From the tone of President Reagan's message Monday night, it's hard to understand why it's necessary for him to ask for special support in his tax program. This thing seems so much like common sense that we would expect people to approve without any persuading. The principle is fundamental, a matter of running up a huge debt by living beyond our means for twenty years, so it's high time to start making sacrifices.

He chose the right word when he referred to the proposed tax not as the highest tax in history but as the greatest tax reform. We the public have been hearing for years about how the country is being ripped off by corruption and graft, and we think political opponents ought to be joining all the rest of the country in opposing the thievery. At least they ought to be honest enough to agree with the president that money saved is money earned.

If Uncle Sam can eliminate billions of Social Security cheating it can be counted as that much addition to tax revenue. Or if he can plug income tax loopholes he is increasing the total of tax collected. The same applies to adapting the withholding system to interest and dividend taxes. Studies on the subject show that lots of people conveniently ignore these payments in their tax report. So Reagan proposes having the tax withheld and remitted like the withholding on salary. And why not? If average people pay as the law requires, why should the others be permitted to evade their obligation?

Recent comment likewise seems to indicate objection to the widespread practice of generous deductions for business expense on the tax report. For instance the three-martini lunch and the gourmet dinner. More cases of loophole deductions they are not entitled to, which amounts to cheating on the rest of us who do not get the benefit of such privileges.

Much of the opposition to Reagan's program is said to come from business people. What a disappointing commentary! It makes one wonder how many are motivated by the loopholes and pushing off their obligations on average folks less able to bear the burden. Actually, it seems a person should have a guilty feeling if he opposes those badly needed tax reforms.

Another interesting part of the president's talk was his reference to mean mouthing by critics who say the present proposal amounts to an admission that last year's program was a failure. In answer Reagan points to a number of obvious improvements during his time in office. Inflation and interest rates have decreased, real earnings and personal savings have increased. The economy had its good signs and it could have been better if political Washington had been more cooperative and reasonable. After more than thirty years of mistakes the liberals had the country in a mess, but would not admit it. They insisted on going ahead with the liberal policies, and now, with an election just around the corner, they are even more determined.

The average person considering the economy has to admit that times are tough but still better than the great depression of the thirties. But the country pulled Nearing completion of preparations for the opening of school are Principal Stephen Beyer and Librarian/faculty member Sister Carmelita Myers, during a conference with the complete faculty of Sacred Heart Schools.

When Sacred Heart students return to school on August 25, they will find an over-all atmosphere of freshness following a general clean-up, fix-up and paint-up program throughout the entire institution. The improvements are highlighted by the addition of more than 1800 square feet to the field house adjoining the Tiger football field. Its space is divided into three areas: 24x20 for football equipment storage, 24x30 for a weight room, and 24x27 as storage for Sacred Heart parish.

The Curriculum
Curriculum additions and changes will likewise be new for the opening. The elementary department has added a full time non-compensatory remedied education teacher; and for the first time in recent years the school will have a federally funded teacher to offer special help to students whenever advisable. Another valued addition to the elementary is a leveled (small group) program of math instruction modeled on the highly successful leveled (small group) reading program that has previously been in use. The small-group approach to remedied efforts is regarded as specially helpful to students.

Likewise, the reading program is expanded in middle and high school. Sacred Heart High is adding a developmental reading class and also a computer science course specializing in Pascal language programming.

Otherwise the courses of instruction will be essentially a continuation of last year's.

Public School has new look

Not since Muenster Public School was built more than 30 years ago has it looked as new as this year. In addition to a brand new science and classroom building now nearing completion, plus a new administration building occupied during the past year, there has been extensive renovation in almost all areas of the school.

6 new classrooms

The principal unit of the expanding and improving program is a combined classroom and laboratory for high school and junior high, science with new furniture and lab equipment. The structure also has five classrooms, to be used by the seventh and eighth grades. It is located at the west side of the campus, south of the lunch room and west of the original building.

Elementary changes

As the junior high students occupy the new space, their former classrooms will be occupied by grades 5 and 6. Still another room of the wing will be used for movies and storage.

Moving grades 5 and 6 makes more space available in the elementary building, which includes kindergarten through grade 4. In this building an extensive fix-up, paint-up applies to everything not done the

Camp Howze marker dedicated

Ceremonies dedicating the Official Historical Marker for the Site of Camp Howze were held on Tuesday, August 17 at 10 a.m. at an area north of Gainesville just off the junction of FM 1202 at I-35, about 200 yards west of the Interstate Highway. Shown in the picture is J.W. Trisler, Chaplain of VFW Post 1922, who gave the invocation, the welcome and recognition of guests.

The program included the Star Spangled Banner, led by Roger Martin; the marker dedication by Margaret Parx Hays, Mayor of Gainesville; unveiling of the marker by Dan Kirchenbough, 83, oldest WW II veteran present; presentation and reading of the marker inscription by Ona B. Reed chairman of Cooke County Historical Commission; and retirement of the Colors.

Preliminary plans for the marker dedication, research and preparation for the event were the work of Ona B. Reed.

A reception followed the ceremony at the VFW Club on N. Hwy. 77.

In operation from 1942 to 1946, Camp Howze served as an infantry training facility during World War II. It was named for General Robert Lee Howze (1864-1926) a native Texan whose distinguished career in the United States Army began with his graduation from West Point and included service in France, Puerto Rico, Germany, a South Dakota Indian War and the Philippine Insurrection, 1899-1902.

Clifford McMahon of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce first contacted federal authorities with the idea of establishing a military installation here. Attracted by the community's active endorsement of the plan, the government activated Camp Howze on August 17, 1942, under the command of Colonel John P. Wheeler. In addition to infantry training, the base was also the site of a German Prisoner of War Camp and an air support command base, now part of the Gainesville Municipal Airport. Services provided for the soldiers included camp exchanges, libraries, chapels, theaters, service clubs and a base newspaper, the "Camp Howze Howitzer."

The economic and social impact of Camp Howze on Gainesville was significant and was instrumental in the town's rapid growth and development.

J.W. Trisler, chaplain, Gainesville VFW Post 1922, and plant manager of Valenite in Muenster gives the invocation during dedication services at the Camp Howze marker on August 17.

Sam Bright receives masters degree

Sam Bright received his Master's degree in Economics at Baylor University during conferring of graduate and undergraduate degrees on Saturday August 14 at 10 a.m.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Bright were present and hosted a luncheon to mark the day, attended by Sam and three of his classmates. They returned home late Saturday afternoon.

Pleasing contrast

What a contrast! Up to this date, August 18, the community has had 6 days of 100 degrees or more, whereas on this date of 1980 the total was 59. That is 11 in June, 31 in July and 17 in August. Furthermore the summer's total of 100 or more was 80 (11 in June, 31 in July, 26 in August and 12 in September), and 43 of those scorchers were continuous (9 in June, 31 in July and 3 in August).

Low and high readings of the past week were recorded as follows by Steve Moster.

August 12	76 and 98
August 13	75 and 100
August 14	75 and 102
August 15	76 and 102
August 16	78 and 100
August 17	76 and 94
August 18	75 and 93

All rain readings of the week were zero. So the totals remain at 1.60 for August and 28.12 for the year to date.

COMMENT

Texas wheat farmers expect near record harvest this year

AUSTIN—Wheat farmers across the state are harvesting the second largest crop on record this year in spite of inclement weather conditions, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

"The wheat production this year is estimated at 163.8 million bushels, an 11 percent drop from last year's record crop but still one of the largest harvests on record. The poor grain harvest in the Soviet Union should stimulate our export market," Brown said.

Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service reports that this year's estimated rye production of 560,000 bushels is 18 percent above last year's with a record yield of 20 bushels per acre.

Other Texas grain farmers have not been as lucky. Oat producers expect to harvest 13.7 million bushels, a 27 percent decline from last year's production. Oat yields are down 10 bushels from last year and harvested acreage is down 7 percent. Barley production is down 31 percent at 1.4 million bushels with an expected yield of 36 bushels per acre. Small grain harvest is well behind schedule as the result of adverse weather conditions and several fields are being abandoned because of poor grain quality.

Cotton farmers throughout the High Plains and Central regions of the state have had many fields severely damaged or totally destroyed by high winds, hail and heavy rain.

Replanting is underway on some of this storm damaged cotton acreage; however, many producers have chosen to replant alternate crops.

The state's peach production continues to decline, dropping more than 50 percent from last year. The July 1 peach harvest estimate of 16 million pounds is six percent below the June 1 estimate. Heavy rains have caused disease and insect problems in peach orchards throughout the state.

pointing out that Fed policies and actions have wrecked the purchasing power of the dollar; "by subtly taking from the people of this country what it thus provides for the government through a process exactly on a par with the coin-clipping of ancient kings—but much more diabolical because so much less visible."

How has it been possible for the Federal Reserve to destroy the purchasing power of the dollar? How has it been able to silently transfer money from the people to the government?

The answer is found in the power given to the Federal Reserve to create credit, which has exactly the same effect as creating money, by controlling the level of reserves through open market operations. That is by buying or selling government securities in the open market.

Dr. Sennholz states that with this tool the Federal Reserve System can on its own initiative "make money and capital markets more liquid or more tight, as it might wish. For in payment for securities the Federal Reserve merely draws on itself a check which constitutes newly created money."

Through this process the broadly defined money supply, known as M3, increased from $77.1 billion in December, 1971 to $218.7 billion in December, 1981. The result was a drastic reduction in the value of the dollar.

As the new money was created, it took on its value at the expense of the money in thrift institutions, pension funds, insurance policies, bonds and other dollar-denominated assets of America's savers.

Open market operations of the Fed should be ended by congressional action!

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

U.S. SENATOR FOR TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Legislation is coming before the Senate to reform our immigration policy. It will address the questions of what to do about illegal immigrants who have been in this country for years without legalizing their status, what to do to keep illegal aliens from obtaining employment, what services aliens should be entitled to in the U.S. and a variety of other issues.

The largely forgotten issue seems to be how to keep illegal aliens from entering the U.S. in the first instance.

The United States was built as a nation of immigrants. We grew as a nation in our formative years, and have been enriched as a people into the present time, by the contribution of people from other nations and cultures. However, it is clear that our economy cannot absorb everyone from every nation who wishes to come to America. We have an immigration policy, which is designed to set reasonable limits, fairly administered, on the number of people we allow to become permanent residents of our nation. The problem is that many more people want to seek a better life in the United States than the established limits allow, and large numbers of people enter the country illegally.

The length of our border with Mexico, and the vast differences in standard of living for working people in the two nations, make illegal immigration from Mexico a severe problem. This problem is growing in scope, but we are not increasing the budget for personnel along the border to enforce our laws.

No one knows how many illegal immigrants are in the United States. Federal officials can only say that there "almost certainly" are less than six million and possibly "only" 3.5 to 5 million. These officials estimate that 50 to 60 percent of the illegal aliens in the United States are from Mexico, and a large portion of them are in Texas.

The federal budget for this year allows for fewer border enforcement officers than there were in 1981, and there is no proposed increase for fiscal year 1983.

Currently Texas is assigned 833 border patrol officers, although 902 positions are funded. These officers thus far this fiscal year have overseen 175,000 "required departures" by illegal aliens. During fiscal year 1981, there were 260,000 required departures by illegal aliens apprehended in Texas. No one knows for certain how many of these individuals return, but the number is substantial.

Illegal aliens are not eligible for government social services, although there are proposals in the immigration bill before Congress to make many currently illegal immigrants permanent residents, and thus eligible for services. However, even without outright federal or state appropriations for services, the social cost of large numbers of illegal immigrants is high.

A recent Supreme Court decision requiring local school districts to provide free education for illegal alien children is but one example. The cost in jobs for unemployed American citizens, privately sponsored social services and a host of other expenditures is incalculable. But it is clear that these costs are higher than that of a better enforcement system.

I have urged the Administration to increase the amount of money and personnel allotted to border enforcement. Without a fair but vigorous effort to enforce our immigration laws, the rest of our immigration policy becomes a sham. Aside from the financial cost, it is unfair to ask one would-be U.S. resident to wait years for his turn to enter legally while another enters illegally with impunity.

The federal government has an obligation to attempt to enforce its laws. We must give those who are charged with this responsibility adequate resources to do the job.

WILL SHULTZ 'REAGANIZE' U.S. FOREIGN POLICY?

By Edwin Feulner

While it may be premature, early signs are promising that George Shultz' stewardship as Secretary of State will at long last see the establishment of a consistent, firmly rooted foreign policy, as promised in the 1980 election campaign of Ronald Reagan.

Prior to the Senate's unanimous confirmation of his nomination, Shultz, testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, expressed support for the get-tough platform adopted at the 1980 Republican National Convention. The secretary-designate endorsed the sale of defensive arms to Taiwan; opposed pressuring the Salvadoran government to negotiate with leftist guerrillas who had boycotted that Central American nation's March 1982 elections, saying they should not be allowed "to shoot their way into the government"; opposed the resumption of negotiations on a long-term grain deal with the U.S.S.R. since "things have not changed in Poland," and fully supported President Reagan's "proper decision" to block U.S. companies from furnishing equipment for the completion of the U.S.S.R.'s gas pipeline.

All these points are consistent with the theories espoused by Ronald Reagan throughout his political career. And let's face it, formulating and implementing a consistent "Reagan" foreign policy should be Secretary Shultz' number-one priority. In the recent past we have hovered on the brink of outright foreign policy hypocrisy—some day calling on our Western allies to boycott the Soviet pipeline, the next negotiating grain deals and bartering phosphates with the Iron Curtain rulers.

As for Shultz' comments regarding Taiwan, his reply to Senate questions on the two-China policy was quite to-the-point: "... any solution to that problem should be by peaceful means. And in pursuit of that objective, we have expressed our willingness and determination to provide defensive arms as needed to Taiwan. And, personally, I think that is exactly where we should be."

Perhaps with Shultz in place the military hardware, which is specifically required by law to be sent to Taiwan, will begin moving. It isn't at this time.

There can be little doubt if you have studied the recent history of U.S. foreign policy as formulated by the Department of State, that the only thing definite about its direction is that it is going the wrong way. And that's the best that can be said of it.

All we can hope is that George Shultz' testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations committee will prove to be the forecast of the direction in which he intends to lead our foreign policy. That is under the guidelines he described in Economic Policy—Beyond the Headlines, a book he co-authored in 1977 with Kenneth W. Dam, who has also since been nominated to a senior State Department post as deputy secretary.

Shultz/Dam wrote: "But if one has a clear sense of strategy, it is possible to move in the desired direction in the unending process of dealing with the issues of the day. The trick is to deal with them in a manner consistent with the long-term policy objectives."

Let us hope: 1) that there will, in fact, finally be long-term policy objectives; and 2) that these will be the strong objectives enunciated by Shultz during his confirmation hearings, and by President Reagan during the 1980 campaign.

through then and can be depended upon to do it again. Sooner or later people will realize that it's time to live less lavishly, to make ends meet and to reduce our debt, even if it requires sacrifices. They might realize also that it can help to try getting back closer to God. The humble life may turn out to be a welcome change from the high living we have had.

We think the Reagan way has a bit of that policy in it. He gets closer to basics when he tackles the country's problems from both ends, first in an effort to spend less and secondly when he proposes to eliminate the rip-off of billions that ought to be paid.

A favorable grass roots response to Reagan's talk would be very welcome. Reluctant politicians could be favorably impressed by voters back home.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Robert Bernstein, M.D., Commissioner

Sun worshipers who think a suntan makes them look young and vibrant are actually aging their skin and increasing their chances of getting cancer, according to Dr. Clift Price.

Dr. Price is Associate Commissioner for Personal Health Services with the Texas Department of Health (TDH). "The sun weakens the skin's elasticity, and gives it an aged, dry, and weatherbeaten appearance," Dr. Price said. "The effects of exposing unprotected skin to the sun repeatedly can be cumulative. The more you are exposed to the sun right now, the greater your chances of problems later on."

Dr. Price explained that you can't get a tan without damaging your skin. "Tanning is the body's defense mechanism," he said. "It's the body's attempt to protect the skin from further damage by producing a darker pigment to absorb the harmful ultraviolet rays."

The sun not only ages the skin but causes dark patches and scaly gray growths called keratoses, which are often precancerous.

According to the TDH Bureau of Vital Statistics, 427 deaths were attributed to skin cancer in the state during 1981. The TDH Cancer Registry Program shows 2,096 cases of skin cancer were reported in Texas in 1980, the last year figures are available. It is estimated, however, that this is only about 50 percent of the actual number of new cases for that year.

Almost all of the 400,000 cases of skin cancer developed by Americans annually are considered to be sun-related. Fortunately, if treated early, most skin cancer is curable.

The visible, early warnings are: 1. A sore that does not heal. 2. The change in size or color of a wart or mole. 3. The development of any unusual pigmented area.

The best protection against summer sun is to stay indoors, or to wear protective clothing such as long sleeved shirts, full length trousers, and wide brimmed hats. "If you must exercise outside, do so before 10 a.m. and after 3 p.m., when the ultraviolet rays are weakest," Dr. Price said.

Next in importance for prevention is the use of a sun screen containing PABA (para-amino-benzoic acid). Preparations containing PABA absorb ultraviolet rays and allow gradual tanning. Be sure to check the SPF (Sun Protection Factor). The SPF usually ranges from two for minimal protection to 15 for maximum.

FREE EDUCATION AND THE UNDOCUMENTED WORKER

On June 15, 1982, The Supreme Court ruled, 5-4, that Texas and other states must provide free public education for the children of undocumented workers—people in this country illegally.

Our current Lt. Governor, Mr. Hobbs, was happy with the decision, praising it as the "only rational decision" the court could have made.

On the contrary, I think it was a wrong decision that defied both law and logic.

One of the principal underpinnings of an orderly society is that one should not benefit from breaking the law. All around the world, thousands of people stand patiently in line at our embassies, waiting for legal entry into this country. By its recent ruling, the Supreme Court told these people that, if they are smart, they will ignore our immigration laws, find some other way to enter, and then there's a good likelihood all manner of taxpayer-supported benefits will be open to them and their families.

We can all feel sympathy for people driven to emigrate by desperate economic conditions. And I believe we should be compassionate toward the children of undocumented workers who are here through no fault of their own. We have been told we must educate these children and we will; it is our duty.

But I am deeply concerned about the effect this will have on our school systems and the quality of education. We have only a certain amount of desks and dollars with which to address the problems of educating Texas children.

The court was essentially establishing social policy under the guise of ruling on a constitutional question. The result was bad law and bad social policy. It should now be up to the Federal Government to help pay for the mess they have created by not properly policing our borders.

TP&L THINKS IT'S TIME YOU GOT EVEN WITH YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

It used to be your electric bill went up in the heat of the summer. And then next to nothing in spring and fall. Just trying to keep up with it was a full-time job. But it doesn't have to be, thanks to a plan from TP&L. INTRODUCING THE EQUAL PAYMENT PLAN. With our Equal Payment Plan we can average your monthly electric charges. That means you'll pay the same for service all year long. You still pay for all you use, but you'll know exactly what to expect each and every month. With no surprises. STAY COOL WHEN THINGS HEAT UP THIS SUMMER. It's a fact that energy costs aren't getting cheaper. And the cost of electricity is at its highest in the summer. So now is the best possible time to enroll in the Equal Payment Plan to keep your bills from getting out of hand. To find out more about our Equal Payment Plan and what it could mean to you and your checkbook, just call your local TP&L office. Getting even was never so easy. TEXAS POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

The four tiered white wedding cake, decorated with pink roses, stood in the center of the bride's table, which was further decorated with the couple's lighted unity candle and a basket of pink silk roses and silk rice bags.

The "good luck" chocolate groom's cake was on a table covered with a brown cloth with beige lace cover. Both cakes were designed by Betty Rose Walterscheid. Cake servers were Valerie Vogel, Annette Gruber, Alice Gruber, Debbie Metzler and Tammy Reiter.

An elegant buffet of various pick up foods was catered and served by Ginie Schneider from a table decorated with fresh grapes, other fresh fruits, sprays of ivy and massed fern, arranged in tiers in the center.

Wedding gift silver goblets were used for the champagne toast. An arrangement of pink and white honeycomb wedding bells, with pink ribbons adorned the wall behind the wedding party's table. Guests danced to the music of "Hard Times."

Patricia Corcoran and Boyd Burris exchange vows

The wedding of Patricia Lynn Corcoran and Boyd Burris III was held in St. Mary's Church of Gainesville on Saturday, August 14 with Father Placidus Eckart officiating for the Nuptial Mass and exchange of vows with double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Corcoran of Star Route, Gainesville. She is a graduate of Lindsay High School and North Texas State University and is a teacher in the Lewisville ISD. The groom is the son of Mrs. Neil Ruthe Burris of Lewisville and the late Boyd Burris Jr. He is a graduate of Lewisville High School and North Texas State University and is an Industrial Engineer employed by Vought Corporation of Grand Prairie.

The bride was presented at the altar by her father. For her wedding she chose a formal gown of diamond white organza and lace-embroidered Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was completely overlaid with lace and featured a Queen Anne neckline in front with a keyhole detail at the back. Full sleeves were held at the wrist with lace appliques. Her flowing double layered fingertip length veil of imported illusion was lace edged and was attached to a beaded Chantilly caplet.

Adding a touch of sentiment, the veil was the same her sister Kim Selby wore on her wedding day. The bride also had a birthdate penny in her shoe and a traditional blue garter.

She carried a cascade of white orchids, yellow rosebuds, white stephanotis and English ivy with a crystal rosary entwined.

Attendants

Gayle Corcoran of Lewisville was her sister's maid of honor. Mrs. Tony Vera, (Rosie) of Lewisville was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Victoria Delveaux of Houston; Mrs. Sallie Burris of Lewisville, groom's sister-in-law; Mrs. Kim Selby of Era and Emily Corcoran of Gainesville, both sisters of the bride.

Their dresses were of identical design with a full ruffle off the shoulders, and a ruffle at the hemline, with a bustle-effect and ruffle cascading to join at the hemline. Gayle and Sally wore mint green; Kim and Rose wore yellow; Victoria and Emily wore apricot.

They carried nosegays of silk flowers with matching ribbon, made by Mrs. Rosie Vera and each wore silk flowers and baby's breath in her hair.

Ray Ford was the best man; Clyde Lynn and Tommy Grisham, all of Lewisville and friends of the groom, and Robert Burris and William Burris, brothers of the groom of Lewisville were groomsmen.

Michael Selby of Era, bride's brother-in-law and John Corcoran, bride's brother were ushers.

Steven Zwinggi and Brad Metzler of Lindsay, bride's cousins were Mass servers.

The bride's aunts, Vivian Kasperek and Linda Brown presented the Offertory gifts at the altar.

Wedding music was provided by Pat Hennigan, Jr. organist and Lazette LaVieux of Lewisville and Jim Lawson of Gainesville, vocalists.

The church altar held arrangements of yellow gladioli and English ivy, and lighted candles. Tiered candelabra held votive lights; and the anniversary candle was lit by the couple following their vows. Bouquets of yellow and white roses marked pews.

Reception

A reception, dinner and dance hosted by the bride's parents, followed in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Gainesville.

Mrs. Sandy Burris, groom's sister-in-law and Lynn Canutsson, a friend, registered 250 guests in the bride's book.

The dinner was prepared by aunts of the bride, Louise Schad, Mary Hundt, Anna Hermes, Alice Hermes, Amelia Voth and Elfreda Hundt.

The three tiered wedding cake, over a bubbling mint fountain was the centerpiece for the bride's table. It was baked and decorated with roses and doves by Betty Rose Walterscheid. The groom's cake, in the shape of a Bible, was made by the bride. Cake servers were Mrs. Karyl Petty, Mrs. Sharon Huston, Mrs. Kim Talkington, all fellow teachers with the bride in Lewisville, and Mrs. Mapra Gentry of Houston. Punch was served by Jeanette Hundt of Lindsay and Donna Haverkamp of Austin. Mrs. Karen Murray served the groom's cake.

Guest tables were decorated with mint, apricot and yellow centerpieces, with white dove candleholders and candles.

Special guests at the wedding were grandmothers of the couple Mrs. Clem Hermes, Sr. of Lindsay and Mrs. Mary Mullins of Lewisville.

Guests coming from a distance were from Houston, San Antonio, Dallas, Denton, Lewisville, Pilot Point, Austin, Grand Prairie and Venus, Tex. to join relatives and friends from Cooke County.

When the couple returns from a trip to Lake Tahoe, Nevada they will make their home in Lewisville.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's mother on Wednesday, August 11 and held at the home of the bride. A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Rosie Vera on June 29 and a lingerie shower by Victoria Delveaux on July 30.

"Octoberfest" Extension camps, "getaway" older Texans

Extension camps for older people
 Where can a person over 55 "getaway to" for
 • three days and nights of fun-filled activities,
 • learning opportunities,
 • other lively, life-loving people but not many can match "Octoberfest," a new Extension camp for people over 55, says Evelyn Yeatts, Cooke County Extension Agent (Home Economics).

 Four are scheduled this fall for September 21-24, October 5-8, 19-22 and 26-29.

Feature presentations will include; your nutritional needs with special diet consultation, plants in the home, communication skills and game cookery.
 Learning Centers will offer a variety of "hands-on" experiences including miniature oil painting, pottery making and picture framing.
 Some camps will have such additional centers as wind chimes, chair caning, homemade games, color and fashion, and selling the family farm, the agent says.

 Cards and table games, tennis, horseshoes and volleyball will be available at all times.
 Evenings will be filled with such social activities as singing, dances and a cabaret where camp participants present their talents.
 Each camp is limited to 100 participants, so call 665-4931 or 665-1966. You may also stop by the County Extension Office in the Courthouse Basement for a Reservation form.
 Getaway to "Octoberfest" --stretch your dollars and your mind.

Special treat for two sisters

The August Fleitman daughters, Jan and Melinda enjoyed a fun-filled weekend recently, as a special "before school starts" treat. They were guests on Saturday, August 7 with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Les Richardson of Dallas, who took them to Sesame Place and afterwards to Crystals for their evening meal.
 On Sunday, August 8 they all went to see the movie "E.T." before returning home. They arrived in time to help celebrate with their brother Randy who was observing his 13th birthday. Cake, ice cream and gifts added to the fun.
 The Richardson's visited here Sunday evening and he told about the excitement at the Hilton Hotel where he works, when the First Lady Nancy Reagan arrived to make a speech.

Two enjoy vacation in California

Mrs. Clive Gobble has returned from a delightful, month-long vacation with relatives in California, where she traveled with a sister-in-law, Mrs. Pearl Mensch of Cherryville, Kansas.
 They flew to San Francisco on July 18 and were met by a niece who took them to her home in Santa Rosa; and also accompanied them on sightseeing tours of the area, including the Redwood Forest.

Later they were guests of Mrs. Gobble's brother, Woody Bagwell in Carmichael, Calif. and during this time he took them to Sacramento and San Clemente and on a trip completely encircling Lake Tahoe.

They toured Orange County with Mrs. Gobble's son and daughter-in-law, Glenn and Myrtle Cathey and were guests in the Cathey home in Norwalk. They also visited Long Beach and at Knotts Berry Farm.

In Corona, Calif. they were guests of Earl Gobble, brother of the late Clive Gobble.

Mmes. Gobble and Mensch returned to Texas on August 14 and were met at DFW by Mrs. Larry Gobble and Mrs. Clarence Hellman.

Guests from San Antonio

Guests of Mrs. Ben Luke, arriving on Thursday were her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Denny of San Antonio, her granddaughter Mrs. Mary Nell de la Garza and children Aaron and Vanessa of Mission, Texas. They returned to their homes Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Denny, an R.N. who graduated from St. Paul Hospital before her marriage, has recently earned a Bachelor's degree from the University of Texas in San Antonio. Formerly a nursing supervisor at Methodist Hospital in San Antonio, she is now Nurse Recruiter for the same hospital.

Building in floodplain causes flooding

COLLEGE STATION — Texas cities will continue to flood during times of heavy rains, storms or hurricanes as long as they continue to develop in the state's floodplains, says the director of the Texas Water Resources Institute.

"Floods aren't disastrous at all unless man moves into the path of a flood-swollen river," says Dr. Jack Runkles of Texas A&M University. "The land adjacent to river channels is the natural, proper conveyance for transmitting floodwaters. Unfortunately, this same land has been the most attractive for man to develop."

FARM MACHINE TRAINING WILL REDUCE ACCIDENTS

The variety of special machines a farmer uses to harvest hay and silage can be hazardous and because this is a time when extra help may be needed to get the job done, you must make sure workers are trained properly and supervised to assure a safe harvest, explains Sperry New Holland.

The farm equipment manufacturer says some major safety considerations include:

- Study the operator's manual for each machine before operating.
- Check harvest equipment before you use it to make sure all systems are working properly. Equipment malfunctioning or breaking down in the field only leads to reduced productivity and greater likelihood of someone incurring an injury.
- Keep choppers, balers and other forage equipment adjusted correctly for crop conditions to avoid plugs and winding.
- Keep machine guards in place. Provide barriers for power drives not guarded properly.
- Before you unplug or repair a machine, stop it and the engine.
- Limit loads that workers must lift to reduce back injury.
- When you operate a round baler, make certain everyone is clear before you open the rear gates. Drop bales on relatively level surfaces where they cannot roll.
- When you operate a forage chopper, shut off the engine and make certain the cutterhead has stopped rotating before you open the access plate or door. Work with extra care and heed safety precautions in your operator's manual when you sharpen knives or make adjustments.
- Wear comfortable, well-fitted clothing, including safety shoes and appropriate skin and head cover to avoid overexposure to the sun. Personal protective equipment, such as a filter respirator, acoustic ear muffs or plugs and protective goggles, can provide added protection to dusty, noisy conditions.
- Keep children in a separate play area away from the machinery. Don't let kids frolic in the fields during the harvest or ride on a tractor.

Arbor Day Foundation gives free Redbud trees

The National Arbor Day Foundation is giving three free American Redbud trees to all new Foundation members joining during August, 1982.

The free Redbud trees are part of the Foundation's effort to promote fall tree planting.

"Fall is an excellent time to plant trees because the roots establish themselves over the winter and support faster tree growth in the spring," John Rosenow, foundation executive director, said. "However the advantages of fall planting are often overlooked. That is why the National Arbor Day Foundation is making this special offer."

The American Redbud is extremely hardy flowering tree with pink blossoms in the early spring. Three three-to-four feet trees will be shipped this fall, postage paid, with enclosed planting instructions. The trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free by the Foundation.

The National Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit organization, is working to improve the quality of life throughout the country by encouraging tree planting. The Foundation will give three free Redbud trees to new members contributing $10.00 or more during August.

To become a member of the Foundation, and to receive the free trees, a $10.00 membership contribution should be sent to FREE REDBUD TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, Arbor Lodge 100, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by August 31, 1982.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown reported. Many were forced to plant alternate crops. This summer's weather damage will have a major effect on cotton harvesting this fall.

summer before. And a wall was removed converting two kindergarten rooms into a spacious double size arena. All this is accompanied by an administrative change as Gwen Trubenbach becomes principal in grades K-4. More renovating was done for grades 5 and 6. It got the full treatment: fix-up, paint-up, insulation, acoustical ceiling, fluorescent lights, vinyl floor.

High school
The improvement program applies also to the high school wing. Corridors have new vinyl flooring and paint, the homemaking department has new carpet and inlaid linoleum, computer and typewriter rooms have new carpet plus another computer and several typewriters.

The lunch room likewise was enlarged and improved. Using the former grade 5 area, space was increased by some 25 per cent. In addition work areas got new Formica, floors got new vinyl, walls got new paint, and the ceiling got new lights.

The gym
Work at the gym is incomplete, but plans are to finish it before basketball season. Dominant feature of the job will be a huge painting of a hornet in brilliant red with the wording "Fighting Hornets" beside it...similar but considerably larger than the eye-catching sign outside the Hornet field house. Background for the Fighting Hornet sign will be white and the seating opposite will be bright red. Gym improvements will include dressing rooms for both boys and girls; new paint on the walls, lay-in acoustical tile with fluorescent lights in the ceiling.

Outside work
A notable outside improvement is removing an old wood building near the ag department, formerly used for storage. The replacement facility is an object of pride to shop and ag students and their instructors. Located under the football grandstand it is for mowers, tractors, pipe, sprinklers, track and football equipment and various other things needing shelter.

The faculty
Muenster Public School's faculty is headed by Charles Coffey, superintendent; Eddie Green, principal of grades 5-12 and Gwen Trubenbach, principal of kindergarten through grade 4.

The teachers are Florence Williams, kindergarten; Kay Pantier, grade 1; Gwen Trubenbach, grades 1 and 2; Jane Weinzapfel, grade 2; Carol Dyer, grade 3, Ann Green, grades 3 and 4; Barbara Robison, grade 4; Juanita Walterscheid, grade 5; Geraldine Colwell, grades 5 and 6; Prue Selby, grade 6; Nona Stanley, special education; Jean Troop, remedial reading; Rosemary Dankesreiter, remedial math;

Edgar Dyer, vocational ag; Rudy Koehler, industrial arts; Jon Ward, band and vocal; Joann Pagel, elementary PE and Jr Hi language arts; Leonard Peters, athletic director, football, health and math; Alan Gustine, basketball and PE; Charles Meurer, baseball and social studies; Bob Gross, math; Theresa Walterscheid, junior hi history, elementary PE; Joni Sturm, homemaking; Noveta Ward, HS math and physics; Nancy Perryman HS science; Robert McDaniel, social studies and science; Phyllis Coffey, Jr hi English and journalism; Martha Koehler, Sr. hi English and speech; Sheri Robison, business studies; Patsy Sloan, librarian; Tom Fluker, counselor; Sharon Richardson, secretary to the superintendent.

The calendar
The Muenster Public School calendar this year consists of 175 class days along with 5 days of teacher in-service and 3 teacher work days.

Allowing time to have the new combined classroom and science building ready for the start, the Muenster ISD board decided to postpone the opening date from August 24 to August 30. Before then the teachers will have finished one workday and four in-service days, leaving one workday and two in-service days for the balance of the year.

Other calendar dates for the year are:
Aug. 30, first class day
Sept. 6, Labor Day, holiday
Nov. 25-26, Thanksgiving holidays
Dec. 21, End of semester
Dec. 22, Teacher workday
Dec. 22 - Jan. 2, Christmas - New Year holidays
Jan. 3, Classes resume
Mar. 10-11, Mini-break (bad make-up days)
Mar. 25, Teacher in-service
April 3-9, Easter holidays
May 20, Final school day, graduation

Public School Starts August 30

School starts at Muenster Public School on August 30 instead of August 24. The change was made by trustees in their regular meeting August 5 after being told by the contractor that he expects to have the new combined classroom and science building finished by August 30.

Because of the late start the closing at the end of the year will be delayed three days, until May 26. Otherwise the school calendar remains unchanged.

The board also adopted a change of policy relative to exemption from semester exams. Hereafter only seniors can be excused, provided they have an average of 92 or above and no more than two absences, or an average of 83-91 and no more than one absence. Other students must take the tests regardless of grades and attendance records.

Board members were influenced by the thought that exams have a definite value in preparing a student for college. Another change of policy: The prices of paid lunches are increased for two reasons: because the lunch room will receive less federal aid and because food prices have increased. Actually the lunch room operated in the red last year. According to Superintendent Coffey, last year's rates were the lowest of the county and they are still lower than some schools.

Cooke County College features word processing

Cooke County College is the last place one might think of as a training ground for revolutionaries, but new troops are being groomed there now to take their places in a revolution that's sweeping through offices all across the country.

The name given to this revolutionary cause, begun about a dozen years ago, is "word processing," and it threatens a complete overthrow of established ways of transforming rough drafts or dictation into final copies of letters, forms, documents and reports.

According to Maxine Stille, director of Cooke County College's Division of Business Administration, the word processing (WP) revolution also is creating a wealth of new job opportunities for persons trained in this new technology.

That training is now available at Cooke County College where both beginning and advanced courses in Word Processing will be offered to students this fall. In addition to classroom instruction, students taking the courses will put in extensive time practicing on the latest and most modern Word Processing equipment.

Basically, WP systems are built around machines that look like typewriters but work like computers, capable of storing information, correcting mistakes, merging form letters with address lists and making hundreds of copies.

"They do all this at high speed, repeating typed documents and letters ten times faster than the average typist," Ms. Stille points out, "and every copy is perfect."

She adds that in the past few years, the technology associated with WP systems has become very sophisticated. New equipment now available enables WP specialists to increase efficiency to an extraordinary degree, producing printed materials faster and cheaper through savings of time, paper and space.

Ms. Stille explains that Word Processing specialists use different types of machines to produce different kinds of material and that Cooke County College's word processing training program will expose students to all the various types of machines they will need to know how to operate in most Word Processing installations.

Among the more recently developed machines on which CCC students will train is the "video word processor" which features a keyboard and a TV-like screen called a cathode ray tube (CRT) or a video display terminal (VDT). The screen shows the copy the operator is keyboarding, before the copy is actually printed out on paper.

"Displays can be a full page, part of a page or a single line at a time," Ms. Stille says. "The operator can add or remove copy, change lines around and be sure the format looks good before finally processing it on a separate printer. Then, while the printer produces this copy, the operator can work on the next page."

Experiments with Word Processing systems have proved that WP centers are more efficient than separate, individual work stations. Therefore, most word processing specialists in a company work in one department that processes all the company letters, reports, documents and other printed materials.

In some firms, however, WP specialists work in "satellite" centers that handle the information and materials for separate departments.

"Whatever the arrangement," Ms. Stille says, "working conditions for WP specialists are particularly good. In general, they work in well-lighted, well-ventilated rooms, and temperature and humidity are strictly controlled because electronic machines are sensitive to both."

Perhaps best of all, she adds, job opportunities in this specialized field are excellent, and earning potential for trained WP specialists is high. In addition, current demand for part-time specialists is substantial.

In 1981, a beginning word processing specialist could earn up to $210 a week, while experienced workers might earn as much as $350 per week. Average income for word processing center supervisors was $400 or more a week. Current salary statistics show that pay for WP specialists is climbing even higher.

"Moreover, full-time word processing specialists usually get paid sick leave, vacations and medical insurance," Ms. Stille says. "Other fringe benefits may include dental insurance, profit-sharing, stock purchase plans and stock bonus plans."

She stresses that the employment outlook in this field is especially good, pointing out that during the coming decade word processing will affect in one way or another all who work in offices.

This fall, students may choose from among three different sections of beginning word processing, with one course offered on Tuesday and Thursdays from 10:50 a.m. to 12:05 p.m. and the required lab scheduled from 12:15 to 1:05 p.m. on both days.

Another will be offered from 6 to 10:20 p.m. on Tuesdays, with lab time included. The third section will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from 9:25 to 10:40 a.m., with the required lab scheduled on both days from 10:50 to 11:40 a.m.

Persons wishing to obtain additional information about the word processing courses available at Cooke County College should contact Ms. Stille at 817/668-7731, extension 263.

The Formative Years

Why should a learning center be available to a child at ages 3, 4 and 5? What is learning? How does a child learn?

The first five years of a child's life are the most important years—the formative years. By the time he is 6 years old, a child's basic personality—which he will carry with him for the rest of his life—has been formed. Not only is the emotional development important, but his intellectual development as well. By the age of 4, a child has developed one-half of his intelligence—his ability to mentally manipulate and process information.

Learning is a natural, living and vibrant process that continues with us as we experience life. Learning should take place in a natural, home-like environment—a place children can feel a part of. It should be a pleasant and enjoyable place. There may be children of several ages there as in a natural home environment.

Learning is a personal and private happening. It goes on within each individual at his own pace. It is more than reciting the ABC's or knowing that 2x3=6. It is the accumulation of responses to the senses and interacting with others.

Children learn through their own experience and by example, seeing others (a teacher or another child) experience a situation, or by interaction with another. Children have different interests at different times and may pursue these interests for an extended period of time. They should have a variety of materials available to stimulate their interests and room to pursue these interests.

True learning is not accomplished by drilling information into a child but rather by allowing the child to perfect himself through his own powers and experiences. We cannot make a child learn. We can only present him with the opportunity to learn in the proper environment with a minimal amount of interference to "let me do it myself."

Children may be compared to beautiful flowers unfolding from within and requiring only a favorable and cultivated environment for this growth.

The Young Children's Learning Center has been founded to enrich children during their formative years.

Learning Center staff announced

Mrs. Loretta Felderhoff, director of the Young Children's Learning Center has announced the staff, as follows: Susan Wilkerson, teacher; and five aides, Mmes. Patsy Bayer, Peggy Grewing, Charlotte Klement, Lynn Dangelmayr and Janet Hess.

The Young Children's Learning Center is a non-profit organization and will deeply appreciate any donations, and will accept them in any form, monetary or useful items. Suggestions included any sizes of trays or baskets, children's books or records, art supplies, colorful magazines, small size glass pitchers, an aquarium, etc. Interested persons may call The Young Children's Learning Center, 759-4918 or Peggy Grewing 759-4119 for information about needs.

Montessori Education 'The Sensorial Exercises'

by Ann Green

Maria Montessori defined education as self-development in a prepared environment. The Montessori method of education focused on four main areas: sensorial activity, language, and mathematical reasoning. This article will attempt to explain the sensorial development.

As the name implies, sensorial exercises are defined as "those exercises pertaining to the development of the five senses and for providing a foundation for speech, writing, and arithmetic." (Hainstock, Teaching Montessori in the Home). The Montessori school is equipped with materials designed to focus the child's mind on specific senses. For example the pink Tower introduces size through a series of ten pink cubes graded in size from one cm3 to 10 cm3. The Red Rods help the child recognize differences in length. The Smelling Jars must be matched using only the sense of smell. The Color Tablets provide an exercise of matching colors and distinguishing shades of colors. The Temperature Jugs are exactly alike except for temperature. The child pairs them from coldest to hottest. The Sound Boxes and the Bells provide excellent exercise in the fine art of listening. The Object Bag and Graded Sandpaper give the child practice in developing his tactile sense which is preparation for writing exercises later.

In experiencing these exercises the child is learning many things. He is learning basic problem solving strategies. He is being trained to organize and order those ideas received by his senses. Most of all he is learning to observe and to experience the joy of learning new ideas and concepts from his observations. His natural inquisitive spirit is being nurtured and he is learning how to learn which is the basis of all education.

NOTICE OF CALCULATION OF EFFECTIVE TAX RATE AND PUBLICATION OF ESTIMATED UNENCUMBERED FUND BALANCES

I, Leroy Johnson, Chief Appraiser for the Cooke County Tax Appraisal District, in accordance with the provisions of Sec. 26.04 of the Property Tax Code, have calculated the tax rate which may not be exceeded by more than three percent by the Münster Independent School District without holding a public hearing as required by the code. That rate is as follows: $.53 per $100.00 of value.

The estimated unencumbered balances for Maintenance and Operation fund: $125,000.00.
The estimated unencumbered balances for Interest and Sinking fund: $5,801,711.

Brent McElreath completes summer class in architecture

Brent McElreath, senior at MHS has just completed a six week course at the University of Texas at Austin, Summer Academy in architecture. The 42 students represented many cities in Texas, plus the states of Illinois, Maryland and Massachusetts.

Their six-week project was to take a parking lot on the campus and design and draw floor and site plans, complete with elevations, sections and oblique drawings, and to make into a tower and academic and residential building to be used by the college.

On Friday, August 13, a banquet and awards ceremony was given for the students. Each received a certificate and a monogrammed T-shirt. Special awards were presented to nine students for outstanding work. Brent was one of the nine who received the awards.

On Saturday morning, Brent's mother, Mrs. Grady McElreath, attended "Parents' Day" in Sutton Hall where the students' work was on display. The four instructors of the Summer Academy and the co-ordinator of the academy were on hand to meet the parents and tell of the students' accomplishments.

Free and reduced price meals available at local schools

Students of the two Muenster schools whose families have incomes at or below the guidelines specified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture are again eligible for free or reduced price meals at the school lunch rooms.

Information to this effect is being sent by the schools to all parents along with copies of income eligibility guidelines and application forms for use by those who can qualify. Forms for Sacred Heart are to be returned to Principal Beyer and those for the Public School to Superintendent Coffey. In case of question the matter will be referred to Rev. Denis Soerries or to the Muenster ISD school board.

If reduced price meals are approved the school may set the price, but in no case will it be allowed to charge more than 40 cents a meal.

As indicated by the income eligibility guidelines, a child may have free meals if the family's annual income is $6080 or less, and it can get reduced price meals if the family income ranges from $6080 to $8660. Or 2 children can get free meals if the family's income is $8090 or less; and they can get reduced price meals if the income is below $11,510 a year. Eight children can have free meals if family income is below $20,100 or reduced price meals if the income below $28,600.

The guidelines are listed also on the bases of monthly and weekly family pay. A copy of the guideline is reproduced here.

Sacred Heart, Era meet in scrimmage

Sacred Heart's Tigers will host Era's Hornets Friday night in the season's first action for both teams. It will be a controlled scrimmage starting at 6 p.m. and will not have an admission charge. Instead of the pay, however, supporters are urged to bring soap and towels to replenish supplies at the shower rooms.

Action at the scrimmage is expected to consist of taking turns at offense and defense with 20 plays assigned for a possession. Object of the offense is to complete first down distance in thru plays to keep a drive in motion and hopefully to keep advancing to the goal. If the first down effort fails the drive starts over from the original point.

At this time the Tigers rate as favorites. They are well staffed with experience and size from last year's team whereas their visitors are limited in both size and depth.

According to Coach Virgil Henscheid, the season outlook is encouraging. Tigers have been working hard and making fine progress, apparently improving on the condition at the end of their successful '81 season.

Fluker is control line world champ

Tom Fluker of Gainesville is the new world champion of control line model aeronautics and his father, Tom Fluker Sr., shares in the glory as a member of the plane's crew. The elder Fluker, who has been involved in his son's hobby for 10 years, is counselor on the Muenster High School faculty.

The world title was won in Oxelosund, Sweden, July 22-25. Known as combat flying it consists of two planes trailing streamers, and the object of each is to make the most cuts in the opposing streamer. Points are awarded for each cut but deducted for each rule infraction.

Fluker competed with seven opponents on his way to the title: two each from Spain, Italy and Denmark and one from Russia. Twenty six countries were represented and each had a 3-member team. Along with his individual win, US won the team title as Italy and Denmark were No. 2 and No. 3. Also Fluker at 18 was the first American ever to win the world title, the youngest ever to win it, and a member of the US team finishing first.

Fluker qualified for the trip to Sweden by placing first in US team trials last September at Nashville. As the world champ his is eligible for the next world competition to be held in two year's, hopefully in the US.

Larry Wimmer moves up for the baton hand-off from Clifford Sicking in the sprint relay of the Jaycees track meet.

MHS hosts Boyd in scrimmage

Coach Peters and his MHS Hornets will get their first sample of 1982 football Friday night as they host the Yellowjackets of Boyd in a scrimmage session.

Indications are that it will be a one sided affair with the visitors enjoying a strong advantage. Comparison of the two teams applies two ways. First of all Boyd is a power in Class AA, having finished near the top of its district last year. And secondly the Hornets are not only in Class A but also struggling as beginners. As printed out by Coach Peters, this is a rebuilding year after last year's major loss of talent, experience and size by graduation. The team presently has six returning lettermen. Other players will be mostly sophomores.

In spite of the problem the Hornets have a good attitude. They are working hard and improving steadily, fully intending to make their rebuilding start showing soon.

The scrimmage will make use of the usual kind of action. With coaches present on the field, the teams will take turns at offense and defense, probably 20 plays on each possession.

It will begin at 6:30. No admission will be charged, but in lieu of paying fans are urged to bring soap.

A special attraction of the evening will be charcoaled hot dogs and ice tea provided by the Quarterback Club to members of both teams and parents and fans of both sides, and the Hornet Band, following the scrimmage.

Celina will host fun run

Fun runners of North Texas have an invitation from Celina to do their thing there on Saturday, Sept. 4. The main event will be a 10 km (6.2 mile) race and another will be a 2 mile race. Both are in men's and ladies divisions and each division will have six age groups with trophies to be awarded to the top three places of all groups. In addition all under-12 entries of the 2 mile run will receive ribbons. Entry fee is $6 before August 28, and $7 on or after that date. Related attractions are a 6 p.m. barbecue, a dance on the square, arts and crafts and games.

Gainesville team is champ of slow-pitch tournament

In a day and three nights during the past weekend the Muenster baseball park was buzzing with another slow pitch softball tournament. Sponsored by Express Softball of Gainesville it consisted of Thursday and Friday night sessions and ended Saturday with an early morning to 10:30 p.m. endurance event before Wolfers of Gainesville claimed the top trophy. The team had a perfect record until its final with James Basketball fans of Cooke County College are happy. Trustees decided Monday night to continue the sport after a special meeting before about 100 visitors.

The issue originated at a previous trustee meeting in which David Howeth suggested ending the basketball program and giving more attention to tennis and intramural sports. The proposal led to strong opposition from fans as well as the CCC board and other personnel.

At the special meeting Howeth modified his stand, asking for continued support of the college athletic program along with more emphasis on intramurals.

He also asked for community improvement of the CCC athletic image by more local recruiting.

The athletic budget will be cut by about $6,000. Howeth said "We're trying to treat everyone in the institution fairly, asking all staff members not to get a raise next year. We feel like it's only fair to have the athletic program operate on last year's budget."

No opposing views were presented at the meeting. Dr. Alton Laird, CCC president, said he was in favor of the athletic program. "I think it's necessary. I think it has a great bearing on the college. If we do away with athletics, it has implications all across the campus."

McGill Sport Center of Denton. Losing that, it moved into the double elimination final and made good on the second try.

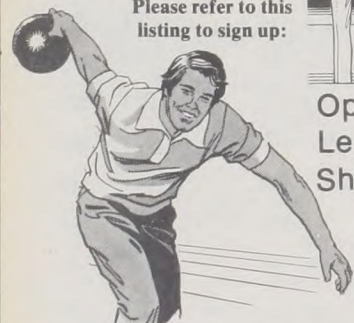

Next high honors were claimed by two Muenster teams. Anheuser Light was third, Red River Liquor was fourth.

Awards consisted of team trophies and individual trophies to the winner and runner up, and team trophies only to third and fourth places.

August Newsletter

WELCOME BACK

School begins Wednesday, August 25th at 7:55 a.m. It seems only yesterday that we finished last year. Nonetheless, we are all excited about the new school year. Although everyone, parents, teachers, and students, seem to be pleased when an old school year ends, the magic of "school days" seems to begin beckoning about the last week of July. Pleasant memories of friendships and filled days, and football cause students to look forward to the new school year.

Teachers return with renewed enthusiasm preparing exciting new adventures for each student.

Parents, well parents are excited about nine months of opportunity for their children to learn new and exciting wonders of our world. Of course, parents are sad to see all the wonderful summer activities end. Don't be discouraged parents, in only nine short months you'll be able to return to a fun-filled life of baseball practices, swimming parties, slumber parties, two-week "vacations" and days filled with "Boy, I wish there was something" to do."

HAT'S OFF!

Throughout the year there is one "unsung hero" who helps the school in an almost uncountable number of ways. Everyday someone must fill our school buses with gas. Everyday someone must check our buses' tires and oil. When our buses develop problems, someone must be ever ready to fix them. For many years, Mr. Herbie Knabe has faithfully and unselfishly kept our school buses in excellent condition. Herbie, our school community says "Thank You."

BUS REGISTRATION

If you want your children to ride the buses this year, please call the H.S. office (759-4121). The fees will remain the same as last year. Unless you call us, we will not know if we should pickup your children.

NEW SECRETARY

Our new school secretary is Mary Bayer. Mary and her husband, Claude, have four children at Sacred Heart School. In previous years, Mary has served S.H. as a bus driver for regular routes and extra-curricular activities. S.H. welcomes our new secretary, Mary Bayer.

NEW SCHOOL BOARD

The new school board and officers have been set for 1982. They are Chuck Bartush, pres.; Don Hess, vice-pres.; Holly Koch, secy.; Werner Becker, Angelo Nasche, Jeannine Flusche and Gracie Fuhrman members.

New committee members are:
Finance, Chuck Bartush, Don Hess; Publicity: Holly Koch; Scholarship: Angelo Nasche, Werner Becker, Jr.; Coupon: Jeannine Flusche; Emergency closing Committee: Angelo Nasche, Werner Becker, Holly Koch.

Bettye Dodds retires
 For the first time in thirty years, Bettye Jane Dodds is not getting ready to start teaching when school starts this year. She retired at the end of the last school year after teaching business the past twenty five years at Muenster ISD.

She is a native of Decatur, attended high school and junior college there and received bachelor and master degrees from North Texas State University. Both degrees were in business. Bette taught two years at Antelope and three at Petrolia before coming to Muenster. While here she did many things besides teaching all of the business subjects. She was the school accountant for most of the years. She sponsored ten senior classes and accompanied nine of them on senior trips. She sponsored sixteen yearbooks, founded the Muenster chapter of Business Leaders of America, and was a co-founder of the local chapter of the National Honor Society.

Throughout the years Miss Dodds was the school's principal pianist. She accompanied students at music contests and at a variety of singing programs at school and also played many years at graduation. In addition she sang at many occasions.

Bette holds membership in a number of educator associations, particularly business education, and serves as vice grand of the Decatur Rebekah Lodge.

A specially active hobby for several years has been photographing and identifying wildflowers and other native plants, leading to her charter membership and current position of state secretary of the Texas Native Plant Society. Bettye has presented many programs on this subject. Other hobbies are reading, needlework, stamp and post card collecting, music and oil paintings.

Miss Dodds says she will miss the association of teenagers most of all. "Their conversations and activities are invigorating, they stimulate and help keep one's mind active." She added she will also miss the regimentation.

Bettye plans to seek office employment, to put into practice the skills she has been teaching.

Superintendent Charles Coffey said Miss Dodds will be missed. Everyone wishes her happiness in her retirement.

Computer literacy necessity for today's educators

COLLEGE STATION — Computers have become a new factor to be considered in the age-old quotient of reading, writing, and arithmetic, says a national leader in teacher education.

That means teachers today must be able to show their students how to use computers in mastering those skills. And if teachers going into the school systems need to know computers, it follows that university faculty who teach those teachers must know computers as well, said Dr. Dean Corrigan, dean of Texas A&M University's College of Education. Corrigan also is president of the American Association of Colleges for Teachers Education.

"Computer literacy is almost a basic skill now," Corrigan said. "Students can use computers for sociology classes as well as mathematics. We want to make sure our prospective teachers are competent to teach their students in the schools in the use of computers."
