Jerry Falwell of Moral Majority reports that his organization is about to start a nation-wide survey of libraries to determine if a conspiracy is keeping conservative books and periodicals off the shelves. The intention, he said is to gather the information on libraries which use public funds, which includes public school and city libraries. He further states that Moral Majority's purpose is not to have any books removed from library shelves, but to have the conservative books placed there.

The organization claims that hundreds of quality books dealing with politics, the homosexual movement, feminism, family life, education, business and other areas have been denied the reading public because of liberal censorship. Relative to those subjects, this means that taxpayers are denied a service they are paying for.

Ironically, the accused in this issue are the same people who for years have leveled charges of censorship and book banning against conservatives and the new right. Anyone who objected to the immorality or vulgarity or socialism that have been increasing in all forms of the media could expect to be violently denounced as a censor and enemy of progress.

Falwell says that two of the organizations leading the way in book banning and censorship are the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Education Association, and both have been loud in spreading untruths that conservatives promote such activities.

The method of survey proposed by Moral Majority is to visit all public libraries and see whether conservative books are on the shelves along with the liberal volumes, also to urge the libraries to purchase the conservative books presenting the other side of controversial issues. Several thousand members of the fundamentalist group are scheduled to make some 20,000 contacts. They will have a list of quality books and periodicals that have been omitted from library shelves. At the same time they will supply supporters around the country with titles and other materials for inquiry at their own local libraries, thereby hopefully to influence the addition of conservative books in libraries that the crusade does not reach.

Falwell accuses that liberal censorship is leading the way to destruction of a nation which has been founded on education ... that the very reason public education is in such a decadent condition is because of ACLU and NCA and similar organizations which have conspired to remove allegiance to God and country. He urges every supporter of the Moral Majority and every American to join in this effort to rid our nation of book banners and censors.

He further states that no nation can survive if its people are stripped of their rights to read objectively and to study. "We must end the tyranny of our liberals in our educational system, and we can stop them dead in their tracks by demanding inclusion of conservative books on public shelves."

U.S. Representatives Tom Vandergriff and Charles Stenholm at Monday's town meeting at Cooke County College.

Congressmen rap federal spending

Congressmen Charles Stenholm and Thomas Vandergriff, who share representation of Cooke County under present district boundaries which separate the county, were in Gainesville Monday morning for a town meeting to comment on the current state of affairs in Washington and field questions from area citizens.

"Agriculture has come through two very tough years," Stenholm said in his opening comments, "but the PIK (payment in kind) program is offering hope and optimism." He said the program is designed to do two basic things: reduce supply and reduce budget expenditures for the farming industry.

He also told the more than 500 who gathered that the budget deficit proposed by President Reagan was too high, and that proposed by the House of Representatives was even worse.

Vandergriff remarked that there had been more mail received at their offices in Washington concerning the withholding tax on interest issue than any other issue since he had been there. He said the fact that more than $6 million had been spent on postage to deliver that mail is a strong indication of the concern shared by people of this area.

Most of the questions raised by those in attendance concerned such issues as defense spending, medicare, and gas deregulation.

Stenholm said the Soviet Union has vastly outspent the United States in national defense in recent years. The President's proposed 10 percent increase in defense spending was to high, he said, and the House increase of only 2.4 percent was too low. What was needed was something in between. "We've got to become more efficient in our defense spending," Stenholm said.

In response to questions concerning the future of Medicare, Stenholm said that the problems about to be faced by Medicare in the near future "are going to make the $165 million shortfall of Social Security look like chicken feed." He said the remedy for Social Security recently enacted was only a short-term repair, but that it was the best for now. "We ducked, it was the best we could do now, but it was only a short-term solution."

Vandergriff spoke out in favor of gas deregulation — but admitted that his view has not been adopted by many others in Washington. "Sometimes it seems as though it's Texas against the world on this issue," Vandergriff said. "We'd all be better off (with gas deregulation) but I'm afraid it probably won't happen in this session."

Local voters face 3 uncontested elections

People who report to the polls here Saturday will find three routine elections in which the ballots list one candidate only for each of the open positions; and it will also present a referendum on the issue of applying a tax levy on annexed areas as well as old areas of the Muenster Water District.

All of the balloting will be done in the lobby of Muenster High School between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. Catherine Walterscheid will be the election judge and Lou Moster and Ann Perkins the clerks for the city election and the referendum. At the same time L.B. Bruns will be the judge and Edgar Dyer and Robert McDaniel the clerks for Muenster ISD and Muenster Hospital Districts.

Candidates are listed as follows on the ballots. In the city election: Ronnie Felderhoff is a candidate for mayor to succeed Leo Hess, William Wimmer is a candidate for alderman place 3 succeeding Ronnie Felderhoff, and Ted Henscheid is a candidate for re-election in place 5.

In the school district election Gerald Walterscheid is a candidate for re-election in place 1 and Dennis Hess is a candidate to succeed Eddie Fleitman in place 2.

In the hospital district election the candidates in the order of their places on the ballot are Al Trubenbach, Dr. Marvin Knight, Paul Fetsch and Alphonse Felderhoff. Dr. Knight is asking to succeed Jimmy Jack Biffle, the other three are incumbents.

The ballot for the water district referendum concerns the issue of tax accountability in the area which was added since 1981. Added areas are not subject to tax unless it is authorized by special referendum.

As in the elections, the outcome of the referendum is taken for granted. Residents of all of the district vote on the issue, and it is assumed that those from the old area will choose to have newcomers share the water district tax with them.

Energy aid pledges in county "outstanding"

Mike Murphy, Texas Power and Light Company manager in Gainesville said today that Energy Aid pledges from TP&L customers in this area have been "outstanding."

Energy Aid is a program, announced by the company Feb. 1, that gives TP&L customers that opportunity to contribute through bill payments money that will be used to help needy people pay their heating and cooling costs.

"In Cooke County, 59 customers have pledged $118.00 per month to go into Energy Aid program," Murphy said. "Annualized, our customers' contributions come to $1416 per year. The response from our customers during the early stages of the program have simply been great."

These figures relate to pledges as of March 15.

Murphy said that those TP&L customers who have pledged will start seeing their pledges on April electrical bills and as soon as those pledges start coming back in to the company, that money will be transferred to the local agency handling the funds.

In Cooke County the agency handling TP&L's Energy Aid program is Texoma Regional Planning Commission.

"Throughout TP&L's service area which covers more than 40,000 square miles in North, Central and East Texas, 8,578 customers have pledged on an annual basis $281,657.," Murphy said. "We believed all along that many of our customers would be willing to help those in need if we could provide a way for a program like Energy Aid to be administered."

JCs to host kids at Easter egg hunt

Children in the community up to age 12 will be guests of the Jaycees at their annual Easter Egg Hunt in the city park Sunday starting at 2 p.m.

Curtis Hesse, chairman said it will be held in two divisions: for children 6 and under, and for those aged 7 to 12.

Gift prizes will be given in each division for high, second high, and third high in the number of eggs found. In addition, special plastic eggs containing money will be found in each area.

Good News

John 14:1-4

"Do not let your hearts be troubled. Have faith in God and in me. In my Father's house there are many dwelling places; otherwise, how could I have told you that I was going to prepare a place for you? I am indeed going to prepare a place for you, and then I shall come back to take you with me, that where I am you also may be. You know the way that leads where I go."

Good Friday closing asked

Following a long standing custom of the community, business here will be suspended on Good Friday to commemorate the suffering and crucifixion of the Savior, Jesus Christ.

Mayor Leo Hess asks local business firms to close their doors from 2:30 until 4 p.m. The end of this period is intended to coincide approximately with the end of Good Friday services in Sacred Heart Church, which begin at 3 and end about an hour later.

Easter weather

Just in time for Easter, spring appears to be getting back to normal following a return of winter in the early days of spring. Moderate low and high temperatures of the week are recorded as follows by Steve Moster.

March 24	41 and 57
March 27	40 and 62
March 26	47 and 66 plus .93 rain
March 27	39 and 58
March 28	31 and 62
March 29	43 and 65
March 30	46 and 60 plus .76 rain

Rain for the week adds to 1.69 inch increasing the March total to 3.42 and the year's total to 6.52 inches.

The Owner's Manual

AS WE enter into the Easter season and prepare to observe the day set aside to celebrate the resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ, I believe it would be worthwhile to pause and ask ourselves the question, "Of what significance to me is the resurrection of Jesus Christ?" Think about that for a moment before continuing reading.

In 1 Corinthians 15:13-19, the apostle Paul gives us some insight into how he would have answered this question when he says, "But if there is no resurrection of the dead, not even Christ has been raised; and if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is vain, your faith also is vain. Moreover we are even found to be fake witnesses of God, because we witnessed against God that He raised Christ, whom He did not raise, if in fact the dead are not raised. For if the dead are not raised, not even Christ has been raised, and if Christ has not been raised, your faith is worthless; you are still in your sins. Then those also who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished. If we have hoped in Christ in this life only, we are of all men most to be pitied."

If Christ did not rise from the grave as an immortal being, never to die again, then we must believe that he was only a great religious philosopher, prophet, and teacher, much the same as Buddha and Mohammed, and believing and trusting in Him will not give eternal life. If the bodily resurrection of Christ is untrue, then preaching the Gospel is a lie.

The faith of Christians depends on the gospel which elicits it, and if that gospel is a sham, then so is the faith it produces. Paul says that if there is no resurrection, then all the apostles are shown to be liars, because they are testifying to the fact that God did something which He did not do. Paul also tells his listeners that if Christ was not raised they would still be living in their sins like any pagans, and to pagans death was the end of all things. It was that adversary that in the end would defeat all men.

Paul was writing at a time when many Christians were being persecuted for their belief. He tells them that if there is no resurrection they are pitifully deluded men because they have set their hopes on a Lord who is to bring them a richer, fuller life, and all that distinguishes them from others is a special form of hardship. While Paul never minimizes the compensations the Christian has in this life in the way of peace within and the like, yet it is only common sense to see that, if this world is all there is, anybody is better off than the Christian.

The good news is that Jesus did rise from the grave, and because He lives we can look forward to a life of eternal happiness with Him when our life here on earth is over. Because He arose Christians have a new power over sin stemming from faith in a living Christ. Because there is the fact of the empty tomb, testified to and acknowledged by friends, enemies, and the angel who met the women who came to anoint and embalm the body of Jesus, we now have a comforter that gives us the "peace that passeth all understanding."

Because of the resurrection Christians meet together on the first day of the week for worship, prayer, breaking of bread, reading of Scripture and the ministry of the Word. The coming of the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost was another result of our Lord's resurrection. The New Testament was written because Jesus had risen from the dead, vindicating His claims to be the Son of God with power and the Saviour of the world.

But, perhaps most important of all, my life, and the lives of countless others, has been changed because we have put our trust in this living Lord and Saviour. Because He lives, we have eternal life now and will experience eternal life in the ages to come.

Perspectives

HISTORY IS a wonderful thing. Granted, a lot of events in the world's history aren't the least bit wonderful. But one of the best things about history is that it offers to teach a lesson every time.

That is, history teaches, but it's up to us to learn. Sadly, we sometimes don't.

That's why one of the most frightening things imaginable is seeing history repeat itself. Such repeat performances come about slowly, deceptively and almost unnoticeably — so much so that when they are finally noticed, it's often too late for help. A close look at a few situations in the present would reveal a frightening similarity to a few in the not-so-distant past. And, if they're ignored, it could mean the world will pay in the not-so-distant future.

CBS' most recent "60 Minutes" program included a report on the natural gas pipeline being constructed between the Soviet Union and West Germany — a pipeline reportedly being constructed through the use of forced labor.

Anyone remember Dachau and Auchwitz? The West Germans do. They remember so vividly in fact, that they're beginning to seriously doubt whether they want to use natural gas transported to them through a pipeline constructed under concentration camp-like conditions. And the West Germans certainly aren't the only ones carrying such memories. Some things are just awful hard to forget. And if anyone has forgotten them, the current situation would serve well to remind.

Another recent event is equally, if not more, frightening. Ronald Reagan spoke last week to the American people and included in his presentation several photographs which had not been seen before by the public. Some of these photographs revealed Soviet military construction and landing strips on small islands in the Caribbean Sea. It's frightening to consider, but the pictures were reminiscent of a similar attempt many years ago by the same people.

Anyone remember the Cuban Missile Crisis?

That was a close one. But the leaders of this nation moved quickly, and the Soviets backed down. Due to the Soviets' inferior military strength at the time, they had little choice. But there the similarity ends between those events of years ago and those of today. Because first, the Soviets no longer play second fiddle to the United States in military strength. And second, Congress is failing to take the action necessary to avoid a possible disaster. And a disaster it could very well be. If the United States were to enter a full-scale conflict with the Soviets tomorrow, the results could be frightening for us. If Congress continues to slash at the defense budget while the Soviets continue to expand theirs, "frightening" could be the understatement of the century. Perhaps "devastating" would be more accurate.

Still, Congress persists in offering national defense little attention at the same time it expands welfare, develops a "jobs bill" and gives Social Security a tune-up when what it really needs is an overhaul, then pats itself on the back and votes its members a fat raise.

Executives in the corporate sector of this nation have been thrown in jail for far less flagrant displays of fiscal irresponsibility.

Added spending on national defense is completely justified. The Soviet Union has for years spent twice on its defense than the United States has, and has thus amassed a much greater arsenal. The United States not only needs to build up its arsenal of weapons but also its arsenal of qualified people before it's too late.

History teaches, but it's up to us to learn.

Looking Ahead

SO MUCH nonsense is being put out about the current recession, largely for partisan political purposes. Let's see if we can't turn some light on this issue and dissipate some of the heat.

Item: This recession is world-wide in scope. It is affecting every nation on earth. U.S. News & World Report, in its October 11, 1982 issue, pages 57-58, presented an excellent, brief survey of the recession in home-building around the globe.

Clear evidence of the international nature of the recession is the current banking crisis. It is well-known that most nations are unable to pay even the interest on their loans to U.S. banks.

Item: One-fourth of all goods produced in the U.S. are exported. Obviously then, when other countries can't buy our products because of recessions at home, our economy is seriously hurt.

Item: This is the eighth recession since the end of World War II, so there is nothing unique about this one. It is the most serious, but what else can be expected. It suffers from the accumulation of all the previous deficits, which have been built into a national debt of over $1 trillion consuming $111 billion just for annual interest payments. Imagine how serious the next one will be if we don't get on with the business of cutting government spending!

Item: This current recession began in July, 1981, long before the impact of Reaganomics could be felt by the economy. To blame the recession on Reaganomics is the height of ignorance and demagoguery or plain politics. Also, the current recession arrived within one year of the last one in 1980 under Carter. One might be safe to say this one is really a continuation of the 1980 recession.

Item: Many politicians are demanding that the federal government pour money into job programs and similar projects to stimulate the economy. This would be precisely the wrong thing to do.

Item: Recessions and depressions are caused by a serious lack of coordination among prices, costs and wages. Says economist Henry Hazlitt, long-time columnist for Newsweek magazine, when mass unemployment does exist, "the only appropriate cure is individual adjustment of prices, costs and wages to each other—just plain coordination." He points out, however, that this can occur only if the competitive forces of the market are given free play."

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:
As a Native son of Muenster, I have a continuing concern over events that affect the citizens of Muenster.

My concern is over the up coming election called by the Muenster Water District. The Proposition, if passed, would give the Muenster Water District the approval to sell bonds and levy taxes to pay for such bonds. These bonds and subsequent taxes are probably designated to the building of a proposed lake, which the Muenster Water District believes is necessary to insure the long range water needs of the community. Many believe that the best and most effective way to solve the water needs is with additional water wells. Additional wells are certainly much more cost effective than the proposed lake.

I would like the Muenster Water District to outline the actual projected costs of the proposed lake and what those costs mean in the form of monthly water bills and taxes. I believe that before the Water District is given the approval to tax, the District should openly inform the residents of the real costs they will eventually have to pay.

It seems that it would be difficult to determine the merits and desirability of the proposed project until the costs are established.

Respectfully yours,
Tom J. Schmitt

Congressional Comment

Once again, the debate in Congress has heated up over a proposed "nuclear freeze" resolution, H.J. Res. 13. While I acknowledge that the call for a "freeze" on the testing, production, and deployment of nuclear weaponry is rooted in an understandable and humane reaction to the frightening aspects of a continued nuclear arms race, the freeze concept has been oversold. The appeal of a freeze has resulted from its apparent simplicity, but the real issues involved are much more complicated than the rhetoric would suggest.

1. A freeze would lock us into a current military disadvantage and compromise our ability to negotiate meaningful arms reductions. Over the last ten years, the Soviet Union has outspent the US for strategic weapons by over $290 billion — outspending us by a ratio of more than 2 to 1. Among other areas, we are behind in Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles (ICBM's), Submarine-Launched Ballistic Missiles (SLBM's), and, only recently, Strategic Bombers. "Freezing" would only perpetuate Soviet advantages in many areas, giving the Soviets no incentive to ultimately reduce weaponry. We will not convince the Soviet Union, for example, to withdraw its 600 intermediate-range missiles now pointed at our European allies if we do not retain the "bargaining chip" of our possible deployment of a comparable counter-force (none is now in place).

2. A freeze would actually worsen our position, compared to the Soviets, over the foreseeable future. Some 77% of the Soviet Union's strategic warheads are on launchers (i.e., missiles, bombers, submarines) that are less than 5 years or older. When our Poseidon submarines become obsolete in the 1990's we will lose half our strategic warheads. Our aging bomber aircraft are fast losing their capability to penetrate expanding Soviet air defenses and our Minuteman ICBM's are already almost totally vulnerable to more powerful Soviet ICBM's.

As our strategic systems begin to fail due to normal aging, a freeze would not allow their replacement. In other words, a freeze would accomplish a gradual disarmament of the US, while Soviet forces, with their newer weapons, would remain intact.

3. The freeze simply would not achieve the goals that its proponents claim. One of the most terrifying concepts for the American public has been the MAD — Mutual Assured Destruction — theory, in which any nuclear exchange escalates into a holocaust and in which there can be no conceivable winner. Soviet officials, however, believe they can win a nuclear war. They have stepped up their civil defense program while we have let ours deteriorate. In reality, the newer weapons being developed by both sides are becoming smaller in megatonnage and more accurate, making them more suitable for greater use against military, as opposed to civilian targets.

Supporters claim that a freeze would reduce the chances of a nuclear war starting by accident. However, as we are prevented from upgrading our nuclear weapons technology under a freeze, we would continue to operate with aging systems that become less reliable, thus increasing the chances of a nuclear exchange started by human or mechanical error.

Freeze supporters criticize the recent increases in US defense spending, citing the budget savings promised by a freeze. Defense spending of any kind, however, can never be based on what we prefer to spend, but must instead be based on what we believe is necessary to ensure our security and survival.

He associates his cause closely with the principle of academic freedom, pointing out that many of the current liberal ideas would be annihilated by the common sense logic of conservative ideas which were not permitted to get into circulation.

The truth of his statement is apparent in many situations with which we are presently familiar. The prevalence of crime and immorality is recognized by all, but liberalism ridicules and bans the basics of religion and morality which once prevailed in our orderly society.

It glorifies humanism in spite of its moral bankruptcy but goes on ignoring God. It supports communism and the Red line but refuses to admit what a mess of slavery and oppression it brings on wherever it is established.

It ridicules the free enterprise economic system while remaining stubbornly blind to the world's greatest success story in our own country. It goes on promoting and supporting an element of self styled intellectual elite who lack the wisdom to see basic truths which have sustained civilization for centuries.

Unfortunately the liberals have already created an atmosphere damaging the image of Falwell and the Moral Majority. That will make the crusade more difficult, but it does not change a vital fact. Our libraries and classrooms and periodicals, as well as TV, radio and movies all are in desperate need of more pro-American and pro-God thinking.

City council, school board hopefuls offer comments
What do the candidates think?

1. What are your qualifications for the position you seek as either a city councilman or a school board member?

2. In your opinion, does the city budget or school board budget sufficiently support maintenance and capital improvement?

3. What is the most pressing problem facing the city or school district at this time?

4. Do you have any further comments?

Dennis Hess School Board Place 2 Candidate

1. I have 3 children in school and naturally am interested in and concerned about education on an elementary and secondary level. Graduated from North Texas State University with a BBA degree in General Business Administration. Own and operate a business in Muenster.

2. It is apparent that the school has been able to make many capital improvements as well as noticeably improve maintenance in the past few years while staying within their budget.

3. I am concerned about the near future because we are losing additional agricultural tax base due to the recent exemptions passed in the last election. Also any decline in oil and gas production and prices in our area will affect our tax base. While facing lost tax revenue in these two areas, we will also be striving to maintain and improve the level of education while staying within budget capabilities. In view of this, the school board will be faced with a challenge to operate even more efficiently in the future.

4. I'd like to thank all who have expressed an interest in my candidacy.

Ronnie Felderhoff Candidate for Mayor

1. While serving on the City Council I have gained a great deal of experience and knowledge about the functions of city government. I have established contacts and gained expertise while working on the ambulance station, lake, and other city projects. I think that my ability to face issues with an open mind will benefit the city.

2. The city budget supports maintenance and has room for small capital improvements. Any major repairs or improvements would have to be done through a bond election or some kind of government support program.

3. Considering the growing needs of the community it is important to hire a qualified, full-time city manager. With the reality of the Muenster Lake, I think that it is important to find someone for this position.

1. 34 years old, lifetime resident of Muenster, married to Margie, 1 son Shayne 12, 1 daughter Stephanie 8. Member of Jaycees, director 2 years, member KCs and Chamber of Commerce. Member of Sacred Heart Parish. Self employed 7 years.

2. I feel basic city services are adequate however it is hard for me to comment on budget matters having no experience on city budget projections and forecasts.

3. Street improvement and the lake project.

4. With the lake project moving forward I feel Muenster will need a full time city manager. With completion of the lake will come development and this will take a full time manager to coordinate street and sewage efforts to guarantee a clean water supply.

Ted Henscheid, candidate for city council, seat 5, was unavailable for comment.

Gerald Walterscheid School Board Place 1 Candidate

1. I have had one term on the school board, during this time we have made vast improvements in our school system. This was in building and education. Concern for our future citizens, this comes from a well balanced education system.

I am married, Betty Rose and I have three sons, John and Doug have already graduated from Muenster Public School and Ronnie is in the seventh grade. I have worked for AMPI for almost 30 years, and have been a farmer for 23 years. Being around and working with the people of our school district helps me to learn their concerns and wants for our school system and the ways they want their tax monies spent.

I am a member of Sacred Heart Church, past president of the parish council and an officer of the K of C of our community.

2. At this time if we tighten our belts and watch our spending our budget can sufficiently support the maintenance and capital improvements.

3. The most pressing problem at this time is the lower income from taxes because of the oil revenue in our community.

4. I feel that we need to expand our computer classes to meet the ever expanding field of computer science in our immediate future. I feel that this is the most rapid expanding field at the present time, and we need to prepare our students for it.

With the qualified teachers and staff of employees that we have in our school system we will continue to be able to educate your children and grandchildren and have them ready to be your future leaders. I believe that discipline is part of this and I think that we can be proud of our students for the way they present themselves at events here at our school and away from home.

you stroll in in 't the Muenster Garden Center, y' might notice ol' Roger's a bit on the slim side. Seems ol' Rog got a bit too free with his advice here a while back — seems he offered one too many suggestions on his wife's cookin'. Well ... ever since that last suggestion, ol' Rog been livin' off TV dinners an' peanut butter (one o' his wife's suggestions.)

Ol' Rog oughta know he'd be better off keepin' his advice t' things what goes in the ground, and leave things what goes in th' oven t' somebody else.

Seriously, though, that's the best product available down at th' Garden Center, an' it's FREE — expert service an' advice when it comes plantin' an' fertilizin' time.

An' there's lots o' other specials this week too! Like shade an' flowering trees, evergreen an' flowering shrubs, roses, indoor plants, outdoor beddin' plants, flowers an' vegetables. All with that FREE expert service an' advice on anything y' put in th' ground ...

just remember though, for advice on what y' put in th' oven, watch yer step.

Sam and Rog still got that ol' three-wheeled motorsickle. So just t' remind everybody, they're offerin' their fruitless Mulberry trees, most of 'em 9' 10 feet tall, fer three bucks off the reg'lar price Friday an' Saturday only.

CCC plans 19th annual art show

April showers will bring many beautiful and colorful things other than flowers again this year to Cooke County College where the call for entries has been issued for this year's Cooke County Art Show.

For the 19th year, CCC's Art Department will be sponsoring the show, with competition open in eight separate categories.

Judging will be done in four principal divisions of competition, including one for the general public (adults), one for CCC students, one for elementary school students and one for high school students.

In the adult and CCC divisions, entries will be accepted in the following categories: painting (oils, acrylics and watercolors), graphics, mixed media, pottery, photography, fibers, woodcarving and sculpture.

Ribbons will be awarded, and a cash prize will be given to the first place winner in each category in both divisions. Entrants also may make their entries available for sale.

According to instructor Fred Sweet of the CCC Art Department, entries will be limited to five per exhibitor this year.

There will be an entry fee of one dollar for each work entered, and all works must be prepared for hanging or meet other requisites for display. No matting, framing or other preparation will be done by the college.

Entry blanks will be available from Sweet; from Dr. Ona Wright, director of CCC's Division of Communications and Fine Arts; and in the Registrar's Office on campus.

"We are extremely pleased and grateful this year to welcome the participation in the Art Show of the Lake Kiowa Woman's Club," says Dr. Wright. "Members of the organization will be serving as hostesses for the show, and their invaluable assistance is much appreciated."

Dr. Wright adds that club members also will be helping to log entries which will be accepted on April 18 (Monday) from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Activities Center on campus. No entries will be accepted after this time.

Judging will take place on April 20 (Wednesday), and awards to winning exhibitors will be presented during a formal awards ceremony open to the public at 3:30 p.m. on April 24.

The public is invited to view all entries in the show on April 21 and 22 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and on April 24 (Sunday) from 1 to 4 p.m. Entries must be picked up from the viewing area in the Activities Center by 5 p.m. on this final day of exhibition.

Dr. Wright points out that principals of local and area elementary and secondary schools have already received information to pass on to their students about the student division held in conjunction with the adult show.

Ribbons will be given for top entries from each grade, and a $25 cash award will be given to the best high school entry.

"Schools often send busloads of students on the Thursday and Friday of the Art Show," says Dr. Wright, "and we encourage them to do so again this year."

Student work will be on display in the halls of the 100 Building on campus at all times and in the Activities Center from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., except during the awards presentation program for the Creative Writing Awards competition scheduled for 10 to 11 a.m. on April 22.

Scaggs also has done some notable research into various aspects of art and has twice been awarded an NTSU faculty research grant. Research topics under these grants included "creative research in color viscosity intaglio" and "printed images via intaglio and color Zerox processing."

Gilbert, holder of a master's degree in art from NTSU, also attended the Art Institute in Kansas City and has studied with such notable artists as Georgia O'Keefe in Canyon, Chapman Kelly in Dallas, Alexander Hogue in Taos and Ernest Haring in Sherman. She also has been a part of the Art Group in Cloudcroft, N.M.

Formerly a teacher of art in Plainview and for first and second grades in Gainesville, Gilbert now has private students in oil painting.

During World War II, she had a portrait studio at Camp Howze and one in Gainesville. She now paints china, makes Normandy lace and is involved with the Thursday painting group at Arts Activities where she is most interested in painting watercolor miniatures.

Gilbert also is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, society of women educators.

"Because Ms. Gilbert has influenced and inspired generations of school children, photographers and painters," says Mrs. Speece, "we feel especially fortunate to have her judging the entries from kindergarten through twelfth grade students."

Speece issues a reminder that entries in all divisions and categories of competition will be accepted in the CCC Activities Center on Monday, April 18, from 10 a.m. through 6 p.m. There will be a $1 fee per entry.

Categories of competition this year will include both oil and acrylic painting (divided into both representational and abstract), watercolors, graphics (prints and drawings), pottery, fibers, woodcarving, sculpture, mixed media, and both black and white and color photography.

Competition will be divided into three main divisions including a division for Cooke County College students, a general adult division and a division for public school students from kindergarten through grade twelve.

There will be purchase awards as well as cash awards to first place entries. Ribbons and certificates also will be awarded in each category.

Persons interested in viewing the works on display may do so in the CCC Activities Center on April 21 and 22 (Thursday and Friday) from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on April 24 (Sunday) from 1 to 4 p.m.

For additional information regarding entry deadlines, eligibility or display, interested persons should contact Mrs. Speece at 817-668-7731, extension 276.

NTSU course explores body language

Psychologists have long studied what makes people tick. Now, college classrooms are revealing what makes people twitch, stare, grimace, point, poke, shrug and drag their feet.

The body talks; its message is how you really are — not how you think you are, according to Dr. Will Powers of North Texas State University, who this semester is teaching more than 50 students in the application and theories of non-verbal communication.

A person simultaneously communicates by his gestures, how close he stands to others, the way he walks, his voice tone and even by the way he dresses and combs his hair, Powers said.

Because of these factors, communication is a complex business. "The receiver must assess all the different ways in which the sender is sending messages, as well as being aware of his own receiving system — that is, his own interpretation system," said Powers, an associate professor in the Interpersonal and Public Communication Division of the department of speech communication and drama at NTSU.

Powers, who is a consultant to business executives and members of financial institutions on non-verbal communication, said the more non-verbally expressive people are, the more effective they will be as communicators.

And by managing your own impressions, Powers said, you can control the image others have of you.

"Eighty percent of the information a person processes upon his first meeting with others is based on non-verbal communication," he said.

Classes in non-verbal communication started at NTSU only four years ago with little more than a dozen students signing up. Renewed interest in the field today is due, in part, to the popularity of books like J. Fast's "Body Language." Published in 1970, "Body Language" is a popular account of non-verbal research studies, which brought the term "body language" into common usage, Powers said.

In the course's anthology of body language are the postures, hand gestures and facial expressions that accompany man's true feelings, often hidden under the mask of convention. The course explores how man pantomimes the meaning beneath his outward behavior in a whole range of social situations.

Man does not have to learn many of his actions, Powers said. Actions that are not learned — or inborn actions — propose the idea that the brain is programmed, like a computer, to link particular reactions with specific stimuli. The stimulus input triggers off the reaction output without any prior experience — it is preplanned and operates successfully the very first time one encounters the stimulus.

Other movements of man are those that are unconsciously copied from other people. Often man is not aware of how or when he first acquires such "absorbed" actions, Powers said.

Yet as man approaches adulthood, it becomes increasingly difficult to acquire new actions. Powers said that 98 percent of an individual's non-verbal communication is unconscious.

"We decide how we are going to behave early in life and then it becomes habit," he said. "Then, for most of us, we don't actively process it anymore. But perhaps we should.

"Some decisions made early in life may no longer be applicable today. And the first step to changing is self-awareness."

That awareness includes your handshake, the way you walk, talk, stand and speak.

There are many types of handshakes, Powers said, and because the simple handshake is an expected formality in the United States and in other countries, warmth of greeting is expressed by exaggerating the action in various ways.

Take the "cruncher." As the formal right hands meet, the left hand comes forward, either to clasp the already clasped right hand, or the right arm or the shoulder. The "cruncher" may squeeze his companion's hand to the point of discomfort, however, the cruncher is sending a message loud and clear;

he's masculine, macho and radiates dominance, Powers said. Women "crunchers," however, are viewed negatively in the business world, Powers said.

You've met the "pumper." He extends his right hand and once he makes contact with his companion, repeatedly shakes his hand up and down or sideways. The "pumper" usually has high energy and his activities are generally associated with that, Powers said.

The "half-a-hand" or "limp wrist" handshake is one most used by "upward bound" women, Powers said. But women have more of a problem with the handshake than men, mostly because people don't think it's very important for women to make a first and last impression through this formal custom.

"Take the woman who wants to be a vice president of IBM. She won't be viewed seriously with a "half-a-hand" handshake, extending only her fingers. She needs a firm, full-handed handshake, one that radiates confidence," he said.

The walk is the crowning glory of human bodily locomotion. It is an action taken for granted yet, when analyzed as a mechanical operation, it emerges as a complex process — so complicated, in fact, that muscle experts are still arguing over the finer points of how it operates, and how man manages to stride along so successfully.

The "John Wayne Walker" radiates dominance, control and aggression.

The "Athlete's Strut" often reveals a person who is confident, even over confident to the point of cockiness, Powers said.

The "Marilyn Monroe Walk" communicates sexual pride, availability and temptation, Powers said.

Powers admits that people will never reach the point where they can accurately determine all the non-verbal signals of others.

Magician plans disappearance of Miss Liberty

If you tune in CBS on Friday, April 8 at 9 p.m. expecting to see "Dallas," you won't see the top-rated show. Illusionist David Copperfield has made the Ewing clan disappear.

The 26-year-old has previously done the same thing to a Ferrari, and a Lear jet, and before the hour-long "The Magic of David Copperfield V" disappears, Copperfield will attempt — and it's OK to say he'll succeed — in making the Statue of Liberty disappear. Don't fear, Copperfield is such a nice guy he has made all the aforementioned reappear, including "Dallas" and 225-ton Miss Liberty. This is his fifth CBS special and in each he has withstood the pressure of topping his previous achievements.

Originally he thought about doing his "now you see it, now you don't" specialty to the Queen Mary, but after having recently spent so much time touring, Copperfield felt he wanted to make a statement while also performing his prestigious prestidigitator.

"Traveling through Europe I met many magicians, some of whom had escaped from behind the Iron Curtain," Copperfield explains. "Then I realized some others can't leave, even if they wanted to, so I decided to spotlight the concept that we don't appreciate freedom till it's gone.

The Statue of Liberty disappearance, filmed last September, required three nights' work for 300 people.

"Magic must be done in a controlled atmosphere," says Copperfield, who is the special's producer. "Usually it's performed on stage with a proscenium and the audience sitting where we want them. If we'd had boats all around the statue it would be like sitting backstage at a magic show."

Situating the audience for this event was the toughest task of the Statue of Liberty finale. However, the 20 tourists, chosen at random from the Liberty Island crowd, were all convinced that Copperfield had made the statue disappear and reappear.

Television viewers will have the added benefit of watching the act on radar. When the curtain is raised to cover the statue, a blip is still seen on the screen. Moments later, the blip disappears — as does the statue — only to resume when Miss Liberty reappears.

'Fireside Dining' — A unique experience

Comfort is paramount when dining out, but decor adds an inestimable quality to the fun of eating out, and company of friends contributes further to a relaxing evening.

In winter "fireside dining" is comfortable, convivial, cozy, suggesting a warm circle of friends — a delightful way to dine, a welcome lift from the day's routine. Such is descriptive of Fireside Dining in the winter near Lake Murray, Oklahoma where the architecture is reminiscent of a ski lodge, and almost hints of an Alpine influence. In winter Fireside Dining is a delightful place to dine, a welcome respite from the week's routine.

Walking up from the large parking area on a cold, windy evening and entering the foyer to find the center of interest is a huge, round, free-standing stone and brick fireplace, the effect is instantly warming and inviting. In one dining room there is another large central fireplace and the quality of comfort is transmitted to all dining rooms, whether the decor highlights antiques or leans to the modern. Eye-catching are the two big bear skins, used for ceiling decorations in two areas.

Also noticeable in the front entrance, in one of the seating areas, is a small, round table where blocks of cheese are invitingly arranged for sampling, while early arrivals may pause, awaiting other guests to complete their party.

In summer, "garden-side dining" could almost be considered the theme in one of the dining rooms, where handsome arrangements of lush green plants change the mood of the indoor decor. Large areas of glass allow viewing the scenic outdoor area from all directions, and dining rooms are all separated by interior glass window walls, affording both an openness and a degree of privacy.

Gary Jackson, manager of Fireside Dining said the recently redecorated restaurant now includes five dining rooms. A separate, private club is available.

As we enjoyed our meal we were fortunate to observe the surprise of a lucky birthday honoree at a nearby table, when a circle of waitresses gathered to sing a modernized version of "Happy Birthday", while the manager joined in playing the "kazoo" for a note of humor. Such was the atmosphere, that guests at other tables joined in the applause.

An old fashioned blackboard on one wall lists hors d'oeuvres and several menu specialties, including deep fried cheese squares, fried zucchini strips and fried mushrooms; Escargot; marinated beef kabobs; chicken breast Marsola; shore dinner; vegetable soup; prime rib; lobster etc. etc. "In addition" Gary Jackson, manager, says "We plan new introductions periodically in both appetizers and entrees.

Dinner menus, placed on each table, were made known in an ingenious way. They were decouped on inch-thick, cross-section circles of aspen tree wood, 12 inches in diameter, and highly polished with a water-proof finish.

Specializing in Prime Rib Steaks and Seafood every day, with Lobster offered on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the dinner menus at Fireside Dining offer a choice of KC Strip, Filet Mignon, and Ribeye Steaks; fried shrimp; savory baked fresh water trout; fried or baked catfish, fresh water whole; breast of chicken Kiev; chopped sirloin; etc. etc. and Fireside fried chicken whose special seasonings in the batter are distinctively individual. A number of appetizers, including shrimp cocktail are also listed on the decouped circles of wood.

Baskets of big, buttered, hot croutons are the first appetizers offered. Delectable are the squares of deep fried cheese ... and the big bowl of tossed salad is presented with a choice of dressings... loaves of hot bread are passed during the meal.

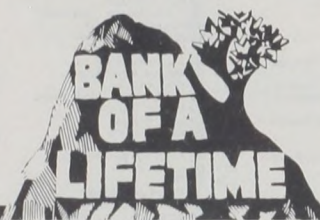

Coffee, ice tea, beer or a house wine may be ordered.

For diners wishing to have dessert, one evening the choices included a number of temptations such as cheese cake with cherries-jubilee; praline pie; brandy creme pie; and a fantastic chocolate delight served in a tall footed glass, that three calorie counting to the winds.

Fireside Dining is closed on Sunday and Monday. The restaurant is open from 5 p.m. until 10 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. It is reached by following these directions: "Take I-35 North to Oklahoma and exit on Exit 24 towards Lake Murray a brief distance and watch for sign for Fireside Dining building on the right. Phone 405-226-4070.

IT'S NEVER TOO EARLY TO PLAN FOR YOUR RETIREMENT

Whether you work for a company whose retirement plan is a gold-plated watch, a handshake or a monthly pension, discover an Individual Retirement Account or IRA. An IRA is additional protection for your future.

An IRA is a do-it-yourself, high-yield, tax sheltered retirement plan. You make annual tax-deductible contributions of up to $2,000 if you are single, $2,250 if your spouse does not work and $4,000 when both you and your spouse are employed. Your annual contributions are tax-deductible. These contributions and the interest earned are tax deferred until you begin to withdraw at retirement.

Forestburg News by Myrt Denham

Nora Channey and her niece Angie Ward of Clyde arrived at the Alice Shears home Sun. the 20th where they will spend the week with Alice and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Shears. Miss Channey and Mrs. Randy Shears are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berry and sons of Nocona visited his parents the R. C. Berrys this past Sun. p.m. Henry's mother Bula Mae is still on the sick list. Also on the sick list are Mrs. Alice Shears and A.G. Barclay.

Both have been very ill. Mrs. Millie Reynolds is much improved but still a patient in the Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls. Millie hopes to be home before too long.

Mrs. Emma Steadham accompanied her brother, Joe Brown, on a cow feeding trip to Bolivar Mon. a.m. the 21st. While they they decided to try their hand at a little fishing, Emma says they almost had to break the ice to do so. No fish though. I asked Forestburg's No. 1 fisherman, Ray Jackson if he had been fishing also on Mon. He said, "Nope, I was down on the farm cutting wood and keeping warm." Thus even tho the robins are here, the heel flies have come, geese have started north and the calendar says it's spring — the weather out says it still winterish. So when the scissor-tails arrive on the scene — spring is here — so I'm told.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan were visitors in the Howard Sockwell home this past Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Beth Dill, Kody and Keisha and Mrs. Nora Gartrell were in Denton on business and shopping Mon. the 21st. Mrs. Gartrell is Beth's grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Greenwood and children of Pilot Point and Truman's friend Wayne Miller of Denton plus Mike Gillstrap also of Pilot Point were visitors of Mrs. Georgia Greenwood, JoAnn and Wynona on Sat. the 19th.

Mrs. Cleo Lanier attended a Democratic meeting at the Jim Bowie Restaurant in Bowie Sat. afternoon the 19th. Cleo got to chat with Charles Finnell, our State Representative in Austin. Mr. Finnell stressed the importance of his constituents filling out and sending in the questionnaire he mailed out recently. This is the only way he can really find out how we feel on matters. So get it completed and sent in by March 31.

Sat. the 19th visitors in the Joe Hunt home were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hunt and Helen Freeman of Alvord, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Matlock and family of Haltom City and Billie Vandevetter of Decatur.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Reynolds were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cox and children of Bowie.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Miller and family of Red Oaks and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Colwell and family spent the past weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Freeman. The Rex Millers also visited with his parents the Jack Millers of Mallard.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Greenwood's grandchildren Tanya and Rhonda Parsons and Terrell Johnstons of Wichita Falls spent from Sat. the 12th to Sat. the 19th with them. Tanya's and Rhonda's parents, Sam and Carla Parsons spent the week vacationing in Colorado.

March 18-20 weekend visitors with the D.D.

Echols of Mallard were the former Carol Echols and daughters Christy and Deana of Potlatch, Idaho, Joyce Leeper of Euleus, Sandra McClarey of Lancaster, Loveta Mills of Burkburnett, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Echols of Watauga and Hazel Greenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Gaylor had their children and grandchildren visiting over the March 18-20 weekend. They were their oldest daughter Mrs. Bobbie Johnson of Los Angeles, Calif. and her son Gary Kelton of Pampa, Texas. Their youngest daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill FAMILY, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hatfield and children Michael and Christy, plus a friend from Garland, and their son and wife, Jerry and Annette Gaylor of Grand Prairie.

Mrs. Lizzie Gardner and Mrs. Oma Wakeman were in Bowie Fri. the 18th shopping when Mrs. Gardner fell breaking a bone in her left leg. Her daughter and husband, Joyce and George Montgomery of Muskogee, Okla. made it in that night. At noon on Monday the 21st the Montgomerys and Mrs. Gardner departed for Muskogee where Mrs. Gardner will recuperate.

Kenneth Holland and his sister Imogene Brewer drove over to Saint Jo Sunday p.m. to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Holland. They found John not feeling well, so he is now a patient in the Nocona Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Volkman had an old fashioned round-up at their ranch Sat. a.m. the 19th. Mrs. Volkman says that with the help of in-laws, other relatives and two local school boys they worked a big bunch of cattle. Afterwards they all enjoyed a delicious meal at the Volkman home.

The Forestburg Homemakers will be getting their recipe book into final form and mailing it in to be printed on April 1.

Willie Orrell had five of his great-grandchildren and their parents visiting with him the weekend of March 12. They were Cooper and Russ Nunnelly and their mother Mrs. Daphne (Morbey) Nunnelly of Graham, Kaliska and Ross Russell and their mother Syretta (Morbey) Russell of Wichita Fall and Christopher Orrell and his dad Jimbo Orrell of Texarkana. On Sunday the 13th they were joined by Mrs. Norma Morby and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Orrell and their three other children, for a family dinner at Willie's house.

Leave us not forget the local school board election Sat. April 2 at the school library from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Then that night the Ex-student Banquet will be held in the School gym.

All the "fixin up" and sprucing up" on Donice Steadham's house will soon be complete and the young lady will be taking up her residence in it.

Mrs. Fred Campey is back in the Bowie Hospital at this writing and I'm told she is a very sick lady.

Word has been received by Mrs. Lizzie Gardner's Forestburg relatives that Mrs. Gardner suffered a fractured hip, not a broken one as was first reported. Mrs. Gardner is a patient in a Muskogee, Okla. hospital. Her relatives here are: Mrs. Ross Littell, Mrs. Kenneth Woods, Mrs. Gretell Fannings and J.T. Willis.

Mrs. Nell Gilliland will undergo eye surgery Wed. March 30 in an Amarillo Hospital. Anyone wishing to write her and send her a card the address is 5105 Towney Street, Amarillo, Texas 79106.

Bryan Huckaby celebrated his 7th birthday Tues. March 22 with a party at his home. His guests were: Keith Dill, Misty Keck, Carrie Covington, Nathan Boucher, Nikkie Willet, Dale Lively, Lance Huckaby, Greg Tompkins, Jessica Boucher and Jennifer Scott. Bryan and his guest enjoyed an afternoon of games and fun topped off with cake and ice cream.

Kyura Orrell, daughter of the Leo Orrells, accompanied a group of her college friends to New York City for the spring break. They stayed with some more college friends who reside there, and toured the "Big Apple" (New York City) while there.

Mrs. Elaine Truitt of Argyle spent Wed. afternoon the 23rd visiting with the Perryman Denhams.

Ted and Laura Belle Jackson made their weekly business, shopping and just "messaging around" trip to Gainesville Wed. March 23.

Recent visitors in the A.G. Barclay home were Johnny Barclay and Mrs. Claud Barclay of Alvord.

The Forestburg United Methodist Church had it's monthly fellowship supper and official board meeting Wed. night March 23. The activities were held in the church annex with a nice group in attendance.

The Forestburg Baptist church has purchased the Nell Gilliland home in Forestburg and are busy getting it all fixed up as a parsonage for their pastor.

The Leo Orrells had the pleasure of keeping their 2½ year-old grandson, Christopher Orrell of Texarkana, during the recent spring break. Christopher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimbo Orrell. It is hard to realize that Leo and Dolly are grandparents — much less the parents of grown children.

A First Texas 80's Report: On IRA's.

"The First Texas IRA: The escalating rate it offers today can add up to a great retirement tomorrow."

Retirement is something everyone should look forward to. And it can be great, if you have the right plan. Any IRA can give you a tax break. But the First Texas IRA gives you more.

An escalating interest rate.

With the First Texas IRA, the more you invest over the years, the higher your interest rate. That can really help you build your nest egg for a great retirement. And, whatever your interest rate, all your interest is tax-deferred until you decide to withdraw the money.

The escalating rate increases automatically at each of these deposit increments:

$2,000 $4,000 $6,000 $10,000 $25,000 $50,000*

A choice of investment terms.

You can invest with a choice of First Texas IRA Certificates: from 18 months, 2½, 4, 6, 8 or even 10 years. And after a minimum opening deposit of only $50, you can add to these certificates at any time without extending their maturities.

Or with a payroll deduction plan, you can open an IRA with as little as $25 per month.

And the longer the term you choose, the higher your interest rate.

A safe investment.

The First Texas IRA is also a safe way to build for your future. Every account is insured up to $100,000 by the FSLIC. This protection is separate from any other insured First Texas account.

An April 15 deadline for 1982 tax savings.

If you open your IRA by April 15, 1983, the money can come straight off your 1982 taxable federal income. Or if you've fulfilled your 1982 contribution, start now for 1983. You can shelter up to $2,000 for a single person; $2,250 for married couples when one person works; or $4,000 for married couples when both people work.

Come into the First Texas office nearest you today to open your IRA. Or call this toll-free number: (800) 442-1256; or in Dallas, call 458-4790 and they'll open it over the phone.

Yes, I want to open my First Texas IRA.

County Agent's Report

Pasture Fertility
For any pasture to be productive, a good fertility program must be initiated by producers. Fertilizer is an expensive commodity, but certainly a necessity. Improved perennial grasses (klein, coastal, love) will all respond by producing increased tonage and nutrient value. Native grasses will respond also but mainly by increasing protein levels and not tonage.

Research has proven this response in all areas of Texas. Every ton of forage produced requires certain amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium for plant growth. Examples of these requirements are:

Pounds removed per ton of forage	N	P2O5	K2O
Grasses	50	10	40
Legumes	40	15	50

So with good growing conditions in Cooke County we have the potential of producing five tons of Coastal hay per acre. This means that the acre that produced the five tons has removed from the soil 250 pounds of nitrogen, 50 pounds of phosphorus, and 200 pounds of potassium. In most instances this large amount of nutrients are not in the soil and must be added through a sound fertility program. Soils vary greatly so producers should take soil tests every two or three years before making these large fertilizer investments. Many of our backland soils have large amounts of available phosphorus and potassium, but lack nitrogen. Nutrients are available to grasses from the air and decaying organic matter. For this reason nature provides us with enough nutrients each year for 3/4 to 1 1/2 tons of forage per acre. We generally have to make up the rest through our fertility programs. A good fertility program gives us added production. If we are putting up hay to feed cows in the winter, and the cows need two pounds of protein per day for maintenance, then the example below is sound defense for a good fertility program.

Acres	1
1 1/2 tons of hay	7% protein
210 lbs. of protein
Acres	2
5 tons of hay	10 percent protein
1,000 lbs. of protein

Fertility programs can be expensive, so producers need to analyze their production needs. Many times the pasture doesn't need this kind of program. However, hay meadows usually need that extra attention.

Sign-ups indicate high level of participation in PIK program

Now that the wraps have been pulled off the PIK (payment-in-kind) sign-up, it's clear that farmers "went for" this latest government farm program. Consequently, the high level of participation in the program, as announced by USDA officials, should bolster farm prices by getting rid of surplus stocks of commodities that have plagued the marketplace for the past several years.

"We have the potential for a substantial drawdown in surplus stocks of farm commodities due to the large number of farmers signing up for PIK," said Dr. Ron Knutson, an economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The PIK program revolves around paying farmers with surplus commodities if they sign up to take a portion of their cropland out of production. So it reduces current stocks plus should reduce 1983 production.

"The potential effects of PIK have already caused positive reactions in some commodity markets," Knutson pointed out. "Whether this trend continues will depend largely on weather conditions this crop year and the level of export demand."

Knutson noted two keys to future market trends. The first is the yield that can be anticipated from land remaining in production, since this is the highest quality cropland. Weather conditions will have a big impact.

price and income support." One strategy for moving toward a more free market concept involves "self-help" programs in which farmers would automatically share a portion of the costs of government programs when surpluses arise, said Knutson.

"Assuming that PIK will get us through the 1983-84 crop year without major policy changes, lawmakers are already looking ahead to 1985," said the economist. "The choice for 1985 becomes one of a continuing drift toward production controls or a policy reversal—moving back in the direction of a freer market in which farmers would have to accept lower levels of

The Bud-Light team had its first taste of big time volleyball plus lots of experience in the TAAF volleyball tournament at Fort Worth during the past weekend. The No. 2 team was Stephenville.

In preliminaries Bud lost 15-8 and 16-14 to Wichita Falls, also 15-8 and 15-6 to Nacogdoches, and broke even with Floor Bouncers 6-15 and 15-12. Twelve teams played in the prelims and the three with the best record at the end of the 6 games had a double elimination contest to decide 1st, 2nd and 3rd places.

To the Buds it was their most volleyball experience ever as well as something new in game style which will receive attention in future practice sessions.

The Bud-Light team, sponsored by Gilbert Endres Distributor, includes Mark Hess, Roger Endres, Bobby Hartman, Kenny Hartman, Roy Reiter and Glen Walterscheid.

The Bud-Light team had its first taste of big time volleyball plus lots of experience in the TAAF volleyball tournament at Fort Worth during the past weekend. ## One-act play cast misses at district

Muenster High's one-act play cast had occasions to be both glad and sad in their UIL presentation. Their first appearance was in the zone competition and received top rating plus trophy along with an individual trophy to Kristi Oakley for best actress, medals to Dora Sicking and Cindy Tisdale for selection on the all star cast, and honorable mention to Brent McElreath and Cynthia Fleeman.

But the cast had a shocking let-down in the district UIL contest last week, where the rating dropped from top to bottom in spite of a flawless presentation and the cast's belief that it had done better than before. The lone judge's decision was that Paradise and Alvord are qualified for regional whereas Muenster and Perrin are eliminated. There was a consoling factor, however. Oakley received the best actress trophy, Dora an all-star-cast medal and Brent an honorable mention. Translated into UIL points the awards add 6 points to the MHS literary score in UIL.

The play is "Gloria Mundi," authored by Patricia Brown and directed by Martha Koessler, speech and drama instructor at Muenster High.

Members of Muenster High's one-act play cast are ... front: Cindy Tisdale, Dora Sicking, Kristi Oakley and Cynthia Fleeman; back: Rodney Hess, Martha Koessler (director) and Brent McElreath.

The public school will dismiss at 1:30 on Good Friday allowing time for students to attend the 3 p.m. services at Sacred Heart Church. Sacred Heart students will be excused at noon on Holy Thursday.

Children hear program on poisons

Children of Muenster's three kindergarten classes received a primary lesson on poisons last week. The safety program was presented by Linda Knabe, chairman of the VFW Auxiliary Youth Activities, on observance of poison control week, and particularly emphasized the identification of poisonous things about the house.

Each child received a packet including a check list of poisonous materials and plants in the house, first aid treatment for snakebite and a sheet of "Mr Yuk" stickers with the phone numbers of Cook's Poison Control Center of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Knabe also showed a box of poisonous items and urged children to discuss the check lists with their parents, and next to use the "Mr Yuk" stickers to identify dangerous products in their homes.

The speaker said that VFW Auxiliary is cooperating with the Fort Worth Poison Control center in urging parents to take all necessary precautions to prevent an accidental poisoning in the home.

If a child swallows poison a physician or the nearest poison control center should be called immediately. Parents are reminded that by teaching their children that "Mr Yuk's" green scowling face means DANGER they may be saving a life.
