Chamber hears talk on growth planning

In line with the theory that what's good for Gainesville is good for Muenster, John Fisher, Chamber of Commerce president, had Carl Smith, manager of the Gainesville chamber, as a guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting telling how that organization operates. His subject was how to attract business to a small town.

He said the first essential is to decide what is wanted and then prepare the data on related needs. For instance, industry is high on most want lists and communities can profit by preparing answers for expected question. That includes basics like available labor, utilities, streets, taxes, water, sewage, etc. relative to plant operation and family living.

He also suggested tourism as a popular interest, adding that Muenster with its German heritage has a head start in public appeal. Smith said that the first step toward success in improvement programs is to assemble interested and dedicated persons to select a goal and prepare data on what is needed. Another step is to make an issue of community faults and work at removing them so that more appealing conditions can be offered.

Also discussed at the meeting were the related topics of dues, elections and the annual banquet. A letter has informed members that the banquet is Friday, Jan. 17, at the community center, also that dues are $15 for individuals and $30 for business. With payment individuals receive one banquet ticket and businesses two tickets.

The letter to members included a list of six nominees for the chamber board of directors. It serves as a ballot on which members vote for four and return to the chamber office. The candidates are Gina Walterscheid, Ben Bindel, Monica Hess, Dale Felderhoff, Gary Endres, and Wayne Klement.

Remaining directors on the chamber board are John Fisher, John Pagel, Wanda Flusche and Gary Christian.

Another list on the letter names five nominees for the Industrial Board. That position likewise is intended as a ballot on which members vote for three. The candidates are Charles Bayer, Ronnie Flederhoff, Joseph Fenton, Don Flusche and Jerry Wimmer. Remaining directors on the Industrial Board are Jerry Fleitman, Chuck Bartush, Jr., Doris Hamer and Gary Fisher.

Headliner at the banquet will be James Thomas, supervisor of consumer affairs at TP & L, as the guest speaker. Also on the program are a happy hour at 6:30, dinner at 7:30, review of the organization's past year, and installation of directors.

Texans of Congressional District 17 are among the elite of the nation in that they have super representation in Charles Stenholm and Phil Gramm. That opinion is supported by their leadership in behalf of the deficit reduction legislation now under consideration in Washington.

Normally this column would be proud to comment with cheers, but prefers in this case to be more complete and more specific.

A news release just received from Stenholm's office serves that purpose very well. It reads as follows.

Congressman Charles Stenholm praised the House version of a deficit-reduction bill at a Thursday morning breakfast of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking to more than 200 of the country's business leaders, Stenholm said the bill is essential to a sound financial future for America. He said the Senate's Gramm-Rudman legislation is the closest Congress has come to dealing with the realities of the 2 trillion-dollar national debt.

"I commend my fellow Texan Phil Gramm for forcing Congress to do something that the majority of my colleagues did not want to do," the Stamford native said. "His version was not perfect, but it was the impetus for the measure in the House, which is better."

"The House Democratic revision of Gramm-Rudman is now the key to real deficit reduction," he told the crowd. "It trims more and does it quicker. We cannot put deficit-reduction off. We have to make those crucial decisions today and let the people see where we really stand. It's time to bite the bullets."

The Senate bill requires phasing in a balanced federal budget by 1991, but would not require major spending cuts until after the November, 1986 elections for 34 senators. The House bill cuts spending immediately and balances the budget by 1990. In both, a balanced budget is enforced by making automatic, across-the-board spending cuts in most programs if the President and Congress fail to write annual budgets that meet the phase-in targets.

The largest controversy has been which, if any, programs would be exempt from the automatic cuts. The Senate version exempts from cuts $250 billion in entitlement programs, none of which are targeted for the poor or disabled, totalling one-fourth of the entire budget. The House added $10 billion more in exemptions, which includes protection for Disabled Veterans benefits and programs for the poor.

"I do not agree with those who say that adding the House exemptions will gut the bill," the Congressman said. "My question to them is how can you oppose the House bill because it exempts $10 billion, when you took out $250 billion? How in the world can they honestly tell their constituents that that the deficit is a grave threat and at the same time say we can't cut that much that fast?"

Stenholm also told the Chamber that he supported Texas Congressman Marvin Leath's proposal last April, which asked for the reductions now being considered in Washington. That bill would have required cuts across the board.

"Gramm-Rudman shows the direction we need to go in order to control spending, but it is not the best vehicle. The only fair and equitable legislation, the one that would help our country the most, will allow us to have deficit-reduction across the board. I have heard from senior citizens in my district and they tell me, they don't want their benefits cut if we keep heaping money on defense at

School board rejects CCTAD budget, again

Members of the Muenster school board in regular session Monday night rejected for a third time the budget of $467,305 which had been proposed for a 1 year operation of the Cooke County Tax Appraisal District. The figure was 17 percent higher than last year's budget, which is currently in effect.

Also relative to the tax appraisal district, the Muenster ISD trustees supported Glen Hellman of Lindsay in the election of members on the district board.

The ballot listed seven nominees from which five were to be elected to succeed persons leaving the board. The seven nominees were Bill Williams, Don Hawkins, Hal Dick, Lloyd Marshall, Virgil Welch, Jim Kupper and Glenn Hellman, all incumbents. Al Felderhoff and Chester Calhoun declined to seek re-election.

The meeting also reviewed a Performance Report proposed by Superintendent Coffey in accordance with requirements of House Bill 72 enacted by the state legislature in 1984. The format and much of its contents followed directives issued to Texas schools by the Texas Education Agency. The report is one of several methods of a school district to be accountable to taxpayers, the media and any other concerned people. It presents a review of student performance and program offerings at the several levels of instruction. Also, it specifies qualifications of staff members and a summary of the school's facilities, financial condition, and comment on impact of 1984 legislation on the local school program.

Another report by the superintendent concerned a committee to develop a discipline management program. The study group will include 3 administrators, 3 teachers, 3 12th grade students, and 3 parents. The plan will be studied by the legal staff of the Texas Association of School Boards.

In an unrelated matter the superintendent told board members that facilities are improved for public voting at the school. Booths will replace the tables.

Also he reported that average daily attendance at Muenster Public School now is 388.

Preceding the meeting coaches gave the board a short explanation on the purpose of weight lifting in an athletic program. Principal benefits are improving strength, speed and coordination.

Dr. Luther Joyner named CCC head

Cooke County College has its new president. He is Dr. Luther (Bud) Joyner, presently vice-president for academic affairs at South Plains College in Levelland.

He was appointed Monday night by CCC trustees ending a search that attracted more than 100 applicants over a period of almost six months. He will begin his work on January 1.

Joyner is 48 years old and has been in college education since 1969 where he taught at West Texas State University while working on a master degree. He advanced to the position of associate registrar at WTSU before going to Vernon Regional Junior College as dean of student services, registrar and acting dean of instruction. He remained at Vernon six years, leaving in 1978 to help open the South Plains College branch campus in Lubbock.

In 1981 he transferred to the main campus at Levelland as dean of arts and sciences and became vice-president of academic affairs a year later. In that position he had responsibility for all instruction, administering a $6 million budget, and supervising 150 faculty and staff members.

During that time he earned a doctorate in administration at Nova University, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

3 area students on honor roll at Subiaco Academy

Three area students, attending Subiaco Academy, have been named to the Academy's first quarter Honor Roll, according to Father Benno Schluterman, O.S.B., headmaster. They were among the 88 students recognized for their outstanding academic achievement and school citizenship in an honors assembly held at Subiaco on October 30.

The area students receiving this recognition were Chad Fleitman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fleitman of Muenster, Jason Gehrig, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gehrig, also of Muenster, and Greg Zimmerer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Zimmerer of Gainesville.

Eligibility for the Honor Roll is determined by the student earning at least a "B" in all subjects and being considered a responsible member of the student community by the school administration.

FB members number 318,050

Membership in the Texas Farm Bureau has reached an all-time high of 318,050 member families, according to Warren Newberry, executive director.

Newberry said tabulations just completed for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 showed that the Texas organization gained 475 members over last year, marking the 33rd consecutive year to show a gain.

Don Neuman, director of field services for the TFB, said a total of 158 county Farm Bureaus showed an increase in members. There are 217 organized county FBs in the state.

The Texas Farm Bureau has been the largest state Farm Bureau in the nation for the past three years. The American Farm Bureau Federation has a membership of 3.3 million in 48 states (all except Alaska and Alabama).

More Fall Weather

With lows in the forties and highs in the seventies, the past week has been typically Autumn. At the same time it has been bone dry with a moisture measure of only .01, which ups the November reading to only .03, and the year's total to 32.14. That figure is near normal, and chances are fair for a normal total of 36 at the end of the year.

Low and high readings of the week are recorded as follows by Steve Moster.

Simple truth about the Fed

Nearly twenty years ago our good friend, Dr. Hans Sehnholz, one of America's foremost free market economists, wrote these significant words:

"...The simple truth is that without the Federal Reserve System there can be no continuing march towards socialism, and with it there can be no free economy. That is why the adherents of liberty and capitalism cannot rest until the Federal Reserve System has been abolished.

"Precisely 110 years ago Karl Marx enumerated in his Communist Manifesto ten prerequisites for a successful revolution and the conversion of any nation into a socialist state. Point 5 reads: 'Centralization of credit in the hands of the State, by means of a national bank with State capital and an exclusive monopoly.' Since the abolition of the gold standard in 1933 this point has been realized in America, for all essential purposes. The Federal Reserve System constitutes its realization."

Now, these are not the words of some radical. This is the reasoned conclusion of the chairman of the economics department at Grove City College in Pennsylvania, the holder of two earned doctorates and the foremost student of the late Ludwig von Mises.

Economic writers like Sehnholz have been pointing out the dangers of the Fed for many years. Finally, an organization has been formed to work for abolishing the Federal Reserve.

The Federal Reserve, although privately owned by its bank stockholders, is a creature of the Congress. Congress established it by law in 1913, and congress can disestablish it by law at any time. It is crucial that we get rid of the Fed, otherwise, we will never halt the move toward socialism, nor will we ever be able to solve our major economic problems.

Just as it took President Andrew Jackson years to get rid of the Bank of the United States, it will take years to get rid of the Fed. But the effort must be started now and the Committee To Abolish the Fed has been formed to make that start.

The Committee's first efforts will be directed toward bringing about audits of the Fed. It is astounding but true that the Fed has never been audited by the federal government, in spite of the fact that it is the nation's central bank.

The Committee is seeking legislation which would provide for a complete and thorough audit of the Federal Reserve and member banks by the General Accounting Office, the "watchdog" agency for the Congress.

Said Ron Paul of the Committee in a recent letter: "We will also seek legislation to open up the secret Federal Open Market Committee where interest rates are set. The people and the press must be allowed to attend these meetings. If we can accomplish only this, you'll see much less 'funny money' being printed."

The Committee believes that as a result of its programs to educate the public about the Federal Reserve, massive pressures will be built up which the Congress will be unable to ignore. The ultimate goal is to place the money and banking system directly under control of market forces instead of money managers.

The job of Ambassador

Here's what Philip Geyelin of The Washington Post wrote recently about President Reagan's first ambassador to France, Evan Galbraith:

"Galbraith took it upon himself to instruct the French about the workings of their internal politics (the Communist Party has no place). He publicly declared that 'there is something about' the U.S. Foreign Service 'that takes the guts out of (career) people.' He propounded the proposition that the State Department is 'too big a place to rely on the secretary and the deputy secretary to enforce the political policy.' American ambassadors, he argued out loud, should be the ideological mirror image of the president."

Obviously, Geyelin was praising Galbraith for the ambassador's courage, his willingness to speak out against the evil of communism, his steadfast opposition to the mindless orthodoxy that plagues the Foreign Service, and his commitment to the philosophy of the President who carried 49 states in last year's election. Right?

Wrong. Geyelin sought not to praise Galbraith but to bury him to ridicule. "It was hard to figure what France had done to deserve Evan Galbraith," Geyelin wrote. He said the U.S. should, in effect, apologize for sending Galbraith to Paris.

From the viewpoint of the nation's ruling establishment, an ambassador is supposed to be sophisticated. He is supposed to come from a certain cultural background, with education at the "right" schools. He must have a certain outlook on the world's problems; he must accept the idea that the United States, in its blind opposition to communism, is causing a lot of suffering in the world.

He must be the kind of person who (a) spends his career in the U.S. Foreign Service, the civil service system and union for foreign affairs professionals, or (b) makes big bucks doing business with Third World and communist countries. And he must be willing to join organizations like the Council on Foreign Relations and the Trilateral Commission; to the establishment, mere membership in those Rockefeller-financed exclusive clubs is considered proper qualification for an ambassadorship or another top job at the State Department.

(I do not suggest, as the conspiracy theorists do, that the CFR and the Trilateralists are trying to take over the world. Those organizations, like the whites-only men's clubs of a generation ago, are symptom of the problem, not a cause. The problem is elitism, the idea that some people are simply better than others by virtue of their ancestry or cultural background.)

Of course, ambassadors are supposed to represent precisely the views of the President, not the views of the international business community or the State Department bureaucracy. An ambassador is supposed to act, in a given situation, exactly as the President would if he had the time to concentrate on relations with a single nation. Indeed, an ambassador should be a philosophical clone of the President. He (or she) should be an advocate for the policies and programs of his own country, not an agent of the foreign government to which he serves as envoy. He should keep in mind that his "clients" are the President and people of the United States, not the leaders of the country he is assigned to.

Evan Galbraith is no bumpkin. A graduate of Yale and Harvard, he is a lawyer and former assistant secretary of commerce who also served as vice president of Morgan Guaranty Trust Company and, for five years, as head of the bank's Paris operation. Nevertheless, he is a Reaganite. It was no surprise that he would be the President's man in Paris, and no surprise that he would serve with distinction and become a target of the liberals. The surprise was that, during the Reagan Presidency, we have had only a few Evan Galbraiths, and most of our ambassadors have come from the Foreign Service bureaucracy, where they laugh their heads off at the "rightwing" notions of That Man in the White House.

record levels. But they always say, 'If everybody else is tightening their belts, then I'll do my share. That's only fair.' This is what must be done," the four-term Democrat said.

Stenholm added, "We can reduce the budget by cutting out the waste and unnecessary benefits for people who don't need government help. We can and must continue to help the poorest of the poor. This is not just farmer's optimism. This is a goal that we must reach for the sake of the nation's children and grandchildren, who will bear the costs of this monstrous deficit unless we do something now."

New Folder shows 6 flags of Texas

Just in time for Texas' forthcoming Sesquicentennial year, when Texans will be looking back on their colorful heritage, the folks at the travel division of the state highway department have come up with a new folder capturing the very meat of the state's epic heritage.

Titled "The Flags of Texas," the folder pictures in high-quality detail the famous six flags of Texas history, and for good measure includes bits about the state seal, bird, tree, flower, grass, gem stone, and dish. (The official Texas state dish is -- what else -- chili.)

"Speaking of birds," said Tom Taylor, director of the highway department's Travel and Information Division, "this little folder may well get two or three with the same proverbial toss. It's not only timely for next year's Sesquicentennial, but it'll answer a lot of questions we get from millions of travelers at our Texas Tourist Bureaus."

Taylor explained that most of the state's 12 tourist bureaus began flying all six of the historical flags in recent years. Among non-Texans, they generate perpetual questions about what they are and which is which.

"We Texans took it for granted that everyone would recognize the flags of Spain, France, Mexico, and so forth," said Taylor, "But after thousands of questions, it's apparent that folks from Ohio or Illinois have no idea, but they do want to know."

Acknowledging that the folder was produced primarily for out-of-state visitors who come by the millions each year, Taylor added, "This little folder also may become a 'must' for youngsters studying Texas history. But that's all right, we printed enough to supply our tourist bureaus and lots of mail requests, too."

Individual copies of the new folder are available free by mail from the Flags of Texas, P.O. Box 5064, Austin 78763-5064.

Knights beat Tigers

Sacred Heart's Tigers came out at the short end by a score of 16-9 in their TCIL opener with Wichita Falls Notre Dame on the Tiger field Friday night.

Though disappointing, the result still leaves Sacred Heart with a dim view of the district title, but the going will be all uphill.

In the race to date Tyler Gorman leads 1-0 after beating ND, and ND is next with 1-1 after beating SH. And SH has a chance to make it 1-1 for each team by winning its game with Gorman Friday. If that happens it will be a brand new race for the honor.

With the visitors leading in rushing, and the hosts in passing and total yards. Also the Tigers led in first downs. But, unfortunately SH also had more turnovers.

To begin, the Knights took charge and drove from their 20 to the SH 26 before stalling and trying for a field goal.

It failed and the Tigers started the other way but had to punt as the first series was stopped.

So ND made another start from its 25 and went to the SH 23 where a penalty combined with Tiger defense to halt the progress. This time Hernandez salvaged 3 points from the drive with a field goal.

After kickoff the Tigers responded with a pair of first downs but fumbled on the third series, and Findley recovered it for the visitors on the ND 40. There Hernandez broke loose on a 25 yard romp and officials added 15 as a penalty. That was on the 20, and Rudowski made the distance on an end run. Hernandez kicked an extra point. The Knights led 10-0.

For the balance of the half the Tigers fumbled on their second series; Knights kicked on their first series; and Tigers fumbled again on third series. Again Knights punted on third series and SH was in possession as the half ended with ND ahead 10-0.

Sacred Heart started the third quarter with three first downs and lost possession on a fourth down gamble in the fourth series. Notre Dame replied with two series of gains and a kick to end the third.

Next the Knights completed one series and kicked on the second. Then, with 58 to go, the Tigers racked up 4 first downs on the way to their first score early in the 4th. Taylor's 23 yard pass to Craig Voth was good for the TD and Switzer's kick added a point. The count was 10-7 early in the fourth period.

Following kickoff ND had to punt on first series and SH made a fine drive that had the looks of victory. But it failed to budge the ND goal line stand. Tigers lost possession only one foot away.

Three plays later the Tiger added 2 points as Switzer caught Hernandez behind the goal for a safety. That made the count 10-9.

But the game was still far from over. Tigers fumbled on first series after kickoff and the Knights on their first series. Steve Knabe recovered it on the Tiger 21. A screen pass to Switzer advanced to the 41 and the next four tries were a yard short of a first down. Possession went over to ND at the 50.

Two plays later Hernandez got loose on a 34 yard sprint to the 9 yard line. His next effort added 5 and Bowles made the last 4 to pay dirt. A pass for double bonus points failed. The Knights had it 16-9.

Standouts for SH were Switzer 163 yards on 25 carries and Scott Taylor 156 yards on 8 completions out of 16 passes. Bowles led the visitors with 121 yards on 19 carries.

Oilers end 6-3 season

A busy and successful season for the KC Oilers ended Monday in their 12-8 loss to First State Bank. As regards the season they are second with a record of 6-3 whereas First State is champ with a record of 7-2.

The week's activity started last Saturday as they went down before the Bankers by a score of 12-0, which exactly offset an earlier 12-0 win over the team. To play off the tie teams met again Monday night, and the Oilers lost again by a score of 12-8.

The Bankers got a head start with a 1st quarter TD followed by a miss on the PAT effort. KCs came back in the third with a steady drive the length of the field ending in Ryan Sicking's run from the 4 followed by run for 2 points.

But Kc could not make their lead stand up. On next kickoff FSB returned the pigskin to the 20 and made the remaining yardage on short gains. So the Oilers lost 12-8.

In both games the coaches, Cliff Sicking and Larry Gobble were pleased by their boys' sharp performance, especially the standouts Steven Nasche, Mike Gobble, Tony Perryman, Gary Hess, Larry Switzer, Jason Biffle, Chris Hess, Jeremy Jones and Scott Hennigan.

Next and final activity for the Oilers is participation in an all star game Saturday, 11 a.m. at Leopard Stadium in Gainesville. At that time the champs of First State Bank will take on the stars from other league teams which include KC Oilers, Weber, Olney Savings, and CBJ Tire. Those teams will be coached by Cliff Sicking and Larry Gobble. Boys named to represent the Oilers are Larry Switzer, Tony Perryman, Mike Gobble, Gary Hess, Ryan Sicking, Bill Parks and Helmuth Koelzer.

Bus will go to Tyler

For the benefit of fans intending to go to the Tyler-Gorman football game on Friday, Nov. 15, there will be a special bus leaving here early that day. For exact details, time and meeting place, call Angelo or LaVerna Nasche at work 759-4949 or at home 759-4386.

Must win game faces Tigers

A must win situation confronts the Sacred Heart Tigers in their game with Tyler Gorman Friday night if they are to continue in the TCIL district title race. If they lose their season is over.

But if they win they will still be included in tie breaking action with Notre Dame and Gorman.

To reach that level they will have to play lots of football this week. Gorman is expected to be tough with strong potential in speed and passing. Tigers too are balanced with good records in rushing and passing.

Regarding the season to date, Gorman is 5-4 and Sacred Heart 5-4. In district, Gorman is ahead with 1-0, including a 21-18 win over ND whereas SH is 0-1 after its loss to ND.

The game will be played at Tyler Friday night starting at 7:30.

Lindsay Knights win 19-0 over Era

Lindsay Knights were back to their old time form Friday night in a contest with Era to decide third and fourth places in the North Zone of District 4A. They were 19-0 winners, ending with a 2-2 loop record whereas Era ends with 1-3. Valley View and Muenster lead with records of 4-0 and 3-1 respectively and Collinsville is at the bottom with 0-4.

Five Era turnovers compared with only 1 by Lindsay were a big factor in the game.

Era got the first break on a turnovel but failed to use it. The fumble was recovered 25 yards away, but seconds later an interception by Weems put the Knights back in possession on their 17. Two plays later Tim Carpenter broke away on an 80 yard gallop to the end zone. Fleitman's PAT made it 7-0.

After a scoreless second quarter Fangman put the Knights back in business by blocking a punt on Era's 5 yard line. Ashley Fuhrmann scored from the 1. The kick for bonus point failed leaving the score at 13-0.

In the third Era's fake punt did not work and Lindsay got a set-up only 15 yards away. A penalty improved the position and Fleitman scooted around end for the last 4 yards. The PAT failed. Lindsay led 19-0.

Moments later the Knights had another opportunity as Myrick recovered a fumble 58 yards away. However Hornet defense was equal to the threat and Era took possession at its 39.

A fine pass from there, Moore to Huddleston, took Era to the 1 where a possible TD ended in disaster. Era fumbled, Lindsay recovered. Lindsay used the remaining minute and a half running out the clock.

Valley View Eagles beat Hornets for north zone title

Visions of the champ title of North Zone, District 4-A, faded out for the Hornets Friday night at Valley View as they lost 17-6 in a showdown with the Eagles. The end result is that Valley View is No. 1 with a record of 5-0 and Muenster is No. 2 with 4-1.

Next on schedule for both teams are playoffs with South Zone leaders for the district honors. Muenster will play Paradise, the champ. Friday night at Decatur, 7:30. At the same time Valley View will play Perrin, the runner-up, at Bridgeport.

It was mostly a matter of too much speed and muscle as the Eagles outscored the Hornets. In the process they led 12-7 in first downs, 161-105 in rushing yardage and 241-135 in total yardage. Another factor was the strong Eagle defense in denying the Hornets a score on any of their three penetrations.

One of those occasions was early in the second following a first and goal situation on the 3 yard line. Three tries lost a yard and the fourth was stopped cold by an Eagle blitz.

Eagles took over there. And that's when Hornets took their turn at defense. Eagles barely moved in three downs and had to kick on the fourth. Andy Burnette blocked it and Joe Pagel recovered in the end zone for the only Muenster score.

Eagles were first on the scoreboard. After a short Hornet kick they drove from midfield to the 9 yard line and finished the job with a pass from Cope to Steve Sparkman.

Another penetration that failed to materialize for MHS came in the second after a 21 yard completion, Growing to Flusche. Failing on the next series the Hornets tried for a field goal and spoiled it with a bad snap to the kicker, so Valley View took over on the 15. Four plays later Stuart Hess recovered a fumble on the Eagle 29. From there MHS gained, but ran out of steam on the four, after which the Hornet defense held and blocked an Eagle kick for the only Muenster score.

The second Eagle touchdown started near midfield following a short Hornet kick. Moments later Cope connected with Sparkman with a 39 yard touchdown pass and Krahl's PAT upped the count to 14-6 as the clock read 10:58 in the fourth.

In the remaining time the Hornets were halted and so were the Eagles but a penalty for roughing the kicker gave the Eagles another chance. They went on to the 27 and with 48 seconds left Krahl booted a 44 yard field goal for 3 points and the total of 17-6.

Muenster - Paradise contest looks hot

Another big game is on schedule for the MHS Hornets when they meet Paradise Friday night at Decatur. And it has the looks of a classic, as anticipated by Coach Dewey Sims.

Both teams have good records, Muenster with 3-1 in district and 7-2 for the season; Paradise with 7-0 in district and 9-1 for the season.

That one loss was to Valley View by a score of 31-6 with the Eagles making good use of an advantage in size and speed, a situation somewhat similar to the Hornet game with Valley View. The comparison indicates that the two teams Friday should be well matched. They are near equal in size and quickness and Paradise is slightly faster. Along with those considerations the MHS coaches are hoping for a minimum of mistakes and injuries.

Physical condition is okay except Dan Klement, who is still out with an old knee injury.

The winner of this contest will advance to bi-district, playing the winner of the Crowell-Throckmorton game.

Jr. Hornets beat future Eagles 21-6

Coming as a sort of consolation win in the weekend contests with Valley View, the Muenster junior high youngsters defeated the future Eagles 21-6. It was a satisfying event in which the full roster had a share in the action and the season ended with a near perfect record of 7-1.

Muenster started the scoring in the second quarter on a 3 yard plunge by Don Boydston completing a drive from midfield. His PAT kick upped the count to 7-0.

Still in the second quarter the junior Hornets got another start near midfield and gained some 15 yards before Jerry Brawner connected with Jeff McAden in a 35 yard scoring pass. Boydston's kick added a point.

Third period was scoreless and Muenster uncorked a big play in the fourth. It was from Brawner to Jeff Hellman for a 50 yard TD and Boydston added another point.

Finally the Little Eagles got a break. It was a 35 yard run to pay dirt. However, a PAT try for double points failed and the score remained at 21-6.

Tomi subjects for November

Discussions on the livestock market, soybeans, beef demand, agricultural exports, wheat, cattle on feed, world agriculture and dairying will highlight TOMI discussions for November.

"TOMI" is the Telephone Outlook and Market Information program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

Information provided by TOMI is designed to help keep agricultural producers updated on commodity markets and other vital information useful in planning and managing their operations.

More detailed information on November topics is available by dialing 409-845-8664 (TOMI), according to this schedule:

Nov. 1-4 Livestock Market Update
Nov. 5-7 Soybean Situation
Nov. 8-11 Factors Affecting Beef Demand

Nov. 12-14 Ag Export Update
Nov. 15-18 Wheat Update
Nov. 19-21 World Ag Situation
Nov. 22-26 Nov. Cattle on Feed
Nov. 27-Dec. 2 Dairy Situation Update

Messages for TOMI are prepared by Extension Service economists, who provide the latest information available to aid producers in making decisions.

Soil erosion is a major problem

Everyone recognizes that visible soil erosion is bad, whether it is in your yard, field, or roadside. This erosion causes sediment to stop up culverts, causes gullies, and just looks bad.

However, the greatest damage is to the soil by the fact that the productive upper topsoil layer is eroded away. Once the topsoil is gone or reduced, a cycle is perpetuated that becomes very difficult to break. The cycle consists of runoff-erosion-lower yield.

Attempts to offset erosion's effects with fertilizer are unable to equal uneroded sites. Anyone who has worked to change an eroded field to a highly productive field will attest to how runoff-erosion-lower yield perpetuates itself.

The main objective of soil and water conservation is to protect our land so that very little visible erosion occurs. Practices, such as waterways, terraces, contour farming, and conservation tillage, will protect the valuable cropland topsoil. Grassland practices, such as good pasture management and planned grazing systems, will ensure adequate grass cover to protect the topsoil.

Research has shown the greatest recovery from erosion can be achieved where it is economical to return deposited topsoil back to the eroded areas, then managing the soil with recommended practices. This usually can occur only in yards or other small areas.

"Waiting for erosion to occur before applying conservation practices is similar to closing the gate after the horse is gone," states Ray Svacina of the Soil Conservation Service.

Contact your local Soil Conservation Service office for information on soil erosion.

The recent good weather has gotten many producers back into the fields. It appears that about 70 to 80 percent of the fall planting is completed. The recent heavy rains have rotted some seed and plants, but in most instances, small grain fields look excellent. Many producers have begun stocking small grain pastures with stocker calves for the winter.

This past week we had the opportunity to put out some Ryegrass Post Emerge Control Herbicide Plots. Purpose of these plots is to check the effect of certain ryegrass in small grain fields. The two herbicides used both separately and in combination are Glean and Hoelon. Of the two products, Hoelon will do the best job on controlling ryegrass post emerge. However, one factor producers must consider when using Hoelon is its grazing restriction. Hoelon is not labeled for any field that will be grazed. Larry Todd, with American Hoechst Chemical Company, tells me that the residue can show up in both plant and animal tissues. In the past, he has seen some success in using Hoelon at higher rates following grazing in late February for ryegrass control.

This past year we used Hoelon on our Hard Wheat Demonstration Plots with good success. This was applied fairly late in the growing season. Another thing to remember about Hoelon is that we get no broadleaf weed control with its use.

The other product we are using is Glean. Glean has shown excellent results in Pre Emerge applications for control of ryegrass. We have had no luck in control of cheat with Glean or with the Hoelon product. We are using Glean Post Emerge in this demonstration to check its effect on ryegrass. Glean will kill broadleaf weeds but the big kicker with Glean is its recropping interval. These plots are on the old Sicking Farm west of Gainesville on Highway 82. We will be looking at them more closely in the coming months.

Producers should read those labels and know the limitations of that herbicide before purchase or use.

energy answers

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

I'm building a home and would like to use some sort of solar space heating. What's the best way for me to use solar heating in my home? E.M., Georgetown.

Solar space heating is best achieved by having south-facing windows in your house. This application of "passive" solar heating is usually not practical in Texas, because it means a large investment which is unused for 9 months of the year.

"Passive" solar heating systems use the mass of the building as both the collector and storage medium. In contrast, "active" systems use pumps and pipes, or fans and ducts, to carry heat from solar collectors to storage and from storage to the living space.

Direct gain systems use south-facing windows to capture heat from the winter sun. Sunlight passes through the glass, strikes the interior surfaces of the room, and warms them. As these surfaces warm up, they radiate heat, warming the air and objects in the room.

Direct gain systems normally include thermal mass materials that have the capacity to absorb and store solar energy. These materials can be brick, rock, tile, concrete, or water.

night and during cloudy periods. Mass also prevents daytime overheating of many common structural elements, such as a brick fireplace, a stone wall, or a tile floor.

Heat produced by a direct gain system can be distributed throughout the home by fans or natural circulation. Open floor plans also facilitate heat distribution.

For more information on direct gain systems, ask for the "Direct Gain Systems" factsheet, free from the Texas Energy Extension Service office at Texas A&M University.

Do you have questions on energy resources, technology, or conservation? Send them to ENERGY ANSWERS, Texas Energy Extension Service, Center for Energy and Mineral Resources, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-1243 or phone (409) 845-8025. Funds for this column were provided by the Center for Energy and Mineral Resources at Texas A&M University and the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

Comment

Well, our county road got itself graded on Nov. 5. Now we do appreciate that. However, I must repeat once again - grading these roads will not take care of the sad shape the roads are in. They all need a very good graveling job - and horns installed in many places. The grading only lasts until the first rain - then come the ruts, mucky and slippery places all over again! I, for one, cannot understand why these roads aren't being graveled and better maintained. I realize they can't all be worked on at the same time - but where are the ones that are being graveled, etc.? As I stated before - the only one I've seen is the one on which our commissioner resides. Where is that? Well, head for Montague - turn down the road just the other side of the Russell Fenoglio's place and you can see for yourself!
