

LOADED TRUCK WRECKS BRIDGE OVER BIG ELM

Driver And Machine Both Unharmed

Estimated Loss is $2,500 As Entire Center Span Gives Way to Load of Pipe

Death exercised its privileges of being erratic last Monday morning about 10:30 o'clock when Roy Lusk of Saint Jo, driving a Kingery Bros. truck loaded with oil well pipe, broke through a bridge and landed in the creek bed without sustaining an injury.

The accident occurred at the Big Elm crossing on the Muenster-Linn road about 3 1-2 miles south of Muenster.

As described by Mr. Lusk, he heard the first sound of breaking just as the truck's full weight reached the center span and immediately saw that the railing to his left was giving way. As it did so the floor of the bridge began to sag to the left and promptly "spilled" the truck and trailer off to the side. Next the entire floor crashed down beside his truck.

He checked his first impulse to jump when it seemed impossible to get clear of the right side rail, which was hanging menacingly overhead and seemed certain to fall upon him. Instinct prompted him to dive for the floor of the cab.

"The Lord was with me," Lusk said when it was all over. "In that mixup the chances seem like a thousand to one against a fellow, but I pulled through."

Equally amazing was the lack of damage to the truck. In spite of the fall, in spite of the fact that it was twisted with the trailer on its back and the cab on its side, the only damage was two broken glasses. After being righted and pulled out it went on normally under its own power.

Viewing the wrecked bridge later that day County Judge Ray Winder estimated the loss at about $2,500. Commissioner Felker said that a few pieces of steel and a few bridge planks can be salvaged for use on some other bridge but that the greater part by far is lost.

Workmen of Felker's road crew started Wednesday to provide a temporary crossing until another bridge can be built. It will consist of a small bridge at a much lower level and approaches constructed by cutting down the creek bank. Until that is finished people normally using the road will be inconvenienced with a several mile detour.

It has been mentioned as a possibility that the next bridge will be constructed farther to the northeast and eliminate much of the winding road now approaching the bridge. Offsetting the added expense of building some new road is the decreased cost of the bridge at a location requiring less span.

Oil Field Notes

Harvey and Hudspeth are drilling at 700 feet on their No. 2 Wilson Estate well.

Wahm, drilling for Texas Company, brought in a producer on the Toney Treubach farm last week.

Harry Couch moved a rig on the Stacey farm and began drilling on a new well this week.

Murray Oil Company is down 600 feet on the Frank Treubach home tract.

Seitz et al brought in a 75-barrel producer on the Joe Walterscheid farm last week.

Ralph Richards continues drilling on the Rohmer Estate No. 1. At 1459 feet, Wednesday morning, Mr. Richards stated they are going down to the old sand at 1600 feet in the hope of getting a producer.

ANTHONY LUKE GETS CERTIFICATE AS FORD SENIOR ACCOUNTANT

Recognition comes to Anthony Luke for a splendid record as accountant at Herr Motor Company during the past six months. Wednesday he received from Ford Motor Company a senior accountant's certificate in the Ford Dealers Accountants' Club and a letter of congratulation from the company's chief accountant.

To win his honors Mr. Luke has maintained a standard of work meriting him a place on the Ford accountants' honor roll for six consecutive months.

HITLER IS BITING INTO CZECHOSLOVAKIA

CZECHOSLOVAKIA.—The successive bites by which Hitler's growing Reich is gobbling Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland are pictured on this diagram-map of the western half of the Central European Republic. The Krumau District (No. 1) has already been invaded by German soldiers amid scenes of desolation for the Czechs are systematically destroying everything that might be of use to the victors of the "Bloodless War." Other sections of the "Token Area" are numbered in the order in which they are being occupied. The "Token Area" is that part of Czechoslovakia to be occupied pending fixing of permanent boundary between Germany and the Republic.

KNIGHTS TO OBSERVE COLUMBUS DAY WITH PICNIC AND DANCE

Activities leading up to an elaborate observance of Columbus Day are well under way in the Muenster K. of C. Council. Committees are spending their spare time to provide the usual picnic attractions and a plentiful supply of iced drinks, sandwiches, ice cream, etc.

Adopting a custom in effect for several years at parish picnics, the Knights voted at their last officers' meeting to call for a donation of tango prizes from their members. Many of those were submitted at the regular council meeting Wednesday night. Because of its general popularity tango will be the featured amusement.

The knights have been emphatic in pointing out that the affair will be open to everyone, not to members only, and are hopeful that there will not be anyone this year who has the impression he is not welcome. At similar events in the past they were disappointed to learn that some refrained from coming because of a misunderstanding. A general invitation is extended for everybody, they said, and a special invitation is extended for knights of other councils.

In the opinion of the younger generation the headline feature is a dance on the main floor at the same time that the picnic is in progress in the basement. Sid Hamilton and his band of collegians of Denton, an orchestra that was well received in a previous engagement here, have been named musicians.

The picnic is scheduled to begin at 7 p. m., the dance at 8:30.

SERIES OF CHANGES NOW IN PROGRESS AT ROADSIDE PARK

Roadside Park at the Dry Elm crossing on Highway 5, already a favorite picnic site, is destined to be favored even more in the near future when the series of improvements now under way are completed.

Workmen now on duty there disclosed that their program includes another barbecue pit, more seats and gravel drives bordered with rows of regulation highway posts. The work is being done by the National Youth Administration, another Federal emergency agency, in co-operation with the state highway department.

VIRGIL LEE WELSH NAMED SCOUTMASTER OF MUENSTER TROOP

Virgil Lee Welsh, principal of Muenster High School, is the new local scoutmaster filling the vacancy created by Nick Miller's resignation. His appointment was made Wednesday night by the Knights of Columbus, sponsors of the troop. Mr. Welsh had previously expressed his willingness to be scoutmaster.

Declining to continue because scout activity demanded too much of his time, Mr. Miller said he would be glad to serve as assistant, helping Mr. Welsh to pick up loose ends of work already started as well as to help carry on a live program.

LARGE GROUP PAYS FINAL TRIBUTE TO HENRY HENSCHIED SR.

Hundreds of people from this and neighboring communities and several more distant cities gathered last Friday at 9 o'clock to pay final tribute to Henry Henschied, Sr., a pioneer of Muenster and one of the greatest contributors to its progress.

Father Vincent Orth of Subiaco Abbey, his nephew, officiated at a solemn mass of requiem in the Sacred Heart Church and at funeral services that followed immediately thereafter in the Muenster Cemetery. Fathers Francis Zimmerer and Frowin Koerdt were deacon and subdeacon at the mass.

Henry Fleitman, Henry Henschied, Jr., John Knabe, John Felderhoff, John Bayer and Frank Hess were pallbearers. Nick Miller was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Henschied's death followed an illness of four weeks and was attributed by members of his family to weakness of heart caused principally by old age. He was six days less than eighty years old.

The deceased is affectionately remembered by the entire community as one who spent years of self-sacrificing service in the interests of his fellowmen. His activity was largely responsible for the formation of the German Farmers Benevolent Association, an insurance mutual that has been worth thousands to farmers of this and several other German communities. In recognition of his splendid work he has been honored with the office of president

GAINESVILLE GREETES GENE AUSTIN WITH PREMIER, BANQUET

Gene Austin returned to Gainesville Monday in all the glory of the home town boy who made good in the movies. His success was heralded by a special dinner, at which he was honor guest, in the Turner Hotel and the showing of his first starring feature at the Plaza Theatre.

In response to his request Gainesville was given the world premier showing of his picture, "Songs and Saddles." The event marks the second time that Gainesville has been honored with the first public appearance of a feature picture.

Gene Austin is well known for his singing on radio and short picture programs. He is a native of Gainesville.

PROJECT AREA GETS FINAL CHECK, LINE BIDS DUE OCT. 24

Activity on the Muenster rural electrification project continues to move forward at a steady pace that is expected to result in the engagement of a contractor before the end of this month and the beginning of actual construction early next month. According to a recently released statement from state engineer Wm. Morrison, the project will be open for contractors' bids on Oct. 24.

The matter of engaging the contractor is expected to require only a few days and construction should begin as soon as he has time to move his equipment to Muenster.

The most important activity now in progress is the work of Mr. Alexander, one of Morrison's engineers, in checking over the entire area for data to be submitted to contractors. He is marking the project map with such details as the length of each branch of line, exact location of consumers and their distance from the main line, location of obstacles such as telephone lines or tall trees. Early Wednesday he was hopeful of finishing his work that day.

Co-op officers have been receiving some attention from several men who want a chance to assist in the project work. At the suggestion of A. C. Hagan, district engineer representing the Washington office, J. H. Flood recently applied for the position of resident engineer during construction. Two applications have also been received for the position of official wiring inspector. One is M. H. Skidmore, now holding that position with the Denton Co-op, and Ed Robinson of Thackerville, remembered here as one of the men who tried to organize Muenster as a subsidiary of the Love County, Okla., project.

The Co-op's move to its new location, in the A. C. Stelzer building, is scheduled for the latter part of this week. Remodeling work to prepare for the new occupation has been in progress there since the lease was agreed upon last week.

PRESSURE WASHER IS LATEST ADDITION TO BEN'S EQUIPMENT

At Ben's Garage the fellows, especially Elmer, are enjoying again the pride of installing a new unit of improved garage equipment. This time it is a pressure car washer of the latest design.

As explained by Ben the machine has two outstanding merits, it saves time and enables the operator to do a more thorough job.

Coming out of a small nozzle under pressure of 350 pounds, the water will actually cut a hole in a cedar shingle in less than a minute's time. This pressure is used to advantage in removing mud from fenders, springs, and running gear in a small fraction of the time usually required. It also provides a fast and economical method of cleaning motors. Usually that task requires steam or long, tedious mopping with gasoline.

That same pressure would also remove paint. An adjustment on the nozzle is therefore provided so that water for surface washing can be released in a spray.

JIM LEHNERTZ BUYS GULF FILLING STATION FROM ANDY FLUSCHE

Jim Lehnertz took up his new work Tuesday as successor to Andy Flusche in the Gulf Service Station on Highway 5. The transfer of title was made last Saturday, October 1.

Jimmy's Service Station is the new name selected for the business. As in the past it will handle Gulf petroleum products and Richland tires and will feature its improved facilities for washing and greasing. Raymond Fuhrmann will remain as an assistant.

The new manager of the station has a background of several years' experience in automotive sales and service. He spent some time in charge of the gasoline pumps at the Muenster Machine Shop, then joined the "front" staff at Herr Motor Company, spent several months at Babcock Auto Supply in Gainesville, and returned to Herr Motor Co.

On checking out Andrew Flusche expressed his intention of returning to the job as driver of his truck. Ever since entering the station he has depended on other drivers to operate it.

Charge Of Illegality Declared Unfounded

Votes of Persons Assessed Shortly Before Election Found to be Valid

Developments have been fast and furious since Muenster held its sewer bond election last Friday, and present indications are that the aye's have it.

The election gave the sewer bond a majority of eleven votes. Returns as tabulated by judges are as follows: For the issuance of tax bonds $5; against, 74. For the issuance of revenue bearing bonds, $6; against, 73. The discrepancy is accounted for by the supposition that some voter favored one proposal and opposed the other.

Returning after a conference with County Judge Ray Winder Tuesday afternoon, Herbert Meurer stated that indications are the results of the election will have to be accepted, that the seventeen votes which had been regarded as illegal, and which could have changed the result of the election, were bona fide.

Earlier the contention had been raised that the persons in question were assessed for taxation only a short time before election. At the time the city tax roll had been closed, and since the newly assessed names did not appear thereon it was assumed they were not entitled to a vote. Election judges honored the list of those names submitted by the tax assessor, but the validity of the list was later questioned.

Assuming that the 1938 tax roll was closed, Mayor Endres took it for granted that all newly assessed names were to be included on the roll of 1939. Accordingly he consulted with Judge Winder to determine whether a person assessed in '39 is permitted a vote in '38. The answer was "No."

That decision was the basis of the Mayor's statement at the City Council's meeting Monday night that he considered the election illegal and that in his opinion the outcome was changed by the votes of the seventeen in question. For that reason he declined to continue negotiations toward the securing of PWA assistance and arranging for issuance of bonds and construction of the sewer.

Judge Winder's explanation, as recalled by Mr. Meurer, is that any resident owner of taxable property, provided he qualifies as a voter of the state, is entitled to a vote in a bond election, and that his vote is none the less valid if his assessment was made only a moment before his voting time. The important item is that he must be assessed, the time of assessment is immaterial. An instance was cited of one person who, after being refused a vote, went to the assessor's office and returned shortly afterward as a qualified voter. When questioned, the validity of his vote was upheld by the Supreme Court.

It was also pointed out that a tax roll cannot be legally closed before the last day of the year, hence that the seventeen names in question may be added as a supplement and, if the occasion arises, more names may be added until the last day of the year. The judge mentioned that books are usually closed as soon as convenient but such action does not legally prevent future additions.

Specifically referring to Muenster's seventeen votes that had been considered illegal, he stated that, first of all, assessments for 1939 cannot be made until January 1 of that year or after because they must be based upon holdings on or after that date. Hence any assessments that were to apply to 1939 are necessarily illegal. On the other hand property rendered in 1938 must be assessed for that year. On that basis he determined that each of the persons assessed shortly prior to the election is a taxpayer and therefore a qualified voter.

He also pointed out that in such cases it is not necessary for the voter to request an assessment, that it is the assessor's duty to include all property owners. If a person has taxable property he should take it for granted that he is entitled to a vote.

NEW BANK BUILDING, IF—

At a regular meeting of directors of the Muenster State Bank Tuesday afternoon discussion was entertained for the first time on the construction of a new bank building. Officers and directors are now looking forward to the installation of a modern sewer and preparing to back up their statement that "The new building will go up when Muenster gets its sewer."

GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATION

STATE FAIR OF TEXAS

Celebrates
50th Anniversary

It was fifty years ago that a pioneer group struggled and organized the State Fair of Texas. That year a total of 30,000 people attended the fair. Fifty years of service to its community has placed the State Fair of Texas far ahead in the fair world—its last ten years of activity shows an annual average attendance of almost one million. And now it plans its hugest celebration—the Golden Jubilee.

In New Buildings

In addition to being the largest State Fair in the world in the point of attendance, the Texas fair resumes activity with the most beautiful plant in which a state exposition has ever been held. In addition to the remodeling of many of its old buildings, the State Fair of Texas presents its Agriculture Poultry and Livestock in new buildings, and will use for the first time its new Educational Building and its beautiful new civic center...

With New Shows

In keeping with its new plant, the State Fair of Texas will present at its Golden Jubilee Celebration many new shows—both of the amusement and educational type. Its amusement program has not yet been completed due to efforts to secure the best in the amusement world. Its educational type programs—such as new farm shows, hobby shows, flower and others—have been completed and early response points to outstanding attractions in each...

And New Features

Along with the new buildings, the new shows, the State Fair of Texas has planned and is arranging many new special features and special days. Among these will be the Golden Wedding Day, the Queen's Day and other special days. There will be events which will prove of the utmost interest to young and old... educational features for those who seek and amusements for everyone.

List Available

Write now for the premium list showing the various classes for which the $100,000 in prizes is offered. The largest number of requests for these lists ever received has come in for the Golden Jubilee Celebration, which further shows the unprecedented interest in the 1938 Fair.

Many New Contests

Included in the premium list are prizes for hobbies—any collections included; newspaper contests which cover the entire Southwest; flowers, which will include any plants grown in the Southwest; culinary and textile exhibits, fancy birds, caged birds and many other interesting contests.

 A visit to the State Fair is an education in itself. No vacation or holiday spot in the entire Southwest offers such attractions—both education and amusement—as does the State Fair of Texas.*

LET'S REACH A FAIR DECISION

Few people thought a week ago that the sewer bond election would arouse so much antagonism. Now that it is all over and the pros have registered their slight majority, we have at least a cross section of popular opinion even though we do not have a definite result to carry on with.

The town is divided. Sincere convictions are staunchly defended on either side. The outcome will finally be a distinct disappointment to one group. But more important than the outcome is the question of whether this will split out city into two antagonistic groups that, like the house divided against itself, will retard a spirit of harmony and progress. The question at issue is not important enough for such a price.

One fact should be clearly borne in mind. Every vote that is now regarded as illegal was cast in good faith. It is unfair for anyone to insinuate that dishonest means were employed in order to win a point. It is now regarded as reasonably certain that late tax assessments, which would qualify certain voters, were too late to be included on the '38 tax roll, nevertheless the voters themselves were under the impression they were entitled to the votes. It remains for us to determine definitely and honestly whether, by law, their ballots should be counted. Then, whatever the outcome, let the decision stand and let the losing side accept it in a spirit of sportsmanship.

Were it not for the fact that a Federal grant of about $15,000 is at stake, we should unhesitatingly suggest to disregard the affair altogether and let the decision rest on another election. But such action would be unfair in the event it is ever decided that the outcome should remain unchanged. To go on and assess taxes on a questionable outcome is likewise unfair.

Mayor Endres deserves heartiest praise for the stand he has taken. While the final result is questionable he refuses to go on with negotiations of securing a grant and contracting for construction. Now it rests upon the people to come to an understanding. That can be done if they are willing to exercise more common sense and less emotion. There need not be any expensive court proceedings, just select a few responsible citizens for a board of arbitration. Let them weigh the evidence and let the people abide by their decision.

Let everyone co-operate at least to this extent, that this matter be determined fairly and in accordance with the letter of the law.

GREATNESS IN OBSCURITY

Circumstances must be favorable to give a man fame, but they have no control over his greatness. That is an integral part of his personality and finds expression in the dozens of little things he does every day. Just to know and understand such a man is a wholesome influence.

Last week a beloved pioneer of this community went to his reward. His passing was the occasion for many a fine tribute. People admired and respected him, gave him a place on that select roll of persons who have no enemies.

To win such general acclaim a person must be the personification of greatness. He must have the true gentleman's regard for the feelings of others. He must have the true Christian's regard for the welfare of others. The golden rule is his standard of living. His character does not have room for petty selfishness.

Our friend fashioned his personality on such a pattern. By exercising the kindness of his character and the soundness of his judgment he built for himself a splendid monument in the hearts of his contemporaries.

It was his blessed privilege to acquire greatness in obscurity. In his quiet, unpretentious way he gave his support and energy to projects that have saved thousands of dollars for his friends. Had all those savings accrued to his credit he would have built up a fortune.

He was no more ostentatious in his countless hours spent in keeping the cemetery attractive. He asked for no acclaim, he merely put his leisure time to what he considered a good use.

An understanding of his viewpoint is an inspiration. Life to him was not an opportunity for self advancement at the expense of his fellowman. He loved his God and his neighbor, and he lived happily in the realization that he was spending his life in service to both.

There is no such thing as an inevitable war. If war comes it will be from failure of human wisdom.—Bonar Law.

What Others Say

INFLUENCING THE PRESS

A Senate investigating committee has uncovered evidence that a large corporation made vigorous efforts to induce certain newspapers to take an editorial attitude friendly to the corporation's interests. That is pointed to by radicals as a scandalous state of affairs.

No evidence was produced that the efforts to win editorial support were successful, or that there was anything contrary to the public interest in the objectives of the corporation.

What many earnest reformers overlook is that alongside the right of the press to express its views on any subject without restraint there exists the equal right of anybody, individual or corporation, to try to bring editors around to a particular point of view. The final decision is up to the individual judgment of each particular editor or publisher. That is the essence of the freedom of the press.

Every editor has to be constantly on guard against those, in Government or out of it, who try to "use" his paper for their own ends. For every such effort by private interests there are hundreds made daily by the government's huge staff of press agents and propagandists.

For every newspaper which succumbs to efforts to influence its editorial opinion, there are probably scores of men in public office who betray their trusts by selling official favors. A New York State Senator, highly regarded as an able legislator and a man of character, committed suicide the other day rather than face the charges against him for taking money in large amounts in payment for his influence in obtaining jobs and promotions for people in public office. A grand jury had indicted him on seventeen counts.

A real investigation into such practices, if it were possible, would disclose thousands in Federal, state and municipal positions of trust who use the power of their offices to feather their own nests. They get away with it because the voting public pays no attention to public affairs between elections.—Mt. Vernon Optic-Herald.

MAN'S SEVEN MISTAKES

Man's imperfections lead him to make many mistakes in life, and the pointing out of these frailties has engaged the attention of philosophers and reformers in all ages. A recent writer enumerates what he considers to be the seven greatest mistakes of man, as follows:

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others down.
2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected.
3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot accomplish it.
4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences in order that important things may be accomplished.
5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind by not acquiring the habit of reading.
6. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do.
7. The failure to establish the habit of saving money.

This appears to be a pretty fair diagnosis of what is the matter with us, and everyone might profitably check up on himself in the light of these suggestions.—Wellington Leader.

"RED" BIRDS ARE CUCKOOS

Communists in the United States, convinced of the failure of their cause if they were to advocate it openly, parade as the champions of Democracy, which they are too ignorant to understand, and of Peace which their very presence makes impossible.

Like the cuckoo, the bird that lays its eggs in other birds' nests, and whose fledglings dislodge their companions, the rightful occupants of the nest, the Communist must depend on the tolerance of those whom he intends eventually to destroy.

"Cuckoos" as a designation of Communists would go far to make clear the fact that they are parasites, depending for their very existence on some one else's ill-considered suzerainty.—Southern Messenger.

RELIGION

Between God, the Creator, and man, the creature, there exists a natural relation, to which God added a supernatural relation by making Himself man's last end. By these relations there is set up between God and man a union, from which arises certain obligations. The recognition of and conforming to the sum total of these obligations is religion.

Religion exists in its perfection in heaven, where the angels and saints love, praise and adore God, and live in absolute conformity to His holy will. It does not exist at all in hell.—Monsignor A. Danglmayr, in Dallas News.

THE SUCCESS FAMILY

The mother of Success is Ambition.
The father of Success is Work.
The oldest son is Common Sense.
Some of the other boys are Perseverance, Honesty, Thoroughness, Foresight, Enthusiasm and Cooperation.
The oldest daughter is Character.
Some of her sisters are Cheerfulness, Loyalty, Courtesy, Care, Economy, Sincerity and Harmony.
The baby is Opportunity.
Get acquainted with the "old man" and you will be able to get along pretty well with the rest of the family.—Clarendon News.

Confetti
By CON FETTE

A stranger listening in on conversation up and down the street would hardly believe it possible that a sewer bond election could have received a favorable vote here. On every side the bitterest denunciation gushes forth and brands as imposing tyrants those who have the unsurpassed gall of inflicting another tax burden on the heavily laden citizenry. That is the tune he hears from the familiar groups holding down front benches and waiting for another day to pass.

But as he turns from those groups and sounds out the individuals behind counters, under cars, or on the town's several other jobs he finds a predominance of sentiment in favor of the sewer. Then he begins to wonder whether the whole affair isn't slightly cockeyed.

Normally one would expect the gentlemen of leisure to throw their most enthusiastic support behind an improvement that makes their leisure more pleasant. Being prosperous people who can afford to retire they probably wouldn't miss the little money it cost them; being smart people they know they can't take their money to the grave with them. And the resistance really should come from the poor working man. He's the one who's struggling to make ends meet, who should be expected to kick about additional burdens.

Press them for an explanation and you'll find they consider the sewer an investment. Men who have to work see the possibility for a better return on their labor when conditions are better. The others are taking it easy, they are satisfied and have no worries, and prefer not to take a chance.

Dallas broke a 17 year old record last Saturday for thermometer readings on the first of October. At the same time it reached the high point of the year. The mark was 100, just barely getting by the summer's record of 99. No doubt it must have been a miserable day for those thousands of girls who watch the calendar rather than the thermometer for their signal to step into the fall duds. To a great extent this applies also to the men.

We human beings are so queer. We design clothes for comfort. During the summer we want to wear as little as possible, so we get the lightest weights and lightest shades. But for fear of having people think we are behind the times we rush out early in the heavy stuff, and then sweat. We are no less ridiculous in the spring. Many a one has shivered like a leaf in the breeze just for the satisfaction of appearing early in summer clothes.

All of which is also quite tough on us guys who have to earn a part of our daily bread by advertising clothes. Right now it's too hot for heavy clothes—that is for the masses—but it's too late for light clothes, so the merchant prefers to remain silent. In the early spring the situation is reversed and equally effective.

Adventure pops up in more than one way for a wandering native son who set out several months ago to see what he could see. He's had a heap- o' livin' with his loafing in the Rockies, picking fruits, wrestling calves, or anything else that happens to strike his fancy. The latest is being nursemaid for a carload of steers enroute from Montana to Chicago. A couple of weeks ago he disclosed that he hitchhiked a total of 3,650 miles in 10 days. "Not bragging," he says, "just telling the guys who like to brag about their thumbing ability."

Patronage at the Fort Worth city jail is expected to pick up tremendously as soon as the new building is completed. When people down there remark about their "cooler" they mean just that. It will be lots of degrees cooler than outside. Yes, you have guessed it. The lock-up will be air conditioned, it is a part of the elaborate new city hall now under construction as a PWA project. Who said something about humane treatment for prisoners?

In case you haven't noticed it already, the Majestic theatre, when rebuilt, will no longer be known by that name. It is the "State." Why? For one reason the name is shorter and permits the use of larger letters that can be distinguished farther away, also the original cost and upkeep is lighter on a sign of fewer letters, and finally the building itself is being so radically changed that it just seemed a good idea to go all the way and change the name too.

As to the opening date, they say it should be before November 1, but they have their doubts and so do you. However they are reasonably sure it will be before Christmas. One thing is certain, it will be swanky and comfortable, a first class show house.

BEHIND THE SCENES in AMERICAN BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 — BUSINESS—More so than ever, news became an important and highly valued commodity last week to U. S. businessmen. Exporters, importers, speculators, farmers, in fact all businessmen whose stock in trade anyway depends on foreign markets, literally devoured the news reports from Europe. For while normal business operations are still going on in America, it is realized that origination of constructive future plans is well nigh impossible as long as war or the fear of war rules over Europe.

Equally upsetting to U. S. business last week was a hurricane which interfered with trade and normal living for a thousand miles, from Atlantic City, through out New England, to Montreal and Quebec. Occurring in the heart of a highly industrialized part of the country, the damage was put at more than $100,000,000. Ten thousand are homeless and at least 500 dead. Though Indian legend may record worse, it is believed to be the most severe storm ever to strike America's northeastern seaboard.

WASHINGTON — Nearly one quarter of the population will be in school this fall. The Department of Interior estimates record-breaking enrollments as follows: Elementary schools, 22,400,000; high schools 6,750,000; colleges and universities, 1,350,000. Reason for the big enrollment is traced back to the high birth rate averaging 23 per 1,000 population in the years 1920-1924. Since the rate for the five years 1931-35, was down to 17.2 per 1,000 a shrinkage in school attendance a few years hence seems inevitable. The teaching profession, even now over-crowded in some areas may then be faced with reduction in the ranks of its working members, unless new avenues for employment of professional talent such as adult education classes, consumer education classes and the like, can take up the slack.

LABOR VIEWS TAXES — Industry should work with labor for immediate revision of the American tax structure. That is the sense of what Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, told the National Small Businessmen's Association in Pittsburgh. Woll contended that "taxes can and should be distributed more equitably and so as not to stifle business or to tax incentive which is the source of new industry and new employment." Though admitting that with current government expenses and the mounting public debt, it might be necessary to increase tax revenues next year, Woll protested excessive duplication of taxes, failure of federal, state and local taxing authorities to define the use to which the indirect tax revenues were to be put, and the increasing trend toward hidden taxes. He termed it a critical time in the nation's history, adding that "upon the fairness of taxing plans to be worked out will rest the success of today's recovery spending program. If that fails, what shall follow—debt repudiation, inflation, or political and financial collapse?" Observers viewed Woll's attack on the present tax structure as significant of a new trend in labor's move to further cooperation with industry.

WHAT RETAILERS ARE DOING —Wondering if the new advertising stunt of New York State could be applied to their business. The slogan, "The State That Has Everything," is being printed on the checks it uses to pay bills and salaries. More than 2,000,000 of such checks are issued annually—Recognizing that comfort is a more potent argument in selling shoes to men than style. This was the finding of a recent survey which tallied the opinions of 5,000 men in all sections of the country. Distributing to women in grocery stores a handbill consisting of extracts from the food and home making articles in McCall's magazine. Each handbill features 10 or more products carried by the store. The magazine furnishes "mats" for these handbills which the stores turn over to their local printer.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—Ice cream in cans; all that is required is to open the can, whip contents and pour into the ice tray of a mechanical refrigerator—A newly introduced woolen blanket carrying a six-year written guarantee against moths—Larger windows and windshields in the 1939 model cars now being seen here and there on city streets, result of public demand for better driving visibility—Gasoline stations distributing football score books and game forecasts this autumn—A new way to cool drinks without diluting the water with melted ice; glass tubes filled with colored liquid are first cooled in the ice box, then used to stir the drink—An automobile of revolutionary design, in construction at Rochester, N. Y.; super-streamlined, it has only three wheels, two in front, one in back, an air-cooled motor, wheelbase of about 126 inches, and will be priced at about $500.

HEADLINES IN NEW YORK—Farm income from marketings in first eight months is $4,307,000,000 off 14 per cent from last year—Lumber output rises contrasessionally; orders advance; shipments top year ago—Czechs bond prices fall sharply; investors appraise their value in terms of defaulted German securities—Southern Railway places additional orders to complete a $15,000,000 reconstruction program—Price cut of $2.50 a ton for steel rails expected to spur railroad purchases—R. H. Macy & Co. reports sales of $54,953,503, net loss of $601, 039, for first six months of 1938.

Why the Banker Asks Questions

A business man contemplating an important trip would carefully map out his itinerary. He would consult time tables to find out when he could leave and when he could expect to get back. Nothing in these sensible preparations would indicate that he did not want to go.

Yet many borrowers assume that the banker does not want to lend because he asks for facts and figures before he sends any of his depositors' dollars on a trip. The banker, too, is merely following a policy of conservatism for the service and protection of all concerned.

TEXAS WILL FILL AT LEAST 15,000 TRENCH SILOS DURING 1938

COLLEGE STATION.—There will be at least 15,000 trench silos filled in Texas in 1938, and there is a possibility that the figure will reach 20,000, reports from county agricultural agents indicate. Slightly more than 10,000 were filled in 1937.

If the figure reaches 20,000, 1938 will mark the eighth consecutive year in which the number of trench silos in the state has doubled over the previous season's total.

"There have been good feed crops over most of the state, but the big thing is that farmers have found the trench silo the cheapest and best way of storing feed, and that county agents, vocational teachers, bankers, business men, and civic organizations have all pushed the trench silo idea," E. R. Eudaly, dairyman of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, pointed out in explaining the rapid increase in the use of the trench silo.

"I understand, for instance, that the Farm Security Administration is urging all its clients to dig and fill trenches."

An outstanding example of the spread of the trench silo method is found in Fisher county, where 80 trenches were filled in 1937. So far in 1938 over 350 have been filled, and indications are that the number will reach 500 by the end of the harvest season.

"The trench silo is about the only way to store grain in those sections of the state where weevils do so much damage," Eudaly said. In Wilacy county, combines have been used to harvest a large grain sorghum crop and the grain has been placed in trench silos for future use. "Weevils, or fire, wind, dust, rats, floods, or time itself can't hurt the feed once it's in a trench silo," the dairyman commented.

TREAT SEED WHEAT FOR SMUT, IMPROVE YIELD AND QUALITY

COLLEGE STATION.—Texas farmers can raise better quality wheat and other small grains and produce more bushels to the acre if they treat their seed to prevent losses from smut, according to E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Smut not only reduces yields, sometimes as much as a fourth of the crop, but also damages the grain for milling and feeding purposes. As a result of a seed treating campaign conducted by county agricultural agents in 1937, the value of the practice was clearly demonstrated by many farmers.

All smuts of wheat, barley, and oats, except loose smut of wheat and brown loose smut of barley, may now be treated with one poison, ethyl mercury phosphate, known to the trade as "new improved ceresan", in dust form.

This treatment is now recommended by Miller in preference to copper carbonate for wheat or formaldehyde for barley and oats. The dust treatment is inexpensive — 2½ cents a bushel or less—and its efficiency is assured.

"No grower of wheat, barley, or oats should hesitate to treat all of his seed each year," Miller stated. "Tests by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station have shown that the return is many times the cost of the treatment, and these tests have been borne out by the experience of farmers in every section of the state."

OBSERVANCE ASKED FOR FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, OCTOBER 9-15

AUSTIN.—Stressing the importance of continued vigilance on the fire prevention front, Marvin Hall, fire insurance commissioner, today urged State-wide observance of the annual Fire Prevention Week scheduled for October 9 to 15.

"Fire uncontrolled is one of the most serious problems that confronts us today," Hall said. "Each year its heavy toll in life and property is a black mark on the proud name of Texas. Only by constant and relentless vigilance of the part of every Texas citizen can we hope to reduce, and finally to eliminate, the costly destruction of this economic enemy number one."

"Active participation in Fire Prevention Week by every citizen will go far toward curbing losses and saving lives, and, since fire losses have a direct bearing upon the fire insurance rates, there are other practical benefits accruing from effective fire prevention."

"Fire Prevention Week is designed for every Texan interested in performing a distinct service to his State, to his community, and to himself," Hall said. "If we remember that the fire that never starts will never get out of control, and keep that thought before us each day of every year, then we will rightfully say that the practice of fire prevention pays big dividends in human lives and happiness."

CARD OF THANKS

To the many friends who were so kind during our recent sorrow we offer our deepest gratitude. We heartily appreciate the considerate attention given by members of the Saint Joseph's Society, the respect shown by the Knights of Columbus in cancelling their dance, the thoughtfulness of many who offered spiritual bouquets for the repose of his soul, and the full attendance of the choir at his Mass of Requiem. at each of the company's 41 annual meetings.

In a less conspicuous way Mr. Henscheid has been active in the organization of the local telephone company and the Farmers Marketing Association. He has been generous in his support of measures that resulted in mutual benefits. His soundness of judgment was as generally respected as his attitude of cheerful assistance.

A native of Germany, Mr. Henscheid came to America as a youth and lived in Illinois for several years, then in Iowa, where he married Christine Langenfeld on March 2, 1886. In 1891 he moved to Muenster.

He was as prominent in service to the parish as to the community. He was a member of the choir for 40 years and one of the mainstays of the Saint Joseph's Society since its organization.

MILBURN RESIDENCE BURNS AT BULCHER

Bulcher.—The home of R. L. Milburn was completely destroyed by fire last Friday afternoon. The origin of the fire was blamed on a defective flue in the kitchen. When discovered, it was too far in advance to be put under control. Only a few pieces of household goods were saved.

Members of the Bulcher community gave a miscellaneous shower for the stricken family in the school Tuesday afternoon at which time a large number of necessary gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Milburn.

Harry "Peanuts" Walterscheid has just finished a series of improvements in the home of M. J. Endres. Included in the job are new paint outside and wall paper, paint, and floor refinishing for inside rooms.
