Local con job has happy ending

President Reagan's announcement Sunday night that he is a candidate for reelection is the proper and expected statement following his State of the Union speech a few nights before.

His explanation of the record in three years could be summed up as a claim that the job has been well done and seemed to await the statement which came Sunday...that he and George Bush want to keep up the good work. He briefly summarized his aims of the future in stating "We have more to do in creating jobs, achieving control over government spending, returning more autonomy to the states, keeping peace in a more settled world, and seeing if we can't find room in our schools for God."

Warning! The deadbeats are active again. However an incident which occurred this week has a happy ending.

According to Police Chief Helen Tompkins an elderly Muenster lady was swindled out of more than $400 for so-called driveway improvement.

Tompkins said two persons told the lady her grandson had told them her driveway needed repair, and with her permission they would do the work.

She approved, and in a short time they had scattered a thin layer of gravel over the driveway. Their charge was $405, which she paid by check.

Later in the day the grandson saw the job and asked her about it, and said he had not spoken to anyone about it. When they tried to stop payment on the check they discovered that it had already been cashed.

That is when they reported to Chief Tompkins. She inquired about the source of material and discovered that the men had paid $13 for it. She also notified county officers, supplying what information she could.

The case was solved Tuesday when the county officers reported they had two persons in custody who admitted doing the con job and still had the money from cashing the check. Because of the man's cooperation and repentant attitude the lady declined to file charges.

Tompkins advised that other incidents have been reported, especially roofing jobs in Gainesville. She also said the victims usually are old people not inclined to question the crooks' story.

Her advice simply is not to deal with strangers. Rather see a family member or friend who is more familiar with the need and cost of repair work. Otherwise ask for advice from the police or a reputable local business man, such as lumber yard operators.

Another suggestion is to alert the police any time a suspicious salesman tries to promote a home improvement deal.

Nuclear plant beneficial despite overruns and delays

The fuel load date for Unit 1 of the Comanche Peak nuclear plant has been rescheduled to mid-1984, and the estimated cost of the plant has been increased from $3.44 billion to $3.89 billion. The share for Texas Utilities Company System, which includes Texas Power and Light, is $3.31 billion, or $1640 per kilowatt of generating capacity.

The previous target date for fuel load was December 1983. Unit 1 is still expected to begin operation in 1984 and should be in full service in early 1985. Operation of Unit 2 is expected to be 18 months after operation of Unit 1.

The changes, announced today by Texas Utilities Company, resulted from an annual review of the company's construction program.

The previous cost and schedule estimates for Comanche Peak were made in 1981.

"Despite this change, Comanche Peak will still be beneficial to our customers," said R.K. Campbell, president of Texas Power and Light Co.

"Because of its relatively low-priced nuclear fuel, the electricity it produces should be substantially cheaper over the life of the plant than that produced by natural gas, oil or out-of-state coal," he said.

According to Michael D. Spence, president of Texas Utilities Generating Company, the plant's cost per kilowatt compares very favorably to that of other nuclear plants scheduled for completion in the mid-1980s. A recent review of such plants shows that their average estimated cost is almost $2200 per kilowatt, with several in the $3000 to $4000 per kilowatt range.

Reasons for the revised fuel load date and cost estimate primarily involve completion of final construction, inspection and activities related to testing.

"Construction of Unit 1 is essentially finished," Spence said. "But the remaining work - such as painting, electrical cables, documentation, final inspections and testing activities - is taking more time than we had previously allowed for in our scheduling.

One factor which has been hard to assess has been the time necessary to complete the changes mandated after the Three Mile Island accident.

"Comanche Peak will be one of the first nuclear plants completed in the nation to incorporate virtually all the safety modifications which were indicated by the TMI experience," Spence said. "Making these changes has increased the plant's cost and construction time, but has prevented even more expensive and time-consuming modifications at a later date.

As a result, Comanche Peak will be among the safest and most reliable nuclear plants in the country.

"However, because we've been one of the first plants in pioneering many of these improvements, it's been hard to judge how long it would take to complete them."

Spence emphasized both the timetable and the cost estimate could change again in the future.

The only other change resulting from the construction modifications at a later date.

Heritage Society gets $1,000 grant

The Field and Museum Services Department of the Texas Historical Commission has announced that the Cooke County Heritage Society/Morton Museum has been awarded a grant of $1,000.00 for the conservation and preservation of artifacts.

The local museum is one of sixteen history museums throughout the State selected as grant recipients. This is the first time that state grant funds have been made available to the Texas Historical Commission to assist history museums across the state in the conservation and preservation of important historic collections.

Funds received in this grant will be matched by local funds to provide needed storage shelves and cabinets for use in properly preserving the many articles which have been donated to Morton Museum.

Good News

Isaiah 43:1-3

But now, thus says the Lord, who created you, O Jacob, and formed you, O Israel:
Fear not, for I have redeemed you; I have called you by name: you are mine.
When you pass through the water, I will be with you; in the rivers you shall not drown.
When you walk through fire, you shall not be burned; the flames shall not consume you.
For I am the Lord, your God, the Holy One of Israel, your savior.
I give Egypt as your ransom, Ethiopia and Deba in return for you.

Who knows His mind?

AS BELIEVERS in Christ, we often fall into a pattern of taking God and His marvelous attributes for granted. Because we are carried along daily by His unending stream of love, wisdom, power and mercy, we are apt to accept His goodness as just an ordinary part of life. We might even forget what a great God we have. The apostle Paul realized how prone we are to do this, for he says in Romans 11:33-36, "Oh the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are His judgments and unfathomable His ways! For who has known the mind of the Lord, or who became His counselor? Or who has given to Him that it might be paid back to Him again? For from Him and through Him and to Him are all things. To Him be the glory forever. Amen."

As we study these verses we see that "Oh the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God" could be stated: Oh what a wonderful God we have! How great are His wisdom and knowledge and riches.

Another way of saying "How unsearchable are His judgments and unfathomable His ways" would be to say: How mysterious are God's methods! How could man ever understand His reasons for action, or explain His methods of working?

"For who has known the mind of the Lord, or who became His counselor?" This question should make us ask ourself, "Who has ever known the Lord's thoughts, or advised Him as to what He should or should not do?"

"Or who has given to Him that it might be paid back to Him again?" Who among us has ever advanced anything to God so that we might expect to receive any kind of payment in return.

"For from Him and through Him and to Him are all things." This tells us that everything comes from God; He is the source. That through Him everything exists; He is our sustainer. And in Him everything ends, we owe all that we are or can ever hope to be to God and our goal is to spend eternity with Him.

Paul closed this chapter by saying, "To Him be the glory forever." I think we could all say "Amen" to this statement!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am not able to write personally to the many, many people who have shown interest in my work in the African Mission. Would it be possible to put this message in the paper?

Dear Friends,

As I prepare to return to Africa, I take with me happy memories of the very warm welcome I received from Muenster and the surrounding Communities. It was such a joy to be with you again.

In another sense, it is more than memories that I take with me, for your support, prayers and concern for the people of Rwanda are real and encouraging to me. I thank you, too, for your very generous monetary contributions. I wish you could see the results of your sharing in the relief of malnutrition and the many other sufferings that accompany poverty. The water project will soon be completed; it is such a blessing. New projects of construction for the education and health are planned for the near future.

Please remember all of us in your prayers. I promise to do the same.

Very gratefully,
Sister Roberta Hesse

Dear Editor:

Concerning your stand on Capital Punishment:

Since we as Christians must be "our brother's keeper", we dare not put financial feasibility or convenience ahead of our primary concern — the saving of immortal souls.

I can never advocate the death penalty; for, given enough time, even the most vicious killer may possibly repent and be saved. Society must give him that chance, even if he doesn't deserve it.

If we attempt to over-ride God's dominion over life and death we stand a very real chance of helping to rob Him of His most prized possession — an immortal soul. Remember, He died to save that soul.

Let's at least try to be more compassionate and caring than the killers we are now executing.

Comparable pay for what?

IN ANOTHER attempt to draw the federal government even more deeply into our day-to-day affairs, congressional liberals are reportedly readying legislation that could result in federal bureaucrats deciding how much we should earn in the private sector.

The legislation, rumored to be nurturing in the office of Senate Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.), calls for the establishment within the U.S. Department of Labor of a national "pay comparability" panel, board, or office, modeled after the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. The Commission would be charged with determining how much a certain job is worth; whether painters, for example, should be paid more than secretaries; or whether nurses are worth more or less to society than zoo keepers. In other words, the new federal authority would be charged with setting wage scales, in the process voiding labor-management contracts, and creating chaos within the economy.

The "equal pay for comparable work" scam — long on the radical feminist wish list — was given a big boost by a recent federal court decision which ordered Washington state to increase the pay of some 15,000 state employees, mostly women. The ruling will cost state taxpayers an estimated $225 million or more over the next two years.

But, the issue is not a feminist one; and be forewarned, it is a two-edged economic sword. If the government or courts assume the power to determine the "worth" of various jobs, it is by no means certain they will decide you're being paid too little. You could find you're being paid more than the bureaucrats say your job is worth.

Let's face it: no two jobs or careers are completely alike, just as no two individuals are alike. Different jobs require different skills, education, risk-taking, etc. The market thus determines, considering the supply of workers in a particular category, how much a job is worth. Nurses, for example, used to be paid meager wages; some say they still are. But the WASHINGTON POST advertises jobs for RNs paying more than $20 an hour; most cities report shortages of qualified nurses; and trained nurses are hotly pursued by "headhunters," who are prepared to offer them all sorts of bonuses and inducements to take jobs which now go begging.

Comparable pay is not a legitimate feminist issue; it has nothing to do with gender bias. Adopting this radical idea carries the clear and present danger of economic regimentation, bureaucratic regulation, lowered productivity, renewed inflation, increased unemployment, higher tax burdens, and less freedom for us all.

That is too high a price to pay to try and placate the demands of a small segment of the "working" population.

The best of America

NO AMERICAN who believes in God — and statistics indicate that is about ninety percent of us — should close his eyes at night, without giving thanks for the privilege of living in this free land. Though we are losing our freedoms at an accelerating pace, we are still more free than any other people on earth.

We in America have been truly blessed. Our fertile lands produce an abundance of food, not only plenty for ourselves, but plenty for much of the world besides. Our industriousness and ingenuity have created mighty industries to provide manufactures of every type and description.

The result of the application of our dynamic energies to our natural resources, with the aid of our ingenious tools of production, has given us the highest level of living the world has every known.

All this is good, but it is not what was really the best of America. The best of America was her love of liberty!

Within a few years after our forefathers gained their independence, the spark of liberty ignited on these shores, spread across the globe. Down through the years, we developed a spirit which led us to help others gain or preserve their freedom.

Speaking of this spirit of liberty which beat in the breast of every American, one of America's wisest leaders, Abraham Lincoln, a half century after independence, said: "What constitutes the bulwark of our own liberty and independence? It is not our frowning battlements, our bristling sea coasts...Our reliance is in the love of liberty which God has planted in us. Our defense is in the preservation of the spirit which prizes liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands everywhere."

So Lincoln was telling us over a hundred years ago, that our real strength was to be found in our love of liberty — our real defense to be in preserving that spirit which sought liberty for all men everywhere.

For a long time, this spirit of liberty guided the policies of the nation. We were not only determined to maintain our own liberty, but we were dedicated to helping the enslaved peoples of the world regain their lost freedom.

But, such a spirit does not rest on idealism or rhetoric; it rests solely on strength. Without invincible strength, it is not only idle dreaming, it is dangerous folly to prate about being free in a world that is half slave. For certain, liberty cannot be obtained for others from a position of weakness.

One hundred and ninety years ago, President George Washington counseled his colleagues in the 3rd Congress on this subject as he said: "There is rank due to the United States among nations which will be withheld, if not absolutely lost, by the reputation of weakness; if we desire to avoid insult, we must be able to repel it; if we desire to secure peace, it must be known that we are at all times ready for war."

We fought victoriously in two World Wars for the liberty of people in Europe and in Asia. But we have since lost two wars, fought for the very same purpose. It is highly doubtful if today we could preserve our liberty in a war — nuclear or conventional — with the Soviet Union.

Sound business management

IT WAS not long ago that high interest rates were the main concern of small-business owners. Now that interest rates have come down some, the climate for small business is improving, and we think 1984 will be a good year. But there is one significant threat to continued strength in the economy: the huge federal deficit. Small-business people I have been talking to are concerned. They ask, "Why can't the federal government do something about the huge deficits?"

One way to reduce deficits is to cut the cost of running the government. The President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control — a commission looking for ways to cut the cost of government — recently handed its report to President Reagan. The report identified more than $400 billion in savings which could be realized over a three-year period.

Small business was well represented on that commission. Wilson Johnson, board chairman of the National Federation of Independent Business, headed a key task force. NFIB board member Bruce Fielding and another NFIB member, William Onsted, handled the day-to-day operations of the task force. The NFIB-led task force produced cost-cutting recommendations amounting to $72 billion.

Bruce Fielding says there are no "miracles" in the task force findings. "All we did was apply common business sense," he says.

For example, the group found that the government could save $6.4 billion over three years by paying bills when due. Not many small-business people I know pay bills ahead of time, but some government agencies are doing just that.

Or consider the case of sub-agencies, such as the Farmers

Home Administration: They are using what Fielding calls "the old cigar box" technique of depositing receipts. The receipts pile up in boxes for as much as two weeks before being deposited. The task force said use of a national lock-box system, allowing centralized agencies to make daily deposits, could save another $6 billion over three years.

President Reagan can act on 40 percent of the Commission recommendations without a congressional OK, but Congress has to act on almost two-thirds of them, and that could be trouble. In an article in the January issue of Reader's Digest, Trevor Armbrister illustrates how difficult it will be to move Congress to act. He says the commission report found that of 4,000 military bases in the continental U.S., only 312 are considered vital to national security. "But," says Armbrister, "any time the (defense) department wants to save money by shutting down a base, Congress won't hear of it." The commission report says it costs $2 billion to $5 billion a year to maintain those bases.

Small-business owners do not understand the reluctance of the Congress to take action. Pork barrel projects and underused bases may have been the stuff of re-election in the past, but with a federal deficit of $170 to $200 billion staring us in the face, and the higher interest rates a real possibility again, Congress should pay close attention to the people I hear from and act soon on the recommendations of the Private Sector Survey on Cost Control. There is a real opportunity to cut federal spending, but 60 percent of the $100 billion in savings will require action by your representatives and mine.

John Sloan is President of the National Federation of Independent Business, representing more than half a million small-business men and women.

foes make a big issue of the debt's growth during this administration but decline to admit they were the real cause of the trouble. They were in the majority and exercised control in congressional voting.

If Democrats want to express honest opinions on the budget they really ought to favor the line item veto proposal. The authority to eliminate non-wanted items from a spending bill makes the president responsible for the spending program and deserving of the credit or blame resulting therefrom.

No less gratifying than the president's common sense approach to economic issues was his concern for the moral state of the union. Reagan deplored legalized abortion and expressed his strong hope that this nation will soon eliminate this violation of human rights. Likewise he referred to the ban of prayer in school, saying if the country allows its legislators to ask for Divine guidance as they start a day's work, it surely should do as much for its students.

The state of the union talk as well as the announcement of his candidacy sounded very much like Reagan's campaign talk in 1980.

Something not said, as a matter of political expediency, no doubt, is that the administration did not quite follow the campaign pattern. There were times when stout Democratic opposition nullified his effort. There were other times when his ideals were diluted by giving in to liberal and moderate alliances in his own party.

At this time Reagan seems to have the same principles he had four years ago. If he will stick with those principles in the coming campaign and in office, he can be the person America thought it was getting four years ago.

Craig Sangster and Rhonda Estes united in ceremony in Indiana

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Craig Sangster are at home in Lafayette, Indiana since returning from their wedding trip to Stricklands Mountain Inn, Mt. Pocono, Pennsylvania.

They were married in Trinity United Methodist Church in Lafayette on November 19. Rev. Gary Rodgers was the officiating clergyman for the Saturday afternoon ceremony, with traditional, double ring rites.

The bride is the former Rhonda Susan Estes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood R. Estes. She is a graduate of McCutcheon High School of Lafayette, and Purdue University, where she earned a bachelor of science degree in Pharmacy in 1983. She is a member of Kappa Epsilon Sorority and is a pharmacist employed by Peoples Drug Stores, Inc.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Sangster of Roanoke, Tx, and formerly of Muenster. He is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and Baylor University, receiving his bachelor of science degree in Physics in 1981 and his masters degree in Physics from Purdue University in 1983. At Baylor he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. He is employed at Purdue as a graduate research assistant.

Presented at the altar and given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride was wearing a traditional white chiffon wedding gown, designed with Queen Anne neckline. The bodice was overlaid with Chantilly lace with accents of matching lace in the skirt and two rows along the hemline. Long lace sleeves were puffed at the shoulders and slim-fitted to the wrist.

Her bridal flowers were carried in a cascade of white standard and tea roses with blue tea roses and white stephanotis.

Her lace edged bridal veil of two-tiered illusion was attached to a lace cap.

Attendants

Karl Gladst of Short Hills, N.J. a friend of the groom was best man. Rick Mach of Chicago, Myron Southerland of Dallas, friends of the groom and Kenneth Estes of Lafayette, bride's brother were groomsmen. Estes and Southerland also assisted as ushers.

The church altar was decorated with a pair of five-branched candelabra and lighted candles, two tall independent taper candles and the unity candle surrounded with ivy and blue tea roses.

Donating organs can save lives

An unexpected death can devastate a family, but there is a way to turn this tragedy into a life-saving act.

The Texas Medical Association encourages people to consider donating organs or bodies for transplantation or for medical research.

An individual can make arrangements that prevent unnecessary delays in the donation process. In addition, surviving family members can donate organs or the entire body of the deceased if the person has not instructed otherwise.

One way to accomplish this is through the Living Bank, a nationwide, non-profit organization. Whether the donor is a member or not, staff members contact appropriate organ banks, transplant teams, and medical schools closest to where the donor died.

The organization's 24-hour number for Texas is 713-528-2971. The Living Bank will provide information and a registration form that is kept on file. The potential donor is given a card to carry that has the phone number.

In addition, the Southeast Organ Procurement Foundation of Richmond, Va., has a computer list of persons waiting for kidneys.

The phone number is 804-353-7333. The Lions Club operates eye banks across the state, and information is available by calling 512-454-3937.

Under the state's Uniform Anatomical Gift Act, a person also may leave a gift of all or part of his body in a will. The gift becomes effective upon the death of the person making the will without having to wait for probate to occur. Under this act, the wishes of the deceased take legal precedence over those of the next of kin.

A Texan also can legally donate his or her body or parts by filling out the form on the back of the driver's license. Two witnesses must also sign it for the donation to be legal.

Since time is critical, the key to donating successfully is carrying a visible card with a number to call and, when possible, informing the organ bank if death is imminent.

Natural fibers showcase contest seeks entries

Farm, ranch and agri-business women can display their fashion and sewing skills at the Natural Fibers Fashion Showcase to be held at the Southwest Farm and Ranch Exposition in Fort Worth on March 10.

The showcase demonstrates what beautiful finished products come from cotton, wool and mohair — all Texas agricultural commodities, says Cooke County home economist, Evelyn Yeatts.

The entrants will compete for first, second and third place awards in four divisions: custom sewn garments, knitted and crocheted garments, coordinated mother and child ensembles, and former grand award winners.

Each garment entered in the show must be made of a minimum blend of 50 percent cotton or 50 percent wool and/or mohair, says the home economist.

Contestants must be 18 years or older, and actively involved in farming, ranching or agri-business; or be a member (or member's spouse) of an agriculture-related organization such as Extension Homemakers Clubs, Young Homemakers, Young Farmers, 4-H Leader Association, producer associations or auxiliaries and tractor pullers' clubs.

"We hope that a number of women representing Cooke County agriculture will enter the showcase," says Mrs. Yeatts.

Sponsors of the event include the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Southwest Hardware and Implement Association and Progressive Farmer.

Entries must be submitted by February 20. Contest rules and entry blanks are available at the County Extension Office. Stop by the Office in the Courthouse basement or call 665-4931 or 665-1966 for an entry blank or for more information.

Clinics scheduled for hypertension and diabetes

The Texas Department of Health regional office in Arlington announces a hypertension and diabetes screening clinic to be held at the Sacred Heart Community Center on Wednesday, February 15, 9:30 to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

The screening will be performed by public health nurses at no charge. Public awareness and an increased citizen participation has tended to decrease fatalities due to heart problems. The so-called "Silent Disease" of Diabetes is receiving increased attention by Public Health Personnel in an effort to discover early warning signs of the disease. "Since each of these diseases can prove to be fatal or cause other health problems, each adult should visit his or her private physician or the public health clinic on a regular basis," said Hal J. Dewlett, M.D., Director, Public Health Region 5.

Sacred Heart School will sponsor the 1984 TCIL District III AAA basketball tournament on February 3 and 4. The Boys play at 3:30 p.m. and the girls play at 6:30 p.m. It will be necessary to dismiss the high school early, so we will dismiss both schools at 2:30.

Cooke County College will again host the annual county Spelling Bee. The event has been scheduled for Thursday, March 15, at 2:00 p.m., at the conference room of the college. Sacred Heart students have been studying the spelling book ordered earlier this year. A date will be set in late February to select the school winner and the alternate.

Students are already preparing for track and field. More will participate after basketball season is over. We are grateful to John Bartush for coming to work with Sacred Heart students on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

Muenster loses 2 games to Lindsay

Muenster High varsity teams came out at the short end of the scoring in their two double headers of the past week. They lost both games to Lindsay and broke even at Alvord.

As guests of Muenster High last Friday night, the Lindsay girls continued their lead in the 31-A district race and the Knights improved their standing to 5-3. Meanwhile both Muenster teams remained far down in the loop record.

Nevertheless the Muenster youngsters did themselves proud by keeping both contests interesting.

Though trailing, the Hornets kept their visitors busy maintaining leads of 8-7, 19-17, and 31-25 ending the first three periods, but the Knightettes hit a final quarter hot streak and sailed to their 49-32 win. Dana Dankesreiter and Rita Walterscheid shared Muenster's scoring lead with 14 each and Kim Eldred made 4. Lindsay lead scorers were Shannon Fleitman 14, Gina Hellman 12 and Beverly Hermes 11.

The Hornets had three cold periods, trailing by scores of 14-8, 23-10 and 48-18 before a big fourth quarter. Not big enough, however. In spite of outscoring the Knights 20-5 in the last period they came out at the short end of 46-38.

Kevin Wolf led Muenster's effort with 16, Ronnie Fisher had 8 and Jay Mollenkopf had 4. Meanwhile Anderle made 14 for Lindsay, Jeff Hellman made 10, Kevin Fuhrmann 6, and Leroy Hermes 5.

Partial compensation for the two losses was a 25-22 win by Muenster's junior varsity boys. After an 8-3 first quarter lead they barely kept ahead by scores of 12-10, 16-14 and 25-22 ending the next three quarters. Rodney Hess hit 9 for the Hornets, Joe Page made 7, Darren Walterscheid 5, Jeff McAden and Mike Connell, 2 each. Donald Neu made 13 for the Knights, Tim Carpenter added 7 and Frank Fangman 2.

The Hornets at Alvord came out at the happy end of a see saw thriller in which MHS had a 14-6 first period lead, a 24-24 half time tie, then a 32-29 deficit before a last period rally and a 43-40 win. Dana Dankesreiter led with 14, Rita Walterscheid had 11 and Sharon Russell 10.

Boys did not do as well in their game. They outscored Alvord by a point in the first and third but were outscored by bigger margins in the second and fourth and the net result was a loss of 48-32. MHS leaders were Kevin Wolf 10, Ronnie Fisher, Jay Mollenkopf and Cory Klement, each 6.

Muenster JV girls gave their opponents a good contest for three periods, trailing by 4-2, 11-8 and 26-22, but cooled off as Alvord got hot in the last period, losing 36-25. Amy Davidson scored 13 for Muenster and Melanie Richey 6.

Forestburg Juniors take 2 from Lindsay

Forestburg junior high teams won both games of a twin bill with Lindsay Monday night. As a result the girls have a district standing of 4-1 entering the tournament this weekend and the boys have a perfect record of 5-0.

The girls game was one sided with Forestburg leading all the way to a 33-16 win. Top scorers were Beth Holzbog 10, Tara Romine 10 and Lisa Hamric 4. Leaders for Lindsay were L. Fuhrmann 9, Nortman 4, Sandmann 3.

The boys game was more decisive as Forestburg apparently could do nothing wrong in its 54-19 win. Leading point makers were B. Holland 15, C. Hudspeth 12, J. Moss 10, C. Zamara 10.

Muenster Junior Hi wins a pair from Era

Muenster juniors closed out their regular basketball season Monday night by winning both games of a double header with Era. The games gave the future Hornets records of 2-3 in the district and 11-5 in the season; whereas the young Hornets have 3-2 in the district race and 10-6 and in the season.

Last activity of the year will be the junior high tournament at Slidell this weekend. It is a single elimination tourney for champ honor and will not have a consolation bracket. Muenster girls will face Lindsay in their opener and the boys will face Era. In each case the winner will have a second game with Forestburg, which drew a bye in the first round and the loser is out of contention.

Playing Era the girls took an early lead and gained all the way to a 28-11 ending. Muenster scorers were Penny Russell 13, Melody Klement 4, Peachy Switzer 4, Meredith McDaniel 3, Darla Bindel 2, Jamie Walterscheid 2.

Boys likewise had a big win with a count of 41-17. Stuart Hess led the scoring with 15, Brian Hess made 10, Kevin Anderle 8 and Scott McAden 6.

Seventh graders did not fare as well in their twin bill with Forestburg. Muenster girls were 33-7 losers and boys were 30-12 losers. Muenster scorers were Deanna Bierschenk 2, Carol Walterscheid 3, Jennifer Carroll 2; also Shayne Wimmer 6, Weldon Hermes 3, John Bednarck 3.

AVERAGE BILLING GIVES YOU RELIEF FROM THE UNCOMMON COLD.
We all know it's been unseasonably cold this winter. And we've all used record amounts of electricity to stay safe and warm. But it stands to reason that with higher usage comes a higher electric bill.
Now, of course, bills you've already received are still due. But Texas Power and Light offers relief from higher bills that may result from additional cold weather ahead.
It's called the Average Billing Plan, and now may be the perfect time to consider it. With Average Billing, you pay about the same amount every month—an average of your bills for the past twelve months. You still pay for all the electricity you use, but at least your bills are more predictable.
For some, it may take even more relief. Especially those who simply can't afford to heat their homes. That's where the Energy Aid Program can help. Your local TP&L office can tell you which charitable agency in your area handles this program and how you can take part.
So remember, even though your next electric bill is likely to be a little higher than what's common for this time of year, Texas Power and Light has no intention of leaving you out in the cold. And that's something we thought you'd like to know.

CHANGES IN YOUR TELEPHONE BILL
Changes In Your Telephone Bill
TOLL SERVICE
Because of the recent divestiture of AT&T, your bill is changing beginning with this bill. The main change that you will notice is that there may be two groups of long distance calls within your bill. One group is labeled as **AT&T Company** and they are printed on separate pages. These are calls made with AT&T long distance lines and AT&T has contracted with Muenster Telephone Co. to bill these calls along with the rest of our long distance calls. Inquiries for all calls should continue to be made at our office. The charges for each group of calls are combined and are represented in the Long Distance Total on the first page.
LOCAL SERVICE
Local service charges by the company may be in as many as four groups as follows;
1. Basic line charges...Business or residential line charges.
2. Miscellaneous line charges...Includes charges for touch tone, extension line charges, call transfer etc.
3. Customer premise equipment charges...Rental on telephone equipment in your business or home. Such as telephones, bells, business systems.
4. Extra listings in the alphabetical section of the telephone directory.

CARD OF THANKS

Very special thanks to my family and many, many friends who were so very helpful and thoughtful, and said many prayers for me and offered Holy Masses for me. I deeply appreciate the flowers, get-well cards, good wishes and food sent both before and after my hospitalization. Norbert sends his thanks also.

Juanita Knabe (11-C)

We would like to thank everyone for prayers, cards, phone calls, flowers, food and especially the visits to see us during Nicholas' stay at Children's Medical Center. All these things meant so much to us and made our 2 week stay in the hospital more bearable.

Thanks so much, Steve, Doreen, and Nicholas Taylor (11-C)

I wish to express thanks to Dr. Juarez and the Muenster Hospital staff for their care and concern before I was transferred to Westgate. Thanks to all for their prayers. The cards, flowers and fruit and many visits were deeply appreciated. Special thanks to Fr. Jerry Mosman, and the doctors and nurses for excellent care at Westgate Hospital. God love you all.

Elfreda Dangelmayr (11-C)

Dairy Support is good for farmer and consumer

"An effective dairy price support program enables American consumers to enjoy dependable supplies of fresh milk and dairy products, day in and day out, at reasonable prices."

This is how E.L. Wise, manager, Associated Milk Producers, Inc./Southern Region, emphasizes the benefits of the nation's dairy program. Under this program, the government supports the price of milk by offering to buy milk products not consumed on the commercial market — establishing a floor under the price farmers will receive for their milk. A standing offer to sell these products serves to protect consumers from higher prices during times of short milk production.

"Since its inception in 1949, the dairy support program has provided market stability enabling dairy farmers to make continuous gains in productivity. As a result, increases in milk and dairy product prices have been consistently below increases in the consumer price index," said Wise.

"For example, during 1982, all consumer price index items went up 4.6 percent, all food items went up 3.1 percent, while dairy products increased only 0.9 percent."

The dairy price support program was recently amended. The new law is designed to bring milk production back into balance with consumption and to reduce government dairy product purchases.

This legislation features a paid diversion plan which gives dairy farm families positive, individual incentive to reduce their milk production.

Wise noted that these efficiency gains have helped keep milk and dairy products one of the best bargains in nutritious food for the American consumer. In fact, consumers today work about half the time they did 30 years ago to pay for purchases like milk, butter and ice cream.

"When American consumers visit their favorite grocery stores, they can find a wide variety of fresh dairy products right at their fingertips — a claim consumers in few other countries can make," concluded Wise. "It's in the best interest of every consumer to support a sound dairy price support program to continue the dairy farmer's outstanding record of achievement and progress."

Associated Milk Producers, Inc. ranks as the nation's largest dairy farmer cooperative with 33,000 members located in 20 states throughout the Midwest, South and Southwest, who produce about 12 percent of the nation's milk supply.

County Agent's Report

Probably the most difficult thing for the gardener to grasp when dealing with young fruit trees is that half of the top growth should be removed before planting. Many nurseries provide this service to customers.

Why must a tree be topped? When a tree is dug at the nursery, about half of its root system is lost. So, an equal amount of top growth must be removed to bring top and bottom into balance again (the root-shoot ratio) and to begin the main branches in the right places. If this balance is not maintained, the tree will grow feebly, if at all, and branches may die back anyway.

Pruning does not mean "whack off the top half." Initial pruning removes branches that total about half of the top growth starting with weak and poorly placed ones. This should produce a tree with three to five strong, well-distributed scaffold branches from which new growth will come soon. If you choose good branches now, you can avoid broken branches and poorly shaped trees later.

After planting and pruning the nursery tree, water it thoroughly. Remember that the newly established tree is operating on a limited root zone and cannot "reach" for additional soil moisture during times of stress. To retain moisture and control competing weeds, spread mulches two or three inches around the trunk. This early care keeps new roots actively growing and insures a vigorous, well-established tree with a potential for earlier quality and quantity production.

Once the newly planted tree has established a substantial root system, use a systematic cultural program which involves watering, pruning, thinning fruit, and controlling insects and diseases.

With proper selection and care, a fruit tree can be a real asset to the home gardener. By the same token, the poorly adapted, improperly cared for fruit tree will be a lasting liability.

Fruit and nut trees offer homeowners the opportunity to have fresh and nutritious meals. An understanding of diseases, insects and proper pruning techniques are necessary for bumper crops.

To help fruit tree owners with these aspects of production, a Home Orchard Workshop will be held for area residents on Saturday, February 4, at Ed Alexander's orchard north of Gainesville. The activity will begin at 1:00 p.m. and should conclude around 4:00 p.m. Topics to be covered include pruning techniques, spray schedule for insects and diseases, variety selection, fertility programs and thinning.

Program speakers will be Marty Baker, Area Horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Craig Rosenbaum, County Agricultural Agent.

To get to the Alexander Orchard, go east on Highway 82 to the Assembly of God Church, turn north and go approximately one-half mile, then turn east.

The orchard will be on the south side of the road. The workshop is free and open to the public.

Purple Martins fill up on insects

by Ted Brice

Recently your Garden Editor came across a publication called the "Lore of the Purple Martin" and was amazed with this little bird.

Purple Martins were here long before Columbus discovered America. They lived in old woodpecker holes and in caves. Indians encouraged Purple Martins to live near their wigwams by providing hollowed gourds for their homes. The Martins would drive away the hawks that would drop down and steal the Indians' chickens. These little birds called Martins were fighters and their name is derived from the Latin word Martius meaning warlike.

We have come a long way in learning about this beautiful little black bird. In addition to protecting the chickens, they fly through the air and snap up mosquitos. They also eat flies, leaf hoppers, gnats and wasps. This trait has endeared the Purple Martin to the city dwellers along with their cheerful song and lively aeronautical arabats. There are people who claim they never have to spray their fruit trees against insects. The Martins take care of these insects. Maybe if we had enough Martin colonies the dangerous chemical insecticides could be completely eliminated.

Once a colony is established in a year, they will return year after year. There are special houses designed for Martins to encourage the colonies to return each year. Martins demand clean houses and will not live in houses that other birds have lived in. The Martins will send an advance scout to inspect the house prior to the arrival of the colony. After the colony leaves in the fall of the year the house should be cleaned and the holes plugged to keep the sparrows out until the scout arrives next spring. When the scout arrives remove the plugs so the house can be inspected by the scout. Remember the Purple Martins will eat their weight each day in mosquitos (Approx. 2,000 per day).

The MAC Industries of Oklahoma City has studied the habits of the Purple Martins and has built an ideal Purple Martin House.

energy answers

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

I understand there are several ways to use solar energy in the home, such as for space heating and cooling and for water heating. Are any of these practical for Texas? P. W., Beaumont.

Solar water heating is considered a cost-effective (or economically practical) use of solar energy for the home. It is competitive with electric water heating but not with gas water heating at this time.

Using basic passive solar design techniques in the construction of a new home is also a cost-effective use of solar energy in Texas which can help lower space heating and cooling costs. Passive solar design techniques include locating most glass on the south side of the house, providing adequate overhangs for summer shading, and using natural ventilation methods.

Passive design techniques are always done in conjunction with basic conservation construction practices such as proper insulation and weatherstripping and caulking.

More information on passive solar design techniques, and solar water heating in Texas is available free from the Texas EES office at Texas A&M University.

From the standpoint of energy conservation, which is more efficient, a fireplace or a woodstove? T. R., Amarillo.

A woodstove is considerably more energy efficient than a fireplace. The efficiency of woodstoves ranges from 30 percent to as high as 65 percent.

On the other hand, the typical fireplace is only 10 percent efficient. Efficiencies of fireplaces can be improved to about 20 percent by adding devices such as tube grates, blowers, and glass doors.
