belton Sunday by Captain Frank Hamer, two Texas rangers, Constable W. E. Vick of Precinct 8, Bell county, and M. L. McBryde, also of Bell county. The party drove to the south side of the Bell county court house and were in the building but long enough to go to the district court room and make the necessary arrangements for the bonds.

Bonds has been sought by officers since August 13th, when Fisher was shot on the streets of Belton and Bonds left town.

Fisher died without making a statement, but there was a large number of eyewitnesses to the shooting, which occurred in front of an undertaking establishment, where a funeral was in progress. Bonds and the party accompanying him went to the home of his attorney after the bond was completed and none of them made a statement about the matter. Judge Jones admitted that the bond had been made, but did not give any particulars. District Attorney Few Brewster said that he knew nothing of the arrangements for releasing the defendant and that he had never agreed to his making bond on this charge. Sheriff John Highum was out of town and deputies in the sheriff's office said they did not know of the occurrence until the bond was made. The case had not been set for trial, as the defendant was not under appearance bond and a probable trial date had not been arranged.

STANDARD OIL DEVELOPS NEW FINANCE PLAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, world's largest oil corporation, has embarked upon a $200,000,000 financing plan primarily to get off its books high priced seven per cent preferred stock, issued just after the war.

Simultaneously with announcement of the financial plan, the board of directors declared an extra dividend of 12 1/2 cents in addition to its regular dividend of 25 cents on common stock.

The plan calls for redemption of approximately $200,000,000 of preferred stock by March 16, 1927, at $115 a share. To provide funds for this, $120,000,000 in 20 year five per cent debentures and 3,449,317 shares of new common with a $2 par value will be issued.

The new common will be offered at par to common stockholders in the proportion of one new share to each six shares outstanding. J. P. Morgan will offer the debentures giving preferred stockholders preference. Bankers regard oversubscription as assured. The sale price has not yet been decided upon.

There are 38,000 preferred stockholders on the books and more than 20,000,000 shares of common stock outstanding. Subscription rights giving first call to the new common stock are estimated on Wall Street to be worth $2.50 a share on the outstanding stock.

The plan is the largest ever undertaken by an industrial corporation and second only to 1921 financing of the Hill railroads which involved a $239,000,000 bond issue.

Four Men Charged by Warrants With Harboring Aliens

GALVESTON, Texas, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Four men charged with harboring and concealing aliens were arrested here on warrants sworn out by immigration inspectors. It became known today that the men appearing on the warrants were: F. J. Waldhofer, John Habluetzel, Alfred Habluetzel and Harry Rau. Customs officials charge that German aliens were concealed and farmed out as cheap labor. Five aliens arrested recently in a raid at Galveston were held as witnesses.

Home Andrews of Brownwood, who is attending the Sweeney Automotive and Electrical School in Kansas City, witnessed the spectacular dedication of the great memorial shaft in Kansas City on Armistice Day, and writes that it was a most impressive occasion. He was privileged to take a special pose of President Coolidge, and told the chief executive with some pride that he hailed from Brownwood.

CRAWFORD TO ACCEPT STATE PRISON TERM

AUSTIN, Nov. 17.—(AP)—William Lester Crawford, sentenced from Dallas county to five years for manslaughter in connection with the killing of Paul O'Day, withdrew his motion for rehearing in the court of criminal appeals today.

The court sometime ago affirmed the sentence and his motion for rehearing was pending. With the withdrawal of Crawford's motion, his sentence of five years became automatically effective. At the time of the killing, Crawford and O'Day were prominent young attorneys of Dallas. A suit over the will of Crawford's father was responsible for the difficulty.

PANHANDLE IS SHIVERING AS BLIZZARD HITS

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Although Amarillo and this section of the Panhandle expected to find a foot or so of snow on the ground this morning following the terrific north wind that swept down out of Colorado last night, today broke clear and still, with a temperature of 25.

The 35 mile gale which started at 4 p. m. yesterday had abated somewhat at midnight last night, but not before the temperature had dropped to near freezing. The temperature yesterday fluctuated wildly, climbing from 31 degrees in the early morning to 73 at 3 p. m., only to start downward again until it reached 23 this morning.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A strong wind sweeping down from the snow-blanketed plains of Colorado struck this section at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night and reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour. The maximum temperature in Wichita Falls for the past 24 hours was 72 and the minimum 57.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Blizzards that blanketed Montana, Wyoming and Colorado and from one to seven inches of snow yesterday had abated today as the storm spread over the southwest where sharp drops in temperature turned rain to sleet or snow.

HOUSTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A forty mile an hour wind swept down upon Houston Tuesday. In Dallas its velocity was sixty miles. The weather bureau attributed it to a marked low area over Denver Monday and then the wind rushed in from the gulf.

WAREHOUSES UNABLE TAKE MORE STAPLE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The New Orleans States said today an embargo on cotton had been put into effect in New Orleans, occasioned by over-crowded warehouses.

Officials of the Louisville and Nashville railroad and the Southern Pacific railroad stated that an embargo was in effect and said that every effort had been and was being made to prevent such action. The States quoted an official of the L. and N. railroad as saying that matters had come to a showdown.

"The dock boards on all the warehouses have notified the railroads that they have no space for cotton and that they simply would and could not take any more," the story said. "Not one bale can be stored at this time, it added. All local interests have been co-operating for the past several weeks in efforts to alleviate the warehouse situation."

SEYMOUR COTTON OIL MILL PLANT MENAGED BY DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

SEYMOUR, Texas, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Firemen this morning were still pouring water on the smouldering contents of the hull house and linter room as a result of the fire which threatened to destroy the entire plant of the Seymour cotton oil mill, together with its contents valued at about $500,000 last night.

The fire department of Goree answered an emergency call and with the Seymour company fought so valiantly that the total damage was held to about $40,000 to the stock of linters, cake, meal and hulls and $15,000 to the plant.

The fire broke out in the hull house on the north side of the plant and the 20 mile north blowing flames over to the main buildings, so that for a time it seemed as if nothing could save them from destruction.

Some 5,000 bales in the cotton yard some 400 feet away were also seriously threatened but the loss there was held to 25 bales. Three of six box cars loaded with cotton seed which were on the siding were destroyed.

Members of Woodmen Circle Recipients Service Honor Pins

Woodmen Circle Grove No. 35 met Tuesday afternoon. After the regular order of business had received attention, and interesting function was presented in honor of all members who had been in the lodge for 25 years, or longer. These members were presented with service pins by Mrs. Annie Whitten, who is a member of the national legislative committee. Flowers were presented by juveniles, the Anderson twins, which was one of the very pleasing features of the program. The twins led the march with the members following into the hall. The twins are grandchildren of Mrs. Ed Grady, who was one of the members who was presented with a pin because of her membership of 25 years. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion. A special table had been prepared for the guests. Those who received pins were Mrs. Grady, Mrs. Hennesdorf, Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Harryman, Mrs. Connor, Mrs. J. M. Perry, Mrs. N. N. Stagg, Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Jim Smith, Judge Jenkins, E. J. BRIDE OF WOUNDED MAN WATCHES WHILE LIFE SLOWLY EBBS

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Grief-stricken relatives of Mrs. Katy Goodman, 36, wife of Hugh H. Goodman and mother of four children, who was instantly killed when she was shot four times in her home here Tuesday, at 2 o'clock Wednesday will pay final tribute. She was killed while her 18 months old baby girl played on the floor of the room. Another picture of sorrow and grief was being enacted at a Wichita Falls hospital Wednesday, where Mrs. Ruby Hoover, six months bride of W. M. Hoover, who received a bullet wound above the heart at the same time Mrs. Goodman was shot, sat at the bedside of her husband for whom little hope is held by surgeons who operated Tuesday as the only chance to save his life. Mrs. Hoover was in Fort Worth visiting friends at the time of the

LANDMARK IN NATIONAL LIFE FALLS AT LAST

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 12.—(P)—"Uncle Joe" Cannon died here today at the age of ninety. It is probable funeral services will be held early next week. Burial will be in this city.

In the rambling brick mansion he had built for his bride many years ago, life slowly ebbed away from the old statesman whose iron handed tactics in Congress won him the title of czar of the House back in the days before his fall in 1910.

Joseph G. Cannon was born in a little Quaker settlement near Guilford, North Carolina, May 7, 1836, and named for Joseph Garney, a famous Quaker. Mr. Cannon often remarked that he seemed to have drifted away from the faith and habits of the pious people whom Garney led. For he was a fiery, rough and tumble fighter always. On the floor he fought with whirling arms and contortion of his body to drive home his words.

In 1892 Uncle Joe announced his retirement after 46 years of service, and when Congress adjourned late in September carried out a long cherished ambition to go west again over the route he traveled in his mother's arms eighty-two years before. He started from Washington by automobile, but because of fatigue was forced to abandon the trip at Indianapolis.

He served as Speaker of the 58th, 59th, 60th and 61st Congresses.

Death Inevitable

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 12.—(P)—The condition of Uncle Joe Cannon was described as extremely low this morning by his physician, Dr. Charles E. Wilkinson.

After a call at 4 a. m., Dr. Wilkinson said that death probably was a matter of hours and that he hardly expected the veteran statesman to survive the next forty eight hours.

Mr. Cannon has grown weaker the last 24 years, Dr. Wilkinson said. He experienced much difficulty in swallowing. His pulse continues rather strong, yet his general condition grows worse hourly. He may rally, the doctor said, but there is not much chance.

Mr. Cannon spent the latter years of his life leisurely at his home at Danville, Ill., where he was a familiar figure upon the streets. He made daily visits to the Second National Bank, which became known as "the Cannon bank," and also attended the weekly dinners of the Kiwanis Club, and almost to the end he smoked his big black cigars.

While returning to his home after retiring from Congress the story was sent over the country that "Uncle Joe" had quit smoking. When he reached Chicago a friend offered him a cigar and it was declined. Seeing that the man felt hurt and somewhat embarrassed, Mr. Cannon quickly explained that he had quit smoking. The real reason for declining the proffered cigar was made known later when the newspapers featured the news that the former speaker had quit smoking. Mr. Cannon then explained that once he was given a trick cigar which injured his face and since that time he had been wary of proffered smokes.

Mr. Cannon came to accept the affectionate designation "Uncle Joe" as his very own, but when asked about its origin said he did not know how it came about.

"I was quite well known from coast to coast as Uncle Joe, and also in Europe," he said, "but it remained for a little girl in my own home town to tell me I was no uncle of hers."

The denial of relationship was made by a telephone operator. Mr. Cannon had put in a call for Washington from the home of his son-in-law, Ernest Le Seure, but told the operator "charge it to Uncle Joe."

"I can't help it if you use Uncle Joe," Mr. Cannon said the operator replied, "you are no uncle of mine and you'll have to get Mr. Le Seure's O. K. to this call before it goes through."

Mr. Cannon's decline in vigor and health began with an accident shortly after his retirement from Congress. While in the basement of his home he fell on a coal pile and suffered a fracture of the right arm. The break mended, but he always guarded the member with care and when greeting friends offered his right elbow or left hand. In his retirement the radio aided Mr. Cannon to span the distance between his home and Washington, the scene of so much of his life's activity. He often discussed in his gossip with friends men and events of 30 and 40 years and even half a century before, but when recent world and national events were spoken of he either was silent or turned the conversation to a parallel case of years gone by.

An ivy-covered Methodist church opposite his home was a source of consolation to Uncle Joe during his declining years. He often recalled the time, more than 25 years before, when his wife who died several years ago, planted the ivy.

Uncle Joe entered politics as a date for state's attorney when he was at Tuscola, a little town

GAS BLOW-OUT STARTS BLAZE NEAR HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Nov. 12.—(P)—An early morning fire due to gas blow-out in a well being drilled at Pierce Junction, Houston's back yard oil field, four miles south of the city limits, was extinguished with comparatively little loss Saturday. The drilling crew on Bashara number 2 Higgins was grinding away when the bit struck a gas pocket. A charcoal brazier was on the derrick floor to take the frost out of the air. The drill bit dropped into a gas pocket. The gas "kick" hoisted the mud and fluid and permitted the gas to flow out of the top of the casing. It quickly ignited from the brazier and burned for two hours.

The crew fled but later returned and extinguished the fire. The derrick was charred, but no great damage done.

KANSAS CITY TRUST BANK CLOSES DOORS

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12.—(P)—The Kansas City Terminal Trust Company, with $30,000 of its cash reserve in the Federal Trust Company which closed yesterday, failed to open its doors today.

The Terminal Trust Company is a neighborhood bank with total assets of $617,588.33.

The state finance commissioner was in charge of the Federal Trust Company which suspended following recent heavy withdrawals. This bank was organized under the state banking laws with a capital of $200,000 and a surplus of $40,000. Deposits totalled approximately $2,000,000 and resources were listed at nearly $3,000,000.

LITTLE KNOWN TREATY CLAUSE BASIS OF RAID

CALVESTON, Nov. 12.—(P)—Customs inspectors raided the British steamer Asuncion De Larinaga in dock here this morning and seized 289 bottles of liquor under a hitherto neglected clause in the treaty of 1924 between the United States and Great Britain.

Officials say the treaty stipulates that when a British ship clears for her home port direct from the United States all liquor on board except that called for in the medical certificate is liable to seizure.

Assorted Liquors

The raid this morning netted 289 bottles of whiskey, 61 bottles of gin and 47 bottles of assorted liquors, according to officials, who say this is the first seizure of the kind since the 1924 treaty went into effect.

Under the treaty, officials say, they can not seize the liquor if the ship clears for her home port via a foreign port.

Customs inspectors in explaining the seizure allege that a large part of the liquor brought in on foreign ships frequently finds its way into the channels of illicit liquor traffic and that they are trying to stop a leak that has hitherto proven difficult to cope with.

On the arrival of a foreign vessel in port all liquor on board, except the medical supply is put under seal. The seal is not to be broken until the vessel reaches the open sea on her outward voyage.

Two Days of Congestion

During the congestion of shipping on the 15th and 30th of each month it is impossible for an inspector to be on board every ship and as soon as the vessel leaves the dock, they allege, the seals are broken and the liquor brought out. Then when the foreign vessel drops its pilots, they say, motor boats from the shore come alongside and do a thriving business.

Customs inspectors do not charge, however, that the Asuncion De Larinaga has been guilty of this practice.

After the business of the meeting was completed the election of officers for another year was taken up. Mrs. Daniel was elected presi-

PECAN CROP BRINGING GOOD CHEER TO MANY BROWN COUNTY PEOPLE

Brown county pecan crop is good. While prices are fairly good, there of course, are some people who would like to see better prices. Brownwood has one industry that is duplicated at only two other places in Texas—a big pecan plant, the other two being at San Antonio and El Paso. People who have never seen a pecan crushing plant ought to take an hour off and visit the big plant of the Ramey Brokerage Company, where they will be met by Brooke S. Ramey, prince of good fellows, who will be glad to drop his work and show the visitors over the plant. This is a big institution and gives employment to a large number of boys, girls and women and elderly men who could not, perhaps find employment elsewhere. These people make from one dollar to one dollar and seventy five cents per day and so when Saturday evening comes everybody has money to spend. Go down and see a carload of pecans in one pile. This is a curiosity. Then take a look at the big pecan grader where the pecans are placed in a great hopper and fall into a revolving cylinder slightly tilted, and so arranged that the smallest pecans fall into a receptacle and are taken out while the next size pass on to the next receptacle and drop out. There are five of these receptacles and finally the largest pecans drop out at the far end. This is a grader, and it is worth while to see it in operation.

In the main part of the building where the pecan crushing machines are placed is a busy scene. Nearly one hundred people picking the meat from the crushed pecans, which come from three big crushing machines. Before being placed in the machines the pecans are soaked in hot water and this makes the hull soft and prevents it flying into particles when caught in the machine. After the meat is taken from the pecans, it is kiln dried and every particle of dampness taken out. Thousands of pounds of pecans will be shipped from Brownwood this season, and Mr. Ramey says he will handle about 250,000 pounds. Not only does this big enterprise give employment to labor but it also furnishes a market for every pecan grown in Brown county and adjacent territory. This does not mean that every pecan raised in this territory is sold to Mr. Ramey, as quite a volume is probably marketed elsewhere, but it does mean that it is a permanent market for all the pecans grown in this part of Texas. If Brownwood had a dozen enterprises like the Ramey Pecan Crushing enterprise it would be in much better condition from an industrial point of view than it is now, for it is a large number of small industries like this that gives permanency to the material growth of the community in which they are located.

POSTMASTER WARNS PUBLIC GENERALLY IN REGARD TO PACKAGES

It is now little more than one month until Christmas. The usual Christmas rush at the postoffice has started, on a small scale that will swell into a tide of vast volume before the holidays come to a close. It is well for those who intend to send presents to get busy and send them early in order that they may reach their destination and be delivered on time. It is absolutely essential that in sending postcards, only small cards should be used—cards of a standard size. Cards of all sizes are hard to handle because they can not be classified, for placing in the mail. Above all, see that every package is securely wrapped and securely tied, and that the address of the sender and the person to whom the package is sent is placed inside the package as well as on the outside. This is suggested for the reason that calamity or accident of some kind might cause the package to come unwrapped, on the way, and by having the address on the inside it could be identified and sent to its destination even though the outside address is obliterated. Then be sure that each package has the necessary postage—take no chances, better be safe than sorry. Then do your mailing as early as possible to avoid congestion and insure delivery at destination. By observing these simple rules the public will greatly assist the force at the postoffice in handling the Christmas volume of mail and everybody will be happy.

TURKEY CROP BRINGS VAST AMOUNT MONEY BROWN COUNTY FOLK

The turkey crop of Brown county and adjacent counties is now picking, and a vast amount of money is being turned loose. As a matter of fact people have quit talking about the low price of cotton, and many are thinking of going into the turkey raising business on a large scale. Several thousand fine turkeys have already been sold and thousands are still to come to market. The price is good, 27 cents being paid, Friday and Saturday, with little chance for reduction in price, and so old hard times is being gobbled off the face of the earth in Brown county. There are five turkey picking establishments in Brownwood and these places are giving employment to an army of men and boys—one school boy in the mind of the writer has been making from one dollar to two dollars every afternoon after school hours. It is a sight worth going for person who has a bunch of gobblers is in luck, and in Brown county there are hundreds of women who have more than a score or two of fine gobblers. This beats a cotton patch too had to talk about, and so old hard times is being gobbled off the face of the earth in Brown county. There are five turkey picking establishments in Brownwood and these places are giving employment to an army of men and boys—one school boy in the mind of the writer has been making from one dollar to two dollars every afternoon after school hours. It is a sight worth going for to see to one of these turkey picking establishments and watch the boys and men picking the big gobblers. In this way a vast sum of money is being turned loose in Brownwood daily. Thousands of fine turkeys are being shipped to northern and eastern markets for Thanksgiving and for Christmas. The turkey industry of the Brownwood country is a real worth while industry and it has been the means of rubbing old man pessimism off the map. Business is good in Brownwood and it is going to be better, for there is a feeling in the atmosphere that the price of cotton is going to be better in the near future.
