A news report says the government of Chile has withdrawn from the social security business and replaced its government pension program with a plan to be operated largely by enterprise and financed by the workers themselves.

The social security program of the South American country, like our own, was costly and bankrupt and urgently needed to be changed. The method adopted there ought to be studied by our government as a step toward working out a system of our own.

By Chile's system, employers will not pay any of the cost. Employees are to pay 17% of their salaries into private accounts administered by private-owned business which would divide the payments into three separate accounts as follows: 10% will go into pensions, 4% to health care, 3% to unemployment insurance and related items.

The principal feature of the plan is that it gets away from our socialistic method and takes up the private enterprise method... from hand to mouth financing to a savings method with interest and insurance features. We can imagine that systematic savings during an average work life would create a sizeable amount, adequate for current concerns like health care and unemployment besides a retirement fund. It seems reasonable also to add an estate feature to the retirement plan. If a person dies before his pension fund is exhausted the remaining amount could be transferred to his designated beneficiary as a life insurance settlement.

In principle, the Chilean idea is great, but its problem is the 17% rate. Compared with our rate of slightly more than 13% for employer and employee combined, the single premium seems outrageous and unnecessary. Using very conservative figures, this is like a savings account with compound interest over a 45 year period. Based only on the 10% pension part of the plan and an annual wage of $15,000, the end figure could become enormous.

Besides, the pension which the amount would yield would be equivalent only to the interest earned by the fund. The figures indicate clearly that it's possible to have a free enterprise system of security which is far superior to the socialized version we have had these many years.

Congress is still fussing about ways and means to salvage our deteriorating Social Security. All of us agree that the first duty is to meet the obligations inherent in the present system, but an equally important duty is to work out a way of providing a better system. This amounts to a double job of finding ways to continue payments while phasing in the better way.

It's interesting to wonder about the provisions to be expected in a free enterprise security arrangement. In the first place, it would likely be a compulsory method to make sure that when the time comes all will have provided for themselves. Otherwise the irresponsible people, the very ones who would decline to pay in early, would be crying for help later. As now, we'd expect the law to require that employers make the payroll deduction and remit to the authorized financial firm, which would be required to send an annual report to the person concerned on the status of his account.

The next idea is to require that a financial firm, to be acceptable, must meet the standards demanded by federal and state governments. But government should not be permitted to continued on page 2...

New administration building is final addition

Muenster ISD completes expansion

The beginning of a new scholastic year at Muenster Public School will feature completion of the last stage of a comprehensive expansion program approved by the district in 1977.

Finishing touches on a new administration building were made during the summer and it will be shown at an open house shortly after fall classes begin. The open house will also show the results of a vast fix-up, paint-up project that has been under way all over the school during the summer.

The administration building was constructed for $79,605.88 by Contemporary Lifestyles Corp. of Ardmore, owned by Terry Barnes, architect and builder. It is located some 50 yards from the main building at the south end of the former football field. Dirt fill and grass sodding have just been finished and remaining landscaping is due soon.

It has a brick exterior, the light brown color matching that of the main building, and the roof is metal. Interior walls are vinyl covered sheet rock supported by metal studs and space between walls has four inches of insulation. These features give the building an over all fire resistant classification and qualify it for a reduced insurance rate. It has a concrete slab floor with vinyl carpet. Ceilings are acoustical tile. Lighting is lay-in recessed fluorescent.

Interior space is 2000 square feet. A large reception area is separated from the board's meeting room by an accordion type partition which can be folded back to provide a single large space. Other rooms and areas are the superintendent's office, vault, workroom, two rest rooms, mechanical equipment room, and a small refreshment area.

The expansion program started with passage of a $490,000 bond issue on April 2, 1977, but has been interrupted by several delays. Meanwhile the school board and Superintendent Bruns made the most of a bad situation by investing their building fund in savings. Total earnings from that source were $33,547.16.

Additional money added to the fund was $3,285 for hail damage to a roof and $3,342.50 from Muenster State Bank for a scoreboard.

Those additions increased the original $490,000 to $530,174.66 and pose a question: Was the interest gain sufficient to offset the inflation gain during the last time?

Final cost of the program was $570,621.46, which exceeded the building fund by $40,446.80. That amount has been paid out of the school's general fund.

The expansion program started with the purchase of 8.5 acres of land on July 15, 1977, for $18,842.30. Next job was work on the elementary plus addition of the kindergarten, completed in May 1978 at a cost of $165,544.85. The job consisted of moving partitions in the original building resulting in fewer but larger classrooms, then building the addition with new classrooms and kindergarten.

The next job consisted principally of enlarging and repairing the high school wing of the building. It included a new roof on all of the wing plus an expansion of about 35% in space of the homemaking department, with extensive remodeling in the living room area of the department. The new roof includes sky lights over the hall and four exhaust fans, a welcome improvement in light and temperature. Another improvement was removal of windows in the east side of the gym and closing the openings with brick. Work there was finished in January '80 at a cost of $53,220.63.

Next to last project was the athletic field project. It required extensive dirt moving as a starting point, then shaping and sodding the football field and surrounding it with an all-weather track. Also installation of the lighting system, building a new home-side grandstand, moving old grandstands to the visitor side of the field, building inner and outer fences, the concession stand, rest rooms and sidewalks.

Likewise included is the baseball field, mostly finished and expected to be ready for the next baseball season. Football field and track were used in the last school year. Combined cost of the football, track and baseball facilities was $221,803.21.

A new administration building is the last project in the $490,000 expansion program approved by Muenster school district voters in 1977. Other projects were new football track and baseball facilities and additions and improvements to high school and elementary buildings. Staff Photo

Milo harvest is going fine

The community's second harvest season is doing fine, according to Arthur Felderhoff of Muenster Milling Co. The season's first load of milo was delivered on July 16 and more has been coming in regularly.

Like the wheat harvest, the crop has ranged from extra good, at 7,000 pounds per acre, to just fair, at 2,200 pounds. The average has been 3500 to 4000 per acre. Cash value of the crop likewise has been about the same as wheat. Currently it is selling for $4.75 a hundred, which amounts to $190 an acre for a 4000 pound yield. A 50 bushel yield of wheat, at $3.80 per bushel, was worth the same amount.

Abundant rainfall in May accounts for the good maize crop. While wheat harvesting was delayed by three weeks of wet weather the maize was thriving. If planted early it advanced sufficiently to carry on to maturity. Late plantings needed later rain which failed to come, and the yields have been smaller.

The Mid-Park project of converting a vacant lot into a city attraction got under way this week with Herb Yosten on a dozer and Dan Bayer on a grader while rocks, bottles and other debris were picked up. Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce the park is located across First Street from Hess Furniture. Staff Photos

Chamber and Garden Club combine efforts to beautify city

Mid-Park project starts

The Chamber of Commerce project of changing an eyesore into an attraction is showing progress. The typical vacant lot at the corner of First and Main received its first attention last week on the way to becoming a mid town park.

The project, adopted by Muenster Chamber of Commerce members, is to lease the 140 x 100 area from J.M. Weinzapfel and make it a credit to the town. It's intended to add to rather than detract from the city's appearance and become a pleasant spot to fit such occasions as the Harvest Hoedown, Christmas drawing, etc. and serve as a welcome pause for walkers.

Next step in the development is installation of a cable to serve as a barrier on east and south sides and then plant a row of shrubs in front of the cable. A bermuda lawn is also in the plan, some probably to be developed by watering and fertilizing the grass already there, some by sodding the bare spots.

Among other additions envisioned are benches, a flower bed and walkways from corners to the center. Designs, materials, flower varieties, etc., will be considered as they come up.

An inspiration

The mid-park idea is a companion to an inspiration just proposed by the Muenster Garden Club. As explained by the club's president, Alice Roark, business people are invited to cooperate in dressing up their store fronts like Hess Furniture has done.

This is a cooperative arrangement whereby people can get a square red-wood planter by just paying for the material. Rudy Koessler and his shop class will do the work free. Next the Garden Club will provide and plant shrubs in the planters and possibly add flowers in the spring. Each person will be asked to keep his own plants watered and keep out grass and weeds. Twelve cooperators have responded to date.

The club hopes to have its project under way by Arbor Day.

CCC urges students to pick up class schedules, time permits

Schedules of classes for the upcoming 1981 fall semester at Cooke County College are fresh off the press and are now available in both the Counseling Center and Registrar's Office on campus.

"We recommend that all new and returning students obtain a class schedule as soon as possible," says Counseling Center director Bill Caver, "so that they can start planning for the courses they plan to take."

Caver cautions students not to delay in picking up their time permits since they will be distributed on a first come - first served basis.

"Planning ahead and getting an early registration time can be a real advantage for students who want to be assured that the classes they want or need will still be open," Caver stresses.

Time permits, available now, may be picked up from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, until registration begins. Both new and returning students also are required to pick up a trial schedule sheet with their time permit.

Registration for fall semester classes will take place August 27-28 (Thursday and Friday) in the Activities Center on campus.

Enrollment is scheduled on Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 4:30 to 8 p.m. On Friday, students may enroll from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Three days of late registration also are scheduled; however, students enrolling late will be assessed a $5 late fee. Late enrollment is set for August 31 (Monday) and September 1-2.

Times for late registration are 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m. on Monday and on Tuesday and Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Classes for the 1981 fall term at Cooke County College will begin on Monday, August 31.

"Just as important as picking up a time permit is scheduling an appointment with a counselor," Caver emphasizes. "Students may do this when they come by to pick up their permits."

He explains that all students must see a counselor prior to registration. Counselors will assist in planning trial schedules, setting specific educational goals and making sure that the right courses are being taken to reach those goals.

Students who do not have a trial schedule sheet signed by a counselor will not be allowed to enter the registration area.

Counselors are on duty in the CCC Counseling Center from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Fridays and from 4:40 to 7:30 on Thursday evenings.

Persons wishing to obtain more information about classes or enrollment at Cooke County College may call 668-7731.

Stenholms' Coming

Word has been received from Congressman Charles Stenholm's office that he will visit in Muenster on Wednesday, August 19. He'll be available to constituents from 9 to 11 a.m. at Muenster State Bank.

Back at "Square One"

A recent Associated Press dispatch reported on a speech of Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig, Jr. before a convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in which the Secretary charged "that the Soviet policy of promoting international terrorism 'constitutes the greatest danger to world peace.'"

Even though such a correct and realistic appraisal represents only a return to

"square one," to use the vernacular of a parlor game, it is nevertheless encouraging and remarkable because for so many years we haven't even been "in the game," let alone "on the board."

Some twenty years ago, F.B.I. Director Hoover warned us that we were "at war with Communism." We ignored his warning and succumbed to the propaganda blandishments of the Communists, their fellow-travelers and dupes, to the effect that our internal security programs were a greater threat to individual freedom than were the subversives in our midst for which they were designed. As a consequence, we regressively dismantled our internal security protection over the years.

Now we have come full circle, admitting the Soviets are the major threat to world peace. Accordingly, we are gearing up to improve our national defense structure. But what about our internal defense — our internal security?

As difficult as it may be for some to accept, there are people in the United States who are determined to do everything in their power to estranged me somewhat from some of the leadership of the Democratic Party. While there is talk of "punishing" conservative Democrats for their support of that austere budget, I would cast the same votes today or any day, regardless of the cost to my political future.

During the past year, since I became convinced that the political current of the Democratic Party, with its obvious strong drift toward "spend, spend, spend and tax, tax, tax," philosophical objectives, needed change, I have weathered some strong opposition to my convictions.

On November 4, 1980, the American voting public confirmed what I had come to believe, that that philosophy had brought this nation to the brink of economic disaster. The decision that voters made last November was not so much a "turning out" of some politicians as it was a turn away from current economic policy. It was not a mandate to follow any man or political party blindly, but to open our eyes to the dangers such an economic policy had pressed upon us and to change course before it was too late.

One of the first things that members of my Democratic leadership told me when I came to the Congress was that at no time would they ever ask me to vote against my convictions or my conscience. I have every right to expect them to honor that commitment.

I remain committed to changing that course and doing so in the fairest and most equitable manner that I think is possible. The first steps toward that change, sharply cutting the level of government spending, were relatively easy votes to cast. There was a clear-cut difference in approaches presented to the Congress during the budget considerations. I have voted my convictions and my conscience, even though those votes have been politically difficult and have Leadership, in its truest sense, is a very lonely business. It is more a matter of following the dictates of one's conscience, rather than necessarily marching in rank with one's party or blindly following the dictates of any one person or giving in to political expediency.

At this writing, I have not decided what course I will take on the tax cut, as I have yet to examine final versions of the two proposals and make a personal assessment of the issues included in each. I realize that whatever my decision may be, there will be those who will criticize my actions and I will honestly and sincerely respect those differing opinions.

As I told my colleagues on the House Floor during debate on the budget reconciliation, the beauty of the American system of government is that reasonable men may disagree. I might also suggest the wisdom in agreeable men being able to reason, as well.

We Americans have always been sensible and practical people. We think about our choices. We look for our best values, whether in the supermarket or the corporate boardroom.

Today we're having to take a long, hard look at our energy options. Oil and gas are no longer cheap. We depend on foreign sources for half our oil, and that makes us vulnerable to foreign politics. How practical is it to rely heavily on those sources?

America has the world's largest domestic reserves of coal and uranium. At your electric company, we think it's sensible to use these cheaper and more plentiful fuels. We started building generating plants to use lignite coal more than 10 years ago, and we're building a nuclear-fueled plant today.

We still have to use gas to make about half your electricity. But as fast as we can afford to, we're building plants to use more abundant fuels.

Think about it. We believe you'll agree. It's the only practical way to go.

State Fair opens October 9

Texans who survive the dog-eared days of August, back to school shopping and the Cowboys' pre-season can expect a resurgence of good times down the road.

The State Fair of Texas, a 17-day extravaganza acknowledged to be the biggest in size and the broadest in scope of any annual exposition in the U.S., opens in Dallas on October 9.

"Going Places, Doing Things" is the 1981 theme, and approximately 3 million people will pass through the gates searching for new experiences in tandem with old fashioned fun. From the cattle barns to the theater lobby and back again via the circus tent and new car displays, the State Fair offers an educational and entertainment program that challenges any visitor to see it all in one day.

A new production of an early American favorite, George M. Cohan's "Little Johnny Jones," will be presented in 24 performances at the Music Hall, Oct. 6-25. David Cassidy, a familiar name to television and pop music audiences, stars in a sparkling show that features such classic tunes as "Yankee Doodle Boy" and "Give My Regards to Broadway."

Sports fans will want to plan for two big college football games in the Cotton Bowl, the tradition-filled match-up between Texas and Oklahoma on Oct. 10, and a newer rivalry with strong local appeal that pits North Texas State against U.T. Arlington on Oct. 24. Another sport that can boast of fierce action and hard-hitting is professional rodeo, and the best cowboys in the country will be at Fair Park, Oct. 10-18, to compete for rating points and prize money.

Competition, always a cornerstone of the State Fair of Texas, can be applauded and appreciated in wide-ranging activities on a daily basis. Blue ribbons, trophies, cash awards and other valuable prizes will spur thousands of entries in livestock events, horse shows, creative arts contests, high school band competition and frisbee championships. The Pan-American Livestock Exposition, Oct. 9-18, will be highlighted by the prestigious World Congress of Santa Gertrudis Breeders, an international conclave which is being held in the United States for the first time.

Fairgoers will be able to find everything from Ronald Reagan's favorite candies to America's favorite cow, Elsie, in the mammoth exhibit buildings. The Fair provides an opportunity to comparison shop all the 1982 car models, a chance to sample new food items and an occasion to learn about life in other countries, all in a personal one-to-one atmosphere.

Free entertainment will be offered continuously. Outstanding country talents Barbara Fairchild and Fiddlin' Frenchie Burke will present multiple shows on outdoor stages, and visitors will enjoy a full schedule of circus performances, street dances, gospel sings, fireworks displays, high-wire acts, fashion shows and parades.

Midway rides and games, all kinds of food specialties, top quality museum exhibitions, multi-media shows and special guest appearances are part of the 1981 lineup that will continue to grow from now until the official ribbon cutting. Admission prices remain at $3.00 for adults and $1.00 for children under 12.

Malathion safe despite uproar

Despite the public uproar in California about use of the insecticide malathion to control Mediterranean fruit flies, the material has a proven track record of being safe and free of health hazards.

"Malathion has been with us a long time—since the early 1950s—and is one of the most commonly used insecticides by farmers, homeowners and gardeners," points out Dr. Phil Hamman, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Hamman says he has been inundated with telephone calls since the California controversy from people wanting to know about the safety of malathion.

Tests sponsored by the National Cancer Institute have shown malathion to be both non-carcinogenic (not causing cancer) and non-mutagenic (not causing genetic changes).

According to Dr. Bill Plapp, research toxicologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, malathion is one of the least dangerous insecticides in use today.

"Malathion is routinely used by many homeowners and gardeners to control insects and mites on trees, shrubs, houseplants, flowers and vegetables. It is also used to control external parasites on pets," says Hamman.

In addition, he explains that malathion is used widely to control many different insect pests of crops. For instance, it has been used in large area control programs for boll weevils and grasshoppers in West Texas.

Another major use of malathion in Texas has been for mosquito control programs, points out the entomologist. "Malathion is used almost exclusively to rid urban and suburban areas of disease-carrying mosquitoes," says Hamman. "In 1966-67 and again in 1971, vast areas of Texas, including major cities such as Dallas, Houston and Corpus Christi, were aerially sprayed with malathion to control outbreaks of St. Louis encephalitis and Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis, diseases spread by mosquitoes."

The entomologist points out that in all of these uses of malathion, there has been no record of problems involving human health.

Of course, Hamman cautions users of malathion as well as other insecticides to follow commonsense precautions for safe and effective results. This means following directions on the product label, avoiding any unnecessary contact with the insecticide, and washing your hands after use. He also suggests scrubbing sprayed fruits or vegetables before cooking or eating.

Sister Gebharda former SH teacher dies in Arkansas

Sister M. Gebharda, 81, who began her long teaching career in Muenster, in 1927 when the red brick elementary building of Sacred Heart School was opened for classes, died on Tuesday July 28 in the Infirmary of Holy Angels Convent in Jonesboro, Arkansas, after a lingering battle against cancer.

She was born in Switzerland and lived to celebrate her golden and diamond jubilees as a professed Olivetan Benedictine nun, and as a third grade teacher in Texas and Arkansas schools.

Funeral services were held Thursday in the Convent Chapel by Chaplain Father Benedict Meyer OSB and burial was in the convent cemetery. Community rosaries were held on Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning.

The news of her death was phoned here to Sister Romana and Sister Fidelis telling them that Mother Mary John Seyler and Sister Yvonne Lerner were at the bedside, assisting with prayers for the dying, and were singing the "Ave, Maris Stella" as the aged nun died.

New teacher for Public School

Mrs. Nona Ruth Stanley of Gainesville is a new member of the Muenster Public School faculty succeeding Margaret Stormer who has resigned.

Mrs. Stanley is a beginning teacher, a 1982 graduate of Texas Woman's University. The wife of a long time biology teacher at Cooke County College, she started college after the youngest of their four children reached high school age.

She will be a full time special education teacher in learning disabilities. Also assigned to special education is a speech therapist to be named by the Cooke County Special Education Co-op, with which the Muenster school is associated. Previously both of those subjects were assigned to one teacher.

The Muenster faculty still has a vacancy for an assistant coach who will probably be assigned also to PE, driver education and junior high science.

Don Flusche of Muenster is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Cathy Jane to Daniel Blake Kent of Wichita Falls. They have chosen Saturday, October 3 for their wedding day. Father Stephen Eckart will officiate in Sacred Heart Catholic Church of Muenster at 5:00 in the afternoon. The bride-elect is also the daughter of Mrs. Dorma Garner of Gainesville. Parents of the future-groom are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kent of Wichita Falls. The bride-elect is a graduate of Muenster Public High School and attended Cooke County College and Midwestern State University. She is the Aquatic Director of the Wichita Falls YWCA. The future groom is a graduate of S.H. Rider High School and attended Midwestern State University and North Texas State University. He is employed by Gray Tool.

CCC Chorale will conduct 4-session free workshop

"Come sing with us!" is the appeal being issued by the Cooke County Chorale in announcing a special free choral workshop to be sponsored jointly by Cooke County College's Division of Continuing Education.

Anyone of high school age or older is invited to take part in the special workshop, according to Dr. Harold Kafer. Kafer, of the CCC music department, will conduct the workshop along with his wife Cecelia, also of the CCC music faculty.

Dr. Kafer also is conductor/director of the local civic chorale and symphony organization.

"If you've wanted to become a member of the Chorale but felt that your vocal skills were inadequate", he says, "this workshop will provide a perfect opportunity to get professional training at no cost.

"We want everyone who's interested in choral music to come and participate, have a lot of fun and join the Chorale in its exciting upcoming season of performances."

Activities of the choral workshop will be divided into two primary areas. First, Dr. Kafer will work with participants as a chorus, drawing on both theoretical and actual choral examples, to refine rudimentary techniques, sight singing and ear training.

Mrs. Kafer will work with participants as a voice class, covering the fundamentals of vocal production such as breathing, resonance and tone.

The workshop is scheduled for the first four Mondays in August (August 3, 10, 17, and 24) and each session will last from 7 to 9 p.m.

All sessions will take place in Room 126 on the CCC campus. There is no pre-registration or other requirement for participation.

Persons wishing to obtain additional information may call 668-7731, extension 220.

Gold Coin Jewelry. It's a smart looking investment, too.

Sure, gold coins are precious, but they look even more precious when they're worn. Because real gold jewelry is a basic for investment dressing (it goes with everything!). And nothing looks as smart as these coins set in 14 karat gold. Give real gold to someone special. They'll love it. And you can bank on that.

Forestburg News

by Myrt Denham

The vacation church school at the Forestburg United Methodist church will start Mon. August 3 thru Aug. 7 from 7 to 9 p.m. This will be a union school in cooperation with the Baptist church, Nazarene church and the United Methodist church. There will be classes from age 3 thru high school. Make plans for your children to attend, everyone is welcome.

Mrs. Jack C. Dill is on the sick list and is confined to bed rest for two weeks, perhaps longer. Mrs. Dill (Jewell to us) is not in the hospital but at home.

Mrs. Cleo Lanier was dismissed from the Muenster Memorial Hospital Mon. July 27 after being admitted Thur p.m. July 23, Cleo and Mrs. Merle Hudspeth had attended a Montague County Democratic meeting at the court house in Montague Thurs. p.m. July 23. After the conclusion of the meeting, Cleo fell going down some stairs and had to be taken to the hospital. At this writing Cleo is recuperating at the home of Mrs. Olita Lanier, under the tender loving care of her grandsons Tracy and Jeff Lanier.

Mrs. Naomi Scott has also returned home after several weeks in the Muenster Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Kaye Schweter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sockwell, has been a patient in a hospital in England with a dislocated disc in her back. Her parents think she may have been dismissed from hospital this past Fri. The Schweters just recently were transferred to England from Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth.

The Forestburg United Methodist folks had their monthly fellowship supper and official board meeting Wed July 22 at 7 p.m. in the church annex. Mrs. Laura Belle Jackson was in charge of the evening program and supper with Ross Littell, president of the official board, conducting the business meeting. A very good crowd enjoyed a picnic type supper topped off with homemade ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Bobbie White, Mrs. Nora Gartrell, Mrs. Beth Dill, Mrs. Judy Moore and Mrs. Moore's sister-in-law motored out to Las Vegas, Nev. recently for few days relaxation and fun. They returned home July 22.

Henry Berry and sons of Nocona visited with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Dude Berry Fri. July 24.

Jeff Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carter, left July 24 to attend the Area V FFA leadership camp for district officers at the FFA Camp at Lake Texoma. On Sunday July 26, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards, Pam and Doug drove to the camp to pick up Jeff.

Mike Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Reynolds, of Bellaire, Tx. arrived at the home of his great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Reynolds on Fri. July 24 to spend a week with them. Mike's grandmother is the former Ina Perryman, sister to Mrs. W.T. (Millie) Reynolds. Mike's grandfather Reynolds and W.T. are no relation, just happen to have the same last name.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hudspeth and Leah drove to Tyler Fri. July 24 on business and to visit with some friends. They returned home late Sat. the 25.

Mmes. Esther Shears and Alice Shears were in Bowie Thurs the 23 on business and shopping.

Perryman Denham and his mother, Mrs. Joe Denham of Bowie, departed from Love Field in Dallas via Southwest Airlines for Houston Fr. a.m. July 24 and returned home late Sun p.m. the 26. They were the house-guests of Mrs. Denham's nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Reynolds of Bellaire. The main purpose of their trip was to visit with Mrs. Denham's sister, Mrs. Ina (Perryman) Ivey who is a resident of Autumn Hills Rest Home in Richmond, a suburb of Houston. While there Perryman and his cousin Rex visited NASA Space Center and the Astrodome. Then Sat. p.m. Perryman got together with one of his old Air Force buddies and they had themselves a "remember when and remember who" time.

The Forestburg Young Homemakers' homemade ice cream and cake supper Sat. p.m. the 25th at the Forestburg Community Center was fairly well attended. I, for one, just cannot understand why so many Forestburg folks will attend activities in other communities but will not support activities in their own community. Not only was Sat. p.m. an excellent opportunity to enjoy some good ice cream and cake but it was also a chance to see and visit with their neighbors and friends.

Miss Veronica Edwards spent Sat. nite the 25 in Bowie with friend Nancy O'Neal and some other friends who met recently at Methodist Camp at Bridgeport. The group of young ladies all attended church services at the First Methodist church in Bowie Sun. a.m. It was a happy pleasant weekend for Veronica.

Mrs. Elva Carter returned home Sat. the 25 after spending some time in Lake Jackson visiting with relatives. Her grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. David Pearson of Lake Jackson brought Mrs. Carter home on Sat. and they returned home Sun.

Chatted with Mrs. Kenneth (Peggy) Holland Sun. p.m. the 26. The Hollands live out in the Stoney Point Area. Peggy says that Bennett and Betty Reynolds have nothing on them - for the Hollands are also infested with copperhead snakes and have killed several more than the Reynolds in less time. Both families strongly urge everyone to be really very cautious for these critters after sundown. Seems there is an over abundance of them this year.

Mr. and Mrs. V.C. Olsson of Houston visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Littell Sun. the 26. Mrs. Olsson is the former Mildred Williams of Dallas and is a cousin of Mrs. Littells, Mrs. Gretzell Fanning and a niece of Mrs. J.W. Gardner.

Dale Hudspeth celebrated his birthday Sun. July 26. Wife Linda honored him with a birthday dinner, and those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudspeth, Pat O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. Cotton White of Bowie.

Mr. and Mrs. A.G. "Charlie" Barclay attended another Kuykendall family reunion Sun. the 26 at Meyer Park in Bowie. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Barclay and Jennifer of Sanger visited in the A.G. Barclay home Sun. p.m. Jennifer remained with her grandparents to visit for a few days.

"How many of you Forestburg Old, Old-Timers remember this young couple?"

Still Dry
Temperature has been good to Muenster but not the moisture. After a consecutive days of 100 degrees or more, the reading dropped to 98 on the 26th and has been under 100 since. It's a welcome contrast with last year's 42 days over 100. However rain is not satisfying. After another bone dry week the July total remains at .12 inch and the June-July total is 1.10 inch. Low and high temperature readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Moster. July 23, 76 and 103; July 24, 76 and 104; July 25, 78 and 100; July 26, 77 and 98; July 27, 77 and 94; July 28, 76 and 96; July 29, 74 and 98.

New Arrival!

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Cagle of 1828 Tracey Circle, Irving 75060 announce the birth of their first child, a son, Preston Chris, on Wednesday, July 22, 1981 at 2:05 a.m. in Dallas Presbyterian Hospital, weighing 7 lb. 11 oz. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hoedebeck of Muenster and Mr. and Mrs. Don Huffman of Saint Jo. Mrs. Cagle is the former Terri Hoedebeck.

School continues athletic field improvements

When Muenster Public School's football field and track were built in 1980 the plan included provisions for watering the football field, as indicated by the present lush condition of the turf. But nobody remembered that the track also needed a watering system. The truth came out when base dirt at the track's outside edge dried out in the drought and caused cracks in the track surface and curb. The remedy for this problem is currently being installed. It is a submerged drip irrigation system around the outside edge of the track to moisten the base dirt at automatic intervals and prevent the shrinking and cracking. The wetting is not needed at the inside edge of the track because it receives water from the football sprinklers.

Other work at the football field was completed earlier in the year. A small ticket office was built at the entrance gate, the band section of the grandstand was repainted, and old utility poles were laid as barriers at the parking lot edge leaving room for a walkway in front of the outer fence. Landscaping between outer and inner fences was also started. It consists of a dirt fill for low spots plus shaping and bermuda planting. Space improved was the southwest area from the entrance gate past concession stand and rest rooms to the grandstand. The intention is to extend the improvement to all of the fenced in area as time allows during the next few years.

Progress has been made also on the baseball field northwest of the football field. Grader work to shape the playing surface is finished, framework for a backstop is built and utility poles await installation of lights. The intention is to have the field ready for next spring's baseball season. Still more improvement consists of hauling rocks from the athletic field and using them to prevent erosion in drainage ditches.

News of the sick

Justin, Nocona Boots a fine fit for Justin Industries' future

A long-time association will be strengthened and perpetuated in an historic occasion taking place this summer--the merger of Nocona Boot Company and of Justin Industries Inc., maker of Justin boots.

The roots of the relationship began over a century ago when H.J. Justin traveled to Texas from Indiana, settled in Spanish Fort in 1879 and began making boots for cowboys riding the famed Chisholm Trail.

Eventually operations were moved to Nocona, approximately 100 miles northwest of Fort Worth, and bootmaking was firmly established as the family business.

However, in 1925, the siblings of H.J. Justin parted, with Miss Enid Justin opting to stay in her hometown of Nocona and John Justin Sr. and his two brothers establishing new Justin Boot headquarters in Fort Worth.

Now under the guidance of John J. Justin Jr., chairman and chief executive officer, Justin Boot Company has grown to become a leading maker of quality boots in the burgeoning western wear market.

And, as president and founder of Nocona Boot Company, Miss Justin developed that firm into a prosperous bootmaking company.

Now, nearly 60 years later, the two companies have agreed to merge. Nocona Boot Company will remain as a separate entity within the Justin corporate family structure, maintaining its own identity, brand name, style of boots and management. Miss Justin will continue as president.

"We are extremely pleased to have this association. Nocona will become one of our most prized companies," said John Justin. "Over the years, we have always been on friendly terms."

"I am thrilled with the merger," added Miss Justin. Jerry Brownlee, president of Justin Industries, said boot production of the two firms combined should reach about 6,000 pairs of boots a day by year-end, with capacity increasing to about 8,000 pairs daily by the end of 1982.

Justin operates its main boot factory in Fort Worth with a newly opened factory in El Paso and one in Cassville, Mo. With the acquisition of Nocona, its boot factory total will increase to six. Nocona's new Gainesville factory is scheduled to open this fall and its current factories are in Nocona and Vernon.

Justin Industries also is the largest manufacturer of clay brick in the United States, one of the leading producers of concrete products in the South and mid-South, and designs and installs the only permanent water cooling tower marketed in the world today. Justin's stock is traded over-the-counter in the NASDAQ system, under the symbol "JSTN".

For those who like to travel by way of books we have the following American Wilderness Time-Life series--"The Ozarks", "Wild Alaska", "The High Sierras", "The Mountain States", "The Everglades", "The Atlantic Beaches", "The Pacific States", "The Himalayas", "The Southern Appalachians", "The Great Divide", "Snake River Country", "North Woods", and "Cactus Country". Other travel books include picture books of "The U.S.A.", "Canada", "Australia", "Ireland", "Scotland", "Jerusalem", "Berlin", "Munich", "Bombay", "New York State and Niagara Falls", "Florida", and of course, "Texas".

The Summer Reading Program sponsored jointly by Texas State Library and your local library will conclude August 15. All who have read 10 books on their grade level may bring in their logs (or the names and authors on a sheet of paper) and receive their State Reading Certificate and also a Ronald McDonald Reading Club certificate and a coupon for a free regular hamburger at McDonald's. If you have more time to read now than you did earlier in the summer, there's still time to qualify for these awards.
