

DO YOU WISH TO WIN? ONE OF THESE FREE!

The Plan in Brief

The object of the big distribution is two-fold; primarily to increase the already large subscription list of the Brownwood Banner, to collect averages and advance subscription payments from present or new subscribers, and at the same time afford our friends and readers an unparalleled opportunity to profit, and in a big way, through their spare time during the next few weeks. So it is a plan that works both ways, and to the ultimate good of all concerned.

In order to gain this end quickly and advantageously, the most valuable and attractive list of prizes ever offered by a local newspaper in this section of the country has been made ready for distribution among those who participate most heartily.

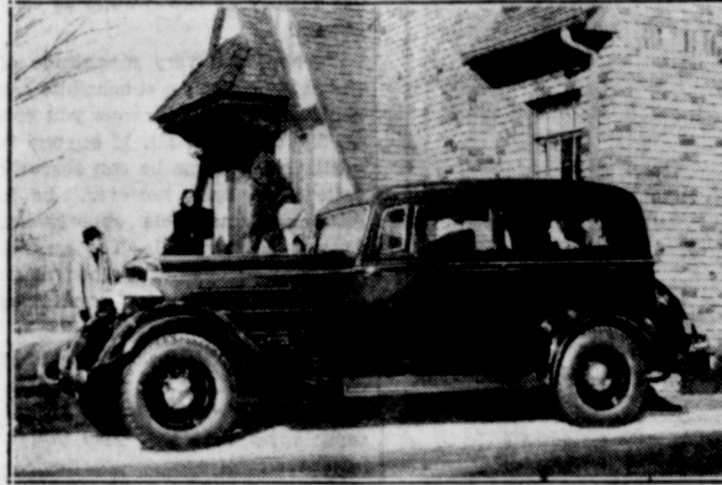

Ambition and energy are the only requisites for success. The plan adopted is the fairest and most impartial conceivable. There will be no "double vote" offers, extra votes given or any other vote inducements whatever inaugurated during this competition. Neither will there be any long-term subscriptions accepted. The plan of the campaign is straightforward and simple and is fully outlined in this announcement.

Let it be understood at the very outset that this is no "beauty" or "popularity" contest, but a strictly legitimate competitive proposition for enterprising men and women, and the boys and girls and one in which no element of chance enters. One feature of this competition is the fact that there will be no losers in this race.

How to Enter the Election

The first step in order to become a candidate and compete for a prize is to clip the nominating coupon, fill in your name and address and mail or deliver to the Campaign Department of The Brownwood Banner. This coupon entitles you or the person whom you might nominate to 5,000 FREE votes. These votes are given you as a starter, and speeds you on your way to win. Only one such nomination will be accepted for each candidate entered.

Short and Snappy

The campaign is a very short one and under no circumstances will it be extended beyond the date advertised. At the end, a committee of judges will count and tabulate totals and the one who polls the greatest number of votes will whisk away in his or her own beautiful motor car. All others will receive cash in proportion to their vote totals, as explained in the advertising announcement.

WORK IN SPARE TIME

Very little is required of you to win. You have the time, plenty of it. An hour a day spent among your friends and neighbors for The Brownwood Banner is sufficient to win the biggest gift in the list.

You have the time. Really, your spare time—a few minutes mornings, a few minutes at noon, a few minutes in the evening, is worth more to you these next few weeks than any whole time employment you can imagine. Yet it is but a side issue—a spare time proposition. Nothing more. It is a business proposition. There is no sentiment about it. To earn money honorably is desirable. The money and the fine, speedy motor cars are now provided. It is here for you.

You Cannot Lose!

You cannot lose. You are paid for every minute of your time. Every active non-gift winner is given an absolute guarantee that he or she will be paid for his or her time. Ten per cent of all business you produce is yours if you fail to land one of the big gifts. That in itself is a good business proposition. We all have a few spare minutes after work that we can turn into cash.

There is one thing, though, that is certain. There is absolutely no way you can secure one of these gifts—either a car or cash—except by votes—votes secured through subscriptions to The Brownwood Banner.

above, which Murphy carried gave him a total of 8814 votes, almost two thousand less than South got in the five counties for district attorney. Not counting Tom Green in the above, where Murphy had no resident opponent, and none within several hundred miles, the remaining 13 gave him 5109 votes, or slightly more than South got in Coleman county alone. Not only are there fewer paid polls in that section of the district, but they voted for congress last time only slightly more than 50 per cent of what they could have voted, and taking Tom Green, Coke, Menard, Mason, Schleicher, Sterling out they voted less than 1-4 of their voting strength.

"These bonds have been selling in the large markets at a little above par, indicating a ready market for them. The protest filed last week by representatives of the American Federation of Labor and the local common labor organization was filed through a misunderstanding on the part of the local men. W. R. The membership of the local board is entirely satisfactory to organized labor. Mr. Williams stated, and he feels that labor is well represented on the board. Mr. Williams came to Brownwood from Corpus Christi Sunday, and made an investigation of the local situation Monday morning.

Following the announcement of Mr. Williams' ruling, local labor representatives who filed the protest admitted it was filed under a misunderstanding of the circumstances, and pledged cooperation with the board in every respect. The local board was appointed

The new 21st American Legion district, conforming in boundaries to the newly-created 21st congressional district, will be organized at a meeting called for April 20 at Brady, according to announcement of O. Rumblings of uncertainty regarding the future of the South, on account of the government's cotton acreage reduction program, are beginning to be heard as the full effect of the drastic step is realized by economists throughout the cotton states. The effect is sure to be far-reaching, and while the immediate result has been one of benefit, there are those who point out the danger of drastic reduction on the general economic conditions of Texas and other cotton states. Among these are Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research and well known cotton expert.

"It is generally recognized that cotton dominates the agriculture of the South," Dr. Cox says. "But its predominance in the commercial and industrial life of the region is not generally appreciated. Curtailment of cotton acreage as a permanent policy must inevitably cause far-reaching changes in sources of employment in the cotton region."

He points out, logically, that thousands of agricultural laborers, especially negro and Mexican cotton choppers and pickers, will be forced to seek aid of relief agencies, and will go to relief rolls and stay there until a comprehensive plan of rehabilitation can be worked out.

The policy likewise will throw out of employment thousands of unskilled and skilled workers at gins, cottonseed mills, cotton compresses and many other trades dealing directly or indirectly with cotton, Dr. Cox points out. If restriction of cotton acreage is to be a permanent policy, then the Government must be prepared to set up thousands of subsistence farms throughout the Cotton Belt.

It is further pointed out that the policy recommended by the government, that of planting the acreage released from cotton to food and feed will cause a reduced demand for these commodities, which also will work a hardship on the Middle West, the largest producers of food commodities.

These theories were well known to those who first advanced the plan of cotton reduction, and it is to be assumed that sufficient safeguards have been prepared, and are being held in readiness, to meet this situation as it arises. If not, the present blessing of government money for idle cotton acres may work untold hardship on the people it is hoped to help.

Just what prompted Dr. Wirt, rather prominent head of the school system in Gary, Indiana, to make charges against the "brain trust" of President Roosevelt is hard to imagine with the information at hand at present. Certainly they are the most astounding charges that have ever been made, apparently in good faith, against the Government.

According to Dr. Wirt, statements were made to him by "brain trust" officials to the effect that if they could prolong the country's destitute condition, they would cause the American people to demand that the government operate industry and commerce, and that they proposed to keep President Roosevelt in office until they were ready to supplant him with a Stalin.

A Congressional investigation has been ordered, and until it is made, and Dr. Wirt is given the opportunity, which he says he welcomes, to tell of all the "facts" he claims to have at hand, little credence will be given to his statements. In fact, the investigation probably will end with a statement by Dr. Wirt and denial by the officials involved, and little will have been accomplished other than a measure of notoriety for the school man.

If the statements are grounded on fact, ample action should be taken immediately to correct the situation Dr. Wirt describes; if they are not, suitable punishment should be meted out to anyone who, in a position prominent enough to command attention, would make such statements with the apparent attempt to embarrass the Government.

Almost every day comes additional testimonial of the intense personal popularity of President Roosevelt. It is a source of wonder to White House officials, especially as the popular president followed one whose coolness and aloofness alienated him to most of the American people.

A news dispatch this week tells of the employment of some twenty-six clerks to open and read the personal mail that arrives at the White House daily. Formerly one such clerk was employed. The letters carry every known kind of advice, request, and of course, the expected plea for donations to some individual or cause.

The unusual sincerity of the man, of course, is responsible for much of President Roosevelt's popularity, coupled with the feeling, everywhere noticed, that he is making an honest effort to pull us out of the depression.

The Houston Post thinks it is due somewhat to the magnetism of the President's radio appearances, and the fact that the people approve his "reporting" via radio to the American public at regular intervals.

Be that as it may, it is a very happy situation, and one that has been an important factor in securing the better feeling among the public, which all have agreed was the most important step toward ending the depression.

Fifty Famous Frontiersmen

By Elmo Scott Watson

Father of the Old Chisholm Trail. THE Old Chisholm Trail! What a wealth of romance is contained in those four words! What pictures they bring up of an era in American history that is gone forever—the pictures of thousands upon thousands of long-horn cattle, driven north from the wide plains of the Lone Star state to the roaring cow towns of Kansas by as bold, as reckless, as brave a crew of daredevils as the world has ever known, the old-time cowboys.

The scene of many a story in our "Wild West" magazines is laid on or near the Old Chisholm Trail. "Cowboy sinners" on the radio keep its fame alive. But who was the man who gave it his name? Jesse Chisholm was the man. In his veins flowed the blood of red men and white. He was born in the old Cherokee Indian country in East Tennessee in 1778. His father, Ignatius Chisholm, the son of John D. Chisholm, the last hereditary chief of the Cherokees, was of Scotch descent.

Some time after 1850 Jesse Chisholm established a trading post not far from where the old California Trail crossed the South Canadian river in the present state of Oklahoma. Later on he had another trading post at Council Grove on the North Canadian, west of the present Oklahoma City. By this time he had deserted his own people entirely and was an adopted member of the Wichita tribe with whom he went north into Kansas at the outbreak of the Civil War. For more than six years the Wichitans camped at the mouth of the Little Arkansas where the city which bears their name is now located. There they were visited by James R. Mead, a trader, who in the spring of 1865, was invited by Chisholm to join him in a trading expedition to the valley of the Washita in the vicinity of Fort Cobb.

Mead accepted the invitation. So they loaded their wagons and drove to the crossing of the North Canadian where a short side-trip to Chisholm's trading post at Council Grove was made. Later Chisholm made other trips over this route from Wichita, Kan., to the valley of the Washita and to Chisholm's Trail. It became famous as the Old Chisholm Trail and it gave to Jesse Chisholm long after his death a renown which he little suspected was to be his while he was still living.

According to records, 936,000,000 gallons of water a day are consumed in New York City.

A feed bill on cattle of about $1500 was replaced last winter by 200 tons of hezari ensilage put in a trench silo by Joe Culver of Grex county. In following the county agent's suggestion to do this he thought he was taking a big chance. Instead he made about $300 on the deal as the silage cost $5 per ton delivered to the cow. Mr. Culver says he will double his silage acreage this year.

BETTER BALANCED AGRICULTURE

(From The Houston Post) Texas A. and M. college extension service is seeking to persuade farmers to turn government rented acres into permanent pasture. Such disposition of the land, agronomists consider, would help restore the balance between supply and demand, which was upset by the war-time, over-expansion. That policy also would strengthen the live-at-home movement, in the opinion of the San Antonio Express.

A probable result would be fewer acres devoted to the money crops, with larger net returns to the individual farmer. Surely that result would be welcome, but some cotton growers will find their disposition to cultivate the largest possible area—ingrained by long habit—hard to overcome.

In a letter to Dr. O. B. Martin, director of Texas A. and M. college extension service, Dr. J. F. Cox, chief of the AAA crop replacement section, expresses appreciation of this State's efforts to bring about a better balanced agriculture. "A shift from cash crops, now in surplus, to pasture and meadow will carry the effect of the acreage reduction over for several years," he writes. "We hope to reduce our surplus crop area by 25,000,000 acres or more during the next few years."

Such a cut is needed to offset the increases effected during the war when European countries were too busy fighting to sow, cultivate and reap. The acreage should have been restored to normal soon after the armistice. That process is imperative now that drastic import restrictions have shut out many peace time markets for American crops.

As is pointed out frequently, those acres could be utilized most profitably for growing trees. If the land owner be unwilling to look ahead twenty or thirty years for a harvest, he at least might turn the surplus acres into pasture or meadow.

A. C. Goodnight of Hays county, who has been operating by Extension Service methods several years, lets cows and hogs harvest the crops. His 219-acre farm is fenced and cross-fenced. The most profitable land on the farm is a permanent pasture, he states. He keeps a trench silo filled, and has sweet clover, alfalfa and peanuts in his fields to balance up the other feed crops.

TEXAS FARM NEWS

Suggest One Acre Sudan Per Animal.

College Station — With plenty of land for living at home in the form of retired cotton and wheat acres, farmers should plant at least one acre of sudan grass for every horse, mule and cow on the farm. It is pointed out by Extension Service specialists at Texas A. and M. College, March, April and May are the chief months for planting this greatest of all Texas grazing crops, they say. At least one-eighth acre of sudan should be planted for each hog, and at least 1-4 acre for each sheep. Sudan pasture should if possible be fenced hog-proof to get the most out of it.

Sudan grass does better as a rule if planted in 2 to 3 foot rows at the rate of 5 to 10 pounds of seed per acre. The land should be prepared as for corn, cotton or grain sorghums. An ordinary planter with a sorghum plate is satisfactory for seeding the crop. The grass should be kept free of weeds by shallow cultivation until it is ready to graze which is when the grass gets 15 to 18 inches high. When the grass gets tough and stemmy it may be renewed by mowing.

Approval Cotton Contracts Rushed.

College Station — Every effort is being made by district cotton review committees and the state review board to rush county cotton contract approvals through to completion in order that government cotton checks may begin pouring into Texas in April if possible, says the Extension Service at Texas A. and M. College. The first payment of 1934 benefits should amount to more than $15,000,000 in Texas.

The long drawn out campaign slowed up the making of final county summaries and their checks and approval by district committees and the state review board, it is pointed out. Clerical forces have been doubled in district offices to speed the approval process, which cannot be completed until county figures are put in line with known production data of the U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates.

College Station — A total of 27,354 corn-hog contracts were reported signed by farmers in 199 counties up to Saturday night, March 24th, with figures incomplete in 65 counties, according to E. M. Regenbrecht, extension swine specialist at Texas A. and M. College. The active campaign ended March 17th and the increase in total signers since that time represents farmers whose contracts were in process of making before the deadline was reached. When all returns are in it is expected that Texas will have about 30,000 contracts, making it the largest sign-up state outside the Corn Belt. Total benefits will probably amount to nearly $7,000,000 this year.

On the basis of the contracts thus far reported, Texas has agreed to cut corn acreage 248,719 acres, and market hogs 328,816 head.

Explain New Dairy Program at Dallas.

College Station — The new dairy production control plan recently announced by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is to be explained to and discussed by Texas and Oklahoma farmers and agricultural college representatives at Dallas April 9th and 10th. The meeting will be in charge of O. B. Martin, Extension Service director at Texas A. and M. College. All interested producers, county agents and vocational agricultural teachers are invited to attend.

In offering the plan, which proposes to restrict dairy market production 10 per cent to 20 per cent below the average of 1932-33, the Administration points out that the cash income of dairymen in 1932 was only about half what it was in 1929. Milk production increased two billion pounds from 1929 to 1932; the cow population now exceeds 25 million, the largest on record; and the dairy farmer's 1933 price index was 69 compared to 140 in 1928. To partly correct this the plan proposes to reduce production this year and to pay farmers at the rate of 40 cents per pound butterfat for the amount reduced.

Must Plan Garden for Best Results.

College Station — To supply a family of five for one year with fresh vegetables a garden should yield at least 2912 pounds of produce which means, roughly, 2912 feet of garden rows, says J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist at Texas A. and M. College. To get the right amounts of the different kinds of vegetables he advises having at least 728 feet of row for each of these four classes: leafy or green, starchy, "other" vegetables, and garden fruits. One-half acre will supply a family of five, but one acre is still better, he adds.

Examples of green or leafy vegetables are mustard, spinach, lettuce, Swiss chard, cabbage, English peas and rape. The chief starchy vegetables are potatoes, corn and parsnips. Other vegetables include such ones as turnips, beets, carrots, radishes, onions, cucumbers, egg plant and squash. Garden fruits are tomatoes, melons, rhubarb, citron and roseles.

For help in planning a garden to fit family needs the Extension Service has a leaflet known as Garden Demonstration Record D-81 distributed by county farm and home demonstration agents to those conducting live-at-home demonstrations.

Albany — It is winter egg production that pays, and it is always found that profits are directly related to production, says Robert Bradford, poultry demonstrator of Shackelford county. From 207 hens he made 54 cents net per hen for the four months ending February 25th. The hens laid an average of 4 dozen eggs each in this time. The average feed cost per dozen was 8 cents, the selling price 21 cents.

Dilley — Rock walks and an indoor toilet will be built when the corn-hog money arrives, to complete the first year's yard and home improvement work of Mrs. Vern Sellers, Frio county yard demonstrator. From sales of hens she has bought shrubs for beautifying the grounds around the farm house.

Improved Buying Trend Cheerful Note In Buying

Times are better, and every day sees new evidence that recovery is not only taking place, but that it has taken place, and not in one or two industries, but generally. "Buying is done more freely than even a few months ago," comments Mr. Trotter, manager for the local Montgomery Ward store. "Great gains have been made for over a year. Retail stores generally report gains of from 20 to 40 per cent. And remember that retailing is a key business with fingers on the buying pulse of the nation. But there are other general indications of recovery. More businesses and families are installing than giving up telephones. Companies are increasing their advertising appropriations. Railway traffic is running more than 13 per cent ahead of a year ago.

"We are going ahead with plans for the biggest Ward Week in the history of Montgomery Ward & Company. People now as always are interested in bargains. There isn't a family that hasn't requirements of more or less pressing importance, and many now have the means with which to buy, especially if the price is right. So we can say with confidence that this will be the greatest Ward Week of the mail."

CHARLES L. SOUTH ANNOUNCES AS CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Charles L. South of Coleman, district attorney for this district, this week authorized The Banner to announce his candidacy for Congress from the new 21st Congressional District.

Judge South is well known to Brown county citizens. He was for three terms County Judge of Coleman county, after which he became a candidate for district attorney from the 35th judicial district including Brown, Coleman and McCulloch counties. He is now serving his second term.

The new 21st Congressional district was created by the last legislature when Texas was re-districted. It is composed of 27 counties west and south of Brown county, extending as far south as Del Rio, and including the hill country around Fredericksburg and Kerrville.

Judge South has a strong following in the district, especially in the more populous northern part of the district, which includes Brown, Coleman, Tom Green and Runnels counties. These counties contain the bulk of the voting strength of the district. With the exception of Tom Green, all were in the original 35th judicial district when Judge South first was a candidate for district attorney.

Judge South was the first candidate in the district to announce his candidacy, which has attracted strong support from all parts of the district. Indicative of the esteem with which he is held in Coleman county, is the following editorial endorsement of the Coleman Democrat-Voice:

"Charles L. South of Coleman has definitely announced as a candidate for Congress in the new 21st congressional district.

"This newspaper endorses the candidacy of Judge South, and commends him to the people of this district, and it is our prediction that the popular district attorney will be the first congressman elected in the new district.

"Judge South, the fourth child in a family of 12 children, was born in Washington county, Virginia, on July 22, 1892, where his parents, who were born about the time the Civil War closed, were born and reared. In 1898 the family moved to Callahan county, Texas, where they engaged in farming. He attended the public schools in that county, summer schools in Abilene and Cisco, securing a certificate to teach school. He came to Coleman county in 1914 where he began his teaching career and continued teaching for seven years, usually attending school during the summer. In the summer of 1919 he was appointed, by Miss Annie Webb Blanton, then State Superintendent of Public Instruction, as a member of the State Board of Examiners at Austin, Texas.

Elected Superintendent. "In 1920, about the time he became 28 years of age, he was elected county superintendent of schools terms in that capacity. His office of Coleman county, and served two terms and courtesy there led to his promotion to the office of county judge, where he served three terms, continuing his law studies, which he had carried on for several years, he was admitted to the bar in 1925, and practiced some in the district courts, while serving as county judge. At the end of his third term as county judge, he was elected district attorney of the 35th judicial district, and is now serving his second term in that office. At the time of his election to the latter office the district was composed of Brown, Coleman, Runnels, McCulloch and Concho counties. Proof of his ability and fairness in the trial and disposition of criminal cases in the district court is reflected in the strong following which he now has in each of these counties. His ability to gain the confidence of witnesses, jurors, and others interested in the trial of cases, his fairness and courtesy toward every one, including those on trial; the clear, concise and intelligent manner of presenting the evidence, as well as the pleasing, logical and persuasive manner in which he presents and argues his cases before a jury have received the commendation of scores of people throughout the district. We believe these qualities and traits of character would contribute in no small way toward the making of a valuable and constructive representative in our National Congress.

True Democrat.
"He is a man of deep convictions always adhering to fundamental principles, and is not swayed from his course by popular clamor. He has always been a staunch Democrat, and says that the Democratic party is in fact the party of the people; that it is not dominated by a few men of extreme wealth and late political power. In 1928, when the pendulum in Texas swung toward the Republican party, he remained loyal to the party which had many times honored him and "stumped" this section of the state for the Democratic standard bearer.

"And while he makes friends readily, gaining the confidence of new acquaintances, he also is able to retain this confidence and friendship in a manner seldom equalled. This is clearly demonstrated in his experience in past elections. He began his public career with a comparatively small following, as he was not well known except in the rural communities where he had taught school. As he became more widely known his following greatly increased; in his race for District Attorney in 1930, after having been in office ten consecutive years in Coleman county, Judge South carried every box in the county by a large majority, receiving approximately 80 per cent of the total vote cast in the county; at Leaday where he began teaching school, he received 35 votes and lost one, and at Glen Coco, where he taught three years immediately before his election as county school superintendent his vote was 141 as against 13.

popularity as a public speaker is reflected in the demand on his as a commencement speaker in this and adjoining counties, and the frequency with which he is called upon to address business and social gatherings throughout this section.

Judge South is not extravagant in his personal habits, and manner of living, and is plain and conservative as a public official, insisting at all times that public expenditures be governed by the amount of available income, maintaining this attitude, at times, in the face of an organized effort to vary this custom.

Having spent the greater part of his adult life as a public official, he sincerely believes and practices, that 'A Public Official Is a Public Trust.' He has often stated: "If a public official will take care of the public, and the public interests honestly and fairly, the public will take care of such official."

Reared on Farm.
"Reared on a farm and coming from a family of farmers, and small stock farmers, he is familiar and in sympathy with their problems and needs, and now owns two farms and a small stock farm, in which he takes a great deal of interest. He is heartily in sympathy with President Roosevelt's attitude toward agriculture. In discussing this program recently he said: 'This is the first time for many years at least, when actual help and assistance have been given the agricultural interests of this country by our government. Heretofore, during political campaigns, the farmer and stockman have been much discussed, and have been the recipients of many promises, and then forgotten and left to work out their own problems unassisted, after the elections. I sincerely hope and believe that the institution of this program is the dawning of a new day for agriculture.'

He declares that America's greatest protection and bulwark against Communism and Socialism is the attitude of its farmers and ranchmen toward the government and its various institutions. 'Our government can not afford to permit the condition of these men to become such as that they can not continue, through honest and intelligent effort, to be self supporting, independent, and self reliant. One has to read the history of nations and Governments which have heretofore existed and fallen, to be convinced that when these men are no longer able to maintain their independence and self reliance that the government of which they are a part, can not long endure,' he said. He believes, however, that as a general rule the proper way to assist the farmers and ranchmen is by seeing that they get a square deal, and that other individuals and interests do not get more than is properly coming to them. When these men prosper, he says, our entire country is happy and prosperous. He enjoys the full confidence and friendship of the farmers and stockmen where he is known and is in fact very popular with them.

Married Leaday Girl.
"After coming to this county Mr. South married Miss Etta Wireman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wireman, formerly of Williamson and Bell counties. Mr. and Mrs. South have two sons, Carl, a graduate of Coleman high school, who is actively assisting Judge South in the present campaign, and Bobby who is three years of age.

DEMONSTRATION CLUB REPORTS

To continue her demonstration, Mrs. M. L. Smith, Yard Demonstrator for the Zephyr Home Demonstration Club, has added eight new rose bushes, 4 nandinas, 2 ligustrums, 1 snow ball, 3 honeysuckles, 4 red buds, 1 wild grape vine, 2 wild honeysuckles, this spring and all are growing nicely. Mrs. Smith also plans to enlarge her side yard and add other native shrubs this fall.

At the regular meeting in February the Blanket 4-H Girls' Club had a yard program, at this time suitable shrubs were exhibited and discussed for foundation and screen planting. The girls also learned a few principles in landscaping as follows:

Smooth, unbroken grass lawn, foundation plantings of permanent shrubs, screen plantings of permanent shrubs, no flower beds in middle of yards, no rocks stood up around flower beds, walks, drives or yards and several other suggestions were given for use of native shrubs.

At the next meeting in March eleven girls turned in their pattern yard on paper as we have found it much easier to correct mistakes made on paper than moving shrubs, etc.

Reports handed in to the Home Demonstration Agent on home work done by the Zephyr 4-H Club girls shows they have been busy girls. Some of the reports follow:

"I have made a cutting bed; put out 25 cuttings, set out canna bulbs—removed unnecessary bricks, remodeled 2 flower beds, prepared 2 flower beds for future planting. Planted tomatoes, English peas, set out cabbage and onions. I have made 1 dress, 2 feather pillows and 1 cotton pillow.—Elle Schultz."

"I have selected my two new vegetables (carrots and parsley). I have selected the desired cuttings for my cutting bed and have begun to remove unnecessary things from my room and will be ready to start work on it after our demonstration today, on "Adding Interesting Accessories to Girls' Bedrooms. The tomatoes are planted in hot beds and are coming up. The garden is in order for future gardening. June Locks."

"I have 20 varieties planted in my garden as follows: English peas, salad peas, stringless green pod beans, potatoes, onions, Chinese cabbage, mustard, turnips, lettuce, spinach, tendergreens, carrots, beets, cabbage, salad greens, tomatoes, egg plant, peppers, radishes, broccoli, kale. I have made cookies once and macarons once.—Mildred Skipping."

"I have planted my garden and have my tomato plants coming up. I have made my crepe dress. Have baked several cakes and cookies. I have removed old things from my yard. I have made one pair pillow cases and a gown. I also set two turkey hens.—Alma Hill."

"In garden work I have planted ten varieties of vegetables. In yard work I have cleaned yard, planted cannas and flower seeds. Baked 1 banana layer cake, 5 1-2 dozen sugar cookies, 1 pound of candy.—Edith Kimmons.

"I have a quilt almost ready to quilt, which will be used in my bedroom. I have planted some garden. I have set some hens, worked some in the yard. I have baked several cakes and done other cooking. I have made 1 dress.—Kathryn Fisher."

BUFFALO

The Buffalo Demonstration Club met in the Buffalo school house Tuesday, April 3. Several of the members were absent on account of sickness. There were ten members and two visitors present.

Each one answered the roll call with her favorite brand of hose. After the business Mrs. Fred Lester gave a report on "Planning My Wardrobe," in the absence of our wardrobe demonstrator, Mrs. Schofield.

Miss Brent also met with us and she gave a talk on "Uses of Foundation Pattern," she also gave us a demonstration on how to cut a foundation pattern.

The club ladies are making a quilt for the purpose of raising funds to send a representative to the A. & M. Short Course this summer.

There will be a forty-two party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Evans Friday night, April 20, to which everyone has a special invitation.

Half and Half!

It may be only a passing fancy, then again it may start America's young women toward a new way of displaying their limbs. At any rate, Miss Billie Seward, new arrival in Hollywood, appeared recently with the black and white stocking mode in which she is shown here. Perhaps she's only camouflaging, after all!

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

The most interesting news that has come out of Paris recently is Schiaparelli's Windblown silhouette - fresh, vital, spring-like. And this is an adaptation of Schiaparelli's "Windblown Coat", by far the most important coat of the spring. Notice the forward-jutting lapels and the front fullness. The whole effect is as if you had a strong wind blowing at your back to give you a silhouette for more dashing and bay than the static lines of even a few short months ago. Notice also the Schiaparelli heart-shaped pockets, interesting in themselves, yet an important part of the design of the coat. This is a Butterick Pattern and may be bought at your favorite department store.
