

BROWNWOOD BANNER

Financial Independence Week, March 19 to 24, has a high sounding title, but a practical purpose—that of encouraging interest in one of the most important insurances in American life—Life Insurance.

At the end of 1932, according to the Industrial News Review, the industry had assets of $20,700,000,000—as compared with $18,800,000,000 in 1930, and $17,000,000,000 in 1929.

How wisely these investments were made is testified to by the fact that securities in default were but 2 per cent of the total securities held by a group of representative life insurance companies at the end of 1932, and represented but .7 per cent of their total assets.

The life insurance industry is built on a foundation to withstand most any kind of an emergency, and it has met the depression unflinchingly.

Financial Independence Week offers an opportunity to pay tribute to and take a lesson from an industry that has been an important factor in contributing financial independence in many American families.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Texas has still another name for the week for March 19 to 24. They prefer that it be known as "Delinquent Tax Week."

It is pointed out by the Junior Chamber of Commerce officials that interest and penalties will be applied again April 1st, which makes this an exceptionally profitable time for delinquents to pay their taxes.

With unexpected alacrity, the national House of Representatives this week passed the Bonus Bill, calling for immediate cash payment of the remaining half of the Soldiers' Bonus.

A few years ago, when Representative Wright Patman was making his first fight for the cash bonus, big figures startled us. We were told, in fact, that payment of the bonus at that time would involve the credit of the United States.

There is much sound logic for payment at the present time. If we recall the facts correctly, the 20-year certificates issued the ex-soldiers in 1925 mature in 20 years and then are payable in cash.

Many factors indicate that votes for payment of the bonus are not votes for political effect solely—but are based on sound economic policies.

It is hard for us to believe that Army pilots are unable, with possibly a little intensive training, to fly the mail as well as civilian pilots.

"The Original Boy Scout." COL. J. W. REDINGTON'S friends of today in California know him as a former newspaper publisher and superintendent of the printing office at the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, but half a century ago he was "the original Boy Scout."

At least that was the title conferred upon him by no less a person than Gen. O. O. Howard, who said:

"He served under my command as a volunteer scout and courier during the Nez Perce and Bannock Indian wars of 1877 and 1878 and also as one of Farrow's Scouts against the hostile Sheepstealer Indians in 1879.

THE BANNER'S SCRAP BOOK

THINGS ONE REMEMBERS By R. M. HOPPER.

I WAS FEELING particularly depressed after reading the morning paper at breakfast—murders, scandals, the air mail imbroglio, wars threatened, the dollar of uncertain value, stock market shaky and the worried citizen facing the greatest taxes and the greatest Federal debt in history—when in came four young people, past tiring age.

"Is Bim married this morning?" asked all four. "Who in the world is Bim?" said I.

"Benjamin Gump," said they. And, lo and behold, the thing they were most interested in was whether Benjamin Gump and his lovely little sweetheart of the comic strip were safely wedded. And there I was worrying about the condition of the country.

I decided that as long as the young people and voters had such a sense of humor, the man-made troubles of our nation would probably be solved in due course and in spite of the politicians, speculators and war promoters.

And in line with the foregoing, I ran across the new book by Arthur J. Burks, entitled, "Where Are My People?"

Burks was raised in the West and lives in the East. He has written a simple straightforward narrative which is as unmistakably American as doughnuts and apple pie.

The book is about real people such as have been responsible for this nation's growth from the beginning. They have carried on through thick and thin, through hard times and good times and in spite of every brand of political experiment.

Would-be statesmen and hard-working citizens should read the book to understand the real forces that develop the country and carry on to greater achievements.

It will take the conceit out of politicians to realize the importance of the Gumps.

Dinner at Nine. The dinner hour in Lima, Peru, is nine o'clock and the most appetizing native dish is papus rollenas—a fried delicacy of mashed potatoes mixed with onions, eggs, olives and raisins.

Continued success of sponsors raising the 1934-35 budget of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce gives assurance that the goal will be reached before the middle of next week, according to W. P. Murphy, chairman of the finance committee.

Twenty-six teams of two men each, are working every part of the city. Several of the teams have completed their work, and a number have secured 100 per cent of their quotas.

The work will continue until next Wednesday, when it is hoped a final report will be made to the directors at the weekly luncheon.

Ladies of the Austin Avenue Presbyterian Church will prepare a supper in the basement of the church. Admission will be by ticket, which can be secured at the door, or preferably from one of the officers of the post prior to the meeting.

This meeting is open to all ex-service men, their wives and sweethearts. It is expected that about 150 to 200 will be present at this meeting. Officers of the post are especially anxious to have all past officers of the post present.

Principal speaker at the banquet will be Division Commander M. J. Benefield, who has advised that he and Mrs. Benefield would be on hand for the birthday party.

The suit of Dr. E. L. Maxwell, against the Universal Automobile Insurance Company, on trial in district court, probably will occupy the time of the court for the remainder of the week. Dr. Maxwell is seeking to recover money invested in the company several years ago. This is one of several suits involving Brownwood citizens and the insurance company.

Good Bill Slated For Boxing Card On Friday Night

Promoters of the boxing show tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Brownwood Athletic Club, announce that they have again booked some of the classiest featherweights in Texas to top this week's boxing program, to be held at the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hall.

Bobbie Reed, Fort Worth, meets Ernie Epps of Dallas in the feature bout over the ten round distance.

The champion "Eight Ball" of the "flat," Bud Robinson, will defend his "title" against "Iron Man" John Henry Chandler in another of the four rounders. These two dukies weigh in at 165 pounds.

One of the contestants in the third four rounder had to cancel his fight due to illness and his opponent was injured during a workout but the promoters promise to have a pair of good boys on hand to fill out the thirty rounds to complete the bill.

A blindfold battle royal between five or six high school boys will open the show.

The doors will open at 7:15 and the show will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Services at Bangs Nazarene Church

Rev. R. E. Cummings Pastor of the Church of the Nazarene at Brooksmith will preach at the Presbyterian Church in Bangs Sunday March 18 at 11 A. M.

The Church of the Nazarene at one time had a strong organization in Bangs but of late years there has been no services under the auspices of the Church of the Nazarene conducted there.

"It is hoped that former members and friends of this church will attend this special service Sunday Morning," says an announcement.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Legion To Observe 15th Anniversary

On March 15, 1919, in Paris, France, the first caucus, out of which grew the American Legion, was held.

The fifteenth anniversary of this date will be observed this week by Isham A. Smith Post, American Legion, in Brownwood. No program is scheduled for the 15th, but the post will have a special entertainment and program on the regular meeting night, Friday, March 16, which will mark the formal observation of the local post of the Legion birthday.

Ladies of the Austin Avenue Presbyterian Church will prepare a supper in the basement of the church. Admission will be by ticket, which can be secured at the door, or preferably from one of the officers of the post prior to the meeting.

Daniel Baker College Notes

Taking a part of the "Sermon on the Mount" as his text, Dr. Wm. Foster, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, gave a very inspiring and practical message to the student body on Tuesday.

Dean T. H. Hart gave another of his educational lectures in chapel on Wednesday. He stated that after H. G. Wells had completed his book, "The Outline of Civilization," he was requested by a reporter to name the six greatest men that had ever lived. Wells replied that he would take a week of deliberation and then name the men.

In his report he named Jesus, Buddha, Asoka, Aristotle, Roker Bacon, and Lincoln as the greatest men.

Dean Hart said that these men were not great because they were wealthy, nor because they were rulers, nor because they were soldiers; but they were great because they were servants of humanity.

All of these men, according to H. G. Wells, fulfilled the qualifications set down by Jesus when he said "Who so among you would be greatest, let him be servant of all."

Billy Logan and Hubert Hopper, students in the Seminary at Austin, were visitors at the college on Monday. Logan is an ex-student. Eugene McNutt, of Goldthwaite, was seen in chapel on Tuesday. He attended Daniel Baker last year.

Reeves Hickman, pole-vaulter, and Jack Snodgrass, sprinter, are certain participants in the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show track meet on Saturday.

Columbus — Hairy Peruvian alfalfa seed was ordered from Yuma, Arizona, to seed four demonstrations in Colorado county this season reports, W. H. Young, Colorado county farm demonstration agent. These demonstration fields have a perfect stand and the growth very satisfactory at the present time.

The Everett farms have been growing alfalfa for the past two years and another field was seeded there this fall. The hairy Peruvian variety has proven to be very satisfactory for the bottom lands along the Colorado river.

Renewed Interest Shown In Gardens

J. S. Agriculturist Will Tell How To Do It

If you are one of the thousands who mthe New Deal has afforded more leisure, you may be interested in the following series of articles on subsistence gardening, prepared by W. R. Beattie, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, for The Banner. This is the first.

By W. R. BEATTIE
Of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

More leisure, thanks to NRA, will permit more working men devote their spare time to a diversion that will assure them and their families a plentiful supply of vegetables during most of the year.

Small plots, from backyards to acre or so in the country, are being set aside for this purpose. Subsistence gardens they are called since they are devoted solely to subsistence or use of the family working them.

It is with the idea of setting the limitations of subsistence gardening, pointing out the pitfalls of giving safe and sane advice on gardening and kindred subjects, that this series of articles has been prepared.

Choosing the Land

Many failures have been due to poor quality of the land, rather than to inexperience or negligence. Much of the land near cities is neglected, and in many cases ashes and trash have been dumped upon it. Such land requires cleaning and conditioning before it can produce good crops of vegetables.

Sandy loam soils are ideal for gardening, but you can grow good vegetables on any type of soil that is well drained and fairly rich. It should have at least a foot of workable soil, but if the top is shallower, it can be improved gradually and deepened in year to year.

That is one reason for leasing land and working it year after year. Also, a gardener becomes accustomed to a particular piece of land, learns its characteristics, and the various crops do best, how to cultivate it. Avoid that is wet or swampy, or subject to overflow.

Size of Gardens.
Subsistence garden may vary

Subsistence gardens. At top, a midwestern stein worker and his son are shown starting a vegetable garden of their own. Below that, a Chicago working girl is looking over the model of a miniature farm proposed for workers with more leisure time. Note the chicken house and yard at one end.

in size from a small back yard or city lot to an acre or more. The size depends on the family requirements and the time the gardener can devote to gardening.

The size of the garden also depends somewhat on the kinds of vegetables to be grown. If the gardener aspires to grow his winter supply of potatoes, onions, cabbage, turnips, carrots, plenty of tomatoes for canning, and a generous supply of sweet corn and other crops that require considerable land, an acre will not be too much.

If on the other hand, the gardener only plans to grow the smaller crops, and to supplement purchased supplies by the products of his garden, an eighth, or even a tenth, of an acre may be sufficient.

Next Week: Preparing the Garden.

Dewberries, blackberries and Young berries are being put out on retired cotton acres by home demonstration club women in Jackson county.

Beauty Brevities

MARION CALLAHAN
(Screen Actress)

There is one deadly beauty sin a show-girl must guard against. That is sunburn. One sunburned neck can cause no end of trouble. Scarfs, large hats and other protections against the sun are used as a matter of course in the daytime. If the sun by chance has worked some damage to the complexion, peroxide and lemon juice are brought forth to bleach out the skin.

Junior Service League Formed

Organization of a Junior Service League for Brownwood was perfected at a meeting Tuesday at the Parish House of St. John's Episcopal church. The league will devote its energies toward social service work, and in assisting welfare agencies already established.

Mrs. Samuel Lee was elected president of the League; Mrs. Luther Haynes, vice president and Miss Mary Bess Sawyer, secretary-treasurer.

For the present, and until the organization is perfected and the program of work decided upon, meetings will be held each Tuesday at the Hotel Brownwood.

Members of the league are to pledge themselves to do a certain amount of social service work, to make calls in connection with cases handled by the relief agencies and the community council, and do certain other welfare work.

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

Say what you will, nothing will do more for your spirit this time of year than a bright young print dress in a gay shade. And this is a grand one—with a wide-at-the-shoulder scarf neckline and a flared skirt which combine to make you look pencil thin in between. The flattering scarf neckline turns into angel wings in the back. The ruffled bib will give you a "little girl" look, even if you might happen to be a shade over thirty. The three-quarter sleeves are brand new and fresh-as-paint. This would be delightful in one of the smart new fruit prints, or a flower print—or in a bright plain-color crepe, if you prefer. This is a Butterick Pattern and may be purchased at your favorite department store.

"Business prospects, therefore, on the basis of existing facts for the first six months of the year are the brightest they have been since the depression began. From the longer-term point of view, however, not much can be said until the government's policy on fundamental problems are more fully matured. There still remains to be developed a sounder banking system, a more closely articulated transportation system, a comprehensive program of agricultural readjustment and an international policy which will open foreign markets for our agricultural and industrial products. It may reasonably be expected that these problems will be considerably clarified during the next six months and that as a result, the more distant outlook from the new point of vantage thus created may be less hazy than it is at present."

Veterans Can Enroll In New CCC Camps
Some five or six hundred veterans are eligible for enrollment in the new emergency Civilian Conservation Corps, according to advice received Thursday by Isham A. Smith Post, American Legion, from the state adjutant.

The communication from the state adjutant says:
"We have been advised by the Veterans Administration within the next thirty days some five or six hundred veterans will be selected for the Emergency Conservation Corps to replace those who have been discharged or who have not re-enrolled at the expiration of the present allotment period, Mar. 31st. Those who desire to enroll should immediately write Reed Johnson, Veterans Administration, Dallas, Texas, who will send proper forms to be filled out."

"Hell-Bent for Election" According to a study made by a representative of Columbia University, the phrase "Hell-bent for election" originated in Maine in 1840. Before that time Maine was a Democratic state. The panic of 1837 turned Maine over to the Whigs and to the surprise of every one, Kent, the Whig candidate for governor, was elected in the September election. One of the campaign slogans was "Maine went Hell-bent for Governor Kent."

Catcall Deceptive The catcall of the American catbird is classed as "the most realistic imitation in nature," says a writer in Science News Letter. However, he admits that the imitation is not deliberate, for he says that long before white men introduced cats into America catbirds were probably using the familiar call "that sounds so much like the voice of a distressed kitten that it will fool even a cat."

NO ARRESTS YET IN $1,500 BURGLARY OF THE ECONOMY STORE

No arrests had been made Thursday in connection with the burglarizing Sunday morning of The Economy Store, owned by Gus J. Rosenberg. More than $1,500 in merchandise was taken from the store in the early hours of Sunday, when most of Brownwood slept. Exact time of the burglary is not known. Police officers discovered the store had been looted when, about 9 o'clock Sunday morning, it was observed that one of the doors was standing open. Entrance to the store apparently was gained by prying off the lock of the front door nearest the First National Bank building.

The loot included about 60 suits of men's clothing; 80 silk dresses; 24 sweaters, three suitcases, a trunk, several suits of men's winter underwear and other items. No burglary insurance was carried by the store.

C. of C. To Move To New Quarters

The Brownwood Chamber of Commerce will move, about April 1, into new quarters in the Hotel Brownwood building. Directors of the organization this week reached an agreement with owners of the hotel to lease space on the ground floor of the Baker Street side of the building, facing Baker street and adjoining the lobby.

The chamber of commerce was forced to vacate its quarters in the Memorial Hall when it was found impossible to control the escape of gas from a well under the building. Temporary quarters in the Rogers building now are being used.

Miss Daisy Knox, who has been assistant secretary for several months, was re-employed in this capacity at the directors meeting this week.

The directors voted to endorse the movement for securing a charity ward in one of the local hospitals.

Pierce June 8, 1880, in Brown county. Mr. Pierce passed away on August 31, 1928. Mrs. Pierce was loved and honored by all who knew her and she had a host of friends and acquaintances. ### Local School Asked To Participate In Baylor's Play Day

The department of physical education at Baylor College has extended an invitation to Brownwood high school and eighty-five others to attend on May 4 and 5 the second annual High School Play Day.

Representatives from high schools throughout the state will meet here to join in playing for play's sake. There will be no inter-school competition, but color teams will compete. This system makes getting acquainted easier and a more definite feeling that play is the main factor.

Miss Margaret McCall, director of the department of physical education, has already worked out a tentative program for the two days. Included in this program are activities varying in interests as broad as that of physical education.

Events such as water pageants, tumbling exhibitions, baseball and tennis are listed for the day's activities. Schools are now responding to the invitation, and registrations for the students and their sponsors are being received daily to prepare for the two days of fun. Baylor offers to high school girls of Texas.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS SHOWING INCREASE

AUSTIN.—Shipments of Texas livestock to Fort Worth and interstate points totaled 2615 cars in January, compared with 3113 cars during January last year, an increase of 16 per cent, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. Comparable figures for the various classes of livestock were as follows: Cattle 2094 and 1706 cars; calves, 741 and 618 cars; hogs, 233 and 290 cars, and sheep, 547 and 499 cars.

It will be noted that of the various classes of livestock a decline in shipments occurred only in the case of hogs. The drop amounted to 20 per cent. On the other hand receipts of hogs into Texas from other states amounted to 324 cars against only 193 cars in January last year, an increase of 70 per cent. The excess of receipts of hogs from other states over shipments out of the state was 91 cars. The greatest increase in receipts occurred from the states of Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, and Nebraska, and the large markets—Kansas City and Omaha.

A sharp decline occurred in the number of sheep shipped to the Fort Worth market amounting to less than half that in January, 1933. On the other hand, marked increases in shipments of sheep were made to Colorado, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Iowa and Ohio, and to the market at St. Joseph. The Kansas City market received only about half as many Texas sheep as in January last year.

Marked increases in shipments of cattle, calves, and sheep occurred from the Trans-Pecos district. There also was a sharp increase in numbers of sheep sent into this district from sections in which grazing conditions were less favorable.

Other districts in Texas showed marked increases in numbers of livestock shipped in comparison with January last year. The North Plains especially showed a marked increase in shipments of sheep and the South Plains in cattle and calves.
