Recent news reports tell us that the US Senate is on the verge of voting to establish a national holiday honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, the controversial civil rights leader who more than anyone else is credited with the modern success of US black people in their social and political demands.

The measure has passed the House of Representatives by a 4 to 1 margin and is assumed to be heavily favored in the Senate as well. As regards President Reagan's attitude, little is said about his personal preference, but the word is that he will go along with Congress rather than risk an override of his veto.

As the issue looks from here, congressional support is heavily stacked in favor of the holiday, and the support includes a surprising number of conservatives as well as blacks and liberals. And it is admitted to be based on politics far more than merit. As explained in Human Events "It has been steamrollered through — fueled by a ton of hypocrisy — in an attempt to appease the black vote. The King Holiday is another pinch of incense on the altar of those civil rights 'spokesmen' who demand from the rest of us not equal treatment but gross favoritism, fresh tribute for supposed past sins which have already been paid for several times over."

That describes the situation about as accurately as it can be said. This thing is an obvious appeal for black votes, actually in many cases an obviously futile appeal by some who know that they do not have a chance to influence the blacks. But that's only a part of the bad judgment. They heed the political urge when sound thinking tells them to oppose the proposal.

One of these reasons was presented by our representative, Charles Stenholm when the question was being voted in the House of Representatives. He objected on the basis of cost, pointing out that observance would impose a tremendous burden on all of the nation. Regular pay for work undone would be regular procedure in industry, business and government. The expense would be added to the prices and taxes all of us have to pay. Running into the billions, that certainly is no trifle. We're already paying plenty for the many other holidays on our calendar.

Another thought is that George Washington is presently the only person of the country honored by a national holiday. Many Christians who regard Christmas as Christ's Birthday would be inclined to count him as the second person so honored. By that reasoning the proposal would elevate King to the level of one or both.

Even if the nation thinks that a holiday should be named to honor another person, one has to wonder whether that should be the choice. We've had dozens of great persons in more than 200 years of history who have done great service and caused less turmoil. They deserve no less consideration in choosing a person for the honor. We have to wonder, for instance, whether calm, informed minds without

Council hires superintendent; to begin Oct. 31

Ronald S. Montgomery, 32, of Taft, Texas was named the new city superintendent of Muenster Monday night, ending a three-month search for a successor to Steve Mosler, who has held the position since 1946.

During the special meeting, City Mayor Ronnie Felderhoff said Montgomery plans to move to Muenster in time to start work Oct. 31.

The new city employee has 13 years experience in a wide variety of municipal services, having held similar positions in Seagraves and Brazoria before his move to Taft, a city of 5,000 south of Corpus Christi. He holds an associate degree in business administration as well as a Class B water and sewer certificate and a Class C land fill certificate.

Montgomery, who won the job over 25 other applicants, is "really looking forward to moving and living here," Felderhoff said. "He's really impressed with the community."

Felderhoff also expressed the council's appreciation to Steve Mosler for nearly 40 years of service to the community. Mosler accepted the council's request that he remain on the job through November, to aid in Montgomery's transition.

"I'd be happy to," Mosler said, "And I'd also be happy to help out any other time as well."

In the only other two items of business, the council approved revisions to the bylaws of the Texoma Regional Planning Commission and approved payment of a $2,953 bill for work done at the city's land fill.

Cooke County oil, gas significant to '82 economy

The sale of crude oil and natural gas from Cooke County wells made an important contribution to the county's economy in 1982 and accounted for $138.5 million of the $41.1 billion wellhead value of Texas petroleum production last year, according to the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

In its annual survey of the economic impact of oil and gas industry operations in the significant producing counties of Texas, the association reported that the county ranked 84th among Texas' 254 counties on the basis of value of its marketed petroleum production. Such production includes condensate and casinghead gas.

The county's wells produced 4.3 million barrels of crude oil, valued at $134.9 million, and 1.7 billion cubic feet of natural gas, valued at 3.6 million. Owners of royalty in the county received $17.3 million as their share of the output, the Association noted.

"The figures cited in this survey offer graphic evidence of the continuing importance of petroleum production to nearly every county in Texas, a situation which should continue indefinitely," said the Association's chairman, Joe C. Walter, Jr., Houston independent producer.

"There are a number of encouraging signs indicating that the oil and gas industry's protracted slowdown in activity is coming to an end. A general economic recovery in the United States and other industrialized countries will increase the demand for petroleum products, thereby stimulating geophysical and drilling activity here and abroad. The domestic petroleum industry stands ready to drill more wells as drilling projects become economically feasible," Walter said.

In addition to paying property taxes to cities, counties, and school districts, producers in the county supported state government through production tax payments estimated at $6.5 million, according to the Association survey. Crude oil taxes amounted to $6.2 million, while natural gas levies totalled $267,988.

Based on Texas Employment for new petroleum reserves in the county, oil and gas producers spent a reported $22.5 million in the drilling of 170 wells, including 14 wildcat, or exploratory, wells. This effort resulted in the completion of 85 oil wells and two gas wells, although some $8.7 million was lost in the drilling of 83 dry holes. As of April 1, 1983, there were 2,637 producing wells in the county; 2,628 oil and nine gas.

Petroleum processing also contributed to the county economy, with two natural gasoline plants, having a total daily capacity of 27.5 million cubic feet of natural gas.

Sights set high for local library

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles on the Muenster Public Library. This final article looks at the future of the library.

The Muenster Public Library has experienced slow and steady growth ever since its establishment nearly 25 years ago. During that growth, the Public Library Board has intended to insure this library would be not only an addition, but an asset, to the community.

That's what the board had in mind a couple of years ago when it developed a five-year master plan for the library's future. Jim Hoedebeck, the board's current president, said the master plan was intended to cover five years, but that the board realizes it might take longer than that to complete the improvements it has in mind, which should come as no surprise since the improvements are expected to cost more than $21,000.

The library board plans to raise most, if not all, of that amount during a fundraising drive it plans to undertake any day now. Every dollar which will be raised has

Zacchaeus saved

IN LUKE 19:1-10 we see the story of how Zacchaeus, a hated tax collector and lost person, was saved by the seeking love of God in spite of the hostility of self-righteous critics who tried to prevent him from seeing Jesus in the first place. Due to lack of sufficient space we will not reproduce all ten verses in our column today, but will discuss important points of these verse and encourage our readers to read these verses in their own Bible in order to have a fuller understanding of these passages.

In verse two Zacchaeus is referred to as chief tax collector and it is noted that he is rich. He probably employed other people to do the actual collecting of the taxes, while he passed on to the Romans what their law required. It was a common practice at this time for the tax collector to collect more than the Roman law required, and then they would keep the difference. Needless to say, this practice made them very unpopular with their fellow man.

In verse three we see that Zacchaeus had heard of Jesus and wanted to see Him, but he had a great problem: he was "small of stature." Being short, he could not see over the people in front of him, and nobody was about to move over for such an unpopular man to allow him to go to the front of the crowd. Being a resourceful person, he ran ahead of the crowd, along the path Jesus would take, and climbed up in a tree that he might see Jesus when He passed by. In his desire to see the Lord, he did not worry about what the other people would think.

When Jesus came to the tree, He looked up and said, "Zacchaeus, hurry and come down, for today I must stay at your house."

Jesus accepted Zacchaeus as he was. He did not say, "If you will give up your job and stop doing the things that make it costly for me to associate with you, I will think about coming to your home." Zacchaeus came down and received Jesus joyfully. Like many people today Zacchaeus might not have used the word "lost" to describe himself; however, his actions show him to be a person who was aware that something was wrong and that his wealth could not set it right. Under the impact of unconditional acceptance by Jesus, a transformation was worked in the life of Zacchaeus, just as it should in our life when we accept Jesus as Lord. There should be visible proof in a Christian's life that his life has been changed once he comes to know Jesus. We see this proof in the life of Zacchaeus by his words in verse 8: "Behold, Lord, half of my possessions I will give to the poor, and if I have defrauded anyone of anything, I will give back four times as much."

Jesus' reply in verses 9 and 10 makes it clear that Zacchaeus had been saved. Jesus refers to Zacchaeus as now being a "son of Abraham." Just as Abraham placed his trust and faith in God, Zacchaeus has now done likewise.

Jesus adds that He had come "to seek and to save the lost." This incident shows this plainly. Jesus sought Zacchaeus. He made the contact, not Zacchaeus. That man was certainly among the lost. But Jesus did not leave him there. He saved him. He does the same for us today.

The Mondale & Glenn Show

JOHN GLENN was an aerial hero in World War II and Korea, but in the first real dogfight of the 1984 presidential campaign he flew badly, wounded himself worse than his adversary and was forced to limp back to base with the enemy in hot pursuit.

Walter Mondale also got hit in the exchange with Glenn, but he is still on the offensive and has some heavy ammunition left to fire — the charge that Glenn is the corporations' candidate for president, even more than Ronald Reagan is.

Glenn is saying now that he didn't seek a fight with Mondale and wishes it hadn't taken place, but Glenn did play his part in starting it by repeatedly implying that Mondale is the candidate of "special interests," such as labor, the teachers unions and civil rights groups, while he (Glenn) represents a broader "national interest."

Mondale has been poking back for weeks at Glenn's opposition (since reversed) to Jimmy Carter's SALT II treaty and Glenn's support for President Reagan's nerve gas program, but the skirmishing escalated to full battle in appearances by the two Democratic front-runners in New York, Iowa and Florida.

In Rochester on Sept. 26, Mondale for the first time criticized Glenn's vote for President Reagan's 1981 tax cuts. In New York on Oct. 6 and in Des Moines Oct. 8, Glenn hit back harder, alleging (not by name of course) that Mondale couldn't say no "to anyone with a letterhead and a mailing list" and "derides Republican policies of the 1920s" while seeking to replace them "with the programs of the 1960s."

Mondale was waiting for Glenn, though. He had the last word at the candidates' forum in Des Moines and used it to clobber Glenn.

"There has never been such a comprehensive onslaught against social justice in modern times as that which followed from the adoption of Reaganomics," said Mondale. "That would have been a good time for a Democrat who's against special interests to stand up and decide to vote no."

And then, in a major error, Glenn explained to a Florida press conference that he had voted for Reagan's tax cuts as the only alternative to "the disastrous, failed policies of the Carter administration."

For Mondale, Carter's vice president, to criticize the vote, Glenn said, was "like the first mate on the Titanic criticizing someone for going for a lifeboat."

In one crack, Glenn thus offended moderate Democrats who supported Carter in 1980 and, by defending Reaganomics, made himself unacceptable to liberals who supported Edward Kennedy. There is not much of the Democratic Party left on which to build a base.

The story of Glenn's self-inflicted damage is not over yet. The Washington Post uncovered evidence that Glenn actually had been one of the most consistent Senate supporters of Carter policies and that he had said in 1980 that Carter's economic programs were producing a recovery (as indeed, they were).

Glenn then went to the National Press Club and did himself more damage. He implied that it was somehow unfair of Mondale "to go back and pick out specific votes out of people's past and try to castigate them," and called for a truce.

In a mop-up operation after Glenn's surrender, Mondale aides were only too pleased to point out that in spite of Glenn's disparagements of Mondale's support from "special interests," Glenn himself had tried to win endorsement from the AFL-CIO, had altered his stance on the Middle East to win Jewish support and in Ohio Senate campaigns had never rejected backing from any Democratic interest group.

The worst may be yet to come. The Mondale campaign has a treasure trove of evidence that of all the interest groups courted by Glenn, he has been most consistent about corporate America.

Glenn's own campaign aides told the Washington Post that Glenn's key differences with Carter were over special corporate tax breaks in 1977 and 1978 and Carter's proposed oil import fee in 1980.

There, too, the record shows Glenn repeatedly telling reporters that his objections to Reagan's 1981 tax cuts were that they provided too much relief to individuals and not enough to corporations — though, in fact, they virtually eliminated the corporate income tax.

And in 1982, Glenn voted against a bill sponsored by Republican Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas — and reluctantly backed by President Reagan — to repeal $99 billion worth of corporate tax cuts voted in 1981.

Glenn thus is in the position of defending corporate tax loopholes that even President Reagan was willing to close. These included the notorious safe harbor leasing provision that allowed unsuccessful companies to sell their unused tax breaks to profit-making firms.

For Walter Mondale, the fight with John Glenn has been a boon in his quest for the Democratic nomination. Mondale has shown he can slug and strategize and has raised doubts about Glenn's fitness for big-time politics.

But the overall beneficiary of the Democrats' battling was undoubtedly Ronald Reagan, one of whose top aides said last week, "We're taking notes on all this. You will hear it again in 1984."

It's official now

YOU REALLY have to wonder what Ronald Reagan is up to, taking care of all the legal details of filing for re-election while maintaining he's not yet sure whether he will seek that re-election. That's what he did this week in authorizing the creation of a 1984 campaign committee and appointing a campaign manager.

Reagan is now, officially and in the eyes of the law a candidate for president in 1984. He realizes that, but still avoids actually saying what he will do. He'll probably continue to play the game for two or three more months. We still don't know if he'll really go through with it, but for all practical purposes, we have little choice but to assume he will.

That said, everyone (or at least almost everyone) will be assessing his chances for re-election based on his past performance and the performance (no pun intended) he'll make during his fourth year.

If the election were to be held next Tuesday instead of next November, Reagan's domestic policy record would have to be his biggest selling point, in hopes that it would overshadow a foreign policy record that is his achilles' heel. Certainly, it may not be right to judge things on such simplistic terms. But at the moment, simplistic terms are about all we have.

There are points on both sides for the President to consider, but there is less for him to worry about on the domestic front. After taking over the job from Jimmy Carter, Reagan's policies have been instrumental in the current recovery — a recovery which is bound to be a big part of his platform.

On the other hand, Reagan has very little — almost nothing in the way of foreign policy accomplishments. If that doesn't change, it's going to hurt him.

America's involvement in Lebanon has left a big question mark in the minds of most Americans, and Reagan's reaction to the Korean Airliner incident was one that angered politicians both liberal and conservative.

Administrations have shown that they have a way of running in cycles. Public-approval ratings for Presidents Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon and Carter all fell during their third year. Reagan's climbed this year from 37 percent in January to 48 percent in September. Not bad.

Still, even the White House concedes that foreign policy is the President's one big weakness. The economic recovery will make him a viable candidate, but foreign policy could make things tough for him. But then again, all such speculations are meaningless should he decide to exercise the option to call it quits — an option he continually reminds us of.

For whatever reason he has, he still won't say, even though he's made it official. We shouldn't look for him to anytime soon, either.

To The Editor:

I am writing about legislation being debated in Congress to combat the Federal Communications Commission's "access charge" directive. That order directs local telephone companies like ours to increase basic service rates starting January 1, 1984.

Under the current system, AT&T and other "longlines" companies pay an estimated $5 to $9 billion in costs each year for local telephone companies to link up their local customers with long-distance service. The FCC's decision tells local telephone companies to shift that cost directly to subscribers by adding an access charge onto their monthly telephone bills — regardless of how much or how little the subscriber uses long-distance service.

If legislation is not passed, "longlines" companies will be given a much cheaper "ride" at the expense of the more than 50 percent of all subscribers who make few, if any, long-distance calls.

Rural areas will be hit particularly hard. As we have fewer subscribers, each must shoulder a proportionately greater share of the burden than will the urban users who divide the cost among many.

At first, it will only be a few dollars, but only at first. The Rural Electrification Administration estimates that by the end of the decade, basic rural telephone service will top $30 per month in 36 states and will exceed $35 per month in 20 of those states — just to get a dial tone.

Since the Communications Act of 1934,

Universal Telephone Service — affordable phones for Americans wherever they live — has been the national policy. This new directive changes that for many in rural America. And it could spread silence over great sections of the American landscape.

The aged on fixed incomes, the rural poor (and even not so poor), the unemployed — people who cannot afford to pay two, three and four times their current telephone bill — will be cut out of what is now a "universal" system. They will be disconnected from friends, relatives, emergency medical, fire and police services and from local businesses.

According to Representative John Dingell of Michigan, "The access charge rule of the FCC is going to cause startling increases ... which are going to hurt the poor, the people with limited income in the cities and rural areas, and blacks."

To rectify this problem, legislation has been introduced by a number of members of Congress including Senator Robert Packwood (R-Ore.), Representative John Dingell (D-Mich.) and Representative Tim Wirth (D-Col.). If passed, this legislation would correct the FCC's decision and help preserve universal telephone service.

I hope that you will further explore this important issue and its potential effects on our community. If I can help with additional information on this vital issue, please give me a call.

already been earmarked, mostly for shelves and other furnishings. The board plans to raise the money in addition to the $3,700 it receives annually from the City of Muenster and the $4,000 it receives from the Cooke County Commissioners Court every year.

Hoedebeck says this round of fund-raising should just about complete phase two of the board's master plan — construction on the bottom floor. Phase three will involve utilization of the upper floor. The second floor isn't likely to be used for more bookshelves, though, since the floor can't handle the weight. Instead, the room upstairs could be used for meetings and film-viewing, Hoedebeck said.

But phase three is phase three; and this is phase two. The most pressing business now involves raising the needed funds and getting on with fix-up and additions.

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

How many electric utility plants in Texas use coal (lignite), and where are they located? H. G., Huntsville.

Currently 14 lignite-fired plants are operating, and approximately 15 named and sited plants are scheduled to go into operation sometime in the 1990's.

Electricity-generating plants using lignite in Texas are commonly located near the lignite mine and are characterized as mine-mouth plants. This arrangement greatly reduces transportation costs and problems which may be significant factors in the use of lignite.

Texas Municipal Power Agency has one plant in operation at Gibbons Creek in Grimes county; Texas Power and Light has four plants at Sandown in Milam county; Texas Utilities has two plants at Big Brown in Freestone county, three plants at Monticello in Titus county and three plants at Martin Lake in Rusk county; and the South Texas and Medina Electric Cooperative has one plant at San Miguel in Atascosa county.

More information on lignite in Texas is available from the Center for Energy and Mineral Resources at Texas A&M University. Ask for the free Coal/Lignite Resource factsheet.

I want to have my central gas-fired furnace checked before I begin operating it this winter. Who does this type of work? How much will it cost me? What will a good maintenance check consist of? P. O., Longview.

Heating and cooling contractors and repair services routinely perform this type of service. For listings, check your yellow pages under heating contractors.

A heating system maintenance check takes about two hours and costs from $25 to $40.

The maintenance person should examine the following areas during the visit:

(1) Make sure all safety features are operating correctly so the system will shut down if a hazardous situation arises.

(2) Light the pilot and make certain the flame has the proper air mixture. A sharply defined blue flame indicates the proper mixture of gas and air.

(3) Check the heat exchanger for cracks in the steel chamber.

political motivation would have passed up Abraham Lincoln or George Washington Carver to select King. It's disappointing to think that our representatives in their selection choose impulsively and politically, ignoring several outstanding people from more than two centuries of history.

Still another important consideration is whether King really deserves the honor proposed for him. At the risk of seeming irreverent or blasphemous, we have to wonder whether any of the many charges against the man are true. At this time there's considerable discussion about FBI reports on him ordered by President Kennedy and his brother Robert. Did he have Communist connections? Was he loyal to this country?

It is said that the FBI record was ordered to remain sealed for 50 years so that any revelations from it would be less damaging to his memory. If that is true, doesn't it seem absurd to give such honor to a person who is officially suspected by his country?

To be really fair to King and the entire nation, the procedure on this issue needs to be delayed for a calm consideration of his hectic career and especially a look at the hushed FBI report. Before the step is taken there ought to be a strong assurance that no regrets will follow.

Diocesan charity drive reaches climax Sunday

Members of Sacred Heart Parish were reminded last Sunday that the scheduled closing date locally for the Sharing in Ministry diocesan charities appeal is next Sunday, October 23.

The purpose of the campaign is to acquire funds for a diocesan pastoral center, Catholic charities, help to rural parishes, campus ministry centers and priests' retirement.

Some persons of the parish have been contacted or will have been contacted before Sunday. Those who were not contacted are asked to be available at home Sunday afternoon until visited by a solicitor.

Immunization clinic scheduled Oct. 26

The Texas Department of Health Region 5 Office in Arlington will hold an immunization clinic at the Sacred Heart Community Center, Wednesday, October 26, from 10 a.m. to noon. The clinic will provide immunization against Diphtheria - tetanus - pertussis (DTP), Polio, Rubeola (red measles) and Rubella (German measles), for infants 2 months through 18 years. Precautions must be taken with females in the 12-18 age group to insure that they are not pregnant when they are immunized with measles and/or rubella vaccines, and that they do not become pregnant for 3 months following immunization.

Immunizations are incomplete if a child has not received three doses of DTP and Polio vaccine with at least one dose administered past the fourth birthday. All children under 18 years must have an informed consent form read and signed by the parent or legal guardian. If possible, the parent should accompany the child to the clinic.

Immunization records should accompany the child to the clinic and be examined by the Public Health Nurse who will answer any questions. The following children would have immunizations deferred:

- (1) Those acutely ill and with fever;
- (2) Those taking antibiotic treatment for an acute illness; and

(3) Those who have completed antibiotic treatment for an acute illness, but have not been pronounced well by their physician.

The Department makes no charge for the immunizations. Since these diseases can be quite harmful, each parent or guardian is encouraged to protect their children from them. "Persons who have private physicians should consult with them for advice," stated Hal J. Dewlett, M.D., Director, Public Health Region 5.

Bluebonnets plan year's program

The annual planning meeting for the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers, listing a full year of programs and activities, was

Perryman Cemetery history available

Members of Perryman Cemetery, at their meeting last week learned that books on the cemetery's history have been printed and are available now for $5.00. Proceeds from the sale will be used to buy a historical marker which is expected to be shipped to the cemetery at the end of October.

Also, members were told by Ted Jackson, vice president, that plots have been measured and staked in the new part of the cemetery, Minnie Simmons added that an easy and permanent way to make a plot marker is to fill a one pound coffee can with cement and write the number in the cement while it is still wet.

The annual Perryman Cemetery meeting was held on October 10, in the Forestburg Community Center. Veda Brogdon is president of the group; Millie Reynolds is secretary/treasurer. Also attending were Mrs. Ted Jackson, Web Reynolds, Wanda Perryman, Marion Sockwell, Dorothy Penton and Jean Links.

held in September in the home of Mrs. David (Linda) Vogel.

At that time members agreed to change the meeting date to the second Monday of the month instead of the customary second Tuesday, to avoid conflict with too many activities scheduled on that date.

One of the projects of the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers Club is holding the 100-meter Bike Rally during Germanfest. Its growth in popularity and number of entries has enabled the Bluebonnets to increase their donations to deserving organizations in Cooke County.

During the September meeting the club made commitments to the Muenster Friends of the Library, the Cooke County Fair Association, and the Cooke County Friends of the Family. The latter, newly-organized and much-needed, "Friends of the Family" specializes in aid and support to victims of domestic violence and rape.

In the planning stage for two years, Friends of the Family was finally organized on June 20, 1983. It is supported by the League of Women Voters and affiliated with the Denton County Friends of the Family. At present, there is no shelter home in Cooke County for battered women and children, but plans are being made to open such a facility soon. An active support group is available in Cooke County with excellent referrals to shelters in Denton and Sherman. A Listening Staff is available at 665-CURE for anyone in need of help. More information about Cooke County Friends of the Family may be obtained at 665-2873. The organization is very much in need of volunteer workers and donations.

For the October meeting, Mrs. Leonard (Patti) Bayer will be hostess in her home and Mrs. Juanita Bright will present the program on "Beauty For All Seasons". The meeting will be on Monday, Oct. 10 at 7:30 p.m.

Cooke County Extension Agent Evelyn Yeatts will present the program on Monday, Nov. 7 at 7:30 p.m., speaking on "Looking Terrific." This meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Jerry (Monica) Hess.

Butch and Eileen Fisher will host a family Christmas party in their home on Monday, December 12 for Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers and their families.

On Monday, Jan. 9 at 7:30 p.m. Police Chief Helen Tompkins will conduct the program on family safety, gun safety and recognition of drugs. The meeting will be held in the TP&L meeting room with Mrs. Robert (Judy) McDaniel as hostess.

The Valentine Party for Bluebonnet Favorite Sweethearts, residents of St.

Richard's Villa will be hosted by Mrs. Robert (Michelle) Knauf on Feb. 14, with plans for refreshments, fun and games for everyone.

On Monday, March 12, Michelle Knauf and Mrs. Dale (Charlotte) Klement will conduct a program on "Stir-Fry Cooking." After attending a cooking class on "A Change From Ho-Hum Meat and Potatoes", they will share with other club members the recipes and instructions they received. Mrs. Lehnis (Anne) Perkins will be hostess.

Mrs. Billy Don (Sharon) Wolf will host the April meeting and a salad supper. Each member will bring a salad and the recipe. The recipe exchange is always looked forward to, eagerly. Election of officers will follow, with revelation of Secret Pals and completion of Germanfest plans.

Mrs. David (Linda) Vogel will host the meeting on May 14 when members will receive results of their Germanfest efforts. Also there will be a program on "New Banking Services."

No meetings are scheduled for June or August, but an Underground Shopping Spree is planned for June.

In July, a family picnic for Bluebonnets and their families will be hosted by Dave and Kathy Berres. Swimming, fun and food for the whole family will take place on Sunday, July 15 in the Muenster Park.

Planning meeting for '84-'85 yearbook will be held on Sept. 10, 1984, in the home of Mrs. Tommy (Rosemary) Dankesreiter. The Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers Club welcomes visitors or new members and is proud to tell of its activities.

Tenth grade plans CCD Liturgy

The 10th grade CCD class taught by Reese Parton planned and participated in the special liturgy of the Wednesday evening CCD Mass on Oct. 12, with "Vocation Week" as the theme.

Dana Dankesreiter gave the first reading; Francine Hudspeth gave the responsorial psalm; and Carla Fleitman read Prayers of the Faithful and she also narrated the Offertory procession. Valerie Vogel carried the Bible, explaining that the Bible tells of God and His call to all people; Dolle Pagel carried a priest's stole, symbol of his religious vocation; Darren Walter-scheid, Dickie Trubenbach and Scott Klement presented water, wine and the host at the altar.

Father Victor Gillespie was celebrant of the Mass, and servers were Weldon Hermes, Steven Fisher, Randy Fleitman, Keith Vogel and Charles Hermes.

On Wednesday, Oct. 5, the liturgy for the CCD

Mass was planned and prepared by the family of Mr. and Mrs. John Pagel.

Father Denis Soerries was celebrant.

Jean Pagel gave the first reading. Mike Pagel read the responsorial psalm. Dianne Pagel and Joe Pagel led prayers of the faithful and Offertory petitions. Dianne and Jo Ann Pagel carried Offertory gifts to the altar.

Song leader and organist were Eileen Fisher and Ruth Felderhoff.

The club advisor is Robert McDaniel, Spanish teacher.

Bake Sale

The senior class of Muenster High School is holding a bake sale on Saturday, Oct. 22, beginning at 10 a.m. at Fischer Meat Market.

Correction

In last week's honor roll list the name of Rodney Hess was omitted. Sorry, Rodney, an 11th grader, is on the B honor roll.

Students of the Young Children's Learning Center spent part of Thursday, October 13 on a field trip to the Muenster Police Station. Each child was fingerprinted and had his picture made. Police Chief Helen Tompkins very graciously assisted the children. Other areas of City Hall were also explored. Pictured here are Chief Tompkins and Matt Kinard, son of Larry and Marty Kinard.

Muenster 4-H hears Police Chief Tompkins

Fifty-one members attended the Oct. 11 meeting of the Muenster 4-H Club and heard Police Chief Helen Tompkins who presented a program on Law Enforcement. Six adult leaders also attended.

Valerie Vogel presided for the business meeting and Amy Vogel led the inspiration. Members set the meeting for the Record Book Workshop on Nov. 7 at 7 p.m. in the Cooke County Electric Co-op Building. They also planned the 4-H float for the Christmas parade.

Reports were given by Misty Vogel on the Bicycle Rodeo; Tammie Reiter on the Achievement Banquet; Amy Davidson on the County Council and Keith Vogel on Family Fun Night. Meeting adjourned at 5:30 p.m.

The next meeting in November will be on crafts. Dana Dankesreiter is reporter for 4-H.

Forestburg 4-H has wildlife program

Tom Barker presented a program on Wildlife to members of the Forestburg 4-H club for their regular meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 12. He presented a fascinating program, holding members' attention throughout. He carefully explained the most humane way to trap and release animals, teaching also not to kill for sport only.

Barker brought a display of many kinds of animal traps, ranging from mink to mice, and showed a most unusual mouse trap probably 100 years old. Members have invited him to give a program on snakes, hopefully in November, and are looking forward eagerly.

Forestburg enrollment in 4-H is now at its highest. The club now has 25 members.

They next discussed the approaching cooking school; the first lesson will be held on Oct. 19. Merle Hudspeth, Cleo Lanier and Myrt Denham will assist the cooking school.

Refreshments were served by Dee Williams, Page Sir-

HERE'S HOW TO FIGURE WHAT IT COST YOU.

When you look at your average cost per day for electricity and then think about all the things electricity does for you, it's easy to see that it's a real good value.

On your monthly electric bill, look at the date your meter was last read (Pres. KWH Read DATE) and then the date it was previously read (Prev KWH Read DATE). Count the number of days between the two dates. Divide that number into the amount shown under TOTAL CURRENT MO. BILL.

The result is your average cost per day for all the conveniences, comforts and pleasures that electricity makes possible in your home.

Electricity... a real good value and one of today's best energy values.

When cool, decorate cookies using icing or peanut butter to affix assorted candies, raisins or nuts. Yields approximately 32 large cookies.

Shawn Flusche 32, here strains for short yardage while a pair of Valley View Eagles hang on.

Eagles crush Hornets, 31-0

Muenster Hornets were the victims by a score of 31-0 as the Valley View Eagles lived up to their top rating and extended their 9-A record to 4-0.

The loss dropped Muenster's standing to 1-3 eliminating its last chance in the district race. Meanwhile Bells shares the top spot with Valley View and Lindsay threatens with a 3-1 standing.

Two factors had a big bearing on the contest. Primarily the Eagles have talent galore headed by Montgomery at quarterback who is accurate at passing and skilled at the options. With him are a strong line and speedy backs.

Actually, the Hornets did well in holding the score down to 31 points. That applies especially during the first half when they almost matched the Eagles in stats and held the scoring down to two touchdowns. But the Eagles clearly dominated the second half while scoring 17 more points.

Another big consideration is that Muenster was below par from the start and lost key men Wells and Fleeman in the action.

The first quarter was mostly a standoff with five points, a first down by Muenster and 2 by Valley View. Near the end of the period Ward stepped off 22 and Sappington scored from the 10 three plays later. Mike Alexander's PAT kick made it 7-0 with 5 seconds remaining in the quarter.

TD number 2 came in a hurry. Muenster had to kick in first series after kickoff, after which the Eagles were 76 yards away. Two short runs gained 7 and a pass, Montgomery to Alexander went all the way. Alexander's PAT kick upped the score to 14-0.

For the balance of the period each team stopped the other with a turnover. Hornets made a pair of first downs and the Eagles intercepted. Then Eagles got two first downs and lost a fumble recovered by Gary Grewing. After that Muenster again made two first downs and failed on the third series.

Starting the third quarter Muenster was penalized to its 15 on the kickoff and got off a short kick at the end of the first series. Valley View was only 35 yards away. A pass and three runs reached the 8 where Hornet defense braced. Next 3 plays, including a quarterback sack by Brian Klement, lost 6 yards, and Alexander booted a 31-yard field goal.

Following kickoff Hornets punted on first series and Klement recovered a fumble on the Eagles second series. Then came Muenster's best drive of the game and the best chance to get on the scoreboard. With 55 to go, Eldred fired three passes, to Shawn Flusche for 14, to Kevin Wolf for 10 and to Andy Burnette for 19 to the 12. But the temporary success ended abruptly with an interception by Sappington at the 2.

Two plays later Valley View responded with one of its biggest plays. Sappington broke through at the 5 and galloped 71 yards to the Hornet 24 before being overtaken by Kevin Wolf. Five more plays finished the job, Montgomery scoring from the 1.

The final score started with an interception at the Eagle 25. A pass gained 13, then Ward got a big gain of 42 before Eldred caught him at the 20. Five tries made the distance, Ward scoring from the 8 and Alexander kicking another bonus point.

Outstanding for MHS were Eldred with good passing and kick returns along with consistent rushing. Also Leslye Wells and Tim Fleeman before their second quarter exit with injuries, and Neal Flusche, Ronnie Trubebach, Andy Burnett, Brian Klement and Stephen Vogel.

JVs start slow, win 20-16

The contest started as a sad story for Muenster Juniors when they took on Valley View's kids here last week, but it turned out to be a happy ending of 20-16 favoring the home team.

With hardly a minute gone, the future Eagles recovered a fumble at mid-field and marched downfield to a score. Muenster responded with a short drive and fumbled again. And the Eagles re-did their act. Each TD was followed by a 2-point PAT. The visitors led 16-0 moments into the second quarter.

On first play of their next possession Muenster got off a big play, a pass, Kevin Anderle to Brian Hess, for 62 yards and a TD. A PAT run failed, leaving the score at 16-6.

Moments later Anderle recovered an Eagle fumble giving Muenster a start with 66 to go. Five plays gained 25 and Anderle lofted another touchdown pass to Brian Hess. Also Anderle ran for bonus points. Muenster trailed 16-14 at the half.

The winning score came early in the last period on an 8-yard run by McAden. The PAT run was short leaving the count at 20-16.

Muenster kids dominated the second half, holding their visitors to only one first down. Key performers were Anderle, Scott McAden, Billy Youngblood, Brian Hess and Stuart Hess.

Lindsay's next

The game of the year for Muenster Hornets and Lindsay Knights is coming up Friday when the two old time rivals will have their annual encounter on the MHS field at 7:30.

Advance data on the game indicates a big advantage for the Knights who have a district record of 3-1 whereas the Hornets have 1-3. Moreover Lindsay, with lots of returning talent from last year's district champs is well endowed with size, speed and experience.

Muenster, on the other hand, is a young team with limited experience and size, especially in the back field, but a nearly equal line.

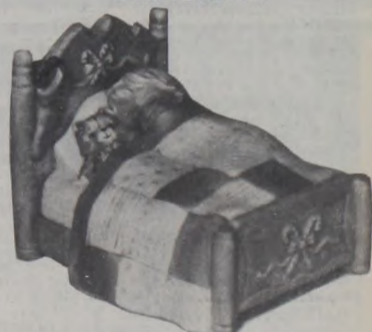

Regardless of the odds, Coach Leonard Peters concedes nothing to the favored Knights. He liked the Hornets' efforts last week even though they were definitely outclassed by the potent Eagles. They made occasional gains and at one time made a good drive but missed a score by a goal line interception. Also on defense they stopped the Eagles three times forcing two punts and a field goal.

Physically both teams are hurting, especially Muenster. Tim Fleeman, Leslye Wells and Keith Klement last week joined some half dozen casualties who have been out of action for most of the season. Most if not all remain doubtful this week. Freshmen Gary Grewing, Shawn Flusche and Druce Bynum are the likely back-field associates helping the durable Neal Flusche and Johnny Eldred.

Lindsay likewise has injuries, the doubtful list including John Dieter, Gary Dankesreiter and Doug Anderle.

SH nips Trinity Valley

By the narrow margin of 14-13 the Tigers of Sacred Heart nosed out the Trojans of Trinity Valley last Thursday on the SH field.

The important difference was the Sacred Heart scored 2 on its PAT whereas the visitors scored only one. It gave the lead on the scoreboard whereas the Tigers were second in the statistics.

Starting the game Bartush gave his team a good field position on the Trojan 46 by a 39-yard kick return. But the first series ended in a kick and the visitors were on their 27. That was the beginning of a long drive of 73 yards in 15 plays. Freshman Roy carried 10 times for 29 yards of the gains and scored from the 1 yard line. A PAT kick by Butner upped the count to 7-0.

Trojans had to punt on the second series. Neil Hesse fielded it in the 22 and got fine blocking in getting loose on a 78 yard romp to pay dirt. Then Sacred Heart moved into the lead 8-7 on a PAT pass from Neil Hesse to Mangum.

In the remaining 9:22 of the period both teams made gains but both were stopped.

Tigers picked up 31 to the Trojans 49 on Neil Hesse's pass to Duane Haverkamp and were intercepted 7 plays later at the 24. Visitors matched the big pass with one of 24 yards but the drive stalled on the SH 35. That was followed by three punts and then Neil Hesse's interception and 16-yard return to the visitors' 24. Four plays from there were enough, Neil Hesse going in from the 10. The kick for extra points failed. The Tigers led 14-7.

The visitors started their last scoring drive late in the third period with 75 yards to go. They went the distance in 15 plays, the big gains being a pass for 19 and runs for 11, 10 and 9. The payoff was a pass, Gallagher to Matt for 6 yards.

At that point the visitors faced a win or lose situation in the 14-13 score. A PAT kick could tie it, a 2 pointer could win. They went for a pass and failed to connect, and remained at the short end of 14-13.

Standouts for Sacred Heart were Kyle Walterscheid, Bret Walterscheid, Neil Hesse and Nick Hess. Hesse was the leader in offense with 65 yards rushing, a 78-yard punt return, two touchdowns and 4 pass completions for 45 yards.

Oilers edge Carter Cable

The JC Oilers, third and fourth graders in the Cooke County Boys Club league were 8-0 winners over Carter Cable Monday night.

Doug Hennigan scored the TD for the Muenster kids and Mike Vogel followed over for the 2 point addition.

Others doing well in the tussle were Mike Gobble, Ryan Sicking, Sam Walterscheid, Rex Huchton, Bill Parks, Kelly Bell, Tony Perryman, Gary Switzer, Helmuth Koelzer, Gary Hess, Jason Biffle and Scott Wilde.

Three Trinity Valley defenders fail to break up the pass received and tucked away by Duane Haverkamp of the Tigers. Sacred Heart was the winner by a point.

Southland dumps Oilers

Muenster's KC Oilers of the Cooke County pee wee league were 32-8 losers to Southland Paint at Gainesville last Thursday.

The home team scored twice in the opening period, the first touchdown being on a 6-yard run and the second and 11-yard run. Both PAT runs for extra points were good for a 16-0 first quarter lead.

The second period was nearly scoreless, the only counter being a safety for 2 points when Donnie Boyd-stun was caught in the end zone.

Third period added a TD from the 1 following a long drive. The run for bonus points failed.

Again in the fourth period Southland crashed over from the 2 and added the extra points.

Finally the Oilers got on the board with a 4-yard pass Jerry Brawner to Scott Hudspeth and added 2 more points with another Brawner to Hudspeth pass.

Standouts for the Oilers were Brawner, Hudspeth, Troy Pagel, Boydstun, Bill Covington, Jeff Hellman, Michael Abney, Terry Felderhoff and Brad McDaniel.

Coaches confident for next test against Cistercian

At the peak of their season last week the Tigers were tough both offensively and defensively against the big Trojans of Trinity Valley. After matching their visitors in touchdowns they claimed the big end of a 14-13 score leading 2-1 in the PAT department.

The performance was encouraging to Coach Virgil Henschel, who said the boys are improving every week. He's confident for another big test this week when the Tigers take on Cistercian of Irving. At the same time he has lots of respect for the Metroplex boys who are said to look better on paper.

Latest report here on their record was 3-3 before last week including a more decisive win over Trinity Valley and a 20-14 win over Tyler Gorman. The Tigers are 3-4.

Size will be about equal except the Hawks have a 250 and a 200 pounder. Also Cistercian has the edge in speed plus a hot place kicker with distances of 51 and 47 to his credit.

Tiger hopes are riding mostly on alert and scrappy play and a good physical report. Duane Haverkamp is doubtful but all others are ready.

The game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. and will be preceded by a junior game at 5:30.

The following route is suggested for the convenience of Tiger fans attending the game. From I-35 exit on Loop 12; follow it 1 mile south to Grapevine exit (No. 114); follow the access road of 114 three fourths mile to Cistercian (stop sign after first 1/4 mile can serve as a road mark); exit right on Cistercian and follow it to the school.

Cubs defeat Trojan juniors

Sacred Heart's Tiger Cubs improved their season record to 4-2 last week in an 24-8 win over the youngsters of Trinity Valley. The game was played here preceding the varsity encounter of the two schools.

The SH boys started early following the visitors' punt on first series. From their 49-yard line Greg Bell ripped off 22 yards on the first play and ended the quickie drive four plays later by breaking through the line for a 20-yard touchdown. A run for bonus points failed.

The next score likewise came in a hurry and in the first quarter. The young Trojans had to punt on their second series following the kickoff and the Cubs were 72 yards from the goal. A penalty gave 15 yards for free and on the following play Bell took a pass from Scott Taylor and raced 57 yards to pay dirt.

The remainder of the half was a standoff and the second half opened with SH moving again. But the drive stalled on fourth series. Then the visitors stalled on second series and the Cubs lost possession by interception in their second series. Then the Cowtown kids failed on first series losing possession 38 yards away. At that point Bell got good blocks in getting loose and sailed all the way to the goal. Again the PAT effort failed. The Cubs led 18-0.

Finally, the visitors got along better as the end approached. A drive after SH kickoff started at the Trojan 36 and went all the way in fourteen plays. A pass for 18 yards produced the score and another pass upped the score to 18-8.

The Cubs sweetened their lead to 24-8 as the last minute ticked away. Mike Walter recovered a fumble and Bell scored again three plays later.

Key performers of the Cubs were Keith Koelzer, Deano Bayer, Darrell Knabe, Mike Walter, Darrell Dangelmayr, Scott Taylor, Greg Bell and Ryan Bayer.

Golf tournament delayed by rain

Last week's bountiful and very welcome rain came just in time to conflict with the SH Alumni's golf tournament on October 9. So the date is changed to Sunday, October 23.

However other plans are unchanged. It's an 18 hole 2 member scramble to be played at Gainesville Municipal course with a shotgun start at 8:30.

Teams may be men, women or mixed and the entry fee is $36.00 per team including green fees. A cart can be reserved by adding $10.50 to the fee.

The tourney is divided into five equal flights of 12 teams each and its list of prizes is valued at almost $2,000. Prizes for the first four places in each flight are listed as follows. First, 20 balls, second, 16 balls, third, 12 balls, fourth, 8 balls. Besides, merchandise prizes and balls will be given for longest and most accurate drives and nearest the pin approach.

Other attractions are three free balls and a packet of tees when checking in, a mulligan sale with raffle, free beverages during and after the round, and sandwiches available.

Knights sail by Era, 28-0

Lindsay Knights celebrated their homecoming Friday night by romping to an easy 28-0 victory over Era's Hornets. The win gives them a 3-1 standing in the west zone race of District 9-A, a tie with Prosper and second to Valley View and Bells who share the lead with 4-0.

The Knights started their win on first possession of the pigskin. Their drive went 70 yards ending with Dieter's sprint of 25 yards around the right side to the end zone. Other key gains along the way were a 13-yard pass Corcoran to Kenneth Fuhrmann, and Fuhrmann's third down conversion in a third and eight situation. The PAT kick failed, leaving the score at 6-0.

The second Lindsay drive was delayed only moments while the Hornets were stopped on first series. Era punted at its 45 and Lindsay returned the kick to mid-field. Short gains advanced to the Era 35 where Steve Corcoran passed to Jeff Parsons for a touchdown. Dieter's kick added a point extending the Knights lead to 13-0 with 4:24 remaining in the first quarter.

The second quarter went scoreless as both teams got tough on defense. However a convenient break came to Era's aid when a Lindsay drive was stopped by a fumble.

As the second half opened Era had first possession and had to punt when the drive stalled. A good kick set the Knights back to the Lindsay 19 facing 81 yards to the end zone. Three tries advanced 25 and a big third down effort by Fuhrmann kept the drive alive at the 38. From there the Knights ground out the remaining distance, Fuhrmann crashing in from the 5. Corcoran's pass to Leroy Hermes added 2. The score was 21-0.

For a while both teams had fumble troubles until early in the fourth period when Era punted from deep in its end of the field and Lindsay was in business 47 yards away. A holding penalty spoiled a long run by Corcoran and the next play lost 5 yards. Then, with 62 yards to go, Corcoran connected with Michael Hermes on a sensational touchdown pass. Pat Bezner kicked an extra point increasing the score to 28-0.

In spite of the comfortable margin Lindsay had its problems. It wasted a golden opportunity in the third quarter by fumbling on the 11-yard line, and it lost Dieter's service in the second half with a rib injury. Also Dankesreiter and Anderle were out from the start.

Fuhrmann was the leading rusher with 111 yards in 19 carries and John Dieter gained 40 before his injury. Corcoran passes gained 143 yards on seven completions and Hermes received two of them for 77 yards.

On defense the standouts were Corcoran, Jeff Wimmer, Kurt Hermes, Kenneth Fuhrmann, Kenny Thurman, Michael Hermes and Leroy Hermes. They held the Era passing game to zero.

Era's standouts were Mark Knabe with 70 yards on 12 carries and Jack Robeson with 48 yards on 16 carries, also Pepe Renteria with 8 tackles and 2 fumble recoveries, Clint Brown with 9 tackles and Robeson with 8 tackles.

PIK means income... and taxes!

Let Edward D. Jones & Co. show you the right tax-free investments to protect your PIK dollars.

This year, the federal government has taken some of the guesswork out of farming with its Payment-in-Kind program. They've guaranteed a certain amount of commodity you'll have available to sell. Sounds good, doesn't it? But here's something else they've guaranteed - you'll still have to pay taxes on that PIK income.

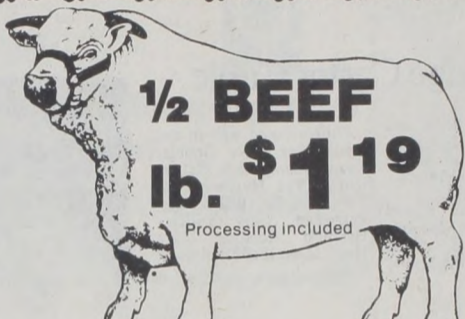

So this year, while your production costs are down and while you've got some guaranteed income, let Edward D. Jones & Co. show you how to keep those PIK dollars in your pocket with careful, conservative, tax-free and tax-advantaged investments.

County Agent's Report

Weeds create problems in lawns just as they do in our pastures. Right now is a poor time to consider control. Lawns are showing a surge of growth of winter annual grasses (ryegrass, cheat, etc.) and this should continue with moisture throughout the winter making them difficult to control. Another problem with winter annuals in lawns is the competition they present to your established lawn sod.

A good method of control for this problem is to completely kill the winter weeds and grass in February with Glyphosate (Roundup or Kleenup), when your lawn is dormant. Then a broadleaf weed killer or pre-emergence herbicide can be applied to control summer annuals, when they appear.

Always be cautious in the use of pre-emergence herbicides. We see more damage to trees and shrubs than most other problems.

Your trees and ornamentals can take up the herbicides just as weeds do.

Fall is a good time to establish tall fescue in shaded areas of your lawn. Kentucky 31 is an old standby and does very well in our area. However, there are some newer varieties. The new varieties are finer bladed and make a medium textured lawn that should remain green approximately ten months of the year.

The only really bad period for fescue is when the temperatures reach past 100 degrees F. They tend to go dormant in the hot months of July and August.

Well, back to those new varieties. Ask for Olympic, Rebel, Falcon, or Clemfire. Most of these varieties are from selections taken from the East coast and the Southern part of the U.S. Olympic fescue is the grass growing under the trees on the Courthouse lawn.

If you want to seed this fall, then use 8 to 10 pounds of seed per 1,000 square feet. One last thing, if you can't find one of the newer varieties, then go ahead with the K-31. It's been around for 40 years or so and has proven itself a good turf grass.

New process allows consumers control of lean-to-fat meat ratio

COLLEGE STATION—The day is coming when Americans—notorious for their love of tender steaks—can order up a custom-made tenderloin made from a combination of meats such as ribeye, sirloin and even pork roast.

The process, called "co-extrusion," combines lean meat from one hopper with fat from another and allows processors to mix whatever amounts or kinds of meat the consumer wants, said Dr. Gary Smith, head of the Department of Animal Science in Texas A&M University's College of Agriculture where the technique is being developed.

Most of the restructured meats sold at grocery stores are steaks with a superior mixture of muscle and fat to that produced by Mother Nature, said Smith. The steaks are sold at frozen food counters.

Area farmers and ranchers hear instruction and inspect equipment used in the practice of conservation tillage at an SCS-sponsored event last Wednesday.

Tillage 'stretches' rainfall

Doing a better job of conserving rainfall may help farmers cope with dry conditions such as those that have plagued Texas and other states this year.

One way to "stretch" rainfall is through conservation tillage, says Dr. Ed Colburn, agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Conservation tillage systems often produce higher yields per inch of available water," says Colburn, "thus making the best use of this valuable resource."

Conservation tillage generally refers to tillage operations that reduce water evaporation losses and increase water infiltration into the soil.

"Conservation tillage helps improve soil moisture conditions by increasing water infiltration and slowing evaporation," says Colburn. "Heavy crop residues help reduce runoff and erosion. Chiseling or subsoiling deepens the root zone and leaves the soil surface in a rough state to store more water."

A deeper root zone generally increases the soil water storage as a result of deep chiseling and improved soil organic matter levels, says the agronomist. This may give an extra inch or two of stored moisture that can help carry the crop through low rainfall periods.

"Although conservation tillage practices won't give overnight results, they can improve soil conditions and can start paying dividends in several years," says Colburn.

energy answers

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

In reading about natural gas, I frequently come across the terms, reserves, and resources to describe our estimated supply of natural gas. Are reserves and resources the same thing, or does each have its own meaning? If so, what is the difference? R. W., Houston.

"energy-saver" models is that the energy-saver models are better insulated. Insulation is measured in "R" values, a numerical value which indicates the insulation's resistance to heat transfer. R-values of new water-heater tanks generally range from a low of 4.6 to a high of 20.

Geologists classify the natural gas which has not yet been recovered into two broad categories, known as reserves and resources. Reserves are deposits identified beyond a reasonable doubt, which can be economically recovered using today's technology and prices.

As you point out, the difference in cost between the standard and the energy-saver model is sometimes relatively large. You may find it more economical and equally effective to buy the standard tank and insulate it to the "energy-saver" level of R11 or better yourself.

Resources, on the other hand, is a broader term describing reserves plus best estimates of likely undiscovered deposits with cannot be recovered economically with today's technology and prices.

To do this, simply wrap the tank with about three inches of fiber glass blanket or two commercially available "water heater insulation kits." These kits have insulation blankets one and a half inches thick and are readily available in most hardware and builders supply stores. The total cost for these two blankets should not exceed $40.

Recent U.S. Geological Survey predictions show United States natural gas reserves totaling about 450 trillion cubic feet and resources between 780 and 1100 trillion cubic feet.

For more information on efficient water heating, ask for "Reduce Hot Water Usage to Save Energy," a factsheet available free from the Texas Energy Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

At the current rate of consumption (20 trillion cubic feet per year), reserves should last about 20 to 25 years.

For more information on natural gas, ask for the free "Natural Gas Resources" factsheet available from the Center for Energy and Mineral Resources at Texas A&M University.

Do you have questions on energy resources, technology, or conservation? Send them to ENERGY ANSWERS, Texas Energy Extension Service, Center for Energy and Mineral Resources, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-1243 or phone (409) 845-8025. I'm going to have to replace my water heater very shortly and am trying to decide whether to buy the "standard" or the "energy-saver" model that costs quite a lot more. Can you tell me about the differences between these two types of water heaters? T. O. Laredo.

The primary difference between the "standard" and the

New glaucoma drug eliminates side effects

COLLEGE STATION — Medical researchers at Texas A&M University have successfully used a mirror image of a popular glaucoma drug to develop a new treatment that apparently eliminates dangerous side effects. The new drug is D-timolol. Its structure is an exact mirror image of L-timolol, an agent first marketed under the trade name Timoptic.

Glaucoma is caused by a buildup of pressure in the chambers of the eye and primarily affects persons over age 40. People can develop the ailment as young as age 20, said Dr. George C. Y. Chiou, head of medical pharmacology. Untreated, the pressure deadens the optic nerve end and causes blindness.

Timolol inhibits formation of aqueous humor, a transparent liquid contained in the chambers of the eye, and reduces intraocular pressure, said Chiou. But large scale clinical studies have revealed that L-timolol eye drops can cause cardiovascular disturbances in patients with a history of asthma or bronchitis.

According to the researchers, D-timolol does not appear to cause such side effects. It has the beneficial agents of its cousin, but not the problems.

Lilliston 9680 NO-TILL GRAIN DRILL

For Heavy Stubble and Hard Soils

The new Lilliston 9680 No-Till Grain Drill will operate in maximum severe conditions, where uniform penetration of heavy stubble and hard soils is required. Unlike some of the so-called "no-till" drills available today, which are actually conventional drills with front coulters added, the Lilliston is designed, from the ground up, for one purpose: No-till seeding.

Some Special Features

- Maximum empty weight of 7,160 lbs. transfers 390 lbs. of down pressure to each of the 18 openers on 7 inch spacings.
- Heavy duty 14 inch cutting coulters and double disc openers, spring-loaded scrapers and center rib gauge wheels.
- Three hydraulic cylinders regulate pressure on openers for precision depth control.
- Patented double-chambered feed cups which maintain even seed flow to the feed wheels.
- Cluster gear boxes for easy selection of 27 application speeds of seed and fertilizer.

LEARNING ABOUT "NO!"

"No, no!" is an automatic response to babies who grab at glasses or poke curious fingers in your eye.

A firm but living "No, no!" can also be a tool to teach toddlers to control their own activities and to respect the rights and possessions of others, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

Toddlers can be taught that "No!" means "Stop what you are doing—NOW!" When they learn this, "No, no!" provides a way of controlling their activity when they are out of immediate reach. Their response will give you time to get to them when they are headed for trouble.

If "No, no!" is to be effective and useful, parents must be selective in the use of it. The anxious parent who says "No, no!" to everything only confuses a child.

Nor is it enough just to say "No, no!" Parents must follow through at first by actually stopping the child by removing him from the hazard—or by removing the endangered object from him. Follow-through every time is important until a toddler responds consistently.

Don't expect miracles! It is not enough just to teach a toddler that "No, no!" means "Stop!" That is important to his safety and is necessary for that reason. But it is only a negative approach, because toddlers are always doing something. If you stop them from doing one thing you must provide them with an acceptable substitute activity.

Very young children, especially toddlers, have so very much to learn. They must learn the names of objects, what the objects do, how they are used. They must learn what objects may be touched safely and which ones can be handled, thrown, pulled, pushed, squeezed, sat on or jumped on. Young children must learn all this and much more.

Parents can help children learn by naming objects, by using them properly and by talking about actions and activities. And they must help children learn to control their own actions. A good start is to use "No, no!" firmly, consistently, and wisely.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information and a free sample newsletter, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.
