Congratulations are in order to Federal Judge Marion Callister for his ruling that Congress lacked authority to extend the deadline for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment and for a second ruling that states acted within their rights in rescinding their approval.

It can be assumed that the rulings will be referred to a higher court. ERA supporters are at the moment of decision. They have to either make a desperate effort to save their proposed change or see it fade out permanently. If the judge's decision is accepted, it means first that there will be no further ratification by states, and furthermore that five previous ratifications are nullified. Instead of needing approval by only three more states, ERA has lost the OK of the five which changed their vote.

To many of us it is surprising that Callister's decision was so long in coming. We thought in 1978, when Congress extended the deadline for ERA ratification, that the lawmakers were out of line, also that it was not right or reasonable to deny the validity of a changed vote. Any fair minded person would think that a state had as much right to say no as yes.

For these reasons it now seems unlikely that ERA can get a reversal of decision by appealing the case. The facts are unchanged. The original act of Congress violated fairness and common sense, and Judge Callister has so decreed. To reverse his decision would be to support the original boners of Congress.

Perhaps it's more correct to say that the congressional act of '78 was not just a mistake. This seems more like political arm-twisting in an atmosphere of shallow thinking. Congressmen were sold on the idea that ERA was too great to be passed up and had to be given another chance. People overlooked the possibility that ERA may not be that great, and even if it were, the end does not justify the means. This was a matter of violating one law to pass another law.

When ERA was introduced, the provision was that it would become the 27th amendment to the constitution if ratified by three fourths of the states within seven years...meaning that 38 states would have to approve on or before March 29, 1979. This was regarded as a reasonable time limit set by a two-thirds vote of congress.

Amendment supporters were pleased for a few years while the states were falling in line, but they got uneasy after the 35th ratification in 1977. Another problem was that word was spreading of states which changed their minds but were not allowed to withdraw from the ratification list. So ERA resorted to a final desperate step, to have the deadline extended hoping that intensive picketing would bring in the additional ratifications. An unthinking congress cooperated, and now a judge tries to correct the mistake.

The Court's decision in this matter was announced a week ago, and up to now it has been challenged little if any by the ERA people, a p-

John Cunningham's home, above, was named Number 1 in the city, and Paul Sicking's home at Myra, below, was named best of the rural displays in this year's residential Christmas lighting contest. Sponsored by the Muenster Knights of Columbus Council, the contest encouraged keeping Christ in Christmas and eligibility was restricted to displays relating to the first Christmas. Joe Hoenig, chairman of the contest conducted a panel of three out-of-town judges on their judging tour Monday night, the 21st. They made a complete tour of the city and drove to homes to which they had been asked out of town. Their selections in Muenster were as follows: John Cunningham, first, Harvey Schmitt, second, Alvin Fuhrman, third, Val Fuhrmann, honorable mention. In the rural area, they were: Paul Sicking, first, Gerry Walterscheid, second, Gilbert Hess, third.

'81 building permits total $321,500

Building permits in Muenster during 1981 amounted to $321,500, according to city records reported by Steve Mosler. Of that amount $144,000 was credited to construction of three new homes, $9,000 to residential remodeling and $168,500 to commercial construction.

The figure reflects the least building activity Muenster has had since $226,100 in 1974, and in spite of allowance for seven years of inflation, it probably represents less building than then. It certainly represents a new low in home building. Contrasting with 3 this year, there were 6 in 1980, 7 homes and 2 mobile homes in 1979, 15 homes and 1 mobile home in 1978, 12 homes and 2 mobile homes in 1977, 10 homes and 2 mobile homes in 1976. The present slump is blamed principally on high prices and high interest rates.

The worst slump of local business activity dates back to the three years of 1968-70 when 20 homes and 14 mobile homes were built, but no commercial structures. The biggest years on record are 1962 for $871,300, including the hospital, and 1975 for $946,750 including the AM-PI plant.

The actual value of building this year can probably be estimated at a million dollars or more. First, because quoted figures are usually conservative; second because a permit is not needed for remodel or repair jobs unless they involve adding space, and several projects did not need additional space; and finally, because permits are not needed for rural building, which usually is about equal to city building. Combining those factors probably increases the total to four times the permit figures.

The residential homes of the year were built for Kim Walterscheid, Don Grewing and Jim Voth. The principal commercial project was the addition to First Baptist Church and others were additions by Hofbauer's Store, Bruno Fleitman, H&W Meat Co and Gilbert Endres, Distributor. Major residential additions were for Robert Hamer, Joe Koessler, Clifford Sicking, Thomas Hesse and Mrs. Katie Bernauer.

Proof of liability insurance needed after January 1

Compulsory liability insurance becomes effective in Texas on January 1, 1982. Thereafter all drivers must be prepared to show proof of compliance as they are now expected to be able to show a valid driver's license.

This regulation is made necessary by the Texas Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act requiring motor vehicles operating on roads, streets and highways of the state to be covered by liability insurance in at least the minimum amounts ($10,000-$20,000 - $5,000).

Vehicles exempt from the compulsory insurance are: government owned vehicles; vehicles for which a bond, certificate of deposit of money or securities in the minimum of $25,000 is on file with the DPS; vehicles that are self insured; vehicles registered and operated by persons who are not residents of the state, except vehicles operated primarily in the state; vehicles operating under Railroad

plementations of husbandry.

Owners and/or operations of motor vehicles are required to furnish information concerning evidence of financial responsibility upon request of a law enforcement officer. This evidence should include the name of the insured, effective dates of coverage, insurance company, policy number or certificate number, and the minimum amounts of financial responsibility required by statute.

DPS policy will be to accept evidence of responsibility in the following forms: the insurance policy; an instrument issued by the insurance company to be carried in the vehicle; a DPS letter acknowledging receipt of bond, certificate of deposit of money or securities in amount of $25,000 or more; certificate of self-insurance issued by DPS; Railroad Commission cab cards. Copies of forementioned documents or other evidence confirming to satisfaction of this officer that the driver is in compliance.

Evidence of financial responsibility will be requested by a DPS officer of the owner and/or operator of a motor vehicle in all traffic stops or investigations of motor vehicle accidents. Written warnings will be issued to violators. After receipt of a warning, violators may be issued a citation for continued willful violations. At the conclusion of the warning period DPS is authorized to initiate enforcement action in accordance with established guidelines.

The new law makes driving without liability insurance a Class C misdemeanor punishable by a minimum fine of $75. A subsequent offense will be considered a Class B misdemeanor punishable by a fine of at least $200.

Herman Dangelmayr, 74 lifetime resident dies

Funeral service for Herman Dangelmayr, 74, native and lifetime resident of Muenster, was held Thursday, December 24, 2 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church with Bishop Thomas Tschoepe officiating and Bishop Augustine Dangelmayr, Monsignor John Brady, and Fathers Dan O'Connor, Denis Soerries and Stephen Eckart concelebrating in the Mass of Christian Burial. The Sacred Heart Choral Group also participated.

In his funeral message Father Denis referred to the death as a sadness that was intensified by the shock of suddenness. However, in a spiritual sense it was a happy occasion. Herman was home for Christmas celebrating the most beautiful feast with his Savior.

Burial was in the Sacred Heart Cemetery directed by Nick Miller Funeral home. Pallbearers were nephews:

Herman Dangelmayr

Jim Dangelmayr, John Dangelmayr, John D. Fleitman, Jerry Fleitman, Norbert Felderhoff and A.J. Felderhoff. Rosary service was held Wednesday at 4 and 8 p.m. in the chapel of Nick Miller Funeral Home. Herman Dangelmayr died

Tuesday night in Westgate Hospital, Denton, of a heart attack suffered a few days before.

He was born in Muenster, September 29, 1907, a son of pioneer residents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dangelmayr, and was married to Elfreda Walterscheid on November 14, 1939. He was a farmer and stockman and a 50 year member of the Muenster K of C Council.

Survivors are his wife, Elfreda; one daughter, Betty Ann Trubenbach of Muenster; three sons, Billy, Paul and Joey Dangelmayr, all of Muenster; thirteen grandchildren; one great-grandchild; three brothers, Bishop Augustine Dangelmayr, Joe Dangelmayr and Albert Dangelmayr, all of Muenster; and three sisters, Mrs. Hubert Felderhoff, Mrs. Tony Felderhoff and Mrs. Bruno Fleitman, all of Muenster.

Sale of Cooke oil, gas totals $90 million

110 wells completed in '81

The sale of Crude oil and Natural gas from Cooke County wells in 1980 boosted the county economy and accounted for $90.8 million of the $31.2-billion value placed on Texas production last year.

In a report on the economic impact of oil and gas industry operations in the top producing counties of Texas, Dallas-based Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association said the county ranked 85th among Texas' 254 counties on the basis of the value of its marketed petroleum production. This includes condensate and casinghead gas.

The county's wells produced 4-million barrels of crude oil, valued at $7.6-million, and 2.2 million Mcfs of natural gas, valued at $3.2-million. Owners of royalty in the county received $11.4-million as their share of the output, the Association said.

"Although crude oil and natural gas production in Texas declined slightly last year from 1979 levels, we in the industry are encouraged by the fact that drilling starts in 1980 were up 16-percent over the previous year," said the Association's chairman, Avery Rush, Jr., of Amarillo.

"Since petroleum remains the cornerstone of our state's economy and its tax base, Texas must continue to encourage the development of its energy resources," Rush added.

In addition to paying local, county, and state property taxes, producers in the county also supported state government through production tax payments estimated at $4.3-million, according to the Association. Crude oil taxes amounted to $4.1-million while natural gas levies totalled $241,502.

Based on Texas Employment

Commission figures, some 958 oil and gas industry employees in the county received wages of about $15-million in 1980.

In the search for new petroleum reserves in the county, oil and gas operators spent a reported $9.1-million in the drilling 110 wells, including four wildcat, or exploratory, wells.

This effort resulted in the completion of 68 oil wells, although some $3.1-million was lost in the drilling of 42 dry holes. As of March, 1981, there were 2,550 producing wells in the county; 2,546 oil and four gas.

Petroleum processing also contributed to the county economy, with two natural gasoline plants, having a total daily capacity of 27.5-million cubic feet of natural gas, and one petrochemical plant in operation.

WHO ARE THE TRULY NEEDY?

By Edwin Feulner

How would you like to donate three buses to a rich ski resort or pay for translation of Playboy magazine into Braille? Well, according to Congressman Jerry Solomon (R-NY), it's too late. As United States taxpayers, you already did.

The federal budget now comes to more than $700 billion a year, but some members of Congress just can't find the nerve to make any cuts. The 1982 budget, actually, will be more than $50 billion greater than the 1981 budget, even after the 'budget cuts' are implemented. Despite this $50 billion increase, many legislators still argue that belt tightening will result in millions of Americans being thrown out into the streets. But I wondered about that when I looked at some examples pointed out by Representative Solomon:

- An affluent ski resort in Aspen, Colorado, will get three new buses, courtesy of a recent federal grant. Total cost to transport the rich vacationers to the slopes? $352,000.
- The Library of Congress spends $100,000 a year to reproduce and distribute a Braille edition of Playboy magazine. The pictures are obviously not reproduced in Braille, but the jokes and advice columns are.
- The National Endowment for Arts and Humanities was established to enrich this country's cultural life. To that end, last year the agency paid a music teacher $90,000 to compose and produce historical musicals. For our money we received a musical on Watergate, including the chorus:

*"It works! It really works!
Even when evil lurks.
When men in high places try to administer
A cover-up of something sinister.
There really is a solution.
Because we uphold our Constitution."*

You don't have to be a critic of the arts to wonder if we got our money's worth.

• The National Science Foundation awarded a Dartmouth College researcher $58,000 to study faces and how people react to them. Presumably, the study will not include the look on a taxpayer's face when he finds out how his money is being spent.

• Thanks to the Voting Rights Act, bilingual ballots are forced on states and municipalities, running up unnecessary costs. For example, last year in San Bernardino, California, more than $108,000 was spent to provide ballot and election materials in languages other than English. Only 113 bilingual ballots were used in their 1980 election at a cost of over $950 per ballot.

• Naturally, Congress does not scrimp when it comes to spending money on itself. A few years ago, the Senate decided to build a new office building at a cost of $48 million. The 'great white elephant' is not yet completed, but the estimated construction costs have escalated past $137 million already.

What is most disturbing about these stories is that few legislators seem to care when another example of foolish government spending is revealed. They treat the tax dollar like play money. Yet a billion dollars is an enormous amount of money. After all, if every resident of any one congressional district sent the government $2,000, the total would be just over a billion dollars. Should we just shrug our shoulders when our hard-earned money is frittered away?

Letter to the Editor...

Dear Sir:
Read, with interest, your recent column regarding the Arkansas law suit concerning the origin of man.

Probably the inspired writers of the bible never intended it as a scientific text. Yet the bible's account of creation, can, according to some experts, fit in acceptably with scientific teaching on the evolution of the universe.

According to Anthony Wilhelm's thoughts, "God brings the world to realization, not by continual interventions, stepping in to 'make' this or that-but in such a way that the higher emerges from the lower, by evolution." "He is continually creating as he activates the whole gigantic, unfolding process."

Many recently published writings by noted paleontologists, philosophers theologians like Teilhard deChardin, Alfred North Whitehead, Henri de Lubac and others pose new concepts on man's evolution physically, and most notably spiritually man is learning more about himself and the Cosmos every century. This continual study and probing indicates man is just now emerging from the tertiary age and has not quite come in to full bloom yet. Perhaps there is much more to be learned and it would be wiser to combine the "theology" of creation with the "science" of evolution into just one total "course of study." The text books may not be written yet but they can and will be authored.

After all, most anyone knows scientifically, (carbon tests etc.) that earth is more than 10,000 "man years" old and religiously that some omnipotent power had to gather the matter together to light the fuse for "The Big Bang".

Dear Virginia:

I have been meaning to write to you and all of your family for some time. In answer to your question, "Is there really a Santa Claus?": Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus, but his real name isn't Uncle Sam.

You see, grownups sometimes don't understand the difference between the real world and the world as we wish it was. They get fantasy and reality mixed up and look to Uncle Sam to be able to do things that he just isn't cut out to do.

Santa Claus is as real as Uncle Sam. In our country, both symbolize a lot of very good things that we enjoy as citizens.

It is Uncle Sam, in particular, that I would like to talk to you about today. While he, too, has a white beard and dresses in funny clothing, he seldom is given to belly-shaking chuckles in this day and age. In fact, he is a very worried man right now. Some of us in Washington are doing all that we can in Congress to help him out of his current problems, but, Virginia, we need some help from you as well.

We need for you, and your parents, and all of your neighbors, to make sure that their "wish lists" are realistic and that they are sent to the right person.

In the past several years, we have reached the point where we began to be accustomed to Uncle Sam doing everything for us "individuals" that sometimes we should be doing for ourselves. And some of the things we expect from Uncle Sam probably come under the province of Santa Claus, because Uncle Sam just can't afford to give everyone everything.

Virginia, I don't want to draw you a picture of Uncle Sam that depicts him as Mister Scrooge, because he is a very, very generous friend to many people in our own country and to many other countries around the world. He represents a generous nation that responds as has no other country in history to those who are in need, whether living here or in poorer nations.

The problem is that, as generous as Uncle Sam might like to be, for a long, long time he really hasn't had the money to just throw it away. Right now, in Congress, we are carefully going over the "wish list" and trying to weed out those things that are not absolutely necessary, in order that Uncle Sam can continue to take care of those who desperately need his help and have no one else to turn to, not even Santa Claus.

I hope that you and I — and Uncle Sam — never forget that there are those who do need our help. I pray that the spirit of generosity that has served as the very heart of this country continues to beat loud and strong.

Uncle Sam isn't Santa Claus, Virginia, nor is he Mister Scrooge. Remember that when well-meaning grownups would try to convince you otherwise.

COUNCIL ON FOREIGN RELATIONS
I recently read a statement with profound significance. It stated that the last American military men "who ever savored victory," are the Veterans of World War II. Think about it! That war closed in 1945 as a clear-cut victory for America. Our entire nation looked with pride upon the achievements of our men in World War I and again in World War II.

Then came the war in Korea 1950-53; this was totally different. General MacArthur was in charge of the soldiers in Korea. He had the men and the means to have won that war very decisively, but the orders from Washington did not permit him to proceed to win the war. He was told where to stop.

A line of demarcation was set-up beyond which he was not to go. The enemy could cross that line and attack and then run back across the line and be secure. MacArthur came home to discuss the matter with the people in Washington. He was permitted to deliver a joint address before the House and Senate. He was heard on national TV. He explained why they should win the war and begged for permission to win the war. According to reports at that time, Truman was confused as to what to do. He had on his hands the most popular General in the world who was in the midst of a war and who was begging for permission to win it. President Truman seemed constrained from unknown sources to give approval. He delayed. According to reports at that time he got advice from England — a country that did not necessarily have at heart our best interest. Churchill said: "Fire him." Truman followed the Churchill advice and fired MacArthur; then he sent out General Eisenhower who did follow Washington directions. He failed to win the war, but finally signed an Armistice. Now we have been keeping men over there guarding that Armistice line for 28 years, and no treaty has yet been signed.

Had MacArthur been allowed to win that war, there would probably have been no Vietnam War and the entire history of the Orient would likely have been very different.

But what really disturbed Americans most was the appearance of a strange situation in Washington. It appeared that there was some force able to pressure President Truman into making a decision that was probably against his own best judgment and certainly against the best interests of the nation.

Consequently, something happened to the spirit of American patriotism. It has never been the same since. Then came in 1961 the Vietnam War. Fighting dragged on for nine years. Many Americans believed it could have been won any time in nine months if the American forces had been allowed to follow the directives of their own Generals on the ground and allowed to fight for a termination of the war and a final victory. But again, boundaries were established from Washington beyond which American soldiers were not to pass even though the enemy could cluster behind those boundaries, cross over for attack at night and then jump back again before daylight and be on sacred territory. It appeared to many Americans that the war was being so directed from Washington as to prevent victory. When a cease fire was finally declared at the end of nine years of fighting, the American soldiers came home, but they came not to a victor's welcome; their reception was, in reality, a disgrace.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The American system of free enterprise is based both upon the belief in maximum free choice for all individuals — and upon the fact that it is undeniably the most effective way for an economy to function.

When government disrupts the market system, the results generally have tended to be disastrous. Natural gas regulation is perhaps a classic example.

We all remember the period in the 1970s in which much of the nation suffered severe natural gas shortages, even though our nation possesses vast resources of that fuel. The problem was that the interstate regulated price was so low that producers could not afford to pump and send the gas. Texas, which had unregulated intrastate prices, had negligible problems that same year.

In 1978 Congress passed the Natural Gas Policy Act, providing for phased-in deregulation of natural gas, with many price controls to be lifted 1985. The object was to let the cost of natural gas rise to a level comparable with that of oil. This limited and phased decontrol caused both a sharp increase in the level of natural gas supplies, and spurred conservation.

Now, however, further action is needed. The price of oil has risen at a much faster rate than was envisioned when the deregulatory legislation was conceived. Thus, natural gas still is selling at an artificially low level. That means there is less incentive to produce and conserve, gas is being used for purposes for which other fuels would be more efficient, and the stage is being set for a drastic price when controls expire in 1985.

Our recent experience with decontrol of crude oil prices shows that fears for precipitous price increases are unfounded. Doomsayers predicted sharp rises in gasoline prices when oil controls were lifted, but the increase was minimal — and most of that was the result of a simultaneous rise in OPEC prices.

It is my belief that we would see the same pattern with more immediate natural gas deregulation. With the incentive of a free market, production would increase to a point that competition would control prices.

Too, energy users could make decisions based upon realistic prices, and use the most appropriate fuel for a specific purpose.

I believe that the Administration will propose a workable deregulation bill in 1982. Its success in Congress will depend in part, of course, upon the specific proposal. However, in my view there is growing realization in Congress that some sort of action is necessary.

Unfortunately, I also must report that I believe there will be inexorable pressure for some sort of windfall profits tax. I oppose such taxes in principle. Experience with the so-called windfall profits tax on crude oil has demonstrated that such a tax inhibits our progress toward energy self-sufficiency.

What the legislative outcome of the debate over windfall profits taxes will be is unclear. Certainly, I will do everything that I can to minimize punitive taxes on the natural gas producers whose product is so vital to the economy of the United States as a whole, and to Texas.

ossible indication that even they can see the unfairness and illegality of the favoritism they had received. It stands to reason that if the original conditions of ratification were violated, any further agreements would have to be invalid. Even supporters have to admit to that. As regards withdrawals from the validation list, it seems high handed to claim that a properly elected state legislature can vote one way on an issue but not the other way.

Phyllis Schlafly, a dedicated opponent of the ERA amendment since it was first proposed, refers to Judge Callister's ruling as a great victory for constitutional integrity and fairness, and government by law instead of by demand of special interest groups.

She also referred to it as a tremendous victory for women. She believes in traditional standards of courtesy and respect rather than a society of confrontation of the sexes. A clue to the real nature of ERA is indicated in the favoritism its supporters demanded and received in the deal extension issue. What can be expected of an amendment with an illegal and unfair origin?

CCC will register January 7-8

Business is brisk in the Registrar's Office and Counseling Center at Cooke County College where students are completing preparations for spring semester enrollment. Registration for the 1982 spring semester at CCC will be held January 7-8 (Thursday and Friday). Times are 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 4:30 to 8 p.m. on Thursday and from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Friday. Classes for the upcoming spring term begin on January 7. "Persons who are planning to attend CCC this spring should come by the Registrar's Office as soon as possible to pick up a registration time permit," urges director of counseling Bill Caver. Caver adds that students who have not attended CCC before also need to come in to complete all necessary paperwork related to admissions. "This includes filling out an application for admissions form, turning in an immunization certificate and supplying the college with official high school transcripts, if the student is an entering freshman, or a transcript from the last college attended if the student is a transfer," he explains. CCC registrar Dr. Don Stafford adds that GED certification is acceptable for students who did not graduate high school. For older students who are entering college for the first time, high school transcripts (or GED certification) need not be submitted if the student graduated more than five years ago. "Although all these admissions materials are important and must be completed and turned in, the most important thing for new students to do right now is to fill out an application for admission and pick up a time permit to register," Dr. Stafford emphasizes. All persons planning to enroll this spring, including returning students as well as those entering CCC for the first time, also must schedule an appointment to see a college counselor prior to registration. Caver explains that obtaining an early registration time will assure students of getting the courses they need at the times and on the days that best suit their schedules. Certain popular courses also fill up quickly and could be closed to students attempting to sign up at the last minute. "Another important incentive for coming in right away is to be sure than an appointment with a counselor can be set up without too much delay," Caver says. Counselors will be available in the Counseling Center, Room 108 on campus, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday; from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday evenings; and from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Fridays. Students should remember, however, that college offices (including the Counseling Center and Registrar's Office) will be closed December 31-January 1 for the New Year holidays. In addition to the two days scheduled for regular registration this spring, three days of late registration also have been slated for Monday through Wednesday (January 11-13). Persons wishing to obtain additional information about admission to Cooke County College or about upcoming registration should contact the CCC Registrar's Office at 817-668-7731, extension 242, or the Counseling Center at extension 216.

Scouts hold Court of Honor

Six Muenster Boy Scouts received merit badges and advancements at a combined court of honor and Christmas party held on December 21. The presentations were made by John Walterscheid, assistant scoutmaster. James Bright received merit badges in Citizenship in the World and in Safety. Stephen Vogel received a merit badge in Safety. Three Scouts, Pat Hellman, Allen Hudspeth and Mike Walter, received advancements to Tenderfoot and to Second Class as their mothers received mother's pins. In addition Mike Walter received a merit badge for citizenship in the community. Ronnie Walterscheid received advancement to First Class and his mother received a mother's pin. Other presentations were special awards to Scoutmaster Waylen Poole by Committee Chairman Henry Weinzapfel. Categories were National Camping Award, Camporee Award of Merit and Honor, and Camporee Second Place Award. Banners were then attached to the Scout flag by Ronnie Fisher, senior patrol leader. ## Area accidents up 2.9%

Captain J.A. Dumas has released accident statistics for November 1981, for the eleven county area comprising highway patrol district 1-A. The summary shows an increase of only 2.9 percent over 1980, with only 6 fatalities for the month compared to 12 deaths for last year; however, total deaths for the year are up 12.1 percent over the eleven month period last year. Rockwall and Hunt counties each had two fatal accidents resulting in one death in each accident. Other counties with deaths in rural areas were Tarrant and Grayson with one each. Denton county with 55 accidents heads the list followed by Grayson with 41, Kaufman 35, Collin 34, Cooke 32, Hunt 31, Lamar 25, Tarrant 16, Fannin 12, Rockwall 6 and Delta county recorded only one accident for the month. One hundred sixty people were injured in one hundred five injury accidents during the month, showing a slight decrease in injuries. The one car accident has claimed the most lives so far this year, indicating a speed too fast for driving conditions at the time of the accident. Accidents and injuries are most often occurring at night or at a time such as foggy conditions when visibility is restricted. Captain Dumas asks motorists to be alert when driving, especially during inclement weather conditions and make sure your windows are clear for better visibility. He also states that 98.5 percent of those killed last year were not wearing their seat belts. Several fatalities which have occurred this month could easily have been prevented if drivers had been wearing seat belts.

City approved for $24,500 flood relief

Disaster relief in the amount of $24,500 has been approved for the city by the federal government as compensation for damages done to city property during the recent flood. This represents 75% of estimated damage sustained, the remaining 25% to be paid by the city. The damages were itemized as follows: Sewer plant $21,321; streets $2,108; park debris $816; park streets and pool $8,480; making a total of $32,725.

Christmas features DAR meeting

Christmas was the feature of the December 12 meeting of the Francis Lightfoot Lee Chapter of DAR in the Masonic Temple of Era. Carols, scenes of a Colonial Christmas, and other seasonal decor enhanced the setting.

Mrs. William Basinger presented the Christmas program consisting of a reading from Luke 2:8-20 followed by a review of traditions and history of the Christmas tree. Mrs. Basinger also presented "The American's Creed."

With Mrs. Gordon Smith Sr. regent, presiding, the meeting opened ritualistically with prayer and benediction and the pledge of allegiance led by Mrs. Edward Dale, chaplain.

Mrs. Marvin Maberry, historian, gave the national defense report and members participated in the discussion.

Mrs. Smith, hostess, served a refreshment plate. The next meeting date was set for January 9 in the home of Mrs. Dale with Mrs. Maberry presenting a program on "Women of the American Revolution."

Cooke County College accreditation reaffirmed

Cooke County College officials were notified last week that the school's accreditation has been reaffirmed by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS).

Official notification of reaffirmation of accreditation came during the annual SACS meeting held this year in Dallas.

CCC President Dr. Alton Laird, who attended the meeting, explains that accreditation is valid for the next 10 years, provided the college maintains its current quality instructional standards, sound fiscal management policies and effective operational practices.

Dr. Laird points out that SACS is the official accrediting agency for public colleges and universities throughout the geographic area of the U.S. encompassing 11 southern states from Texas to Florida.

"The importance and significance of this accreditation process is profound," Dr. Laird reports, "especially to the students who enroll at Cooke County College."

"This is because course work which is completed at a school that is not accredited is worth very little. Students would have little success in transferring credits from a non-accredited community college to an accredited four-year school. Moreover, vocational training obtained by students from a non-accredited school would probably not be looked upon favorably by prospective employers, and rightly so."

Anheuser-Busch sales up 28 percent

Anheuser-Busch, Inc., the world's largest brewer, achieved a 28.6 percent volume sales increase in Texas markets during the third quarter of 1981, it was announced by August A. Busch III, chairman of the board and president of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc.

During the third quarter of 1981, Anheuser-Busch achieved beer volume sales of 923,652 barrels in Texas, Mr. Busch said, compared to the 718,180 barrels sold during the third quarter of 1980.

Third quarter sales were placed by the company's premium Budweiser brand, which achieved a sales volume increase of 33.8 percent and by its premium Michelob brand sales increase of 9.9 percent in the state.

Nationally, Mr. Busch reported beer volume sales for the third quarter of 1981 of 14.5 million barrels, an 8.3 percent increase compared with 13.4 million barrels sold during the third quarter of 1980. Beer volume sales for the first nine months of 1981 were 41.4 million barrels, an 8.9 percent increase compared with 38.1 million barrels for the same period the previous year.

Anheuser-Busch's sales volume establishes company and brewing industry records for any quarter or nine-month period in history.

Typical carcass during stimulation

2 second rest period      2 second pulse period

When a carcass is stimulated a lot of body heat is dissipated in a hurry. Extra bleeding occurs and reduces chances of spoilage and excessive trim loss. Once in the cooler, proper chill can be reached hours earlier, saving money and energy. Now why a higher cherry red color appears. All grading time, about 6% of the carcasses move up to a higher grade. Heat ring and cold shortening are negligible. Aging time is far less (3 days instead of 7 or 7 instead of 21).

Checklist of Benefits

- Energy savings. Reach chill temperature 1-4 hours sooner
- Less dripping
- Less spoilage
- Less shrink and trip loss
- Shorter aging times up to 66% less time in cooler
- Improved quality and flavor
- 25% increased tenderness
- About 6% move up a grade, better color, more visible marbling, less heat ring, reduced re-grade
- Lower the Ph level
- Eliminate cold shortening and dark cutters.

Our hearts overflow with sincere appreciation for all who expressed their love and sympathy in so many ways during our recent sorrow in loss of our husband and father. Special mention to Father Stephen, Dr. Antonetti and the outstanding staff of the Muenster Memorial Hospital. Also, gratitude to the Catholic Daughters of America and the Knights of Columbus. In addition many thanks for the many Mass offerings, flowers and food and a sincere thank you to all of our thoughtful relatives, neighbors and friends.

Phone service tax drops 1%

There's a Christmas present of sorts for telephone users this year. On Jan. 1 the federal excise tax on telephone service will drop from 2 percent to 1 percent, the Muenster Telephone Corporation and Valley View Telephone Co. announced today. But the tax won't disappear entirely at the end of the year, as Congress voted several years ago. This year's tax bill postpones that, keeping it 1 percent until Jan. 1, 1985. Next year's drop will save telephone customers approximately $516 million, according to estimates by the U.S. Independent Telephone Association. Some $116 million of the amount will be saved by customers of the Independent telephone companies. The association represents the interests of the nation's 1,500 non-Bell System telephone companies serving more than 36 million phones—one out of every five in the nation. The telephone tax was imposed by Congress during World War I as a "temporary" measure. Although repealed briefly after the war, it was reinstated during the Depression and at one time rates were as high as 25 percent on long distance calls and 15 percent on local service. Several years ago Congress voted to gradually eliminate the tax, which had stood at 10 percent for almost 20 years. In recent years it has dropped 1 percent each year and was scheduled to be eliminated at the end of 1982. However, legislation enacted in 1980 continued the tax at 2 percent through 1981. The latest bill allows the decrease to 1 percent in 1982 but continues it at that rate through 1984. Further information is available from Alvin Fuhrman, manager.

SH wins two from Valley View Eagles

Sacred Heart varsity teams took both ends of their two game series with Valley View in the SHHS gym Tuesday night. Tigerettes started the good work by overcoming a first quarter deficit and gaining the rest of the way.

The Valley View girls were ahead 10-6 the first period after which the Tigerettes improved constantly for leads of 18-16, 30-26 and 43-37 in the remaining periods.

Anne Felderhoff was at her season's best in pouring 23 points through the net. Also Susie Walterscheid scored 8, Carol Walterscheid 6, Rose Felderhoff 4, Connie Stoffels 2.

The Tiger game was Sacred Heart's all the way. To begin they soared to leads of 19-3 and 33-8 in the first and second periods. After that Coach LeBrasseur slowed his reserves to get some experience. Every player got a chance at the action. During that time the visitors gained and ended at the short end of 63-34.

Brian Herr headed SH scoring with 20 points, TJ Walterscheid had 13, Gene Fuhrman 9, Greg Walterscheid 6, Neil Hesse 4, Gene Haverkamp 3, Duane Haverkamp 2.

MHS girls nudge SHHS 41-40

Persistence and coolness paid off for the MHS Hornets last week Monday. Though trailing all the way they pulled ahead 41-40 with 22 seconds to go and held on until the final buzzer. It was their only lead of the entire game.

As a starter Sacred Heart jumped to a 10-2 first quarter lead, after which the Hornets trimmed the margin by 2 points in the next two periods. Scoring was even through most of the fourth as MHS kept pushing but could not get closer than four points, that is, not until the final four minutes.

The Tigers then led 35-31. A minute later MHS trailed by three and at 56 seconds to go Sacred Heart led 40 to 38. Seconds later Charlotte Fleitman tied the score with two free throws and at 22 seconds before the end she took the lead with another free throw.

The win upped the Hornette record to 7-4, a great improvement over last year's three wins for all the season. For that Coach Peters is very pleased. "Hustle is their big asset," he said, "they don't have lots of quickness, size or shooting skill, but they keep plugging."

Scorers for MHS were Stephanie Richey 13, Sandy Wimmer 11, Charlotte Fleitman 8, Carla Walterscheid 5, Jill Walterscheid 2, Kyla Hale 2.

For the Tigerettes they were Carol Walterscheid 10,

Anne Felderhoff 10, Susan Walterscheid 8, Marilynn Hartman 4, Laurie Endres 4, Jenny Felderhoff 2, Karla Hartman 2.

Another meeting of the Sacred Heart and Muenster High girls, as well as the Tigers and Hornets, is scheduled for Saturday night, Jan. 2, in the MHS gym. Also, Sacred Heart will host Saint Jo Tuesday night, the 29th.

treat of a candy-filled Christmas stocking and a crocheted Santa tree ornament made by Mrs. Al Horn.

Hostesses for the afternoon class were Mrs. Gary Walterscheid accompanied by son Jeremy, Mrs. Chuck Fisher and daughter Maggie, Mrs. Ed. Otto, accompanied by son Jonathan. Guests were roommother, Mrs. Jerry Schmitz and children Misty and Tina; also Karen Barnhill. Refreshments were punch and Christmas cookies. Each child received candy treats and a ceramic Santa mug made by Mrs. Gary Walterscheid. In both classes the pupils exchanged gifts and enjoyed a visit by Santa Claus.

Tigers bow to Big Red power

Sacred Heart's game with Gainesville last week Monday night did not look especially good on the score board but it was great for experience. The 72-42 loss doesn't really count when the gap in classification is A to 3A. As pointed out by Tiger Coach Jon LeBrasseur, Sacred Heart could have kept it interesting with five on each side, but being out-manned by long odds made a big difference.

The Tigers made a strong start and led 19-13 at the first quarter. While still fresh they hit about 50 percent of the shots and the Leopards were cold. But Leopards improved in the next period for a 33-31 half time lead.

From then Gainesville shut down the Tigers with a full court press, and wore them down in the process. Sacred Heart had a big job getting the ball out of its end of the court and had a bad average on their few shots within range. In the process the Leopards made lots of steals and the Tigers lots of fouls. The net result was a runaway. SH was outscored 12-5 in the third period, 27-6 in the fourth period.

Brian Herr led the Tiger effort with 12 points, TJ Walterscheid was next with 11 and Neil Hesse hit 8.

REvised tax laws, planning favor businesses

New tax laws give individuals and businesses a chance to cut their 1981 taxes—but not without careful planning.

Recently signed legislation—the Economic Recovery Act of 1981—makes sweeping changes in many federal tax laws, says

Dr. Richard Edwards, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Changes in asset depreciation, investment tax credit, leasing, inventory methods and tax rates can all help reduce the tax bite for 1981, particularly as they relate to agribusinesses.

Depreciation

Depreciation of business assets is the most significant of the changes, said Edwards. What was previously a complex matter dictated by IRS guidelines, the depreciation process has been simplified through the Accelerated Cost Recovery System (ACRS). ACRS recognizes the difference between the economic and usable lives of equipment, and most important, allows businesses to recover a portion of their equipment costs over a much more realistic time period.

Classes of depreciable assets have been reduced to three—15-year, 5-year and 3-year, Edwards said. Most light trucks and cars fall into the 3-year class; fixtures and equipment, the 5-year group; and buildings, the 15-year class. Additionally, the depreciation method is accelerated and changes gradually over the next five years.

The new depreciation table is structured so that December purchases receive the full tax write-off, thus allowing more flexibility in year-end tax planning.

An alternative to ACRS allows a straight-line depreciation for periods equal to or longer than the life of the property class the equipment would be in if the ACRS was implemented said Edwards.

Investment credit

New tax laws also have simplified and liberalized investment tax credit. The time that eligible property must be held to receive the full 10 percent tax credit has been reduced from seven to five years. Another change is that 6 percent credit is allowed on some eligible assets after just three years.

An additional change relates to the recapture of investment credit (if credit is taken and then the property is disposed of before the minimum number of years are met). The new law, in essence, allows an investment credit of 2 percent per year up to the maximum allowable for each year equipment is held, Edwards said.

Remodeling of old facilities also provides increased tax incentives. Investment tax credit increases to 15 percent for structures 30 to 39 years and to 20 percent for those at least 40 years old.

Leasing

In the past, several restrictions were placed on the ability of leasing agents to show transactions as leases rather than conditional sales. Those restrictions have now been removed, says the economist, to simplify leasing.

Inventory System

Another cost-saving device included in the new tax laws deals with adopting a LIFO (last in, first out) inventory system. This method of inventory accounting is generally preferred in times of inflation because it reduces tax liability, explains Edwards. But in the past it has been based on complex indexes. New tax legislation allows the Secretary of the Treasury to establish suitable indexes as the basis for inventory valuation. This should be especially helpful for small businesses. The changes also will allow a business to spread out the added tax liability associated with the first year of LIFO accounting over three years.

Tax Rate Reduction

Reduction in marginal tax rates for small businesses also should benefit agribusinesses, Edwards said. Starting in 1982, the marginal rate on income under $25,000 will drop from 17 to 16 percent, with an additional drop to 15 percent the following year. For those in the $25,000 to $50,000 bracket, marginal tax rates will also drop 1 percent each of the next two years from the current 20 percent.

Individuals also were granted a reduction in marginal rates under the new legislation. A total reduction of 25 percent will be spread over a three-year period—5 percent starting Oct. 1, 1981; 10 percent starting July 1, 1982; and 10 percent beginning July 1, 1983. The so-called marriage penalty tax also has been altered.

Beginning with the 1985 tax year, marginal tax brackets will be established to prevent inflation from pushing persons into higher brackets with no increase in "real" income. This should help the situation that most wage earners now face—paying a larger tax burden while seeing a decrease in spendable dollars, notes Edwards.

Other Changes

Many other tax provisions have been liberalized under

New Arrival!

Arriving eleven minutes after midnight on December 25, 1981, Kayla Ann Felderhoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Felderhoff is a Christmas baby. She was born in Flow Memorial Hospital in Denton, weighing 5 lb. 13 oz. She is a first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dale Walterscheid and the third grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Al Felderhoff. The great-grandmothers are Mrs. Rosie Walterscheid of Münster and Mrs. Opal Cooper of Hobart, Okla. Mrs. Kenneth Felderhoff is the former Kimberly Marie Walterscheid.

Approximately 25 members of Sacred Heart Parish societies gathered in Church on December 20 to decorate for the Christmas holidays. The group set up and decorated the two large trees in the sanctuary, the treasured replica of the Nativity scene in front of the St. Joseph altar, and the small Christmas tree awaiting the Children's Mass scheduled for 5 p.m. on Christmas Eve, when youngsters placed their ornaments during the special liturgy.

Organizations represented were the Knights of Columbus, H2O, the TIA, the Altar Society, the Choirs; and members of the Liturgical Commission who supervised activities.

Youth Ministry Alert

ATTENTION: Monthly Youth Ministry Meetings will be held on Saturday, January 2 this month. H2O will meet at 3 p.m. and TIA will meet at 4 p.m. in the Community Center meeting room. All committees are asked to have activities planned out for the next six months and the youths are asked to bring their $2.00 dues to this meeting.

Meeting features German foods

Members of the Hood Extension Homemakers Club brought prepared German foods for a covered dish meal when they held their regular meeting on December 16 at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Imogene Zimmerman was hostess in her home and gave the inspiration preceding the German meal.

During a business meeting members discussed a quilt raffle during the Centennial celebration next May, and possibly sharing part of the proceeds with the Hood Improvement Club. Also discussed was the Christmas party for state school students. Members answered roll call by naming their favorite Christmas activity.

The program featured "Cleaning Closet Clutter" and the hostess also demonstrated a method of making gift package bows.

The next meeting on January 20, 1982 will feature simple First Aid. Mrs. Johnnie Lewter will be hostess in her home at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. C. William Hermes is club reporter.

Tax laws...

the 1981 tax legislation. These include individual retirement and Keough plans, estate and gift taxes, new employee credits, extension of carryover periods for operating losses and tax credits, and treatment of capital gains.

Looking at the current tax year and the changes that have been initiated, Edwards suggests including as many expenses as possible in 1981 since income will be taxed at a higher rate. Also, since the depreciation changes are retroactive to Jan. 1, purchases made this year come under the new accelerated depreciation rules and qualify for more liberal investment credit provisions.

Two cousins baptized

Baptismal services were held for cousins, Allison Endres and Jason Lutkenhaus on Sunday, December 20, following the 11 a.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church, with Father Stephen Eckart officiating. Allison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Endres and Jason is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lutkenhaus.

Baptismal sponsors for Allison were Mr. and Mrs. Danny Schmitt of Prosser, Wash. with Mrs. Bob Endres and Dale Swirczynski proxy for the Schmitts who were unable to attend.

Jason's sponsors were Troy Lutkenhaus and Janel Lutkenhaus.

Attending the church service and dinner following at The Center were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Endres and DaLana, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Swirczynski and Dale, Mr. and Mrs. John Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Sicking and sons, Janet Swirczynski, Jill Mollenkopf, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Endres, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lutkenhaus and Brandi, Mrs. Bob Endres and Mindy, Kyla Hale and Mrs. Catherine Walterscheid.
