SEASON'S FIRST SNOW THREATENS TO CHECK GROUNDHOG SHADOW

The first snow of the season and a drop in temperature almost to the freezing point seemed to indicate Thursday that a long delayed winter has arrived at last.

Scattered flakes began floating at about 10 o'clock and thirty minutes later were falling considerably faster though not decreasing visibility to any appreciable extent.

Thursday's snow follows a drop in the mercury from comparatively moderate weather for the past several weeks. Occasional light freezes and a few showers were the only breaks in an unusually mild January.

Indications late Thursday morning were that the ground hog will have little opportunity to see his shadow.

PHONE LINE CHANGES CAUSED BY WORK ON ROAD AND REA LINE

As a result of current road work and rural electrification line construction, line changes by the Muenster Telephone Company becomes necessary over a great part of its area.

Since the past week-end J. S. Horn, Jake Horn, Jr., and Ed Walterscheid have spent their spare time moving back the entire line along the WPA road project north of Muenster on old Highway 5. The change became necessary when the right-of-way was widened and fence lines moved back.

Along the electric co-op project there are many places where lines must be moved across the road. Interference with efficient phone service and the danger of an accident electrifying the telephone line were named as reasons for not permitting both lines at the same side of the road.

CHILE TOWN DESTROYED BY QUAKE

CONCEPCION, CHILE—Radiophoto—A scene of desolation in this city in South Chile which was virtually wiped off the map by the earthquake on Jan. 24. Seventy per cent of the buildings were razed and the dead were numbered at more than 2,500. Concepcion is Chile's southern capital.

LARGE GROUP PAYS FINAL TRIBUTE TO LEONARD ZIMMERER

Lindsay.—A splendid tribute to the popularity of Leonard Zimmerer and his family was the crowd that packed Saint Peter's church for funeral services last Friday morning. Filling all pews and half the aisle space, the group made up the largest funeral attendance in the history of this community. Almost half of the number were Muenster friends of the young man's brother, Father Francis Zimmerer.

Father Conrad, pastor, was celebrant and Fathers Frowin of Muenster and Brady of Gainesville were assistants at a solemn mass of requiem that preceded burial in the parish cemetery.

In a brief funeral address Father Conrad chose as his text "Dust thou art, and to dust thou shalt return." By way of exhortation as well as consolation he emphasized that while mortal remains were returning to the earth, the soul of this young man was going to an eternity of happiness. He cited the tender years of the deceased as a warning that the grim reaper has no regard for age, nor health, nor a person's station in life, and appealed that all order their lives in such a way as to be ready for death at any time.

Pallbearers for young Zimmerer were six of his cousins: Norbert, Joe, and Bernard Zimmerer, Lawrence Schad, and Francis Dieter of Lindsay, and Lambert Bezner of Ardmore, Okla. His classmates of the ninth grade at Lindsay were honorary pallbearers. George Carroll and Son had charge of burial arrangements.

Only 17 years old, Leonard was the victim of a cancerous growth resulting from a bruise on his hip. He was first troubled with the infection in December 1937, several weeks after the injury that, at the time, was regarded as a mere trifle. In spite of operations by bone specialists and numerous treatments the ailment continued to grow worse. He was not able to leave his bed during the last ten weeks.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Zimmerer; one sister, Sister Dorothy Theresa of San Antonio; and five brothers, Rev. Francis Zimmerer of Muenster, Paul, of the U. S. S. Chaumont, Henry, Bruno, and Vincent of Lindsay.

FARMERS' MUTUAL HEARS REPORT AND ELECTS '39 LEADERS

Members of the Muenster district of the German Farmers' Benevolent Association held their annual meeting in the parish hall last week Thursday to elect officers, delegates, and appraisers, and to hear a report on the association's general meeting here during the last week of December.

Election results as submitted by Secretary F. J. Hess are as follows: district chairman, J. B. Klement; district secretary, F. J. Hess; delegates to next general meeting, W. H. Endres, F. J. Hess, John Bayer, Emil Vogel, Joseph Flusche, Ben Voth, C. J. Wimmer, J. H. Otto, Henry Wiesman, Leo Henschel, F. J. Becker, and Wm. Becker.

W. H. Endres was elected for another term of 3 years as appraiser, while Wm. Becker was elected to serve the unexpired two years of John Bayer's term. Bayer gave up his position as appraiser when elected president at the mutual's general meeting in December. The third appraiser is Barney Voth, now beginning the last year of his term.

THREE ARE HOSTS FOR 'FRIENDLY VISIT' OF LIQUOR BOARD MEN

Officers of the state liquor control board paid their respects with "friendly visits" to three of their clients Tuesday afternoon and night. At each of the places they secured the customary souvenirs as tokens of friendship.

They showed some favoritism to J. C. Trachta in calling upon him in the afternoon and departing in time to permit his return to business in the evening. At Hale Neathery's and Bud Bernauer's, however, they arrived about 9:30 and caused their hosts to neglect business while entertaining them for almost an hour. The surprise visits apparently were timed for only a few minutes before the usual intermission rush from the dance.

SPUDDER TEST ON PEERY FARM BEGUN BY RICHARDS & SON

The long delayed test well on the Peery place west of Muenster is under way at last. J. G. Richards and Son spudded in Wednesday, drilling on contract for Bailey and Needham.

Harry Couch, engaged in the only other drilling activity of the community now nears a depth of 1000 feet on his test 3300 feet west of Barney Voth's Number 2 discovery well.

LEAGUE POSTPONES TO AVOID CONFLICT WITH FORTY HOURS

Announcement has been made that the Ladies' Civic League meeting scheduled for next Friday, the 10th, has been postponed until the following Friday, February 17th.

The change in schedule was made so as not to conflict with Forty Hours' Adoration services which will be in progress at Sacred Heart Church.

Pupils of the Public School, under the direction of Principal Virgil Lee Welch, are preparing a one-act play to be presented as an entertainment feature at this meeting.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY AT KREBS' OBSERVED BY FAMILY REUNION

Lindsay.—Celebrating 50 years of wedded life, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krebs entertained with a family reunion in their home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Krebs are among this county's most prominent citizens, having resided in this community for 34 years.

The day's celebrations began with a sumptuous dinner. The table was centered with a large cake, decorated with gold colored icing and topped with a miniature bridal couple. The afternoon and evening hours were spent in games and conversation.

Mr. and Mrs. Krebs are the parents of 10 children, all of whom were with them Sunday along with a large number of grandchildren. Both enjoy good health and are still operating their farm. Mr. Krebs is 74 and she is 71 years old.

Mr. Krebs was born near Koeln, Germany and came to this country at the age of 16, settling in Illinois with his parents. He later went to Iowa where he met Miss Mary Neu, and was married to her in January, 1889, in Rosell, Iowa. Since they came to Texas they have resided at their present home all of the time except two years spent a short distance south of town.

The honor couple was presented with a number of lovely gifts, the most prized being a bedroom suite which was a gift from all the children. On the anniversary this year Mrs. Krebs wore a heavy gold cross and chain that she wore at her wedding a half century ago.

All of the Krebs children are married except the youngest son, Henry, who lives at the family home. Mr. and Mrs. Krebs have 59 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

The five sons and five daughters include Mrs. Joe Mosser, Durant, Okla.; Pete Krebs, Tishomingo, Okla.; Mrs. Leo Mosser, near Gainesville; Frank, Bill and Albert Krebs, Tishomingo, Okla.; Mrs. Fred Bezner, Wolf Ridge community; Mrs. Pete Hellinger, Tishomingo; Mrs. Pete Mosman, south of Gainesville, and Henry Krebs.

Also in attendance at the celebration were Mrs. Krebs' oldest sister, Mrs. William Schmitz, Sr., and her husband of Lindsay and her youngest brother, John Neu of Lindsay, and the parish pastor, Rev. Conrad Herda.

$100 PRIZE OFFERED FOR BEST PLAN ON NEW PARISH CHURCH

One Hundred dollars for an acceptable rough plan for the new Muenster church—that is the offer made by Father Frowin during services last Sunday.

His purpose in making the offer, he said, is to receive as many suggestions as possible, some of which will be used as additions and changes in the plan accepted by a parish committee and the Ordinary of the diocese.

Plans should include modern improvements and architectural standards, he suggested. For instance it should have an efficient circulating heat system that is adaptable as a cooling system during the summer. Heavy domes and steeples should be omitted in favor of simpler, more useful construction. Seating arrangements for about 800 should combine clear visibility and an efficient use of space. The approximate cost should be $100,000.

Father Frowin hastened to explain that his request should not be interpreted as an indication that construction would begin at once. The present purpose is only to get good ideas. He has hopes, however, that circumstances will permit a start on the new building next year.

BOY SCOUTS POSTPONE BENEFIT SOCIAL AND WEENIE ROAST PARTY

Conforming with the local custom of avoiding social programs on the eve of special church services, the boy scout committee decided Tuesday to postpone the scout social that had been set for Thursday night, Feb. 2.

Scoutmaster Virgil Lee Welch stated that the new date had not been determined except that it will probably be before the beginning of Lent.

In the meantime the scouts continue on their ticket selling campaign which, they hope, will net a sufficiently large fund to provide all members with scout hats and shirts. This clothing will be regarded as troop equipment, not as the possessions of individuals, committeeman Herbert Meurer said, and the boy who fails to keep up his scout rating forfeits his claim to it.

Monday night's scout meeting was occupied principally with assignments of duties for each member before and during the social. The contemplated hike, weenie roast, and special program for prospective cubs was postponed because of bad hiking and camping conditions after Sunday's rain.

Welch now awaits word from Henry Levelling, district scout executive of Ardmore, before announcing the date of the program. His plan is to give members and prospects the pleasure of a more pleasant and more impressive evening with one of the higher ranking officials of their order.

An important problem for the scouts now is to find an assistant scoutmaster able to take over the leadership while Welch is away on his summer vacation. Though agreeing to meet with the boys for an outing once a month, Welch does not feel that he can be here regularly for weekly meetings.

POPULAR ORCHESTRA OF WICHITA TO PLAY AT VALENTINE DANCE

Jack Raymond's orchestra of Wichita Falls, the band that won general favor with the local younger set at its first appearance here three weeks ago, has been engaged to play the Valentine Day dance at the K of C hall, Roy Endres disclosed this week.

Responding to numerous requests for a return of the Raymond band, Endres wrote for an engagement as soon as the Valentine dance was definitely decided. He was cheered by a prompt acceptance and news that the band was improved by the addition of another instrument.

BI-WEEKLY PAPER EDITED BY PUPILS OF PUBLIC SCHOOL

A school paper published bi-weekly by pupils of the higher elementary grades of the Muenster public school is proving to be an interesting and popular project in English.

News stories and personals concerning the school are solicited from both the grade and the high school department. Miss Mary Barker, project sponsor, reviews all copy then turns it back to students for publication. The "printing" consists of typing and running off on the school's multigraph.

K-C'S LAUNCH PROGRAM ON SOCIAL JUSTICE

Co-operate In General Movement of Order

Aim is to Defend Democracy And Christianity Against Modern Tendencies And Radical "isms"

Co-operating in a nation wide movement among Knights of Columbus councils to combat the evils of un-Christian tendencies and the dangers of radical "isms," Muenster members of the order voted Wednesday night to launch a program of Social Justice as their outstanding activity of the next several months.

To become acquainted with details of their program the council's officers and program leaders along with several other members will attend a district meeting at Gainesville on Tuesday night, February 14, when the entire program with its aims and a detailed system of presentation will be explained by a representative of the order's supreme council.

The first Social Justice meeting for the local council will probably be held the following week, Father Francis Zimmerer, grand knight, stated. State Deputy C. K. Walsh is invited to appear as guest speaker at that meeting and, by his more thorough understanding of the program, acquaint the general membership with an idea of results to be attained.

In stressing the timely importance of a social justice program Father Francis urged members to take a special interest in it and impose upon themselves a responsibility of inducing less active members to attend the series of meetings. The meetings will probably be held weekly during Lent.

Brief attention was given by the council to a letter from a Dr. McClellan of San Antonio urging opposition to a prepared bill which would legalize sterilization of certain state charges. He asks for vigilance concerning the introduction of that bill and for promptness in expressing disapproval if and when it appears.

Principal objections listed were that it is fundamentally opposed to Divine and natural laws, it is based on the uncertain assumption that mental deficiencies are hereditary, and it would result in many evils that would far outweigh its advantages.

INVITATION TO SING AT DALLAS CONCERT ACCEPTED BY CHOIR

For the third consecutive year the men's choir of Muenster will participate in the annual concert of the Frohsinn choir of Dallas. As a return engagement the Dallas singers will appear in a concert here.

Leo Henschel, director, and Al Kleiss, Albert Henschel, and Ben Luke accepted the invitation in behalf of their fellow choir members while in Dallas last Saturday conferring with Hugo Linartz, secretary of the Frohsinn singers. The concert is scheduled for March 26.

As in past years it will consist of German selections, several each from the Dallas and Muenster choirs, and several with both choirs singing together.

No date has been set for the return concert in Muenster.

AUTOMOBILE, TRUCK COLLIDE AT CURVE ON ROAD TO HAYS

Poor visibility at a curve was responsible for a truck-automobile crash last Thursday morning. W. R. Vestal of Hays, driving a light sedan, and J. T. Biffle, III, of Myra, driving a truck met in a head-on collision.

Neither of the drivers was injured, but the machines, though moving slowly at the time of impact, were badly damaged.

THEIR WAR, NOT OURS

There is something alarming about the growing conviction that our nation will soon be involved in another European war. Casual remarks reveal the fears of individuals, while current news releases and editorial comment too definitely aim at building antagonism against certain factions in the conflict which they regard as inevitable. Subtle forces of propaganda are in effect to create a hatred of Italy and Germany so that our people will be in the proper frame of mind to rush to the aid of their distressed friends.

A few years ago, all of us recall, there was a quite popular sentiment favoring a refusal to serve in war except in case of invasion. Although futile in that drafted men are not given a choice, the movement nevertheless showed a very sensible attitude. More of that same feeling would be in order now.

We have everything to lose and nothing to gain by meddling in the European mess. We discovered that after our futile victory in the war to preserve democracy. Present European conditions show that we did not bring about any improvements. Our sacrifice in life, money, and savings certainly were not benefits for us.

Why must we have agitators to keep prodding us on, to continue playing on sentiments until peaceful men are aroused to the point of demanding part in a conflict that is no concern of theirs! Those agitators, not any of the foreign powers, are our greatest enemies.

Europe has had its wars and survived for centuries before this nation was founded. It can continue making its hectic history for centuries more without our interference.

Some try to delude us into thinking this country will be doomed if the totalitarian nations are permitted too much power. But a little thought of our own will convince us that the combined forces of all Europe would have little chance to defeat us on American soil. Military experts claim that, defensively, we are a match for a force of twice our strength. The difficulty of crossing either ocean is a severe handicap and the possibility of landing foreign troops in the face of our defense is very remote. They further state that we are today the most powerful nation on earth.

Europe's lack of gratitude for our efforts in 1918 certainly is poor inducement to attempt another noble sacrifice. Our interests are here. We are safe here. Any movement to drag us into another European war is an attack on the welfare of this nation. It is treason, pure and simple. Every citizen, every leader, needs to get that through his skull.

A WORD TO THE WISE--

Developments of the past week seem to indicate that the Spanish war will not last much longer. At last, we believe, we see an end to the horrible price that a Christian people must pay to purge its native land of the Red Menace.

In a way the whole affair is no concern of ours except that we, as human beings, should be sympathetic to the millions who had to suffer. Aside from that we may regard it as a most unhappy result of a nation's failure to be on guard when the first seeds of ruthless despotism were sown.

Spain was too careless of her government, her traditions, culture, religion and liberty. When the Red agents began their destructive work they were ignored with a casual remark that efforts would be wasted in a Christian country. "It can't happen here." At the same time some abuses in Spain prompted the doubtful ones to embrace the false promises of Moscow. Red strength grew until it was in a position to exert election day violence and win the small majority needed to assume control.

Once the Leftists were in the saddle they lost little time instituting their system of tyranny. Religion and freedom were curtailed. Former Rightists were assassinated. Property was confiscated. Against such tyranny did the Rebels revolt.

Unfortunately there are many in this nation of ours, dedicated to the protection of right and liberty, who favor the Red Loyalists, sworn enemies of liberty and religion. Red propaganda misleads them even though they know of Moscow's aid, ruthless murder of religious, and wholesale destruction of property. They refuse to be impressed with the cheers welcoming Franco's forces on the entry of a new city, or the Nationalists' promptness in bringing provisions to a starved populace, or the peace and prosperity enjoyed by those in Nationalist territory.

Some day history books will tell the correct story of Spain's present struggle. But we cannot profit now by what will be said in future years. Our people's duty is to understand the Red aggression in Spain and its consequences, and profit by them.

The Red Menace is working for a foothold in this country. There are a sufficiently large number of abuses to encourage acceptance of Red promises by some of our less thoughtful Americans. Unless America is on guard it stands a chance of facing the same struggle Spain faces. She needs to sweep before her own doors, removing some of the faults that are not a product of democracy but plain human weaknesses developed, in spite of a sound constitution, through a disregard for the basic principles of Christianity and humanity.

Now, will somebody explain why a mother's statement should be rejected as less valid than that of an illiterate old man who happens to remember that a child was born in the neighborhood. Even though he can't identify this man as the same person he can mark his "X" on the spot and finish the job the stork started forty odd years ago.

Ever hear of William Dawes? Had it not been for Longfellow's famous "Listen, my children, and you shall hear—" he would probably be the one mentioned in history books instead of Paul Revere.

Old records, apparently reliable ones, tell how he was chosen official messenger to ride to Lexington with a warning that the British were coming. Revere was sent later with the same message, just in case Dawes should be captured. They met at Lexington and continued together toward Concord rousing the countryside. On the way Revere was captured but Dawes spurred his horse and made his escape. At this point he drops out of history and the unfortunate Revere becomes immortal.

Father Frowin seems to be really anxious to get rid of that hundred bucks for an acceptable rough plan for Muenster's proposed new church. Of course we all know what's going to happen. One plan will be accepted by the committee as the general idea but several others of those submitted will be carefully scanned for good ideas, and by the time all additions and changes are incorporated the winner will hardly recognize his work. We've got to give the padre credit for an effort to get every good idea in his parish. Besides that his hundred dollars is a mighty fine investment to avoid costly changes after construction is under way. It's smart to try getting all good ideas into the original plan.

In all probability construction will be delayed at least another year or two, but it is heartening to see an increase of interest in this, the community's 50th anniversary year. It marks one of the major steps in starting a bigger and better second half century. It fits perfectly with visions of continued growth that is destined before many years to make Muenster an attractive, buzzing, comfortable city—the home of a few industrial pursuits and the accepted trade center for an extensive radius of prosperous farm territory.

Such dreams have been mentioned in this column before, and not a few of them have evoked criticism. Like all cities this one has its percentage of persons who prefer the security of a bank account surplus to the comforts and opportunities their money could bring. No doubt they agree with us in wishing welfare and prosperity to their fellowmen. The point of disagreement is that they consider money more important than the things we propose to buy. Our hope, our accepted duty, is to encourage every reasonable improvement. There probably will be times when our visions extend beyond the bounds of practicability and in such cases we want to have our errors pointed out. Our columns are open to letters from any person who is willing to accept responsibility by signing his name to them. Naturally we reserve the privilege of rejecting any anonymous contributions. We want such letters not only because they save us work, but because they may present views helpful to the community.

All of which recalls the remark of one fellow who wanted to know "Why the incessant harping to do this or eliminate that. Why not be content to just print news and take it easy." Well, here are two strictly selfish reasons: Some day we hope to recall Muenster's progress with a feeling of satisfaction for our part in it; Right now we are looking forward to a better future for the town because we expect it to bring a better future for ourselves. Of course, we feel his selfishness is justifiable because the entire community would share the resulting welfare with us.

You who have studied Latin! What's the definition of advertising? Probably you're stumped even though you recognize an ad when you see it—unless you happen to remember such a word as "adverto," "to direct toward." Now the rest is easy: a message to direct a person's desires toward a certain thing.

In that sense we admit that this publication is an advertising sheet. Its purpose is to direct desires toward changes that will bring welfare and prosperity. Like a merchandise ad its success will be determined by how effectively it puts over the sales line. In this case the answer is in the distant future.

One of our citizens faces the embarrassing predicament of being unable to prove that he was born. He can't find a certificate nor any other official record of his birth, and, believe it or not, an affidavit from his mother is not considered as acceptable testimony. He regretfully admits that he's just a nobody.

But he's making every effort to establish his status as a somebody. He's driving several hundred miles across several states in the hope of finding an old neighbor who will distinctly remember that such and such a tiny tot, born only a short time before the family moved away, is actually this man. On that testimony, valid only because the old neighbor is supposed to be a disinterested person, our friend is about to be of-
