Fireworks outlawed in '60

By B. J. Fenton

On July 18, 1960 the Muenster City Council declared an emergency. Under Mayor Herbert Meurer, the Council declared "an emergency exists to curb and control and restrict the use and handling of any and all types of fireworks, within the limits of the City of Muenster for the protection and the safety, peace and health of the citizens."

Ordinance No. 88, signed by Mayor Meurer and attested to by City Secretary Joyce Tempel is still in effect.

Be it whomever, no one is allowed to sell, distribute, have or use fireworks within the city.

Should someone decide to try their luck and gets caught, they are facing misdemeanor charges and are subject to a fine from $20.70 to $200 per day.

According to city law, "Any person, firm, corporation, individuals or any business pursuing, engaged in, handling, selling, offering for sale, or giving away any type of fireworks...shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined."

That fine can be as much as $200, and each day the law is found to have been violated the fine is effective. For example, if someone were convicted of selling fireworks for five days and fined $200, that's not a $200 total fine. It's $200 multiplied time five days or $1,000.

The law applies equally for anyone convicted of possessing and using fireworks of any kind, with the exception that the fine is not less than $20.70 nor more than $200.

However fireworks can be legal if, according to city law, the person, persons or business wishing to put on a "public display" comes before a "regular" session of the City Council with a proposal "designating and outlining clearly the purpose, the place of use, the time and all other information relative...and all the necessary protections and indemnity...to protect property and persons."

If the City Council approves all provisions of the proposal, it may issue a Special Permit for the special occasion. Without the permit there is no legal display.

Fireworks safety tips, always a necessity

By B. J. Fenton

Pretending that people won't use fireworks just because there's a law against it is as juvenile an idiocy as using them in legal territory in a careless, life-threatening manner.

Nearly every city in Northeast Texas has a law prohibiting the sale, distribution and/or use of fireworks. But one can't help wondering just how many of those cities never hear even a firecracker within the city limits come July 4. Wherever the city, it surely has no mischievous youngsters.

All those cities that prohibit fireworks usually have a provision within their laws allowing for special permits for public displays.

For those who are rural rather than city dwellers, fireworks have only state restrictions on the types that may be used.

Until the State of Texas outlaws all fireworks (and that legislation is in the making, perhaps some two years down the road) they are still available and people will still sell, buy and use them.

For those people, and the general welfare of all people, Gainesville Fire Chief Steve Boone has helped us put together some "common sense" precautions on handling fireworks — because — every year hundreds of children, and adults, are injured or maimed due to the careless use of fireworks.

Children as well as adults lose fingers, hands, arms or receive lifelong scars or blindness from powder burns and explosions. In some cases, people lose their lives in a moment of careless excitement.

Even animals such as dogs, cats, birds, livestock are often subjected to someone's demented humor come early July.

People have been left homeless and property destroyed because of a bottle rocket (illegal in the state of Texas), Roman candle, or some such firework gone wild or intentionally misdirected and fired.

A hundred and one things can go wrong, and in a split second a family outing can become a family tragedy.

Therefore, here are some safety tips for those who live in the country, or who plan a special permit display, or who plan to take the family somewhere "legal" to enjoy your fireworks:

— ALWAYS have adult supervision when fireworks of any kind are in use.

— NEVER give fireworks to children.

— KEEP small children completely away from all fireworks.

— IN RURAL areas, be mindful of dry, grassy areas, susceptible to fire. "The rains have helped," said Chief Boone. "But, we've lost several houses to just that kind of fire."

— BE MINDFUL of wooden shingled structures and aim fireworks in the opposite direction.

— USE PROPER mounts for firing such items as Roman candles - a stationary structure on the ground, not held in a hand.

— AN IDEAL firing range in a rural area is a plowed field or large graded lot away from any grassy areas. In a city, a large parking lot would make an ideal firing range.

— KEEP spectators a safe distance away from the firing area.

— SHOULD an accident occur, call the proper medical of fire personnel immediately.

— Retired persons alerted — Phonies claim to represent AARP

The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and various law enforcement agencies have been receiving an increasing number of complaints about sales agents who are fraudulently selling estate planning services by claiming to represent the "AARP Trust Division." AARP has no Trust Division and no sales agents authorized to visit or telephone members.

Persons claiming to represent AARP services are currently active and north central Texas and use a P.O. Box in Edmond, Oklahoma.

Their general approach is to contact older persons who have responded to an advertising coupon from the National Estate

Information Service in Washington, D.C.; this coupon allows people to request information on estate planning and/or the Uniform Gift to Minors Act. People are then contacted directly by individuals who want to deliver the "information" personally.

In similar cases in Weatherford, Bridgeport, Decatur and Wichita Falls, Texas, older persons have been deceived into turning over personal checks in the amount of $983.00.

It has always been a very strict policy of AARP to limit the offering of any AARP services to informational mailings only. There are no authorized agents of official AARP service providers who contact members by phone or in person to sell insurance, financial services or other products. AARP does not provide the name, address or telephone number of any members to organizations other than those officially designated to provide services to AARP members.

Older persons especially should be wary of any high-pressure sales approach, particularly by individuals who claim to represent AARP. They should contact their local law enforcement agency or Better Business Bureau and AARP's regional office at 6440 North Central, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas 75206, telephone 214-369-9206.

Frost named new principal, to coach tennis and golf

Thomas D. Frost, a native of Hugo, Okla., and a teacher in Hugo schools for 14 years, is the new principal succeeding Eddie Green at Muenster Public School. He was appointed Thursday in a meeting of the Muenster school board. Along with his administrative duties, Frost will coach tennis and golf.

His duties at Hugo were teaching history and geography and coaching 9th grade football and basketball and high school tennis.

Following graduation from his home town high school in 1966, Frost attended Southeast Oklahoma State University at Durant, receiving a BA degree in 1970. Later he returned to SEOSU graduate school and received an MA degree in school administration in 1976.

ster faculty is Frost's wife, Betty, who is assigned to the first grade. She is a 1969 graduate of Durant High School and also attended SEOSU, receiving a BS degree in 1973 with a major in elementary education and a minor in math. And in 1976 she received an MS degree at SEOSU with a major in elementary education. She has been a teacher at Hugo for the past 12 years.

The Frost's intend to move to Muenster as soon as they locate a place to live. They have two children, a son, 12, and a daughter, 3.

They are enthusiastic about coming, and specially impressed with the city's progress, its diversity of business and civic interests, its overall neatness, and the pride of the people. He said that the day after his appointment he was back home proudly wearing his new cap with the red letter "M."

Another addition to the Muen-

Tuning in on the average 10 p.m. TV edition of the news is getting to be mostly a matter of hearing about violence and various other evils that are in conflict with the law of the land and the standards of civilization. The past week was typical in that the normal half-hour period told about the highjacking in Lebanon and savage treatment of hostages, plus incidents of thousands of fanatics demonstrating their approval of the criminal deeds of the terrorists.

Another report told about the ambush assassination of four U.S. soldiers in El Salvador. And the two men mistakenly assumed to be narcotics investigators savagely killed in Mexico. Another report told of the capture of a rapist murderer in Fort Worth. And there's the district attorney at Waco who's made a career of selling influence to lawbreakers. Plus, also the disgusting Henry Lee Lucas finally going to death row after delaying justice by fake confessions of hundreds of murders. The man has been particularly obnoxious by his show of contempt for law and the burden he imposed on officers, courts and taxpayers.

The sordid news review could go on and on. Along with the many crimes involving individuals, like that mother-son murder-suicide in Washington, there's the case of spies caught passing vital information to Russia. Possible damage to the U.S. by that crime can only be imagined. On a far greater scale, we have the action of Soviets in Afghanistan and Ethiopia and their plot to take over Central America and eventually all of the world.

It's getting dry

It's time to pray for rain, as indicated by huge cracks in the hard dirt and wilting vegetation. The measure of 4.76 inches for June appears to be adequate, however, 3.98 of that came up to the 7th and only .78 in the past three weeks. Temperature has been better, low and high readings have been recorded as follows by Steve Moster.

June 20	66 and 88
June 21	70 and 90
June 22	74 and 87
June 23	70 and 92
June 24	70 and 93

Comment

At the July 1 meeting of the Muenster City Council, it is expected that an agreement will be reached on whether to amend the present Subdivision Ordinance dealing with paved streets and curbs and gutters in new developments.

Specifically, Section 7-Improvements, part b, number 2 is the section under consideration for amendment. That section now reads:

"All streets within or abutting to the proposed subdivision shall be paved and curbs and gutters installed in accordance with an approved plan. All paving shall be to the width specified on the thoroughfare plan."

The proposed amendment to that section is to remove all words in boldface type above, and to have the section amended to read:

"All streets within or abutting to the proposed subdivision shall be installed in accordance with an approved plan. All shall be to the width specified on the thoroughfare plan."

All reference and requirement for paved streets and curbs and gutters would be removed from that section of the ordinance with the adoption of the amendment.

The amendment was proposed at the June Council meeting, after several meetings of discussion and debate over the issue. Since that time, the proposed ordinance amendment has caused some public concern and letters to the editor.

Public concern seems to be along the line that new housing developments will contain gravelled streets which may be years in the paving, as is the case with several city streets.

The City's Subdivision Ordinance is a matter of Public Record and must be made available to any citizen who requests to see or to read or to take notes.

City streets are also a public matter. Those who are confused or concerned should personally read the ordinance, personally see their councilman, and personally be at the July 1 meeting to voice your approval or disapproval of the amendment.

Whether you support or oppose the proposed amendment, after the vote is too late to make your voice heard. Any citizen who has the opportunity to have a voice in the way his or her city will or will not develop and who does not take that opportunity has lost his or her right to complain or to be heard.

AUSTIN—The political eyes of Texas are turned northeast to the First Congressional District where the first election battle of the new season is being waged.

At stake in this June 29 special election is not only a seat in Congress for one party or the other, but also precious momentum which the victors hope will carry over into the '86 regular elections.

Some eight Democrats and one Republican make this race somewhat of a free-for-all, especially in behind-the-scenes dynamics. The Republicans have put all their marbles behind one horse, and a political novice at that. The Democrats, somewhat more comfortable in what has traditionally been their district, are fragmented and combative.

While most analysts agree that a run-off election will be necessary between the top two vote-getters, a Democratic victory will depend on whether the factions rejoin.

sign and accept a federal judgeship which Gramm asked Reagan to give him. Then, when Hall vacated the seat, thereby creating the need for a special election, Gramm was ready to run a well-funded, lone Republican.

Democrat vs. Democrat

The strategy of using special elections to win a GOP takeover in a Democratic district is one that pits Democrat against Democrat for the right to run in a run-off against an unblinded Republican.

Democrats are notorious for squabbling amongst themselves, and after the blood-letting, they are generally not in the mood to kiss and make up for some time.

No Time To Sulk

In the past, Texas has been a one-party state and Democrats could afford this luxury, especially during the long months of summer that separate the primary and general elections. Democrats have more time to reunite in a regular election year.

Not so in a special election. The scant 30 days between the initial election and the run-off does not lend itself to a Texas Democratic Party which is not used to a real GOP threat.

Gramm, a former Democrat himself, knows the weaknesses of his former party and is playing them to the hilt. He is also using his official influence to gather funds from across the state and nation in his long-shot bid to score a dramatic upset win in the heart of Democratic territory.

Conservatives The Key

He has only to make a good, close showing to come out smelling good, because of the region's political history. A win would seal his position of leadership within a GOP that still eyes former Democrats with some distrust and jealousy.

A victory also encourages the new doctrine that conservative Democrats can become Republicans in Texas and keep on winning. The Democrats have managed to fight that concept to a standstill, and so far, only one Texas legislator has switched this summer, Gary Thompson of Abilene.

Germany, we heard volumes about Nazi war crimes. Jews were angered by Reagan's attitude and Red propaganda intensified the indignation. Another version of the same stuff was the Mengele series. But millions seemed unaware of the smoke screen intended to divert attention from Soviet atrocities at the same time and still going on. As a menace to civilization, Communism has outdone Nazism many times, and the greatest tragedy of all is that so pitifully little is being done to stop it.

It's comforting to know that the Number 1 citizen of our country is trying hard to do something about the situation. However, it's discouraging to see that his effort is so much like a voice in the wilderness. Russia's influence in many areas has been able to dominate, not only because of its power but its propaganda.

Even in the United States, we have to admit that USSR has enormous influence. It's not a coincidence that human faults of 40 years ago in Germany keep getting coverage but Soviet atrocities get little attention. It's true that our own media accommodate by spreading the message, and it's suspicious that the publicity is so consistently favorable to the red cause.

A desperately needed reform in our country's policy is to seek out and present the truth and not rely on the enemy's handouts. Another urgent need is an awakening by the liberals of Congress and the media to the fact that their way amounts to helping the enemy. Their present attitude amounts to an admission that they don't know what's going on or they have abandoned hope of freedom's survival.

While concerned about the global situation, we ought to be fully as concerned about our national needs, starting with a resolution to strive for Americanism and Christianity as it was established by our founding fathers. One essential is to revive patriotism and national pride, to be loyal to the United States and dedicated to its survival, and strive to keep improving it. While avoiding the tragedy of communism, we really need to make our country a better model for freedom-starved people elsewhere.

Domestic considerations are equally vital. The first essential in that respect is to acknowledge with our old-time sincerity that this is God's world and we have messed it up terribly by drifting away from Him. A giant step toward getting back on the right track would be to return education back to the basics that prevailed in our early history and are still preferred by our millions of traditional Christian Americans. In general terms, this amounts to eliminating most, if not all, policies and guidelines proposed by the modern education hierarchy.

Over several decades that organization has established its twisted theories such as socialism, banning God and prayer, a decline of moral values with sex laxity and abortion, and apparent lack of understanding that people are responsible to society and God for their wrongdoing. The road back to sanity will be long and hard, but it is the country's only hope of avoiding chaos and losing the blessings we cherished but now are steadily phasing out. Let's reverse the trend and start phasing back the good.

Morality or Stupidity?

The Washington establishment has been publicly agonizing for weeks about the pending sea trials of the USS Alaska, the U.S. Navy's newest Trident submarine.

Ordinarily, putting a submarine to sea wouldn't draw so much as a yawn from the much-jaded Washington crowd. They have important things to worry about: such as cocktail receptions, "photo opportunities," and congressional hearings that are no less choreographed than a Balanchine ballet. But the USS Alaska is different. It is symbolic.

Putting the Alaska to sea in September will add another twenty-four ICBMs to America's missile arsenal, giving the United States fourteen more ICBMs than are allowed under the SALT II "Treaty." (This gets complicated.) The squirmers on the Left, and even some within the administration, want the United States to stay within the SALT II limits and take an existing Poseidon submarine out of active duty when the Alaska goes to sea. On June 10, President Reagan ordered the Defense Department to plan to dismantle the Poseidon's missile-firing tubes to demonstrate to Moscow that the U.S. is complying with SALT II, even though they aren't. A Poseidon carries sixteen nuclear missiles, meaning the U.S. would stay under the SALT II ceiling if a Poseidon is deactivated.

There's more. And it's probably more important.

The critical element in all this is the fact that the SALT II Treaty isn't a treaty at all - because the U.S. Senate refused to approve it when it came before them.

In other words, the Washington policymaking community is sweating bullets over compliance with a "treaty" that doesn't even exist.

The public agonizing over the USS Alaska would be amusing, if national security weren't such a deadly serious issue. At a recent two-day seminar sponsored by the Hillsdale College Shavano Institute, scholars from the U.S. and Europe examined a peculiar phenomenon that continues to cloud our ability to think clearly and act decisively.

They called it, using a term coined by former U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick, the doctrine of "moral equivalency."

In plain street language, this means that many otherwise apparently intelligent people think the United States and the Soviet Union are morally equal: just two overbearing superpowers jockeying for position in a grand game of international bullying.

What makes this ludicrous is that the Soviet Union has blatantly violated the SALT II ceilings on missiles and strategic bombers all along. There was no squirming and public agonizing in the Kremlin, I can assure you. They just went ahead and built more and better missiles, and more and better bombers.

There is no moral equivalency between Washington and Moscow. The very idea is asinine. There was no public debate in Moscow over the building of the Soviet Union's new SS-24 and SS-25 missiles. There was no public outcry when a Soviet military interceptor shot down an unarmed Korean airliner. There is no public debate about anything.

Only in Washington do we hang out our dirty laundry for the world to see and worry about exceeding the missile limits in a non-existing treaty.

I wonder sometimes whether we are being morally superior - or just plain stupid?

56 Cub Scouts attend annual 3-day camp

Cub Scouts of Cooke County celebrated Scouting's 75th birthday at the Muenster City Park last week at their annual summer day camp, enjoying activities from the past as well as the future.

There were four packs with a total of 56 Cub Scouts in attendance Monday through Thursday, June 17-20. Sixteen Boy Scouts from three county troops assisted the leaders.

The first day of camp the cubs made their pack flag and prepared a yell, which they chanted throughout the week. They also had a lesson in craftsmanship and prepared a leather achievement medallion that was used for safe keeping of their daily earned beads. Mr. Rich Kastl, from the Morton Museum, presented a noon-time talk on what was going on in Cooke County 75 years ago.

On Tuesday, the weather tried to dampen their enthusiasm, but their scouting spirit prevailed, with all trained leaders turning to Plan "B" with lots of fun and games under the pavilion.

A gun demonstration, headed by James Bryan was Tuesday's special event involving Muenster's chief of police, Helen Tompkins and part of her staff. The boys were shown an antique firing arm as well as a riot gun, presently used by law enforcement officials.

Jimmy Hale and his snakes paid the Cubs a visit on Wednesday. Mr. Hale paraded his favorite pet, a Burmese python, weighing over 100 pounds and over 13 feet long. The Cubs all took advantage of the opportunity to pet this giant reptile!

Swimming, archery, B-B guns, physical fitness, nature trail and just plain games and crafts were enjoyed by the Cubs.

Camp director was Lupe Evans of Muenster and program director was Wayne Lones of Gainesville. Other adult staff members included Shirley Weems, Susan and Eddie Hansford, Golda Lones, Marsha Day, Brenda Evans, Rhonda Evans, Marvin and Judy Knight, Kathy Berres, Sharon Walterscheid, James Bryan, Roy and Connie Brian, Mitzi Ohr, Jackie Snow and Kathy McColley. Assisting junior staff members were: from Troop 650, Pat Melugin and Royce Brian; from Troop 659, Murlin and Douglas Evans, Jeff and Sam Walterscheid, Curtis Weems, W.B. Allison, George Spaeth, James Brian, Chris Brian, Donnie Lones, Phillip Simmons; from Troop 664 were Rodney Knabe, Kenneth Walterscheid and Gussie Felderhoff.

Friday evening, the Scouts were in charge of the closing camp fire with Lupe Evans as master of ceremonies. All the packs performed a skit or song, the staff was introduced and Eddie Hansford did the closing with a talk on the importance of being good and also doing good to others.

A plea was made during the evening for parents to get involved with their Scouts, Boy Scouts of America is a family organization and gives many opportunities for family unity throughout its program.

Scouts head for Camp Philmont

Seven boys from Scout Troop 664 in Muenster will be at the Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron, N.M. July 6-21, accompanied by Hank Richbroath of Gainesville, adult advisor.

They are Jason Walterscheid, Chad Fleitman, Jason Gehrig, Shawn Vogel, Ryan Bayer, David Rohmer and Keith Vogel, crew leader.

They will backpack for ten days in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains on Philmont Scout Ranch, hike over 50 miles, tour a gold mine, pan for gold in a stream, experience rock climbing and rappelling, go horseback riding, enjoy western lore and Indian lore, go fur trapping and black powder rifle shooting, go trout fishing, learn railroad tie making and enjoy mountain living.

There will be opportunities for fellowship with other scouts from all over the United States and possibly scouts from foreign countries.

Enroute home they will tour Palo Duro Canyon and see the famous stage production "Texas!"

July 4 travel on I-35 due to slow down

Major reconstruction on Interstate Highway 35 between Gainesville and Denton may create problems and delays for motorists over the Fourth of July weekend, and travelers are advised to allow for extra time if they use that portion of highway.

The project has all but one lane in each direction closed to traffic with a two-lane detour extending more than seven miles. Traffic is moving well under normal conditions but with the expected heavy traffic volume over the holiday weekend, there may be considerable congestion and delays.

Jim Stacks, District Engineer at Wichita Falls, says motorists may want to consider an alternate route if they are planning to use IH35 between Gainesville and Denton. He says southbound traffic can utilize US82 East, at Gainesville, to US377 South, then US380 back to IH35 at Denton. Northbound motorists can reverse the route which adds about 13 miles to the trip.

The project includes major reconstruction to the roadway and bridges. Highway representatives estimate it will be completed by the fall of 1986. The project is currently about 55 percent complete.

Senior citizens in free at Six Flags July 1-7

Senior citizens will be admitted free to Six Flags Over Texas during the 4th of July holiday week.

The offer of free admission to any visitor age 60 or over will be good July 1 through July 7.

Six Flags' general manager, Bob Bennett, said, "This is our way of showing appreciation of our senior citizens while we demonstrate what Six Flags Over Texas has to offer the older visitor."

"We are well aware that not all of our senior citizen guests will want to tackle major thrill rides, though they are certainly welcome to give them a try. Rather, we want the opportunity to show that Six Flags is much more than just rides, and that there's a lot here for all ages."

Senior citizens who visit during the July 1-7 period are asked to bring their driver's license or other identification showing their date of birth to any of the park's main gate ticket booths. All persons age 60 and over will be admitted free. There is a $3 parking fee. Six Flags' regular ticket price is $14.95. Children under 42 inches tall are admitted for $7.95. Children age two and under are admitted free.

Finnell trims expenses

The office of State Rep. Charles Finnell of the 80th district has taken certain economic steps in light of the financial position of state government.

"As understood by the staff last month, this office will operate with fewer telephone lines and equipment during the interim, and without full-time employees at the capitol office until the end of the fiscal year," stated Finnell.

"Every family and business in the 80th district has felt the need to economize, and it is appropriate that our state government follow suit. Hopefully, constituents will understand that all state agencies, including the Texas House of Representatives, must achieve appropriate economies next September due to fiscal constraints. However, the efforts of our office begin now," Finnell said.

Reunion

Class of 1957 gathers

Two graduating classes of 1957, Muenster High and Sacred Heart High, held a reunion on Saturday evening, June 15, in the VFW Hall, celebrating the 28th anniversary of commencement exercises. They made plans to meet again on their 30th anniversary and every five years hence.

Sixty-four were in attendance, including spouses and former teachers.

A hospitality hour at 6:00 was followed by dinner at 7:30, catered by the Schneiders. L.D. Bruns gave the invocation.

Harriet Pagel was emcee for an after-dinner program and called for each former classmate to stand, give a brief resume of years since '57, including occupation, children, hometown, etc.

Kenny Otto of Tulsa was credited as coming the greatest distance.

Door prizes were drawn after dinner and were won by Dave Flusche, Edna Hermes, Tommy Knabe, Maggie Yosten, Ted Henschel and Bill Birden. An afghan made by Harriet Pagel was won by Dave Walterscheid.

A special tribute to Dickie Cain; who died in 1983 at age 44, written by his sister Judy Hartman, was read by Margie Walterscheid, as follows:

"Graduation Day 1957"

Twenty-eight years ago when the big day came,
It suddenly dawned on me, that things would never be the same!

As Mr. Bruns tried to get us lined up and in our positions,
Mrs. Mosman, as always, was begging us to listen!

Finally, we were ready and the music had begun,
But we couldn't start the service yet, because Ted was chewing gum!

It didn't take Mr. Bruns long to rectify this situation,
And the time was now at hand for our high school graduation!

I watched as the procession started down the aisle,
And much to my surprise, my face had lost its smile!

As I looked at each of you from one to the other,
I realized you weren't only my classmates, but my sisters and brothers!

I didn't hear what the speaker said because I couldn't concentrate,
My mind was whirling 'round and 'round with memories of my classmates!

I thought of all our proms, plays, field trips, and ball games that were great!
Deep down within my soul, I felt my heart begin to break!

As I looked at Marcy, Margie, Mary, Mary Lou, Harriet and Pat I knew that our paths would still cross,
But as I looked at others I felt so sad because I knew that our time together was lost.

As I watch you all today and see David Walterscheid, Flusche, Lambert, Dee, Ted, Wylie, Hubert and all the old gang,
I know that without a doubt, my empty chair brings you all pain!

But, please don't cry and fret because I'm not in my chair,
It's great to see you all together again, and spiritually, I am there!

To each of you I send my love and a hug and a kiss to show I care,
Someday a class reunion in heaven we shall all share!

All my love,
Dickie Cain

F.H.A. banquet is year's highlight

The annual F.H.A. banquet, approaching the close of school, was a highlight of the school year. The theme was "We are the World," and the M.H.S. luncheon was decorated to fit the occasion, with decorations in red, white and blue to represent the U.S.A. Other tables were decorated to represent China, Africa, Mexico, Holland and Germany. Members who attended invited their mother or a guest to be present with them.

Heading the program as mistress of ceremony was Jana Hamilton. The banquet began with the invocation by Fran Reiter. Dinner was served by several eighth grade girls who volunteered their help. The menu was tossed salad, barbecued brisket, broccoli-casserole, corn-on-the-cob, relishes, rolls, strawberry shortcake and iced tea or coffee.

The welcome was given by Pat Herr, vice-president, and the response was given by Mrs. Sharon Wolf. Each member introduced himself or herself and guest. During the introduction, the members presented guests with a rose.

Mrs. Joni Sturm, F.H.A. advisor, thanked her advisory committee for help during this year, including Janie Monday, Tommie Sue Hess and Jan Cain. The awards for Encounter and Outstanding Future Homemaker were given to the recipients at the banquet by Pat Herr. Connie Klement is this year's Outstanding Future Homemaker, and Rose Herr is runner-up. Other candidates were Valerie Vogel and Dolle Pagel.

Anita Meurer, reporter, read a summary of this year's F.H.A. activities. The banquet was closed with the benediction by Jana and Katie Hamilton.

Area students on the President's list are Renate Hess, Duane Knabe and Mark Sicking of Muenster; and Susie Beizer and Robin Galbreath of Lindsay.

Area students on the Dean's list are Deborah Hale, Marilynn Hartman and Curtis Rohmer of Muenster; Beverly Hermes and Beverly Neu of Lindsay; Sherri Brown of Era; Stella Fowler of Saint Jo; Jerry Jones, Brenda Krah, Karl Maughan, Connie Nenn and Danny Williams of Valley View.

MILTON KNAUF removes and replaces sod as Tom Swirczynski operates a backhoe. The men worked this week to dig a ditch and install underground electrical service to the Pavilion in City Park. The work was required by inspectors for the Federal Grant program which provided funds for the construction of the Pavilion. Electrical service had been run over-head to the Pavilion. Grant inspectors noted that was not in compliance with the terms of the Grant. The problem is now corrected.

Hot lead typesetting Artisan of a lost art

Since 1933 George Avery has turned molten metal into type. His typewriter weighs approximately two-tons (give or take a pound); has 5,000 removable parts; is somewhere in the area of 70-years-old; is properly known as a Linotype, and purrs like a kitten. Thanks to George's tender care.

George is 52-years-old and is one of few in the country and perhaps the only person in this part of Texas who operates one of the massive machines on a regular basis. He comes to The Muenster Enterprise every other Thursday to set type for commercial printing jobs. His day begins at 7:30 a.m. and ends somewhere around 5 p.m., when he goes back home to Denton and his wife, Gertrude.

The ease and assurance with which George operates the Linotype comes from nearly 40-years experience. In 1933 he attended 12-weeks of schooling at a factory in New Orleans. You see, one must not only know the fundamentals of operation and keyboard, one must also be the mechanic. These days it also calls for knowing where to locate or how to make any one of the 5,000 removable parts on the machine.

George served six years of apprenticeship in the Rio Grand Valley before striking out on his own and working in several different states. In 1946 he took the position of Production Supervisor for the Record Chronicle in Denton. He remained there until 1973, when he retired.

"My work has always been on the Linotype," George said. "Now, I'm retired. It's my pastime. I like it."

The Linotype was developed by an American, Ottmar Mergenthaler, and was patented in Baltimore in 1885. It is known as the first "practical" typesetting machine. Its name comes from the fact that it produces a complete "line-of-type" known as a slug, which is one solid piece of metal. The Linotype was first used in 1886 by the New York Tribune newspaper. Since then, improvements have been made, but the machine remains very much like Mergenthaler invented.

It is that same type of machine that George uses at The Enterprise. R. N. Fette, owner of The Enterprise said the Linotype machine was purchased in Elk City, OK, in 1949. "It was an old machine then," Fette said. Fette's wife, Elfreda, concurred noting the trip to move the machine to Muenster took place just one week before she and R. N. were married.

The Linotype machine, operated by one man, does many different jobs at the same time. Not only does it set type, it also makes the type itself from molten metal and justifies the line of type.

As George explained it, the magazine of the Linotype machine is the part in which the metal dies (molds into which molten type metal is forced) for the letters are stored until they are assembled into words and lines.

The die for each letter is called a matrix or mat. Each matrix is formed with the shape of its letter or number or punctuation mark sunk into it. It's similar to a mold one might use with clay to produce a raised figure. The matrices are used over and over.

George sits at a keyboard that is similar to the keyboard on a typewriter — with some major differences. The keyboard on the Linotype has more keys than the conventional typewriter keyboard. The lower case and double lower case letters (ff, ffi) are located on the left hand side of the keyboard; the numbers and punctuation marks are in the middle; and the upper case or capital letters are on the right hand side of the keyboard.

When George touches the key for a capital letter J, one matrix for the capital J drops and travels through a channel to the assembly box. This happens for each letter of the word. Then George touches a space bar, and a blank, wedge-shaped spaceband drops into the assembly box.

This process continues for additional words and spaces until a complete line of the necessary length is assembled.

When the complete line is assembled, it moves to the front of a mold, where it is justified. This is done by wedge-shaped space bars being pushed up from below so the space between all the words in the line is the same and the line of words is spread out to make a full line. That line can measure from about one-eighth of an inch to five inches in length.

There is a pot of molten metal heated to 525-degrees below the mold. From this the molten metal is pumped against the line of matrices and fills up the sunken letters.

The metal hardens at once into a slug with the letters in relief along the top.

Next, the line of mats is picked up by a long arm and returned by conveyor to the magazine, ready for use again.

George explained that there are 90 different combinations of grooves in the mats allowing them to drop into certain slots and return to be used again. In operation, the mats look a great deal like miniature letters being sorted by a mailroom sorting machine.

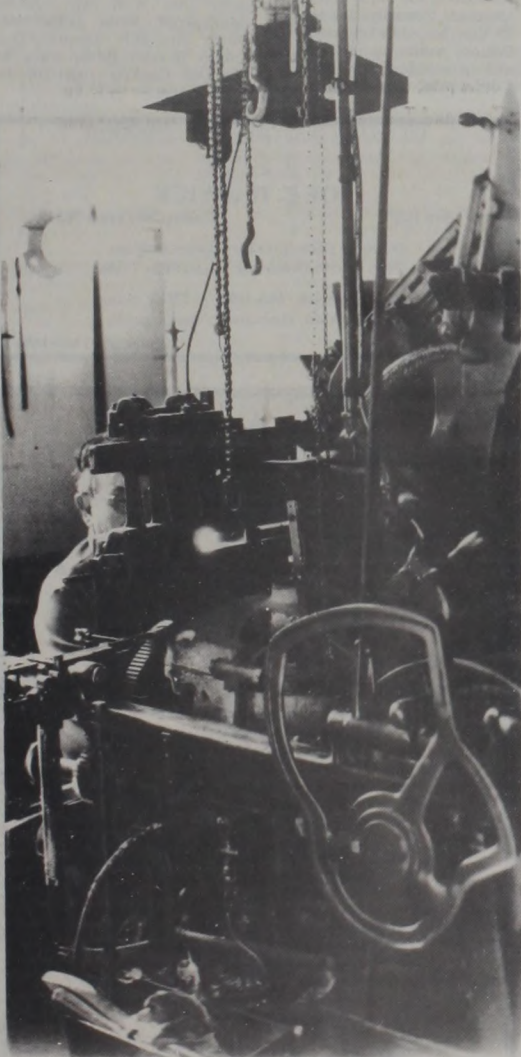

While all this is going on, George has continued setting more lines, for all the other operations continue automatically. While George is setting a line, the previous line is being cast in molten metal in the mold, and the line before that is being returned to the magazine.

After all these years, George has not grown tired of the art. "It's fascinating to me. I'll do it as long as I can," he said.

...Artisan at Work...

AN ARTISAN AT WORK, George is dwarflike against the massive Linotype. Shavings of molten metal cover the floor at his feet. LOST IN HIS WORK, George can hardly be seen. LETTER BY LETTER George sets the type, turning liquid metal into solidified copy. PIG is the term for the 30-pound bar of metal George hangs to be fed into the melting pot. THE BIG WHEEL is the inside of the mold where molten metal is cast into type slugs. ROLLING OUT a finished galley of type for proof reading, George is nearly finished with one job. TOOLS OF HIS TRADE hang along the wall behind the Linotype. Each serves a purpose in the upkeep of the machine. KEEPING CHECK, George must frequently secure the operation of the Linotype. It's a far cry from changing the ribbon on a typewriter.

Exhibition tour set for Texas steamers

In 1950, Texas and Pacific's famed 610 locomotive nicknamed The Texan was retired in Fort Worth after chugging over a million miles through Texas, ushering the end of a very special era in the state's transportation history — the age of steam train travel.

But Texans in 1986 will be able to relive, the excitement of this bygone age, when the huge engine once again rumbles through as a part of the Texas Sesquicentennial Steam Train Touring Exhibition.

The Touring Exhibition is part of an ongoing program to restore and run old steam trains for the Sesquicentennial entitled the Texas Independence Express. Another engine, Texas State Railroad's No. 201, will also be restored, and together the two engines will pull up to 28 cars over a 5,000-mile network of Texas rails. The Exhibition will accommodate up to 500 passengers and will roll through over 150 communities, with each to welcome it with gala festivities, dances and celebrations.

Each train will pull up to 22 vintage passenger rail cars, both Pullman and Coach, a classic U.S. Postal Service rail post office car, and five historic baggage cars.

"The Texan brought passengers, mail and supplies to hundreds of Texas towns, and we want to create its importance for thousands of Texans during the Sesquicentennial," said Texas Independence Express spokespersons. "This will give many more Texans the chance to see a steam train in action, many perhaps for the first time."

To finance the costs incurred in restoring the 610 to its chugging glory, the Texas Independence Express is encouraging contributions from all interested persons.

Those contributing from $15 to $150 will receive an attractive commemorative engraved stock certificate. "All contributions will provide fuel for The Texan's fire, and are tax deductible."

For more information about the Sesquicentennial Steam Train Touring Exhibition or to make a contribution, contact the Texas Independence Express, P.O. Box 791504, Dallas, Texas 75379, (214)565-1986.

Crafts Trail opens

The Crosstimbbers Farm Trail and Crafts Project—a first for Texas—has opened for its second season, northwest of the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex, and Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower is urging consumers throughout North Texas to take advantage of the fresh farm produce it provides.

"The Crosstimbbers Farm Trail and Crafts Project is one of the most unusual outdoor experiences the state has to offer," Hightower said. "The Farm Trail was organized last year by farmers in Wise and Montague counties to offer their berries, melons, corn and other varieties of fresh fruit and vegetables directly to the public. This is also a wonderful opportunity to buy fresh farm eggs, honey, jams, jellies, pickles, sauerkraut, baked goods, bedding plants and hanging baskets."

"Traveling along the trail, you can also visit commercial vineyards, watch crystal being cut, and observe local residents making everything from sorghum molasses to lye soap," Hightower said.

Producers are enthusiastic in expecting a better year that last. "We've had a large number of phone calls and visits already, even without publicity," reports Trail President Rex Bearden. "Consumers who bought from us last year are really planning to come back and say they'll bring their friends."

There are 14 stops along the two-county Farm Trail, which winds from Aurora through Paradise, Bridgeport, Chico and Sunset to Bowie, Alvord, Oak Grove and Decatur. Also located along the Farm Trail are numerous historical markers.

Participants have again produced a map showing the various stops along the 40-mile trail. Copies of those maps are available at businesses throughout Montague and Wise counties, or from Trail President Rex Bearden, Route 1, Box 184, Bridgeport, 76026. Copies of the map are also available from the Texas Department of Agriculture's district office located at 1801 North Lamar, Dallas, 75202.

Five from Muenster cruise to Alaska

Five Muenster residents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grewing and Mr. and Mrs. Vince Felderhoff, accompanied by Father Denis Soerries, have returned from a ten-day cruise to Alaska on the Royal Princess.

They flew to San Francisco and boarded ship on June 6. First port of call was Vancouver, British Columbia, where they spent several days touring the city and area, and also seeing preparations for Expo '86.

The next stop was in Juneau, Alaska for more guided tours and sightseeing. Third port of call was Sitka, Alaska. They cruised 128 miles into Glacier Bay, spending all of one day.

Enroute home on the second half of the cruise, they stopped at Victoria, British Columbia for tours and more sightseeing. One of the highlights was seeing the magnificent Butchart Gardens.

Thirty-six hours were spent sailing back to San Francisco. The cruise covered a total of 3,392 nautical miles.

Adding a personal touch to the vacation was observance on shipboard of the birthday of Trudy Felderhoff on June 14 and the 35th wedding anniversary of Richard and Florence Grewing on June 16.

The cruise ship with its 1200 passengers and crew of 600 passed under the Golden Gate Bridge at sunrise on June 16. The five from Muenster returned to DFW the same day.

Dr. Graham attends bonding short course

Dr. Gerald M. Graham, D.D.S., was in Irving on Friday, June 21, to attend a dental seminar entitled "A Color Concept - Advanced Bonding." It was a lecture and hands-on experience sponsored by Kulzer, Inc. The instructors were Stephen H. Guss, D.D.S., Richard M. Goldman, D.D.S. and Jerry B. Black, DMD, MS.

Dr. Goldman demonstrated the use of chroma and hue to determine correct shades, and custom tinting to create individualized restorations. Laboratory pre-fabricated custom microfill restorations were presented by Dr. Guss, who also demonstrated how to hide intrinsic stains and creation of new dentin shades.

Dr. Black discussed posterior composite restorations, the indications for use, cavity preparation, application and finishing and polishing. After each presentation, each participant had a lab position to perform the exercise under the guidance of clinicians.

Trip to Disneyland, a very special treat

"It was almost like a dream come true," say Donna Kay Lester, daughter of the Don Lesters of Era, and her cousin, Julia Fleitman, daughter of the J.D. Fleitmans of Muenster, who accompanied their uncle, Frank Cox, on a trip to Disneyland.

The day before flying to California the two cousins accompanied their grandmother, Mrs. Bruno Fleitman, and Mrs. Don Lester to Houston where they were guests of Janie and Frank Cox and children Kelly, Kevin and Kris.

Donna and Julia said they particularly enjoyed the monorail to Disneyland, the Disney Parade, getting to meet Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, rides and attractions. They spent an afternoon at Long Beach; they saw Little Japan, Beverly Hills, the "Walk of the Stars," and flew back to Houston Sunday afternoon.

When Mrs. Fleitman and Mrs. Lester and the children drove home to Muenster, they were accompanied by the three Cox children who vacationed here on the farm last week and are attending Vacation Bible School this week. Joining them here for Bible School was another cousin, Kate McCrimmon, daughter of Teresa Jo and Dan McCrimmon of Denver, who arrived for the weekend and a class reunion.

Mmes. Lester, Cox and McCrimmon are sisters-daughters of the Bruno Fleitmans.

MRS. TIMOTHY DAVID SCHUMACHER
 ... nee Linda Rose Fuhrmann ...

Linda Fuhrmann weds Timothy Schumacher

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy David Schumacher are on a wedding trip to Jamaica and upon their return will be at home in Gainesville.

They were married in a Nuptial Mass with double ring ceremony in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay on June 22 at 5 p.m., officiated by Father Cletus Post, pastor, and Father Nicholas Fuhrmann, uncle of the bride.

The bride is the former Linda Rose Fuhrmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aloys (Billy) Fuhrmann of Rt. 2, Gainesville, and granddaughter of Mrs. Ray Vogel of Muenster.

She is a graduate of Lindsay High School and Cooke County College and will receive her degree from North Texas State University in December.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schumacher of Rt. 6, Gainesville. He is also the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Al (Lee) Haverkamp of Muenster and Henry Schumacher of Rt. 1, Gainesville.

He is a 1977 graduate of Gainesville High School and is a machinist employed by GTE Valeron, Inc.

The bride was presented at the altar by her father. For her wedding, Linda chose a formal white designer gown by Mori Lee, of chiffonette and chantilly lace. The traditional fitted bridal bodice was adorned with patterns of matching lace and sprinkled with bridal seed pearls, and featured a sweetheart neckline and sleeves puffed to the elbow and edged with a wide lace ruffle. The billowy skirt revealed tiers of ruffles edged in chantilly lace unfolding in a magnificent cathedral-length train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was accented with appliques of chantilly lace and fell from a bridal lace and seed pearl headpiece.

She selected delicate white lace gloves and carried a bridal cascade of pink and white rosebuds, white baby orchids, stephanotis, forget-me-nots, baby's breath, and satin and lace streamers entwined with her mother's crystal rosary. For sentiment and tradition, she wore a gold wedding band worn by her mother, her grandmother and great-grandmother on their wedding days. She also wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Attendants
 Alice Fuhrmann, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor. Julie Fuhrmann, the bride's sister, Janie Schumacher, sister of the groom, and Kay Lynn Grewing of Sherman, a friend, were bridesmaids. They and the flower girl, Janelle Fuhrmann, sister of the bride, were identically gowned in floor-length, sheer, frosted rose polyester and taffeta dresses, featuring a sweetheart neckline, sheer puffed elbow-length sleeves and a slender satin sash at the waist and a flounced overskirt.

Each wore a flower wreath in her hair and carried a pink bouquet of roses, daisies and carnations.

Zack Schumacher, the groom's nephew, was ringbearer.

Rudy Schumacher was his brother's best man. Gene Schumacher and Chuck Schumacher, both the groom's brothers, and Linus Fuhrmann, the bride's brother, were groomsmen.

Kevin Fuhrmann, brother of the bride, Jim Vogel, the bride's uncle, Larry Schumacher and Hank Schumacher, the groom's brothers, were ushers.

Mass servers were Glenn Fuhrmann, the bride's brother, Alan Hudspeth, the bride's cousin, and Mark Schumacher, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Patsy Henry played traditional wedding marches on the organ and accompanied herself in vocal solos: "Follow Me," "Wind Beneath My Wings" and "Sunrise, Sunset." Mr. and Mrs. David Forgey, the groom's godparents, presented Offertory gifts and John Schumacher, the groom's brother, was lector.

The church altar held bouquets of mixed pink and white flowers, and lighted candles; the communion railing was lined with greenery and votive candles. Center aisle pews were marked with white bells and bows and pink carnations.

Reception
 A reception, catered dinner and dance followed in the Gainesville Knights of Columbus Hall, hosted by parents of the couple. Mrs. Ed Schad catered the meal and Jay Anderle provided music for dancing.

Donna Harlow, the groom's sister, and Shirley Fuhrmann, a friend of the bride, secured guest signatures in the bride's book.

Mrs. Henry Spaeth baked the four-tiered wedding cake which was served by Lucy Fuhrmann, Francine Hudspeth, Misty Vogel and Jessica Fuhrmann, all cousins of the bride.

Roses in bud vases and votive candles in the chosen colors decorated the tables. Guests attended from Wichita Falls, Dallas, Longview, Fort Worth and Oklahoma.

The rehearsal dinner on June 21 was hosted by the groom's parents. A shower on June 2 was given by the bridesmaids and another shower on June 9 was hosted by Barbara Bezner, Jo Ann Schumacher, Julie Schumacher, Janie Schumacher, Peggy Potts and Donna Harlow.

Texas Cowboy Reunion Quarter Horse Show

Three horse shows are held at the time of the Texas Cowboy Reunion each year. Two beautiful hand-tooled TCR saddles go to the winners of the Registered Youth and the Open Youth Shows.

The Registered Youth Show will be held Friday, July 5. Events will be: Showmanship, Western Pleasure, Western Horsemanship, Reining, Barrel Racing and Pole Bending.

This show begins at 9 a.m. and will be judged by Danly C. Sayles of Mesquite, New Mexico.

The American Quarter Horse Association Show starts at 8 a.m. on Friday also, beginning with the Halter Classes for Stallions, Geldings and Mares.

Performance Classes are Western Pleasure - Junior and Senior, Reining - Junior and Senior, Barrel Racing, Pole Bending and Cutting - Junior and Senior. Danly Sayles will judge this show also.

The Open Youth Show will be held this year on Saturday, July 6, at 8 a.m. and will be open to all youths 18 and under. Horses need not be registered for this show.

The Performance Classes are the same as for the Registered

Youth Show. The show is divided into three age groups: 11 and under, 12 to 14 years and 15 to 18 years.

Judge for this show will be Charles Hemphill of Coleman. There are no Halter Classes in this show.

This will be the 45th show held by the Texas Cowboy Reunion and will be the 20th year for veteran chairman, Charles W. Stenholm. First Chairman of the show was A.M.G. Swenson.

This was the first American Quarter Horse Show and the first show was in 1940, the same year the AQHA was formed.

Registry and stud book were begun in 1939.

Many breeders brought their horses to be examined by the judge in order to get approval to be registered. "Swede" Swenson was succeeded by Roy Arledge, Wayne Cooper, Cecil Eager and Homer Merriott as Chairmen.

Stalls are available for the horses at the arena and a few camper hook-ups are located there.

Additional information may be had from Show Secretary, Pat Prewit, Box 346, Stamford, Texas 79553, phone 915-773-3684 or 773-2385.

License fee increases under consideration

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission will consider increasing fees for several licenses, including resident and non-resident hunting licenses, when it meets in Austin.

Officials said fee increases will be necessary to fund departmental programs for the 1986 fiscal year.

Other licenses for which fees may be increased are the resident exempt and duplicate hunting licenses and nonresident small game hunting and temporary (5-day) fishing license.

The commission also will consider regulations for public hunts on wildlife management areas for the 1985-86 hunting seasons.

YHT has stenciling program and election

On Monday, June 10, a meeting of the Muenster chapter of Young Homemakers of Texas was held in the home economics department of Muenster Public School. Eleven members and one guest attended.

Joni Sturm demonstrated stenciling on fabric and wood. Those attending practiced on scraps of fabric, then began work on their own stenciling kit or project during the meeting.

The meeting was brought to order with the official opening ceremony. Minutes from the previous meeting were read by secretary June Bartush. Marlene Fisher gave the treasurer's report.

A guest, Rowena Boyd, was introduced to the group and later welcomed as a new member.

Pam Felderhoff, Area V vice-president of awards and projects, explained that each chapter in Area V was to select one of its members as Outstanding Young Homemaker. At the October meeting of Area V, all of these applicants will be recognized and one will be given the Outstanding Young Homemaker of Area V Award.

After being advised that considerations for the Area V award would be citizenship, offices held in YHT, and contributions of time and effort to YHT activities, members awarded Pam Dangelmayr the honor of Outstanding Young Homemaker of the Muenster chapter.

July 21 was the date set for YHT's annual Summer Social when members and their spouses get together for an evening of fun. Kim Felderhoff, June Bartush and Kathy Felderhoff volunteered for the committee to plan this event.

The business agenda closed with the election of officers for 1985-86. The new slate of officers will begin its duties in September and are as follows: Janet Felderhoff, president; Tommie Sue Meurer, vice-president; Pam Felderhoff, secretary; Kathy Felderhoff, treasurer; Rowena Boyd, reporter; and Margie Klement, parliamentarian.

Cake and soft drinks were served after the meeting by Marlene Fisher.

St. Peter's fraternity holds prayer meeting

Members of the Secular Franciscan Fraternity of St. Peter's parish in Lindsay met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Flusche at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, June 11, using the prescribed opening prayer from the Franciscan ritual. Mrs. Tony Hermes, president, led the prayers and conducted the meeting. Mrs. Veronica Klement gave the scriptural reading, Philippians Chapter 2: Verses 1-11, "Be united in your convictions and in your love." Mrs. Lawrence Zimmerer gave the spiritual reading, Minute Meditation from the Franciscan Herald. A letter from Father Thomas Gardner O.F.M. was read to the group, outlining five suggestions whereby the fraternity would gain.

Each member present received a copy of the Communicator, including a prayer sheet offering an alternative to the ritual prayers. Mrs. Hermes announced that Bishop Peter Chenoparampil of Kerala, India will arrive in New York on June 17 and that a member of the Lay Franciscans Family Apostolate will meet him. There is the possibility that the bishop may be able to come to Lindsay during the second week of August. Members made plans for the garage sale to be held in September at the home of Mrs. Cecilia Mosser in Gainesville. The closing prayer from the Ritual and the St. Francis Prayer were followed by adjournment. Mrs. Elvira Flusche, hostess, served cherry cake and coffee for refreshments.

Notes on area building

Builders are keeping busy in and around Muenster with several new homes and some improvement projects along with one new non-residential job and three major non-residential additions.

The new building is the Young Children's Learning Center on Sacred Heart Parish grounds east of the Community Center. It's brick veneer with 2,000 square feet of space divided into a large classroom, office and reception, storage and two rest rooms. Along with central heat and air conditioning, it will have the abundance of teaching materials moved from the present building across from the hospital and the playground equipment. It will be ready for the coming school year.

Another non-residential project is the addition to Bayer's Kolonialwaren at the east city limit. When finished, it will add about 2,500 square feet to store and bakery.

Still another business expansion is under way at Community Lumber Co. The procedure there is to build a new structure around and over the present store and to remove the present building when the large one is finished. The result is estimated to be a gain of about 1500 square feet of sales floor space plus two upstairs offices.

Similar improvement is under way at Lindsay as Jimmy Klement applies extensive renovation to the former Nite Out restaurant in converting it to a modern bar and grill.

The home building program includes six new homes and several improvements.

At the Kleiss addition south of town, Muenster Building Center has just finished a 3-bedroom, 2-bath house awaiting occupation by Coach Jon LeBrasseur. It has brick veneer, double garage, central heat and cooling, fireplace...and landscaping is under way.

MBC also has another house nearly finished on 4th Street. It has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, brick veneer, air conditioning and garage.

At Lindsay are two nearly similar houses presently under construction. For Shawna Richey, it's 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, double garage, brick veneer, fireplace, central heat and cooling, and almost complete.

The other, for Lisa Bezner, also has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, air conditioning and garage. It's at the sheetrock stage.

At Denton Mrs. Ed York, former Muenster resident, has her new home at the sheetrock stage. It has 4 bedrooms, 3 1/2 baths, double garage, brick veneer, fireplace and air conditioning.

And at Rosston, Guy Balthrop is at the sheetrock stage on his 3 bedroom, 2 bath brick home with air conditioning and carpet.

Tops of current rebuilding is Wes Fuson's extensive renovation of one of the city's ancient structures, the Henry Luke estate home. The job includes new roof and siding, insulation, complete new interior, an enclosed patio and extra details galore.

Alvin Fuhman's job is the addition of a bedroom, bath and two walk-in closets along with new siding and roof overall and new paint inside and outside.

South of town, on Highway 1630, Johnny Reiter is adding a new kitchen, dining room and den and repaneling a bedroom.

And, a new kitchen plus an addition to a bedroom is in progress at the Pat Hennigans.

Hazardous Waste

Permit deadline is July 5

July 5 is the deadline for persons to apply for permits to recycle, re-use, or reclaim waste that has recently been defined as "hazardous waste" by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Persons submitting permit applications by the deadline may continue to operate during review by the Texas Department of Water Resources.

Rules adopted by the Texas Water Development Board in April 1985 may require permit applications for recycling activities involving certain types of secondary materials such as spent materials, sludges, by-products, commercial chemical products and scrap. These include processes such as reclamation, burning for energy recovery, use constituting disposal, or speculative accumulation.

The Department believes that many of the larger companies are aware of the wastes that are now described as hazardous under EPA's new rules. Attempts are being made to bring this to the attention of all companies that will now have recycled wastes subject to the rules.

These newly regulated wastes and activities are listed, identified, or described by EPA in the Jan. 4, 1985 publication of the Federal Register.

In addition, the EPA regulations require all persons who generate, transport, process or dispose of these hazardous wastes to notify the Texas Department of Water Resources. Texas is a state with authorization from EPA to administer this program.

Texas' rules to implement the EPA regulations were published in the June 7 and June 11, 1985 issues of the Texas Register.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Department at (512) 463-8175 or (512) 463-8087, or by writing to Cynthia C. Smiley, Staff Attorney; Texas Department of Water Resources; P.O. Box 13087, Capitol Station; Austin, Texas 78711-3087.

Olney buys 4 offices

Robert H. Hopkins, Jr., Chairman of Commodore Savings and Alan D. Myers, Jr., Chairman of Olney Savings, have jointly announced the filing of an agreement for Olney Savings to purchase four Commodore Savings' offices in West Texas.

The four branch offices include: two in Abilene, (3800 South Clack near the Mall and 4601 South 14th); Clyde and Haskell.

Official approval of the agreement must come from both the Texas Savings and Loan Department in Austin, as well as the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Dallas.

John W. Harrell, Commodore's Vice Chairman said, "We expect the approval to take four to six months. No personnel changes will be made. And all accounts will continue to be insured by FSLIC."

Myers and Hopkins emphasized that the financial strength of both institutions are well suited for the exchange of branches. Olney Savings and Commodore Savings both rank in the top 50 as the most profitable savings and loan in their classification.

Olney Savings now has branches in many communities surrounding Abilene. "The addition of these branch locations gives us a larger and stronger base in which to serve the people in the entire Abilene area," Myers said.

"Commodore Savings is expanding its operation in downtown Abilene and Stamford with new drive-in facilities, safe deposit boxes and automated teller machines. Harrell stated that Commodore will concentrate on making all of its offices "more bank-oriented" with facilities situated in "downtown" locations."

Commodore Savings is a $712 million savings and loan with offices in Stamford, Quanah, Abilene, Dallas, Fort Worth and Garland. Also, the association is a member of Commodore Financial Corporation which operates a total of 13 companies in California, Texas, Oklahoma, Georgia, Illinois, Florida, New Mexico, Mississippi, Louisiana, Colorado and North Carolina.

Olney Savings is a $920 million savings and loan with 30 branch offices located in Albany, Anson, Archer City, Azle, Bowie, Boyd, Bridgeport, Brownwood, Cisco, Coleman, Comanche, Cross Plains, Crowell, Decatur, De Leon, Eastland, Electra, Gainesville, Graham, Holliday, Jacksboro, Nocona, Olney, Ranger, Seymour, Stephenville, Throckmorton, Weatherford, Wichita Falls and Vernon.

Customers talk back

I am your customer. Satisfy my wants, and personal attention and a friendly touch, and I will become a walking advertisement for your product, and services. Ignore my wants, show carelessness, inattention and poor manners and I will simply cease to exist as far as you are concerned. I am sophisticated. Much more so than I was a few years ago. My needs are more complex. I have grown accustomed to better things. I have money to spend. I am an egotist. I am sensitive; I am proud. My ego needs the nourishment of a friendly, personal greeting from you. It is important to me that you appreciate my business. After all, when I buy your products and services, my money is feeding you. I am a perfectionist. I want the best I can get for the money I spend. When I am dissatisfied, then take heed. The source of my discontent lies in something you, or the products you sell, have failed to do. Find that source and eliminate it, or you will lose my business and that of all my friends as well; for when I criticize your products or service I will talk to anyone who will listen. I am fickle. Other businessmen continually beckon to me with offers of "more for my money." To keep my business, you must offer something better than they. I am your customer now, but you must prove to me again and again that I have made a wise choice in selecting you, your products and services above all other.

Craig Rosenbaum County Agent's Report

Spider mites are tiny, but they can cause big problems in home gardens.

These pests prefer tomatoes, beans and peas and do most of their damage in hot, dry weather.

Spider mites, also called red spiders, are only 1/60-inch in length and vary in color from white to green to red.

The tiny pests can build up quickly and completely engulf plants. They lay eggs on the underside of leaves, which hatch in four to five days. A complete life cycle takes three weeks, and as many as 20 overlapping generations can occur in a single year.

Mites spin a thin web which often can be seen on the underside of an infested leaf. They feed by inserting their mouth-parts into the tissue and sucking juice from the plant. While feeding, they inject toxic substances into the plant.

Infestations of spider mites can be identified by tiny white spots on the underside of a leaf. Heavy infestations cause bleaching or yellowing, first along the main leaf veins and then throughout the plant. The plant may also shed buds and small fruit. Spider mites can completely defoliate a plant if not controlled.

Control of spider mites is often difficult and requires from two to four applications of insecticide at five-day intervals. Plants should be checked frequently for spider mites since the pests can build up rapidly.

Insecticides registered for controlling spider mites in gardens are diazinon, kelthane, malathion, ethion and sulfur. However, avoid using sulfur on vine plants as severe plant change could occur.

As always, read and follow label directions on all insecticides.

Agricultural briefs

Garden color suggestions

A number of outstanding colorful annuals and perennials are available to provide color and beauty to gardens and yards during the hot days of summer, says a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Among these are the vinca or periwinkle, zinnia, Gloriosa daisy, portulaca or moss rose, salvia, summer or late cosmos, and marigold.

All of these offer an array of landscape color with a minimum of care.

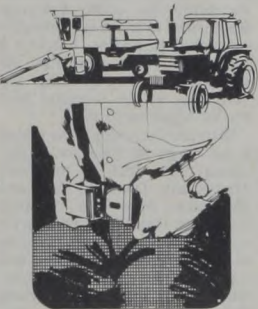

Water conference findings

A four-day international water conference at Texas A&M University, May 27-30, addressed such issues as water supply, management and salinity; integrated ecosystems; water and energy; and technology.

Preliminary findings emphasized removing political constraints from water and agricultural policies; sustaining current water supplies; increasing training and education programs, particularly at the farmer level; providing incentives to invest in new technology, especially at the farmer level; directing more attention to total integration of water related technology; making better use of existing information; dealing more effectively with drainage; addressing livestock as well as crop production; involving local people more fully; and assessing all resources more thoroughly, including water, energy and other inputs.

Ice cream contest slated

The Texas State Homemade Ice Cream Contest will be held June 29 in Sulphur Springs as a part of the Hopkins County Dairy Day. Hopkins County is the leading dairying county in Texas. A champion will be chosen in each of seven classes of ice cream - vanilla, chocolate, fruit, nut, bisque, candy and mixed - along with an overall champion. Activities begin at 9:30 a.m. in Heritage Park on Jackson Street. The contest is a joint effort of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Hopkins County Chamber of Commerce.

Key to farm safety

The responsibility for making farming a safer business rests squarely on the shoulders of the farm manager. A farm manager should promote a good attitude toward safety.

He must also train workers properly so that they know how to do their jobs safely. In addition, he should enforce safe work methods and procedures and conduct periodic observations to check worker compliance with safe practices.

A farm manager also should prevent unsafe conditions, make periodic safety inspections of equipment and facilities, and correct unsafe conditions immediately.

A safety-conscious farm manager also keeps abreast of the latest information on safe operating procedures.

Useful facts about the milk price support program

(Submitted by AMPI)

Introduced in 1949 to assure U.S. consumers of dependable dairy supplies throughout the year at reasonable prices.

Has provided market stability enabling U.S. dairy farmers to make continuous gains in productivity. Since 1950, dairy farmers productivity (as measured by man-hours to produce 100 pounds of milk) has jumped ten-fold.

Prices for dairy products have stayed consistently below increases in the overall Consumer Price and index for all food items. Between 1982-1984, the Consumer Price Index increased by 7.6 percent, the index for all food items by six percent, compared to a 2.5 percent increase for dairy products.

Between 1982-1984, the average national retail price for a half-gallon increased by only one penny.

It actually takes about one-half the time today as it did in 1950 for the typical U.S. worker to earn the money to make purchases like a half-gallon of milk, a pound of butter and a half-gallon of ice cream.

Americans spend about 15 percent of their disposable income on food - the lowest percentage of any major nation. About 12 percent of that figure goes for dairy products.

Thanks to the milk price support program, U.S. shoppers can walk into their favorite grocery stores day-in and day-out in every city across the country and find the shelves stocked with fresh milk and dairy products - a claim consumers in few other countries can make.

Through the concept of "self-help" and "supply-management," dairy farmers are taking responsibility for helping finance the milk price support program when milk surpluses get too large.

Under the recent Milk Diversion Program, dairy farmers themselves totally financed the cost of "diversion" payments made to producers who contracted to reduce their milk marketings. During 1984, the program achieved dramatic results:

- National milk production dropped three percent.
- Government purchases of surplus dairy products went down nearly 50 percent.
- Government costs for the dairy program were cut by over $1 billion.

Dairy farmers are also financing themselves a self-help promotion program to inform consumers nationwide about the value and nutritional benefits of milk and dairy products. Highlights include national television and print advertising, product research and nutrition education.

AMPI supports a 1985 Farm Bill proposal that emphasizes a self-help and supply-management approach. This is the sensible way to balance milk production with consumption while providing stability for the nation's dairy farm families.

The Administration has introduced a shortsighted proposal that would phase out the dairy program over the next three years and replace it with a loosely-defined deficiency payment approach. This would have frightening consequences for both consumers and farmers as the risk of wild price swings as market conditions fluctuate is greatly increased.

The milk price support program has an outstanding record of serving the public interest. It has benefited taxpayers, consumers and farmers alike. In the interest of a strong dairy industry and a strong America, it deserves continued support.

Formed in 1969, AMPI ranks as the nation's leading dairy farmer cooperative with over 31,000 members from 20 states located throughout the midwest, south and southwest, who provide about 11 percent of the nation's milk supply.

Dairy products round out a nutritious diet

Dairy products are only part of daily food needs, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension nutrition specialist.

A nutritious diet is made up of a variety of foods from several food groups: meat, poultry, and other protein foods; dairy products; fruits and vegetables; breads and cereals; and limited amounts of fats and sweets, says Mary K. Sweeten.

"The importance of dairy products for rounding out a nutritious diet is their concentration of several needed nutrients in proportions suitable to human needs," she explains.

If you don't eat dairy products, the nutritionist says, it's difficult to get enough minerals to meet your daily nutritional needs without taking supplements.

Supplements may be better than nothing, but a varied diet from all food groups is more likely to provide the minerals in appropriate balance to each other, Sweeten points out.

The nutritionist says that the need for dairy products varies with age and sex. Since different dairy products vary in concentration of milk nutrients, dairy product consumption is easiest to express in milk equivalents.

The amount of milk (or milk equivalents in dairy products) needed varies from two to three cups for children to four cups for teenagers. Adults also need at least two cups of milk each day throughout life to maintain the calcium level in their bones, blood and tissue.

"All dairy products and foods prepared from them may fill some or all of your milk needs," Sweeten maintains, "but daily milk drinking is still the most reliable way to be sure you're getting enough milk nutrients."

Forestburg News

by Myrt Denham

My thanks and sincere appreciation to Cleo Lanier and Merle Hudspeth who have kept this column going for the past few weeks. They did such a fine job that I'm very tempted to turn it all over to them for good.

I must inform all the readers of this column, especially you Forestburgers, that the owners and operators of The Muenster Enterprise have given me a deadline of 5 p.m. on Tuesdays. That means the news has to be there by 5 p.m. - or it will not make that week's newspaper, but will be held over for the next week. Therefore, I would really appreciate it if you would get your news items in to me as they happen, to stay current. The future "up-to-dateness" of this column is entirely up to you, the readers.

The Forestburg United Methodist Church had its Vacation Church School from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. from Monday, June 17, through Friday, June 21. An average of 34 young folks attended plus 16 adults. Mrs. Beth Dill was in charge of the Vacation Church School and did an excellent job. The young folks were such a happy, eager and outgoing group. We are so proud they attended.

Vesta Carter informed me that her son, Jeff, obtained a real severe sprain to one of his feet and it is in a cast. Jeff spent from Thursday, June 20, to Saturday evening, June 22, in the Muenster Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gresham are the very proud parents of a baby boy, born Thursday, June 13, in Flow Memorial Hospital in Denton. He was named Carl Wayne and his grandparents are Mrs. Shirley Lanier of Forestburg and Mr. and Mrs. "Cotton" Gresham of Rosston. His great-grandparents are Mrs. Cleo Lanier and Mrs. Eula Belle Boyd of Forestburg and Mrs. Lenora Moore of Saint Jo. Cleo says this is her very first great-grandchild and it is Shirley Lanier's first grandchild.

Merle and Clifford Hudspeth are sporting a brand new shiny white Oldsmobile here of late.

Marion and Howard Sockwell left their stomping grounds Monday, June 10, and headed for Florence, Alabama, where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Sockwell. They all visited with William David Sockwell and all his family and their families. William owns a cabin on the Tennessee River at Tusculum, Alabama, so everyone took a ten-mile tour up the river on his houseboat and got to see all the beautiful homes built along the river. Marion and Howard returned home Monday, the 17th, after many family get-togethers, parties, barbecues and sightseeing trips.

Now we will bring you up on the comings and goings of Ted and Laura Bell Jackson: June 14 - It was the installation of officers of the Greenwood Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, which was followed by a barbecue; June 16 - they visited their son, Bill, and wife in Decatur; June 17 - it was down to Slidell to visit with Mr. and Mrs. S.T. Warford.

June 18 - their son, Bill, came up. He and Ted went fishing all day; June 20 - Bill Jackson of Decatur and his son-in-law, Randy Bird of Paradise, were up again to go fishing and their catch was good; June 22 - it was to Bowie on business for Ted and Laura Belle. With that we conclude the Jackson activities for this time.

Our Mrs. Vera Mae McGee is on the sick list and is presently with her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Wilkison of Wichita Falls.

On Wednesday, June 19, the Forestburg United Methodist Women entertained the residents of the Saint Jo Nursing Center. Those going were Rev. Chris Allen, Cleo Lanier, Laura Belle Jackson, Lucille Littell, Judith Farrell, Jan Landers, Mary Hays, Veda Brogdon, Keith Dill, Ricky Landers, Gary Allen, Scott Farrell, Leah Hudspeth and Jennifer Scott.

Mmes. Beth Dill, Debra Dill and Liz Johnson attended the Cooke County Electric Co-op Ice Cream Supper Thursday night, June 20, in Muenster.

Mmes. Becky Scott and Jewell Dill went to Dallas Thursday, June 20, to the Larry Jackson In-wood office to pick up chairs and tables for the new community center. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jackson treated the two ladies to dinner. Then home and Jewell headed for Era to pick up Mrs. Beulah Dill. They went on to Gainesville to the First Baptist Church to attend a wedding shower for Mr. and Mrs. Brian Dill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kent Dill and grandson of Mrs. Beulah Dill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norton of Harlingen arrived at the Clifford Hudspeth home Tuesday, June 18. Mrs. Norton is the daughter of Clyde Hudspeth, who used to run the Prairie Point Store. She is a cousin to Clifford.

Then on Wednesday, there was a cousin's get-together at the Hudspeth home with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hudspeth, all of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Ensey and Charles Hudspeth. They enjoyed lunch and visiting. The Nortons departed on Thursday, June 20.

The county country roads in the Dewey area are getting so bad that when you dodge one chug-hold, you hit three others trying to miss the one. I'm told it is no better in other areas. The roads did used to get graded once in a while in times past, now even that has ceased in the Dewey area. Well, these roads don't need grading as much as they all need new gravel everywhere.

Kim and Tony Desmuke and son Ian spent the past weekend with her parents, Billie and Rex Anderson. Ian stayed here to spend a little more time with his grandparents.

Mrs. Nell McKinney and Misty of Burleson were up for the June 22 weekend to visit her parents, Bert and Eula Faye Galmor. On Sunday, Bert and Eula Faye had all their "chicks" plus their little ones to partake of dinner with them. Those present were Nell and Misty, Mrs. Rosa Hoover and Barrett of Montague, "Bo" and Alice Shults, Christa and Brent, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Evans Jr. and Lydia.

Cecil and Dorothy Foster of the 'Burg, J.P. and Maxine Howard and Treva Simmons of Alvord motored up to Loco, Okla. Sunday, June 23. There they met some more cousins of Cecil's and had a fun day visiting and "breaking bread" together.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards honored their daughter, Pamela of Denton, with a birthday party in their home Saturday night, June 22. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Embry of Dyemound, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Edwards of Bowie, Karen Johnson and two children of Montague, Felicia Bell of Rosston, Mark Brant of Dallas, Chris Greenead and Pamela's sister, Veronica, and also her brother, Douglas.

Mrs. Louise Shults attended the 68th birthday celebration for Amy (Ford) Gilliland at the home of Amy's grandson, Charles Hott of Rosston. All this took place Saturday night, June 22.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Blankenship of Lindsay, Okla. visited with Louise Sunday afternoon, June 23. Then Monday Oma Wakeman accompanied Louise to Bowie on a business trip.

Enjoying Sunday afternoon, June 23, at Lake Bridgeport were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Steadham, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dill and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Dill, Vaton, Keisha, Keith and Kody. They got in swimming, water skiing and, of course, some eating.

Mrs. Jeanette Montgomery of Greenwood and Cleo, Johnny and Charles Lanier spent all day Sunday, June 23, in the Wichita Mountains in Oklahoma. On Monday, Cleo attended a Heritage Committee meeting in Montague.

Now we come to the Millie and W.T. Reynolds activities: Mr. and Mrs. "Rip" Ashcraft of Marietta, Okla. were recent visitors of theirs; June 21 - Millie and W.T. had supper with Mary and Jim Reynolds of Dallas; June 22 - Millie, Wanda Perryman and Rocky Gates visited with Mrs. Joe Denham in Bowie; June 24 - Millie and Wanda were on to Dallas on business and then they visited the Allan Rollers of Grapevine before returning home.

Dorothy Foster went visiting with her friend, Ruth Eldridge, Monday morning, June 24. Dorothy says now that she has retired from her "paying job" she is trying to catch up on some visiting with friends and neighbors, and also catching up on gossip.

The former Shirley Mann and her husband of Denton visited Barney and Vera Brogdon Monday morning, June 24. She is Barney's niece.

Monday afternoon, Mary Fellers and Laura Belle Thurman of Gainesville visited with Veda Brogdon. These three ladies attended nursing school together and then worked together for a while in Gainesville.

Friday night, June 21, the Forestburg Homemakers sponsored a Bar-B-Q and dance at the new Community Center. It was a very nice family affair and good clean fun for all. A nice group attended and all present enjoyed themselves.

However, this writer can't help but wonder why many of you make no effort to attend these affairs. They are meant for you to get with your friends and to visit, etc.

For years we have all wanted a nicer, larger community center - now we have it and the Homemakers are doing all they can for your pleasure, etc. So why the lack of participation on your part? We all need to attend and give the Homemakers all the support and help we can, as they and their husbands have really worked hard to bring this new community center into being.

July birthdays: Charles Lanier, July 2; Veronica Edwards, July 10; Marion Sockwell, July 13; Johnny Lanier, July 14; Vera Mae McGee, July 14; W.T. Reynolds, July 14; Jeff Carter, July 16; Fay Hamric, July 17; Felicia Bell, July 19; Shelle Perryman, July 26; Kody Dill, July 27; Tracy Moore, July 29; A.G. Barclay, July 30; Beth Dill, July 30; and Wanda Perryman, July 31.

18 seniors go to Hawaii

It was a happy, elated and excited group of 1985 Forestburg graduates and their sponsor, Dan Hamric, plus us Denhams, that gathered on the school grounds Tuesday, June 4, for our trip to Honolulu and Waikiki, on the Island of Oahu, of the Hawaiian Islands.

At DFW, we boarded a Western Airliner at 3 p.m. for Salt Lake City, changed planes there to a DC-10 for the Hawaiian flight with another stop in Los Angeles. We arrived in Honolulu at about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday night, June 4; but it was 2:30 a.m. Wednesday, June 5, here.

The flight to Hawaii was the first airplane ride for several of the 1985 graduates - this added more excitement for them. Everyone was thrilled to arrive in Honolulu - on to Waikiki and our hotel for a night's rest. The next day the sightseeing tours, shopping and swimming in the beautiful blue Pacific began for them.

Dan and the young folks rented a car to go on their own sight-seeing tours, such as the Pearl Harbor trip, Diamond Head and the famous blow hole, the Zoo, the Kodak Hula Show, trips up into the mountains, going swimming at other beaches of Oahu and many of the historical places. There were many other young folks from the mainland over there also and the Forestburg group made friends with some of them, thus adding more enjoyment to the trip. Dan also took some of his group snorkeling one day.

Perryman and I took various tours also: the Pearl Harbor trip, which included a trip to see the Arizona, the Punch Bowl and a trip through Honolulu; another trip was an air tour around and over seven of the eight Hawaiian Islands. We landed on the big island of Hawaii where we toured a beautiful resort area, then up again to fly over the volcano area of that island and saw the red-hot lava down in the volcano that has been so active recently; then on to the island of Maui where we toured a town, going on to a sugar cane plantation for lunch; then up and away to Kauai for a tour up a river via boat to see the beautiful Fern Grotto; then back to Honolulu. We also toured the famous Polynesian Culture Center and attended their nighttime show. This is on Oahu. We also visited with our friends, Bill and Betty Alt - they are Air Force folks.

In all our travels, we have never ever seen as many shops and stores selling "trinkets" for tourists to buy for friends and relatives back home.

Perryman was in Hawaii at Hickman Field for six weeks in 1958; then there were only three hotels in Honolulu and Waikiki, now there are a hundred and they are the high rise variety. Most are on Waikiki. Therefore, if you want to see the island of Oahu, you had best go soon before the whole island becomes a concrete jungle. We suggest you visit the islands of Maui, Hawaii and Kauai - they are more like we think Oahu should be. All the islands are beautiful!

It was home for all of us Wednesday night, June 12, at 10 p.m. (3 a.m. Thursday here) via San Francisco, Salt Lake City and DFW Airport. However, it was a tired, sleepy and "anxious to get home" bunch that landed at DFW at 2 p.m. Thursday, June 13. We were met by Dan's wife, Fay, and Mrs. Rhoden, who "hailed" us home.

The 1985 seniors making the trip were Kerry Jacobs, Nancy Traylor, Latricia Bell, Lorene Romine, Jeff Lanier, Jeff Duke, Brent Shults, Mike Hardy, Kendall Holland and Brad Rhoden.

One final word - many thanks to Dan Hamric. He really made the trip easy for all of us. He handled all the "hassle" at the airport for us. He took the trouble out of the trip for us. Thanks, Dan, we all appreciate you ever so much. Aloha!

SOME OF THE GREATEST THINGS IN AMERICA NEVER CHANGE.
SOME DO.
U.S. Savings Bonds. Now paying 10.94%.
U.S. Savings Bonds now pay like money market accounts! At the current rate—10.94%—you could double your money in less than seven years. Just hold Bonds for five years and you get the new higher variable rates. Plus, you get a guaranteed return. That's the kind of change anyone can appreciate.
But some of the best things about Bonds haven't changed. Savings Bonds are still as safe as ever. They're still exempt from state and local income taxes. And since Bonds cost as little as $25, they're as affordable as ever. What's more, Bonds remain a great way to keep our country strong.
