Something to be really concerned about in relation to our country's continued existence as a free and independent nation is the one-sided attitude of the media in reporting significant events. This applies to the major networks of TV, radio and the big periodicals.

They seem eager to publicize demonstrations and conferences lambasting the President and the Administration. Furthermore they are inclined to overlook or misrepresent the hostile nature of persons running the shows or the communist connections of organizers and sponsors.

For instance, much was made of the recent convention of the National Women's Political Caucus in San Antonio. Media reporting made a special effort to portray the leader as "Republican."

Kathy Wilson, implying with emphasis that members of Reagan's party are turning against him. She called him a "dangerous man" who should "step down." Her big gripe was Reagan's supposed indifference to women's issues, and she had other gripes as well.

When asked whether she agreed with any of the President's programs, she answered "not really," and whether she had cast a vote for him in 1980, she said "No, I cast my vote for Jimmy Carter." Why didn't the media tell us? Those two bits of information were really as newsworthy as any or all of the rest of the conference. After all, she and other conference leaders were not disappointed members of the president's party but old time solid political enemies. The media was dishonest in failing to present that fact.

The media was also dishonest in failing to supply vital info about the nature and origin of the organization. It was started in 1971 by such prominent left-leaning persons as Bella Abzug, Gloria Steinem and Ann Lewis, the latter the current political director of the Democratic National Committee. A further hint of the un-Republican political nature of NWPC can be seen in its stand on abortion, ERA, expanded welfare, higher taxes, affirmative action and the Department of Education.

The same attitude applies to other big demonstrations and meetings sponsored by the Administration's enemies. The media invariably puts big emphasis on the harsh words and actions of anti-nukes, opponents of the president's Central American policy, environmental cranks, anti-prayer in school groups, gays and what not. But how often does the media tell what kind of people they are and who sponsors them? Does the American public really get a fair shake in the presentation of news and views?

By contrast, demonstrations and meetings supporting the other side of important issues get little if any media recognition. Now, for instance, a nation wide petition is under way seeking a million endorsements opposing Athisst O'Hair's campaign to remove God and patriotism from American textbooks. It's a big undertaking but it gets no attention from the media. Similarly there have

Total enrollment down at both schools

The two schools of Muenster have a combined enrollment of 630, a disappointing drop of 31 from last year's total of 661. Twelve of the losses were at Sacred Heart, which dropped from 235 to 223, and 19 were at the public school which dropped from 426 to 407. The public school's count is a welcome increase of 10 since the opening day total of 397.

Much of the decline relates to the loss of 65 students by last year's graduation and the addition of only 41 in this year's kindergarten enrollment. Ten of those were lost at Sacred Heart and 14 at the public school.

Other losses are explained by moving in and out of the community since the 1982 registrations. At the public school the count declined from the original 426 to 411 at the end of the school year.

Detailed figures of enrollment indicate that Sacred Heart elementary dropped from 157 to 150 during the past year, and the high school department dropped from 78 to 73. Also Public School elementary dropped from 300 to 293 and the high school dropped from 126 to 114.

A review of past enrollments shows a big decline from 797 in 1968, which then did not include kindergarten. As a comparison, the total count now less kindergarten would be

Houston receives local TP&L aid

Texas Power & Light Company crews rolled out Friday to aid in restoring electrical service to the Houston area.

District Manager, Mike Murphy, of the TP&L District office at Gainesville said a TP&L convoy formed near Corsicana Friday morning and picked up other support people and equipment en route to Houston.

Most of the TP&L specialists were sent to help restore service in the service area of Houston Lighting and Power Co. Some TP&L employees and equipment were sent to work with Gulf States Utilities Co. in the Conroe area of South Texas.

The TP&L group numbers more than 200 employees. This includes 20 four-person crews with heavy equipment, 20 two-person crews and several heavy construction crews.

The first group of TP&L workers left from a staging area at the TP&L Corsicana transmission facility, located about 3 miles east of Interstate Highway 45 on Highway 31. Other TP&L workers and equipment from the Company's 51-county service area joined the caravan near Centerville and Madisonville en route to the Houston area.

Jaycee project tops in nation

Muenster Jaycees have received official notice that their project book submitted in competition at the Jaycee national convention has been awarded the top honor in the nation. The project is the "1982 Germanfest Beer Concession" entered as a chapter "fund raising undertaking".

The book was originally submitted to the Jaycee state convention in Abilene, where it was judged number one in its population division, thereby becoming eligible for state-wide consideration. It won again at that level and received the sweepstakes award as best in the state.

The state award qualified the book for competition on the national level. After reviewing it and adding finishing touches the chapter sent the book to the Jaycee national convention at Hartford, Conn., in June.

Muenster members did not attend because of distance and the busy season, and heard no more than a rumor about their report until last week when they received four first place certificates at a meeting in Gainesville. One award went to the chapter and three went to the three chairmen of the 1982 Germanfest Beer

Concession: Mark Lippe, Mark Klement and Doyle Klement. David Hicks, Area 11 vice president of Austin, made the presentation explaining that the Muenster chapter had the best Jaycee fund raising project in the nation.

The project book is now being revised for competition in the Jaycee World Congress to be held Nov. 6-12, 1983, in Taipei, Taiwan.

The success story of the project book started in March when local members and several state officers decided that the 1982 beer concession project was qualified for state competition under "chapter fund raising." Wayne Klement, chairman, and several other members then started gathering and organizing relevant information such as goals, budget, materials, manpower, clippings, pictures etc., then arranged their data into book form and entered it in the state contest. Many hours were spent on the job and the Jaycees are grateful to all who helped.

The award for this project is the second won by Jaycees on a national level. The other was in 1968 based on improvements in the city park.

Reduced school lunch prices in effect

The federal program providing free or reduced price meals to children whose family incomes are below certain standards is again in effect in area schools, as indicated by notification this week from Muenster Public School, Sacred Heart School and Forestburg School.

Each of the schools has notified parents of the program and enclosed application forms with tables of standards to determine eligibility for the free or reduced price meals. One table indicates the income levels which apply to free meals for the various size families. The other table applies to reduced price meals. Federal regulations require that a reduced price lunch may not exceed 40 cents and reduced price breakfast may not exceed 30 cents.

At Sacred Heart School the reduced price lunch is quoted at 20 cents and breakfast is not served. Regular prices are quoted at 75 cents for Kindergarten through grade 5; 85 cents for grades 6 through 12 and $1.00 for adults.

At the public school reduced price meals are 20 cents for breakfast and 40 cents for lunch. Regular price for breakfast is 40 cents, and regular prices for lunch are 80 cents through grade 6, $1.00 for grades 7 through 12, $1.50 for teachers, $1.65 for other adults.

School zone traffic under watch

Motorists driving in the vicinity of the two Muenster schools are reminded this week to slow down for the sake of the children. Police Chief Helen Tompkins said the 20 mile speed limit is in effect again on Main Street, 5th to 8th, from 7 to 8 a.m. and 3 to 4 p.m. and a 15 mile limit is in effect during school hours in front of the schools on Sixth and Seventh.

She pointed out that the 20 mile limit applies on the three blocks of Main while the signal light is flashing, that speed is being checked by radar, and a ticket will be given for each violation. No warnings will be given.

Another traffic control provision is a crosswalk with signs on Seventh at Oak Street. It will accommodate children heading for either of the schools. Vehicle traffic there is expected to yield to all pedestrians.

Good News

Acts 16: 29-24

The jailer called for a light, then rushed in and fell trembling at the feet of Paul and Silas. After a brief interval he led them out and said, "Men, what must I do to be saved? Their answer was, "Believe in the Lord Jesus and you will be saved, and all your household." They proceeded to announce the word of God to him and to everyone in his house. At that late hour of the night he took them in and bathed their wounds; then he and his whole household were baptized. He led them up into his house, spread a table before them, and joyfully celebrated with his whole family his newfound faith in God.

Help from Alicia

Hurricane Alicia, which did extensive damage over a wide area of the state, was a benefactor in this community. It's been given credit for 1.31 inches of rain, a very welcome relief to the drought of recent weeks. Added to .06 inch earlier in the month, it increases the August measure to 1.37 inches and the 1983 total to 16.65, still leaving the area about 8 inches below normal.

Low and high temperature readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Moster.

The Owner's Manual

LAST WEEK we saw how some friends of a paralyzed man brought the man to see Jesus. When they were unable to get close to the house where Jesus was, they took the paralytic up on the roof, dug a hole in the roof over the room where Jesus was, and then lowered the man down to Jesus.

This week we want to look at the results of their actions. Mark 2:5 tells us, "And Jesus, seeing their faith, said to the paralytic, My son, your sins are forgiven."

It is interesting to note that although they brought the paralytic to Jesus that he might walk, the first thing Jesus did was forgive his sins. He was healed spiritually before being healed physically. The Lord began with the man's greater problem, his spiritual need, rather than his physical one. The most important thing in our life is to first be right with God, before worrying about our physical health or feelings. I suspect that if we would all spend as much time worrying about our spiritual life as we do our physical life, we would all have a closer walk with God. Jesus' declaration that the man's sins were forgiven shocked the theological minds of the scribes. They knew that only God could forgive sins. Therefore, the scribes had only two alternatives: either to believe that Jesus was divine or to accuse him of blasphemy. The scribe silently chose the charge of blasphemy as their first accusation against Jesus. The scribes were the grammatical and editorial nitpickers of their day. Although they were laymen with another occupation to make their living, it was their job to copy the biblical texts, keep them pure, and expound their meaning. We owe a lot to good grammarians and editors, but it is easy to see how these first-century scribes would find it hard to accept change and natural to criticize. Later, the scribes would be joined in their criticism and opposition to Jesus by Pharisees, elders, priests, Sadducees, and Herodians — as well as the fickle crowds and the spineless Roman rulers. But one wonders, "If I had been there, would I have believed Jesus, or would I have accused him of blasphemy?"

Any man could have said, "Your sins are forgiven";

but what man could actually have taken away sins and proved that he had done so? No one but Jesus! The pronouncement of forgiveness and the command to arise were equally within Jesus' province. However, only the command to arise could give visible proof of the forgiveness; so in verses 11 and 12 Jesus said, "I say to you, rise, take up your pallet and go home. And he rose and immediately took up the pallet and went out in the sight of all; so that they were all amazed and were glorifying God, saying, 'We have never seen anything like this.'"

Jesus, God-man, had brought the forgiveness of God to man, and all of the people there — apparently even the scribes — admitted that they had never seen anything like it before. And the people praised God.

It is worth noting that repentance and faith are requirements for forgiveness. The change of heart and mind that turns to Jesus in trust must have taken place in the heart of the lame man just as it must take place in our hearts if God through Christ is to make us whole.

Bernie Fette Perspectives

LAST WEEK, I wrote something about Christine Craft, a Kansas City television news anchor who sued her TV station because she claims she was fired for being "too old and unattractive." She won the lawsuit and a half million dollars.

What was significant about the lawsuit is that she based her case on the assertion that age and appearance have nothing to do with journalistic competence. But just how much do journalistic competence and TV news anchors have in common?

I ask that question in light of the reasons so many viewers give for watching one particular newscast instead of the others. Coincidentally, the Dallas Morning News recently conducted a survey to determine the most popular newscasts and news people. Who won almost all of the awards (Channel 8 swept almost everything) isn't nearly as interesting as why many people voted the way they did.

Tracy Rowlett was voted favorite news personality, finishing far ahead of his two nearest competitors, who were also from Channel 8. And here are a few things they said about Tracy Rowlett.

"Tracy Rowlett holds all the necessary qualities for a top anchorperson." Also: "Tracy Rowlett is very knowledgeable, handsome, kind — a perfect gentleman. I would like to have him for a son." Also: "Tracy Rowlett looks like a squirrel or a chipmunk when he tries that stupid grin."

To each, his or her own. Here's one on John Criswell: "If John Criswell looked like Frankenstein, he would still be the best thing on TV news. His sincerity is very touching. He has a nice smile, too."

That may be true, but the smart money says that if John Criswell looked like Frankenstein, he wouldn't be on TV. Ask his boss.

And then there's Troy Dungan: "Overall," one viewer said, "I prefer Channel 4 and its personalities. However, I voted for Channel 8's Troy Dungan because anyone with enough nerve to wear those disgusting bow ties all the time gets my vote."

Another one: "I don't care much for David Margulies but Jan Bridgman makes Channel 8's weekend news my choice," another viewer said. "She's very cute and smiles a lot, but in a pleasant way."

How about that one? Just wait, they get better.

"When can we expect Jan Bridgman dolls to go into production? We want at least a baker's dozen."

On Jim Littleton: "Jim Littleton has cute dimples, and smiles a lot."

On Channel 5's Jane Jayroe (a former Miss America, by the way): "To see Jane Jayroe at the end of the day makes all the labors of the day seem very worthwhile," one viewer said. "Her lovely smile and beautiful blue eyes make one forget all the aches and pains accumulated over the years."

So much for the journalistic competence idea.

Actually, when you cut through all the hype, no matter what type of criteria used to make the judgment, Channels 4, 5 and 8 in Dallas and Fort Worth have just about the best you're going to find. Anywhere — statewide, and to a certain extent, nationwide. They certainly have the best in this state. Anyone who's seen Houston's Marvin Zindler can tell you that.

But regardless, these people are judged in a variety of ways, including appearance, age and personality; not solely on professional ability, as Christine Craft would like to have you think.

Perhaps it was said best by one respondent of the Dallas survey: "I think this personality thing has gone too far. I watch the news for information, not entertainment. If I want to see a bunch of clowns, I'll go to the circus!"

But just remember, it's the viewers who write the rules. And newscasts need ratings, too. Just like Hill Street Blues and Happy Days.

Letter to the Editor

More on Lake Muenster

To the Editor:

I have a comment concerning the letter written by Gertrude Bayer a few weeks ago. I would like to say that I am very proud to have her for a grandmother. It had to be very difficult to speak out against such an important and controversial issue as the lake. I am in total agreement with her, and having done some research on the subject, would like to add a few of my own comments and pose some questions to you, the taxpayer.

In 1973 it was decided that Muenster needed a water reservoir. It was to be used as an alternate water supply for the city, for flood prevention, and for recreation. At that time the cost was to be $640,000 to the taxpayers and $627,000 to the SCS. This did not include the cost of the treatment plant and pump, nor a water line to the city.

Muenster lake came into view again in 1981. An election was held to decide whether or not we wanted to pay for it. The cost at this time was considerably higher, with taxpayers paying 65 percent of the land purchase cost, 50 percent of the appraisal fees, and the legal fees and survey expenses. SCS was to pay 35 percent of the land purchase cost and 50 percent of the appraisal fees. It was to serve as flood control, supplying city water, and recreation.

It is now 1983 - 10 years after the first election concerning the lake. Our cost then was $640,000. It is now $1,549,891. This price does not include the water treatment facility, which is estimated to cost $440,000. Since we are not purchasing it anytime soon and have not even begun purchasing the land, how much will the total cost of this lake project be by the time it is completed?

What about the purpose of the lake? What about the depth? At 452 surface acres at spillway level, containing 2.5 billion gallons of water, have you figured out approximately how deep it will be? The primary purpose of the lake will be to serve as a future water supply for Muenster, but it will also be available for recreational use.

How many of you thought about how nice it would be to have such a short drive before unloading your boat? Well, with the lake becoming more of a reality, we are finally told that it will not be large enough for activities such as boating and skiing.

If none of this bothers you, what about the landowners? How do you think they feel about giving up land they have owned for years and years? How do you think it felt to read in the paper that their land was the future site of the lake? Wouldn't you have been shocked if it had been your property they were talking about?

In conclusion, I would just like to say that I feel that they have misrepresented the facts to you and I, the taxpayers. Now that we have all the facts, let's take another vote and see how people feel about paying for this project. If you are wondering what the source of my information was, just read the back issues of the Muenster Enterprise.

BILINGUAL EDUCATION for children has become a game for adults — a maze from which many young people never emerge.

Even though the weight of the evidence today indicates clearly that bilingual instruction has failed to efficiently educate non-English-speaking children, a number of politicians and educators still cling to their bureaucratic fantasy.

The theory behind bilingual education is simple: if a child doesn't understand English, he won't do well in math, science or history courses that are taught in English. Thus, while non-English-speaking children are supposedly mastering English, many of their other courses are taught in their native tongue.

This is where the problem emerges. Until the 1960s, immigrant children were thrown into classes with everyone else and they either sank or swam. Most of them swam. Children from all over the world — Germany and Eastern Europe to the Orient — showed that they could pick up English very quickly when there was no alternative.

The trouble with bilingual education is that immigrant students aren't forced to learn English. And many don't. A report by Keith Baker and Adriana de Kanter, staff members in the U.S. Department of Education, for example, concludes that available evidence does "not add up to a very impressive case for the effectiveness of transitional bilingual education."

Even a much-talked-about study by Andrew Cohen of the Redwood City (California) Bilingual Project — often cited as a pro-bilingual research work — shows the program's failings. When the English language skills of Mexican-American students who had received bilingual instruction were contrasted with those of students who had received instruction only in English, the group taught in English outperformed the bilingual group in most measures, particularly reading. Yet Cohen was not reluctant to claim that "the preliminary results of this study are highly supportive of bilingual/bicultural schooling."

Furthermore, linguistic expert Rudolph Troike admits that the Bilingual Education Act of 1968 (Title VII) was passed by Congress "largely as an article of faith, with little research to support it." Today, approximately one billion dollars in federal funds have been appropriated for bilingual programs through this act, says critic Robert Rossier in the Summer issue of Policy Review.

Unfortunately, the ones who suffer most from the bilingual education hustle are the immigrant children for whom language and education are the keys to social and economic success.

been meetings and demonstrations opposing abortion, tax raises, spending raises and busing as well as supporting school prayer, but they are ignored by news dispensers. It's obvious that the unfavorable news and opinions have priority rating.

Another happening which has been ignored has just come to the attention of this column. July 4 was observed by a gathering of thousands of people in Cincinnati at a freedom rally featuring a talk by Dr. Jerry Falwell. He stressed that the basis for America's greatness traces back to the godly stand of the country's early settlers.

Dating back to the Mayflower Compact, he said, the leaders of that journey stated they had undertaken it for the glory of God and advancement of the Christian faith.

Without question the freedom rally was an appropriate and memorable occasion. Relative to the country's present drift from God and traditional Americanism, it was both important and urgent. It deserved nation wide attention. But it got little or no attention from the major media. Again, Americans were denied the opportunity to hear good things about their country, the thoughts that inspire faith rather than discouragement.

Falwell's message of the day emphasized the vast differences symbolized by the American flag and by the Soviet Union's sickle. He said that Old Glory stands for freedom of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom to come and go as one pleases, in fact the right to live up to the human dignity endowed on man by Almighty God. On the other hand the Soviet sickle symbolizes slavery, murder and denial of all the freedoms which are guaranteed by Americanism as gifts of God.

It's particularly tragic that freedom of the press should be the guardian of truth and the blessings that our country stands for, but it has been twisted instead to serve godlessness and wickedness.

PUC offers advice for AC conservation

Some of the hottest weather we experience in Texas usually comes at the end of summer. We make much use of our air conditioners in August and September, and we see this reflected in our monthly utility bills.

What can you do to reduce those utility bills without sacrificing comfort and without making a sizable investment? The Public Utility Commission offers several no-cost suggestions for cutting cooling bills.

PUC Chairman Alan Erwin says, "Although no single action you take will make a noticeable dent in your utility bill, several small changes in your lifestyle can add up to big savings."

One of the most cost-effective actions you can take is to turn up your thermostat. For each degree that you move your thermostat up (using less cooling), it is estimated that you can save three percent on your cooling costs. Over an entire summer, this adds up.

You can set your thermostat to a higher temperature without feeling less comfortable if the air in the room is moving, you can feel as comfortable at 80 degrees as you feel in a 74-degree room where the air is still.

If your home is equipped with ceiling fans, use them in conjunction with your air conditioning. Otherwise, use portable oscillating fans (such as Texas were using before air conditioning became common). Remember, the fans use much less electricity than your air conditioning system uses.

Furthermore, if you plan to leave the house for longer than two hours, you can save even more by setting the thermostat higher than would be comfortable if you were home. An 86 degree home is a little warm to return to, but it will cool off quickly. There is no need to air condition an unoccupied house, and pets and plants will not suffer at a moderately higher than normal temperature.

Make sure that your air conditioning system is operating as efficiently as possible. Check the filter on the inside unit. During the cooling season this filter should be changed at least once a month.

Next, check the condenser coil on the unit outside the house to be sure that no debris is obstructing the passage of air. You can hose down the coil to remove any leaves or dirt or other debris that may have gathered there. Be sure to turn off your unit first.

Keeping your air conditioner properly maintained not only will make it perform more efficiently, it will make it last longer.

Remember also that you will not need to keep your house so cool if you dress appropriately. You will be more comfortable in short-sleeves, loose-fitting, unlined garments made of natural fibers such as cotton or linen.

It is a good idea to keep all of the curtains or shades tightly closed on the sunny side of the house. If you have a fireplace, make sure that you remembered to close the damper last spring. Also, check to see if the damper is tightly closed; if not cover or seal it to prevent cool air from leaking up your chimney.

Most of these suggestions are simply good common sense. But, as Chairman Erwin says, "Common sense is one of the best ways to keep your utility bills down and still be comfortable."

If you would like more detailed information on how to hold your utility bills down, it is available from: Public Utility Commission of Texas Energy Efficiency Division 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd. Austin, Tx. 78757 department also sent four heavy-construction crews to work with rebuilding basic facilities in Galveston.

Murphy said the utility company receiving aid will pay all costs incurred by TP&L. "The goal is to help the people of South Texas get their electrical service back. In the end, we will bill for out time and work and our customers will not be charged anything."

WHY WOULD A COMPANY THAT DOESN'T EVEN SELL HEAT PUMPS OFFER A CASH BONUS FOR BUYING ONE?

When you replace your home's old, worn out heating and cooling system with a new energy efficient heat pump,* Texas Power & Light will pay you a cash bonus for buying it. Based on the tonnage capacity of the unit.

But the cash bonus is just the first benefit of installing a new electric heat pump. You also save money on your operating costs. You help save energy all year 'round. And by using less energy, you help level our peak load demand. (That's the time when more people are using more electricity.)

So you can see why even though we don't sell or install heat pumps, we want to give you all the information you need to save energy and money when you do buy one.

*Heat pumps must have an EER (Energy Efficiency Ratio) of 8.0 or higher.

Kelli Newman weds Todd Owsley in Missouri

A number of Muenster relatives were in Kansas City, Mo., recently to attend the wedding of Kelli M. Newman to Todd G. Owsley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Newman of Kansas City and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hellman of Muenster, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Owsley of Baytown, Mo.

The couple was married in St. Charles Catholic Church in Gladstone, Missouri with Father William Bauman officiating.

Presented at the altar by her father, the bride was wearing a traditional ivory slipper satin wedding gown, trimmed with antique lace. It was particularly treasured because it was the dress her great aunt Laura, Mrs. Richard Trachta wore on her wedding day, on December 26, 1945. Designed with a fitted satin bodice and long tapered sleeves, coming to points over the hands, the dress featured a sheer illusion yoke banded with Bitanti lace and a lace-edged high round neckline. The full, hooped satin skirt swept into a graceful chapel train.

In keeping with tradition and "something blue", the name of the 1945 bride was sewed into a seam by the bridal shop. For "something borrowed", the bride of 1983 wore her mother's lavalier on a gold chain. Kellie carried a cascade of silk candlelight roses for her bridal flowers and completed her bridal attire with a lace hat and brief attached veil.

Attendants

The bride's sister, Jill Hellings of Grove, Okla. was her matron of honor. Another sister, Penny Newman of Kansas City, a cousin DeAnn Hellman of Aubrey, the groom's sister Gena Owsley and a friend Jackie Shaw were bridesmaids.

They wore identical gowns in shades of deep lavender and purple, and carried white flowers.

MR. AND MRS. TODD G. OWSLEY

Lori Beth King of Kansas City was flower girl and Jason Hellings of Grove, Okla. nephew of the bride was ringbearer.

The groom's cousin, Troy Green of Kansas City was the best man and Brett Williams, Roger Jackson, Chuck Shine and John Morgan, all friends of the groom were groomsmen. Duane Newman and Gregg Newman, brothers of the bride were ushers and candlelighters.

Wedding music included organ and piano selections, a guitarist and two soloists. The church altar and sanctuary were decorated by a myriad of lighted candles.

Reception

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the VFW Hall. The three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with fresh flowers and the bridesmaids bouquets were placed on the cake table.

Among guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hellman of Muenster, grandparents of the bride; and Mmes. Peggy Gobble and Queenie Walterscheid of Muenster and Doris Hellman of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Hellman and Rhonda and Christy of Lindsay; Kyle Morris of Denton; and Mitchell and Dayna Fischer of Aubrey. They were guests of the Newmans from Friday through Sunday.

The couple is at home in Riverside, Mo. following a wedding trip to Destin Beach, Florida. The bride is a graduate of Winnetonka High School and Today's Hair of Cosmetology and is employed at Jones Store Beauty Salon at Metro North. The groom is a graduate of the University of Missouri in Columbia and a student there in the School of Dentistry.

Wilbert Vogel visits here and hosts in London

Wilbert Vogel's vacation in Texas included a week spent in Muenster with his mother, Mrs. Frances Vogel and other relatives, another week in Houston and a final weekend back in Muenster. His weekend guest here was a friend, Manfred Hollek of Austria.

When he returned to London, flying from DFW on Sunday morning, he awaited the arrival later the same day of his sister and brother-in-law, Lillian and Wilfred Walterscheid accompanied by his brother and sister-in-law, Leonard and Christel Vogel. They spent four days in London as his guests and departed to tour Paris, Rome, Florence and Munich.

After spending several days in Munich, the Walterscheids returned home and the Leonard Vogels extended their visit another week to visit her parents and other relatives.

Extension Club has snacks, breakfast program

Mrs. Martin Bayer was hostess to the Muenster Extension Homemakers Club on Wednesday, August 10 in her new home which members enjoyed touring.

Mrs. Alois Rohmer and Mrs. Ray Klement presented a program on "Snacks and Breakfast Ideas" and shared printed copies of recipes.

Rose Rohmer led the opening ritual; Mrs. Bill Lutkenhaus gave the inspiration and a humorous reading; and Mrs. Alice Hellman reported on County Council activities. Members appointed Mrs. Lutkenhaus as the club's chairman for TEHA and as delegate to the state convention in Lubbock.

Fourteen members answered roll by telling; "This I had for breakfast today." Mrs. Paul Fisher will be hostess for the September meeting.

Debbie Hess is Future III local consultant

Debbie Hess is now representing Future III in this area, a company founded by Jim Collins in January 1983, after his retirement from the United States Congress, where he had served for seven terms. Collins' name, reputation and actions have always been associated with quality, both in his business and political life, and this became the hallmark of Future III, a line of skin care products predominantly Aloe Vera-based.

Mrs. Hess is the wife of Doyle Hess and they have one son, Aaron. She became the first Consultant for Future III on May 14, 1983 after attending the first seminar. She is also one of the first 100 women who tested the products for 30 days.

She completed another skin care seminar on July 30 and will attend a third seminar at the end of August. Since being a Consultant, she has been holding skin care classes in her home and in other homes and she has also been showing the product on a one on one basis.

Debbie Hess says: "The products are formulated for sensitive skins, normal/dry skins and normal/oily skins. The products are achieved by a unique cold processing method, thereby retaining 99% of amino acids, nutrients, minerals and vitamins native to Aloe Vera, also using only the highest quality Aloe Vera."

She will assist in conducting a workshop in Carrollton on Saturday, August 27, and will demonstrate a skin-care class to new consultants.

If you understand how you receive electricity you may save money.

The elements of producing electricity

Electricity is produced—or "made"—at a power plant. Most power plants take energy from fuel by burning it. This energy boils water, making steam. The steam turns a turbine which turns a generator, and the generator makes electricity.

Power plants

How we are cutting costs

Power plants are very costly to build. At the Brazos System, we're holding down costs by postponing construction of an additional power plant. We've pooled our power plant capacity in the Texas Municipal Power Pool so we can delay building a lignite plant for at least three years.

using less electricity during the summer peak-demand hours of late afternoon and early evening, our existing power plants can continue to provide the electricity you want, when you want it. By using our power plants efficiently like this, we can continue to delay building additional plants.

How you can help

There is something you can do to help us save you money. Because you want electricity whenever you turn on a switch, we must have enough power plant capacity to serve you any time. If you and your neighbors make a habit of

In other business conducted by Debbie Hess, president, members voted a love fund gift to Robynn and Nick Walterscheid in memory of their infant who died at birth. They also discussed attendance at a Leadership Seminar in September at North Park Inn, Dallas.

Also, members completed plans for Rush ceremonies and a tea in September; they began plans for a Walk-a-thon to benefit the chapter's Scholarship Fund and voted to help sponsor a Bike-a-thon to benefit the St. Jude's Hospital Fund.

For the past several weeks members have been designing and constructing quilt blocks. These they brought to the meeting and will arrange for a quilt. The finished product will be raffled during the Community Christmas parade in December.

The educational program was given by Lynn Dangelmayr, Loretta Felderhoff and Barbara Felderhoff, who also led group singing of an original lyric adjusted to the chapter's Love Fund, to the Melody of "You Are My Sunshine."

After adjournment, Debbie Hess served cookies and cold drinks.

Forestburg News

By Kyura Orrell

Activities a-plenty at Watermelon Festival

Well, wasn't Forestburg fun and friendly all weekend? To start off the Watermelon festivities, a Miss Watermelon Pageant was held Friday night in the school gym. There were three age categories. Michelle Reynolds was the youngest winner with Leasha Perryman the runner up. The next category winner was Carolyn Campbell with Kikki Moseley the runner up. In the oldest category Carmen Thompkins was the winner and Shana Muggge the runner up. The winners and runners-up rode a float the next morning and waved to the crowd.

The parade made its journey down from the school and made a turn downtown through the crowds and street. The float that was awarded first place by the judges was the Forestburg Methodist Church, pastor George Thompson of Saint Jo. Second place went to Ken Rose Zwinggi of Lindsay with his 1923 Fordson tractor. And the third place winner was Hubert Griffin of Bowie and the Model A Ford he drove in the parade.

After the parade passed through town, the Forestburg Gunfighters held a shoot-out across from the post office. It depicted a typical day of the goings on in a saloon (this one in Forestburg).

The judges for the parade were Gorden Wade, Dolly Orrell and Roger Ricker, the new Nazarene preacher.

After the shoot-out, activity began in the rodeo arena with all different types of contests and goodies. But first, the ladies of the community brought several goodies of their own to the old community center. The ladies served 240 dinners of chicken, meatloaf, ham and all the trimmings.

The contests began with a fiddlers' contest. Then came watermelon toss, egg toss, three-legged race and this is where it got a little jumbled. I was walking around trying to figure out all the faces and things going on. My mom had signed me up for working at numerous booths and events and I was having trouble keeping them in line. I would go look for a list and end up cutting slices of watermelon. The dance floor was full of different crafts and hobbies that the town folks had brought to contribute for the building of the new community center. It was about now that I noticed I'd misplaced my camera. I had left it on the bleachers 30 minutes earlier and there it was. At about 2:30 the sun began to peep through and I was on my way over to the dunking booth. I had been signed up to take money but, was talked into sitting in the cage and being the target. Let me tell you, it sure feels funny to be somewhere that you have no power over being dunked in a tank. After a dozen dunks, I stumbled back around to the arena to watch the egg toss contest and dry off. On my way out to the car, I was asked if I'd like some home-made ice cream. Some folks really know when to hit ya. And it was about then when I stumbled through the balloon toss. There were so many contests going on I had a hard time keeping the winners straight, so I congratulate the whole town, friends and visitors alike for their participating in the watermelon eating contest, arm wrestling contest, tobacco contest, and even the fellows that got in the best licks on the jalopy Charles Dill and his sledge hammer helped destroy. While I had gone home to dry my clothes, I noticed the joggers going by the house. And I didn't get anywhere near the toilet paper wrap contest, I guessed with my luck, I'd be a last minute victim. To say the least the day was filled with laughs, kids and watermelon. The last entries in the parade had even been influenced by the festivities. Kaliska and Ross Russell were dressed like watermelon slices and enjoyed being the tail end of the show.

The community also sold chances on a TV, a calf and a blanket to help raise money for the new community center. The winners were: TV - Diane Huckabay; quilt, Mrs. Tony Luke. The TV was donated by Larry Jackson, Veda Brogdon donated the quilt and a calf was donated by David Souther. The winners for the Fun Run were Clay Davis of Bowie, first in the 1-30 division, with Ronnie Hess of Muenster, second and Dale Walterscheid of Muenster, third. In the 31-and up division, the first place went to Mike Guthrie of Wichita Falls, second, Phil Shank of Gainesville; third, Harold Flusche of Muenster.

In the female divisions, the 1-30 winner was Janet Hess of Muenster; in the 31 and up, Darlene Hess was the winner. Congratulations to all the winners.

An ice cream supper was held August 16 in the Community Center to raise funds for the Perryman cemetery.

Our hopes and prayers are sent out to Mrs. Ellzey who is home for a week or two from the hospital to rest before she has to return for more tests.

As a salute to school starting again, I am going to publish Mrs. Ellzey's favorite brownie recipe.

¼ c. of Crisco, 1½ c. of sugar, 3 eggs, 2½ sq. melted chocolate or ½ cup of cocoa, 1 c. of flour, ½ t. of baking powder, ½ t. of salt, 1 t. of vanilla. Nuts and icing can be added to make the brownies richer. Mix all the ingredients and bake at 350 degrees until elastic to touch.

And now with the watermelon fest out of the way, it's time to begin planning the next year. Summer is almost over and there is only one more rodeo left scheduled for September 9 and 10 over in the arena. See ya there, Forestburgers!

Here are a few scenes from the Forestburg watermelon festival. Above: Joe Don Latham and Tim Scott compete in the watermelon eating contest; right: the three who reigned as queens of the festival: Miss Carmon Tompkins, Junior Miss Carolyn Campbell and Young Miss Mashelle Reynolds; first below three entries in the fiddlers contest; second below: two pairs in the 3-legged race, Willy Sandusky and Mike Alton and the winners Johnny Lanier and Steve Sandusky.

Texas A&M awarded $8.1 million contract to continue Gulf study

The largest single research contract ever awarded Texas A&M University — $8.1 million to monitor the environmental impact of salt discharges in the Gulf of Mexico — was announced recently by the Department of Energy. The project is part of the federal Strategic Petroleum Reserve Program in which salt is leached out of huge underground caverns along the Texas and Louisiana coasts and discharged 12 miles offshore through a pipeline. The caverns will then be used to store 750 million barrels of oil to be available in case of a national emergency.

Fay Hamric heads CF fundraising at Forestburg

The observance of National Cystic Fibrosis week in Forestburg will be followed by a fundraising event at which Fay Hamric will coordinate the educational effort and organize the collection.

Purpose of the CF week is to increase public awareness of the country's leading inherited killer of children and young adults, and the fundraising supports research on the subject.

CF is a fatal disease that attacks the lungs and digestive system, producing a thick glue-like mucus that makes breathing difficult and impedes digestion. It both suffocates and starves its victim.

Coaches pleased with Hornet performance

Several factors combined to give Boyd's Yellowjackets a long advantage over MHS Hornets in Saturday night's scrimmage, but Coach Peters and his staff still found ample reason to be pleased.

First of all the Hornets showed surprising strength and progress for a team that spent the week struggling with the virus. One practice was canceled and each of the others were affected by absent or ailing boys. Just the same the Hornets lasted all the way through scrimmage and seemed to improve toward the end.

Moreover they did a fine job defending in the line.

Boyd got little yardage there, although it gained a bunch with several scores on passes and end runs, especially the options. Hornet offense also got some results on running plays into the line but little yardage on passes or end runs.

Another factor the coaches considered is the class of opposition. Boyd ranks high in District 11-AA and is judged by Coach Peters as one of the powers of the loop. Based on that fact, he thinks that the fair showing is a good sign. He further stated that the primary purpose of a scrimmage is to find strong and weak points, and in that respect it was useful to MHS.

Next on schedule for the Hornets is the scrimmage with Southlake Carroll here Friday night — hopefully preceded by a good practice week to make up for last time.

There is no admission charge for a scrimmage. In lieu thereof spectators are asked to bring soap and towels to provide for showers during the season.

A fun run was one of the many events held over the weekend at the Forestburg Watermelon Festival. Most of the events' 10 participants were from Muenster.

SH shows progress against Era

Sacred Heart Tigers in a scrimmage at Era Friday night appeared to be up to par on defense but slightly below par on offense. Nevertheless, according to Coach Virgil Henscheid, they showed fair progress for a team that is handicapped in both size and experience and they rate high in physical condition. They improved noticeably toward the end and made the evening's only score at that time.

Generally the scrimmage was mostly even. Both teams moved the ball occasionally, Era reaching the 30 once and Sacred Heart reaching the 20 twice before making its TD. The principal problem on Tiger offense was timing resulting poor coordination plus fumbles in ball handling. It was typical early season trouble, Henscheid said, and hopefully will be corrected by emphasizing it in practice.

This week's Tiger action will be a scrimmage here with Lake Dallas.

Reds continue slo-pitch lead

With three games remaining on the women's slo-pitch softball schedule the Reds are still out front with a perfect record of 4-0 and Greens are next with 2-1-1. Yellows have a 2-3 standing and Blues are at the bottom with 0-4-1.

Scores of the last two games were: Aug. 18, Blue and Green tie at 15; Aug. 23, Yellow 27, Blue 18.

Hartman gets record golf drive

For a 359 yard drive, Ken Hartman has a letter of congratulations from Shirley Stadnicki, consumer relations manager of Spalding, plus a dozen Top Flite golf balls.

Ken made his super wallop on Hole 6 of Nocona Hills Country Club during the July tournament of Muenster Golf Association. The drive is the longest on record at Nocona Hills.

Children's Fitness program offered

An opportunity for boys and girls three to five years old to take advantage of the Teeny Weeny Fitness program will be presented at the Young Children's Learning Center, sponsored by the I-Can-Do School of Gymnastics of Whitesboro.

It is the same I-Can-Do program which was offered at Cooke County College by the instructor, Gus Garza.

Six 30 minute classes will be held on six successive Thursdays. The cost is $22.50 ($15 deposit to accompany registration with balance of $7.50 due on September 1.)

The aim of the Teeny Weeny Fitness program is to help children assume the positive assurance they need to become successful Can Doers. Among activities will be learning ball handling skills, locomotor skills, manipulative skills, rhythmic activities and educational gymnastics.

More information may be obtained by calling 214-564-6249 or call Loretta Felderhoff at 759-4918.

Knights shine against Alvord

Lindsay Knights compiled some pleasing statistics in their practice session Saturday with Alvord. As judged by Coach Grady Roller they looked better than expected and are more advanced than their first scrimmage last year.

Passes were specially encouraging, Roller said. Nine of 19 were completed for 195 yards and seven of the misses were on target but dropped indicating that both quarterbacks are throwing well. In the rushing department the Knights carried 41 times for 246 yards. Principal ground gainers were Ken Fuhrmann, 93 yards on 5 carries, Steve Corcoran, 50 yards on 12 carries and Doug Anderle, 57 on 9 carries. Top passers were Corcoran, 3 of 11 for 41, and Thurman, 3 of 5 for 136. The Knights led 4-0 in scoring, allowed Alvord two first downs, and lost the ball twice on fumbles.

This week's action will be a scrimmage with Blue Ridge Friday night at Lindsay.

Soap, towels, hot dogs

Muenster Hornets will make their second appearance of the season Friday night at MHS stadium in a scrimmage with Southlake Carroll. The visitors, of Class AA have a potent team which is expected to give valuable experience to the Hornets.

No charge will be made for admission, however spectators are reminded that soap and towels for the showers will be very welcome.

After the scrimmage the Hornets and their visitors along with parents are invited to be guests of the Quarterback Club for charcoal hot dogs.

Muenster Quarterback Club elects officers

The Muenster Quarterback Club at its August 23 meeting elected Roy Monday president for the next year and also elected Jerry Bynum vice president and Gertie Wimmer treasurer. The club members also voted to purchase three sets of headphones for football field communications and two sets of weights for training.

The club officers remind any parents who have children involved in Public School athletics and any persons named on the football program that they are invited to attend the club's Tuesday night meetings in the Public School library. A film of the previous week's game will be shown at each meeting.

County Agent's Report

Each year as we get close to planting time we usually have some seed stored for use, and the question comes up about germination. Many seeding rates are based on PLS (pure live seed,) making germination percentage very important. For example, one of our spring seeded crops, Kleinerass, calls for a seeding rate of two pounds PLS. So if you buy seed with an 80 percent germination, you would actually plant 2.5 pounds. This is figured by dividing the percentage of PLS into the recommended seeding rate. Or recommended planting rate (pounds PLS divided by percentage PLS equals bulk pounds per acre.

If you are selling seed and want a purity and germination count, you can send a sample of your seed to the Texas Department of Agriculture, Seed Testing Lab, 241 East McNeill, Stephenville, Texas 76401. Cost will vary from $3 to $10. You will be billed. Please do not send cash because of the difficulties in handling cash. Make your check payable to the Texas Department of Agriculture. If you have further questions, their number is 1-817-965-5097.

There is an easy way to check germination on seed you are going to use for your own plantings. All that's required is paper towels, some sort of rack (stove, pie, etc.), water, time, and seed. A good representative sample would consist of 100 seeds. Wet several paper towels that you have placed on a rack. Place the seeds on the wet towels and cover them with another moist towel. Keep the towels moist. The best temperature for germination is about 65 degrees to 70 degrees. Grains like wheat, oats, or barley should germinate in about four days. Hard seeds like some clover varieties that haven't been scarified will probably take longer.

Several other items of consideration for county residents now is that it's time for our last application of fertilizer for home lawns. We consider September 15 to be the last date for lawn fertilizer applications. Later applications will result in lush growth going into winter and the possible loss of grass plants to winter freezes.

We have also been noticing powdery mildew on pecans. This is not a severe problem at this stage and will usually result in no problems to production.

There are several upcoming meetings you might want to attend. Dairy Feeding Models Tommy White, Area Dairy Specialist, will present a program on the different demand feeders available to dairymen to supplement cows in various phases of production. The meeting will be at 1:00 p.m., Friday, August 26, at the Cooke County Electric Co-op Building on Highway 82 east of Muenster.

Beef and Forage Breakfast Red clovers and ryegrass pastures will be the topic of this month's breakfast meeting. Glen Blake with Funks Seed Company will present the program. The meeting will be held at 6:30 a.m., Wednesday, August 31, at the Daisy Inn in Gainesville. The Daisy Inn is located at the intersection of Highway 82 and I-35 in Gainesville.

The current administration has proposed a continuation of an export-based farm policy, but "the facts show that increased farm exports haven't increased the farmer's income," said Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower. "Agriculture exports have helped to diminish the U. S. international trade deficit, and have boosted the income of many export firms, but farmers have seen their commodity prices fall and their income plummet to the lowest level in 50 years."

Ammoniating hay for a better product

Giving poor quality hay a "shot of ammonia" can make it a better product.

Treating hay with anhydrous ammonia—called hay ammoniation—will increase its protein level, digestibility and intake and thereby boost animal performance, says a forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The operation is relatively low-cost since anhydrous ammonia is readily available, says Don Dorsett. However, in addition to the cost of the anhydrous ammonia, plastic sheeting is needed to cover the hay. Still, the cost runs about $6.50 to $7 per ton of hay, and the results can be fantastic, says the specialist.

The procedure involves covering hay with plastic sheeting, sealing it with dirt or rocks, and then applying the anhydrous ammonia with a hose inserted under the plastic. The amount of anhydrous ammonia should be 2-3 percent of the weight of the hay being treated, or 40 to 60 pounds of nitrogen per ton of hay.

Keep the hay covered for 21 days after treatment and make sure it airs out for two to three days before feeding, he says.

He cautions producers to treat hay only in open, well-ventilated areas since anhydrous ammonia is toxic and will accumulate in the top of closed barns and buildings. Ammonia can also corrode copper, zinc and brass.

Tests involving hay ammoniation have shown that crude protein levels were more than doubled while dry matter digestibility increased from 6 to 12 percent. And feeding studies have shown an increase in forage intake of 15-20 percent and increased digestibility and daily weight gains in livestock.

With the relatively low cost and the potential for improving poor quality or marginal quality hay, treating hay with ammonia is a practice that can definitely pay dividends, says Dorsett.

PIK means income... and taxes!

Let Edward D. Jones & Co. show you the right tax-free investments to protect your PIK dollars.

This year, the federal government has taken some of the guesswork out of farming with its Payment-in-Kind program. They've guaranteed a certain amount of commodity you'll have available to sell. Sounds good, doesn't it?

But here's something else they've guaranteed — you'll still have to pay taxes on that PIK income.

So, this year, while your production costs are down and while you've got some guaranteed income, let Edward D. Jones & Co. show you how to keep those PIK dollars in your pocket... with careful, conservative, tax-free and tax-advantaged investments.

Tony Klements honored on 40th anniversary

Surprises greeted Mr. and Mrs. Tony Klement twice in observance of their 40th wedding anniversary. Their children and grandchildren gathered Friday evening, August 19 in their home for an ice cream, cake and gifts party, to observe the actual date.

On Saturday evening, about 65 friends and relatives arrived for a surprise party. A buffet dinner was served, with a decorated anniversary cake, emphasizing the wedding colors of pink and white with a touch of burgundy flowers. The cake was served by granddaughters Connie Klement and Rhonda Bayer.

Coming from out-of-town to join the group were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Schmitz and five children; Weldon Vogel; and Sheila Galliker and Dianne of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Horn and Mr. and Mrs. Edmon Vieth of Windthorst; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmitz, Carla Griffith and Mary Schmitz of Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. Erle Chastain and Mrs. Virgie Butcher of Moss Lake. A shower of gifts was presented.

Tony Klement and the former Sis Schmitz were married in St. Peter's Church in Lindsay, by Father Conrad Herda on August 19, 1943. They lived in Bucksport, South Carolina for two years, where he was on duty with the Coast Guard. They are the parents of fifteen children and thirty grandchildren, all of whom attended the anniversary party in their home on Friday night.

Haverkamp baptism

Kody Bernard Haverkamp was baptized in Sacred Heart Church at noon Sunday, August 21. He is the infant son of Monica and Roger Haverkamp.

Father Denis Soerries officiated for the Sacrament; and an aunt and uncle, Mrs. Glenn Hess and Joe Bedolla were baptismal sponsors.

Attending the baptism were the baby's parents; his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schilling and Mr. and Mrs. Benny Haverkamp; and his great-grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Ben Haverkamp.

Also, Jim and Cindy Gehrig and children Jason, Ryan, Michael, Lucien and Joanna; Mrs. Yvonne Campbell and Jennifer and Duncan, Jr. of Mesquite; Mrs. Joe Bedolla and Amber of Sherman; Wade Walterscheid; Elaine Walterscheid and Dale Schilling; Kerry Haverkamp; and Glenn Hess.

The infant's white eyelet christening robe and cap, trimmed with light blue ribbon in front, were gifts from the maternal grandmother. The blue blanket was the same one used at his father's baptism.

A dinner at the Arnold Schillings, followed the baptism. The decorated christening cake was made by an aunt Mrs. Julian Walterscheid.

Four-generation pictures were made of the baby's great-grandfather Ben Haverkamp, the grandfather Roger Bernard Haverkamp and the infant Kody Bernard Haverkamp.

Two birthdays observed here

Three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren came to Muenster to celebrate the little one's birthdays with Mrs. Ruth Needham during the past weekend. And the party was as much fun for her as for them.

Karen Ruth Bieber of Chicago and Jackie Webster and four-year-old daughter Jean Margaret of Dayton, Ohio arrived Friday at DFW. Karen and Jackie are daughters of Jack Needham of Wichita, Kansas. On Saturday they were joined by Mrs. Mike Needham and four-year-old son Tony of Austin.

A dinner Saturday evening hosted by Ruthie observed the two birthdays, with pictures and gifts, and the decorated birthday cake was made by Jody French. Mrs. Bieber and Mrs. Mike Needham and son left Sunday and Mrs. Webster and daughter left Wednesday, accompanied to DFW by Ruth Needham and Mrs. Dan Haverkamp.
