

CONTRACT FOR REA LINE WILL BE LET MONDAY

Officers of Local Co-op
Meet With Contractors
And Representative of Washington Office

Activity on the local rural electrification project is expected to shift into high gear Monday, October 24, when bids for line construction will be submitted and the contract will be let. Superintendent J. W. Hess stated Wednesday that a telegram from William Morrison on Tuesday requested him to make arrangements for the meeting.

A. C. Hagan, district REA representative of Washington and William Morrison are expected to take charge of the meeting. Others attending will be officers and directors of the local co-operative and J. W. Hess, and J. H. Flood, resident engineer. The number of contractors who will report to submit their bids has not been determined.

Local work on the project during the past week has been confined principally to securing necessary office equipment and moving it into the new location. A combination safe and filing cabinet, three desks, and several chairs were hauled from Dallas and Gainesville during the past week-end.

LECTURE ON NATIVE BIRDS SPONSORED BY LEAGUE LADIES

Following a regular business meeting Friday afternoon, members of the Ladies' Civic League were hostesses to their school-age children and the local Boy Scout troop and their scoutmaster, Virgil Lee Welsh, at an instructive lecture on "Native Birds," accompanied by illustrative colored slides.

The lecture, given by Mrs. A. S. Horn of Gainesville, contained a wealth of knowledge on Texas birds, their habits and the worthwhile part they play in aiding farmers and preserving the resources of our state. Mrs. Horn is considered an authority on birds, and the educational talk was made so interesting that she held the rapt attention of the entire assemblage.

The talk was further enhanced by the showing of colored slides by Mrs. Clay Newton, also of Gainesville. Both features were given through the courtesy of the two visitors. They had previously obtained the slides from the State University at Austin.

Arrangements for the program were made by Miss Olivia Stock and Mrs. Jake Pagel of the educational committee. As a unit, the league expressed its appreciation for the program and its gratitude for the favor extended by Mesdames Horn and Newton.

During a short business session that preceded the feature attraction Mrs. Nick Miller, chairman of the cemetery committee, gave an account of tentative plans her committee has made regarding the cemetery improvement project.

As stated by Mrs. Miller, preparations are under way to have the east side of the cemetery plowed and planted with bermuda and to have a hedge of trees and shrubbery set out along the entire north edge of the grave yard and along its east and west boundaries.

The ladies plan to start their work soon after the first of November. It was thought inadvisable to begin at the present time because the work would leave the grounds unsightly for the annual processions on All Saints' and All Souls' Day.

MERCURY DROPS AS AUTUMN COMES IN WITH MILD NORTHER

The long-delayed chill of fall seems to have arrived at last. True to the advance warning given by birds winging their way southward on Monday, the change came with a change of wind Tuesday night. It pushed mercury levels down about 20 degrees and continued to get cooler through Wednesday and Wednesday night.

In general, the cool weather is most welcome, especially to farmers who are hoping that the change in temperature might possibly cause a change in obstinate rain clouds that have been hanging around tantalizingly for the past few weeks. Crops and pastures are badly in need of moisture.

Turkey growers also are glad to see weather that gives some promise of finishing their birds properly for the Thanksgiving market.

ON TRIAL IN ESPIONAGE CASE

NEW YORK CITY.—Three defendants who went on trial here Saturday, October 15 in Federal Court on a Federal Grand Jury indictment charging them with being part of a concerted plot, sponsored and financed by the German Government, to steal from the United States, vital military defense, aviation, and commercial secrets. Left to right they are Eric Glaser, 28, U. S. Army private of German origin, who was attached to the Air Corps at Mitchel Field, L. I.; Otto Hermann Voss, 30, German-American mechanic at the DeSeversky Aircraft Corp. plant at Farmingdale, L. I.; and Guenther Gustave Rumrich, 32, former sergeant in the U. S. Army and a deserter, whose bungling revealed the ring, and who has now pleaded guilty.

CO-OPERATION HERE WILL BE MENTIONED IN REA MAGAZINE

Muenster's co-operative spirit is about to receive nation-wide recognition. After receiving reports from several REA officials investigating the local rural electrification project that Muenster has an unusually fine record for co-operative achievement, publishers of the Rural Electrification News requested the local REA office to prepare data for an article in their magazine.

The Rural Electrification News is printed in the interests of the REA movement and reaches every project area in the nation.

Upon receiving the request last week J. W. Hess asked men now active in the co-operatives to give him a list of notes showing pertinent and interesting information as well as any good pictures relating to the co-operatives. F. J. Hess will prepare data on the German Farmers' Benevolent Association, the mutual insurance company. J. W. Meurer will give the story of the telephone company's organization and working methods. The development of the Farmers Marketing Association from a small produce station to sizeable industrial plant and co-operative grocery will be traced by Rudy Hellman. Information on the church and parochial school will be supplied by Rev. Father Frowin.

The story is to be sent to the Rural Electrification News early in November to permit publication in the December edition.

MAN AND WIFE BOTH UNCONSCIOUS AFTER BUMBLE BEE ATTACKS

Lindsay.—Mr. and Mrs. William Flusche were both unconscious after the surprise attack of a bumble bee about 2 p. m. last Wednesday afternoon.

Entering their pickup truck as they were driving about one-fourth mile south of their home, the bee made a lunge for Mrs. Flusche; and Mr. Flusche made a lunge for the bee. In the excitement he lost control of the machine. The right front wheel struck a ditch at the side of the road and caused the car to turn over twice.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Flusche have any idea how long they lay there unconscious before she came to and then revived him. A few rather severe bruises were their only injuries. Soaked with gas and oil, they felt most fortunate that fire did not break out.

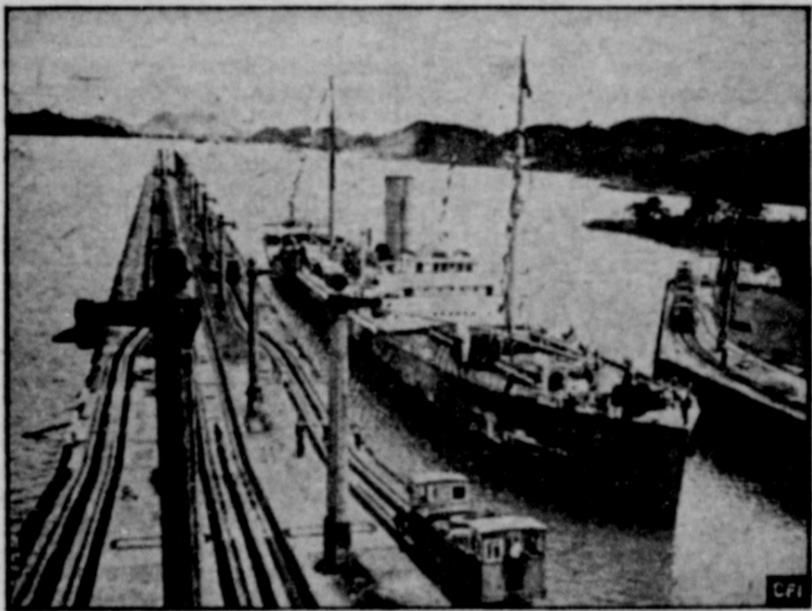

Damage to the machine consisted of a broken wheel, a smashed fender and a punctured radiator. The bee got away.

WILDE WILL HAVE NEW CHEVROLETS ON DISPLAY SATURDAY

Simultaneously with its first appearance all over the nation, Chevrolet makes its 1939 bow to Muenster Saturday, October 22, at the J. B. Wilde Motor Company. Two cars for the event arrived last Saturday and were unloaded from the freight cars Wednesday night.

An advance showing of the model for Chevrolet dealers was held on Wednesday of last week at Fort Worth. Returning from that meeting Mr. Wilde stated that he is confident that Chevrolet will continue in its popularity with local motorists. The car, he says, has many advanced improvements, especially in appearance, economy and performance.

MAKES 100,000TH TRANSIT OF PANAMA CANAL

PEDRO MIGUEL, Canal Zone.—The Steel Exporter enters the locks at Pedro Miguel for the final step up to the level of Gaillard Cut and Gatun Lake 85 feet above sea level, as it makes the 100,000th passage through the Panama Canal by ocean going commercial vessels. The Steel Exporter, typical of the thousands of ships which use the canal, is bound from Los Angeles to London with 7,852 tons of general cargo most of which is canned goods and dried fruits from California.

PAROCHIAL CAGERS WILL OPEN SEASON FRIDAY WITH HAYS

Friday is the season's first game for the Parochial High School basketball team under the tutelage of Father Francis Zimmerer. Their opponents for the game will be the Hays quintet.

As to the chances his boys have of winning Father Francis declined to make comment. "We have no idea of what Hays has to offer," he said, "but we can say the Parochial boys are up to their standard of other years, perhaps a little better." He added that his boys were set for the Sumacs any old time, but that he expected few games from the thrice county champions because of their small enrollment and the graduation of their entire last year's starting lineup.

Because of the scarcity of material, Virgil Welsh, principal of the public school, does not intend to put a great deal of effort in a basketball schedule. He will play it as a playground game but expects to match few interscholastic contests.

WELSH RE-ORGANIZES SCOUTS AND PLANS EARLY CAMPING TRIP

Members of the local Boy Scout troop with their scoutmaster, Virgil Lee Welsh, and committeeman, J. W. Fisher, met in the K of C Hall Monday evening to reorganize and make plans for ensuing activity.

The troop applied for a renewal of their charter which expires at the end of this month and appointed Ray Wilde as scribe. Boys who have asked to be admitted to the troop will be entered, bringing the number of members to 18.

Mr. Welsh and the older Scouts will hike to the Sam Bass cave, between Leo and Rosston, over the week-end to prepare camping grounds for the boys, and at an early date the entire troop will spend a week-end there.

An improvement program in the G. H. Hellman home includes new wall paper for several rooms and new paint for the woodwork.

NICK MOSMAN GIVEN CASHIER POSITION AT GAINESVILLE BANK

Friends in Muenster and Lindsay were happy to learn last week of Nick Mosman's promotion to the position of cashier at the Gainesville National Bank, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Raymond King last summer. Mosman's promotion comes as a reward for his splendid record during 13 years of service with the institution.

A son of Fred Mosman at Lindsay and a brother of John Mosman at Muenster, Nick is well-known in both communities. He was born in Lindsay and attended school there and at Denison and Subiaco, Ark. Following his graduation from the latter school he was employed for four years by a bank in Little Rock, Ark., then came to Gainesville as a bookkeeper for the Lindsay National.

FORMER SUMACS TO RESUME ACTIVITY AS INDEPENDENT TEAM

With nothing more than the love of the game to spur them on, last year's county champion Sumac squad has decided to carry on its basketball activity, but as an independent club rather than under the colors of Muenster High School. The entire first string graduated last year.

According to Pat Stelzer the boys have already made arrangements to use their old suits and are beginning to broadcast challenges to various teams of the county. A game with Gainesville Junior College is practically assured and other games with such teams as Valley View, Era, and Callisburg are very probable.

With a three year reputation behind them the boys feel that they will be able to match games with the leading high school and independent teams, and with that many years of playing together they expect to hold their ground in most encounters.

The personnel includes Pat Stelzer, Herman Fette, Weldon Flannery, Clarence Hoehn, Eugene Lehnertz, Walter Becker, Norman Luke, and Earl Lehnertz.

PREPARATIONS FOR '38 TURKEY SEASON UNDER WAY AT FMA

Activity at the FMA indicates that turkey time is near again. During the past few days a series of minor preparations such as checking and repairing on pens, slaughtering equipment, scalding vats, and the picking room have been in progress to have everything in ship shape when the turkeys start coming in.

At the same time arrangements were made with Wilson and Company of Oklahoma City, the same company that took charge of last year's business, to handle the birds again. The agreement provides that all buying is to be done by Wilson, labor to be paid by them, and the FMA to receive payment for the use of its equipment.

Roy Callahan was again named supervisor of the season's work. His first assistant will be Roger King of Gainesville as grader, Rudy Hellman and Joe Horn will do the clerical work and write checks for Mr. Callahan. Men to take charge of slaughtering, packing, dressed grading, etc. have not been named to date.

Anticipating the need of considerable storage space, the FMA is now moving as much cheese as possible out of its vaults. Mr. Hellman states the plant will have more than enough cooling capacity by November 1.

Some concern is felt over the quality of this year's birds. Rudy Hellman quoted Callahan as saying that the warm weather has been retarding turkey progress. Until a good chill comes to call a halt to moulting and encourage better appetites the turkeys will neither put on fat nor get rid of their unsightly pin feathers. Either of these circumstances can result in grading penalties.

DR. MYRICK'S ADDRESS FEATURES MEETING OF HOLY NAME SOCIETY

Featuring the Holy Name Society regular meeting Monday night, Dr. T. S. Myrick appeared in a brief, candid discussion on social disease, emphasizing that it is an outstanding public enemy and should be brought into the open so that medical men will have a chance of fighting it successfully.

There was a time, he said, when the mention of any social disease was considered improper anywhere but in medical circles, but the public is gradually coming to realize that general co-operation is as important as the efforts of medical men to get diseases under control. He asked for a change in public attitude, which nowadays is too ready to point an accusing finger at a person afflicted with syphilis. Millions of cases, he said, are the result of blameless contagion. Persons so afflicted deserve the right to combat the disease fairly and openly like any other sickness, and should not be forced by public opinion to waive proper attention for fear of discovery.

Dr. Myrick cited pitiful cases of deformity and imbecility inherited by children from diseased parents in explaining that every person has a duty to his offspring as well as to himself to remain free of syphilis. His advice was to avoid it by a high standard of morality and of observance of sanitary rules that will prevent infections, but by all means to remember that syphilis can be cured, and that to neglect proper treatment for fear of public opinion is inexcusable.

Father Francis, sponsor of the society, supplemented his address with a reminder that morality as well as a concern for physical well being demands that each person regulate his habits according to Christian standards. In addition to the price in physical suffering that must be paid for sin, often by innocent victims, there is also the inescapable penalty in eternity for the transgression of a Divine law.

LINN CHILDREN MAKE TOUR OF INSPECTION THROUGH FMA PLANT

Responding to an invitation extended to Principal Abner House several days ago, about thirty pupils of the Linn school, accompanied by their teachers and Alford Harrison, spent Wednesday morning observing how cheese is made at the local plant. Their visit is one of the several planned by Mr. House for the coming year in order to give a more intimate knowledge of various activities and industrial processes.

Rudy Hellman led them through the factory explaining the stages of cheese making from the time milk arrives until the finished and cured product is removed from the vault.

The children were treated to a typical cheese factory lunch, cheese and crackers.

ROAD COURSE THROUGH BIG ELM CHANGED

Will Have Two Way
Concrete Bridge

Regarded as Fitting Start For Contemplated Road South to Leo

Arrangements are now being made with all possible haste to begin construction on a new road and bridge through the Big Elm bottomlands on the Muenster-Linn road. E. A. "Babe" Felker, commissioner of Precinct 3, is hopeful that all work will be completed before winter rains set in and possibly make the present crossing impassable.

The bridge is to be a two way concrete structure at a point about 200 yards east of the old bridge, which gave way about two weeks ago to the weight of a Kingery Brothers truck and trailer loaded with oil field pipe. Construction will begin as soon as an application for WPA grant receives official approval.

Changes now becoming effective are those which were regarded for years as desirable on the road. The winding trail approaching the bridge from the north is eliminated, the new bridge being directly in line with the road coming from Alphonse Walterscheid's. Curves south of the creek are eliminated also by a direct line through the Henry Trachta and C. J. Fette land. Negotiations for the right of way purchase were completed on Friday of last week.

Additional plans call for an extension of the new road through the Stark property south of C. J. Fette's. The outcome of a conference between Felker and Stark early this week has not been revealed. If Felker's plan is realized it will eliminate the rocky hill south of Tony Trubench Jr.'s, home besides providing a more direct road and a more gradual slope to a point on the present road several hundred yards from the crest of the hill.

Commenting on the change, Dr. T. S. Myrick, chairman of the roads committee of the Chamber of Commerce, states that it harmonizes splendidly with plans for a new road linking Muenster and Leo. From a point about one half mile east of the Linn school the proposed road would lead directly south to Leo. Connecting with the Butterfield Trail to Decatur, the new road will open a direct route to Fort Worth about 20 miles shorter than the present road to that city, and at the same time will provide a better farm to market road for people south of Muenster.

MUENSTER BOYS AND GIRLS DIVIDE GAMES WITH PILOT POINT

Muenster's CYO girls romped around the diamond to the rhythmic staccato of continuous hitting, and missed only two points of blanking their Pilot Point rivals at a drawn out softball game in Pilot Point Sunday afternoon. Their total accumulation was 30 tallies.

But coming in with a vengeance, the boys' club of that same city succeeded in some measure to compensate for their girl friends' humiliation as well as for the long count defeat handed them by the Muenster club several weeks ago. They played good ball while Muenster was miserable. Their victory was 15 to 6.

SALE OF TICKETS FOR THANKSGIVING BEGUN THIS WEEK

The season's first move for Muenster's annual Thanksgiving picnic got under way Tuesday when dozens of parochial pupils began scattering tickets for the parish financier, Sister Bertha.

No definite plans regarding the event have been mentioned to date, however, it is quite generally taken for granted, especially in view of the early beginning, that the usual efforts to top all previous successes will be in force, and former residents from far and near will be invited to make it their homecoming day.

JUST MISSED 'EM

Efforts to book "Adolf and the Boys" of Schulenberg for a dance at the K of C Hall in early November missed by just a little, Roy Endres advised Tuesday after receiving word that all available dates for Adolf's tour had been taken. The message carried an assurance, however, that Muenster will be notified in time to secure a booking during the next trip through North Texas.

Balance Your Livestock's Diet WITH SWEET FEEDS

Whether for milk, pork or beef production, the addition of molasses to your feed pays big dividends.

It is equally good for cattle, hogs, sheep, or horses. It is a rich carbohydrate feed that will produce more fat than corn, it is a better conditioner than oil meal. It is a wonderful appetizer and increases the palatability of other feeds. It creates thirst. It hastens growth and is the greatest fat producer on the market—hence an ideal feed for finishing stock.

Molasses has a similar effect on poultry. It is a valuable addition to any feed on the farm.

BEHIND THE SCENES
AMERICAN BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—BUSINESS —“Back to work we go” is now the theme song chanted by business men throughout the land with war scares baseball classics, and hurricanes out of the way for the time being at least, the country is rolling up its sleeves for another era of prosperity. The business picture at this stage of events, although admittedly less dramatic than the recent martial headlines, give a firm basis for an optimistic feeling. Major steel companies are now turning out ingots at 50 per cent of capacity and better. Detroit and other automotive centers according to reports produce approximately 1,000,000 cars in the last three months of the year, a figure which only a month ago was considered utterly impossible. The number of buyers from out of town stores registering in New York, always a significant index to watch, has increased heavily during the past week. It is reported that sales in practically every department of one of the major chemical companies have moved up sharply. The strength in the stock market and the relief from war threats abroad is causing a renewed activity in new financing.

WASHINGTON.—One important result of the recent foreign crisis is a keener appreciation in government circles of the fact that the European territorial chess game, behind the mask of “self-determination of peoples,” is primarily based on a terrific struggle among major powers for self-sufficiency in raw materials. With this in mind various Federal agency experts are pointing out that the United States still has to import 21 strategic materials. With manganese, essential to the making of steel, ranking No. 1 on the list, army officials are recommending development of nearby Cuban deposits, American-owned, and working of some domestic ores, to lessen dependence on distant sources such as Russia, Africa, Brazil.

RAINBOWS ON MAIN STREET —A spurt in buying is in store for retail merchants in several lines, judging by reports from governmental agencies and private trade sources. Shoe manufacturers, for instance, are turning out 35 to 40 per cent more pairs now than in July, preparing for an expected increase in demand this fall. Prices will be a little higher by Christmas, it is reported, and the trend is toward the more expensive merchandise, with black suede leading the fashion parade in women's dress shoes. Restaurant and diner owners will also feel the effect of the greater purchasing power afloat in the nation this fall, with the more expensively priced meals getting more frequent calls. The average restaurant in the first half year registered a 4.4% profit, which probably makes some large corporations green with envy, but the record will probably be even better this fall.

DOMESTIC ECONOMY—The air-conditioning industry which has made rapid strides in the past two years now has a little brother. Sash manufacturers, carpenters, lumber dealers, and glass merchants in every community are benefitting by a national advertising program to sell “window conditioning” to America's 12,000,000 homes which have central heating. The campaign is based on an engineering survey which shows that double glazing, which means the use of two panes of glass with an air space in between, can effect annual fuel savings running as high as 30 per cent. That the promotion is succeeding is proved by the disclosure that orders from sash manufacturers and glass jobbers received at one Toledo glass plant during the first nine months exceeded those of the same period a year ago.

OFFICES SPRUCE UP—A myriad of new equipment for offices, stores and industrial plants has been introduced in recent months, and last week most of them were on display among the 1,500 exhibits at the National Business Show in New York. New gadgets at the show included: a “breathing chair” that has air ducts built into the upholstery to cool the user in stuffy offices; a sealing and stamping machine that handles 9,500 letters an hour; ink wells with electric lights and streamlined design that require filling but once a year.

BANK CHECKS and MILL WHEELS

Do you realize how your checking account balance is like the stored-up water behind the mill dam? It creates the power which turns the wheels of banking service for you.

But if your deposits are a thin trickle with no reserve force back of them, the checking account machinery cannot turn unless the bank turns it for you at its own expense.

Depositors who do not find it convenient to maintain a fair balance may properly reimburse the bank for what it has had to spend to give them service.

JUSTICE?

While the Texas Power and Light Company is having its duel with the Lower Colorado River Authority our people have a splendid opportunity to observe the methods of coniving politicians. The latest is an injunction restraining any effort of self defense by the written or spoken word.

Going far back into the outmoded pages of statute books someone found a method once used to prevent brewers from "beating" local option elections. The superior influence of money had to be restrained. That was the law applied to TP&L. The injunction was imposed all over the sixteen counties coveted by LCRA and at Gainesville. TP&L had to be restrained while political propagandists were out telling the people to "beat" TP&L.

Whether or not the questionable charges that utility companies are reaping exorbitant profits are true, the fact still remains that the method used by politicians is unjust. It has no place in a democracy. Does it seem fair that any corporation should be denied a word in self defense while it is being attacked on all sides? By the letter of that law our cheese factory could be silenced while all sorts of malicious statements are uttered in a campaign to vote it out of town.

Our constitution safeguards an individual's, or a corporation's, right to property, still it does not permit self defense against action that will destroy that property. Does it make sense? Self seeking politicians deliberately attempt to destroy the development of a quarter century in order to scatter some of the taxpayers' easy money against their constituents. Is that justice to the men who invested in the development? Is it fair to penalize people all over the nation to give a few no more than they already have?

Observing the situation from any angle it seems like pure and simple socialism. LCRA has the advantage. If it chooses to build a complete new system it can do so and cause inestimable loss to investors and taxpayers alike—for a dual system is nothing less than a waste and a loss. Or it can buy existing property at a tremendous sacrifice to TP&L, which is partial confiscation. How we stormed when Mexico took over private property a few months ago! Is it any more just for our government to take our private property?

People who ridicule the "Red Scare" would do well to think over our own socialistic tendencies. It is true that the bearded Bolshevik on a soap box cannot sway Americans, but such action shows that more subtle influences are at work. Doesn't it seem ridiculous that a democracy, founded on the principle of private ownership, should deny to owners the right of defending their property, but at the same time give full sway to Reds to spread a doctrine that would destroy everything democratic?

THE WORST MENACE

Our industrial strife today is not one sided. Even though we fail to see that LCRA has just cause for grievance against TP&L, we could be convinced that the corporation, like many another, has grown fat on watered stock and a few other financial manipulations. Perhaps there is some truth in the remark that rates have been exorbitant, even though most consumers feel that they are getting more than their money's worth.

In general it is safe to say that of all the potential destroyers of democracy the most powerful is that working from within. The system of labor and privately owned capital, upon which democracy is founded, contains abuses that are working toward its own destruction.

There seems to be more than a little justice in the assumption that one person does not have the right to live a life of luxury and waste while another dies of exposure and starvation. People who grab unscrupulously just because they have the opportunity are placing a hardship on less fortunate people. Poor people cannot help feeling downtrodden when, in spite of honest efforts, they continue to get poorer while the rich get richer. They have a right to resent extravagance in others while they must go without the bare necessities of life.

What can be done about it? Not government regulation. Experience is proving that conditions become worse with each new attempt at official interferences. Too frequently crooks are designated to check on crooks. Otherwise petty warfare will break out between business and federal officials with a resulting waste that becomes as costly as dishonesty.

As it stands now, our nation is a ready dumping ground for the false promises of Moscow. The gap between athiestic socialism and Christian democracy is being bridged with our own social and industrial abuses. Downtrodden people within our own ranks are being encouraged to turn traitors. If the enemy is ever successful it will be because the way was well paved with principles that should never have existed in our system.

Leading churchmen of the world tell us that the most effective way to combat irreligion is to be religious ourselves. Good example has a more powerful influence than force. If our political and industrial leaders would follow the same advice they could achieve far more than all our Federal police work. By adopting the golden rule and outlawing greed and violence and hatred in their own hearts, our leaders of labor, industry, and society can restore the lost charm of our democracy. When that is done the false glitter of Communism will appear its true worthlessness.

What Others Say

SMALL TOWN NEWSPAPER

Turning from the city to the small town press exchanges that come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice, into an old fashioned garden sweet with lavender and thyme and the scent of personal flowers. The pages of big dailies are so full of murder, thievery, immorality and selfishness that the better news is obscured by these glaring shatterings of the Decalogue. One puts the paper aside with a feeling of depression and heartache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things.

Then picking up the paper that records the happenings of the little towns around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the business man, the church items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, farmers' items, and all the thousand and one daily occurrences that make up the simple annals of the great common people who are really the foundation of this country of ours.

Scandals are seldom published in country newspapers, but if it so happens that decency demands it, the uglier details are omitted or given a kindly touch that is widely different from the unfeeling publicity of the city press. The offenders may be our neighbors, or people we have rubbed elbows with all our lives. They are real human beings to their town paper, while to the great city dailies they are merely grains of a sort that are ground out hourly in the new mills.

Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our national existence.—Christian Science Monitor.

A LESSON FOR AMERICANS

There is a lesson for all Americans in the facts brought out by a legislative committee in New York investigating delinquency. Among all the thousands of Chinese living in the metropolis, only two cases of Chinese children or youths accused of lawbreaking have ever been brought into court, and one of those, it turned out, thought he was playing a game.

The Chinese interpreter in the New York courts gave the explanation. He quoted a maxim of Confucius, "the misconduct of the child is the fault of the parents," as being the moral code under which Chinese children are reared. The child is taught reverence for its parents. Whenever a Chinese boy or girl is guilty of misconduct in public it is a disgrace not only to himself or herself but to the family. If some Chinese boy committed the most minute crime, the whole community would know it and he would be losing face.

"Among the young," said the interpreter, "the most severe punishment is to 'lose face.' It is most serious in the minds of the children, because it's a sort of discrimination against them. Chinese children are not punished physically; they are denied movies or new shoes or new clothes."

The Chinese system of discipline might well be emulated by American parents.—Mt. Vernon Optic-Herald.

WHY PAY IN THE DARK

No one would be so foolish as to choose a pitch dark room in which to compute monthly bills for rent, clothing, fuel and food, and to count the necessary "money due on each.

Yet the average consumer is made to do something just as foolish by paying taxes in the dark—taxes that cannot be seen because they are concealed in the purchase price of every necessity. A competent estimate is that 63% of all taxes—local, state and national—are hidden.

The average consumer pays taxes in the dark, for example, when he pays his rent—one-fourth of which on an average goes for taxes. The cost of a bottle of medicine includes its proportional part of 172 different taxes levied on every step of production, distribution and marketing. There are 112 hidden taxes in a pair of shoes, and the taxes on milk exceed the profit gained by the farmer.

This pyramided tax method is the target of a militant attack by the National Consumers Tax Commission, representing prominent women in a nation-wide crusade against taxes that increase the cost of living. With headquarters in Chicago, units are being formed by leading women of this state, who believe the consumer is entitled to know how taxes, direct and hidden, reduce buying power, cause unemployment, curtailed payrolls and lower wage rates.

Thus the fight against unseen taxes on the necessities of life is really a crusade to protect the American standard of living.—National Consumers Tax Commission.

THE GO-GETTER

There is a price that must be paid for everything. Everyone knows this is true. The sad part is that so few are willing to pay the price for what they want.

Success is sold in the open market. You can buy any amount if you are willing to pay the price. There are no "short cuts" to success.

Don't waste time and punish yourself envying someone for the success he enjoys. Summon your every faculty and, if the thing desired be worth it, pay the price and get it. This is the spirit of the go-getter.—Exchange.

Confetti

By CON FETTE

The Knights of Columbus are indebted in no small measure to Clint Shirley and his pet sheep, Johnny, for the splendid success of the Columbus Day celebration. Dressed in his fancy jacket, Johnny is a sensation wherever he goes. Children like to hang on his neck, which is the one thing he doesn't like, and everybody likes to feed him paper and cigarettes—yes he eats cigarettes.

Clint says the idea of using Johnny as an advertising department took the wind out of the sails of his competitors. They're all scratching their heads now trying to figure out a stunt to trump his. He also makes it tough on publishers. That "thought in a thousand" is the kind every client expects to see in his newspaper ad copy.

Because of Johnny, Clint has met a lot of people lately, many of the introductions meaning business. Not only that, Johnny's the one who got Clint an introduction to the Biscuit Pappy O'Daniel.

They're parading again—to the tune of a wedding march. This week finds one of our young couples plunging into better or worse while three more wait in the background for their turn at the middle aisle. Dame Rumor has been whispering around that another couple had the notion but our friend the Padre discreetly suggested that three weddings in one week are plenty, "postpone it please."

Now, some of us may not understand why a breathing spell should be desirable, unless we happen to remember that the choir members will have three warbling sessions in a row. Then too, we gotta think of two persons who, according to local custom, are most likely to be included on the guest lists at the wedding feasts. At the end of it all they're likely to feel like the little boy who got all the candy he wanted. On the third day sodium bicarbonate will probably be helpful; after more than three a doctor might be necessary.

Also thankful for a breathing spell are the many who expect to attend the round of parties and showers. They are wondering how they can find the time and the chips to respond to all invitations. It's beginning to seem as though the public is more concerned about matrimony than the couple involved. Or, was it always that way?

That a hobby can be profitable as well as entertaining came to our notice again, in fact twice again, during the last few weeks. One of the home town boys got the idea that making toys would not be such a bad way to use his spare time. Now he's considerably better off financially and several hundred children are due to be happier next Christmas. In Gainesville a man who is quite well acquainted with many of us has a weakness for woodwork. He tried his hand at sawing out the names that were popular on ladies' dresses not so long ago, then graduated to the more elaborate, larger ones that ornament a person's desk. Now he has orders for more than he can make. A few hours' tinkering daily nets him a handsome addition to his regular salary.

Distressing news for most of the children, and for many of their parents too: Mr. Segar, the creator of Popeye, is dead. But, (wipe away your tears) Popeye still lives. See

ENTHUSIASM

Enthusiasm is the greatest business asset in the world. It beats money and power and influence. Single-handed the enthusiast convinces and dominates where a small army of workers would scarcely raise a tremor of interest. Enthusiasm tramples over prejudice and opposition, spurns inaction, storms the citadel of its object, and like an avalanche overwhelms and engulfs and initiative rightly combined remove mountainous barriers and achieve the unheard of and miraculous, all obstacles. Enthusiasm is faith in action; and faith Set the germ of enthusiasm afloat in your life; carry it in your attitude and manner; it spreads like a contagion and influences every fiber of your being; it begets and inspires effects you did not dream of, it means joy and pleasure and satisfaction; it means life real and virile; it means spontaneous bedrock results—the vital things that pay dividends.—Anonymous.

If he's driving he pulls up at the side of the road, if he's in bed he switches on the light a minute. He attaches a definite value to good ideas. Losing them, he says, is as bad as losing money. In the long run a habit like that has to pay dividends.

gar's assistants will carry on. The superhuman one-eyed sailor will continue to fight demons and giants and tear up battleships and keep failing to make a gentleman of Wimpy.

Popeye's popularity is sufficient evidence that most of us are hero worshipers. Perhaps not many try to analyze their reactions, but the real reason they get excited about his adventures is that he is a simple soul capable of doing wonders. The only thing wrong with him is his butchered grammar and his homely mug. Ask any man to tell his favorite comic strip characters. The chances are nine to one he will favor one of the heroes.

There was a time when officers swooping into town in search of beer could rate several dozen spectators on a moment's notice. Contrast such an event with one of the raids nowadays when people sitting out in front are not sufficiently interested to go in and see what it's all about. Raids have got to be common, every day occurrences.

Doesn't that circumstance mean anything to the raiding parties? Can't they suspect that when people go on handling beer day after day in spite of their interference, that there might be some fault in the law they are enforcing? Muenster has tried honestly to shake off a burden imposed by others. Fair minded officers can co-operate by being more considerate. Will they ever do it?

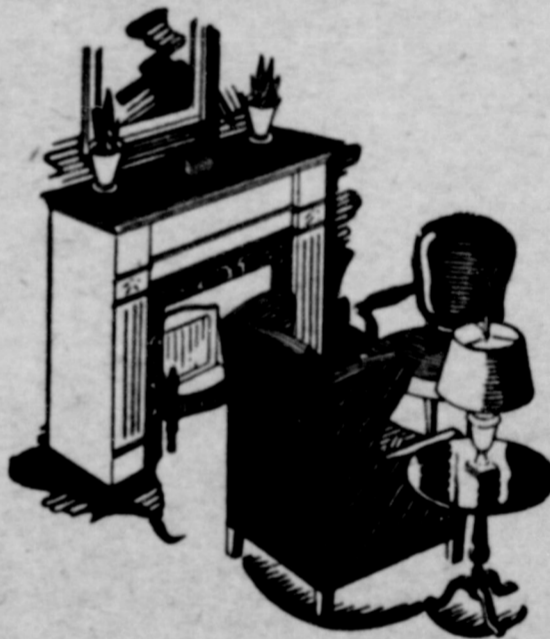

Have you ever had what you considered a really good idea, then tried to remember it later only to find that you had lost it completely? Unless you are one of a select few, you have. The select few save their ideas by jotting them down.

A mighty busy man, incidentally, a successful one, was telling the oth-

THE ROAD TO COMFORT

Before Winter's First Blast

FIND OUT YOUR HEATING NEEDS

You just can't imagine the healthful comfort of a home completely heated with advanced-type gas equipment until you have lived in one. In it there are no chilling drafts, cold layers of air at floor level nor hot spots—temperature is held even and uniform throughout.

Now check your heating equipment. See if it is adequate to do a thorough, complete heating job. Perhaps just one or two pieces of the advanced-type equipment will be enough to bring it up-to-date. But, whatever your home needs, now is the time to install the equipment—before winter's first blast. Any budget can afford the easy terms that are available.
