JULY 12, 1985

The hostages of hijacked TWA Flight 847, except the seven who were insolently held back for no explained reason, are back home and the nation is cheering over their regained freedom. But their deliverance does not change the fact that war is in progress.

The fact is obvious, as shown by a rash of terrorist incidents in a short period of time. The Flight 847 hijacking was emphasized by beating a U.S. sailor beyond recognition and then executing him. In Frankfurt, Germany a bomb explodes in a crowded airport. In San Salvador gunmen spray bullets at an outdoor cafe killing four Marines and two other U.S. businessmen along with others. A bomb, exploded at a Tokyo airport on a 747 only 40 minutes after landing, is believed to be intended for a mid-air blast. And less than an hour later, another 747 explodes near Ireland killing 329. Baggage on both of those flights originated in Toronto.

It is significant that the Navy diver so savagely beaten and murdered by the 847 hijackers was posthumously awarded a Purple Heart, which is customarily given to U.S. servicemen wounded or killed in war. For this actually was war. Not the conventional conflict of the past, but the sneaky, cowardly, despicable war of terrorism, in sharp contrast with the atomic war that has been so widely publicized.

President Reagan is obviously frustrated by the situation. His problem is that he can't identify the guilty persons or prepare to meet them because he does not know when or where they will strike. Furthermore, he cannot depend on the cooperation of other nations in retaliatory measures. Some governments will hesitate to support us, as indicated by demonstrations at Beirut cheering the hijackers. On the other hand, it is likely that some Arab countries would not oppose the criminals because they fear them.

Another important factor in the problem is Russia's success in convincing so many people that the U.S. is their enemy. Meanwhile, the Soviets are the originators and principal supporters of terrorism. They set up and maintain training camps where the killers learn the tricks of their profession. They have an international terrorist network with nerve centers in Tripoli, Tehran, Damascus, Beirut and other cities around the world.

Actually it is a contemptible method of procedure, a complex conspiracy to strike at free and democratic nations while keeping out of the action and having fanatic stooges do their dirty work. Moreover, they are ignorant stooges, not knowing that they are being used or what is right or wrong. Terrorists are getting the blame for the rash of world violence while Russia smugly watches its top mission, damage to the U.S., being accomplished. Why should the Kremlin send its boys to fight this undeclared war when Shiites and the like can be sent to fight for it?

President Reagan has mentioned his problem, that we can't strike back at terrorists because we don't know who they are. In a sense that's true. We don't know the individuals who brought weapons to the plane or bullied passengers and murdered one of them. We don't know whom to arrest or where to find them. And if we apprehend them, what court would try them? Plainly, justice is elusive. Nevertheless, we know who is actually guilty. It's those behind the master plot. And again we are stymied. How can

Big numbers turn out for free swim lessons

According to Director Jeannine Flusche, the turnout for this year's free swim lessons is as good as ever.

Figures obtained from book-keeper, Frances Bayer, show a total of 175 participants in this week's session and a total of 138 enrolled for next week's final session. That makes a current total of 313 enrolled in the two-week session.

However, that figure could increase. According to Flusche, swimmers are still welcomed to enroll for next week's lessons and may do so by contacting Flusche at 759-4497.

The free swim program is an annual event here in Muenster and is a Red cross program conducted by persons with a rating of Water Safety Instructor (WSI).

The requirement for participation as a swimmer is to have completed kindergarten and to have officially enrolled and have a permission slip, where applicable, from parents.

Class hours are 9, 10 and 11 a.m. Officials request that those taking beginners and intermediate classes come at the earliest class, 9 a.m. Bayer explained that the request is made because there are fewer people coming to the 9 a.m. session, and that the 10 and 11 a.m. sessions are involving the more advanced swimmers and adult classes.

The Red Cross program is directed by Jeannine Flusche and taught by a staff of six WSI instructors including Flusche, JoAnn Pagel, Carol Henscheid, Kathy Hartman, Marilyn Smith and Serena Wright.

There are 12 students who finished the recent local course of basic rescue and life saving and 10 who completed advanced life saving.

9-county crackdown declared on vandalism/theft of signs

Vandalism to State highway signs cost taxpayers almost $700,000 in 1984. That figure includes signs that were disfigured and stolen. Of all signs replaced less than ten percent were damaged or destroyed in vehicle accidents. About twenty percent were replaced due to age. The remaining seventy percent of all highway signs had to be replaced due to vandalism or theft.

District Engineer Jim Stacks, of Wichita Falls, says his nine-county district will file charges against anyone seen removing or damaging a highway sign. Penalties for those found guilty can be a fine up to $1,000 and a jail term of up to two years. Stacks says his personnel are checking for persons stealing and vandalizing signs both during the day and at night.

Stacks adds that when a sign has to be replaced, it not only costs the taxpayer money...it also takes money away from the department that is needed for maintenance. It also takes personnel away from other work and most important of all, it creates problems for motorists. There have been numerous cases where signs have been stolen or vandalized that have resulted directly in injury and death to motorists.

Stacks urged anyone seeing persons either vandalizing or removing signs to get a license number and report it to their nearest office of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

In addition to the sign problem, the State of Texas spent another $129,000 replacing lighting destroyed by vandals last year.

The problem is a large one...one that the personnel of District Three want stopped. It's a matter of life and death in some cases and the potential is always there.

No more attempts reported on child abduction here

Recent fears of a possible child abductor in the community have lessened, and there have been no new reports of attempted abductions, according to Police Chief Helen Tompkins.

In the June 21 edition of The Muenster Enterprise a lengthy article appeared noting two reported abduction attempts.

Along with that article were printed several guidelines for both parents and children in the prevention of child abduction both at home and away from home.

Since the June 21 edition, a local civic group has undertaken to initiate the city-wide/area-wide establishment of a child watch or child assistance program. More information and details of the project are forthcoming.

SOMETHING NEW is added to the playground equipment at City Park. The timber playgym is a project of the Muenster Jaycees, headed by Alan Miller. The gym is being constructed by Earnest Martin, who said the only remaining construction is a slide being built by Flusche Enterprises. The slide will be attached opposite the firemen's poles. Martin said the actual construction of the gym began about three weeks ago during Scout Day Camp. He added that all the Jaycees have had something to do in the construction of the gym, "Whether they've dug holes, or whatever, they have all helped," Martin said. Pictured above — Jennifer Gaston, 8, John Hofbauer, 8, and Matthew Gaston, 11, romp on the new play equipment as an envious 10-month-old Cathrine Grace Gaston watches the "big kids."

Businesses burglarized, cash drawers rifled

A rash of early morning burglaries Sunday left five businesses missing an approximate total of $250 and two businesses with jammed doors.

According to Muenster Police Chief Helen Tompkins, the Dairy Inn, Speddy's Conoco Station, Dude's Gulf Station, Hennigan Auto Parts, and Rohmer's Restaurant were all burglarized and money taken from the cash drawers. Tompkins said nothing else was rifled and that checks were left.

Chief Tompkins said the Schilling's Fina Station and the Center Restaurant both reported attempted burglaries occurring at the same time as the previous five.

However, entry was not gained at either the Center or Schillings, only the doors were jammed.

Tompkins said the incidents are suspected to have taken place sometime between midnight Saturday and 4 a.m. Sunday, July 7.

Jaycees to host fete, 'Fest helpers honored

As a way of saying thanks to about 175 men and women who worked at the Jaycee beer van during Germanfest, the local chapter will host with a dinner and dance next Saturday night, the 13th, in the VFW Hall. Meal time is 7 p.m. and dance time is 9 p.m.

The appreciated guests will include those who served along with those who handled kegs, kept the area clean, sold tickets, or helped in any other way. Jaycees tried to list them last week in a full page ad in The Enterprise and added that anyone overlooked will also be welcome.

The three-day beer concession at Germanfest grossed the chapter $59,404 and the total of expenses were $22,968, leaving $36,436 to be divided between the Jaycees and sponsoring Chamber of Commerce. Both organizations are using their proceeds principally to support community improvements and civic programs and to promote business opportunities.

Scouts head for national jamboree

Three members of Boy Scout Troop 659, Life Scouts Murlin Evans and Jeff Walterscheid of Muenster, along with First Class Scout George Spaeth of Gainesville, will begin the adventure of the 1985 National Scout Jamboree on Thursday, July 18.

Their activity begins with a 747 flight to Baltimore, then stay briefly at the University of Baltimore between visits to a number of spots in Washington, D.C.

Another plane flight, then, will take them to the thrilling experience of the jamboree. Among activities on their plan are water sports and games, archery, rifle shooting and a merit badge midway where they can choose from hundreds of merit badge categories to work on.

However, they are looking forward most to making friends and meeting scouts among the 30,000 boys attending from all states and several foreign countries.

Good News

But whatever things were gain to me, those things I have counted as loss for the sake of Christ.

More than that, I counted all things to be loss in view of the surpassing value of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord, for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and count them but rubbish in order that I may gain Christ. PHILIPPIANS 3:7-8

The second session of beginner swim classes starts Monday, July 15.

Mild for July

Compared with other summers, current weather could be rated as mild. July is one-third gone and temperature is still under 100, with only one exception. Hottest of the year to date is 100 even on May 30. However, it's getting dry. The last good rain was 3.32 on June 6, so the measure has been only 2.24 in more than a month. Total for June was 5.56 inches the total for the year is 16.55. Readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Mosler.

Counterterrorism

When a Moroccan brigand named Raisuli kidnapped an American citizen named Perdicaris in 1904, then-President Theodore Roosevelt fired off the classic message "Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead."

The Reagan administration assumed a comparable ethos a year ago when it adopted a policy of pre-empting terrorist attacks upon Americans or retaliating once they occurred.

Predictably, however, the policy of striking terrorists before they strike you or at least extracting an eye for an eye afterwards proved easier to adopt than to implement.

For starters, the really professional terrorists tend to be highly secretive and, therefore, difficult to identify and locate. And because both preemption and retaliation necessarily involve the use of deadly force, cases of mistaken identity can result in tragedy.

Terrorist organizations, or at least the innermost councils of those organizations, resist penetration by outsiders or others who might be gathering information for a foreign intelligence service. So, intelligence information precise enough and reliable enough to justify pre-emptive attack is rare indeed.

And finally, terrorists typically use the local civilian population as cover, which means that attacking them usually risks killing innocent bystanders.

Notwithstanding these complications, a policy of pre-emption and retaliation can diminish if hardly eliminate the terrorist threat. Israel has proved as much with an aggressive counterterrorism strategy that has achieved remarkable success for nearly 40 years.

To achieve similar success, United States needs better intelligence - especially in the Middle East - plus the ability to conduct covert actions and then to keep these operations secret. It also needs the political will to strike at terrorists sponsored directly by such states as Syria, Libya and Iran and indirectly by the Soviet Union.

It would be comforting to believe that Washington could always rely on foreigners to carry out actual attacks against terrorists. But, as recent experience in Lebanon, Nicaragua and elsewhere demonstrates, foreigners can be difficult to control. And they often are pursuing a political agenda different from Washington's.

If the Reagan administration and Congress are serious about a pre-emptive strategy for protecting Americans from terrorist attack, they must accept the necessity of sending American anti-terrorist units to get the job done.

There are many steps that can be taken against terrorism short of sending someone to shoot the terrorists. Economic and political sanctions can be taken against governments that sponsor terrorism.

Fuller cooperation with allies can limit the movements of terrorists and diminish the element of surprise when they do strike.

Better intelligence, and more sharing of intelligence among allies, would permit more effective defensive measures against terrorism.

But when all of these steps fall short of shielding Americans from terrorist attack, there is every reason to employ stronger means. One case in point could hardly be more current - 40 Americans on a TWA jet held hostage by Shiite Moslems in Beirut, Lebanon. The Shiite hijackers demand the exchange of 700 Shiites being held by Israel.

If these Americans are murdered, those who killed them will be prime candidates for the retaliation the Reagan administration envisions. And if paramilitary action could rescue the 40 Americans by attacking those who hold them, the Reagan administration would presumably act without hesitation.

One caveat applies, however. As the disaster of the aborted Iranian rescue mission showed so dramatically, counterterrorist operations are worth attempting only if they are conducted properly. Let the Reagan administration not forget that as it works to implement the active, anti-terrorist strategy it has already embraced in principle.

Enslaved Nations

FOR MANY YEARS NOW, Captive Nations Week has been proclaimed each year by the President to focus attention on the nations of the world which have been imprisoned by the International Communist scourge.

This proclamation is issued in compliance with a law passed by Congress and signed by President Eisenhower in early 1959.

A Captive Nations Committee operates out of New York City and seeks to remind our people of those now enslaved and of the 140 million people who have been slaughtered by this monstrous tyranny, Communism.

The research department of The National Education Program compiles its own records of these "Enslaved Nations." In September 1979 and again in April 1983 these lists were published in our National Program Letter.

A current list of the "Enslaved Nations" has been published in the July 1985 issue of the newsletter. To receive a copy, send a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to the National Education Program, Route 1, Box 141, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73111, and ask for a copy of the July National Program Letter.

Our calculations have been based on population and area figures published in the 1985 Reader's Digest Almanac and Year Book. (pages 467-469)

We have found that the forces of International Communism, led by the Soviet Union and Communist China, now control 50 nations imprisoning 1,727 million people occupying 18.7 million square miles.

This means that 36.1 percent of the earth's people and 32.5 percent of the land surface of the globe are now under the direct control of the Communists.

We can remember when not too many years ago we were startled to learn that the Communist movement was taking over control of the world at the rate of 60,000 people a day.

Our up-to-date calculations indicate that since the Russian Revolution on Nov. 7, 1917 through May 31, 1985, the Communists have enslaved an average of 70,023 people every day of that 67-plus years.

As gloomy as the record is, there is some room for encouragement. Since our 1983 listing, one nation, Grenada, has been freed from Communist tyranny. Another encouraging fact is that no nation has fallen to Communism since 1982 when Suriname, the former Dutch Guiana, was taken over.

For too many years there has been no anti-Communist strategy directing the foreign policy of our government. There has been no national "will to win" over Communism. There has been no dedication to helping people preserve their freedom or regain their lost freedom.

On the other hand there are powerful, well-organized subversive forces actively at work within the nation to prevent the very actions we should be taking in our own long-range interests.

The effectiveness of this "fifth column" in America can be gauged by their success in sabotaging a victory in Vietnam. These subversives have been worth a hundred divisions to the Soviets. Consider that they helped hand the Communists: South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia and our bases there which now service Soviet vessels and aircraft.

Isn't it time we started thinking about the best long range interests of America for a change?

Benson is president of the National Education Program, based in Oklahoma City

State Capitol Highlight

AUSTIN — Economy-minded state officials were joyful last week when the Navy announced it would build the much sought-after homeport for a new battleship at Corpus Christi.

The Houston-Galveston area, which had survived cuts to make it to the final three, will also get several attendant ships in its area as the U.S. builds a 600-ship Navy.

The Texas Legislature this spring appropriated $25 million for improvements to the Corpus Christi base site to help lure the Navy base to the Lone Star State.

Jobs and money from the Navy construction are expected to spill over to the entire state, including annual spending of $174 million and 7,140 permanent jobs for a total economic impact for Texas of one-quarter of a billion dollars.

Specifically, the Navy will put the battleship USS Wisconsin, a missile carrier, a missile destroyer, a minesweeper and aircraft carrier at Corpus Christi.

Defense Dollars Here

And a Defense Department report indicates other Pentagon spending in Texas will total more than $32 billion this year, second only to California.

Some $2.2 billion will pay for petroleum refining and related services, and $2.1 billion for crude oil and natural gas, a boost to that slumping industry here.

Correction

The following statement in last week's MUESTER ENTERPRISE was incorrect and misleading. The sentence was in the front page story on the street-curb ordinance:

Another difficulty applies if the city, rather than the developer, installs the streets and gutters. In that case, the expense has to be paid by taxpayers and persons all over town who have paid tax all along become further obligated.

The fact is, the city, i.e., the taxpayers pay only for the base work and the intersections. The main part of the cost of curbing and paving is paid by individual property owners. The general taxpayer does not bear the whole cost if a developer does not curb and pave.

Election Runoff Set

The governor set Aug. 3 as the date for the election runoff in the First Congressional District in northeast Texas.

Results from the June 29 vote had Republican Edd Hargett out front with 42 percent and Democrat Jim Chapman in second place with 30 percent of the vote out of an eight-man field.

Both sides are calling themselves underdogs in this important vote which analysts are considering a test on Democratic defections to the Republican Party.

Political Jockeying

Another Republican has surfaced who might run for governor, this one from Houston, where the key to victory may lie.

Jack Rains, a wealthy lawyer, businessman and Aggie, said he has financial commitments which would enable him to campaign if former Gov. Bill Clements does not. Rains was appointed by Clements to the Veterans Land Board.

Rains said other candidates are either too new to the GOP or not broad-based enough to win. "If you're going to beat Mark White, you've got to beat him in Houston," he said.

That strategy is becoming more accepted by political analysts who remember that Houston was the only area that White took away from Clements in defeating him in '82. Its large population, its economic troubles and its huge turnout of swing voters make it perhaps the most crucial county, election-wise, of this decade.

And in the coming governor's race, there's another factor to consider: Mark White is from Houston, too.

Saturn Project

Meanwhile, Texas still awaits word on whether General Motors Corp. will select this state as the site of the new Saturn plant.

Other state legislatures still in session are developing their incentives to GM, which will probably make the announcement sometime in mid-July. The Texas Legislature approved a package of service incentives which included new roads and transportation facilities. Sherman, Texas is thought to be a prime site.

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, though, said last week that a lack of positive signals from GM is discouraging.

But GM officials said when a decision has been reached, they will personally notify top officials of some three dozen states before making a public announcement.

As it looks from here, President Reagan faces a Herculean job in finding a way to retaliate and to stop terrorism. The odds are stacked against any success in confronting the criminals head on. But there appears to be a chance of retaliating in other ways to bring the criminals to their senses.

First step in that direction is to restore some old-time patriotism and cooperation in this country. And the next is to inform other nations of the real state of world affairs, that is, who's on the side of good and who's on the side of evil, and civilization's future if the Soviet conspiracy succeeds.

Fireworks threaten to burn barn

Gene and Andy Klement say "Thanks a million" to the firemen of Muenster and Myra for stopping a fireworks-ignited blaze before it reached their barn, full of hay and equipment.

It happened July 4 at Gene's place two miles east of town. As determined by the firemen, the cause was some fireworks item thrown into a field of barley stubbles from a car on Highway 82. The fire definitely was headed for the barn and if it had ignited, the house, too, would have been in danger.

Stolen radio returned

A radio taken from a 1985 Bronco last Thanksgiving night was recovered from a Gainesville man last Tuesday and returned to Marty Klement, according to Muenster Police Chief Helen Tompkins.

Tompkins said restitution for damages was made and the radio returned, and no charges were filed.

They Make Our Days Brighter

James Harrison

At 8 a.m., four days a week, their truck rolls out of the city barn and thus begins eight hours of picking up someone else's trash.

By 5 p.m. they have covered approximately 100 miles of road, made two trips to the rural landfill, and disposed of some 14,000 pounds of refuse.

They are called sanitation workers. I wonder if that isn't because they help us keep our sanity? Think not? Multiply your trash by the number of times these men pick it up. Then, figure out how you would dispose of it as often or as well.

They are taken for granted, often abused, and seldom thanked. Yet, where on earth would we be without them?

They double back over routes when someone is carelessly forgetful about getting trash out on time.

They strain their backs lifting bags with which someone has exceeded the 50-pound weight limit.

They have to pick up trash spilled from a too-full sack, whose owner did not have the consideration to roll the top down on — or — whose neighbor allowed his dog to rip open.

And on Wednesdays, should job priorities allow, they pick up your brush so you don't have to carry it off.

They get a short morning and afternoon break. That's when some people comment about how they always sit around at the Dairy Inn — never doing anything. Too bad those same people haven't taken the steps these unsung heroes have taken during the day.

They are chased by dogs and yelled at by people who don't understand. So, why do they keep on keeping on?

Because of the joy in little Charlie Moster's face, who waits anxiously by the curb just so he can put some something in the truck all by himself. And because, with great caution and personal assistance, he can push the lever that squashes all that stuff together.

Because Aunt Fritz (Agnus Lehnertz) has some fresh cookies waiting in the next block - and a glass of milk if they'd like.

"A smiling face does help," said James Harrison, sanitation superintendent. "Things are running pretty fair right now. The commercial route has been a little heavier than usual this summer. Come to think of it, so has the residential."

An economic indicator? Who knows?

James said the thing he minds most are dogs who rip up trash bags and scatter trash. That calls for extra work and a delay in an already tight schedule. "We appreciate it when people roll the tops of the bags down, and when they don't fill them full. There's a 50-pound limit, but some don't always follow it," James said.

Prior to coming to work for the City two years ago, James spent 30 years in the oil fields. He remembers a time when he worked 106 hours on a rig before he could go home. He slept for two days. His wife thought he was dead.

James, his wife, Gladys, and their granddaughter, Sondra Hughes, live in rural Muenster.

Michael K. Lewis lives with his wife, Tracy, and four-year-old daughter, Sonya Rae, in Saint Jo.

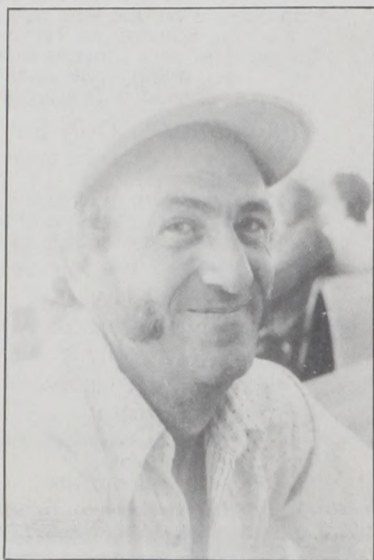

Mike also comes to the city from 15 years in the oil field. He's been with the sanitation department for a year. There isn't any particular part of his job that he dislikes. "I don't complain," Mike said. "I like the pay and getting off at 5 o'clock." He said he also preferred it to the oil fields.

David Dittfurth of Muenster has been with the city since he got out of high school, about four years ago. David said the one thing that bothers him most about his job is finding garbage bags torn and trash scattered.

Another employee, Tony Hess, was on a leave of absence at the time of this interview. Tony has been with the city five years. He and his wife, Stella, have four children — Sam, 22; Mick, 19; Dana, 11; and Jennifer, 3. They live just outside Muenster.

Roll the tops of your trash bags down, watch the weight limit and say, "Hello," and, "Thank you," the next time these guys go by.

Zimmerers make home in Fort Worth

Lemons Photography of Nocona

MRS. JOHN JOSEPH ZIMMERER
... nee Shirley Jean Fuhrmann ...

Mr. and Mrs. John Zimmerer are making their home in Fort Worth since returning from the wedding trip that followed their marriage on June 29.

The bride is the former Shirley Jean Fuhrmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fuhrmann. She is a graduate of Lindsay High School and Cooke County College with an Associate degree in Nursing, and is an R.N. employed at St. Joseph Hospital in Fort Worth.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zimmerer. He is a graduate of Muenster High School and North Texas State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Technology. He is employed by Robert Shaw Manufacturing in Fort Worth.

Father Cletus Post celebrated the Nuptial Mass and officiated for the exchange of vows in a double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing an original gown of all-over Chantilly lace. The fitted lace bodice had a sheer capelet yoke surrounded with a wide Chantilly lace ruffle. A high Victorian neckline outlined with silk Venise lace was accented with pearls and sequins.

A full flowing skirt of Chantilly lace and multiple rows of matching lace ruffles were caught with satin ribbons, with the ruffles forming a semi-cathedral train.

The bride's Juliet lace cap held her fingertip-length veil which was edged with a matching Chantilly lace ruffle and ribbon.

She carried a bridal cascade of roses, carnations and stephanotis enhanced with baby's breath and streamers in the bride's chosen colors.

Attendants

Kay Lynn Grewing of Sherman was the matron of honor. Donna Ferguson, the bride's sister, Mary Lou Reiter, a friend, Shelly Zimmerer, the groom's sister, all of Gainesville, and Debbie Zimmerer, the groom's sister of Levelland, were bridesmaids. Brandi Fuhrmann, the bride's niece, was flower girl. They wore lilac formal gowns with fitted waists and full skirts enhanced with row upon row of matching gathered lace which formed a V-shape in back and cascaded to the hemline and completely encircled the edge. The bridesmaids wore wreaths in their hair and carried bouquets of roses, carnations and daisies arranged to complement the bride's bouquet.

David Ray Fuhrmann, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Gary Zimmerer was his brother's best man. Matt Sicking of Muenster, Donny Pool of Allen, friends of the groom, Carl Zimmerer, the groom's brother, and Donald Ray Fuhrmann, brother of the bride, were groomsmen. Albert Zimmerer of Gainesville, Jeff Tempel and Monte Wimmer, both of Muenster, friends, and Kenneth Zimmerer, the bride's cousin, were ushers.

Mass servers were Jeff Arendt, the bride's cousin, and Mike

Dieter, a friend.

Wedding music was provided by Patsy Henry, organist, who played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied herself for "Follow Me," "Sunrise, Sunset," "Evergreen" and "Wind Beneath My Wings."

Reception

A reception, cocktail hour, dinner and dance followed in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Gainesville.

Linda Schumacher and Kristi Moyer registered more than 300 guests in the bride's book.

The four-layered wedding cake, made by the groom's mother, was decorated with flowers in the bride's chosen colors, and was enhanced with a lighted fountain on the bottom layer. Serving the cake were Holly Hess, Sara Flusche, Julie Dankesreiter and Molly Koelzer.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in the Hood Community Center. About 40 guests attended a miscellaneous shower on June 9.

Urban Endres has been a director of Muenster State Bank for two and a half years, elected in January 1983.

"I think it is good to have a wider bank-ownership base in the community for the good of the bank and the community," he said.

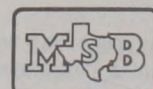

In business for himself since age 20, he began with hay baling and heavy machinery work. In 1946, he obtained the Ford Motor Co. dealership and in 1959 started the Cooke County Distributing Co.

For 21 years he served on the Muenster Independent School Board and for 17 years on the Cooke County College Board. He spent 10 years on the Muenster City Council, six as the Mayor.

Summing up his philosophy as a director, Endres said, "A director's responsibility is to maintain a strong financial institution concentrated locally, to build the community and to secure deposits. Without sufficient deposits, loans can't be made."

Urban Endres and his wife, the former Jane Miller, were married in April 1945. They have four children, a daughter and three sons. There are six grandchildren. He said "she has supported me in all my business ventures. Together we anticipate a steady and stable growth in Muenster and the Muenster State Bank."

Soccer day camp scheduled

Organization of a soccer program in Muenster appeared likely this week with the announcement of two soccer day camps here in late July and early August. The first week, July 22-26, is for boys and the second week, July 29-Aug. 2, is for girls. In either case, the age requirement for entry is 6 to 18 years.

The instructor will be John Russo, licensed coach of the U.S. Soccer Federation. He was coach at the spring session for grades 3, 4 and 5 at Sacred Heart School last spring.

The camp will be at the Muenster baseball field 8 to 12 on each day, the instruction fee will be $25 per student, and each is expected to bring his or her drinking water. Each registrant will receive a free soccer bag or T-shirt.

Hopefully, the next step after the day camp will be the formation of a soccer league here during the coming fall or spring for ages 4 to 18 years.

A parents' meeting on the subject was held last week and another is scheduled for Aug. 1.

More information is available from Janice Bayer, 759-2791, or Loretta Felderhoff, 759-4337 or 759-4479.

Non-Smokers to get insurance discount

Persons accepted for individual health and life coverage from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas, Inc. will now get a discount on rates if they are non-smokers.

John D. Melton, president of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas Inc., announced that non-smoking applicants for the company's TotalCare coverage will get a 10 percent discount. To be eligible for the discount, applicants must certify that they have not smoked or used tobacco products in the past 12 months.

The lower rates will apply to new subscribers as well as those already enrolled. Dependents of applicants, including children, also will be eligible for discounted rates. Letters will be mailed to current subscribers, offering them an opportunity to certify their non-smoking status.

Information on the discount is available toll-free at 1-800-442-4176.

TotalCare is a comprehensive non-group health and life insurance policy for individuals under age 65 and their families. It is offered to those not enrolled in group health insurance programs.

"There is now enough solid scientific research to prove that people who don't smoke are healthier," Melton said. "Our company is heeding this evidence and adjusting the way we rate individual coverage."

"If you have individuals - non-smokers - who are at less of a risk than others," Melton said, "it makes sense to charge them less for their insurance."

Scientific evidence over the past

20 years has demonstrated a strong link between smoking and a host of diseases, including coronary heart disease, chronic bronchitis and emphysema, lung cancer and other cancers (oral, larynx, esophagus, urinary-bladder). Smoking also contributes to other chronic illness, including conditions classified as peptic ulcer and sinusitis.

MEMORIES OF A BYGONE ERA, treasured by several generations of members of Sacred Heart Church, are rekindled by these old Photos From The Past. The pictures were reprinted from Father Joseph Fuhrmann's and Brother Thomas Moster's histories of Muenster and Sacred Heart parish for this week's Photos From The Past. In the upper left photo, the building shown is the second frame church built in the young colony of Muenster. It and its predecessor were both destroyed by storms, the first in December 1891 and the second in July 1893. It is interesting to note that the first Muenster parish was known as St. Mary's, later, but only briefly, as St. Joseph's. By vote of parishioners the new permanent church was dedicated to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. Shown in the upper right photo is the third structure, the Gothic, familiar red brick Sacred Heart Church. Its cornerstone was laid in October 1897 and the church was blessed in April 1898 by Bishop Dunn of Dallas.

TRULY ONE OF A KIND and unique in its era was the interior of the Sacred Heart Church that preceded the present modern structure. In this photo the church was decorated for the Feast of Corpus Christi, with garlands entwined on the Gothic pillars and flowers and candles in profusion on the high altar. The silk altar cloth, elaborately embroidered in gold, was used for the most special occasions. At left foreground is the ornate pulpit. Antique light fixtures and a suspended sanctuary lamp are clearly visible, as are the two beautiful candelabras held by kneeling angel statues. Intricate frescoes were hand painted on arches, walls and ceiling. Age and deterioration finally took their toll on the building, and insufficient seating space and extreme difficulty in heating were among reasons that prompted the decision to erect a modern, adequate building which was completed in 1954.

Time sure does "march on." Charles and Beth Dill celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary Saturday, June 29. They and their children, Keith, Kody and Keisha, celebrated the day at Six Flags. On June 30, the Dill family and Mrs. Nora Gartrell went to San Antonio, stopping in Austin to view the state capitol building, then to San Marcos and New Braunfels where they drove around looking over that fair town. In San Antonio, they spent two days seeing the King William District with its old homes and the famous San Antonio River Walk. In Corpus Christi, on Padre Island and up the coast to Port Lavaca, they enjoyed a lot of good seafood. From Port Lavaca, they drove through the country to Huntsville and spent the night and visited a museum and Sam Houston's two homes. Vacations must end and the Dills ended theirs by returning home Friday, July 6.

Mmes. Veda Brogdon, Becky Scott and Jennifer were Wichita Falls visitors Monday, July 1 and called on Mrs. Nina Eavenson and Elizabeth Cox.

Bert and Eula Faye Galmor and granddaughter, Krista Shults, went to Mobeetie to visit Bert's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Galmor on July 1 and briefly with Robert's son and wife, the Bobby Don Galmors, in Shamrock. Bert, Eula Faye and Krista returned late Tuesday, July 2.

Millie and W.T. Reynolds were in Bowie July 3 visiting with Millie's sister, Mrs. Joe Denham.

On Thursday, July 4, the Ted Jacksons entertained their friends, Mr. and Mrs. S.T. Warford of Slidell, with "noon-time" dinner honoring Mrs. Warford's birthday, plus all other meanings of Independence Day.

Veda Brogdon and Jennifer Scott attended the picnic supper in the back yard of the home of Mrs. Sara Reaves in Saint Jo Wednesday, July 3, and watched the fireworks' display at Bogges Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Peroit, Amy and Brent of Krum and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Scott and Chris of Denton visited Cecil and Dorothy Foster on July 4. Then went to Luther Blankenship's lake for a day of fishing, boating, swimming, hunting and picnicking for a wonderful 4th.

Ronnie Sessums of Fort Worth visited the Jack C. Dills on the 4th of July. Ronnie is one of the people the Dills gave a home to when he really needed one.

Kenneth and Peggy Holland visited with Elmo and Imogene Brewer Thursday night, July 4, and then with Anna Bell and L.B. Clement. Imogene and Anna Bell are Kenneth's sisters.

Double stocking improves range

Grazing rangeland half the year with double normal stocking rate will improve the grassland's productivity. With a two pasture, one-herd planned grazing system this is possible.

With this system, a pasture will be grazed December to April, rested April through July, then grazed August through November. The other pasture will be rested December through March, grazed April through July, then rested August through November.

Each year, pastures are rested during a different season to benefit the entire plant community. For example, a pasture grazed December through March one year will be rested during that season the next year.

Resting rangeland during the growing season breaks the continuous pressure put on the better plants when livestock are allowed to graze pastures yearlong. Since livestock prefer plants high in protein, they bite them off daily while leaving lower in protein untouched. This weakens the more desirable plants while inferior plants are allowed to thrive and multiply.

Nearly all rangeland pastures also have areas where livestock concentrate such as around water, bedding grounds and feed grounds. Under continuous use, these areas are always overgrazed and never produce up to their potential due to low plant vigor of better plants. By resting pastures, you will allow those plants to rapidly increase vigor, thicken the stand, increase foliage production and reduce erosion.

Resting also breaks the selective grazing pressure that continuous use puts on the more productive range sites. In a pasture with both deep clay and shallow soils, livestock usually tend to overgraze deep sites under continuous grazing. Because of this overgrazing, they seldom produce to their capability.

Personnel with the Soil Conservation Service, of the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Gainesville, who give technical assistance to landowners and operators through the local Upper Elm Red Soil and Water Conservation District, can assist you with your system.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Recently, we have visited with H.A. Turney, our Area Entomologist, who has been taking quite a few insect surveys in the North Texas area. Some of his findings have shown insect populations light in most of the region.

As usual, Cooke County should not have a problem with Sorghum Midge. This is due to the early planting dates that we have. Midge will attack only the yellow blooming stage of a grain sorghum plant. Many of our fields have passed that stage. Midge are usually expected in Cooke County around July 4. If you have late blooming maize, then you may want to check for Midge populations. They are a very small orange-colored gnat-type insect. They will lay eggs in the developing grain where larvae will feed and blast the heads. H.A. tell us that he was checking fields in Ellis County and only found five Sorghum Midge per one hundred heads. This should be a good indication that we will not be bothered this year in Cooke County.

One grain sorghum insect that we are having problems with in the area is the Headworm. Producers should check fields of grain sorghum that is in the dough stage for the presence of these worms. An average population of three worms, especially smaller worms, would be enough to consider and use chemical control. For the past two years we have seen some pretty heavy Headworm infestations in the county. Most of these infestations are on tight-headed sorghum varieties.

One last insect problem that we have been noting in some grain sorghum in the area is with Greenbugs. These populations have been the heaviest in counties to the southeast of ours. However, if you do have some late-planted young grain sorghum, then you might want to check these fields for the presence of Greenbugs if they are not making good growth. Most of the time this late in the season we do have enough beneficial insects to control these Greenbug populations. Greenbugs will have to be in heavy enough populations to kill two grown leaves before chemical control will be needed. Hopefully we will not experience any problems from these even on our late-planted maize.

The main insect to be looking for in our grain sorghum fields now is the Headworm.

Forestburg News

Mrs. Veda Brogdon attended the Harvill family reunion Sunday, July 7, at the home of Rhoda Harvill in Saint Jo.

Christy Rashid of Denton spent Sunday with her parents, the Kenneth Hollands, Kendall and Brent.

Earl Richardson of Montague spent Monday at Stoney Point with the Kenneth Hollands and had lunch with them.

Charles Edwards and Tracy Greenwood left early Tuesday morning to attend the FFA Convention in Houston until noon Friday, July 12.

L.C. McMillion of Dewey has received word that his sister, Zetty Harrison of Wichita Falls, has suffered a very serious heart attack and is in ICCU at Wichita Falls General Hospital.

Our Vera Mae McGee is improving somewhat and for this we are very thankful.

This is it for this week, if your news items aren't in this column, 'tis your fault, not mine.

John Knapp

Knapp wins three awards

John Knapp, great-grandson of Louise Shults of Forestburg and grandson of John and Nelda Blankenship, former Forestburg residents, competed recently in the Tri-County Interscholastic Meet in Shawnee, Okla. A sixth grader, he attends school at Harrah, Okla. and won a first place and a second place in subjects he entered in the meet, and a gold medallion for being high point student in a field of 800 students. ## Managing livestock forage system a must Livestock producers' major objective is to provide a year-round forage supply for their animals. This requires careful planning and forage specie selection. The type of livestock is also important.

A producer with mainly cool season forages usually operates a stocker program or cow-calf, with cows calving in early fall. Those with mainly bermudagrass usually have a cow-calf operation with calves coming in late winter. When the major forage supply does not coincide with the major forage needs, livestock performance suffers.

It is difficult to provide an all-season food supply on the same acre. Cool season grasses, when overseeded on bermudagrass, tend to lower the production of the bermudagrass. Many producers have individual fields designated for strictly cool season production, some for warm season production, and some for species such as lovegrass or switchgrass to fill in the grazing gaps. This makes for more efficient fertilizer applications and provides quality forage year-round.

When planning a forage system, consider these points: (1) know your soil type and its potential, (2) note average monthly rainfall, and (3) forage species selection.

It is best to develop a forage system built around a combination of grasses and legumes to provide forage when you need it. You will have to open and close a lot of gates, but by doing so, the livestock will always have a supply of nutritious forage available.

Consult your local Soil Conservation Service technician for assistance in developing a year-round forage system.
