From all of the sour rhetoric coming out of the country's fault finders nowadays, it is easy to be misled into believing that our nation is over-run by economic problems and faces a future of miseries.

For instance, there is much complaining about poverty, but our people enjoy the world's highest standard of living. Actually millions who are officially classed below the poverty level live far better than the average of other countries, and few if any have to endure the suffering that is commonplace in other areas of the globe.

Persons who are discouraged by the gloom and doom attitude really need a change in viewpoint presenting the optimism and realism of an inspiring book, "Believing in America," recently authored by Rep. Bud Shuster of Pennsylvania.

He thinks it is ironic to make a big issue of poverty when we as a nation have all the food and shelter and comfort and convenience that we are accustomed to ... or to cry racism in a society which has developed a great blend of religion, race and ethnic origins. Can America really be accused of those evils when living conditions here and elsewhere are fairly compared?

This is not simply a clear cut matter of good and bad, but rather how much of America is good and how much bad ... how much right and how much wrong. By that standard America is the world's best, and the word deprived applies in only a relative way, meaning some have less of the good things rather than none of them.

In this connection, it seems fair and practical to acknowledge that America with its many merits still has vast room for improvement. For instance, the author Shuster maintains much depends on a government's choice of programs. He points out that Germany and Japan capital investments are ahead of US on a per capita basis, and the fact is reflected in productivity. During the past decade it increased 27 percent here, 70 percent in Germany and 107 percent in Japan.

The author says the better way is a system of taxation which stimulates capital investment and growth, not one which confiscates projects in order to redistribute them to politically active special interest groups, which is actually the short sighted system.

Shuster quotes Henry David Thoreau as follows: Government never of itself furthered any enterprise, but by the alacrity with which it got out of its way ... The character inherent in the American people has done all that has been accomplished; and it would have done more, if the government had not sometimes got in the way."

Shuster goes on to state that the form of federal policy which is "most pernicious" is deficit spending ... spending year in and year out more than the government takes in. The motivation is obvious. Politicians can hand out benefits without having to raise taxes to pay for them. Correctly he declares this method is not only

Our public education system

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of articles on public education written by Betty Pyle, president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association. This week's article details the duties and responsibilities of a teacher.

By BETTY PYLE

President, Texas Classroom Teachers Association

When I am introduced to someone and that person asks me what I do for a living, I am proud to reply, "teacher." Occasionally, the next question is, "what do you teach?" followed by "what grade?" I answer, "earth and life science" and "junior high school."

Simple answers to simple questions and the discussion rarely goes beyond that point. However, for those who have not participated in the educational process from the perspective of a teacher, there may be little understanding of what is required of today's teachers beyond simply presenting the subject matter.

The roles performed by today's teachers are numerous and varied, but all play an integral part in the total learning process.

Teaching the Subject

The primary responsibility of all teachers is, of course, to impart their knowledge of the assigned subject matter to their students. In theory this is a relatively simple task, which in practice becomes much more difficult. The sharing of knowledge between teachers and students is complicated by human factors.

In order to impart knowledge, the teacher must first have a willing student. Motivation is a highly individualized process, and while one student may be reached through a genuine intellectual curiosity, another may be more concerned with remaining eligible to play football and participate in other extra-curricular activities. Determining how to reach and motivate each individual student becomes a major task for the teacher who may be responsible for teaching more than a hundred students in any given year.

A delicate balance must also be struck in the presentation of the subject matter to be taught. Maintaining the interest of the brightest students while not abandoning those who find learning more difficult requires great skill and creativity. Although the establishment of special programs in recent years, such as those for the gifted and talented or handicapped, has alleviated those problems to some extent, new related difficulties have arisen. For example, while the placement of handicapped students into regular classrooms has helped these children to adjust to the world in which they will live, it has also required many teachers who have

New superintendent interviews started

Muenster city officials are one step closer to hiring a new city superintendent.

Late last week, city council members interviewed the first candidate for the job and City Mayor Ronnie Felderhoff says the interviews should be completed by the end of September, and the position should be filled by the first or second week in October.

25 people submitted applications, and of that number, six have made it through the Council's preliminary screening and will be granted personal interviews.

Felderhoff says he feels sure one of those six will be the person for the job. "All of the persons who are going to be interviewed have the qualifications we're looking for," he said.

The Council officially began the search for a new city superintendent who would replace Steve Moster in July. Moster has held that position since March, 1946 and has served in a part-time capacity since his semi-retirement three years ago.

Moster has said that he will stay on in an advisory capacity after his successor is hired.

Standing behind them are Coordinator, Michelle Holloway, Jennifer Walter, Brandi Stormer, Teddi Oakley, Lisa Robison, Dyan Vogel, Melanie Wilde and Leslie Perkins. Members not available for the photo were Amy Hoenig, Jennifer Bayer, Bethany Hoedebeck and Cheramie Moster.

Ephesians 3: 16-19

And I pray that he will bestow on you gifts in keeping with the riches of his glory. May he strengthen you inwardly through the working of his Spirit. May Christ dwell in your hearts through faith, and may charity be the root and foundation of your life. Thus you will be able to grasp fully, with all the holy ones, the breadth and length and height and depth of Christ Christ's love, and experience this love which surpasses all knowledge, so that you may attain to the fullness of God himself.

Sweater weather

Suddenly it's Fall. Extra clothing has been feeling fine since a cold front moved in Tuesday plunging the temperature about 20 degrees. The week also brought slight relief from the drought with a total of .95 inch of rain. Up to now the measure is only .98 for September and 17.63 inches for the year, which is approximately ten inches below normal.

Low and high readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Moster.
September 15 66 and 93
September 16 plus .68 rain 68 and 96
September 17 70 and 96
September 18 72 and 95
September 19 71 and 80
September 20 44 and 60
September 20 Temperature started at 75 increased and dropped and ended at 64.

Resurfacing on 82 may be delayed

The resurfacing project on Highway 82 in Muenster, left unfinished a few weeks ago to allow the surface to season properly, will have to be finished before November 15, or the project will have to wait until May 1984 before it can be completed.

Leiland Jett, resident engineer in the Bowie office of the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation explained Tuesday that the project was left uncompleted because the present surface — a combination of 75 percent asphalt and 25 percent old rubber — contains volatile materials such as kerosene and must be allowed to air out for 30 days before the next step can be taken. That next step involves a layer of asphalt and concrete, the same surface used on the highway west of the Main Street intersection.

That 30-day period will be completed Monday, but the contractors, Timmins and Anderson of Wichita Falls, will be continuing with two projects in Gainesville which are part of the same contract before they return to the Muenster project, Jett said.

Jett said the highway department's deadline for completion of asphalt jobs is Nov. 15.

"The weather will be the biggest factor," he said, "and it is getting close to that time" (Nov. 15).

If the job is not completed by then, Jett said, it won't be completed before the middle of next May.

Changes in effect at FMW

FMW Insurance Agency, which recently changed ownership, is making several other changes that will be effective next Monday.

Earl Fisher said that the business location is being moved out of Muenster State Bank across the street to 204 N. Main, the former location of Discount Pharmacy. The mailing address is Post Office Drawer O, Muenster, Texas, 76252, and the telephone number is 759-4644. Fisher can be contacted by that number whether in the new office or at the bank.

Perspectives

SINCE THE downing of the Korean passenger plane which resulted in the deaths of 269 people, that incident has been a focal point in many people's minds — so much so that many of us probably haven't thought all that much about Central America lately.

But Central America is still very much a situation that deserves our attention. Perhaps the change in thought priorities is something the Soviets had in mind when they did what they did, but no matter, Central America is something we shouldn't forget about. But when some people disgustingly dismiss Central America as "just another Vietnam," they're making a big mistake. It's not, granted, there are some important similarities — few, in fact.

It was Adam Smith who recently said it best in the September issue of Esquire magazine. Smith, one of the most talented and perceptive writers writing today said: "When we talk about dominoes or make simplistic assumptions about the white hats and the black hats, then we fall back into the same kind of ignorance that prevailed in the early Sixties about Vietnam." Whether the ignorance he speaks of is a lack of ability to understand or a lack of desire to understand, it's dangerous.

It is lack of understanding — on the part of the American government, the American military and the American people — that contributed as one of several reasons we lost the Vietnam war. Yes, lost. To say we did not lose that war is unadulterated hogwash. To say it was a draw is ludicrous. We lost and the reasons why were soon evident after our withdrawal.

The biggest reason is both simple and complicated. We were fighting too many enemies.

There were, of course, the obvious enemies in the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong. But we were also fighting problems within our own troops when we consider the use of illegal drugs by American soldiers. Additionally, there were numerous incidents of soldiers so unwilling to trust their commanding officers that they sometimes did away with those superiors. Whether that was due to unfit followers or unfit leaders is beside the point.

Also, we were fighting for a government in Saigon which had all the stability of a three-legged cow. When the CIA knowingly allowed the assassination of South Vietnam's president Diem, things went downhill from there.

Another enemy of sorts was the type of warfare — unconventional. Our troops were insufficiently trained in this type of action. And it showed.

But perhaps the most dangerous enemy of all was the one in our own backyards. The Vietnam War never had the support from those on the homefront that it needed for any hope of success.

During both world wars, the American people wanted not merely to defeat the enemy, but to annihilate the evil enemy — to blow him off the face of the earth. Not so with Vietnam. Most Americans understood not why we were there, and therefore, understood not why we should stay. And it showed.

Television brought the war into our living rooms each day at five, six and ten — something never before done — and the American people weren't sure how to deal with that. They were unsure about a lot of things, much as they are now. When America is fighting a war without the full, unqualified support of the American people, America is then, more than at any other time, fighting a no-win war.

America, as a whole, doesn't seem ready for further involvement in Central America — least of all full involvement. If it does ultimately come to that, and troops are sent in a full-scale manner, I sincerely hope the troops have one heck of a rooting section as we go.

The Owner's Manual

WHY DOES God allow suffering and evil? There are no easy answers to this profound question. The general tendency is to blame God for evil and suffering and to pass on all responsibility for it to Him. We must never forget that when God created man, he created him perfect. Man was not created evil. However, the first man rebelled against God — and every one of us has ratified that rebellion. Therefore, we must keep in mind the fact that man is responsible for sin — not God.

But many ask, "Why didn't God make man so he couldn't sin?" To be sure, he could have, but let's remember that if he had done so we would no longer be human beings, we would be machines. How would you like to be married to a chatty doll? Every morning and night you could pull the string and get the beautiful words, "I love you." There would never be any hot words, never any conflict, never anything said or done that would make you sad! But who would want that? There would never be any love either. Love is voluntary. God could have made us like robots, but we would have ceased to be men.

We must also recognize that God could stamp out evil if he chose. If he were to stamp out evil today, He would do a complete job. His action would have to include our lies and personal impurities, our lack of love, and our failure to do good. Suppose God were to decree that at midnight tonight all evil would be removed from the universe — who of us would still be here after midnight?

Let us now turn our thoughts to the subject of suffering and happiness. Happiness is usually thought of in terms of comfort. True, genuine, deep-seated happiness, however, is something much more profound than the transitory, fleeting enjoyment of the moment. And true happiness is not precluded by suffering. Sometimes in his infinite wisdom, God knows that there are things to be accomplished in our character that can be wrought only through suffering. To shield us from this suffering would be to rob us of a greater good. Peter refers to this when he says, "And after you have suffered a little while, the God of all grace, who has called you to his eternal glory in Christ, will himself restore, establish, and strengthen you" (1 Peter 5:10).

In considering pain and suffering, whether it be physical or mental, another important consideration must be kept in mind. God is not a distant, aloof, impervious ruler, far removed from his people and their sufferings. He not only is aware of suffering — he "feels" it. No pain or suffering has come to us that has not first passed through the heart and hand of God. However greatly we may suffer, it is well to remember that God is the great sufferer. It is also well to remember that at times it is our reaction to suffering, rather than the suffering itself, that determines whether the experience is one of blessing or of blight. The same sun melts the butter and hardens the clay.

While we're in the process of trying to answer questions, let's discuss one more question many people ask — how could a good God send people to hell? God sends no one to hell. Each person sends himself. God has done all that is necessary for us to be forgiven, redeemed, cleansed, and made fit for heaven. All that remains is for us to receive His gift. If we refuse it, God has no option but to give us our choice. Heaven, for the person who does not want to be there, would be hell.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor

I enjoyed the Editorial in last week's paper, but feel you did not emphasize the real issues facing us. Does anyone realize, if we give up our water rights now, after fighting for them, Dallas will get them? Of course, they will sell us water, "at what price" when we run out? Also, we will forfeit the financial help we can get now.

One of our businessmen who was opposed to the lake, said if we ran out of water, he would sell out and move. He didn't stop to think, no one would buy if we had no water.

Please let us go forward with the lake, it is like a good insurance policy, we can never do without water.

Mrs. Leonard Endres

To the Editor:

Those who are observant have noticed that there have been some noticeable changes in a lot of businesses of Muenster lately. Some changes have been made at Miller's, Exxon, Dude's Gulf, Ben Franklin, Modern Floors, Tops and Teams, Muenster Building Center and Fischer's Market. Fuhrmann's Jewelry has moved to a new location and so has Modern Floors. The Hut has enlarged and remodeled. There may be others who have made changes and this should not be considered a complete list of improvements made by the businesses of Muenster. We commend all who work to make Muenster's business area a good place to shop. The Mid-Park adds charm to Muenster's business district and any improvements made by the businesses enhance Muenster's uniqueness.

In addition to the esthetic value, improvements are a good investment. It has been proven that a business will have a natural increase following remodeling or refurbishing. Maybe it increases personal pride or creates a better attitude — who knows — but it works! Just ask the ones that have done it.

One last point. We urge all businesses to look at their pricing structure. Let's help boost the image of Muenster as a competitive place to shop. Increase profit through increased volume.

The Chamber of Commerce officers and members salute all who put effort and work in making Muenster a better place to shop.

politically wrong but morally wrong as well.

These thoughts clearly indicate that our country has problems along with its blessings, but at the same time they point to a way for improvements. It can stimulate production and growth by relieving people of the burden of deficit spending, thereby reducing tax and allowing people to do more for themselves.

However, in spite of such difficulties, our nation is still the world's best. "In two centuries, a mere speck on the tablets of recorded history, America has become the world's premier economic engine. By virtually every economic measure, America excelled.

"With just 5 percent of the world's population and 6.2 percent of the land surface, it produces one fourth of the entire gross world product. And with her $3-trillion-plus economy America annually produces almost two and a half times the gross national product produced by either Japan or the Soviet Union.

"Output per person is 20 percent greater than Japan's and 160 percent greater than the Soviet Union's. Americans enjoy a better standard of living than any other people on earth. Even high priced foods here are bargains compared with cost in other countries. For instance, 2.2 pounds of medium steak costs $7 in America, as compared with $24 in Western Europe and $41 in Japan.

There is no question that America is best. And it could be better by adopting the right policies to deal with the troubles we have.

Congressional Comment

A NUMBER of folks have contacted me with reference to a recent "Dear Abby" column in which a reader commented on the social security "notch". Unfortunately, some of the information contained in that particular column was incorrect and misleading, and I think it is necessary to discuss this issue in some detail. Let me begin by providing some background information concerning the social security "notch".

The 1972 Social Security Amendments indexed social security benefits to the cost-of-living or, in other words, provided social security beneficiaries with a cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) every year. Every time retirees received a raise, the amounts in the benefit table also increased; these amounts would be used to compute benefits for new and future retirees. At the same time that the benefit tables were increasing, many workers in the labor force were receiving wage increases. The result was that new retirees were compensated twice for increases in the cost-of-living during their working careers (through higher benefit tables, and higher wages upon which their benefits would be based). If this system had been left in place, many people would have received retirement benefits higher than their salaries had been while they were working.

In 1977, two years before I came to Congress, the Congress established a new benefit computation formula which affects all those born after 1916. The new formula went into effect in 1977, and lowered overall benefit levels by about 5 to 7 percent. Everyone who turns 62 after 1978 is going to get lower benefits than they would have received under the previous formula. Contrary to current rumor, however, there will not be a $100 difference in benefits between those born in 1916 and 1917 except in a limited number of cases at the maximum benefit levels.

The term "notch" refers generally to the difference between the age-65 benefits for those who turned 62 before 1979, and those who turned 62 during and after 1978. This difference is caused by the reduction in overall benefit levels brought about by the 1977 amendments. In order to ease the transition into the new benefit computation, the Congress made provision for a five-year phase-in of this new formula. Thus, people who turned 62 in the period 1979-1983 came under the transition provision which allowed them to get the higher of two benefits: either a benefit using the old law benefit table & frozen at 1978 levels, and thus not increased for inflation) but using only earnings before age 62; or a benefit using the new formula and using all earnings both before and after age 62.

As a result of this provision, individuals born during the years 1917-1921 receive benefits which are somewhat greater than they would have been under the new formula.

The "Dear Abby" column implied that the folks born during the years 1917-1921 would receive less in social security benefits, and everyone born before and after those years would not be affected; this is simply not true. The 1977 Social Security Amendments affected everyone born after 1916.

If this issue had not been addressed by the 1977 Congress, benefits to retirees would have far exceeded the ability of the social security trust funds to pay them. The alternatives were steeper tax increases or a bankrupt system. By the time Congress had corrected this problem, benefit levels had already climbed higher than any time in the history of the program; these are the high benefits enjoyed by many people born in or just before 1916. A line had to be drawn somewhere, and any delay would have made the problem worse. Already, it would cost $9 billion in the first year, $20 billion the second year and more thereafter to go back to the old formula.

Earlier this year, the Congress made certain reforms of the Social Security Program and addressed the financial crisis facing the trust funds. The Congress determined that increased payroll taxes were necessary to meet the needs of today's social security recipients and the needs of future generations. Given the fact that the use of the old benefit computation formula would be prohibitively expensive, it is highly unlikely that the Congress will make any further changes in this particular provision of the law. Our nation's elderly have worked hard to make this nation what it is today, and I do not believe that they want to leave a legacy of excessive taxation and debt to their grandchildren and great grandchildren; a return to the old benefit computation formula would do just that.

Tax rebate totals $4,930 Group Calls for help on phone bills

The city of Muenster has received a check from State comptroller Bob Bullock in the amount of $4,930.68 as a rebate of sales tax remitted by Muenster business through the period ending September 7.

The payment increases the city's receipt for the year to $31,495.84, an increase of 1.97% over the comparable period of 1982. Statewide the city sales tax rebates are running 6.06% behind last year, the totals being $134.5 million this year whereas they were $143.2 million last year. Muenster was one of 974 Texas cities receiving $41.1 million this year period.

Payments to other cities of the area along with their totals to date and percentage of change since last year were reported as follows.

Gainesville, $41,100, to date $604,931, down 12.93%; Lindsay, $3,380, to date $37,735, down 7.43%; Valley View, $00, to date $5,019, up .04%; Pilot Point, $4,104, to date $45,224, up 6.50%; Sanger, $1,889, to date $30,367, up 13.55%; The Colony $11,192, to date $147,125, up 55.53%; Whitesboro $3,332, to date $86,963, up 4.14%; Bowie $24,154, to date $293,786, down 12.35%; Nocona $4,916, to date $106,096, down 13.94%; Saint Jo, $1,319, to date $14,524, down 13.74%.

Consumers who are worried about phone bills going up should contact their congressmen as soon as possible, according to Ellen Deutsch, a Washington, attorney who addressed telephone company executives in Fort Worth earlier this week. Deutsch, counsel for OPASTCO (Organization for the Protection and Advancement of Small Telephone Companies) said "a window of opportunity is open, and we must act right now" to inform users of telephone service about legislation that could help to keep basic telephone rates low enough that everyone who needs a phone can afford one. Bills which would soften the impact on subscribers of recent changes in the industry have been introduced in both the U.S. House and Senate.

Alvin M. Fuhrman of the Muenster Telephone Company was among a group of owners and managers who were told that their customers will likely be faced with sharply higher rates unless Congress acts to protect them.

The splitting of local telephone companies and long-distance carriers which will take place January 1, 1984, will end the practice of using profits from long-distance calling to subsidize basic telephone service. The Chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives said in a Washington Post article recently that, under a recent FCC access charge decision, AT&T, ITT, MCI and other long-distance carriers will now be subsidized by local telephone customers.

Congressman John Dingell of Michigan stated: "The decision shifts billions of dollars of costs associated with the copper wires, telephone poles and drop lines that are used for both long-distance and local service from long-distance companies to local customers." Until recently, no one had questioned the principle that both local and long-distance users of local equipment should share the cost of jointly used plant.

"The FCC, however, in a radical reversal of telephone industry pricing philosophy, decided that long-distance companies should pay nothing at all for the use of this local equipment," Dingell said.

Dingell and Tim Wirth of Colorado have introduced the Universal Telephone Service Preservation Act (H.R. 3621) which would lessen rate increases and preserve the national policy stated in the 1934 Communications Act: "to make available, so far as possible, to all the people of the United States a rapid, efficient, nationwide and worldwide wire and radio communications service with adequate facilities at reasonable charges." A comparable bill (S.1660) has been introduced in the Senate by Commerce Committee Chairman Bob Packwood.

Dingell charged that "long-distance companies and other special interest groups that do not want to pay their fair share of telephone network costs have already mounted a media and congressional campaign to defeat the legislation."

Education

not been adequately trained in this area to learn to deal with the learning handicaps and emotional problems of the special children.

Counselor/Friend

Concerned teachers who take an interest in their students as individuals are often faced with problems requiring the skills of a counselor and the compassion of a friend. When a bright child begins to exhibit the symptoms of emotional difficulty, the teacher has several options. If the student is sent to the principal's office, she may become even more rebellious, while scolding her before the class may simply aggravate the situation and prolong the disruption. Understanding the feelings the child may be having and tailoring the response to the student's personality and needs increase the chance for a successful resolution.

Disciplinarian

Unfortunately, the need to maintain discipline is present throughout the education process. A single misbehaving child can deprive a classroom of students of time which could be spent learning. The need for order to be maintained in the schools often results in additional non-academic duty for teachers, such as assuring orderly conduct in the halls before and after school and between classes, and monitoring students during the lunch period.

Occasionally parents seem to resent the disciplinary actions taken in the schools with regard to their children. Although school discipline is not without its flaws, parents should be aware that the role of disciplinarian is not sought by most educators; it is forced upon them as a necessity in maintaining an environment that allows students to learn. Supportive parents who make their children aware that they are expected to behave properly at home as well as at school make a great contribution to the education system.

Liaison between district and parents

Teachers share a primary goal with parents — that of assuring the best education possible for all students. Often the primary contact parents have with the school district is through the teachers of their children. The teacher's job can be made easier and more satisfying when a productive, mutually supportive relationship exists between the teacher and parents. If a child goes home complaining about the amount of homework assigned by a particular teacher, the parents can respond in several ways. If the parents sympathize with the child and allow these assignments to be ignored, the child loses respect for the teacher and the learning process becomes more difficult. A more positive response would be for the parents to contact the teacher and express their concern; there may be a good reason for the assignments which has not occurred to the parents.

Many problems can be resolved through open communication between parents and teachers. Parents should feel free to contact teachers and teachers to contact parents to discuss concerns and accomplishments. The attitudes of the parents are often reflected in their children's behavior at school, whether positive or negative. Since parents and teachers all share the desire for their children to receive the best education possible, the basis for productive communication and mutual effort is present and should be used to its fullest potential.

Elizabeth Bezner, Donald Blanton exchange marriage vows in Lindsay ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Blanton are on a wedding trip to Captiva Island, Florida. When they return they will reside in Jacksonville, Florida.

The former Elizabeth A. Bezner of Lindsay became the wife of Donald R. Blanton of Colorado Springs, Colo. in a Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony on Saturday, Sept. 17 in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay officiated by Father Cletus Post at 5 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon W. Bezner of Lindsay and a graduate of Lindsay High School. She is also the granddaughter of Mrs. Jake Bezner of Lindsay and Mrs. Alfons Walterscheid of Muenster.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley Dowling of Gainesville and Bill Blanton Sr. of La Habra, California. He is a graduate of Gainesville High School and is employed as field service representative for Texas Instruments.

Arrangements of fresh and silk roses and votive candles in gold candelabra enhanced the main altar of the church. White satin, ribbon bows trimmed the bride's aisle. Fresh green ivy, small red roses and votive candles decorated the altar rails. Mrs. Nick Block arranged altar decor.

Toni Anderson organist, and Mike and Donna Martin, and Kenny and Sandra Phelps vocalists presented wedding music as guests were seated, and during the Mass and as the processional and recessional.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was wearing a Bianchi designer wedding gown of soft ivory chiffon, featuring a high mandarin neckline of Alencon lace over net, and a fitted bodice with Alencon lace appliques embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. Sleeves were of short bishop double flutter design, with fitted net, Alencon lace and a full chiffon puff overlay. A grande flow of chiffon cascaded from mid-shoulder, into a chapel train.

Her tulle veil was attached in a bouffant style to the back of an elegant ivory hat with silk Venise trim on chiffon, caught up at one side with a cluster of silk roses.

Her bridal bouquet was arranged in a cascade of red silk roses, baby's breath and greenery. For sentiment and something old, the rosary her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Bezner received on her Solemn Communion Day in 1911 was entwined in the roses. Also in the arrangement was the groom's boutonniere which the bride presented and pinned as she paused at the entrance to the sanctuary.

Reception

Martha Fuhrmann and Peggy Kasperek secured guest signatures in the bride's book at the reception in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Gainesville.

The bride's table held the wedding cake and silver candelabra. A white trellis with red flowers enhanced the wall decor behind the table. Arrangements of fresh red flowers were used throughout the reception area.

The three-tiered white bridal cake, decorated with white roses and red silk flowers, was made by Betty Rose Walterscheid and cut by Joan Walterscheid, bride's aunt. The chocolate heart-shaped groom's cake was cut by DeAnn Walterscheid, bride's cousin. Assisting were Tammy Arneault of Troy, N.Y., groom's niece, and Amy Walterscheid of Gainesville, Sherri Voth and Rhonda Fleitman of Muenster and Denise Prescher of Justin, bride's cousins.

Rohmer's catered the dinner and Johnny Reed and the Crystal River Band played for dancing.

The rehearsal dinner was held in the home of the bride's parents on Sept. 16, attended by members of the wedding party and both families.

Attendants

Sandra Walterscheid was her sister's matron of honor. Sandy Otto and Cindy Rohmer both of Gainesville were bridesmaids. They were identically attired in matching red taffeta, tea-length dresses with fitted bodice, short sleeves gathered into cuffs, gathered flared skirt designed with a peplum at the waist and a ribbon tie belt. Adding a special touch were sheer ruffled gloves. Each attendant wore a sprig of natural baby's breath in her hair and carried long stemmed red roses.

Michael Blanton of Running Springs, California was his brother's best man. James Blanton, groom's

In its first meeting of the club year, with Mrs. Marcy Wilde presiding and 19 members attending, the club resumed monthly business sessions, after the usual three month summer recess. Meetings are not held June through August; however committees remain active.

Father Scanlin, pastor of Holy Family Catholic Church, officiated for the Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony at 2 p.m.

The bride was presented at the altar by her father. For her wedding she chose a traditional gown of white bridal satin designed by Mora Lea, with an aisle-length cathedral train. The fitted lace bodice was accented with seed pearls and the slim, finger-tip length satin sleeves were trimmed with an inset of matching lace. The skirt was completely edged with lace and, at the instep, the skirt carried an inverted V detail of matching lace.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white and blue flowers tied with white and blue streamers. In keeping with tradition, she wore her mother's bridal pearls and earrings, worn on her wedding day 25 years ago.

The bride presented a single rose to her mother and to the groom's mother.

Attendants

The maid of honor was Tanya Snow of Fort Worth. Bridesmaids were Debbie Bindel, bride's cousin of Muenster, Kim Johns and Daniela McClain of Fort Worth and Paula Tillman of Abilene. They wore floor length, blue bridal satin gowns designed with puff sleeves.

The blue and white theme was emphasized in altar flowers for the wedding with the use of arrangements of sprays of white and blue roses and carnations in silk.

Wedding music was presented by organist Phil Lange and vocalist Greg Petrosky. Organ selections were religious sonatas and vocal selections included "Ave Maria", the Alleluia Response, Panis Angelicus.

Reception

The bride's parents hosted a reception for 300 guests in the ballroom of General Dynamics Recreation Association, with a catered, seated-dinner and a dance.

Guests entered through an archway decorated with greenery. Karen McCook of Ft. Worth presided at the bride's book.

The bride's table was adorned with silk flowers and gold candle holders, wedding gifts to the couple.

Centerpieces for all tables were designed by the bride's mother using a mirror base and a bud vase holding a blue silk rose, and a pair of lighted votive candles.

The three-tiered white wedding cake and chocolate groom's cake were served by Debra Trevino, Karen McCook, Anita Lane, Pam Birchfield and Darla Bindel.

Guests danced to music by Danny Hollis and Friends Quintet. Among guests attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Klement, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bindel and Debbie, Darla and Darren; Kim Hale; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klement; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Klement; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Klement all of Muenster; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Klement of Lindsay; Dr. and Mrs. Jerry Klement and Kurt and Cori of Temple; Mr. and Mrs. Damian Hellman of Irving; Mrs. Helen Schleicher, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Easton, Mrs. Ione Smith, Mrs. Anela Page and Tom Carr all of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Danny Lashley, Mr. and Mrs. John Meek, Debbie Wilson, Paul Vineav and Greg Scafe all of Clarksville, Tenn.

Learning center has open house

The Young Children's Learning Center had open house Monday, Sept. 19, 2 to 5 p.m. Visitors toured the facility seeing materials which the children use and practical life exercises whereby children learn to care for themselves and their environment and to manipulate objects in learning to read and write.

They also saw math and language exercises, many initiated at a basic level such as assembling a puzzle. Each child works at his own pace and at several tasks daily.

The program this year continues group lessons in Spanish and music along with six weeks of gymnastics and regular visits to the library.

A highlight of the open house was dedication of the long awaited playground equipment with special thanks to Veronica Hoagland for help in acquiring it. In her absence, due to illness, her grandson, Joseph McCoy, officiated at the ribbon cutting ceremony. Father Denis Soerries blessed and dedicated the equipment.

The day's program ended with a hamburger cookout in the Center's back yard with brothers, sisters and grandparents as special guests.

Children and staff of the center thank all who have supported it during the past year and ask for their continued support. They are especially grateful to Dan Luke for his kindness.

Oilers blast Weber, 38-8

Muenster Oilers of the Cooke County Boys Club pee wee league recorded their second win of the season Tuesday with a big 38-8 win over Weber of Gainesville. The action started with James Hennigan's 75 yard kickoff return for a touchdown. Moments later Weber almost duplicated the stunt with a great kickoff return of his own to the Oilers' 20. Several plays from there reached the goal after which the visitors went into the lead briefly with bonus points.

Thereafter it was all Muenster. Donny Boydston scored twice in runs of 20 and 10 yards and also passed three yards to Jerry Brawner for a score. Also Jerry Hennigan made long scoring run, 47 yards, Troy Pagel made a 54 yard touchdown run and also ran for a 2 point PAT.

'Read-a-thon' to benefit MS

For the past several years the nation has witnessed walk-a-thons, bike-a-thons, swim-a-thons, dance-a-thons, and probably a number of other thons in which persons pledge to do their thing in raising funds for some charitable project. And now there's another, a read-a-thon, the beneficiary of which is the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. Its purpose is to read books in earning pledges which are made by sponsors. A bonus benefit is that it takes kids away from the TV as well as contributing to MS.

Elementary grades 1 through 4 of Muenster Public School are participating. They saw a film strip last Friday explaining the nature of the ailment and how their efforts are intended to help. They also received pledge sheets to record the books they intend to read and the names of sponsors and amounts to be paid for reading. After duration of the read-a-thon, about a month, the child will collect the pledged amounts from sponsors and turn them in. Then local amounts will be remitted to the national program. However, there are also awards on the local level as individual inducements. Each participant receives a reading award certificate, a free dinner at McDonald's and a mystery sleuth patch, and also a selection from rewards for reading a certain number of books. Finally there are handsome awards to the top three money raisers, based on amount remitted rather than the number of books read.

The read-a-thon closing date is November 1.

Cub program underway

Muenster's cub scouting program of the present school year got under way September 13 in the VFW Hall as Cubmaster Lupe Evans welcomed six new Tiger Cubs and one Cub Scout along with several parents.

The Tiger Cub program, on its second year, is open to seven-year-olds and second graders. The Cubs, joined by their parents, have one meeting or social event a month to practice their motto, "search, discover and share."

They also follow a family activity book as the year's guide for fun with a purpose. In addition they meet with the regular Cub Scout pack in February to observe the Scout birthday, and meet again in May to graduate into the Cub Scout pack with one of the parents as leader.

Tiger Cubs and their parents are Cory Knabe and Gilbert, Jeremy Schmitz and Jerry, Robbie Riggs and Robert, Chris Pagel and Robert Hartman, Eddie Lamkin and Harvey, Travis Trachta and Tom.

WHY WOULD A COMPANY THAT DOESN'T EVEN SELL HEAT PUMPS OFFER A CASH BONUS FOR BUYING ONE?

When you replace your home's old, worn out heating and cooling system with a new energy efficient heat pump,* Texas Power & Light will pay you a cash bonus for buying it. Based on the tonnage capacity of the unit. But the cash bonus is just the first benefit of installing a new electric heat pump. You also save money on your operating costs. You help save energy all year 'round. And by using less energy, you help level our peak load demand. (That's the time when more people are using more electricity.)

So you can see why even though we don't sell or install heat pumps, we want to give you all the information you need to save energy and money when you do buy one.

Tigers glide by Saint Jo, 32-0

Neil Hesse got this pass away just before a Panther defender got to him in last week's 32-0 win over Saint Jo.

Sacred Heart's scoring machine was efficient and alert at exploiting opportunity in its game with Saint Jo's Panthers here last week. It annihilated the visitors 32-0 in the first half of the contest, four of the touchdowns coming in the second period.

The boys' performance was a delight to Coaches Henscheid and Walterscheid. They like the present stage of progress, especially in relation to a low pre-season rating. Over-all the Tigers have been strong on both offense and defense. The entire squad had the pleasure of seeing action in the game.

Tiger success started with first possession. After kickoff they launched a drive from their 30 and gained 37 to the Panther 33. However, the next play, a beautiful 26 yard run by Switzer ended with a fumble recovered by Saint Jo on the 8.

But SH regained possession in the second series following when Jim Bartush recovered a Panther fumble on the 31.

Seven plays made it from there, and Jim Bartush, with a nice assist from Bret Walterscheid, made the last 5 yards. The kick for PAT missed.

The big second quarter got started in closing moments of the first, after Saint Jo's short kick and Neil Hesse's return to the Panther 30. Four plays later Hesse scored from the 12 as the clock read 11:20. The PAT kick was blocked.

After that Panthers kicked on first series, Tigers on second series and Panthers again on first series, after which SH was 21 yards away. First try lost 2 yards then Hesse scored from the 23 with blocks from Bartush and Hennigan. A pass for PAT failed. The time was 3:01.

Next score needed only seconds. Saint Jo fumbled on its first play after kickoff and Bret Walterscheid recovered on the Panther 20. On the following play Hesse's pass to Duane Haverkamp was good for a TD. The time was 2:41. Switzer's kick added a point.

And another quickie followed less than a minute later. On second play following kickoff Saint Jo attempted a pass from the shotgun formation. The snap-back sailed high over the quarterback's head and tumbled into the end zone. Duane Haverkamp recovered it there for a Tiger

TD. Switzer's kick upped the score to 32-0. The time was 1:49 in the second period.

Panthers had a bit of success in the third but failed to get on the scoreboard. A fumble recovery gave them a start at the Tiger 40, and 8 plays reached the 19, but the next series fell short and SH regained possession at the 14.

The fourth period had a last opportunity for each team. Following an interception on its 23, Saint Jo gained in two series and bagged down in the third, losing possession on the Tiger 27. From there Sacred Heart moved the other way and ran out of time at the 7.

Tigers expecting tough time against Bryson

The biggest test of the season to date faces Sacred Heart Tigers this week when they meet an extra solid Bryson team on the local field. Briefly stated it includes practically all of the players who made up last year's strong team with benefit of another year of size and experience.

A few particulars, as told by Tiger Coach Virgil Henscheid, are that they have nine seniors, an abundance of weight in the line with several boys in the 190 and 200 class, and a pair of fleet footed backs who are break-away threats in every play.

The Tiger job, Henscheid said, is to keep those two contained all the time. In action until now, the team has a perfect 3-0 record with easy wins over Tolar, Santo and Throckmorton. Sacred Heart's record is 1-2. Despite the heavily stacked odds, the Tiger coach and his boys have visions of an upset. The makings of success, they think is a full 100 percent effort and no mistakes, and of course the chances will improve if a few breaks go their way.

At the same time Tigers have good signs showing on their side. Meeting Saint Jo last week they cashed in a few opportunities for prints on the scoreboard, but the big reason for their big and rapid win was good defense and offense. They were ready mentally and physically and piled up five touchdowns in the first half, four in the second quarter.

The second half settled down, partly because the Panthers settled down, and partly because Tiger reserves had more of the action. Every member of the team got into the game. Over-all the SH coaches are well pleased with the boys, confident of their good effort, and hoping for the breaks.

Windthorst kids beat Muenster

One big drive and one big play accounted for a 14-0 win by Windthorst juniors over the Muenster juniors last Thursday night.

The first score was on a 5 yard run completing a drive from midfield. And just before half time, Ronnie Wolf busted through the line and galloped some 80 yards to the goal. Both TDs were followed by kicks for bonus points.

Both teams missed scoring opportunities in the second half. Windthorst made a 50 yard drive before losing the ball on a fumble at the 30. Later, Muenster recovered a fumble on the Spartan 45 and advanced to the 17 before bogging down.

Lenny Walterscheid joins Buffalo Bills

Lenny Walterscheid, who for the past six years has been the prime reason for Muenster football fans to be interested in the Chicago Bears, is now a member of the Buffalo Bills. He was claimed on waivers by his new owner promptly after being cut by Coach Mike Ditka.

Lenny was one of nine veterans released in the Bears program of bringing in younger talent. At the same time Buffalo wanted to bolster its safety position and was impressed by Lenny's record. He expects to be a starter.

The 5'11", 190 pound Walterscheid joined the Bears in 1977 as a free agent from Southern Utah State. In his career he has intercepted seven passes for 99 yards and a touchdown, recovered five fumbles and forced six, and blocked a kick. And he has 230 career tackles including six sacks for 58 yards. Also he has returned 34 kickoffs for 833 yards and 57 punts for 424 yards. He led the Bears in interceptions with four in 1980. Not bad for a guy who lost parts of his left hand fingers while working as an oil field roughneck in 1975.

Lenny is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Walterscheid, natives and former residents of Muenster. His grandmother is Mrs. Anna Walterscheid, now living at OLV Convent, Fort Worth. The family moved to Moab, Utah, about 25 years ago.

Hornets blank Windthorst

Muenster High's Hornets, still operating without the services of about a half dozen players, did a superb job at Windthorst last week in a 21-0 shutout of the Trojans.

Sophomore Jeff McAden was especially impressive as leading rusher of the night. Actually his total was more than the team's net gain, the difference being accounted for by a loss of 38 on one play when the snap-back for a punt went astray.

John Eldred, sophomore quarterback, shared the offensive honors by seven pass completions for 88 yards. Defensively, juniors Neal Flusche and Tim Fleeman and freshman Andy Burnette kept busy stopping and sacking the Trojans.

To begin, the game looked like a hot contest. On first possession, Schreiber stepped off a 24 yard gain and four plays later the hosts were trying for a field goal at the 10. It missed.

For the second time Muenster had to kick on first series and the Trojans responded with another first down but ended the next series by losing a fourth down gamble.

That's when the tide turned in the Hornets' favor. They cranked up a 64 yard drive in 14 plays including three passes to Kevin Wolf and one pass to Keith Klement. The TD was a 28 yard pass, Eldred to Wolf, and Neal Flusche kicked the bonus point.

Following the kick off Windthorst had to punt on first series and the Hornets were in business again, with 54 yards to go. The drive included five carries by McAden for 34, and an 8 yard pass to Klement for the score. Neal Flusche's kick upped the score to 14-0 at 3:28 in the second period.

Near midway in the third period a bad kick by the Trojans gave Muenster a set-up on the 22. A fourth down pass to Klement for 11 yards reached the 9 and McAden scooted in from there for the final score at 5:01 in the third. Neal Flusche's kick upped the count to 21-0.

The remainder of the game was probably the most active even though it was scoreless. Three interceptions came in quick succession...by Eldred and Monday for Muenster and by Atchley for Windthorst.

The Hornets advanced by a pair of first downs to the Trojan 12 but bogged down on the next series losing a good scoring opportunity. The Trojans responded with their best drive, three first downs before running out of steam at the Hornet 41.

Muenster gained back to midfield but had a disaster on the next series. The snap-back for an intended punt was high over the kicker's head, giving the Trojans a set-up on Muenster's 11. Two short gains, a timely sack by Neal Flusche and an incomplete pass used up the series with a net loss of 1 yard. After that Hornets gained back to midfield as time ran out.

Knights at their best in 21-8 Pottsboro upset

Lindsay was in seventh heaven Friday night seeing their Knights upset the favored Cardinals of Pottsboro by the one-sided count of 21-8. Probably the happiest of the happy community was Coach Grady Roller who said the boys were at their best of the year with a superb defense including lots of quarterback sacks. In fact the losses on frequent setbacks account for the Cards' low net in rushing yardage. On offense, too, the Knights were a delight. Their blocking is due much of the credit for the good rushing yardage.

After a scoreless first quarter Lindsay got organized in the second period following a Pottsboro punt. Big plays on their 83 yard march to the promised land were a 37 yard pass from Steve Corcoran to John Dieter and a 9 yard scoop by Kenneth Fuhrmann. Corcoran scored from the 5 and Doug Anderle's kick added a point.

The next score came in the third period on a two yard plunge by Anderle following a pair of big plays by Corcoran. First he intercepted a pass deep in Knight territory and returned 45 sensational yards to the Card 34. Corcoran also made 11 yards of the drive in one scoop, and the team ground out the remaining distance with short plays. Anderle's kick upped the score to 14-0.

Lindsay's final touchdown started with an interception by Kenny Thurman on the Pottsboro 44. Key plays from there to the goal were Corcoran's 15 yard pass to Ken Fuhrmann and an 11 yard run by John Dieter. Anderle ended the drive with a plunge from the 1 and also kicked the bonus point.

As the closing minutes ticked away, the visiting Cardinals finally got their game together. The score started with an interception on the Pottsboro 34, and two prompt passes of 34 and 28 yards, accounting for 62 of the 66 yards they needed for a TD. Randy Short finished the job with a 2 yard crash into the line and Alfred Morrison followed over for double bonus points.

Anderle with 73 and Dieter with 61 were principal gainers for the Knights, and Mike Corcoran, Gary Dankesreiter, Jeff Parsons, John Dieter and Scott Fleitman were the defensive standouts.

Next on the Knights' schedule is the game which may be the title contest of the west zone in District 9-A. According to pre-season rating Valley View and Lindsay are No. 1 and No. 2 of the loop. Their present records are Lindsay 2-1 and Valley View 1-2. While the Knights were winning last week the Eagles were mauled 32-14 by Little Elm.

MHS to begin district play

Going into their District 9-A schedule, the Hornets have their work cut out for them this week. The signs are that Prosper's Eagles are tough, with vast improvement over the team which lost 21-13 to the Hornets last year.

In the first place it's a team of mostly seniors, made up of last year's boys with the usual gains in size and experience. And the team is further strengthened by addition of two transfers who are getting recognition as pass receivers. Still another asset is a quarterback who hits his targets.

Regarding the record to date, Prosper has done well in strong games against three Class AA teams, wins over Celina and Anna and a loss to Coppell.

Muenster's record is less impressive, a loss to Class AA Callisburg and wins over Saint Jo and Windthorst. Another big factor is that the Hornets, with only three seniors in the lineup are less gifted with size and experience. Others are mostly juniors, however sophomores and freshmen are included. As regards injuries, a half dozen boys were still absent last week since early in the season. Ronnie Fisher and Lesley Wells, junior regulars, remain doubtful this week.

However, the Hornet outlook is brightened somewhat by the bright performance of the youngsters last week. Coach Peters said they were at their best and possibly got additional inducement from the fact that he and Coaches Meurer and Grass had former Windthorst interests.

Peters liked their extra hard work, especially the aggressive defense and eagerness to tackle. Offense likewise was gratifying, particularly the best passing of the season and great rushing by Jeff McAden.

With this week's game the kickoff time changes to 7:30 o'clock and will remain at that time for the remainder of the season.

Date, place, time switched for Cubs game

Changes of place, date and time apply to this week's Cub football game. Instead of playing a day before the Tigers and at the opposite location, this one will be on the same day and same place. That means Bryson and Sacred Heart juniors will play here Friday night. Another change. Game time originally was 5:30. It is changed to 6 p.m. to reduce waiting time before the 8 p.m. varsity game.

Last week's junior game at Saint Jo was a run-away for the Cubs, the scoring spree eventually ending at 56-0. Boys who share the scoring fun are Scott Taylor, Mike Walter, Wayne Becker, Ryan Bayer, Greg Bell and Deano Bayer, all making at least one TD and some making two. And Steve Knabe scored a safety.

Riding Club has Paint Horse Show

The Gainesville Riding Club will sponsor a two-day Paint Horse Show at the Gainesville Riding Club Arena on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 24 - 25. This is an approved APHA show. Starting time on both days is at 8 a.m. There is no charge for spectators. The concession stand will be open throughout. Anyone needing more information may call Boots Sicking, 759-2563.

Bike-a-Thon is on for Saturday

"I'm Riding For Terry" is the theme of this year's Beta Kappa Bike-a-Thon on Saturday, Sept. 24 at 9 a.m., a benefit for St. Jude's Children's Hospital. Terry is a nine-year-old victim of Leukemia. Each rider in the project will wear a hospital bracelet with Terry's name imprinted.

The ride will proceed from the Chuck Bartush, Jr. home, north to the Copper Switch road and return, with Wanda Flusche as chairman. A pickup will follow riders, to offer assistance if needed.

Pledge sheets are available at both schools, Fischer's Market and Tender Loving Care Nursery. A watch will be the prize for the rider collecting largest amount in pledges.

In asking for community support, Mrs. Flusche said: "Please help toward stamping out cancer in children. Let's all ride for Terry like her life depends on it. It just might!"

Mrs. Cleo Lanier and Charles Lanier were among more than 1100 people who attended the picnic in Stamford that honored Congressman Charles Stenholm on Sept. 10. Also attending were three of his colleagues, Jim Jones of Oklahoma, Bill Ratchford of Connecticut and Kent Hance of Texas who will seek the seat vacated by Senator John Tower. The Laniers also visited friends in Weinert and Haskell, enroute. In Stamford they met other guests from Montague County and Cooke County.

All youth in the Forestburg area are invited to attend the kick-off meeting of the Forestburg 4-H Club, Oct. 12th, 3 p.m. at the Forestburg School Library. The 4-H Club is open to all youth 9 to 19 years old. Parents and interested adults are also needed to help with projects, club activities and meetings.

Greetings! As Gene Autry used to sing - "I'm back in the Saddle Again." My sincere thanks and appreciation to Kuyra Orrell for giving me a few months "vacation." Will give you just a little info on her - she is a most charming, sweet, friendly, pretty and intelligent young lady with a degree in journalism from Texas Tech in Lubbock. She is the daughter of Leo and Dolly (Scott) Orrell and is presently employed in Decatur with the newspaper there. So once again - as I've stated so many times before - this column will only be as GOOD as you the people are willing to help make it.

Word has reached our ears that the Annual New Harp Homecoming will be the 1st Sunday in October at the old school house building. So bring your dinner and join your friends for a day of visiting and fellowship.

Emma Lee Steadham reports that her son Donal and wife Ruthie have been rather ill since Friday last.

Sometimes this writer wonders how the people can expect nations to get along with one another when we can't even get along with some of our family members, with our community neighbors and in our Churches. Isn't it sad to think about though? What really saddens me is to see unrest and strife in the churches of this nation because as Christians we sure fail to act like it at times.

The following is taken from the Radio Bible Class Discovery Digest and they are for you to ponder about. Quote: "A friend is a person who does his knocking before he enters instead of after he leaves." and "True friends are like diamonds, Precious but rare; False friends are like autumn leaves, Found everywhere." So which are you?

THREE WAYS TO SAVE

1. Start by insulating your home up to an R13 floor, R19 walls and R26 or better in the attic.
2. Next, tighten up your house. Install storm windows and doors and caulk around openings to seal off heat leaks. Weatherstrip under doors to the outside.
3. Finally, catch trouble before it begins. No matter how careful you are to get the best heating system for your home, it won't serve you well unless it's installed correctly and in good working order. Inspections could save you time and trouble later during the heating season.

Energy costs continue to rise. Money spent now to make your home energy efficient will pay off month by month, year after year - an investment with continued savings!

County Agent's Report

Can producers afford to fertilize prairie grass meadows for hay production? Results from a recent demonstration we conducted this past summer indicates — probably not.

Generally, prairie grass will provide good to excellent grazing but by the time it's large or mature enough for haying, the protein quality is pretty low. For example 100 forage samples taken from prairie grass hays and tested at the forage testing lab at Texas A&M resulted in 84% testing below 6% protein and 16% testing from 6-7% protein. No samples were over 7% crude protein.

We know that nitrogen has the capability of increasing both tonage and quality (measured) by protein and digestibility in forages. With this in mind, we fertilized part of a prairie grass meadow this year to see if it was economically feasible for this type of hay production. The demonstration was conducted on an 8.5-acre prairie grass meadow belonging to Thurman Ward of the Sivells Bend community.

The field was measured and divided in half with 1/2 receiving no fertility treatment and the remaining half receiving an application of 60 number of actual nitrogen. Visual observations were very pronounced with the fertilized portion showing a brighter green and taller growth as would be expected from additional nitrogen applications. The real proof came in the testing though. The hay was weighed after baling and there was only a modest increase of less than 600 pounds forage per acre. Core samples were taken on bales from both fertilized and unfertilized hays.

Though protein is low in both samples it is important to supply cattle an additional protein source in winter months to meet their protein needs. Hays of this quality are considered poor protein hays. However the hay is an excellent source of energy according to TDN levels.

Small grain field meetings
Two informal field meetings will be held Friday, September 23 at 9 a.m. at the Heary Popp herbicide demonstration at Lindsay and at 11 a.m. at the Cooke Co. Electric Co-op in Muenster. H.A. Turney, entomologist; Jim Blalock, agronomist; and Norman McCoy, plant pathologist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service will be on hand to visit with small grain producers on individual questions you might have in planning for chemicals for the 1983-84 crop year.

Cooke County Beef Assoc. Cookout - Will be held Saturday, September 25 at 5 p.m. at the Gainesville Sale Barn in Gainesville. Dr. Ken Stokes will present a computer program on stocker calf budgeting at 5 p.m. At 6 p.m. there will be a cookout. Beef producers are invited to attend and utilize the computer during the meeting and meal.

Beef & Forage breakfast
This is scheduled for 6:30 a.m. Wednesday, September 28. A program will be presented on Grassland herbicide for brush control. Following the breakfast meeting we will tour acreage on the Claud Beck ranch sprayed with Grassland to observe tree and brush susceptibility to the herbicide.

Blueberries tested for production

An evaluation of blueberry production, sponsored by the Cooke County College Agriculture Department and Texas Power & Light Company, began September 16 when a plot of Rabbiteye blueberries was planted at the College's experimental farm.

According to Doug Robison, Cooke County College agriculture instructor, blueberries are new to Texas and this evaluation test will help determine if Rabbiteye blueberry production is feasible and profitable in Cooke County.

The landscape-horticulture class at the college planted the 20 blueberry plants under the direction of Robison and Tommy Davidson, also an ag instructor at the college. Mike Murphy, TP&L District Manager in Gainesville and Mike Baker, TP&L Agri-business Consultant of Sherman, were present at the planting.

"We are going to evaluate the plants by tracking growth and yield information as well as production costs," Robison said.

Commercial acreage of blueberries has increased in East Texas since first commercial production research efforts began in 1967.

There are three primary types of blueberries grown commercially in the United States, The Lowbush is grown in New England and Michigan, the Highbush in several northern states and as far south as Arkansas and the Rabbiteye in southern states.

Blueberries in Texas usually are marketed by pick-your-own because of local demand and limited production. Rabbiteye blueberries ripen before berries grown in northern states. This could mean an unlimited market if production increases in Texas.

Rabbiteye blueberries set fruit in first-year plantings. Third year plants produce 2 to 4 pounds per plant and six-to-seven-year plants yield 20-30 pounds per plant. Mature plants normally produce for approximately 20 years.

A well-drained fertile soil with pH of 4.5 to 5.5 is required to grow blueberries and this limits its production to specific areas. The shallow root system also requires regular irrigation and mature plants require 80 to 100 gallons of water per week during periods of peak stress.

Container-grown plants can be placed in field at any time, but bare-root plants should be set out during the dormant season of late November through early March. Plantings should be six feet apart in the row with 10-foot row spacing.

Robison said anyone interested in growing blueberries or interested in more information should contact him at Cooke County College.

National Farm Safety week proclaimed

President Ronald Reagan has proclaimed the week of September 18 through 24 as the 40th Annual National Farm Safety Week, co-sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"The President's action reaffirms the need for continued efforts to reduce accidents and illnesses in the agricultural community," said T.C. Gilcrest, Executive Vice President and Acting President of the National Safety Council.

This year, the Week focuses on the protection and safety training of rural children. "We must protect our youngsters from harm, said William D. Hanford, Manager of the Council's Farm Department, "then as they develop, teach them how to perform all their activities safely. If you can make safety part and parcel of a young person's life, he or she is bound to become a safer worker, driver and home manager."

According to preliminary National Safety Council estimates, agricultural work-connected accidents were responsible for about 1,800 deaths and 180,000 disabling injuries in 1982. Many of these casualties were persons under 21 years of age.

Though farm work accident death rates (per 100,000 workers) have decreased by 10 percent in the past 10 years, agriculture still remains among the high-rate industries. "There are several reasons for this," Hanford said. "Though farm equipment is safer than ever, farmers still lag well behind those in other industries in the use of personal protective equipment. If every farm worker would use the appropriate protective equipment when the job or job conditions call for it, we would see a real downturn in the number and severity of farm work injuries and illnesses," he said.

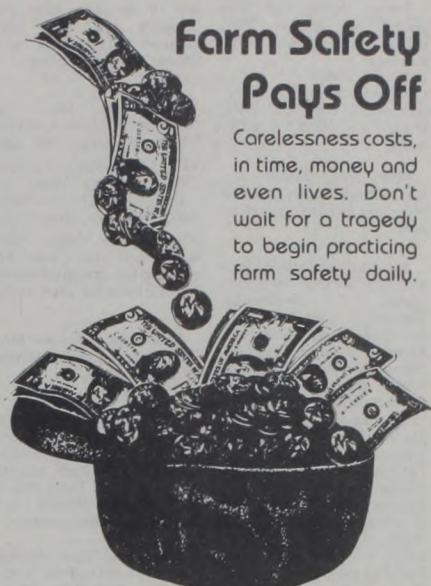

"In most other occupations," Hanford added, "Trained people are responsible for the safety and health of workers. But in agriculture, the safety and health job falls to the farmer himself, and he may not always be up to the challenge.

"The fact that medical help is usually farther away in both time and distance also contributes to agriculture's high severity rate," he said. "When someone in a plant or office is hurt, a co-worker is usually nearby who can call for help and medical personnel are soon at the scene to begin treatment. A seriously injured or acutely ill farm worker, however, might not be discovered for quite a while. Even when he or she is discovered, it usually requires longer for medical or rescue personnel to get to the scene."

Hanford emphasized that it is very important for farm people to be well prepared for emergencies such as fire, sudden illness, injury and storms, and to be able to cope until help arrives.

Farm Safety Week was founded in 1944 to fight accidents impairing wartime food and fiber production. It is supported by many organizations that serve agriculture.

Farm Safety Pays Off

Carelessness costs, in time, money and even lives. Don't wait for a tragedy to begin practicing farm safety daily.

Reduced acreage could help wheat farmers

Texas wheat farmers have started planting their 1984 crop, but many are still in the dark as to what to do about the government's wheat program.

"While the new wheat program is not as attractive as last year's, participating in the 30 percent reduced acreage program (RAP) could be profitable," says Ed Smith, an economist in grain marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"This is because the expected deficiency payment rate ($1.15 per bushel) more than compensates farmers for not producing on the least productive 30 percent of their wheat land. Overall, the 30 percent RAP looks like cheap price insurance."

On the other hand, the decision to participate in the 20 percent PIL phase of the program is not as clear cut. Smith says Participation in PIK is close to a breakeven situation with the 30 percent

RAP program since a producer gives up deficiency payments on 20 percent of his land and is paid 75 percent of his farm program yield in PIK wheat.

Farmers still have plenty of time to make a decision -- the sign-up period is Jan. 16 through Feb. 24, 1984. And Congress could still make some changes. But, as of now, Texas farmers have three options:

—Not participating in the RAP and forfeiting all rights to direct farm program benefits.

—Participating in the 30 percent RAP only, guaranteeing access to Commodity Credit Corp. loans and possible deficiency payments.

—Participating in both the 30 percent RAP plus an additional 10 to 20 percent PIK acreage diversion.

Major differences in the 1984 wheat program and the past year's program are these:

—The target price will increase from $4.30 to $4.45 per bushel.

—The national average loan rate will be lowered by 35 cents to $3.30 per bushel.

—The maximum deficiency payment rate will increase from 65 cents to $1.15 cents per bushel.

—Acreage reduction requirements will increase from 20 to 30 percent of the established wheat acreage base, and there will be no paid acreage diversion or advanced deficiency and diversion payments.

—Grazing of reduced areas will be allowed only outside the six principal wheat-growing months, and no haying or graze-out will be permitted.

The effectiveness of the new wheat program will have a major impact on prices for the '84 crop. However, Smith says he sees '84 wheat being at or slightly below the loan rate, barring weather disasters.

He also sees little price improvement for '83 wheat through the remainder of this year but some strengthening in early 1984 as farmers hold their wheat in the loan program and have used PIK entitlements.

He says that increase will likely be short-lived, though, with competition from the Southern Hemisphere and new crop expectations.

Texas farm accidents down, though still numerous

Although fatalities on Texas farms and ranches are decreasing, 969 workers were killed in accidents during the past five years, according to an article in Texas Medicine.

The statistics include family members and hired workers killed in accidents involving tractors, other farm machinery, electrocutions, firearms, drownings, suffocation, burns, explosions, and falls.

Dr. Francis C. Jackson, a surgeon at the Texas Tech University School of Medicine in Lubbock, wrote the article appearing in the September issue of the Texas Medical Association's monthly journal.

Jackson notes that for every agricultural fatality, there are an estimated 100 disabling injuries, 1,200 serious injuries, and 3,600 minor injuries. During the 1970s, Texas farms and ranches recorded 1,746 fatalities.

Reflecting a national trend, "the Texas Department of Health has reported a slow decline in farm fatalities beginning in the 1960s when almost 300 deaths were reported annually," writes Jackson. "In the past 10 years, such deaths have dropped below 200 per year, with 1980 demonstrating the lowest figure (132)."

He suggests that this decline may result from the fewer number of farmers and ranchers in business these days and from new safety features on tractors and farm machinery.

"While deaths from farm and ranch accidents in Texas have declined in the past 15 years, it is unclear whether disabling or serious injuries have also been reduced," Jackson writes.

PIK means income... and taxes!

Let Edward D. Jones & Co. show you the right tax-free investments to protect your PIK dollars.

This year, the federal government has taken some of the guesswork out of farming with its Payment-in-Kind program. They've guaranteed a certain amount of commodity you'll have available to sell. Sounds good, doesn't it? But here's something else they've guaranteed -- you'll still have to pay taxes on that PIK income.

So this year, while your production costs are down and while you've got some guaranteed income, let Edward D. Jones & Co. show you how to keep those PIK dollars in your pocket, with careful, conservative, tax-free and tax-advantaged investments.

energy answers

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

My husband and I are planning to build a house. Our plan has some passive energy design features. Would an all cedar home be practical for our Gulf Coast climate? Also, the plan calls for a double glazed sun room. Will this be practical considering our summer weather? F. V., Ganado.

The coastal climate is ideal for low mass structures such as cedar or other wood exterior wall construction. Because daily temperatures fluctuate very little, there is not much advantage in using the high mass structural components.
