THE CONSUMER PRICE INDEX AND YOU!

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has just announced that the Consumer Price Index for January, 1980, is 233.2. If this rate should continue throughout the rest of 1980 it would mean an inflation rate this year of between 16 and 18 percent. This is the consequence of government spending exceeding what the people are willing to pay for through taxes and loans. It is that reminder of government spending, beyond income from taxes and loans that causes inflation.

If you had one thousand dollars in a savings account during 1979, the federal government would have stealthily confiscated $133 of its value. If you had a life insurance policy with an accumulated cash value of $3,000, the government took $399 of that. If you had several United States Government savings bonds in the safety deposit box, the value of each $1000 decreased by $133 during the year. The same losses occurred to any corporate bonds, retirement annuities or cash that you might have had "squirreled" away.

Now that's pretty bad, losing over 13 percent of the value of one's savings in one year. As bad as it is, we could take it as a once-in-a-while occurrence, but it's happening year after year after year. For example, during 1978, each one thousand dollars in savings lost $90 in purchasing power; in 1977 each thousand lost $68; in 1976, it was $48 and in 1975, $70. At the end of 1974 the consumer price index was 155.4. This means that in December, 1974, it required $15.54 to buy what $10 would have bought in 1967, the base year used for calculating the rate of inflation.

At the end of 1979 the consumer price index was 229.4, an increase of 74 index points over the five year period. By dividing the index change by the December 1974 CPI we determine that the increase in prices was 47.6 percent. Just think of that! What this means to you is that in just five years your savings lost almost half their value. If you had purchased a one thousand dollar bond at the end of 1974 and placed it in a safety deposit box for the five year period, took it out and cashed it at the end of 1979, you would have found that the one thousand dollars you received would have shrunk in purchasing power to only $524 in 1974 purchasing power. This simple illustration clearly illustrates what inflation is doing to you. This is the process through which inflation is reducing the thrifty and industrious savers of the middle class in America to the status of charity cases, to become dependent upon Social Security.

When one considers the millions of our citizens with savings accounts, insurance policies, retirement annuities and government and corporate bonds, one can visualize the huge amount embezzled away by government each year through inflation. The American Institute for Economic Research calculates this loss each year; from 1940 through 1978 to be $2.4 trillion. To state it another way that's two thousand, four hundred billion dollars being taken from the American people by their own government through inflation. What happened to it? It was added to most of your taxes and redistributed to the non-producers in this country and more than one hundred other countries throughout the world.

Our only hope is to cut federal spending back to the level we are willing to finance with our taxes.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Presidential politics arrived in Texas last Saturday and all other issues took a back seat to the primary election.

Besides stumping done by home state Republican candidate George Bush, his primary opponent Ronald Reagan, and Democratic candidate Sen. Edward Kennedy, the President himself traveled to Texas—his first real venture out of the White House since the beginning of the Iranian hostage crisis six months ago.

President Jimmy Carter flew to military hospitals in San Antonio early in the week to visit and pay respects to the injured commandos of the ill-fated hostage rescue mission. After talking at their bedsides, the President said he was impressed by their bravery and patriotism: every man had expressed his willingness to go on a second rescue mission.

Although billed as a non-political visit, Carter's entrance into Texas on the eve of the state's presidential primary obviously had its political benefits. The President was here and back to Washington, D.C. in a jiffy, leaving frontpage coverage and no political faux pas in his wake.

Kennedy Visits Wounded
It worked so well, his primary opponent, Ted Kennedy, tried to copy it.

The Massachusetts senator shifted his campaign schedule to spend about 30 minutes with the wounded commandos the day after Carter visited their ward at Brooke Army Medical Center.

Kennedy tried to play down the politics, some said, by refusing invitations to address a crowd, and by telling reporters he was supportive of Carter's mission to rescue the hostages.

Different Primaries
Both the Democrats and the Republicans held presidential primaries Saturday, but the mechanics were different.

The Republicans held a binding primary, which means the presidential delegates had to be apportioned according to the percentage of popular vote each candidate received in the primary.

The Democratic primary, on the other hand, was simply what party regulars refer to as a "beauty contest." It was non-binding and not tied to apportionment of delegates.

The balloting was simply the appetizer to the delegate selection process which develops in three phases.

The first phase began 15 minutes after the polls closed Saturday when Democratic voters assembled in more than 6,000 precinct conventions across the state to vote for either Carter or Kennedy. Each precinct selected delegates on an apportioned basis to attend the county and senatorial conventions next Saturday.

Those conventions will select delegates to the June 20-21 state convention in San Antonio where participants will select 152 delegates and 77 alternates to the August national convention in Detroit.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

Knowing the history of a successful firm may help some modern business people bring more success to their companies in the future.

This bustling bottling plant is just part of a multi-million-dollar business that started as a small shop 150 years ago.

One success story many people are not familiar with is that of the Teacher family and firm. It began as a one-man business in 1830 when 19-year-old William Teacher opened a dramshop (or bar) with less than 200 pounds (under $500) in Glasgow, Scotland.

In time, he had 18 retail shops licensed to sell beer, wines and spirits. That made him the largest single license holder in Glasgow. He next started a wholesale trade, making up blends of whisky to customers' specifications. From this he developed a unique blend—Teacher's Highland Cream Scotch—and from that grew the company of today, with assets of some $12 million pounds.

Doing business locally makes better sense than ever before, you save money and help support our community at the same time. You win both ways.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
112 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

When I speak of the urgent need for our nation to rebuild its national defense system, I sometimes am asked if it wouldn't be better to spend that money to help our nation's poor. But the people who ask that question apparently don't understand what would happen to the poor if our nation should lose ability to protect its vital interests.

What happens to the poor people if we can't import oil to fuel our industrial machine? What happens to the poor people if our supplies of vital materials -- ranging from rubber for tires to bauxite for aluminum -- dry up? Many of these items are available only from Communist or Third World nations.

If we lose the ability to protect our sea lanes, jobs will dry up by the thousands. If supplies of important industrial materials are disrupted, manufacturers all over the country will shut down, sending unemployment soaring. If our economy is in shambles, the government won't be able to provide even the most minimal assistance to the needy.

The Soviet Union has never departed from its intention to dominate the world. To the leaders of the U.S.S.R., the only question is the degree of risk involved. There is clear evidence that, as our national defenses, and the perceived strength of our national will, have declined, the Soviets have grown bolder.

Before December, they never invaded a country outside the Communist block with their own troops. Now they stand in Afghanistan within striking distance of the Persian Gulf. The only way to keep them from making that leap is to convince them we can and will block such a move.

The Preamble to the Constitution tells us one of the primary functions of our government is "to provide for the common defense." That is a job our Founding Fathers knew could not be performed by any person, any agency, or any state government.

Except perhaps for delivering the mail, national defense is about the only thing our federal government does that could not be done by somebody else. Free enterprise and private philanthropy can help the needy, support the arts, and provide the economic engine that translates into schools, fire departments, and all the other things that make society run smoothly. Cities and states can build roads, provide law enforcement, and administer health and safety standards. But only the national government can defend our vital interests in the world.

So as Congress and the executive branch set about to apportion money among the various responsibilities of the federal government, we have an obligation to remember that an adequate defense system must be at the top of the list. We must constantly remember that national security means more than just protecting against military attack -- though obviously that is the ultimate threat. "National security" also means providing security for our commerce and our way of life.

I might note that defense spending does provide jobs, jobs that are important to our economy. But in a larger sense, everybody's job depends on how successful we are in keeping our defenses strong.

For too long, too many of our representatives in Washington seemed to lose sight of that fact. I have hope the tide is turning. But we must continue to work diligently to restore our nation to a level of security that will allow us to be confident of our ability to meet the needs of all our citizens.

SAVING TIPS on electric air conditioning

Air conditioning provides lots of comfort during the summer months, but for many thousands of homeowners it is also the biggest factor in the cost of electricity. On the average, air conditioning accounts for about half of summertime electric bills.

Here are ways you can hold down the cost of air conditioning and still enjoy its comfort.

Central Systems

1. Set thermostat on 78°, or higher, during the summer. Turn unit off if you'll be away from home several days.
2. Keep equipment at top operating efficiency. Have it checked seasonally by qualified serviceman.
3. Check filter every 30 days. Dirty filters cause equipment to use excessive electricity. If filter is permanent, clean by manufacturer's directions; if it's disposable, it should be replaced when dirty.
4. Keep furniture, draperies away from air outlets and returns. Clean grills often.
5. Close draperies and blinds to keep out direct sunlight.
6. Keep fireplace damper closed.
7. Proper home insulation keeps the heat out, cuts energy use. Insulation questions? Call TP&L.
8. Shade on roof and walls can reduce energy needed to cool. But trim trees, shrubs away from outside compressor unit. Keep it free of leaves, debris. If air flow is blocked, unit uses more energy.
9. Weatherstrip doors and windows; caulk cracks to prevent drafts and cool air loss.

10. Keep windows closed. Open outside doors as little as possible.

Window Units Follow above suggestions, plus these:

11. Buy units with highest "energy efficiency ratio" (EER). Uses less electricity to cool. If EER is not on sales tag, ask for it or figure it yourself. Divide "wattage" into "BTU" capacity. Both figures are on unit.
12. Place unit where it'll get as little direct sun as possible.
13. Aim air outlets at lower half of doorway to next room to allow warm air from that room to enter at the doortop for recooling, recirculation.
14. Never vent air conditioner into garage. Ventilation is usually too poor for top performance of your unit.

Conserve electricity and you help conserve one or more of the fuels needed to produce it. Conserve fuels and you help assure that there will be enough to meet essential needs for electricity in the future.

When you pass a TP&L office, warehouse, generating plant or other facility, you'll see that we've turned off all non-essential lighting. And, in as many other ways as possible, TP&L is reducing its own uses of electricity.

If you would like additional information on conserving electricity, call the Customer Service Representative in the TP&L Office.

CCC Rewards High Grades with Low Expense

Students who want to trade high grades for low college expenses next fall have until May 7 to apply for one of five Cooke County College Faculty Association scholarship grants.

The Scholarships are awarded on the basis of general academic excellence. Each of the five awards is worth $175 per semester to be used to cover expenses such as tuition, fees and books.

Eligibility is open to graduating high school seniors as well as to students currently enrolled at CCC. Applicants should be in the top 20 per cent of their high school graduating classes.

The number of students receiving scholarship grants from CCC's Faculty Association has grown steadily since the organization's formation in 1971, and recent increases in member participation has swelled the fund to assure even more growth in the years to come.

Instructors and administrators contribute to the scholarship fund through regular payroll deductions.

Local business and industry have also helped to swell the fund. National Supply division of Armco Steel, for example, makes an annual contribution. Individuals also contribute memorial gifts to the fund.

"This is a great opportunity for students to capitalize on the academic records," says scholarship committee spokesman Bill Ledbetter. "All it takes is time to fill out an application."

Scholarship applications may be obtained by writing to Ledbetter at Cooke County College, P.O. Box 815, Gainesville, Tx. 76240. They also may be picked up in the Registrar's Office on campus.

Girls Softball Plans Announced

Girls who have completed the third grade and will enter 8th grade are included in plans for the summer softball program sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.

Registration slips will be distributed at school next Monday. Girls who are missed, or their parents, may phone Louise Walter-scheid, 759-4192 or Pat Yosten, 759-4178 for more information.

The softball program is tentatively scheduled to continue for about 5 weeks, and parents or players are reminded to take that into consideration if family vacations and camp are planned during that time.

Shelly Kneupper Shares Thoughts on National Nursing Home Week

Next week, May 11 - 18 is National Nursing Home Week. It's a time to visit an old friend or make a new friend, in a nursing home. It's a time to talk ... to laugh ... to share an hour or an afternoon together.

Inside every old person, is a young person. Someone with memories and love to share. Think how much a few minutes out of your week can mean to him or her.

The residents at St. Richard's Villa are the pioneers of our community. Without them, Muenster would not be the town it is today. No one, particularly those who have given us such a heritage, should feel lonely.

Won't you plan to visit St. Richard's Villa this week and join in our festivities? You'll help dispel the loneliness that sometimes abides among the aged despite the friendship given them by professionals in charge of their care. Bring your smile and friendship with you. The rewards will be greater than you thought ... bringing moments of joy into the life of an elderly citizen may be so rewarding it will continue throughout the year. Remember, "Love is Ageless." Visit a nursing home patient.

My Fellow Citizens:

Because time may not permit me to get around to each of you individually, I want to take this method of saying a heartfelt THANK YOU to all of you who voted for me in the first primary. I am humbled by your expression of confidence and I will do all in my power to continue to merit that confidence.

I earnestly request your continued support during the run off election. It is, of course, vital to our success. You may be assured that during this campaign I will present my candidacy in a vigorous, forthright and positive manner.

I will not deal in personalities or in any other way give you cause to apologize for your support. The only issue should be and, so far as I am concerned, is: "WHO CAN BEST SERVE THE PEOPLE OF COOKE COUNTY IN THE OFFICE OF SHERIFF?"

Again, thank you for your past support and please keep up the good work.

Sincerely,

Bill Pratt

Forestburg News by Myrt Denham

Many years back my husband's grandfather was overheard saying to himself, "It's h-l to get old." More accurate words were never spoken; however, if you are overweight you will find yourself in the same state. Then if you are old and fat you really are a looser in this USA. For this is very definitely a youth and be skinny orientated nation. Senior Citizens and "Fatties" just have it pretty rough!

Extension Service Changes District Numbers to Names

With the premise that there's more in a name than a number, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, is "naming" each of its 14 districts.

"The names will relate to the various geographical areas of the state so that Texans will be able to more readily identify with our educational programs and activities," says Dr. Daniel C. Pfanstiel, Extension Service director.

So Extension districts will now be known by their name in addition to their number. The "new" look will be as follows:

- Panhandle - District 1;
- South Plains - District 2;
- Rolling Plains - District 3;
- North Central - District 4;
- Northeast - District 5;
- Far West - District 6;
- West Central - District 7;
- Central - District 8;
- East - District 9;
- South Central - District 10;
- Upper Coast - District 11;
- South - District 12;
- Southwest - District 13;
- Coastal Bend - District 14.

Pfanstiel points out that these new area designations will also make the Extension Service's new "Thrust for the '80s" program more visible and attuned to the changing needs of all Texans.

The newly launched program is designed to key all of the Extension Service's educational efforts to six major concerns voiced by Texans in a recent survey. These concerns are energy, land and water resources, leadership development, social conditions, economic conditions, and marketing and policy. Program theme is "The Extension Way--People Helping People."

Report Due May 15 On Grain Acreage

Cooke County farmers have until May 15 to report their small grain acreages to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Farmers must furnish the acreage and intended uses of their wheat, barley, oats, and rye crops to qualify for program benefits.

The acreage reports should be as accurate as possible and the entire farm must be certified before a farmer can receive price support, disaster and deficiency payments.

With no set-aside provision this year, all farmers should report their crops to be eligible for any program payments which may be made.

Producers who have not reported their crops are urged to do so.

Don't Delay Filing for SS Benefits

If you are approaching age 62, you need to be aware of changes in Social Security law preventing "back pay" in most cases. It is important for you to file your claim for retirement benefits in time to avoid losing money.

As an example, suppose your 62nd birthday is in April 1980, and you have little or no earnings for 1980. If you wait to file your claim until June 1980, you will have lost benefits for April and May.

The Social Security Administration suggests that you call or go by your local Social Security Office within the three months before your 62nd birthday, if you are a retired worker or believe your earnings are low enough to allow Social Security benefits.

At one time, the Social Security Administration allowed up to one year in retroactive payments or "back pay" in these cases. This is no longer true if the benefit involved is a reduced benefit. Early retirement (before age 65) is a reduced benefit.

It is important to point out that this restriction on back pay does not apply if children are eligible for benefits during the retroactive period. Nor does it apply to disability benefits.

If you are over 62 and have not filed for benefits, don't despair. Remember the longer you delay, the higher your monthly benefit amount will be. For each month between ages 62 and 65 you delay in starting your benefits, your check will be slightly higher for the rest of your life.

The intent of Social Security retirement benefits is to help meet the current, ongoing needs of the older citizen, not to pay large lump sum amounts. This is especially true when payment of lump sum amounts results in a lower ongoing benefit.

St. Anne's Society Plans for Picnic

Members of St. Anne's Society made plans to participate in the Father's Day Parish picnic on Sunday, June 15 and also in the Open House at St. Richard's Villa on Sunday, May 11, 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. During their regular meeting this past Sunday evening they also heard a letter from St. Richard's requesting the use of old fashioned clothes for the style show "Yesterday and Today" during open house.

They also agreed to sell sandwiches, etc. at the parish picnic and named Mmes. Ronnie Hoagland and Sue Wieler as co-chairmen of the Cake Walk.

conducted the business meeting and announced the Catholic State League Convention in New Braunfels, July 19-20.

Mrs. Leo Henschel gave the treasurer's report; read a card of thanks from Mrs. George Beaman of Windthorst for the group's donation to the Bishop Fletcher Seminary Bursary; sent "get-well" cards to Mmes. Rosie Knauf and Henry J. Fuhrmann; and gave two readings "Safely Home" and "Prayer for Those Living Alone."

Mrs. Frank Herr reported on the NCCW meeting she attended on April 17. She also won the door prize.

Twenty seven members attended. The time of summer meetings was changed to 8 p.m. A social hour followed the closing prayers.

Kissing Baby May Discover CF

Babies are born to be kissed. They are so lovable, so wonderful. And they need us so much.

That's why the North-East Texas Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation asks you to "Kiss Your Baby" with special attention during the week of May 4-11 our official "Kiss Your Baby Week." If he has cystic fibrosis, he will need you to do something about it promptly.

One of the signs of cystic fibrosis—the leading genetic killer of children in this country—is a salty taste to the skin. If you do taste salt on your baby, see your doctor. Make sure your baby has a test for CF. Chances are your child does not have CF, but if so, early diagnosis and immediate treatment is vital to his life.

Additional signs of cystic fibrosis are: recurrent wheezing; persistent coughing with excessive mucus; pneumonia more than once; excessive appetite but poor weight gain; clubbing (enlargement of fingertips); persistent, bulky diarrhea and nasal polyps.

For more information contact the North-East Texas Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation at 214-826-7800. When you kiss your baby for the taste of salt, it's an act of love for his well-being.

Elm Red District Honors Champ Conservation Farmers

Champion conservationists of the Upper Elm Red Soil and Water Conservation District for the past year were honored last Thursday night in the 31st annual awards banquet sponsored by banks and the news media of the district. It was held in the National Guard Armory of Bowie and was attended by about 275 persons.

Denise Fuhrmann of Lindsay received the award for first place in the annual essay contest on conservation sponsored by the district. It was presented by J.H. Bayer, chairman of the board of directors.

The Bowie News, published by Jim Winter, was honored as the outstanding conservation news media of the year in the Elm Red District. George Hoeldtke of First National Bank, Bowie, presented the award.

Other award winners were the outstanding conservation farmers of the five zones of the district.

Allen C. Taylor of Bowie was champ of Zone 1, and received his award from Lynn Gray of the First National Bank, Bowie.

Albert Harrel of Nocona, champ of Zone 2, received his award from Richard Bailey of the F & M National Bank, Nocona.

J.W. Bullion of Dallas and J.M. Puckett of Era, as landlord-tenant team, were chosen for the top honor in Zone 3. They received their award from Billy Hudspeth of Gainesville National Bank.

Lacy Wheeler of Gainesville, conservation champ of Zone 4, received his award from Frank Morris of the First State Bank, Gainesville.

M.C. Hestand of Sherman, the outstanding conservation farmer of Zone 5, received his award from Jerry Harlan of the Howe State Bank.

In addition, each of the award winners was presented a one-year membership in the National Association of Conservation Districts, a gift from J.M. Weinzapfel of Muenster State Bank, one of the originators of the awards banquet.

The program featured stories of the champ farmers narrated by Everett Mason of KBAN, Bowie, while colored pictures of their achievements were flashed on a screen. As each story was finished the award was presented.

E.O. Martin, superintendent of Bowie High, headed the program as master of ceremonies. Mayor Terry Morgan was the opening chairman, and Donald Balgaman of Bowie Lutheran Church gave the invocation.

policy. They're only slightly less liberal than the wild spenders already in power.

An article by William Rusher in Human Events tells us that Reagan has only begun to feel the mean mouthing to be directed against him by the hostile media. He says "the storms signals are already flying, and they indicate that Ronald Reagan is about to be subjected to the most sustained and consistent barrage of media smears this country has witnessed in at least a dozen years."

He says that a great majority of our important opinion molders, the news editors and newswriters for the major newsmagazines and television networks, plus the editors of key newspapers and their political reporters, are hard core or soft core liberals, long ago self selected to provide America with the "Truth."

"As the 1980 election increasingly becomes a battle between Reagan and Carter," Rusher said, "the 16 inch guns of American journalistic liberalism are training squarely on Ronald Reagan, with just one intention: Destroy him." Look for an incessant attack on his ability, a constant claim that he's too dumb for the job.

It doesn't matter that Reagan has a marvelous record as two term governor of California and has proposed ideas that make sense to millions. The hatchet gang will make every effort to find fault and magnify it while relentlessly squelching the things that can be said to his credit.

Pinning Ceremony Set at CCC

Twenty-four members of Cooke County College's Nursing Division class of 1980 will be honored in formal pinning ceremonies on Sunday, May 10, at St. Peter's Church, Lindsay.

The traditional affair precedes CCC's fifty-fourth annual commencement exercises on Sunday, May 11, during which associate degrees will be conferred upon the graduating nurses.

Following graduation, only state licensing board examinations will stand between them and the beginning of professional careers as registered nurses.

The pinning ceremony will begin at 1 p.m. and is open to the public. All family and friends of the graduates are invited to attend. Muenster students who will receive pins are Linda Walterscheid, Stacie Walterscheid, Mary Kay Caplinger, Sandy Voth and Mary Fisher.

Edgar Dyer congratulates before presenting a plaque "in appreciation for distinguished and dedicated service to Muenster Public School, 1949-1980" to Superintendent L.B. Bruns on his retirement.

City Gets $393 as Tax Rebate on Mixed Drink Sales

The City of Muenster has just received a check from State Comptroller Bob Bullock in the amount of $393.50 as its rebate for the tax on $2623.36 of mixed drinks sold here in the first quarter of 1980.

At the same time Cooke County received $3,263.69, Gainesville received $940.22 and Lindsay received $926.10 as rebates on the sale of mixed drinks in their areas. Total sales were listed at $21,757.90 in the county, $6,268.15 in Gainesville and $6,173.97 in Lindsay.

A tax of 10 per cent is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission of the state on the sale of mixed drinks. As pointed out by Bullock total sales for the first quarter were near a quarter billion dollars and the total tax remitted was $22.1 million. Counties and cities receive 15 per cent of this amount as a rebate for sales in their areas, the counties receiving $3.3 million and the cities $3.1 million. The remaining $15.68 million goes into the state's general fund. 207 counties and 307 cities received the rebate checks.

The really well adjusted man is one who can enjoy the scenery when he has to take a detour.
