The Issues and Answers program on TV Sunday, presented a high ranking Soviet disapproving of the hostile rhetoric and action coming from our county. The man made special mention of recent statements by Secretary Haig about aggressive Russian policy and President Reagan's decision to continue the neutron bomb project which had been started and later halted by President Carter.

The H bomb has been described as an anti-personnel rather than a total destruction weapon, which seems to be a slight improvement from the humane standpoint. The idea here is that occupying enemy troops can be wiped out of a city but the buildings, etc., left intact for the rightful owners to return to later.

It's hard to understand what military advantage the N bomb offers over the A bomb. We have to wonder why the Reds are comparing when their military potential with the A bomb already seems greater than the N bomb potential. And we're equally puzzled about the fault finders of our own country. They have denounced the President for dragging out this terrible weapon when it seems they should rather have cheered this apparent restraint.

Whether or not our country has good reason to brag about this weapon, and whether or not the Russians have sufficient reason to be disturbed, the diplomatic griping is understandable. The goal of Red propaganda is to exploit every possible US action as a threat to world peace, and to build it up as a bargaining point in future arms limitation talks.

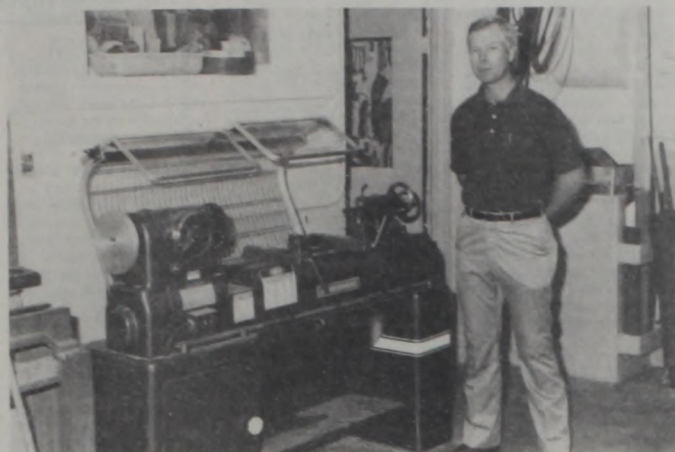

On the other hand, the same reasoning applies to our country's rather spectacular announcement of the weapon. Do we want a build-up to make the weapon specially valuable as a bargaining point in arms talks? Or do we really have a super weapon?

Regardless of all that we are tired of constant Red bellyaching about aggressive US policy and imperialism. We're accused of trying to gobble up the world when the record shows global domination as the Red goal, and much of the goal was achieved by expansions since World War II. The hypocrites find fault with us for not adopting the detente policy when its only aim is treachery.

Our new administration gives us reasons to be proud of the changing trends in dealings with Russia. President Reagan went into office with an understanding of the Soviet ambitions and methods. The goal is world supremacy and anything which advances that goal is the law of the Reds. There are no standards of right and wrong.

ON the other hand, free people, including US, are painfully aware that their days are numbered unless the big Russian conquest is halted soon. Our president recognizes a fact which his predecessors should have acted upon forty years ago and has become very serious during all of that lost time. The extent of Red success is alarming. The need of halting that success is urgent. The time is now to halt the Communist advance and eventually enable present Red subjects to regain the blessing of freedom.

The hypocritical Russians say they are disappointed in President Reagan's tough attitude. They're still proclaiming their detente spirit and convincing shallow thinkers that they offer a good deal. After all, they have a way to peace, and the only price is freedom. The only requirement is being obedient to Red agents. Do what's permitted. Go where permitted. Say and hear continued on page 2...

Fish fry and Twilight Trot on schedule Saturday

Muenster Jaycees are busy this week on final preparations for their annual Fish Fry and Twilight Trot Saturday night, Aug. 22 in the City Park. And they have added another attraction: a dance to the tunes of Mike Otts' Disco.

The event for everyone is the big fish fry, offering all you can eat of channel catfish along with cole slaw, potato salad, beans, pickles, tartar sauce, catsup, etc. Iced tea is included and beer is available. Tickets sell at $4.50 for adults and $2.00 for children. Serving starts at 7 p.m.

Also at 7 p.m. the Twilight Trot will get under way. It's a five mile run in male and female divisions and six age groups in each. Awards will be presented to each group of each division. The age groups are under 14, 14-18, 19-25, 26-35, 36-

45 and over 45. Entries will be accepted until the race at $4.00 each. Other information is available from Ronnie Hess, project chairman.

The dance will be held in the park pavilion after the meal. All are invited, whether or not they were at the fish fry, however the Jaycees ask "no coolers please". In giving the free dance they feel they are entitled to the beer sales.

Schools gain 15

Combined enrollment of the Muenster schools this year is 670, a welcome gain of 15 over last year's 655 and a reversal of the former trend which lost 33 students the former year.

The figures show an increase of 38 at the public school from 392 to 430, and a decline of 23 at Sacred Heart, from 263 to 240.

Also indicated are a net loss of 13 in the high schools; from 213 to 200, while the elementary grades gained 28, from 442 to 470. Most of the decline came from Sacred Heart where a small freshman class followed a big graduating class. The drop was 19, from 99 to 80. On the other hand the public school gained 6, from 114 to 120. At the same time Sacred Heart elementary lost 4, from 164 to 160 while Muenster elementary gained 32, from 278 to 310.

A review of past enrollments reveals a sharp decline from the high 797 in 1968, which then did not include a kindergarten. As a comparison, the present total of 12 grades, without kindergarten, is only 613, a drop of 184 in thirteen years.

Enrollment by grades at Sacred Heart and Public School and the combined counts of both are as follows.

Public School holds open house

The opening day at Muenster Public School was special this year. Besides increasing its enrollment by 38, the school presented its students with the newest look the building has had since its completion in 1950. Actually it was better than original. This thing is new by 1981 standards whereas the other had the new look of thirty years ago.

About 200 visitors enjoyed what they saw Monday night in the open house. Wherever they went they found low acoustical ceilings, fluorescent lights, highly glossed floors, attractive walls and modern furniture. Some of the improvements had been made in previous years some during the past summer and the over-all effect was achieved by generous application of floor wax and living paint.

A brand new addition to the system is the administration building, which was finished during the summer.

Knights of Columbus honor senior members

One hundred and sixty five Knights of Columbus and friends gathered at the KC Hall Sunday morning for a breakfast and awards ceremony honoring their older members.

The event was preceded by group attendance and communion at the 9 o'clock Mass in Sacred Heart Church Eddie Fleitman, chairman, and Harold Flusche, grand knight joined in conducting the ceremony. Flusche started it with thanks for the gratifying attendance, a fine inspiration to carry on the KC program of God's work for man.

Membership award pins were presented to members of 25 to 65 years, also to past grand knights and past district deputies. And Continued on Page 5...

A steady stream of visitors called at Muenster State Bank Wednesday morning to greet Congressman Charles Stenholm and thank him for a good job in their behalf. And the essence of his remarks is that it's pleasing to have the public's approval of the current government program.

He said "America told Washington in November that it wanted a reduction in cost of government. We have responded with substantial cuts in budget and tax, and now we are taking on the big job of making ends meet."

Stenholm also said he is optimistic about the present attitude of the country. Widespread approval and confidence show that the country is headed the right way.

Concerning air traffic controllers, Stenholm said the strikers were harming themselves but will likely help the airline industry in the end. Fewer flights and fewer employees will enable some to quit operating in the red.

Zip Plus 4 number assigned

Patrons of the Muenster Post Office received official notice last week of their Plus 4 additions to the Muenster Zip Code number. Now each person has an exclusive nine-digit zip which eventually will make it possible to pre-sort billions of pieces of mail, thereby saving time and reducing operating cost.

The Plus 4 additions now apply only to the post office and uses the patron's box number. For instance, a three digit box number, like 456, would receive a zero prefix and the nine-digit zip would become 76252-0456. A plus-4 zip for general delivery would become 9999. So the complete 9-digit number for all general delivery patrons is 76252-9999. Rural routes will also get the Plus-4 addition, but their code has not been released to date.

As explained by Postmaster Virgil Henschel, the benefit of Plus-4 is possible through automation. In the present system, mail at the destination office is sorted manually whereas in the improved system it will be pre-sorted by optical scanners, thereby simplifying the local distribution. The increased efficiency is said to be enormous in high volume post offices and significant in the others.

Jim Robertson is new county judge

Jim Robertson, a county newcomer, is the new Cooke County judge succeeding Greg Underwood, who resigned Monday of last week.

Robertson was appointed Monday by unanimous vote of the four county commissioners and was sworn in at 2:15 p.m. by Justice of the Peace Bill Freeman. Others considered for the office are Bill Pratt, former sheriff, and Nancy Ovdrovik, attorney.

The new judge has been a resident of the county since January, when he was appointed assistant district attorney. He is a native of McKinney, graduated at the University of Texas at Arlington in 1977 with a bachelor degree in political science. He graduated from the Texas Tech law school in May 1980 and passed the state bar exam later in the year.

The commissioners are happy with their choice. They think he is dedicated and will do a good job.

And Robertson is overwhelmed. "If you had told me a year ago that I would be a judge today, I wouldn't have believed you. It was just a matter of being at the right place at the right time."

City gets $13,853 sales tax rebate

The City of Muenster has received a check from State Comptroller Bob Bullock in the amount of $13,853.07 as a rebate of city sales tax remitted by Muenster business firms during the pay period ending August 9, 1981.

With this amount local sales tax receipts for the year to date are increased to $59,325.42, a gain of 5.86 percent over 1980

Muenster's rebate was one of 952 sent to Texas cities for a total of $95.8 million, upping the state wide total to $439.3 million, a gain of 8.82% over 1980.

City sales taxes are collected along with state sales taxes by business firms and remitted to the state comptroller's office. After deducting 2 percent as a collection fee the comptroller forwards the city tax to the city.

Payments to other cities of the area along with the total payments of the year to date and the percentage of change have been reported as follows.

Gainesville, $137,141.19, to date $565,725.73, up 8.82%; Lindsay, $7,637.49, to date $34,729.44, up 5.32%; Nocona $30,643.34, to date 110,210.39, up 17.48%; Pilot Point $7,384.44, to date $33,062.96, up 7.74%; Saint Jo $3,627.37, to date $18,571.26, down 5.51%; Sanger $7,631.38 to date 28,129.14, up 14.66%; Valley View $1,209.56, to date $4,286.73, up 125.44%; Whitesboro $23,958.40, to date $75,627.19, up 15.18%.

Grain insurance deadline near

Small grain producers in Texas will need to decide soon if they wish to sign up for Federal Crop Insurance.

The insurance, available from any local Federal Crop Insurance Corp. representative, replaces the disaster payment program that has been in effect in recent years. Producers interested in insurance protection should contact local FCIC representatives for the sign-up deadline. The FCIC program is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Federal crop insurance protection is available to all wheat and barley producers in Texas and to oat producers in the northern blacklands and central areas of Texas," points out Dr. James Ahrenholz, economist in management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The economist notes that there are three levels of insurance coverage available to producers. These are based on 50, 65 and 75 percent of the farm's average historical yield.

Producers can also make three price (per bushel) selections: wheat - $2.50, $3.50 and $4.50; barley - $2.00, $2.25 and $2.60; and oats - $1.20, $1.40 and $1.70.

"Premium rates for the 50 and 65 percent level of coverage include a 30 percent reduction as a program subsidy," notes Ahrenholz.

"The premium for the 75 percent coverage level includes a reduction which is 30 percent of the 65 percent level premium."

The economist gives this example in explaining the crop insurance program. If a farm in northern Texas has an average historical yield of 25 bushels of wheat per acre, the producer can select coverage levels of either 12.5, 16.5 or 19 bushels (50, 65 or 75 percent of the historical average respectively). If he chooses the 19 bushels per acre coverage and a price level of $4.50, his premium, for example on a Cooke County farm including a subsidy, would be $7.75 per acre.

Premiums will vary according to the coverage and price level chosen by the farmer as well as by the location of the farm, says Ahrenholz.

For the cost of the premium, the farmer (in the above example) is buying insurance protection (at the selected price) for himself when his crop yield drops below the 19-bushel level. If his yield is reduced to 10 bushels, then he will receive an indemnity for nine bushels (19 minus 10) at $4.50 each for a total of $40.50 per acre.

"In addition to providing protection from all unavoidable hazards, the crop insurance program offers several other aspects," notes Ahrenholz. "The premiums are tax deductible, they need not be paid until the crop is harvested, and the insurance policy can be used as collateral.

"Crop insurance is one way farmers can protect themselves against some of the adverse financial consequences of a crop loss," says the economist.

GI Educational benefits still available to veterans

If you're an honorably discharged veteran, the U.S. government still owes you something in return for your military service -- an education.

The G.I. Bill basically provides funds for educational training that will enable a veteran to become self-supporting and a more productive member of civilian society.

All honorably discharged veterans are eligible for one and a half months of educational benefits for each month of active duty served, up to a maximum of 45 months. Eligibility does not expire until 10 years from the date of the veteran's release from active duty.

In addition, a son or daughter or wife of a veteran who was killed, declared missing in action, captured or totally disabled due to military service may also be eligible for certain educational benefits.

First step for the veteran who wishes to begin drawing educational benefits is to visit the veteran Services Office at the CCC campus.

He should bring with him an original or certified copy (given to him at time of discharge) of the carbon copy 4 of the DD214 set or 1990V (Certificate of Eligibility). In some cases, veterans may be asked to supply documentation in regard to marriage and/or dependents.

In order to receive and continue receiving monthly benefit payments, the veteran must be enrolled in school with a stated "educational objective" or degree plan and show that he is making reasonable progress toward that objective.

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Perhaps the cruelest hoax that the U.S. government participates in is the belief in a free world market as the answer to the nation's agricultural industry.

Let's take a look at that free market. First, let's examine the actions of our own government and see how those actions perpetuate that hoax:

Just last summer, in response to Russia's aggressive actions in Afghanistan, this country announced that we would no longer honor our commitments to sell grain to the Soviet Union. We have just seen an end to that embargo and its effect on grain markets. It was not the first embargo nor will it be the last. Trade embargos are an effective tool in our foreign relations policies. The majority of this country's farmers supported this last embargo, myself included. We questioned this industry being singled out for export restrictions, while other exporting industries went unscathed, but, in general, we supported the move so long as it was effective.

The embargo is not the only government action that interferes with agricultural marketing. Price controls in times of commodity shortages are another. Tell me what is going to happen the first day we get a shortage of any food commodity in this country? Are we still going to sell that commodity to the highest bidder on the free market or are we going to slap price and export controls on that commodity and take care of the American consumer first? You know what we will do. The free market system will go out the window the first time any shortage begins to have a real effect on the American consumer.

Ask any cattleman if he remembers what happened when beef prices went up several years ago in response to cyclical production shortages of beef. No amount of explaining kept our government from opening up the import floodgates, as well as placing price controls on beef to ease that shortage.

Then, let's turn to the actions by other governments operating in this "free world market." Look at the number of Toyotas that come into this country from Japan on an unlimited basis. At the same time do you think we can expand our exports of beef into Japan? No. The Japanese government carefully protects its domestic beef producers and prohibits further imports of American beef.

Take a look at the rice market that our producers have developed in Korea. That market was developed over a course of years and yet the first time that Japan, with its heavily subsidized rice producers, had an oversupply of rice, where do you think that Japanese rice went? To Korea, of course, with the blessings of our State Department.

I am not ignoring the sensitivity of balance of trade agreements nor the value of the export market that we now serve. I'm simply saying that the quicker we recognize the fallacies of the so-called free world market, the sooner we are going to begin to recognize the necessity of establishing a "farm desk" at the State Department to enable and require our government to participate on an equal basis with other trading nations and to see that our farmers and ranchers have an equal opportunity in that world market.

Until we are willing to do that, don't confuse the agricultural profitability issue with a lot of "free market" rhetoric.

what's permitted. And live the simple life. One can hardly expect comforts and luxuries from an economy that has failed from the start.

At this time Russia is negotiating with US for more millions of tons of grain. It's still a fact that Communism is very much an American problem. We supplied immense quantities of food along with industrial material and know-how to bail the country out of trouble while it kept building munitions and training men to conquer the world. It's a shame US did not realize this decades ago. It will be an even greater shame now if we go on helping while they go on plotting our annihilation.

Our first step in this undeclared war with the Soviets ought to be a 100 percent embargo...grain, machinery, technical help, everything. At least let's divert our help to people of several trouble spots who are currently trying to hold back the Red conquest. Let's team up with nations which are on our side in the fight for freedom, and by all means remember who are the enemies.

ENTERTAINMENT—OR BRAINWASHING?

One aspect of the political process in America that concerns some people these days is the high cost of running for elective office. And the major reason political races have become so expensive is that television exposure has become a crucial component of any campaign and TV advertising is extremely costly.

In spite of its high cost, however, politicians recognize the importance of television as a means of being elected to public office. Likewise, most of us are aware of the influence of television on the lives of everyone.

This being the case, is it not then quite important that the television broadcasting industry exercise the highest degree of responsibility in its programming? More and more evidence is surfacing to indicate a lack of such responsibility.

A recent study released by the Washington-based non-profit research group, Media Institute, deals with one aspect of this lack of responsibility: how television portrays businessmen.

Now there is no doubt about it, television is a powerful medium for influencing people — for good or not so good. Television can inform, it can entertain, it can educate — all good — but it can also slant and propagandize — and this is not so good. It is this side of television that has concerned Media Institute and is the subject of their report, "Crooks, Conmen and Clowns," subtitled "Businessmen in TV Entertainment."

The Institute monitored 200 different episodes from 50 entertainment series from December 1979 to April 1980. All three major networks were included. The group stressed the study was not an attempt at "rendering moral judgment or trying to dictate how businessmen should be seen on TV." They simply want the public to know what is going on.

Television, as a powerful propaganda medium, is a ready-made instrument for mass "brainwashing," if you will, for those who control it and are so inclined.

Leonard J. Theberge, president of the Institute and editor of the study, stated, "The small businessmen are portrayed as social climbers, buffoons, foolish; the big businessman only seems to have time for criminal activities... The murderous, duplicitous, cynical businessman is about the only kind of businessman there is on TV adventure shows, just as the cunning, trickster businessman shares the stage with the pompous buffoon businessman in situation comedies."

Jay Arnold in an Associated Press article, summarized the study's conclusions: "More than half of all corporate chiefs portrayed on television commit illegal acts ranging from fraud to murder. Forty-five percent of all business activities on television are portrayed as illegal. Only 3 percent of television businessmen engage in socially or economically productive behavior. Hard work usually is ridiculed on television as 'workaholic' that inevitably leads to strained personal relationships."

It is well-known that youngsters spend far more time in front of a television set than they do in a classroom. And it has been clearly established that television has a tremendous influence on the attitudes of young people. We shouldn't be surprised then to note that youngsters are developing negative attitudes toward business.

It is the American business community that has provided us with the highest standard of living the world has ever known, thereby enabling us to exercise and enjoy the greatest freedom of any people anywhere at any time. We can ill afford attacks on institutions which undergird our way of life. It's time for television to correct these irresponsible trends.

Sure, sunshine is free, but... let's be realistic.

We Americans tend to be skeptical of cures. And rightly so. They're seldom realistic.

Some people think sunshine is a free and easily available cure-all for our energy problems. Sunshine is free. Solar power isn't.

Equipment is now on the market that uses direct heat from the sun to help warm our houses and heat our water. In some areas these installations are economical. But collecting, concentrating, converting, storing and using solar energy to generate electricity is not economical. It's many times more costly than using coal or nuclear fuels, and much more expensive than using Middle East oil.

At your electric company, we're supporting the development of solar technology. Some day it may become a more viable source of electrical energy... but not today. Until it is, our job is to keep you supplied with dependable electricity, generated with the most plentiful and economical fuels we can use.

We think you'll agree: that's realistic.

Saint Jo man dies in highway crash

A 36 year old resident of Saint Jo died about 2:15 Monday morning some five miles west of Muenster when his car plunged into a creek bed beside Highway 82. He was Bennie Wayne Walter, pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Royce Martin of Valley View.

Martin said the victim's car was westbound approaching a bridge when it apparently went out of control, followed a guard-rail and crashed into a bridge abutment before plunging into the creek bed at the right side of the bridge. Martin was trapped in the car more than an hour before being removed. Emergency personnel reporting to the accident were Muenster and Gainesville firemen, the Cooke County Emergency Medical Service and State Trooper Richard Payeur.

Burial was held in the Azle Cemetery following graveside service under direction of Scott McCoy Funeral Home.

Walter was a native of Fort Worth, born Nov. 9, 1944, was married May 5, 1967, to Jerry Lee Green of Fort Worth, and was a resident of Fort Worth until entering the dairy business near Saint Jo a year and a half ago.

Survivors include his wife and two children, his parents, a sister and a grandmother.

Texas Farm Bureau opposes Government grain dumping

Concentration of government-held grain on the High Plains of Texas is unfair to Texas producers who are about to harvest one of their best crops on record, Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka said Friday.

"Farm Bureau has asked Secretary of Agriculture John Block to avoid dumping this stockpiled grain on the market because of the price-depressing effect," Chaloupka said. "We assured the Secretary that Farm Bureau backs his promised efforts to liquidate the grain -- mostly corn from the midwest -- in an orderly manner over a period of time to avoid disrupting grain markets."

The grain was bought by the government in 1980 in an effort to shore up grain prices following the embargo of 17 million tons of feed grains to the Soviet Union.

"The government shipped about 45 million bushels of this surplus grain from midwestern states to elevators in the Texas Panhandle," the farm leader said.

"This heavy concentration of surplus grain has had a depressing effect on grain prices in West Texas for some months now," he said. "As we face harvest of good to record crops in the area, the stockpiled grain not only affects our markets, but we are likely to have a shortage of elevator space in the area."

The farm leader, who raises livestock, wheat and feed grains near Dalhart, said the emergency in West Texas points up the danger of having the government own grain.

"Any time the federal government buys up commodities with the idea of helping farmers, the ultimate result is lower prices for farmers because this grain either overhangs our markets or is dumped deliberately to depress farm prices," Chaloupka said.

"Farm Bureau opposed the embargo of the grain shipments to Russia in the first place," the farm leader said. "If it weren't for the embargo, we wouldn't be faced with the present emergency in Texas. We believe any politically-inspired embargo should include all exports of everything."

Zip Code...

No mention was made of how the millions of Plus 4-zips will be made available to the nation's mailers, however, it is suggested that each postal patron cooperate by adding his or her Plus 4 to the zip code on envelopes, letterheads and other stationery as a way of helping inform mailers.

Use of the four digit addition is voluntary, just like the present five digit zip, however it also is expected to be accepted gradually. The original zip, still voluntary, is used on 97 percent of the first class mail.

Pastor's bible class begins

Sunday services at First Baptist Church begin at 10 a.m. with bible study for all ages. During this time, Keith Thomas, pastor of First Baptist has begun the Pastor's Bible Class, an expository, verse by verse study of Scripture. Rev. Thomas started the class teaching from the New Testament, the Gospel according to John.

According to Rev. Thomas, the purpose of the class is to help those wanting to be students of The Word to "be diligent to present yourself approved to God as a workman who does not need to be ashamed, handling accurately the word of truth," (2 Timothy 2:15), that they may "grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." (2 Peter 3:18).

The Pastor gives a special invitation to any person of the community who desires to know what God says to man through His Word. All are invited to participate in this class regardless of denominational affiliation. Those wishing to participate in the Pastor's Bible Class do not have to be enrolled in the Sunday School program or be members of the First Baptist Church. The class is held every Sunday morning in the new auditorium at 10:00.

Following the 10 a.m. bible study, is the 11 a.m. Sunday morning worship service. There is a 7 p.m. Sunday worship service and on Wednesday at 7 p.m. is a bible study and prayer service.

Mothers Day Out

The Mothers Day Out program at First Baptist is offered every Thursday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. for children ages 1 through 5. The goal of the program is to minister to the mothers and preschool children of the community by providing a place for children to play with others their ages and a time for mothers to do things without their children.

Those wanting more information about the Pastor's Bible Class may call the First Baptist Church Office 759-2772, or Mothers Day Out, Teresa Rainwater, 759-4180.

Like fall

It's been like fall weather lately in Muenster, with Tuesday's high temperature dipping to 78 and Wednesday's to 80, a very pleasing contrast with last year's continued heat wave.

Low and high readings of the week have been recorded as follows by Steve Mosier: Aug. 13, 74 and 98; Aug. 14, 76 and 102; Aug. 15, 78 and 103; Aug. 16, 75 and 90; Aug. 17, 74 and 88; Aug. 18, 67 and 78; Aug. 19, 66 and 80.

Rainfall was measured at .02 on the 16th and .74 on the 17th, bringing the August total to 1.21 inch. The year's total through July was 19.56 and the total to date is 20.77 inches.

CARD OF THANKS

My five days in Muenster Memorial Hospital were made easier by the attention and care given me by Dr. Antonetti and Dr. Kralicke and the nurses of all three shifts and by the special care and concern given by Herman Carroll. My gratitude goes to Linda Walterscheid who came to assist before I entered the hospital, and to all those who sent cards and remembrances, said a prayer or came to visit. Mother and Dad, Mary Alice and Dan Bayer also appreciate every kindness.

Tigers host Nocona in practice

Sacred Heart Tigers will have their first feel of 1981 football Friday night as they host Nocona's Indians in a scrimmage.

It's going to be a soap and towel event. Since it is not a regular game and admission is free, fans are asked to give soap or a towel in lieu of an entrance fee. Gatorade is welcome too.

Coaches Father Stephen and Virgil Henscheid rate the upcoming action as good experience for their boys. Nocona is classified as Class 2A, a step higher than Sacred Heart and enjoying an advantage in such factors as depth, experience and weight.

The Number 1 qualification for the Tigers might be identified as spirit. Coach Henscheid describes them as confident as a result of hard work and good physical condition to start with.

Originally the scrimmage was identified as a double header starting with the junior varsity at 6:30. But the loss of a few players from the roster leaves a total of only 25 boys, not enough for two teams. Unless other players join soon the JV schedule will be cancelled.

Sacred Heart's varsity schedule includes the following games after scrimmages with Nocona here on Aug. 21 and at Lake Dallas there on Aug. 28. Sept 4, Petrolia, here

Sept 11, Trinity Valley, there Sept. 18, Valley View, there Sept. 25, FW Christian, there Oct. 2, Alvord, here

Oct. 9, FW Country Day, here Oct. 16, Abilene Christian, there Oct. 23, Dallas Christian, here Oct. 30, Tyler Gorman, there Nov. 6 Notre Dame, homecoming

Kickoff time is 8 p.m. through October 2 and 7:30 for the remainder of the season.

The junior high schedule was also announced this week by Jon LeBrasseur, athletic director. Games usually are set for the day preceding the varsity game of the two schools. Exceptions two dates when the Cubs accompany the Tigers and play before the varsity game. The dates are Sept 11, Trinity Valley, there Sept. 17, Valley View, here Sept. 25, FW Christian, there Oct. 1, Alvord, there Oct. 9, FW Country Day, here Oct. 15, Notre Dame, here Oct. 22, open Oct. 29, Valley View, there Nov. 4, Henrietta, there

The tentative JV schedule is as follows Sept. 10, Open Sept 17, Valley View, here Oct. 1, Alvord, there Oct. 15, Notre Dame, here Oct. 19, FW Country Day, there Oct. 29, Valley View, there

First Baptist Girls win four finish third

First Baptist girls' softball team of Muenster finished third in the league tournament of Churches of Gainesville. After winning the first four games of the tournament, the team moved into the semi-finals against Valley View. In the bottom of the last inning, Valley View pushed across 2 runs to defeat FBC of Muenster, 6-5.

By participating in the double-elimination tournament, the girls had another chance to reach the finals but were again defeated by Temple Baptist in the last inning, 18-15.

Coach for the team is Andy Cherry, Associate pastor. Players are Paula Russell, Cindy Russell, Cindy Tisdale, Tina Tisdale, Sandy Ramsey, Pam Beaver, Missy Wells, Brenda Cherry, Starla Boucher, Stephanie Richey, Lisa Partain, Jill Walterscheid. "The girls played an excellent tournament for which they are to be congratulated," Coach Cherry, said.

Hornets scrimmage at Boyd

Muenster's Hustling Hornets will go to Boyd Friday night for their first taste of 1981 competition. And they'll be taking on a full sized job. The Yellowjackets are a strong 2 A team with lots of personnel, size, experience, weight and the other qualities to rank them ahead of Muenster.

So, Coach Peters has no illusions of his boys taking charge of the contest.

Rather he's hoping for the satisfaction of looking good against a strong team.

Practice during the first week has been encouraging, Peters said. The boys have been working hard in high spirits. And they have been aggressive, raising a hope that they will hold their own against the weight to be encountered throughout the season.

Besides lighter weight the Hornets also have a short roster. Two joined the squad last week raising the total to 29. If all goes well there are enough to have varsity and junior varsity teams, but only a few injuries would quickly exhaust the bench strength.

MHS will start with both JV and varsity at Boyd. Since that isn't a regular game the full roster is available for both contests. But in regular season there will be a problem because a player in the JV game is not permitted to play again that week.

The Hornet coaches are eager to have two teams. Their reason is that kids who work hard in practice deserve a share of the action. Furthermore the experience is helpful in developing for the future.

The Scrimmage at Boyd begins at 7 with the JV, after which the varsity will take the field. Afterward Muenster players and visitors are invited to join a hot dogs and iced tea party hosted by the Boyd Boosters Club.

Boyd Boosters Treat

Fans of the MHS Hornets attending the season's first scrimmage at Boyd Friday night are invited to join Boyd fans, for free, at a hot dog and iced tea party after the game. The invitation was extended Monday by Bob Humphries, president of the Boyd Booster Club.

QUEENSDELIGHT (Stillingia treculiana)
Queensdelight is a leafy plant with milky sap and many erect, smooth, simple stems growing from a large central root. The stems forking above into 3 to 5 short leafy branches with a short, green, flower spike in the cluster of each fork.

The leaf blades are narrow, linear, 1 to 3 inches long with the margins having small, black-tipped teeth.

The flowers are inconspicuous, in odd, yellowish-green, terminal spikes from 1 to 3 inches long. The spike is always seated in the forks of the upper branches. Staminate flowers are on the upper part of the spike and pistillate flowers are near the base of the spike. The pods are smooth, small, 3-lobed and 3-seeded.

Queensdelight is found on rocky hillsides and open pastures in Texas. It is usually more common on abused rangeland.

The Indians used the large thick roots in the treatment of skin diseases and as an emetic.

The plant is toxic and numerous sheep losses have been attributed to it in the Edwards Plateau area. It contains hydrosocyanic acid.

Services held for Sparkman Vann Gertrude Schumacher, 82, dies

Funeral service for Sparkman Vann, 73, a long time resident of the Muenster community was held Monday at 10 a.m. in Hillcrest Church of Christ at Gainesville with Brother Gene Davenport officiating. Burial was in the Valley View Cemetery directed by Vernie Keel Funeral Home.

Mr. Vann died Saturday morning in Westgate Hospital, Denton. He was born in Dallas County on June 17, 1908 and married Ruby King Dec. 21, 1927 in Myra. He was a farmer and rancher, spending some 30 years of that occupation on the Fielder Place south of Muenster, and moved to Gainesville 8 years ago. Survivors include his wife, two sisters, Ethel of Aubrey and Alma Knight of Era, one brother Willie Vann of Valley View, four nephews and seven nieces.

Funeral service for Mrs. Gertrude Schumacher, 82, was held Monday in St. Patrick's Church, Wichita Falls with her nephew, Father Paul Hoedebeck, officiating at the Mass of Christian Burial. She was buried in a Wichita Falls cemetery beside her husband, Alfred who died in 1973.

The former Gertrude Schnitker was a native of Iowa, born in July, 1899, and came to Muenster with her family in the early nineteen hundreds. She was married here to Alfred Schumacker in January 1919 and continued living here about 25 years longer. The couple spent part of that time farming and several years during local oil field activity managing a hotel and restaurant in town. They moved to Wichita Falls in the mid forties. Some three years after her husband's death Mrs. Schumacher became ill and moved to Dallas to live with a daughter, Mrs. Aileen Steele. She died there last Friday. Survivors include two daughters, Florence Hall of Hamland, Calif. and Aileen Steele of Dallas; two sons, Adolph of Whittier, Calif.

and Roy of Odessa; and nine grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren. Two of their children preceded them in death. Among relations at the funeral were Father Paul Hoedebeck of Subiaco, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hoedebeck of Muenster, Leo Hoedebeck and Henry and Jack Schumacher of Gainesville, and members of the Wm. Fette, Joe Schnitker and Al Schnitker families.

Nutrition important during the summer

A poor appetite is not a direct result of the heat. The same dietary needs apply in summer as during the rest of the year, says the Texas Medical Association (TMA). Family eating patterns needn't be altered in hot weather. But few people feel like getting near the stove to cook well-balanced meals when the thermostat reads 95 degrees. The typical light, summer diet tends to be short on protein and long on snack foods. "It's too hot to eat" is a statement which usually follows too many sweet lemonades and junk foods eaten on the run. One answer to poor summer-eating patterns may be salads. You can increase the protein content in salads by adding such protein-filled foods as cheese, fish and meat to them. Even snacks should contain some protein for long lasting energy. Nuts and Yogurt are good sources of protein, and they don't require cooking. Ice cream is a relatively poor choice, being too high in sugar and calories for its food value. Food cooked outside on a grill or a hibachi is another solution to the summertime I-hate-to-cook syndrome. Whatever you cook at home is likely to be of much higher quality and cheaper than what you can buy at the fast food place down the street. Good nutrition should never be sacrificed for the sake of convenience. Drinking more water during the summer comes naturally to most healthy people. When it's hot, you get thirsty and you drink more, replacing the bodily fluids lost through perspiration. For fluid replacement, plain water is your best bet. Drink cool, not freezing-cold water in very hot weather to avoid cramps. Infants, the sick and the elderly may need to be encouraged to drink more in hot weather. It is wise for mothers to offer their infants a few ounces of water between feedings. If you're a healthy adult, however, your own thirst will take care of your need for extra fluids. The same applies to your need for salt. Taking extra salt in the form of salt tablets is a mistake. The amount of salt that an ordinary person consumes at the table is plenty, even on the hottest day. Those who are extremely athletic may be exceptions, but they should check with a doctor before drastically increasing their intake of salt.

Governor speaks at Co-op convention

The Governor of Texas and two national figures in rural electrification from Washington, D.C., along with a state legislator, were among the keynote speakers at the 41st Annual Meeting of the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives held Aug. 3-5.

Some 700 registrants participated in the meetings and events arranged by the state association representing 80 electric cooperatives and over 800,000 consumer meters in the state. Cooke County Electric Co-op was represented there by Directors Robert Lewis and Pete Skinner and Attorney Richard Stark.

In his first appearance since being confirmed by the U.S. Senate as President Reagan's appointee to head the Rural Electrification Administration (REA), Harold V. Hunter spoke to the immediate and future challenges faced by rural electric. The new REA head stated that "the difficult realities of power costs and power availability have been worsened by sustained inflation, soaring fuel costs and unpredictable load growth in this capital-intensive industry." He also cited regulatory constraints as being an important factor in the delays and cost overruns of generating plant construction.

"The era of low-cost energy has ended abruptly," Hunter said. "Consumers do not want to believe the painful facts about inflation and the higher cost of producing electricity. We must demonstrate to consumers that rural electric cooperatives remain the same people-oriented, efficient and hard-working organizations that won the loyalty and cooperation of rural Americans over four and one-half decades ago."

Citing the importance of "building the financial strength" of local systems, Hunter told co-op managers and directors that utilization of private financing resources for borrowing capital is tied to economically healthy systems. He suggested that REA, under his administration, would look toward the feasibility of non-REA-related loans to meet some of the capital requirements of co-ops.

Robert D. Partridge, executive vice-president of the Washington-based National Rural Electric Cooperative Association (NRECA), told meeting participants that some aspects of the REA program have been threatened by proposals of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), but he noted that key elements have been preserved, with the help of Congress, for at least another year. OMB's attempt to cut co-ops off from the Federal Financing Bank (FFB) failed, said Partridge, allowing member-owned systems to have continued access to private money markets with FFB's assistance in brokering loans.

Electric cooperatives point out that use of the Federal Financing Bank as an aid for getting loans does not cost the federal treasury or use citizens' tax dollars. In his address, Partridge said that letters from co-op members to elected representatives in Washington were influential in preserving "needed aspects of the REA program."

State Senator John Wilson of La Grange, principal author of the Public Utility Regulatory Act which became law in 1975 and created the Texas Public Utility Commission, gave an address on the history of utility regulation in Texas along with an analysis of the work of the Commission. The La Grange lawmaker recommended that the utility regulatory agency be changed to have six commissioners, not three, during the next regular session of the Legislature.

Speaking during the meeting's closing session, Texas Governor Bill Clements outlined his views of legislation considered by state lawmakers in 1981. Clements, a member of Farmers Electric Cooperative, Greenville, which serves a farm he owns near Forney, explained his support for wiretapping legislation to fight drug use in the state, and he also noted his emphasis on a "back-to-the basics" educational philosophy in the state's school systems.

The Governor said one of his chief concerns is how Texas needs to prepare for the tremendous population growth anticipated in the next 20 years as the state grows from its present level of 14.2 million inhabitants to upwards of 21 million. Water supply, utility service, financial needs and other key elements must be looked at carefully as both cities and rural areas increase in population, he said.

Delegates at the meeting adopted a number of utility-related resolutions, including a statement on power supply urging that state and federal governments "move forward...to set proper priorities for the development of adequate energy sources and supplies for all Americans in the decade of the 1980's."

Other resolutions call for the availability of low-cost capital to serve increasing requirements of co-ops and reaffirm co-ops' opposition to multiply-certified service areas in which utilities duplicate service to consumers.

NOTICE

IF YOU SMELL NATURAL GAS, FOLLOW THESE 3 STEPS TO SAFETY.

The natural gas industry has an excellent safety record.

The fact that you can smell natural gas is because we add a harmless chemical to it as a safety feature. Otherwise, it would be completely odorless. If you detect faint whiffs of what you think may be gas, investigate. It may be something that is as easily and safely corrected as a pilot light that has gone out, or a burner valve that's partially open.

If your equipment seems to be working properly and the odor intensifies and seems to be everywhere, please follow these precautions.

1. Do not switch anything electrical on or off. Do not use the telephone in your own home. Do not strike a match. Do not do anything that might cause a spark.
2. Have everyone leave the house immediately, leaving doors open to help ventilate.
3. Go to a nearby telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the source of the odor to determine whether it's safe for you to return to the house.

You may never have a natural gas leak, but we want you to be informed in case one does occur. Please make sure your family is aware of these precautionary steps. And we suggest that you keep this message for future reference.
