Paul Harvey, in a recent program, deplored the deluge of bad publicity currently being directed at South Africa - while little is said about atrocities of Cambodia, Afghanistan, Ethiopia and other communist-dominated countries, especially the other African countries. As Harvey sees it, people of South Africa have the highest standard of living in all of the dark continent. On the other hand, the millions who presumably were liberated from Europeans have resorted to savagery with economic and political chaos.

In recent weeks, the critical publicity has emphasized the violence of clashes by the official government headed by Botha and revolutionaries inspired by the pro-communist African National Congress. With many townships ... inhabited by blacks, not whites ... under siege by the revolutionaries, Botha declared a state of emergency in 36 districts granting sweeping arrest powers to the security forces.

A fact that does not seem to be generally known is that the township people involved do not support the proposed takeover of their government. Though favoring apartheid to give blacks a greater share in government, they are aware that the country is making progress in that direction, and also that they don't want a decline to the level of conditions in the rest of the black nations.

Botha's directive was ignored by the revolutionaries, the result being clashes with the police, which have received widespread attention in radio, TV and newspapers. It has been so brutal and so extreme that even Bishop Tutu, an opponent of apartheid and hardly a friend of the government, has publicly objected to revolutionaries. He pleaded with 25,000 persons at a funeral to cease the black-on-black violence. "If you do it again, I will find it difficult to speak out for our liberation," he said.

Bishop Tutu was referring to such atrocities as the murder of almost 300 blacks this year, and gruesome attacks in which victims were doused with gasoline and set afire and hundreds of homes of black police were gutted by firebombs.

A very disappointing related fact is that so little of the world hears the truth about the situation. Those who tell the story lay the blame on white rule, and either overlook or ignore the Soviet-inspired plot to create another instance of African chaos and exploit it just as Moscow has done in so many countries.

As disappointing as the facts is a report of U.S. reaction. White House spokesman Larry Speaks, instead of chastising those whose actions brought on the emergency, pointed the accusing finger at the South African government. He said South Africa's system of racial segregation is "repugnant and largely responsible for the current violence."

His remark seems to reveal that our officials have failed to keep posted on just how far the Botha government has gone in trying to phase out apartheid and invest the urban black with political power. Once our people and our government become better acquainted with the situation, the U.S. can be more realistic about human rights in South Africa.

Some of the details of progress up to now are massive desegregation in hotels, restaurants, beaches and other public accommodations. Also job reservations are virtually eliminated; black unions are recognized; blacks run businesses in previous all-white areas; and the color line has been eliminated in politics and marriage. Those several factors show that apartheid, the great issue of the past, is, in effect, mostly gone, and the real trouble is the racist goal of ousting the See CONFETTI, Page 2

Ancient house moved to make room for lot

One of the oldest houses in Muenster was moved away this week to make room for a parking lot at First Baptist Church.

It is the place occupied for years by the late Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stelzer, adjoining the church property on the north and Highway 82 on the south. After Stelzer's death, it became the home of his widow and her sister, Mrs. Henry Stelzer, and after that the property was acquired by the Baptist Church. Later, the church sold the building to Frank Stoffels Jr. on condition that he move it.

The house was moved Tuesday and Wednesday in two sections to a farm some two and a half miles south of town, where it will be rebuilt.

The lot is regarded as a possible site for future building as well as a parking lot.

Old timers here agree that the house probably dates back to the turn of the century and possibly before. Theo Miller recalls that "Professor" Linen built it and lived in it while he taught in Muenster Public School. He is known to have been here about 1912 or '13, but no one recalls how long before or after.

Nobody contacted is able to recall the name or names of occupants during the many years between Linen and Stelzer.

Thoughts on Jamboree

The final communication from Murlin Evans, 14-year-old reporter for Longhorn Council, sent from National Jamboree at Fort A.P. Hill in Virginia, arrived Monday of this week, several days after his return home. It was delayed as was all mail, when Hurricane Bob blew through, knocking out communications, holding up delivery of letters, collapsing many tents and soaking equipment.

In his first visit to The Enterprise since his return on July 31, he was able to give more personal observations of the storm. Although late, his report is quite colorful. In essence, he summarized "Thoughts on Jamboree," as follows:

There are hundreds of things that scouts from all over the nation and world will remember about the 1985 National Jamboree. The bands of patch traders along the road, the friends we've made, the cultures we've seen and the shrieks of agony from the freezing showers.

We will remember the enormous stage shows where we saw such personalities as the Oak Ridge Boys, the Beach Boys and a visit by First Lady Nancy Reagan, who congratulated us on our 75th anniversary. She said she was sorry she had leave her favorite scout at home. And the fireworks, oh, did we see fireworks! We saw the largest fireworks display in America. Not even Walt Disney could top our 11-ton display, two tons more than in the 1981 Jamboree.

Even when the torrential rain and wind of Hurricane Bob blew through, it didn't drown the Scouting Spirit. Scouts helped each other put up tents, dry out clothes, and get started again. I have to admit, though, near the end, we started to miss flushing toilets, air conditioning and hot showers. But as we boarded the plane, we decided that we would miss our little inconveniences. More importantly though, we realized that the Jamboree had proven what the scouts had known all along, "The Spirit of Scouting Lives On!"

Council approves new subdivision

A new subdivision, identified as Block 61 along with an adjoining street dedicated as Southtown Drive and two alleys, was officially approved Monday night at the regular city council meeting. The formal plat of the area, submitted by Rufus Henscheid, was approved by the Council on recommendation of the zoning board, and so was the proposed street dedication. The area is located in the southwest part of town.

Also the council approved renewal of its contract with Cooke

County for $2250 to answer rural fire calls within the county.

Relative to repair of the city library roof, the council decided to start with a request for bids.

And it approved a transfer of $1,000 to the firemen's pension fund.

The discussion on a proposal to charge for use of the baseball park by out-of-town teams for tournaments led to an agreement that local teams usually participate in the events and visiting players and fans bring business to town, so no charge will be made. However, a deposit of $75 will be asked as assurance that facilities will be left clean and damages will be paid for.

A paving project in the Hillcrest Addition, including Cross, East Eddy and Endres Streets and Hillcrest Drive was reviewed, leading to a decision that the city will study drainage needs and come up with cost estimates. Many of the concerned property owners have already signed the petition.

Another project for repairs and re-paving on North Cedar received the council's OK.

Milo harvest is fine

The community's second harvest, presently at top speed and slightly past the halfway stage, is more pleasing than the previous one, according to local grain dealers, Tony's Seed and Feed and Muenster Milling Co. Combines have been on the job about two weeks.

Furthermore, its success can be credited to the shortcoming of the previous crop. In May and June, when persistent rain delayed the wheat harvest and reduced its yield, it was remarked that the gain in milo and pastures, etc. compensated for the declining wheat yield. The general opinion is that it happened that way, and the end result would have been really great if late June and July rain had been better.

Average yield this season is 4500 to 5000 pounds per acre, a few reports have reached 6,000 and the best to date is 7,000 pounds, according to Ronnie Felderhoff of Muenster Mill.

A contributing factor in the pleasing record is a high test. There have been tests of 59 and 60, as compared with a normal test of 56.

The current price is $3.70 per hundred, accounting for an average crop value of almost $200 per acre.

MHS students will register Aug. 20 - 21

Aug. 20 and 21 are registration dates for students of Muenster High School, according to an announcement this week by Principal Eddie Griffin.

They will meet in the high school library on the following schedule:

Tuesday, Aug. 20 - 8 to 10 a.m., seniors; 10 a.m. to noon, juniors; 1 to 3 p.m., sophomores.

Wednesday, Aug. 21 - 9 to 11 a.m., freshmen; 1 to 3 p.m., students who are new to Muenster and those who could not come at the scheduled time.

Mobile home burns Tuesday

A mobile home, occupied by Willie Joe Fuhrmann at Sylvan's Trailer Park, is regarded as a total loss in a fire Tuesday night. As told by Fire Chief Herbert Knabe, about half of the building and contents was destroyed by fire and remaining damage was caused by water and smoke.

No one was in the house when it happened, and the fire was far advanced when discovered and reported. Nevertheless, it was confined to the building. None of the neighboring homes was damaged.

Good News

If anyone among you is suffering hardship, he must pray. If a person is in good spirits, he should sing a hymn of praise.

Is there anyone sick among you? He should ask for the presbyters of the church. They in turn are to pray over him, anointing him with oil in the Name [of the Lord].

This prayer is uttered in faith will reclaim the one who is ill, and the Lord will restore him to health. If he has committed any sins, forgiveness will be his.

Hence, declare your sins to one another, and pray for one another, that you may find healing.

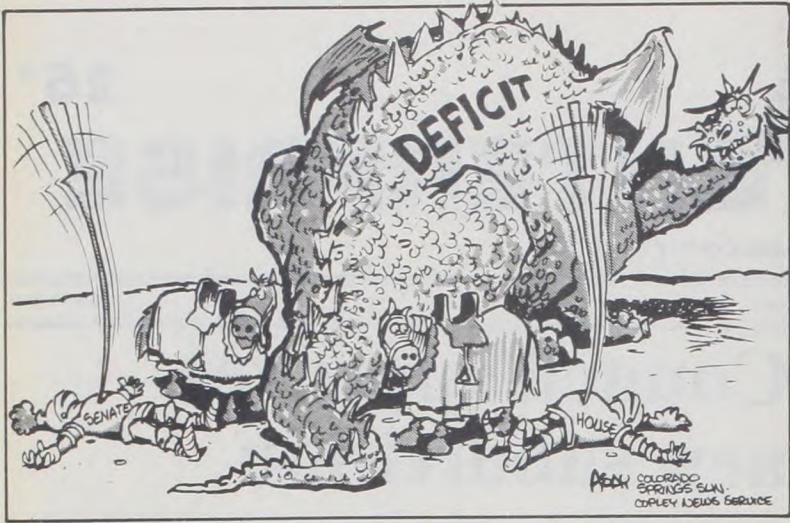

JAMES 5:13-16

No doubt, it's hot

No doubt about it. Summer is here with temperature readings of 100 or more every day of the past week. Meanwhile, moisture is scarce, only .20 inch for the week. Low and high readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Mosler.

Aug. 1	76 and 104
Aug. 2	76 and 101
Aug. 3	with .05 in., 77 and 103
Aug. 4	79 and 102
Aug. 5	77 and 103
Aug. 6	80 and 103
Aug. 7	with .15 in., 74 and 100

Moisture totals through July were 22.23 inches; recordings for August to date total .20 inch; and for 1985 to date the total amounts to 22.43 inches.

COMMENT

Ike's answer to a Red question

The following revealing anecdote was told by President Eisenhower concerning a war-time visit to USSR as the guest of then Marshal Zhukov.

The two military leaders went to a Communist collectivized farm. Zhukov genially suggested to the Russian supervisor in charge that he might like to ask the American general a few questions.

"Yes, I would," said the supervisor. "General, in America what pay would a man get for doing the kind of work I am doing?"

"Well," said Ike, "our money is different from yours. But, let's see. A man in the United States doing your job would own his own automobile. He's probably own his own home, and probably have electric refrigeration."

The Russian supervisor's eyes began to pop.

"If he worked more than eight hours a day," Ike continued, "he would get overtime pay. He would have savings in the bank if he was an average American. He would have life insurance, and his son would be in a college..."

Zhukov interrupted. Turning to the supervisor, he said sharply, "Comrade, don't ask the general silly questions."

Driveline

"DRIVELINE," a traffic safety column which has been lying dormant for a few years, is being revived by the Traffic Safety Section of the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

"DRIVELINE" will present new and interesting facts concerning safety, drinking and driving, and transportation features. "DRIVELINE" will also present questions and answers about traffic signs and Texas highways.

"DRIVELINE" will present features and facts to increase the public's awareness of traffic safety issue, innovations and problems throughout Texas. The information will be presented in a narrative style while providing a public service in an entertaining and informative way.

Traffic Sign Colors

All highway signs now use specific colors to help direct drivers using our highways and streets. The color RED is used only as a background color for STOP signs, DO-NOT-ENTER messages, WRONG WAY signs, parking prohibition signs and as a legend color for YIELD signs. ORANGE is used as a background color for construction and maintenance signs only and is not used for any other purpose. BLUE is used as a background color for information signs relating to motorist services (including police services and rest areas).

Highway Killers

Drinking drivers kill more people than murders. Drinking drivers also injure more people and more seriously than assaults with deadly weapons. Drinking drivers commit more property damage than all the burglars and thieves put together. Please, don't let your friend drink and drive!

Roadway Markings

Do you know the difference between a broken white line and a broken yellow line used on highways? A normal broken white line is used to delineate or outline the edge of a travel path where travel is allowed in the same direction on both sides of the line. A normal broken yellow line is used to delineate the left edge of a travel path where travel on the other side of the line is in the opposite direction. This broken yellow line is often used as a center line of a two-lane, two-way roadway, where overtaking and passing is permitted.

State Capitol Highlight

AUSTIN — Texas and Mexico signed an historic trade agreement last week, to sell Texas products.

The signed treaty makes Texas the first and only state to have a separate bilateral trade agreement with Mexico. Mexico will buy Texas corn, sorghum, livestock and other products if commerce proceeds as planned.

With the treaty, our state government is not waiting on the feds anymore, but is going directly to the Mexican government. After all, it's the Texas border which is affected by peso devaluations, and which shares financial hardships with a slumping Mexican economy.

Treaty Benefits

Under terms of the treaty signed in Mexico City, a joint trade committee of 19 Texans and 19 Mexicans will be appointed to find ways to increase trade.

The trick, of course, is to keep incoming products from subverting our domestic market, but generally there has been little difference in the retail prices of Texas-grown and Mexican-grown produce. The Mexican growing season is earlier than in Texas, allowing a few weeks of decreased competition.

Texas livestock shipments to Mexico this year have already doubled the 1981 amounts.

Other Industries

Others report that the Texas-Mexico economic connection is beginning to rebuild slowly from a Mexican slump that jarred petroleum, banking and other industries here.

With the peso devaluation, loans from Texas banks to Mexican corporations are increasing on a short-term credit basis. On the border, deposits in American banks from Mexican citizens are building.

Mexico still buys oil equipment from Texas, but gets most of its daily needs from Mexico City companies. All told, the buys from the U.S. are down some 25 to 30 percent.

The overall Texas/Mexico trade balance is still about two-to-one in our favor, but the dollar amounts are less than half, so far, of the '84 totals, hurt by the decreased buying power of the peso.

$8 Million For Port

The state will help Galveston raise $8 million needed to bring five Navy ships to the area, and will ask the Navy to lower the state's share for a new home port in Corpus Christi.

The Legislature committed $25 million last session to the Corpus Christi project, but in an unexpected move, the Navy also added five ships for Galveston, if the $8 million was available.

Last week, when Galveston failed to raise the money privately, the Navy extended the deadline.

Now state officials are exploring whether part of the original $25 million can be directed to the Galveston project, if the Navy lowers the Corpus estimate.

White Rips Feds

Governor Mark White told a Congressional hearing last week the Interior Department short-changed Texas by some $800 million in a seven-year dispute with coastal states over offshore oil and gas revenues.

The federal agency wants Congress to give the states a 27 percent share, but Texas, Alaska and the other states are pushing for 37.5 percent, a difference of $1.9 billion.

The Reagan Administration opposes any increase, and this issue could surface in the '86 political campaigns.

Candidacy Announced

The Republican chairman of the Texas House Energy Committee said last week he will run for the Railroad Commission seat expected to be vacated by Buddy Temple.

In his announcement, Ed Emmett said the state's trucking industry is archaic and costly, and he promised to get unsafe truck drivers off Texas highways.

He also promised to be an advocate for the oil and gas industry which he said is not overregulated.

Short Takes

Former Governor Bill Clements says he is "95 percent certain" he will run again.

David Young, of Austin, who has previously run for governor and U.S. Senate, announced against Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, complaining there's been too much government "of the lobbies, by the Hobbies, and for the snobies."

Former Pittsburg Steeler, "Mean Joe" Green, will do radio and TV spots with Gov. Mark White, promoting academics and the no-pass, no-play rule. Green is a North Texas State University regent.

The State Board of Insurance has approved increasing homeowners rates an average of 6.7 percent statewide. The new rates will become effective Nov. 15.

The Yugoslav martyrs

It's long been said that what the U.S. State Department needs most is an "American desk" - and it's looking more and more like this view is justified.

A good example can be found in State's opposition to an attempt by a group of American airmen shot down over Yugoslavia during World War II to build a monument honoring their rescuer, Yugoslav nationalist leader Gen. Draza Mihailovic.

General Mihailovic was executed after the war by Yugoslavia's post-war leader, Marshal Tito, but that's to be expected. Communist dictators execute potential democratic rivals as a matter of course after gaining power.

Still, the striped pants boys in Foggy Bottom are scared Belgrade will go into a snit if the monument is built, and are vigorously opposing legislation sponsored by Illinois Congressman Philip Crane that would authorize construction of the privately-funded monument on federal government property.

That's bad enough, but what's worse is that they are giving credence to the charge that Mihailovic might have collaborated with the Germans during the war - arguing that because he "remains a subject of great historical controversy" erection of a monument on federal land "is inconsistent with the foreign policy interests of the United States and should not be approved."

If the allegations of collaboration were true, the State Department might have a point, but the fact is - and State should be aware of it - recently declassified reports from World War II's top-secret Office of Strategic Services (OSS) totally refute such allegations. More important, these documents, along with others now available overseas, make it clear that the rumors were the product of a disinformation campaign operated by a high-level Communist mole in British Intelligence named James Klugman. He systematically altered intelligence coming out of Yugoslavia to make it appear that Mihailovic was at best incompetent, and possibly collaborating with the Nazis. What makes the charge even more outrageous is the fact that according to Milovan Djilas, former Vice President of Yugoslavia and one of Tito's chief deputies during the war, Tito was actually the collaborator.

The bottom line is: General Mihailovic was a genuine hero who saved the lives of more than 500 U.S. airmen.

One need only speak with a few of the airmen to understand why they want to see the project through. Major Richard Felman, for example, was in double trouble when he was shot down near a tiny Yugoslavian mountain village. First, he was an American serviceman in occupied territory. More important, he is Jewish and may not have been treated as a prisoner of war by the Nazis. When rumor of his rescue reached local German headquarters in Pranjane, the Nazis insisted that the villagers turn over the airman, or suffer severe reprisals. The Yugoslavs responded, according to Felman, by saying they would rather die honorably than live with dishonor. Sadly, the Germans were more than happy to oblige. They came during the night and slaughtered some 200 women and children (the men were off fighting), as punishment for the failure to turn over Felman. Felman, president of the Association of Rescued Airmen, knows it happened - he saw the bodies.

What makes the sacrifice even more impressive is that it happened despite the fact that Felman and other American airmen offered to let the nationalists turn them over to the Nazis in order to avoid the retribution. The nationalists, however, would not even consider such a cowardly choice.

Felman's story is not unique; dozens of other downed airmen tell similar stories. It's just that State isn't listening.

While it's true that the Yugoslav government might get upset if the Mihailovic memorial is built, some things are more important than diplomatic posturing.

It's time to formally say thanks to Mihailovic and the 200 Yugoslav martyrs who gave their lives so that Dick Felman might live.

Letter to the Editor

My very dear friends,

It is a magnificent summer forenoon on which I am beginning this promised chat with you.

This time there is a bit of news to tell about, which became history about half an hour ago. It was a terribly noisy affair. A monster of a machine was loaded upon a truck for transportation. It was marvelous to behold how one man managed the entire affair. I could see how proud he was from the way he swung his arms, marched up and down the length of the truck to make sure the machine was securely established on the truck. Then, he went into his cabin and off he went. Thanks be to God!

At last I will clarify the above. Since June 12th, we endured the noise connected with breaking up our battered sidewalks and constructing new ones. It was a matter of absolute necessity. I am very happy that the work is finished, and I shall utilize "my" new sidewalk in going to chapel, via the sidewalk instead of the indoor hall.

Another item which has not been reported to you during the past five years is that I spent a very, very pleasant week of vacation at our Benedictine Manor at Hot Springs. Many of you have been there and know what a fine place it is. I would not want you to think that I had no vacation during the past five years.

It was an immense treat for me to see so many Muenster friends on the occasion of the Golden Jubilee of Sister Helen Swirczynski.

An Oblate Retreat was conducted last weekend by Rev. Eugene Luke, O.S.B. for 20 Oblates of St. Benedict, affiliated with the Benedictine Sisters of Holy Angels Convent. The Oblates of St. Benedict are people, living in the world, but following the Rule of St. Benedict according to their state in life. The Third Order of Saint Francis of Assisi is based on the same principle. Mother Mary John introduced the Oblates into our Community. Sister Yvonne, O.S.B. is in charge of them.

On the evening of July 16th, we had an Englishman as a guest at supper. He will tour the United States until the 19th of next month. Now, this Englishman was a prison Brother of the Anglican Church. He made it very clear that he was not an ordained Minister of that Church but a Brother. He will visit some of the largest prisons of our country. He talked to us about half an hour. He was an extremely nervous man, and I was glad he did not talk any longer, but I befriended him afterwards.

Now, I think this ought to do, until my Christmas message will appear in The Muenster Enterprise.

I would just like to restate, in conclusion, that I participate fully with you in your joys and sorrows and all the events that make up your daily life. You are firmly established in my love and prayers. God bless you, my dear friends!

Always yours,

whites and turning the country over to blacks.

And there's another motive behind it all. Moscow has visions of moving in and exploiting the rich resources of South Africa as it does in those other countries it has helped to "liberate."

Our hope is that the United States will do some serious thinking about the situation, and soon. We need to as a matter of human rights as well as our own self-interest in our conflict with the red menace.

Student Council members of S H attend workshop July 29

Sacred Heart High School Student Council members Laura Flusche, Paula Yosten, Kelly Hennigan, Sally Stoffels, Gail Fisher, Vicki Walterscheid, Julie Rohmer, Curt Bayer, Noelle Hesse, and their sponsor, Holly Koch, attended a Summer Leadership Workshop sponsored by the Texas Association of Student Councils July 29 through Aug. 2 on the campus of Texas Lutheran College in Seguin.

In five days, over 200 students and their sponsors were given intensive preparation for their Student Council roles.

Objectives were to make every Student Council an effective organization through training in group communication and planning. In its beginnings, the idea of Student Council might have been to form a "mock government," but the true idea of the functioning Council requires individual commitment and individual involvement - the living, central arena of the student world. Student Council is a group of elected students who meet together regularly to promote school spirit and student/faculty/community relations.

The SHHS students enjoyed a special treat Wednesday afternoon and evening, a scheduled break, when the group drove into San Antonio and enjoyed a movie, sightseeing and eating at the Mexican Market.

Fischer's Market participates in 40th anniversary promotion

During the month of August, Fischer's Meat Market is participating in a promotion by Affiliated Food Stores, Inc., observing the 40th anniversary of the cooperative. During this time, the Fischer store invites all to register for a drawing of prizes to be given away by the wholesale firm.

Persons may register as often as they like. To qualify, they must be at least 18 years old and complete an authorized entry blank - available in the store - in their own handwriting and in the store.

No purchase is needed. One does not have to be present to win. Grand prize winners will be announced Sept. 23, and winners will be notified.

Hotel Investors Corp. assume management of Holiday Inn

Hotel Investors Corporation announced recently that effective July 15, 1985, it has taken over the management of the Gainesville Holiday Inn for the owners, Gainesville Associates.

The Holiday Inn, which opened in August 1984, has 118 guestrooms, including 16 executive king rooms; over 3,000 square feet of meeting space accommodating up to 300 people; The Rig Restaurant; The Wellhead, a private club; and a swimming pool and game room.

Hotel Investors Corporation took over the management of the Holiday Inn from MHM, Inc., a Dallas management company hired by Hotel Investors to operate the hotel for one year.

Mr. Fred Zwart has been named General Manager of the hotel. He has been with Hotel Investors for the past year as a General Manager, most recently at the Columbia, Missouri, Ramada Inn. Mr. Zwart has 20 years experience in the hotel and travel industry.

Hotel Investors Corporation is a hotel management company based in Chevy Chase, Maryland. They are currently managing 17 hotels including Marriotts, Sheratons, Ramadas and all-suite properties.

State bridge repair program approved

A program to replace or rehabilitate 573 bridges on Texas roadways through 1986 was approved July 26, 1985 by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

The work is split between two programs, one of which will provide $177.6 million to upgrade 442 structures on state and Interstate highways. The other program will improve 131 bridges on county and city roadways at a cost of $30.7 million. The governmental funding formula for the program calls for 80 percent of the costs to be borne by the Federal Highway Administration, with the remainder coming from state and local government entities.

In the Wichita Falls highway district, 13 bridges will be replaced or rehabilitated, according to Jim Stacks, District Engineer for the nine-county district. The program will provide for the replacement of six bridges off the highway system on county roads or city streets. The remaining seven bridges are on the state highway system.

Teacher association will prep members for competency test

AUSTIN — The Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE), Texas' second-largest teacher group, announced recently that it plans to prepare its members for the mandatory teacher competency test and will not oppose the exam.

ATPE officials announced the decision at the group's annual Leadership Workshop, held July 21-23 in Austin, and attended by more than 250 educators from throughout Texas.

At a special meeting July 21, the ATPE Board of Directors agreed that the association would not attempt to thwart the competency test but would instead accept the challenge posed by the examination, scheduled to be administered next March.

The teacher competency test was one of the school reforms mandated by House Bill 72, the education reform bill passed last year. Teachers must pass the test in order to remain employed as public school teachers in Texas under the law.

"We will support the competency test although we do not believe it is a true evaluation of a teacher's teaching ability," said ATPE State President Sue McGarvey, a Hallsville High School government teacher. "But, ATPE has always acted in a positive manner. Competency testing is the law, and we have always obeyed the law."

"Students must abide by no-pass, no-play and the exit level test," McGarvey said, mentioning other HB 72 reforms to which students must adhere. "How can we give tests to our students when we ourselves refuse to take them?"

"In announcing its decision to support the test, ATPE elected not to follow the rival Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA), which has said it will go to court to fight administration of the test. Instead, ATPE will take steps to help its members prepare for the first phase of the test, a reading and writing skills exam which will be given to 212,000 Texas educators in March 1986. ATPE representatives will conduct local meetings and workshops for members to offer information and advice and answer questions about the test after the state distributes study guides for the exam in November.

Free and reduced price meal program at schools

Both Muenster schools will participate again this year in the federal program of providing free or reduced price meals to children of families whose incomes fall below certain poverty levels as determined by income in relation to family size.

Application forms for the benefits will be mailed to all parents and those whose children qualify are invited to complete and return the application. Information contained will be confidential and will be reviewed by school officials to become applicable. Any who disagree with the school decision may ask for verification. Also, families whose income increases as much as $50 will be expected to report the change.

The following is a table of annual incomes for families of one to eight which are eligible for the free or reduced price meals. One column concerns qualifications for free meals, the other for reduced price meals.

Family Size	Free Meals	Reduced-Price Meals

Alcohol increases hazards of boating

Safety goes overboard when a boat operator is intoxicated, according to water safety officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

A federal study indicated approximately 50 percent of all adult drowning victims were intoxicated at the time of death.

Alcohol's effects, when combined with fatigue and noise often associated with boating, cause the operator to have "tunnel vision" and a tendency to not notice other boats.

Swimmers also are in greater danger when drinking, since alcohol depresses the swallowing and breathing reflexes, hurts coordination and can lead to risk taking.

Officials remind all water recreationists in Texas that there's still plenty of summer left for recreation, but also ample opportunity for alcohol abuse to cause tragedy.

Seat belt myths cleared up

It is indeed strange thinking about seat belts that permits so much death and suffering in the name of personal convenience and unwrinkled clothing, says a safety official.

Most of this "strange thinking" is based on a number of common myths about seat belts, says Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Myth: Seat belts are unnecessary for short trips.

Fact: More than 70 percent of injury-causing traffic accidents occur within 25 miles of home, according to the National Safety Council. More than 80 percent of all collisions happen at speeds under 40 mph. People who were not wearing seat belts have been killed in accidents that occurred at speeds as low as 12 mph - about the speed you would be driving in a parking lot.

Myth: Seat belts trap people inside cars, and I'd rather be thrown clear.

Fact: "Thrown clear" is a misnomer. Being thrown from a vehicle usually means flying through the windshield or catapulting out a door. The force of a collision can fling you as much as 150 feet onto a roadside object, into the path of oncoming traffic or scraping along the pavement. For these reasons, if you are thrown from a vehicle in an accident, your chances of being killed are 25 percent greater. What's more, instead of being trapped, belted occupants are likely to be conscious and unhurt, and therefore better able to escape in the rare situation when fire or submersion are added dangers.

Myth: Seat belts cause injuries.

Fact: Study after study in the United States and abroad show a substantial decrease in the number of serious injuries in actual auto accidents among those who are belted versus those who aren't. In the rare instances where injuries due to belts have been reported, either the belt was inappropriately worn or the crash was so severe that the occupants would have been killed or seriously injured if they had been unbelted.

Myth: I don't need belts since I'm a careful driver.

Fact: No matter how good a driver you are, you can't control the other car. There's no way to protect yourself against someone else's bad driving, poor judgments or mechanical failures. Even good drivers can be killed or injured in a crash.

Myth: I don't need seat belts; I can brace myself.

Fact: The force of an impact at just 10 mph is equivalent to catching a 200-pound bag of cement thrown from a first-story window, according to the National Safety Council. At 35 mph, the force of an impact is even more brutal. There's no way your arms and legs can brace you against that kind of force - even if you could react in time.

Nimitz Museum marks anniversary of world war end

FREDERICKSBURG — Officials of the Admiral Nimitz State Historical Park invite Texans and visitors interested in World War II history to visit their downtown Fredericksburg facility on Sept. 2, the 40th anniversary of the war's end.

The park, which includes the Museum of the Pacific War, is a tribute to the late Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who led the United States to victory in the Pacific.

Nimitz was born in Fredericksburg.

Bruce Smith, acting park superintendent, said the museum is the only one in the nation dedicated to telling the story of the war in the Pacific. It includes $300,000 worth of new exhibits using the latest in electronic exhibitry, he said.

The museum is housed in the restored Nimitz Hotel, a famous stagecoach stop in pioneer days. A Japanese garden of peace also is on the museum grounds, a gift from the people of Japan out of respect for Adm. Nimitz. A block away is the History Walk of the Pacific, with authentic artifacts including tanks, cannons and airplanes.

The Admiral Nimitz park is open every day from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fees are $2 for adults and $1 for children age six to 12.

Energy tax credit in home ends in 1985 for taxpayers

This is the last year that taxpayers may claim the residential energy tax credit.

A tax credit of up to $300 is available for energy conservation materials installed in the home, with a separate credit of up to $4,000 for taxpayers who install "renewable" energy source such as solar or wind equipment.

The credit for energy conservation materials is figured at 15 percent for the first $2,000 spent on such items as storm or thermal windows and doors, insulation, weather-stripping and caulking. Also qualifying are certain fuel saving heating system modifications. Only materials installed in homes that were built before April 20, 1977, are eligible for energy credit.

The "renewable" energy source credit is 40 percent of the first $10,000 invested in qualifying solar, wind or geothermal equipment used to heat or cool or to provide hot water for use in the home.

Both credits are available for items purchased and installed on a taxpayer's principal residence between April 20, 1977 and Dec. 31, 1985. The "renewable" energy credit is available for both existing and newly constructed homes. Renters as well as homeowners are eligible for the credit.

For additional information, order the free IRS publication 903, Energy Credits for Individuals, by calling the Federal Tax information number listed in the telephone directory under U.S. Government.

Texas co-op's 45th meeting marks REA's 50 anniversary

Some 700 Texas co-op leaders joined last week in celebrating 50 years of rural electrification. They cited the record as reason for the celebration - from 97 percent of the rural populace without electricity in 1935 to 97 percent with electric service today.

In compiling this record, Texas' 80 rural electric systems have constructed more than 241,000 miles of lines throughout the rural areas of all but nine of Texas' 254 counties. They're now looking forward to connecting their one-millionth meter later this year.

Reference to the milestone punctuated sessions of the 45th annual meeting of the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives. More than 700 persons registered for the July 29-31 meeting in Austin. A focal point of the gathering was a program one evening citing the late President Lyndon B. Johnson for his particular contributions to the rural electric record.

At this point, Cactus Pryor, Austin showman oft identified as "LBJ's favorite emcee," reminisced of his acquaintance with Johnson. A film of Johnson's career and close association with electric cooperatives preceded Pryor's lively presentation.

The TEC premiered a 45-minute version of another film, "Legacy of a Dream," one afternoon. The documentary recalls the early days of rural electrification, with old-timers discussing the hardships and the excitement of the early years. Twenty-two television stations across the state broadcast a 28-minute version of the film earlier this year.

Representatives of Cooke County Electric Co-op at the meeting were Jess Haralson, Richard Stark and Mike Sloan.

THIS PHOTO FROM THE PAST belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Muller. A bygone era is reflected in it, but a piece of furniture is still in use in Muenster. Now a very valuable antique, the handsome wall mirror with its ornate frame and cabinet graces part of the north wall at Tops and Teams, a sporting goods store. In its heyday, the mirror was a focal point of decor in the building that was a saloon on Main Street in 1902, owned by the late Frank Gottlob, a pioneer of the young colony. In later years, the building became a cafe twice, then a drug store. Now the remodeled and refinished building houses "Modern Floors" and "Tops and Teams." Shown in the Photo From The Past are: standing in rear, Matt Muller, Sr. Sitting behind bar (left to right) unknown; John (Shorty) Muller; with white shirt and tie, Frank Gottlob; standing in front of bar Henry Vieth; with pipe, John Luke, Sr.; around table at left, Mr. Richter; Grandpa Vieth; Mr. Kleiss; around table at right Conrad Walterscheid, Sr.; Uncle Matt Bearscheid; and John B. Herr, Sr.

She was wearing a two-piece, tea-length wedding gown of antique ivory Venise lace over satin, designed and created by her mother, with a blouson bodice accented with a peplum effect. Sleeves were elbow-length, puffed and flounced. The high neckline was edged with a delicate lace ruffle. The bride's mother continued a family tradition since she has designed and made the wedding dress for each of her daughters.

Her bridal hat of matching antique ivory lace was edged with tiny pearls and tied with a matching illusion band.

For sentiment, she carried her mother's wedding rosary and a single long-stemmed rose, and wore a new penny in her shoe.

Attendants

Wanda Cloud of Denton was her sister's matron of honor, wearing a tea-length, light blue, Venise lace over satin dress with blouson bodice, elbow-length flounced sleeves and full, gathered skirt.

The Unity candle, carried by Jessica Pegg, the bride's daughter, was lit by parents of the couple before the ceremony. Jessica wore a light blue eyelet embroidered dress.

Tim Sawyer of Wichita Falls, a friend of the groom, was the best man. Lee Highsmith, a friend, Ricky Cloud, the bride's brother-in-law, and Timmy Schneider, brother of the bride, were ushers.

organist, who played the processional and recessional. Dr. Kralicke sang "Ave Maria" as the bride placed a floral tribute on Blessed Mary's altar.

Readings for the wedding liturgy were given by the bride's brother-in-law, Claude Klement, and prayers of the faithful were led by the bride's sister, Deb Klement.

Offertory gifts were carried to the altar by Pam and Jimmy McDonald, the bride's sister and brother-in-law, and Carl and Patsy Walterscheid, the bride's uncle and aunt.

The bride is the former Bridget Ann Fangman, daughter of Winston and Rosemary Fangman. The groom is the son of Orville and Shirley Anderle.

Father Cletus Post officiated at the double-ring vows and the Nuptial Mass.

In a setting created by altar decorations of pastel flowers, a Unity candle on the main altar, lighted candles in candelabras on the Communion rail, and white ribbons and bows marking center aisle pews, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She was wearing a formal white spun silk wedding gown. The fitted bodice was overlaid with silk embroidered motifs encrusted with bridal pearls. The high neck of the sheer yoke was accented with narrow lace. The tufted-pearled puffed sleeves met at the elbow with the tapered long and sheer silk embroidered wrist-length sleeves. The full skirt had an overlay of self-fabric encircled with scalloped embroidery. Rows of ruffles flowed into a cathedral length train. Her matching illusion veil was fingertip length.

She carried a bridal bouquet of pastel spring flowers entwined with a rosary given by her mother.

For "something old" she wore a wedding band that belonged to her late grandmother, Mrs. Henry Hess.

Bridesmaids were Debbie Fangman and Anita Fangman, both sisters of the bride, Sherry Anderle, sister of the groom, Marilyn Hartman and Kelly Fuhrmann, both friends of the bride. They wore tea-length, satin pastel dresses designed with sweetheart necklines. Each wore matching flowers in her hair and carried long-stemmed roses.

nephew of Gainesville, was ringbearer.

Doug Anderle was his brother's best man. Mark Anderle, Jeff Anderle, both brothers of the groom, and Frank Fangman, John Fangman, both brothers of the bride, and Brad Wimmer, a friend of the groom, were groomsmen.

The couple has returned from a wedding trip to Ocho Rios, Jamaica and is at home in Keller.

The bride was presented at the altar by her father.

For her wedding, she chose a candlelight, floor-length chiffon gown with lace-appliqued bodice re-embroidered with pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of pink rosebuds with mixed white flowers, and pink ribbons with candlelight lace, and wore a wreath of matching flowers in her hair.

For sentiment, she wore a pearl and ruby ring formerly belonging to her late grandmother, Mrs. George Spaeth, and now belonging to the bride's mother.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

CHIROPRACTOR

"Whiplash"

Auto insurance policies provide for chiropractic treatment for injuries sustained in collisions. Chiropractic is particularly effective in the treatment of whiplash and other back and neck injuries which are often the result of a car accident.

Sudden jarring of the head and neck in an auto collision may cause injuries without the victim's knowledge. When a car moving at ten miles an hour strikes another car, it may transmit to this car a force of 25 tons. The occupant of the car continues to move forward while the head, being held at the neck, snaps backward with several tons of force - minus any support. Since the muscular control of the neck is caught off guard, the result is sprained ligaments, muscle spasms and slipped vertebrae causing disc protrusion. This, in turn, results in pinched nerves, leading to headaches, neck aches, backaches and other problems.

If your automobile was involved in an accident, you would make sure it was mechanically sound before driving it again. You would have a mechanic check over the entire car and correct any misalignment, broken parts or other damage.

The same consideration should be given your body. In case of an accident, have a spinal check-up to make sure there has been no damage to your spine or spinal nerves.

The longer you wait, the more damage you suffer, and the more difficult it is to correct the cause of your trouble.

Most insurance provides coverage for chiropractic X-rays, neurological examination and treatment.

All the present news media coverage of the 40th anniversary of the atomic bomb that was dropped on Japan has reminded my husband, Perryman, when he was part of the group of Air Force men that participated in the last U.S.A. atomic test made above ground.

It was Sept. 1958 over Johnson Island in the Pacific Ocean, a spot in that vast ocean about 700 miles west of the Hawaiian Islands. This is the only test he ever heard of that the bomb was shot up in a rocket. It exploded 10 miles up in the atmosphere. Perryman was the radar operator on the photo aircraft, a B-36, directly underneath. The bomb lit up the Pacific Ocean as bright as day for a 1,000 miles in every direction at 4 o'clock in the morning. It was the most awesome sight he has ever seen. Just imagine seeing an atomic explosion from underneath. They stayed beneath the cloud for some 30 minutes taking photographs.

When they landed back in Hawaii, the islands were in a turmoil as it was still as bright as if it were high noon.

WHERE OTHERS HAVE THEIR BRANCHES,
WE HAVE OUR ROOTS.

Today's banking picture leaves a lot to be desired. The big financial networks have branches everywhere. The home office dictates policies for everyone... which means the real decision makers are often hundreds of miles away. While you're looking for personal service... big banks' employees are climbing the corporate ladder. Their main concern? Personal success.

At our Independent Bank things are different. We have our roots firmly planted in the community we serve. When you need to see a decision maker, you see a neighbor who's responsive to the local economic climate and has the responsibility for making your money work here... in our community.

If your bank gives you the feeling you're out on a limb... maybe it's time to bank the Independent Way.

You Know Us. We Know You.

Bud Light is no. 2 in softball tourney

J & J Rockets of Denton was the champ and Bud Light of Muenster was runner-up in the double-elimination softball tournament co-sponsored by Coors and First Realty during the past weekend on the Muenster field. Twelve teams participated.

The Rockets had a perfect tourney of five wins in a row. They started by beating Gilbert Tank Trucks 17-7, then Fred Moore 32-3, Gainesville KC 10-5, and Braswell 18-14, and finished the job by nudging Bud Light 14-11.

Bud got its trophy the hard way by starting with a squeaker 12-11 loss to Braswell and sweating out six more games to get to the final. In the double-elimination, they were still contenders after the initial loss and held out until the final before losing their second. Scores after the starter were Fred Moore 22-2, Lindsay 7-5, Old Mill 19-6, Gainesville KC 13-2. Then they avenged their initial loss to Braswell with a 12-6 win, advancing to the final. For their achievement, the team received a three-foot trophy and individual T-shirts. Another honor was Mel Walterscheid being voted as the offensive MVP.

Braswell took third place in the tournament; Gainesville KC was no. 4 and Old Mill no. 5.

Next on the schedule for Bud Light is a trip to Midland this weekend to play in the Class C state softball tournament. Its present season record is 38-18.

Muenster JV and Jr. High grid schedule

Another game has been added to the MHS Hornets' Junior Varsity schedule. It heads the schedule with Nocona JV as the opponent and will be played on the Hornet field Thursday, Sept. 5, starting at 7 p.m.

The additional game completes a 10-game schedule for the young Hornets. All the games are on Thursday and all are to start at 7 p.m., except two with Jacksboro, times for which are to be announced.

A companion schedule is that of Muenster Junior High. It has a list of eight games, all on Thursday, some of which will precede the Junior Varsity at its locations. On other dates, the team will be at separate places, and all start at 6 p.m.

The combined schedule reads as follows.

Football players will get physicals Saturday

Coach Jon LeBrasseur of Sacred Heart and Coach Dewey Sims of the Public School announce that physical exams for 1985 football players will be given Saturday, Aug. 10, in the Sacred Heart gym. Dr. Martin Kralicko will give the exams to boys of grades 7-12.

Varsity practice at both schools begins Aug. 12.

Spotting system at MHS goes wireless

Communications in Hornet athletics has been upgraded by a wireless communicating system between coaches and spotters. At football games, the glorified walkie-talkie will enable an observer at the grandstand to convey messages to the coach on the field without the inconvenience of wires. Likewise in track, widely separated persons will be able to keep in touch.

Hornet fieldhouse gets facelifting

Hornets reporting for first practice next Monday will find a general facelifting as a result of efforts by the coaches and generosity by the Quarterback Club. Coaches Sims, Gross and Meurer took charge of fixing-up and painting-up and re-locating lockers and weight room equipment and the Quarterback Club donated a carpet.

Exercise caution in pits

Deadly cave-ins in pits and ditches kill or seriously injure several construction workers in Texas every year.

Billy R. Stringer, Area Soil Scientist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Terrell, said slides in clay soils probably kill more people each year than those in sandy soils.

"Most people are careful around sand because they know it caves easily," Stringer said. "But they think a thick, tough clay soil will not slip; yet most clay soils shrink when dry and swell when wet. This causes slick pressure plates to develop beneath the soil surface."

Stringer said the pressure plates, called slickensides, are similar to two pieces of glass pressing against each other. When a ditch or pit is dug through the plates, especially when the soil is moist, the soil can - and does - suddenly slip, causing a cave-in.

The solution is to use metal or wooden braces to shore up sides of any ditch dug into a soil with a potential slide hazard. Ditches five feet deep or deeper should be protected.

SCS has published soil surveys for most counties that can be used to identify soils with a high slide potential. Free copies are available to engineers, builders, contractors, or others interested in construction hazards.

For information, contact any local Soil Conservation Service office, or write SCS, 101 South Main Street, Temple, Texas 76701-7682.

Leave some brush for wildlife

Brush is an important habitat component for many wildlife species in Texas. Total brush removal will harm more wildlife species than it will benefit, but excessive brush reduces other valuable habitat components such as forbs and grasses. Brush also competes for moisture that would nurture nesting habitat and winter food. Properly designed brush patterns coupled with proper grazing by livestock will provide excellent habitat for many wildlife species.

Many people buy land with trees and brush to enjoy the wildlife, either by hunting or observation. For these potential buyers, landowners can reduce the market value of their real estate by total removal of trees and brush.

Other landowners want their properties to have a clean, manicured appearance. Taller trees are trimmed, smaller brush is removed, fence rows are cleaned, weed control herbicides are applied, and pastures are frequently shredded. Ironically, the wildlife habitat value, which may have been the reason the places were purchased, is reduced by these activities if they're not properly planned and applied.

Soil Conservation Service personnel at Gainesville assist landowners and operators through the local Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District in designing brush patterns, grazing systems and weed control programs that will benefit the wildlife. Technical guidance biologists with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department also help design brush patterns and develop wildlife management plans.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

In some fields, grasses tend to be a problem in small grain production. One product that we have been using in the past for control of cheat and broadleaves is Sencor. One of the major problems with Sencor is that it is only registered for use on three varieties in Texas. Those are TAM 101, TAM 105 and Newton. Many producers have problems with these three varieties in Cooke County. Hopefully, new varieties will be added to the registration list. The list includes soft wheats in Arkansas on registration but not Texas.

This past winter in the wheat plots on the Sicking Farm, we ran Sencor strips through all the varieties to test the wheat phytotoxicity. The following chart shows the amount of wheat death in percent of the various varieties using Sencor.

TREATMENT SENCOR 6 Oz. AI/A
Varieties	Wheat Phyto	Percent Ryegrass Control	Percent Broadleaf Control
Ram	0	98	99
Hawk	0	"	"
Mustang	20	"	"
Milburn	30	"	"
Hybex 1010	25	"	"
Mit	25	"	"
Bounty 201	5	"	"
Chisolm	10	"	"
Hybex 1030	10	"	"
Northrup King 812	15	"	"
Bounty 100	0	"	"

Ryegrass control in the fields was measured at 98 percent, and the broadleaf control was measured at approximately the same rate. The herbicide is excellent but again it has its restrictions according to varieties. If you have an interest in using this herbicide, Mobay Chemical Company is offering a soil testing service to producers. The herbicide is very restrictive as to soil type and producers should test for Ph and organic matter in the soil before using the product. It is possibly one of the best herbicides that we have for cheatgrass control.

Once again, early planning is extremely important in considering use of this particular herbicide.

Cause and loss assessed in Trinity fish kill

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has estimated that more than 172,000 fish of at least eight species were killed in the recent fish kill on the Trinity River below Dallas.

Officials said the value of the fish was calculated at approximately $297,400.

Dennis Palafox, pollution surveillance program leader, said the fish were killed when rising waters stirred up river bottom sediments which depleted the available oxygen.

The species of fish affected and approximate numbers killed included: channel catfish, 100,000; smallmouth buffalo, 65,800; flathead catfish, 1,722; carp, 4,300; and white bass, 400.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to say thanks and "May God Bless" to all our friends and neighbors for the cards, flowers, food and many acts of kindness shown us during our time of sorrow. Special thanks to Rev. Ralph Hogue and Rev. Kyle Thurman for the beautiful service. Also to the ladies of Grand Avenue Baptist Church for the lovely noon meal. Mom gave so much happiness to others and to us. May the memories of her life, so well lived, live on forever.

The family of Cassie Lawson

I thank the dear Lord for all the prayers that friends, relatives, and the good people of Muenster offered for me while I was hospitalized. With the help of my wife Leona who stayed at my bedside for five weeks in All Saints Hospital, I am able to walk about the house and I'm regaining some of my lost weight. I am lucky to be here. God bless all of you.

SEVENTEEN YEARS IN DARKNESS — Commonly known as a locust, the periodical cicada is one of few insects that make an incomplete metamorphosis. It's immature form looks like a miniature version of the adult and is called a nymph. Unlike adults, they are wingless and have strong front legs for burrowing. The cicada nymphs live underground, sucking juices from tree roots until their 17th year, when they push their way to the surface, crawl up trees or houses and molt into a winged insect. Life above the ground lasts only a few weeks. The adult cicada does damage by slitting tender twigs to lay eggs. The newly hatched nym-phs fall to the ground and dig in for another 17 years. The cicada's sound-making organs are internal. Most of its body is hollow. Its air chamber contains powerful muscles, which attached is a kind of drumhead. When the muscles are tightened, they cause tension on the drumhead. When released, the drumhead hits the inside wall of the body making the insects "song," which can be heard locally during the hot summer. In a final molt, a mature cicada pulls itself through a slit in the nymphal skin.
