Your Fire BILL

(Industrial News Review)
It has been said that the greatest tragedy of fire lies in the fact that it is unnecessary. More than eighty per cent of all fires, large and small, are due to someone's oversight—a little care, a little thought, perhaps the spending of a little money, would have prevented them.

Fire would not be so serious if it were entirely an individual matter—if the person who allowed his property to burn because he permitted hazards to exist uncorrected paid the bill. But we all pay—every member of the community is assessed, directly or indirectly, for a share of the cost.

Fifty Famous Frontiersmen By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The First Great Fur Trader.
AMERICANS not only have good reason to remember Manuel Lisa as the first great fur trader in the trans-Mississippi West, but they also have good reason to remember him gratefully for his patriotic service to the republic during the War of 1812.

Born in New Orleans about 1776 the son of a Spanish official, at the age of twenty he owned a boat in which he engaged in commerce on the Mississippi. By the beginning of the Nineteenth century he was a large landowner near St. Louis, where he opened a store for outfitting Indian traders.

Then Lewis and Clark made their historic exploring trip through the newly-acquired Louisiana territory, and Lisa was quick to see the opportunities offered on the Upper Missouri. He formed a partnership with William Morrison and Pierre Menard of Kaskaski, Ill., under the name of Lisa, Menard & Morrison, and in 1807 set out with a party of traders, guided by Geo. Drouillard, who had been with Lewis and Clark.

That winter they spent on the Yellowstone hunting, trapping and trading with the Crows, and the following summer found Lisa back in St. Louis, proud of the success of his first venture and dreaming of even greater enterprises. The result was the organization of the Missouri Fur company.

During the next five years the Missouri Fur company prospered and Manuel Lisa rose to a commanding position in it and in the fur trade of the West. Meanwhile, during many journeys up and down the Big Muddy, he had won the confidence and esteem of nearly all the Indian tribes along the river. So when the War of 1812 broke out and the British tried to incite the Indians of that region against the United States, it was only natural that Gov. William Clark should appoint Lisa sub-agent to these tribes to counteract the British influence.

The Spaniard did his job well. He not only organized war parties against some of the tribes who were allies of the British but he secured pledges of friendship and peace from nearly all the Missouri tribes which kept them out of the war. If it had not been for Manuel Lisa's efforts, the War of 1812 might have had a far different ending. Lisa died in 1820 but to the end of his days he dominated the Missouri Fur company and, so long as he did, no other fur company was able to secure a foothold on the Upper Missouri.

Fair And Impartial

One of the most interesting features of the state primary campaign which closed Saturday, was the withdrawal of Edward K. Russell as a candidate for governor, and the clear-cut statement issued by him in making his withdrawal.

In many respects, Mr. Russell was the best qualified man for the position among the seven in the race. His statement in withdrawing, and his platform and his speeches, showed a keen insight into the problems confronting the people today, and an earnest desire to institute measures designed to correct them.

Absentee Election

Apparently, the people of Culberson county are satisfied with their sheriff. He has been in Port of Spain, Trinidad, attempting to extradite a murder suspect for the past month or so while the campaign waxed warm.

A speaker before a Brownwood civic club last week stressed the tendency in modern times for us to look to the Federal government for a solution of our problems, rather than working them out ourselves.

Too Many Jobs

If this is the way out of the depression, all well and good. But the cost of such a system, aside from the monetary cost through mammoth appropriations, is startling.

John W. Davis, who was Democratic candidate for President in 1924, recently gave an excellent example of the plight of the taxpayer when it comes to fighting the growth of bureaucracy.

When government aid to business and agriculture has ceased, some of these employes will be dropped from the payroll. But it has been the experience of the American people for many years that bureaus are more easily created than abolished.

Common-Sense Selling

In the past, the single farmer, attempting to dispose of his products to a great distributing organization, had to take what was offered or go without a sale.

We live in a world in which new methods are supplanting old methods in all occupations. The cooperative hires the best farm experts it can find, and does an invaluable work in showing farmers how to produce better products at a lower cost.

Individual farmers, without collective information as to markets or price structures, will overproduce all manner of commodities—with the inevitable results, low prices.

The main reason the cooperatives are gaining new members and new support from the general public, is that practical, sensible considerations dictate their activities.

Japan "agrees in principle" to the sentiment expressed in Roosevelt's plea to the world. France also says No.

Husband can't know how wife suffers when she must remain at home and do housework while other women are downtown buying bargains as fast as they can be wrapped.

With so many Ph.D.s being dished out year after year, the question is not how the President got tangled up with a "brain trust" but how he could be expected to keep out of its way.

Youngs Group Will Attend Cisco Camp

The Youngs Chapter of Future Farmers of America plans to attend a three-day tri-district encampment held at Cisco Lake Park, about 6th, 7th and 8th.

The tri-district encampment is for vocational agriculture students from the Abilene, Stephenville and Heart of Texas districts. The vocational agriculture students are under the leadership of contest, or game, supervisor.

Contests, such as, the Future Farmer, horseshoe, playground baseball, box-water polo, swimming and diving will be carried on according to encampment regulations. Such an encampment offers a splendid opportunity for the boys to enjoy themselves and to learn more about work and for the teachers to work on a tree-day, tri-district conference with Mr. P. G. Haines, director of vocational agriculture.

Mr. J. B. Rutland, state superintendent of public instruction, after state men leading in various discussions. Lano Barron, newly elected vocational agriculture teacher at Cisco, plans to attend a one day conference August 3rd at Cisco.

Principal problems taken up on teaching procedure, job and the annual vocational agriculture budget.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and four delegates from the May chapter attended the annual state F. F. A. convention at Huntsville. Delegates were James McDaniel, Dow McBride, Robert Steel and Ben Woyl Morrison. In addition to attending the convention, the delegates visited many places of interest.

MAY CHAPTER AT RICHLAND SPRINGS

Eighteen members of the May chapter, Future Farmers of America, are in camp this week on the San Saba river near Richland Springs. The encampment began Monday and was to close Friday.

G. H. Morrison, F. F. A. adviser and teacher of vocational agriculture in May high school, is in charge of the camp. The boys planned numerous contests while in camp and in addition all expected to do plenty of fishing.

Tuesday night, "The White Throne of Judgment." Wednesday night, "Crossing the Dead Line." Thursday night, "Heaven or Hell—Which?"

CONNALLY THANKS FRIENDS FOR VOTE

The Banner has received the following statement from United States Senator Tom Connally, addressed to his friends and supporters in Brown county, who gave him such a splendid vote in the Democratic primary Saturday:

"It will be impossible for me to see personally and extend direct thanks to all of my friends and supporters for their loyalty and support in the campaign which has just come to an end.

"Because of the limited time between the adjournment of Congress and the date of the primary it was impossible for me to visit all counties in the state and to meet my friends and supporters. Allow me to take this means of thanking the Democracy of Texas for re-nominating me to a second term in the United States Senate.

"To those friends and supporters who actively worked for me I want to express a very deep and keen sense of thanks and gratitude. It shall be my earnest desire to so serve the people of Texas during the next six years as to justify the confidence and regard of all who gave my candidacy their support.

"TOM CONNALLY."

Large Crowds Are Attending Revival

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

Until this summer, we've always worn dark over light-dark jackets over white dresses, dark coats and pastel crepe frocks. This year we've turned about and the result is altogether new and fresh and very, very smart. We wear black crepe or black sheer frocks with white organdy or dotted swiss jackets, crisp as crackers. Then we trim the dark crepe dress with a frothy ruffle collar—to make the dress look summery when you wear it without the jacket. This is a very smart hot weather town costume—and it will be a grand addition to a travel wardrobe. If you prefer, you can make the dress in a print—navy and white or black and white or brown and white—and echo the white of the print in your sheer cotton jacket. This is a Butterick Pattern and may be bought at your favorite department store.

To The Citizenship Of Brown County

I want to thank all my friends and supporters for their loyalty and support in this election, and I appreciate them more than I can express in just mere words. I realize good friends are more important than anything else, and we should always strive to have as many of them as possible. It is my purpose to continue to be fair, honest and just to all.

Yours sincerely, E. T. PERKINSON.

The Best Made at Home--

It is quite natural that most of us look in the distance for "SOMETHING BETTER." We are not satisfied with HOME PRODUCTS. Yet, the truth is very often the home product is the superior product. You may buy North Texas, Oklahoma or Kansas made flour, but you pass up a worthy product when you overlook CAKE FLOUR—made in Brownwood, by Brownwood people, out of Brown county wheat, for Brown county consumers.

Once you give CAKE FLOUR a fair test you will be convinced that it is a superior product—not just ordinary flour.

The next time you need flour, ask your grocer to send CAKE—the flour that has been pleasing West Texas housewives for more than 40 years.

Our Trip To The World's Fair

By Miss Laura Dunsforth Early High.

We left home at 1 p. m. on Monday, June 11, 1934. Reached Oklahoma City about 7 o'clock. Drove around the capital and stopped for the night a few miles east of Edmond at the Dixie camp ground. Traveled in all 268 miles.

Tuesday, June 12.

It rained Monday night, but we didn't mind for we were in a camp cabin. We left Edmond about 6:15 a. m. and drove hard, trying to reach Ava as early as possible. Oklahoma is a pretty country, but some sections looked terribly dry and run down. We saw the largest zinc mines in the world, all the way between Miami, Oklahoma, and Joplin, Mo.

To our great surprise we found ourselves in Kansas. We ate breakfast in Oklahoma, lunch at Baxter Springs, Kansas, and supper in Missouri. In all we drove 402 miles.

Wednesday, June 13.

In the morning, we started to the old home place—Lula, Leemans, Velma, Lena, Althea, Uncle Abe, Uncle Elias, Nettie, Ellen and Zana and Aunt Mandy—my kin-folk. We had to get a flat fixed in Ava, so that detained us considerably. We bought lunch in Ava and drove out to the old Hunter Spring, where we ate lunch. We drove over and around the mountains trying to find the old home place, and finally had to get a man to show us. Some of the foundation rocks were there, but the place was all grown up in underbrush. We went from there to the cemetery, where Grandpa and Grandma Matney are buried. From there we went to Crystal Lake, where the old Wilson mill used to be. All stayed at Leemans except Daddy and Aunt Mandy and they went back to stay with Uncle Elias and our grandmother's brother.

Thursday, June 14.

Uncle Elias invited relatives and friends to his house for an all-day meeting. Several came — Aunt Mandy, Uncle Abe, Ruth and her children, Mrs. Kennedy, Lula and Leeman, and others. We had lunch and then Daddy and Uncle Elias preached. About four o'clock every one left and most of us went to Lula's for supper. Aunt Mandy stayed at Uncle Elias' with rest of the family.

Friday, June 15.

We left Wasola about 8 o'clock in the morning and drove to St. James, Mo., where we ate lunch. In St. James, Mo., we saw the largest zinc mines in the world. We drove to Springfield, Ill., where we bought supper and drove north to a camp ground where we spent the night. Springfield is the capital of Illinois.

Saturday, June 16.

We left Springfield, Ill., about 7:30 and drove to Welington, where we ate lunch. Bloomington, Ill., was the prettiest town we came through. The crops looked better in Illinois than any other place. We saw coal mines and strip mines. Joliet, Ill., is a pretty place. There we got a glimpse of the old and new prisons. We want to go back and visit them.

We got to our sister's, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Reynolds, ex-residents of Brownwood, at 4 o'clock, at Chicago.

Friday, June 22.

We stayed in Chicago about a week and had a swell time. We went to the World Fair Monday and Tuesday. We saw a little midget. He was 18 years old, weighed 19 pounds, and 21 inches high. We saw an airship light on Lake Michigan and it stayed there a while, then it rose and went up

Texas "Scowboy" Mixes Water of 19 Rivers at Fair

In a bit of ceremonial at the new World's Fair in Chicago, B. M. Hatfield pours out of a jug water from 19 rivers and canals and streams into the Fair lagoon and Lake Michigan. Hatfield, bearded "scowboy," filled the jugs on a 4,500 mile motorboat trip from Texas. Victor Klebba, Chicago city sealer, who offered Commodore Hatfield the keys to the city, is looking on. Pilots from the Fair's lagoon fleet are in the background. Water from the following points was poured into the World's Fair lagoon by "Commodore" Hatfield: Trinity river, Intra-coastal canal, Pensacola, Fla., Bayou La Batrie, Bayou Terribone, Bayou Houma, Gulfport, Miss., Harvey Locks, New Orleans, St. Louis, Mo., St. Paul, Minn., Prescott, Wis., Dubuque, Ia., Moline, Ill., Mobile, Ala., Burlington, I., and Ottawa, Ill. He started his long boat trip from Ft. Worth, Tex.

about 9 o'clock. We drove to a little place called Pelham, where we stopped and went to church.

On our way to Chattanooga we drove over the Cumberland Mountains. It was the prettiest drive we had anywhere. Just before we got to Chattanooga we had a flat so it was after two when we got to Chattanooga, where we ate dinner at a cafe.

We then drove upon Lookout Mountain where we got such good views of the city. After leaving the mountain, we drove around the old Chickamauga battle field and then to Missionary Ridge where we got another good view of the city. We then drove to the Cherokee camp ground, where we spent the night.

June 25th

We left the Cherokee camp about 7 o'clock and went to Sears Roebuck & Company some time for a new inner tube. We started for Birmingham, Ala., but the roads were so rough that we didn't make much time. All of a sudden we noticed that we had lost our trailer. We were all scared about half to death afraid that it had been turned over and torn to pieces. We drove back about four miles and found it in good condition. Some men had dragged it out of the road. They helped us fix it and we started on our way. We had not gone very far when we lost it again, but noticed it and stopped that time. Daddy ran back to pick up and burned his hand. We got it fixed again and at the next town bought a bolt with a cotter key. We bought lunch and drove out to eat it. We certainly didn't think so much of Georgia and Alabama. The roads were terrible. It was so terribly hot and dusty. We just had two 90 cents to pay over toll bridges. That certainly hurt our feelings. We were so anxious to get out of Alabama that we did not stop at a tourist camp so we drove on to Meridian, Miss., where we found a camp ground, but what a place! The old man was so smart that we wouldn't stay there, so we drove on about 60 miles to Laurel where we stayed at the "Rose Arbor" camp ground. What a place! Plity as could be, but we paid our dollar and stayed for, it was then 10:30.

June 26.

We left the disagreeable place about six o'clock and drove over rough dirt roads until just before we reached New Orleans. We crossed several large bridges but Mississippi River. Yet we found a good camp and decided to spend the rest of the day and night in New Orleans. We fixed dinner and ate. It was it good? Oh, boy! After dinner we took our baths and went swimming in the beach of the Gulf of Mexico. A cloud came up so we hurried to drive around the city. We went out to Market Street, the French quarters and then back to camp. We went to bed early so as to get an early start the next morning, but the mosquitoes would not let us sleep.

Wednesday, June 27.

We left New Orleans at 5:20; crossed the Mississippi river on a ferry boat. We had good roads all the way. We stopped and had the car greased. We were almost at Houston when a tire on the trailer ran off. We went on to Houston where we had to buy a tire, tube and wheel—for we ruined the rim on the pavement. We hoped to get to Galveston to spend the night, but here we sat trying to get the trailer fixed, so I don't know when we'll get there. Our money is about gone, so we must get home while the getting is good.

Well, we got the trailer fixed by buying a new rim, tire and tube. We went on into Houston and got a tourist cabin. It was the nicest we've stayed in.

We rushed madly to Galveston, but it got dark before we got there. We could not see the water very well, but could imagine what it was like. Part of us went in swimming—the water was fine.

It was after eleven when we got back to our camp. We went to bed.

ing has the privilege of nominating any member he desires to see elected and the membership then votes on the nominees. Just who will be nominated can not be ascertained at this time but it is rumored that at least three or four will be candidates for Commander and all offices are expected to be enthusiastically sought.

Officers elected at Friday's meeting will be installed in September. At the business meeting delegates will be elected to the State convention to be held at Mineral Wells on August 27, 28. All members who can possibly go to the State convention are urged to do so and in the election of delegates, preference will be shown to those who will attend. All who expect to go to Mineral Wells should notify the Commander.

The officers of the post are urging all members to attend and take part in Friday's meeting and every member is expected to be on hand.

J. A. Collins is present Commander of the post.

LEGION POST WILL ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Interest is being shown in the coming election of officers of Isham A. Smith Post, American Legion Friday, August 3, to be held at the Legion Club rooms. Meeting will be open to Legion members who are in good standing only. Regular business meeting will be held at 8 p. m. and election of officers at 9 p. m.

We left Houston about 8 and drove to San Antonio, where we got another nice cabin. We fixed lunch. Boy, was it good, too! After eating lunch we went to the Alamo, the Buckingham Saloon and Brackenridge Park. We were all tired so we went to the cabin to rest. We managed to let go a quarter to buy a nice, cold watermelon. We then made up money to buy a quart of ice cream. We must go home for our money is gone.

To The Voters of Precinct 1, Brown County

It has been repeatedly brought to my attention that in the event Lawrence Moore should be elected Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, I would be an applicant for road and bridge work in that Precinct.

I am publishing this article as a strict and general denial of these false rumors.

I am not an applicant nor will I be, regardless of who is elected. The people who circulated this rumor have misrepresented the facts to the voters, and I consider such tactics as very cheap politics.

I am sorry to have been drawn into this campaign because heretofore I have taken no special interest in it since I am not in this precinct and am a good friend of all the candidates.

I have known Lawrence Moore all my life and have been directly connected with him in business for the past twelve years. I consider Lawrence to be a man with the highest ideals and good business judgment, progressive, yet very economical. I know him positively to be a man who stands above such criticism.

There is no question about his integrity and fairness.

O. W. McDONALD.

Voters of Coleman and Brown Counties

I desire to thank the people of Brown and Coleman counties for their liberal support given me on July 28th, and to solicit their continued support in the run-off. Because of official duties, I shall not be able to make a personal canvass of the two counties. I will, therefore, greatly appreciate the active assistance of my friends.

COURTNEY GRAY.
