VOLUME VII

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1942

NUMBER 1

If headlines and radio reports were not sufficient to convince a fellow that our country is now in the thick of this war, the spirit of this battalion could easily help him figure it out. There's a tenseness in the air. Men are more war-conscious than they have been at any time in the past. They take it for granted that we'll soon be in there taking our quota of punches at the Nips and Nazis.

What a contrast with the free and easy ways of a furlough! A considerable contrast, too, with the dull routine of our former training. At last army life has come to mean just what we all expected when we first entered. A minimum of horse play and general concern over the one main job of licking the enemy, while sustaining the least possible damage to ourselves.

It's interesting also to notice the attitude of the fellows. When word about actual service started making the rounds, some were visibly shaken. They hated to think of sticking out their necks. But, little by little, they reconciled themselves to the idea. Now everyone seems to be ready for the movement order—if and when it should be given.

What actually started the strain is the decree that furloughs are cancelled. It was equivalent to an official proclamation that the leisure is all over and the rest of our army careers will be spent at serious soldering.

The men hardest hit are those who had made plans to take off within the next few days. Also those who had their holiday cut short. Some had been home only a day or two after riding all the way across the continent. Con was more fortunate. Got his full time. Did not even hear about the excitement until returning to the company. However, like so many others, he had a feeling that big things were coming in the near future. Also that the next trip home, whenever that will come, will be made on a one-way ticket.

Recent developments seem to encourage continued optimism for an early end. Perhaps it is not as rosy as one commentator predicts—after all, this is a tremendous job to finish in only a few weeks. But the fact that such a statement should come from a man who has spent years with his thumb on the world's pulse is very significant. It can, and may, be over in a few months. Con still has hopes of changing to civilian clothes before Armistice Day, 1943.

Meanwhile, sorry to say, the day of doom seems to be approaching for this column. Obviously, mail service from foreign points, when that time comes, is not regular enough to make a newspaper's deadline. Besides, writing time is limited. And the subject matter, though a lot more interesting than normal training has to offer, is not officially considered as a topic for general discussion.

From a writer's viewpoint, the more interesting army life becomes, the less can be said about it. Quite often in the past choice bits of information had to be omitted because of their possible military significance. Now that the nation is swinging into its full fighting stride, even less can be said. There is always the chance that remarks will come to the attention of some snooping enemy agent. We don't want him to know about the type and quantity of our equipment, our training schedules, or anything else that might give a hint as to our destination assignment, or time of shipping.

So, as far as Confetti is concerned, this isn't just military life any more. It is war. Your correspondent, like several million other soldiers, will have to pass up a lot of good copy for a while and turn his full attention to the country's Number One job, ridding the world of Jap and Nazi vermin.

Terrell O. B. Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alford Harrison, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Thursday upon successful completion of the officers candidate course at the infantry school, Fort Benning, Ga. He enlisted in the army on September 12, 1937, and served with the 38th Infantry at Fort Sill, the 9th Infantry at Fort Sam Houston and the 27th Infantry at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, before going to officer candidate school three months ago. He held the rank of sergeant before being commissioned.

Additional Gas Ration Boards To Act

John Felderhoff, Emmet Fette And Wm. Hellman Make Up Muenster Panel

Cooke county gasoline rationing plans entered the final stages Monday when County Judge Carroll Sullivan announced the roster of members to serve on the county board and formed smaller panels in county communities to reduce the work of the county seat group and to hasten action on application for supplemental gasoline throughout the county.

John Felderhoff, William Hellman and Emmet Fette were appointed to form the Muenster panel and were sworn in Tuesday morning. This group considers all local applications for this sector for additional gas coupons and their action is final.

The men have chosen the City Hall as their place of business and are on duty every morning from 8:30 to 9:30 to serve persons of this vicinity.

Three-men boards were also established at Lindsay, Bulcher, Valley View, Dexter and Callisburg, and additional panels may be set up later if the demand for them develops.

New members on the county board were named Monday and included on the list is Frank Hess of this city.

Christmas Mail Should Be Posted By December 1st.

The bulk of Christmas mail must be in the post office by December 1 this year if deliveries on time are to be assured, according to Smith W. Purdum, Second Assistant Postmaster General. Mr. Purdum is responsible to Postmaster General Frank C. Walker for smooth and efficient air and railway mail service.

Unprecedented wartime demands on the postal and transportation system, plus a prospective record volume of Christmas mailings, were cited by Mr. Purdum as necessitating earlier mailing than ever before. "It is physically impossible for the railroads and air lines, burdened with vitally important war materials, to handle Christmas mailings as rapidly as in normal times," Mr. Purdum said. "If the bulk of parcels and greeting cards are held back until the usual time—the period of about December 15 to 23—they simply cannot be distributed in time, and thousands of gifts will reach their destination after Christmas."

In 1941, about 21,950 mail cars were required between December 12 and 24 to deliver Christmas mails—enough cars to make a train 270 miles long. This year, the extra cars needed to move holiday mails are largely being used by the armed services, and a severe shortage is in prospect.

In view of all these handicaps to the service, Mr. Purdum added, postal patrons should mail their gifts by December 1 if they wish to insure that their friends will not be disappointed at Christmas.

COFFEE SALES ARE SUSPENDED PRIOR TO RATIONING HERE

Retail sales of coffee to consumers were suspended from midnight last Saturday to midnight of next Saturday, November 28, pending the institution of coffee rationing.

During this period when retail stocks of coffee are "frozen," dealers may stock their shelves and sales may be made this week to institutional users who have registered and obtained their allotments. Sales may also be made to government agencies, army, navy, etc.

Institutional users registered for allotments on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Their first allotment started with the date of registration and extended to midnight, January 31, 1943.

Restaurants, hotels, hospitals and other such institutions will be entitled to as much coffee during the first two months of rationing as they used during September and October.

One pound every five weeks for persons over fifteen years of age will begin at midnight next Saturday. Stamp No. 28 in the sugar ration book will be good for the first pound of coffee.

All retailers and wholesalers must report to the local war price and rationing board by December 21, the amount of inventory at beginning of rationing and the manner in which it was obtained. Forms are available at the local rationing office.

COUNTY WAR BONDS SALES PASS MILLION DOLLAR MARK IN OCT.

Passing the million dollar mark, Cooke county war bond sales during the month of October soared to $306,932.15, according to tabulations.

Bond sales during the first ten months of 1942 have amounted to $1,086,887.10, and far exceed the quota of $928,000 assigned the county this year by the United States Treasury Department.

October sales in Muenster show that the Muenster State Bank sold $12,725 worth and the Post office $3,994.65.

Muenster's total for the year to Nov. 1 is $871,473.00 of which the bank sold $74,450.00 and the Post Office $12,697.95.

William T. Bonner, county bond sales chairman, stated that he is highly pleased with the response given by citizens to the call to buy more bonds and urged them to continue to invest in war bonds and stamps.

MAGAZINES, HANGERS DELIVERED TO CAMP

Use Remaining Weeks Of 1942 To Get In All Scrap, Asks Government

The government is asking the American farms to dedicate the remaining weeks of 1942 to an intensified scrap hunt, according to Donald M. Nelson, chairman.

The steel mills need more heavy scrap and the farms are one of the best sources of this type of metal. Salvage committees are being instructed to make available to the farms their transportation facilities and man power to cooperate with farmers in every way possible, to see that every bit of scrap metal is brought in and goes on its way to the steel mills.

Very Rev. Henry Felderhoff of Abilene came in Tuesday evening for a several days' visit with relatives and friends in this city.

FUNERAL HERE FOR INFANT DAUGHTER OF LEONARD ENDRES

The infant died at the Endres home in Fort Worth early Tuesday morning following a brief illness August. In addition to her parents she is survived by three brothers, Tommy, Richard and Kenneth; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Endres of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brockman of Nazareth, and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fisch, this city.

CAUTION URGED IN HANDLING FIRE ARMS IN HUNTING SEASON

Austin, Texas.—With the hunting season in progress, the Texas State Health Department urges caution in handling fire arms. More than 200 Texans were killed in 1941 as a result of carelessness in handling guns, and at this time when human lives are being snuffed out in the war that is enveloping the entire world, it is more than ever important that we should conserve human lives on the home fronts.

With the inauguration of meat rationing and the reduced supply of this particular food, there is a possibility of more hunters going into the field than has been the custom for many years.

"It is not enough to deplore the waste of human lives caused by careless handling of fire arms," asserts Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, "we should learn the lessons of safety which will prevent this needless and shocking waste."

The State Department of Health suggests the following safety suggestions in handling guns:

While hunting be sure that the loaded gun is on safety until ready to fire. Never shoot without seeing your target clearly. Never crawl through a fence carrying a loaded gun. If hunting with a companion stay close to him. Do not strike the ground or wounded game with the butt of a loaded gun. Never scuffle while holding gun or point it at a person "for fun." Always unload a gun before attempting to clean it. Always unload a gun before taking them into the home. All guns should be carefully put away in the home out of the reach of small children.

Select Next Year's Breeding Turkeys Now

COLLEGE STATION—Nov. 23.—Texas turkey growers should select breeders for next year before all of their better birds have been sold.

"It is only by selecting breeders now," says Geo. P. McCarthy, poultryman for the A and M College Extension Service, "that we can maintain the improvement which has been so pronounced during the past five or six years. Turkey hens which are showing heavy fleshing, especially across the breast and thighs, and have developed fat and feathered out well, including pin feathers, should be kept back as breeders, McCarthy explained. Producers should also be giving serious thought to buying toms to head up next year's breeding flocks. There is an excellent supply of good quality toms in Texas, especially in the broad-breast bronze strain, which may be bought from R.O.P. breeders. Growers buying hens or toms should see that they are pullorum-tested before putting them into breeding flocks.

Under R.O.P. breeding practices all hens are trap nested, and a complete record is kept on eggs produced, their fertility and hatchability. Only toms from hens which have laid at least 50 eggs from February 1 to June 1, and have a hatching record of at least 72 per cent of all eggs set can qualify as R.O.P.

FOOD COSTS SHOW RISE

Food costs climbed an average of 2 1/2 per cent in the six-state Dallas OPA region from September 15 to October 13. This information was contained in a report made to region OPA Administrator Max L. McCullough by Dr. Arthur A. Smith, the regional Bureau of Labor statistics director. His report points out that the greatest increase in food costs during the period occurred through price rises in eggs, dairy products, and fruits and vegetables, commodities which went under price control on October 5 by OPA order. Prices of canned fruits and vegetables also advanced as a result of OPA adjustments permitted for the Turkey hens reaching market. The report showed the highest increase in food prices for the region at New Orleans, with a 4 per cent jump. Houston was near the bottom, with a 1.6 per cent increase.

Canned Food Use Should Be Reduced

If every one of America's 31,000,000 families would reduce its purchase of canned foods by one can per week, thousands of tons of critical tin and steel would be released to make cans for shipment of food to our soldiers and allies. Housewives can make up for reduced consumption of canned foods by using fresh fruits and vegetables in season, canning foods at home and planning a Victory garden next spring.

FATHER OF NINE

New York.—Mrs. Lawrence Slyman assured solicitous neighbors today that she and her nine children would get by although her husband has enlisted.

As a worker in a war plant, he made $124.80 a month. As a private with 10 dependents, he will make $170 a month—$142 for his family and $28 for himself. Slyman is 31. He and his wife were 16 when they married.

Those who repeat everything they hear do so because they haven't anywhere to keep it.

One great trouble with a checkered career is, it's always your move. Civilization will have arrived when a man tells you where you can buy a book instead of where you can get a good meal.

Nowadays so many people need sympathy that you shouldn't waste any on yourself.

THE ENTERPRISE IS SIX YEARS OLD

With this issue The Enterprise enters its seventh year of existence. It is with mingled sentiments of pride, gratitude and confidence that we identify this issue as Volume VII, Number I. Having completed six years of sincere efforts to serve the community, and having been rewarded with a small measure of success, we set out again with high hopes for our seventh year, and for many years to come.

Very appropriately our anniversary falls on Thanksgiving Day. On this occasion it is fitting that we express again our thanks to our many friends for their encouragement and support. We thank our readers for their interest, and we thank the business men for their continued confidence in the paper as an advertising medium.

We are particularly grateful for the help and encouragement given us since our publisher joined the Army last February.

Second only to the loyalty of our supporters in our own effort. Publishing a paper is no picnic. It details many sacrifices, many night sessions, and grants few holidays. But in the end it stands out, like any worthwhile achievement, a sufficient reward in itself for the effort spent.

Grateful for the past, we are also concerned with the future. It is our purpose to carry on, offering the best we can in accuracy and interest, making improvements whenever possible, and encouraging whatever appears desirable for the general welfare of the community.

So on this day of Anniversary and Thanksgiving, the Enterprise is thankful for the confidence and cooperation it has received during the past six years. It is thankful for the privilege of representing a progressive, patriotic community like Muenster. It is thankful for the bright prospects which are inseparably associated with Muenster's promising future.

Gas Supply Is Sufficient If Not Wasted

Natural Gas Must Be Used Wisely This Year

Assurance of a sufficient supply of natural gas this winter provided it is used wisely was given today by Community Natural Gas Company in announcing construction of new field lines to take care of war and seasonal loads. Ways to conserve gas in house heating were given.

"As far as our engineers and production men can tell," said gas company officials, "we will be able to meet demands of all residential, commercial and war production customers this winter. We are in a somewhat more favorable position as regards, natural gas supplies than some other sections of the country. However, we ask customers to do all they can to conserve the supply and not waste it."

The gas company is in the midst of a field line construction program designed to bring more natural gas from the East Texas fields. Suggestions from the gas company on how to use gas wisely in house heating follows:

1. Avoid over-heating. Don't let temperature get above 72 degrees.
2. Keep all heating equipment in good operating condition; keep it clean and free from all dust particles.
3. Flame on radiant-type room heaters should not be allowed to lick at top of radiants.
4. If you have a gas heater in your fireplace, seal the flue tightly so the room heat will not go out the chimney.
5. Shut off from rest of house the seldom used rooms such as spare bedrooms or sun porch. However, for the health of your family, maintain as even heat not over 72 degrees throughout balance of house.
6. Window openings should be no wider than necessary for an ample flow of fresh air, otherwise they become heat wasters. Where unvented equipment is used, a small opening at the top of the window is recommended to help reduce "wall sweating."

of Sacred Heart High

Edited by: Sis Luke, Gladys Wilde

Thanksgiving
Thanksgiving! What does it mean to us this year? Perhaps some of us will eat chicken or some other substitute meat for the traditional turkey, because of the meat shortage and the rise in meat prices. What of it, we still have a lot to be thankful for. Now during this war we can give thanks to God for our Army, Navy, and Marines especially. If God weren't with us we would never have had such brave, valiant men protecting us. These men are protecting us from our foes. We people in America aren't suffering like the people overseas. All we have to do is think of the bombings and such of the people in England and Germany and we can readily see plenty of things to give thanks for.

So let's not grumble about the chicken we are eating instead of turkey or the awfulness of gas rationing but give our heartfelt thanks and keep begging God to send us a "Just and Lasting Peace."

Volley Ball
Whew! The struggle is over and we have survived. Sacred Heart High's girls have done it again. They won over Lindsay High last Wednesday in a volley ball meet. But it all wasn't a bed of roses. The girls really had to fight for the victory. Out of five games we took the lead in three. After Thanksgiving the girls are going to organize a basketball team. We don't know how victorious we'll be in this sport because none of us have ever played basketball before but we are determined to do our best.

Motto Chosen
The Senior-Junior Club had its regular meeting and a suitable motto was chosen. Many were mentioned but the one favored was, "A winner never quits, and a quitter never wins." The members are now resolved to carry out this motto. Names were also chosen by the members for the means of exchanging presents at the annual Christmas party.

Nicknames
We will give you a list of nicknames of the Seniors and Juniors of our school for you readers, to keep for future reference.

Communion Day
Wednesday has been selected by the students of Sacred Heart High as their weekly Communion Day. Let's all remember the day and include in our intentions a speedy victory and a just peace, as well as the spiritual and temporal needs of our boys in service.

Here and There
The Junior and Senior Class have started brushing up on their Arithmetic. They are all using their spare moments working problems. Judging from the interest shown, the class will be both useful and enjoyable.

Mildred claims she and Evelyn are the best argumentators—judging from the high "flown" phrases that fly back and forth between them we almost agree—But why so much argument? The answer—a candy bar.

Last week during a Spanish class, sweet melodies were issuing from upstairs. "Listen, they are singing," said a little Freshie, "but I can't understand a word." "Be quiet," said the second freshman. "Don't you know they are singing in the unknown tongue." Leo says the girls shouldn't get all the credit for last Friday's success. Frank's cheering helped powerfully, he claims. Let's have a little more encouragement from the side lines.

Yes, siree! There are pretty loud rumors of a girl's basketball team to be organized in the near future. We wonder why Frank and Harold so suddenly changed their mind about going down between classes for a drink.

Herbert Swirczynski, why that efficiency holding the door open? The Sophs think they know the answer.

Dolores, Emma Lee, Helen, and Mildred think that things are swell now since they may spend one period each day in the Junior-Senior room.

Yes, indeed, the shorthand class is humming along nicely (at least we think so). We couldn't know that such peculiar little signs could be so interesting and mean so much.

Rueben, Clifford, Billie Joe, and August, the unseparable quartet, must have turned over a new leaf. They appeared first on the athletic field Thursday and played the whole period.

Bernard says Geometry would be easy if it wasn't for those big words and phrases you have to remember. Robert doesn't agree. He finds Geometry just O.K. but he doesn't like the fact that his work is always being doubted because every time he makes a statement he has "got to" prove why.

Are Pioneer Citizens Of Lindsay Community

Lindsay—Sunday, November 15, was an enjoyable day for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuhn of this city as they observed their golden wedding anniversary with a happy reunion of their children and grandchildren at their home. Mr. Kuhn is 75 years old and his wife is 69. They are pioneer settlers of the community, coming here 43 years ago.

For the anniversary party the house was attractively decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and marigolds and the dining table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a huge decorated cake bearing 50 candles.
