Without disputing the good intentions of lawmakers, many of us are inclined to dispute their judgement and regard for our wishes in supporting the mandatory installation of safety harness in automobiles. Their thinking implies that "this is good for you, therefore we're going to do it to you, whether you like it or not."

The important point to consider on the other side is that this is a restraint of freedom, and the fact that millions of people prefer a minor risk rather than the awareness that another's will is forced upon them. Along that line of reasoning, average people inevitably reach the point of preferring to live by their own judgment rather than the mandate of some do-gooder in Washington. To a great extent this applies to the issue at hand. How many people will simply assume that risk is a fact of life and they would rather live with it than have their freedom curtailed?

All of us are aware, of course, that our freedom is limited by other safety regulations, such as speed limits and stop signs, which are welcomed by the general public. But they involve a difference: the safety of others as well as self. Whereas we feel obligated where others are concerned we feel more freedom where we are concerned. Furthermore we resent when government deprives us of the right to make our own decisions regarding our welfare.

If the legislators decide this issue for us, how much farther can they go? How many other activities can they regulate on the claim that risks are sufficient to curtail more freedom for the sake of safety? It seems they would have to restrain or banish boating, swimming, motorcycling, occupational hazards, and even walking on the street. Prevalence of robbery, rape and murder make it risky to venture outdoors. Even indoors is unsafe. What freedom can be eliminated there to reduce risk? In the over-all concept of this issue, how far is America willing to go in sacrificing its freedom to improve its security?

Another problem is cost. News reports say we can expect an increase of $50 per car within a year because of the new safety devices. It's another of several expenses of recent years for items added by legislature without public approval. Car buyers are tired of buying items they did not choose.

It seems our government is on the wrong track in its efforts to limit freedoms for the security of consumers. Those efforts can be applied more effectively at the other end of the social system. In the matter of increasing automotive safety it seems wiser to put more pressure on reckless and drunken drivers. Mandatory seat belts are less needed if accidents can be reduced. The principle applies also in the matter of crime, and has us wondering how long it will be until government curtails more freedom and imposes more cost to protect us. That isn't the proper approach. The goal should be to crack down on criminals, reducing crime and allowing us more freedom, not less. The real concern of our lawmakers is not to find ways of coping with undesirable conditions, but

School enrollment loses nine

Muenster High School shows gain of six

The combined enrollment of Muenster schools this year is 661, an unwelcome loss of 9 from last year's total of 670. The figures became available Monday after registrations at the public school showed a total of 426, a drop of 4 from the 1981 count of 430. Sacred Heart's 235 and its loss of 5 from the last year's total of 240 were known since classes started last week.

The drop is explained mostly in kindergarten where the number fell from 57 to 37. Comparing this loss of 20 with the over-all net loss of nine indicates that the schools have gained 11 in remaining grades. This increase is seen in the count of twelfth graders, now numbering 65 whereas last year had 47. Exclusive of the grades K and 12 totals, the schools show a net loss of 7, which can be explained by the number of moves into and out of the district.

Figures also reveal that Sacred Heart elementary has dropped from 160 to 157 and the high school has dropped from 80 to 78. Meanwhile Muenster elementary has dropped from 310 to 300 whereas the high school has gained from 120 to 126.

A review of past enrollments shows a big decline from the high of 797 in 1968, which then did not include kindergarten. As a comparison the present elementary present twelve grades, without kindergarten would be 624 a loss of 173 or almost 22 percent in 14 years.

Enrollment by grades at Sacred Heart and Public School and the combined counts are as follows:

Grade	Sh	PS	Total
K	14	23	37
1	19	42	61
2	17	31	48
3	22	34	56
4	19	35	54
5	14	33	47
6	17	40	57
7	17	33	50
8	18	29	47
Total	157	300	457
9	17	39	56
10	16	28	44
11	18	21	39
12	27	38	65
Total	78	126	204
Total	235	426	661

Students move into new junior high, science building

Classes and finishing work are under way at the same time at the public school this week. Following a meeting with the contractor Friday, the Muenster ISD trustees accepted the new science and junior high building on condition that remaining work will be done while classes are in progress.

The finishing job consists principally of painting and installing acoustical tile ceiling. The work plan involves doing the finish as much as possible without interfering with the students.

The new structure includes a spacious science room to be used by all science students for classes and laboratory. In addition it has five classrooms for the junior high students. It is the school's first building to be fully air conditioned and its paint follows the new preference for bright colors. Exterior is brick matching other buildings.

Occupancy by junior high vacates the north wing of the main building for use by elementary grades 5 and 6 which have moved out of the elementary building, providing additional space for K through 4.

Superintendent Coffey expects the new building to be ready for showing at an open house in two to three weeks.

School board adopts budget of $1,176,568

Trustees of Muenster Public School at their regular meeting last Thursday adopted a budget of $1,176,568 for the coming school year. They also decided on a tax rate of 53 cents on $100 of assessed valuation to provide the local funds for their operation and debt service. Total valuation of Muenster ISD is quoted at $101,618,038, yielding a total revenue of $538,675.

Other local source revenues, such as athletic and lunch room receipts, interest on CD, etc. raise the local account to $647,376.

Receipts from the state, for per capita and transportation are figured at $496,187 and revenue from federal programs are estimated at $33,670. Those three sources add to $1,177,233, the total income.

Expense items are listed as follows:
Instruction $601,376
Instruction resources & media 30,365
Instruction admin. 28,630
Guidance & counseling 2,400
Health service 300
Pupil transport. 60,500
Co-Curricular activities 29,475
Food service 61,850
Gen Admin, supt's. office 95,992
Debt service 50,000

October 3 deadline set for voter registration

A proclamation issued by Governor Clements reminds people of Texas that the state's population is approximately 14.2 million, of which 9.9 million are eligible to register and 6.6 million actually are registered to vote, but only 24 percent of the qualified votes cast their ballots in the May 1982 primary and a mere 9.3 percent of those registered voted in June.

To improve on this disappointing record, he urges all eligible persons to qualify for a vote in the 1982 general election by registering on or before October 3. He calls special attention to this year's enrollment of about 188,000 high school seniors who will reach voting age this year and reminds them to register.

Relative to voter registration, the office of Secretary of State submits the following information. Qualifications for Voting:

1. You must be a citizen of the United States.
2. You must be at least 18 years of age on the day of the election.
3. You must be a resident of the county, or political subdivision conducting the election.
4. You must be registered to vote.

Persons Not Entitled to Vote:
1. Those convicted of a felony whose full rights of citizenship have not been restored.
2. Those persons found mentally incompetent by a court of law.

How to Register to Vote:

1. Complete a post card application for voter registration and mail it postage-free or present it in person to the voter registrar in your county.

2. You may register to vote at any time, but your application must be received by your county Voter Registrar by October 3, 1982 in order to vote in the November 2, 1982 general election. Because October 3, 1982 falls on a Sunday, persons wishing to register in person at the voter registrar's office by the October 3rd deadline must do so no later than the close of business, Friday, October 1, 1982.

3. You may register to vote if you are at least 17 years and 10 months of age, but you may not vote until you are 18 years of age.

To obtain a voter registration application, contact your county voter registrar or call the Secretary of State's office toll-free at 1-800-252-9602 and one will be mailed to you.

Council OKs 3% tax increase

No objections were heard Monday night in the city council's public hearing on increasing the city tax rate by more than 3 percent. As a result, the council proceeded with budget considerations which will be completed at its next general meeting on Monday, Sept. 13.

With an increase of at least 3 percent authorized, the city will have some flexibility in setting the tax rate. Its purpose is to increase revenue by that amount, and the actual rate will be decided after the city receives a report on total valuations from the Cooke County Tax Appraisal District.

City revenue from tax this year was about $77,000 and expected need of the new budget is estimated to be about $80,000. The tax to yield that amount on the basis of current figures is expected to be about 35 cents per $100 of valuation, which is set at 100 percent of actual value.

J.M. Weinzapfel resigns from Clear Creek Watershed Board

After more than a quarter of a century of service to the soil conservation program in this area, J.M. Weinzapfel, retired, announced this week that he chooses to discontinue that activity.

Herewith is his letter of resignation as chairman of the board of the Clear Creek Watershed Authority.

Some 26 years ago the Clear Creek Watershed Authority came into being and at that time I accepted chairmanship of the board of directors. Over the years since that time it has been my great pleasure to serve in that capacity with changing directors truly dedicated to the purposes of the authority. Working together with the Soil Conservation Service, landowners, and other individuals, particularly our friends in banking and publishing, we have seen many of our aims materialize and become fact. Where we once witnessed raging, soil devouring floods we now see a network of dams and controlled streams contributing to beauty and production. Deep gulleys and barren earth have been converted to useable farm and pastureland.

When one reaches my time in life one is often prone to look back and recount things of the past and most notably those of a pleasant nature. Among my favorites are our annual awards banquets when we recognized the contributions, efforts, and

Good News

Hebrews 1:1-4

In the past God spoke to our ancestors many times and in many ways through the prophets, but in these last days he has spoken to us through his Son. He is the one through whom God created the universe, the one whom God has chosen to possess all things at the end. He reflects the brightness of God's glory and is the exact likeness of God's own being, sustaining the universe with his powerful word. After achieving forgiveness for the sins of mankind, he sat down in heaven at the right side of God, the Supreme Power.

The Son was made greater than the angels, just as the name that God gave him is greater than theirs.

13 days of 100 or more

Friday of last week was the hottest of the year to date, but over-all August is gratefully remembered for a comparatively mild temperature. Unlike the usual record, it had only 13 days of 100 degrees or more, and most of them were barely 100. The hottest was 104 on the 27th.

Moisture was less pleasing. In spite of 1.87 inch for the month most of it (1.52) came on the first day and the balance of the month has had only .35. Vegetation is suffering.

Temperature readings of the past week are recorded as follows by Steve Moser.

THE THIRD OPTION

We are convinced the Soviets do not want a nuclear war. Their strategic forces are designed rather to intimidate us, blackmail us into surrender, should they be successful in getting us to disarm once again.

We agree with the assessment of Dr. Fred Schwarz, speaking of the danger of the Falkland Islands crisis recently: "I remain convinced that the danger of this conflict becoming a worldwide war is very slight. This is because such a war does not fit into the grand design of the Soviet Union. The Soviet Union is determined to conquer the world for Communism. The Communist leaders are convinced by their doctrine and their progress that such conquest is not far over the horizon."

"They desire to inherit real estate which is in good condition and not a depopulated, radioactive desert. They have visions of controlling the magnificent homes, factories, highways, skyscrapers, schools, churches, hospitals, airports and parks of the U.S.A., as they are at present."

"Consequently it would be very difficult to provoke them into thermonuclear war. They prefer to continue their present program of increasing the encirclement of the U.S.A. By the Communist conquest and consolidation of Third World Countries such as Nicaragua and El Salvador; demoralizing the U.S.A. internally; and winning recurrent concessions from the U.S. Government. These concessions are presented as necessary to prevent crises that might escalate into nuclear war."

"Once the U.S.A. is reduced to relative impotence by the summation of these concessions, the Communists believe it will be possible to negotiate an agreement which will result in surrender even though it will not be called by that name."

General John Singlaub agrees that the major threat to the Free World is not from strategic forces but rather from "the opposite end of the conflict spectrum — terrorism, subversion, guerrilla and irregular warfare which is known as unconventional warfare."

The General states that the Soviets have assessed the risks involved "by a direct assault on Europe" and decided they can advance their world revolution through much safer means. He believes we can be absolutely certain the Soviets and their surrogates will use sabotage, economic warfare, support to resistance groups, psychological warfare, disinformation activities and political warfare "to expand their empire through war of National Liberation as a part of the continuing class struggle" to use their own words: "General Singlaub issues an ominous warning to be considered seriously by every loyal American: "Unless we recognize that our enemies are exercising the 'third option' in the conflict spectrum we cannot take the steps essential for our own defense. If we continue to ignore the unconventional or irregular warfare option we can be defeated just as certainly as we would if we ignored the threats posed at the upper end of the conflict spectrum."

The Soviets have given a high priority to their unconventional warfare activities which are "managed at the highest level of government authority." On the other hand, the Carter administration virtually destroyed our capability to counter such operations.

American interests are being attacked around the world by the Soviet's "third option." We must develop the will and the capability to exercise unconventional warfare in our own defense.

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm reminds young persons that he is presently receiving applications from young persons interested in competing for nominations to the service academies, for the classes entering July 1983. Stenholm advises that he will be using the competitive method of selection, so that all young persons meeting the necessary requirements may be considered.

The service academies are the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland; the Military Academy at West Point, New York; the Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colorado; the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York; and the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Connecticut. These institutions offer an excellent education and a great opportunity for young persons wishing to serve their country through a military career.

In order for Congressman Stenholm to consider applicants, a candidate must meet these requirements: 1. must be a U.S. citizen; 2. must be over 17 and under 22 years of age on July 1, 1983; 3. must be a legal resident of the 17th Congressional District; 4. must never have been married; 5. must be physically fit, including excellent eyesight; 6. must have a good overall high school record.

Stenholm stresses that political influence is not a factor in his nominations to the Academies. He is looking for bright, active, well-rounded individuals to offer as nominations.

Interested young persons who meet the above requirements should write to the Congressman Charles W. Stenholm, House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515, by October 1. Upon receipt of a letter of interest, the Congressman will provide information as to further steps which should be taken. Young persons should make arrangements on their own to take ACT or SAT examinations.

The competition for these nominations is keen, but Congressman Stenholm wants to assure all young persons interested in a military career that they will be given an equal opportunity to compete for nomination.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS

From the earliest days of our republic, international trade has been one of the mainstays of our economic prosperity. As the world has shrunk in this century, the free movement of goods and services across national boundaries has become more critical than ever. We depend on foreign markets to supply us with important materials, and to purchase our products.

Agriculture accounts for one-fifth of our export trade. U.S. farmers are the most productive in the world. They produce three times more during each work day than they did as recently as in 1960. As a result, we are the best-fed nation in history, and still have sufficient production to be a major food supplier to the rest of the world.

Were it not for the substantial contribution of agriculture to the positive side of our balance of payments, we would be hard-pressed to finance the import of other vital materials. Without agriculture exports in 1980, our trade deficit would have been double the $23.4 billion we recorded. Our agriculture surplus is sufficient alone to pay one-third the cost of our oil imports. For this year, it is projected that there will be a surplus of over $26 billion in agriculture trade.

President Reagan recently announced that we will explore the possibility of a one-year extension of the Russian grain agreement which is scheduled to expire October 1. I have long supported offering U.S. agricultural commodities to any reasonable purchaser. In leadership conferences with the President, I have consistently stressed the need for a stable world market for the sale of these commodities, since uncertainty in the availability of our agricultural commodities simply causes potential purchasers to pursue other suppliers and our farmers bear the brunt of the lost sales. For this reason, I have always taken the position that a limited embargo is neither an effective foreign policy tool nor an equitable burden when borne only by the agriculture sector.

The President has also authorized Secretary of Agriculture Block to consult with the Soviet Union on the subject of additional grain sales beyond the minimum purchase levels of the current agreement. These minimum purchase levels are three million metric tons of wheat and an equal amount of corn.

While I support the extension of the existing agreement and the possibility of additional wheat and corn sales to the Soviets, I have joined with several other Senators in asking President Reagan to direct Secretary Block and our negotiators to explore the possibility of including rice in any extension of the Russian grain agreement.

About two-thirds of the U.S. rice crop is currently exported, and Russia is one of the largest importers of rice in the world. However, none of Russia's rice imports now come from the United States.

U.S. farmers produce top-quality rice, and they can meet almost any market demand because of the many different types of rice which they produce. If U.S. rice farmers could gain even minimal entry into the Russian market they would then have an important opportunity to expand the export markets which are so vital to this important crop.

For this reason, I am hopeful that the existing grain agreement with the Soviet Union will be expanded to include rice. I think it is important that our negotiators, with direction from the President, do everything possible to secure the inclusion of rice in the grain agreement extension with the Soviets. I shall continue to work to insure a healthy, stable international sales market and will continue to pursue this matter both within the Senate and with the Administration.

Funday will honor Stenholm

Congressman and Mrs. Charles Stenholm will be the honored guests on Saturday, Sept. 11, at the Fourth Annual Funday festivities sponsored by "Friends of Charlie" and the Stenholm Re-election Committee. The Texas-style barbecue and picnic will be held at the Ericsdahl picnic grounds near Stenholm's home town of Stanford starting at 5 p.m.

"At Funday, I hope to bring folks up to date on the latest legislative matters we're dealing with in the Congress and answer any questions they may have since our town hall meetings this summer," Stenholm said.

The Congressman held 21 "Chat with Charlie" meetings in the 17th district during July and August.

A special Funday feature will honor county coordiners leaving the 17th district because of redistricting. Counties concerned are Baylor, Dawson, Floyd, Kent and Knox. Funday tickets are available at $10 per person from the Stenholm Re-election Committee, Box 1032, Stanford, Tx. 79553. The menu features fried chicken, barbecued beef and DeLeon iced watermelons.

Learn effective use of credit

Very few of us would own a home or cars if we had to wait until we had enough money to pay in cash. Careful use of credit makes it possible to buy things when your family wants or needs them and pay for them as resources are available.

While more people are concerned about increases in the cost of living, too often families increase their cost of living 18 percent or more by using credit.

There are ways to cut the cost of using credit however. You can learn about effective use of credit by enrolling in a mail out series currently available from the County Extension Office.

The series will include bulletins on:

- What is credit
- Applying for Credit
- Understanding Credit Costs
- Using Credit Cards
- Deciding when to use credit
- Buying on the installment plan
- Borrowing money
- Handling credit problems

It is important that all family members be included in the area of family finance. Individual family members will be able to better understand the advantages and disadvantages of the use of credit by receiving the Bulletin series.

To enroll in the series call Mrs. Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent at 665-4931 or 665-1966. The series is one of the many educational programs being conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Services.

TOO MANY PEOPLE OR TOO LITTLE FOOD?

By Edwin Feulner

First the good news: instead of 7.5 billion, as previously estimated, the world population will likely rise only to 6.1 billion by the year 2000. It now stands at 4.2 billion.

Now the bad news: some 20 million people die each year from chronic hunger and malnutrition, and millions more don't have enough to eat. This means, says farm expert Jack Early, "that to meet the growing needs we will have to stretch well beyond today's technological barriers into worlds unknown."

Dr. Early, president of the National Agricultural Chemicals Association and a former research entomologist, notes that the entire history of civilization "has been an attempt to accept nature's gifts but confront its threats to mankind. Scientific research in fields like medicine and agricultural chemicals has been an unending effort to fight man's natural enemies, whether they're microbes or insects."

Even today, he notes, "insects are man's prime competitor for the food we eat," destroying as much as one-third or more of the potential harvest each year, and half or more in some less-developed countries.

Dr. Gordon F. Snow, senior policy advisor on the Council on Environmental Quality, noted in a recent article that the United States is one of only eight countries in the world that consistently produces more food than it needs itself. "This didn't come about because farmers spend their time hand-picking bugs off their crops."

Last summer Americans watched as California agonized over an invasion of Mediterranean fruit flies. The medflies threatened the world's most-productive agricultural region with devastating losses. The infestation nearly got out of hand. A too-little, too-late chemical blitz ended up costing tens of millions of dollars.

Dr. Keith C. Barrons, author of Are Pesticides Really Necessary? (Regency Gateway, Chicago, 1981), notes that chemicals are, and will remain, the farmer's "first line of defense" — not only against crop-destroying insects, but against weeds that choke off plant growth and plant disease. Chemicals, he adds, also are used to control rodents, protect us from insects that transmit human disease, guard food from insect and rodent damage after harvest, and even preserve wood products, making "poles, posts and structural lumber last longer saving vast forests from being cut."

Though Ralph Nader's legions continue to agitate for tighter pesticide regulations, there is always the danger that the regulatory nose will get so tight it will choke off the kind of innovation necessary to meet the challenge of feeding six billion people. While it is necessary to recognize that the pesticides that have helped boost U.S. agricultural production to undreamed-of levels can, indeed, be dangerous, there also is the need to recognize that they are absolutely vital.

Strake Talk

TWO TERMS IS ENOUGH

Texans have a healthy skepticism of their elected officials, a wariness of entrenched power that they have embodied in the state constitution. They have historically refused to keep top state officeholders more than a few terms.

Now my opponent comes along, having spent nearly ten years in the Lt. Governor's office, one of the top state policy-making offices. Mr. Hobby wants yet another term to make it 14 years in that crucial job. That is unprecedented.

Never in Texas' history has any Lt. Governor served that long—or wanted to. His desire, frankly, puzzles me. You would think he would have other goals, other challenges he might want to tackle. As his primary opponent this year said, "If he had anything to get done, you'd think he would have done it by now."

My opponent will tell you that experience is what counts. I think voters need to look at the experience they have had with him. After ten years, our highways are in bad shape, the quality of education has declined, we still do not have a new, statewide water plan and he has refused to tackle the growing crime problem. We can't afford more of that kind of experience.

I have a long-held belief in what I call the citizen-politician: someone who holds a job, serves his country or state for a reasonable time, then returns to that job and private life. For that reason, the first order of business after I am elected will be to have a constitutional amendment introduced in the legislature limiting the Lt. Governor to two terms—eight years. That is enough time for anyone. Too great a concentration of power for too long is bad. That is a principle of democracy.

If you have any thoughts on this subject, please write me at 1213 W. 34th, Austin, 78705.

rather to get rid of the conditions.

In most cases this simply involves enforcing laws which are already on the books. We have penalties for murder, rape, larceny, robbery and all the major offenses. All are adequate to bring on a major reduction of crime if law enforcement and the courts will bear down and quit going overboard for criminals' rights. If they will catch and sentence more, and keep them sentenced, we other people will have fewer worries. And when bad driving is reduced protective devices are less needed.

A major set-back to justice nowadays is the too-often-used contention by criminals that punishment is cruel and inhuman. They object to the death penalty for murder and rape, no matter how gruesome the crime. They object to jail sentence for armed robbery, arson and what not, to a stiff fine and loss of driver license for driving recklessness resulting in death or heavy damage.

As a rule it can be stated that sentences are actually less than justified by the offense whereas the policy for better effect is to impose more severe punishment. Paul Harvey explained it a few days ago in quoting a pioneer judge: "Horse thieves are hanged not for stealing a horse but so that horses will not be stolen." A modern paraphrase could be "rapists are not executed for violating a woman but so that women will not be violated."

And so on for other crimes. The legal system falls short when it tries to make punishment fit the crime. It makes a sucker of society because the criminal either goes free or his punishment is too mild for his offense.

Like the old judge, we feel that an eye for an eye is not enough. Rather that punishment should be severe enough to discourage future crime.

Forestburg celebrates

Miss Watermelon was named in three age group categories to reign over the Forestburg Watermelon Festival held Friday and Saturday.

During the pageant Friday evening five girls competed in 13-18 age group; four in the 8-12 age group; and eight in the 4-7 age group and were interviewed by five judges. Points for scoring considered by the judges included poise, genuineness, beauty, personality and shyness.

Michelle Hudspeth, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hudspeth of Forestburg was selected as this year's queen of the second annual Watermelon Festival. She is a junior at Forestburg High School where she is head cheerleader. Her hobbies are tennis, cheerleading and singing. She says she wants to be an actress.

Beth Holzbog, 12, was named winner in the 8-12 age group. She is the daughter of Mrs. Cornelia Holzbog of Forestburg and the late Herschal Holzbog. Beth is a seventh grader in the Forestburg School Her hobbies are track, basketball and 4-H club. She says she enjoys gymnastics, dancing, horses and boys. Her ambition is to be a model someday.

Ashley Anne Hill, 4 years old, winner of the 4-7 age group is the daughter of Garry and Deborah Hill of Forestburg. Her many activities include singing, dancing, and performing cheers and clown acts.

Judges were Imogene Evans, Linda Harvelle, Lucille Littell, Butch Fisher and Dave Fette.

Overshadowing probably any other activity of the celebration was the presence of PM Magazine's film crew for Channel 8. Anticipation of the likelihood of seeing home folks on TV and also highlights of the celebration, helped maintain the crowd throughout Saturday.

A parade opened the day's festivities. Bad men who tried to harass the guys in the white hats were dispatched into limbo before the bountiful homecoming dinner was served at noon in the community center.

Booths for crafts and foods were open all day as were games and contests and a fiddlers' competition; and a 5 mile Fun Run at 7 p.m. was followed by a dance at 9 p.m. with music by Doug Martin and The Rustlers.

Craft Show categories and winners in order listed are: Crochet - Yvonne Scott, Yvonne Scott and Nora Gratrell. Ceramics - Debra Dill, Ruth Harris and Debra Dill. Quilting - Billie Grigsley, Veda Brogdon and Veda Brogdon. Best of Show, Yvonne Scott.

Three lovely winners in the Miss Watermelon Pageant in Forestburg Friday evening are l. to r. Michelle Hudspeth, Ashley Anne Hill and Beth Holzbog.

I take some degree of personal pride in our accomplishments over the past quarter century. My time in soil conservation has been satisfying. However, I now feel I should relinquish my position to others. Consequently, I hereby tender my resignation as chairman and director, effective August 30, 1982.

Thank you all for allowing me to participate in the conservation program. My thoughts and best wishes will be with you in your pursuits.

Sara Stoffels enrolls in Arlington Heights

Sara Janay (Puppet) Stoffels has enrolled in Arlington Heights High School in Fort Worth, where she is a junior. She is making her home with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Banks and four children. Puppet is the daughter of Mrs. Ann Stoffels. Her brother, Nickie Stoffels has returned to North Texas State University. He is an accounting major and is a part-time employee of Roy Bryan.

Sacred Heart School

This year Sacred Heart School began with an exceptionally smooth start. No less than an authority - ex-superintendent Bishop Joseph Delaney noticed this. The Bishop, a surprise visitor to Sacred Heart said that he felt the school was off to a fine start.

There were many contributors to this fine beginning. The teachers had spent five days preparing for the beginning of school. During this in-service, the teachers were visited and encouraged by the new Diocesan Vicar of Education, Sr. Anne Finnerty.

The students, having already chosen their classwork, quickly stepped into the regular routine of the school. It seemed as though school had been in progress for a month.

All in all, a fine beginning to an excellent school year.

Labor Day Holiday
On Monday, September 6th, we celebrate the working person! As a result, SHS will dismiss all classes on this day.

Progress report
Progress reports will be sent home on Friday, September 24. Please remind your children to bring the notes straight home.

Dress-up Days
The Fridays before all home games (there are four home games) will be all-school (K-12) dress-up days. This Friday, September 3rd, is a dress up day. The theme for this Friday will be Stomp the Indians and also crazy shoe day. A prize will be given for the craziest shoes. Students will receive further information at school as to the themes of each dress-up day.

Opening Liturgy
The opening Liturgy was held on Friday August 27 with the theme of Lord, send us your Spirit. All students (1-12) participated in the mass with Father Denis as the celebrant. Music was provided by Serena Wright accompanied by Ruth Felderhoff on the organ. The first reading was given by Al Gonzales, second reading was given by Dorothy Bengfort, and Mr. Beyer gave the petitions. The offertory procession included Missy Stoffels carrying the Spirit Stick, Linda Biffle carrying the Tiger, Sr. Cecilia Marie - Christ Candle, Janie Fisher - Textbook, Eileen Fisher - Water & Wine, and Ollie Adamson - Host. Sr. Carmelita and Joe Felderhoff were Communion Ministers. The communion prayer was given by Janet Hesse.

Message from the freshman class sponsor
A special welcome to our Freshman class! They are certainly a bright, aggressive and optimistic group of students. I predict a great year for them and our school because of them. Respectfully - Judy Carver.

Note to science student parents
Throughout the year, I shall be requesting various students to bring items to class to be used in class experiments. If this causes any hardship, please notify me. Thank each of you for giving me your children for a year. I shall do my utmost to enrich their lives. Respectfully - Judy Carver.

From the Annual staff
The '82 yearbook staff is happy to announce the arrival of our bouncing new annual around Sept. 13. This year's Cordis costs $18.00. It has 136 pages full of all the exciting and memorable events of 1981-82. Extra copies will be on sale immediately after arrival and distribution to those who have already purchased theirs. Since this year covers are white with a red design, plastic covers will also be available for $1.00 each in limited quantity.

Another special brought to you by the yearbook staff will be T-shirts uniquely silkscreened with the same design as this year's cover! These will also be available for purchase at approximately the same time as the annual. (We do not have a definite delivery date yet.) These will probably go fast, but reordering should be fairly rapid. The cost is $6.50. The design is a Sacred Heart original and we are sure all SHS supporters will want one.

Honor Society

The National Honor Society staff has ordered some beautiful large full color Tiger head photo posters as a money raising project. They will be $3.00 each. We want everyone to have a Tiger in their tank and in their bedroom, living room, den, kitchen, playroom, porch, attic, barn, storm cellar...etc. The National Honor Society, as our highest academic organization, can really use your support for initiation of our new members this year. The poster arrival date is not set, but be on the lookout soon this fall.

First Reconciliation seminar

First reconciliation seminar will be held on Monday September 6, Labor Day, at 8:00 p.m. in the Community Center Meeting Room. This will be a first reconciliation seminar for the parents of Sacred Heart students who will be making their first confession this year. All parents should attend.

School spirit

The Sacred Heart Cheerleaders will be selling ribbons every Tuesday morning. They will also be selling Tiger pins. Pins - $1.00; Ribbons - $.50

Also available with safety toe.

Tigers host Nocona in opener

Sacred Heart's Tigers have their work cut out for them in the season opener with Nocona on the SH field Friday night starting at 8 p.m.

Information on the Indians, as acquired by Coach Virgil Henscheid, is that they have lots of strong points such as size, speed, passing and receiving. An all around good team, he said, which looks very much like the favorite.

However, the Tigers have other ideas. With considerable ability of their own and determined to start putting together an outstanding season record, they have a notion to dump the visitors. It's an ambitious job, the Tiger coach admitted, but it can be done by working hard and avoiding mistakes. Encouraging signs were noted last week in Sacred Heart's scrimmage at Lake Dallas. Matched against 3A power, the SH boys gave a good account of themselves on both offense and defense. The Falcons did slightly better in moving the ball, especially in one drive which included two big plays in advancing 76 yards to a first down and goal to go on the 4 yard line. But success suddenly ended there when the Tigers refused to budge in their goal line stand.

The Falcons' only score was made by its defense...an interception returned for a touchdown.

Tiger offense likewise failed to go all the way. From starts at the 20 yard line it completed a few first downs but failed to advance as far as mid-field.

Four injuries were sustained in the practice but three of them are not likely to keep any one out of the next game. Mike Bartush, with a twisted knee is doubtful for this week.

Mike Hesse wins a trophy and golf balls for the longest drive on Hole 4 of the SH Alumni tournament and Chris Cagle gets a similar award for the longest drive on Hole 8.

MHS starts season at Callisburg

An uphill job appears to await the MHS Hornets as they meet the Callisburg Wildcats at Callisburg Friday night at 8 o'clock. A special reminder to Muenster fans: the game will not be here as indicated in the pocket schedule. It's going to be on the opponent's field.

Regardless of location, however, it's a big assignment for Muenster. As seen by Coach Peters, the Hornets this year are in about the same fix that Callisburg was last year. With just a few exceptions, they are youngsters with a shortage of most of the wanted qualities, like size and experience and speed. On the other hand the Wildcats have advanced a year from that stage and they are starting to shape up.

The big difference applies principally to offense, which is developing slowly for MHS, whereas the wildcats have 10 starters back, including a pair of fleet footed ball toters.

But the cloud has a silver lining. The potent offense will be challenged by Muenster's defense, which has been encouraging. For instance in the scrimmage with 2A Southlake Carroll, MHS allowed very few gains. Southlake's two TDs were on big plays, otherwise Muenster allowed little yardage.

Meanwhile the Hornets did considerably less on offense, though somewhat better than a week before. First weeks are bearing out a prediction that this is their rebuilding year.

Just the same, Peters advises against selling them short. They are a hard working bunch and with the breaks, could upset someone.

Driver alertness urged when passing school buses

With the opening of schools, Texas drivers are strongly cautioned to be alert for students on their way to and from schools.

Motorists must exercise extreme care in school areas and along school bus routes. Texas law requires motorists to stop for any school bus loading or unloading passengers. To warn drivers, such buses will have alternately flashing RED LIGHTS on the front and rear. Motorists must remain stopped while these red lights are flashing. The Texas Department of Public Safety's statistics for 1981 showed there were 17 deaths and 925 injuries in 1,698 school bus-related accidents.

Safety officials say that drivers should also be alert at railroad crossings since school buses are required to stop, look and listen before crossing the tracks.

To remind drivers that special alertness is needed around schools and school buses, most cities will increase police surveillance.

7 students receive CCC scholarships

Good grades have earned financial rewards for seven students of Cooke County College. A report from CCC reveals that each of them will receive $175 for both fall and spring semesters this year.

The scholarships are made possible by contributions from CCC faculty members along with friends from area business and industry.

The honor students are

Tim Voth of Sacred Heart High, who has held the four top offices of the SH student council and president of the National Honor Society; three graduates of Lindsay High School; Patsy Schmidkofer, Linda Fuhrmann and Debbie Ann Metzler; also three graduates of Gainesville High School; William Schmidkofer, Stacie Stafford and Phillip Stockwell.

County 4-H honors adult leaders

The Cooke County 4-H Clubs held their 3rd annual 4-H Adult Leader Recognition Banquet on August 17.

Linda Sandmann, 1981 Gold Star recipient, extended the welcome and Trey Yarbrough, 1981 Gold Star recipient, gave the invocation.

The guests then selected their three course meal from a menu that included such delights as a wagon wheel, slopper mopper, china deluxe, hay maker, pig sticker, tormented strings, and clam digger. Everyone was thrilled by the surprise of what food they had actually selected.

The meal was prepared by Cookie Myers, Evelyn Yeatts, and Kelly Yarbrough. They were assisted by a number of 4-Hers, who also served the guests.

After dinner Certificates of Appreciation were presented to the volunteer leaders by the officers of the various county clubs.

The banquet closed with everyone saying the 4-H Prayer.

4-H members on the planning committee were Suzanne Tuck, Stephen Becker, and Kelly Yarbrough.

Elm-Red board sets grass judging contest

The board of directors of the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District, along with other agricultural workers in the district, has set October 13, 1982, as the date for the annual grass judging contest, according to Clyde Hale, chairman of the board.

The contest will be held at the Community Center building in Gainesville, and is open to all Agricultural Extension Service 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America Chapters in the three-county district. Registration will begin at 12:30 p.m. and judging at 1:30 and after the judging awards will be presented to winning teams and individuals.

The contest is based on knowledge of plants growing on farms and ranches in the district. They are to be identified by name, and classified as to grazing and wild-life value, whether annual or perennial, native or introduced, and whether cool or warm season growing plants.

There will be junior division for first-year agriculture students and a senior division for advanced students. A team will be composed of four students, and the team score will be made up of the three highest individual scores. Each FFA chapter and 4-H Club is urged to enter a team in each division.
