YELLOW TEAM FIRST BASEMAN J.J. Dowd prepares to put the tag on Mandy Barnhill of the blue team during Tuesday night tee-ball action here.

Council considers ban on beer at ballpark

The Muenster city council is considering an ordinance to ban alcoholic beverages from the city's baseball park.

The park, located in a residential area at 3rd and Oak Streets, is used by various men's softball leagues, little league and other recreational groups. Police chief Helen Tompkins asked the council Monday night to consider the ordinance in response to citizens' complaints about abuses.

"The current ordinances are not adequate for me to enforce," she said. "There is a law, but it is not specific to that park and I could get in trouble trying to enforce it. If we're going to keep alcoholic beverages out of there, I want one city ordinance specifying this park in particular."

Tompkins cited complaints about the use of alcohol leading to foul language and disorderly conduct during tournaments. She also noted in the past it had been handled in such a way the minors could have gotten hold of beer and consumed it.

"It's gotten a little better in the past few years," councilman

Claude Klement said. "I think the Muenster teams would try to help enforce it, to try and stop the abuses from happening, but when you get a lot of out-of-town teams in here it's going to be hard to control."

Tompkins said if she had an ordinance to back her up, she would post signs at the park and warn players and fans that alcoholic beverages were not allowed.

"I would give people plenty of warning, then if they didn't quit I would write them up and confiscate all their alcohol," she said. "We're not having any great problems right now, since little leaguers are using the field, but when the adult tournaments are held I get complaints from citizens."

"If I'm going to get complaints, I want something down on paper that I can enforce."

Klement noted a tournament is scheduled at the baseball park in just two weeks. The council asked Tompkins to observe the tournament and report back at their next meeting if she still thought an ordinance was needed.

In other police business, the council approved the promotion of Bob Stovall in rank and granted funding for a $50 a month pay raise to carry through until the new budget takes effect October 1.

Stovall has been with the Muenster police department three-and-a-half years and holds an advanced certificate in law enforcement.

The council also okayed a request for an extra $1,000 to buy a new police car to replace an old, worn-out vehicle currently in use by patrol officers. The new car will be a reconditioned Dodge Diplomat and can be bought from the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin for $4,000. Tompkins has $3,000 in her budget already to purchase a new car.

Councilman Johnny Pagel made the motion to buy the new car, noting, "If you can get a good car for $4,000 you're still getting a bargain."

The police chief told the council she will have to ask for $4,000 more in next year's budget to replace the other patrol vehicle. Both have more than 150,000 miles.

Festivities Set for Father's Day picnic

Plans are being finalized for the annual Father's Day picnic set for Sunday, June 17 at the Sacred Heart Parish Hall and grounds.

The festivities will get underway at 11:30 a.m. when workers will serve up a dinner of fried chicken, sausage, beans, potato salad, lettuce salad, homemade bread, pie, tea and coffee.

Tickets for the dinner are $4 for adults and $2 for children under 12. Serving will continue through 1:30 p.m.

While the eating gets going, a whole slate of other activities will also be gearing up to run through the afternoon. Booths will serve barbeque sandwiches beginning at 2 p.m., and there will be a cake walk, ball roll, bingo and horseshoe game for adults as well as a fish pond, balloon booth, toy walk, ring and goblet toss booths and a football throw for the young people.

The highlight of the evening may well be the tug of war being put together by Neil Huchton. Registration for the event runs

Hance wins here, loses state runoff

State Senator Lloyd Doggett won a narrow runoff election over Congressman Kent Hance Saturday, dominating the city vote while Hance carried the rural areas.

Cooke County and Muenster went solidly for Hance, but an extremely low voter turnout here and throughout the state kept Hance's total below Doggett's. The Lubbock representative got 77 percent of the Muenster vote and just over 60 percent in Cooke

County, but fell less than 500 votes short out of nearly a million cast statewide.

In box 17 at the Muenster VFW Hall, Hance got 27 votes to Doggett's 11. In box 18, at the K of C Hall, Hance drew 104 votes to 30 for Doggett.

County-wide, Hance won with 1,313 votes while Doggett got 848 — a 60.7 percent to 39.2 percent margin. Hance carried 20 boxes,

Fluker flies for keeps

by Bob Buckel

When Tom Fluker says he flies model airplanes, you tend to conjure up a vision of someone out in the park on a Sunday afternoon, doing lazy loops with a buzzing plastic model.

Tom, a 1982 graduate of Gainesville High School, is into it a little deeper than that.

Fluker, whose father is the school counselor for Muenster and Lindsay, is the world champion in "combat" model airplane flying. His idea of flying involves maneuvering a big balsa-wood plane that does better than 100 mph, trying to use his propeller to clip the crepe-paper streamer off his opponent's tail without losing his own.

"They have other events — stunt flying, racing and a pure speed event — but the combat is what I'm cut out for. Wild, totally unorganized and split-second. In combat, you've only got about three milliseconds to react," he said.

Fluker presented a program at noon Wednesday at the Muenster Kiwanis Club at the Center restaurant.

Fluker is now a junior at Texas A&M and will be one of four people from the United States to compete in combat at the next world championship event, to be held in Massachusetts this fall.

He was the first American to win the world combat title, and hopes to be the first person ever to repeat as world champion.

In combat flying, the airplanes are controlled by means of a 52-foot line, with the flyers required to remain inside a circle on the ground. Both planes trail a crepe paper streamer 10 feet long, and they chase each other at high speeds trying to cut the streamer and earn points.

Fluker won his world title in Sweden in 1982, finishing ahead of a Dane and competitor from Finland. Enroute to the title, he also defeated a Russian and unseated another as world champion.

"During the world championships a fellow on the U.S. team from California offered some cognac to one of the Russian flyers, but his coach wouldn't let him accept it," Fluker said. "Then after I won, we went down to the Russians' room to trade airplanes and pins and stuff, and the Russians pulled out a bottle of vodka — so we sort of celebrated together."

Municipal court judge hears cases Saturday

Municipal Court judge Michael Farquhar heard 46 cases in Muenster Saturday and levied over $1,100 in fines.

Farquhar, a Dallas attorney, presides over the court here once a month, hearing misdemeanor cases filed by city officers. Most of the cases on Saturday's docket were for speeding, but offenses also included littering, reckless damage, disorderly conduct, no driver's license and minor in possession of alcohol.

One speeding suspect, Leslie J. Bolling of Dallas, requested a trial by jury and pleaded not guilty to going 66 mph in a 55 zone.

If the trial is held, it would be the first for Muenster's municipal court. City secretary Celine Dittfurth said 15 local citizens would be called July 7 for possible service on the six-person jury.

Fluker's trophies from competition include the airplane of the Russian he defeated, a hand-carved propeller from the Chinese, a Danish airplane and dozens of pins and medals from the Canadians, Russians, West Germans, Swedes and Chinese.

"In the U.S., if you cut the other guy's string, you win it all," he noted. "In international competition, you're scored on how many cuts you make on his streamer, so you don't want to cut it completely off. It's a lot of skill, the speed and maneuverability of your airplane, and luck."

Fluker made the U.S. team in 1981 and the world championships — held every two years — were his first international competition. He has travelled all over the United States.

This year's national championships are scheduled for Reno in August, and Fluker will join flyers from Louisiana, Washington and Michigan on the four-member U.S. team at the world championships in Massachusetts.

His dad makes the airplanes, which are formed of balsa wood and covered with a durable, clear plastic. They are mostly wing, with the engine mounted on the front and a large tail which the pilot uses to control and maneuver.

Fluker's engines come from a man in Pennsylvania and turn about 30,000 rpm at top speed. He expects the plane to do 115 or more miles per hour.

"You want a good airplane, but you don't want it to be too expensive either, because they are basically disposable," he says. "We took 15 airplanes to Sweden. Three came back unharmed because we didn't fly them, three were slightly damaged and the rest are scattered somewhere between here and there. All you can salvage usually is the engine and maybe the propeller."

In combat, the flyer must not only control the airplane, he must jockey for position with his opponent inside the circle, which is five feet in diameter for U.S. competitions and about 10 feet — three meters — in international competition. Physical conditioning is a key part of the winning edge.

"I spend a lot of time running," Fluker said. "A lot of my opponents try to get my plane tangled up because that way they can keep me from moving around so much. I guess I'm pretty mobile compared to most of the others."

Fluker does not watch his airplane as he flies it, going instead by the pull and the feel while keeping his eyes on his opponent. At top speed, the plane makes a circle in about two seconds — a pace that sounds dizzying to the untrained listener.

"I've been flying since I was six years old," he said. "I don't know how I keep from getting dizzy, but I don't. When I start trying to think about it — that's when I get dizzy."

Competitions are sponsored by the Academy of Model Aeronautics and big meets draw hundreds of spectators. The academy pays expenses for the U.S. team when they go to the world championships, but other than that, Fluker's pursuit is strictly amateur and self-financed.

Fluker's pursuit is strictly amateur and self-financed.

"It's a hobby, really, although for us now it's more of a science and art. There's no money in it, although this guy in Pennsylvania is helping us with the engines since we're testing them out for him."

Fluker's passion for the sport made him a world champion at 18, and he stands a chance this fall of becoming — at age 20 — the grand old master of combat flying.

If you should take your model to the park on a Sunday afternoon, it might be best to avoid Tom Fluker. He takes his flying seriously.

MRS. DAVID CRAIG MARTIN

At Sacred Heart Church

Fleitman, Martin pledge vows

In a traditional Nuptial Mass with double ring ceremony and exchange of marriage vows, Charlotte Anne Fleitman became the bride of David Craig Martin on Saturday, June 2.

Father Victor Gillespie officiated in Sacred Heart Church in the late afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Fleitman of Muenster and the groom is the son of Mrs. Marge Clement of Gainesville and Bill Martin of Pioneer Valley.

The bride approached the altar with her father, pausing to present a rose to her mother. Music for the processional was the nostalgic, simple beauty of "Edelweiss" played as a flute solo by Terri De Garmo of Lindsay.

For her wedding she chose a formal white gown of silk and lace, designed with fitted bodice, Queen Anne neckline, sheer bishop sleeves and five-tiered skirt of Wedgewood lace, with an aisle-wide chapel train.

Her triple-tiered illusion veil with circular crown of gathered puff tulle accented with pearls, ribbon and lace, was made by her mother.

Her bridal bouquet was an all white cascade arrangement of roses, carnations, stephanotis, ribbons and forget me nots with the treasured handkerchief used as her christening cap, and a cut crystal rosary, a gift from her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Millie Fleitman. Tied into ribbon ends were white orange blossoms from the wedding bouquet of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Joe Bauer, used on November 16, 1920 and again in the wedding of the bride's parents on April 12, 1951. She wore an antique gold cross and chain borrowed from her Grandmother Fleitman.

Attendants

Sabrina Schroeder of Lindsay, a friend of the bride was maid of honor. Pam Felderhoff of Muenster a friend and Claudia Flusche Homesly of Fort Worth a friend of the bride and cousin of the groom were bridesmaids. April Fleitman, bride's niece and little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fleitman, was flower girl.

Gowned in delicate rainbow pastels of mint, orchid, yellow and pink respectively, they were identically dressed in chiffon lined with taffeta, with double flounce neckline scooped in back, slightly raised waistline tied with a satin bow. They carried nosegays of pastel carnations and wore matching pastel wreaths in their hair.

Jeff Felderhoff of Lindsay a friend and classmate of the groom was best man. Steve Neu of Lindsay another classmate and Larry Fleitman, bride's brother were groomsmen. Allen Fleitman, bride's brother, Don Fleitman, bride's cousin, Steve Hermes and Neal Flusche both cousins of the groom were ushers.

Jeff Flusche, groom's cousin and small son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Flusche was ring bearer. The ring pillow was made by the bride's mother. Curt Bayer and Mark Flusche were Mass servers.

Wedding music was given by Ruth Felderhoff organist, Terri De Garmo flutist and the singing group of Diane Grewing, Debbie Hess and Vicky Fisher, with guitar accompaniment.

Participating in the special wedding liturgy were Billy and Dale Martin, groom's brothers who carried Offertory gifts to the altar, Mrs. David Flusche, groom's godmother, with chosen readings and Mrs. Anne Bauer, bride's aunt and Harold Flusche, groom's uncle who assisted as Eucharistic ministers. Mrs. Sharon Krebs, bride's godmother was hospitalized and unable to participate as previously planned.

Altar decorations carried out an all-white theme, with fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli tied with white bows, many white candles in heart shape, held in a pair of tall white floor candelabra. All wedding flowers were made by the bride, mothers of the couple and a group of friends.

As she left the altar, the bride presented a rose to the groom's mother.

Reception

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center.

Mrs. Terry Hess and Mrs. Traci Stoffels presided at the bride's book, registering 250 guests, at a table holding a decoupage wedding invitation and the Unity candle.

The bride's table was covered in white, holding white candles in crystal holders and decorated with the bridesmaids' flowers.

The three tiered white wedding cake by Betty Rose was accented with the bride's chosen colors. The German chocolate horseshoe shaped groom's cake was made by Charles Bayer. Mrs. Lorine Strassberg, bride's aunt and a cousin Mrs. Brenda Dixon, both of Dayton Ohio cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Debbie Fleitman, bride's sister-in-law cut the groom's cake.

Cake servers were Carol Hermes, Susie Felderhoff, Elaine Grewing, Carmen Flusche and Judy Felderhoff.

A wall decoration featured two satin hearts with satin sash carrying names of the couple with the wedding date. Flowers, lace fans, and pastel napkins decorated guest tables.

Mike Otts played for dancing. Guests attended from Dallas,

Gainesville at The Center Restaurant on May 27 at 5 p.m.

A come and go recipe shower was given by Mrs. Allen Fleitman, on May 20.

Mrs. Fette, daughter honored

Atlanta, Plano, Bryson, Denton, Bridgeport and Fort Worth and Cooke County.

The bride is a graduate of Muenster High School, attended Cooke County College and is a student at North Texas State University. The groom is a graduate of Lindsay High School, attended Cooke County College and Texas A and M University. He is an electrician employed by David Hoenig Electric, Inc. When they return from a tour of South Texas they will be at home in Denton.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clement of Elizabeth Jean Fette and her mother, Mrs. David Fette were honorees on Saturday, May 26 when Beta Kappa and Mrs. Marcie Wilde hosted a baby shower at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Wilde served a fruit tray, a variety of coffee cakes and hot drinks. Mrs. Fette opened and displayed their gifts.

WHO'O'O'O'S WANTING TO SAVE ON COOLING COSTS THIS SUMMER?

Here are a few tips that will help your air conditioning system operate more efficiently and last longer!

1. Clean or replace the air filter at the central unit or on the return air grill of the system at least once a month. A dirty filter causes an air conditioning unit to use more energy and to work harder.
2. Check the outside condenser coil regularly for obstructions or dirt which can restrict air flow. Clean when needed.
3. Once every two years, inspect and clean the inside cooling coil of the air conditioner to aid efficient operation of the system.
4. Have your entire air conditioning system inspected at least once every two years by a professional.
5. Set thermostat no lower than 78°.

Auction raises funds for Morton Museum

The Fun Auction held by the Cooke County Heritage Society at the VFW Hall last Friday, June 1, lived up to its name of being a "fun" affair for the group of approximately 300 persons who attended. There was much good-natured competition in both the Silent Auction and the Live Auction.

Net proceeds from the event amounted to $11,700 according to Judy Knight, Chairman of the Auction Committee. These funds are to be used for the support and improvement of Morton Museum and are in response to a Challenge Grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The variety of donations included such diverse items as a Hereford cow and calf, an antique hall tree and a beveled mirror, jewelry, milk bottles in a wooden case, gourmet dinners, political campaign buttons, and weekends at the Stockyards in Fort Worth and in luxury hotels in Dallas. According to Patty Haayen, Chairman of Solicitations, members and friends of the Heritage Society were most cooperative in supporting the event. A few surplus items from the Morton Museum collection were also included.

The barbecue dinner was prepared by Marvin Knight, Jr., Dick Haayen, and Jim Myrick. Following the brisk competition for the items on the Silent Auction tables, the Live Auction was conducted by Mike Jones, auctioneer.

Morton Museum is open to the public, with free admission, Tuesdays through Saturdays from 12:00 until 5:00 p.m. and Sundays from 2:00 until 5:00 p.m. In addition, classes in crafts and nature study are being offered this summer.

The group expressed thanks to Charles Wimmer who mowed the Mini-Park.

Mrs. Miller announced an upcoming board meeting. Committees and the executive board remain active throughout the summer, however no monthly meetings or programs are held until the fall.

A covered dish dinner was served indoors. Three tables were set up in the dining room and living room, each carrying out an individual theme and coordinated color scheme. Each napkin was tied with a rose matching the centerpiece.

Mrs. Henry Koelzer, his grandmother entertained Sunday evening in the Newman home with a family gathering in his honor.

Seniors trek to Granbury

A day spent on a special treat on Sunday, May 27 took 25 of Muenster's Senior Citizens group to Granbury where they attended a program in Granbury Opera House.

Traveling in a Sacred Heart School bus driven by Jerry Sicking, they left here at 10 a.m. and stopped for lunch in Weatherford before arriving in Granbury just in time for the sing-a-long, a warmup for the featured show at 2 p.m.

They saw a comedy "SS Cupid" or "Love On The Poop Deck", and members of the group said it was one of the funniest they ever attended.

Enroute home they stopped again in Weatherford for supper. Plans to have one meal at The Nutt House were canceled because Sunday closing time there was 3 p.m.

They arrived in Muenster about 8 p.m. Mrs. Gladys Lutkenhaus said they plan a similar trip again in August, when new shows will be scheduled.

WITH AVERAGE BILLING,
YOUR ELECTRIC BILL WILL BE ABOUT THE SAME EACH MONTH.

Everyone knows electric bills go up and down throughout the year. Some months they're low. Some months they're higher, depending on how much electricity you use.

But for most of us there aren't any highs and lows in our monthly income. It's pretty much the same from month to month. So, balancing the monthly budget can be a problem.

Well, Texas Power and Light Company has an answer. It's the Average Billing Plan.

And each month after you join, you'll pay an average of your monthly electric bills over the past twelve months. No more ups and downs.

Of course, you're still paying for all the electricity you use. But with average billing, your electric bills will be about the same each month. So budgeting will be that much easier.

If you want to know more about our Average Billing Plan, call your local TP&L office today.

The torch relay involves Americans from all walks of life and will carry the Olympic flame from New York to Los Angeles, where it will light the flame for the 1984 Olympic Games.

The relay will come through the area Wednesday, June 13 as the flame passes from Willis, Oklahoma across the state line to an overnight stop in Grand Prairie.

Leaving Willis at 8 a.m., the runners will carry the torch to the Texas-Oklahoma border by 11:45 a.m. where the flame will enter Texas via the highway 377 bridge over Lake Texoma.

The relay route goes through Sherwood Shores, Sheppard Air Force Base's complex at the lake, then through Sandusky, Dixie, Whitesboro, Collinsville, Tioga, Pilot Point and Aubrey enroute to Dallas, where it is scheduled to arrive at 7:30 p.m.

Those desiring to see the relay pass by are urged to do so at one

SPECIAL OLYMPICS COACHES for the Cooke County team included (l-r) Cheryl Stansbury, Paul Chandler, Sue Hundt and Kit and Laura Colvin. The coaches took 19 athletes to the Austin state meet.

At state special olympics Henscheid earns gold

Bart Henscheid of Muenster was a gold-medal winner in the Special Olympics state track meet at Austin recently.

Bart, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Henscheid of Muenster, won the gold medal in the 50-meter dash at the huge meet, which was held May 22-25 at Austin. He also took a silver medal in the softball toss.

Charlie Hermes won two silver medals, in the 50-meter run and as part of a shuttle relay team, and Vickie Moore, also of this area, also captured silver medals in the 50-meter run and shuttle relays.

Nineteen Cooke youths attended the meet, which saw more than 4,200 athletes from all over the state competing for four days.

Those on the Cooke County team in addition to Henscheid, Hermes, and Moore were Freddie Hamilton, Barbie Brian, Sandra Bickers, Manuel Hernandez, Teresa Moore, Donna Stogner, Carlonda Crawford, Johnny Fullbright, Wes Parkhill, Denny Fisher and Judy Stephenson of Gainesville, Donna Robertson and Jimmy Gossett of Lindsay, Troy Kennedy of Collinsville, Sarah Parker of Lake Kiowa and Robert Powell of Myra.

The team was coached by Cheryl Stansbury, Paul Chandler, Sue Hundt and Kit and Laura Colvin.

The Special Olympians, who range in age from 10 to 42, began working in December for the state competition. They worked out once a week under the guidance of the coaches, all of whom are volunteers.

The group attended a regional meet in March at Fort Worth, where they competed in a field of 2,000 athletes.

All the team members take part in three events, choosing from the 50, 100 or 200-meter runs, softball throw, frisbee throw and junior and senior shuttle relay teams.

Funding for the group's participation in the regional and state meets is all donated — they do not receive state or other aid for the activity.

Anyone interested in helping with the Special Olympics or contributing to the Cooke County team may contact one of the coaches in Gainesville.

Safe Boating Week runs through June 9

National Safe Boating Week is June 3 through June 9. The theme this year is "Before You Drink, Be A Responsible Boat Operator."

"Research has shown that 50 percent of the victims who drown in recreational boating accidents had been drinking," said Jeffee Palmer of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Water Safety Education Section.

The studies showed that peripheral vision, balance and information processing all are affected almost as soon as a person starts drinking. By the time an operator's blood alcohol concentration reaches .035 percent, the impairment of boating operations were significant.

A sober but fatigued boat operator might be able to avoid running over someone falling from the bow of a 16 foot boat moving at 25 mph. A drinking operator would not respond to the person's falling overboard until well after striking the victim.

Remember, the boat operator is legally responsible for the safe operation of the boat and the passengers aboard, Palmer said.

FATHER CLETUS AT ORDINATION

FATHER CLETUS 45 years later

Father Cletus Post honored on 45th

This is celebration week in Lindsay to honor Father Cletus Post. Sunday, June 3 marked the 45th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. He also observed his 71st birthday on June 5.

He was born on June 5, 1913 in Fort Smith, Arkansas to Mr. and Mrs. John Post of Altus. He attended St. Mary's School in Altus and entered Subiaco in 1928. He was medalist winner in Latin in his senior year and was also a member of the Trojan Band and the school quartet.

Smith preached the sermon and was arch priest for the High Mass. Father Cletus became pastor at St. Peter's Church in Lindsay after serving in Windthorst and Muenster. He was the replacement for Father Damien Wewers. Under his leadership, say his parishioners, things are always in "tip top" shape. He has been a wonderful pastor and good friend to the members of St. Peter's parish. Presently he is taking some time off from his duties and does not feel quite up to a big celebration. However, his parishioners extend best birthday greetings and a special "Get-Well" note.

Society meets May 23

Parish council meets

Members of the Lindsay Parish Council met Sunday June 3 after the 10 a.m. Mass. The special meeting was to decide whether or not the parish would sell one particular piece of land to the school. This piece of land lies between the gym and the high school. It will be needed by the school for future building space.

Parish Council members agreed to sell the land to the school. The meeting was then adjourned. The regular meeting for the Parish Council will be Sunday June 10.

Program Tuesday on home canning tips

Home canning of foods has increased in popularity in recent years with many people canning foods for the first time. Other homemakers may be returning to home canning after not doing any food preservation for several years.

Many developments and changes have been made in food preservation over the years. Two special programs are planned on Home Canning to be given by County Extension Agents Evelyn Yeatts and Lynn Goerke. On Tuesday night, June 12 at 7 p.m., a demonstration and program will be given with the same program repeated on Wednesday morning, June 13 at 9:30 a.m. Both of the programs will be held at the Texas Power and Light Company Meeting Room in Gainesville.

Canning of foods is not difficult — but it must be done properly to avoid food spoilage and food poisoning.

Canning depends on the combined effect of time and high temperature to kill the microorganisms that cause spoilage. Acidity of food is the major factor that determines the time and temperature necessary for processing. Some foods may be canned by using the water bath canner while other foods must have the high temperature which is possible only by using the pressure canner.

The use of both the pressure canner and the water bath canner will be demonstrated. Common problems in food preservation will be discussed. Up to date canning publications will be available at the meeting, also.

It is recommended that pressure canner gauges be checked on an annual basis. Lids to the canners can be brought to the programs for checking. At the close of the program, canner gauge lids will be checked.

The Food Preservation Programs, like all programs sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, are open to people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Homemakers plan potluck picnic

Money matters for women...

Financial planning — it's come a long way, too!

How can a working woman take best advantages of on-the-job benefits? What's a good first step towards coping with divorce? And how can anyone put enough money aside for the kid's college education these days?

These may all sound like the kind of questions heard on a contemporary TV talk show but, off-camera, they're typical of the kind of questions more and more women are now directing towards financial planners.

Of course, most financial planners aren't as recognizable as Phil Donahue, but they have, nonetheless, helped lead the way towards more positive, realistic attitudes about women's roles in society.

For instance it was once considered sufficient for the male wage earner in a household to be protected with life insurance. According to the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, any such notion is totally out of tune with the times.

The role of the housewife is finally gaining recognition as a profession — one with long hours, varied responsibilities and specific economic value.

For this reason, it's becoming customary for couples nowadays to take out "wife insurance" to provide an income to pay for replacement of the services performed by the housewife. Actually in view of the growing numbers of "house-husbands," this form of insurance may be more accurately called "spouse insurance."

According to the American Society of CLU, the attitude that financial security is the responsibility of the male head of a household has gone the way of cave drawings, and women have learned that taking charge of their own lives starts with a strong financial foundation.

This is particularly important in view of the growing national trend towards divorce. In the '70s, for instance, the number of single parent families headed by women almost doubled — from 2.9 million to 5.3 million.

Yet, according to Ohio State University's Griffith Foundation and Office of Women's Studies, the typical divorced mother used to be unaware whether she even owned life insurance or not.

The American Society of CLU points out that it's important for wives to protect themselves by purchasing life insurance prior to divorce since, after such legal action, they no longer have an "insurable interest" in the former spouse's life.

What sort of policy — whole life, term, variable or universal life — is appropriate? How should it be combined with other assets — automobile, house, stocks, jewelry — to achieve the right balance between potential profit and protecting what you have? The person who can best answer these and other personal finance questions is the financial planner.

Once considered the exclusive counselors to the wealthy, financial planners have become vital to middle income wage earners and household heads trying to cope with spiralling interest rates, taxation and inflation.

The financial planner should be a generalist, with a broad knowledge of insurance, taxes, law, banking and accounting. He or she does not replace specialists in these areas, but is trained to recognize the need for, and call upon specialist services as an individual's situation demands.

Yet, paradoxically, there are virtually no licensing requirements in this highly demanding field. Some practitioners may possess impressive credentials and academic backgrounds, while others may have only a superficial training in one isolated sector of finance to back up a slick sales patter.

In contrast to the "bandwagon" fever which sometimes seems to pervade the fast-growing field of financial planning, the American Society of CLU has imposed educational requirements, standards of practice, and a strict code of ethics upon its members since the Society was formed in 1928.

Since that time, the CLU (Chartered Life Underwriter), and recently the ChFC (Chartered Financial Consultant) designation has come to represent scholastic achievement and professional acumen.

The American Society suggests the following plan to work towards financial security.

First, sit down and figure just what is you own: Automobile, stocks, house, other real estate, jewelry, silver, collectibles and heirlooms. Next, call in a financial planner but, before engaging him or her, ask some questions:

• What services will you be able to provide for me?

If a financial planner is not a member of the American Society, CLU or ChFC he or she may lack the training to deal with the broad scope of financial products and services currently available. They may, instead, have a background restricted to mutual funds, or even real estate, and may not be interested in, or capable of, counseling on other areas.

• Do you subscribe to a code of ethics?

The financial planning field has grown rapidly to meet the increasing demand. Yet, while there are virtually no licensing requirements or regulations, the American Society of CLU observes a code of ethics as strict as any to be found in the medical or legal professions. Simply stated, the CLU or ChFC member of the Society must put his or her client's interest before his or her own.

• How can I be sure I'm making the most of recent developments and new investment opportunities?

The complexity and dynamic nature of personal finance planning demands that the financial planner keep ahead of change. Even after completion of the five year course of study required for the CLU or ChFC designation, members of the American Society attend seminars, and take advantage of a wide variety of self-instructional programs. Further, trends and interpretations of regulations and laws are explored in depth in the CLU Journal, the Society professional's publication.

• How will I pay you?

Will the financial planner receive a commission on recommended products and services, or will you pay on a fee basis? He or she should advise you if this is the case. Remember, financial planners who tout one specific line of products as the answers to all your prayers may be an-

FARM & RANCH

Rain slows harvest near halfway point

A Tuesday night rain shut down wheat harvest operations throughout Cooke County at mid-week, but farmers were hoping to get back into the fields Thursday or Friday.

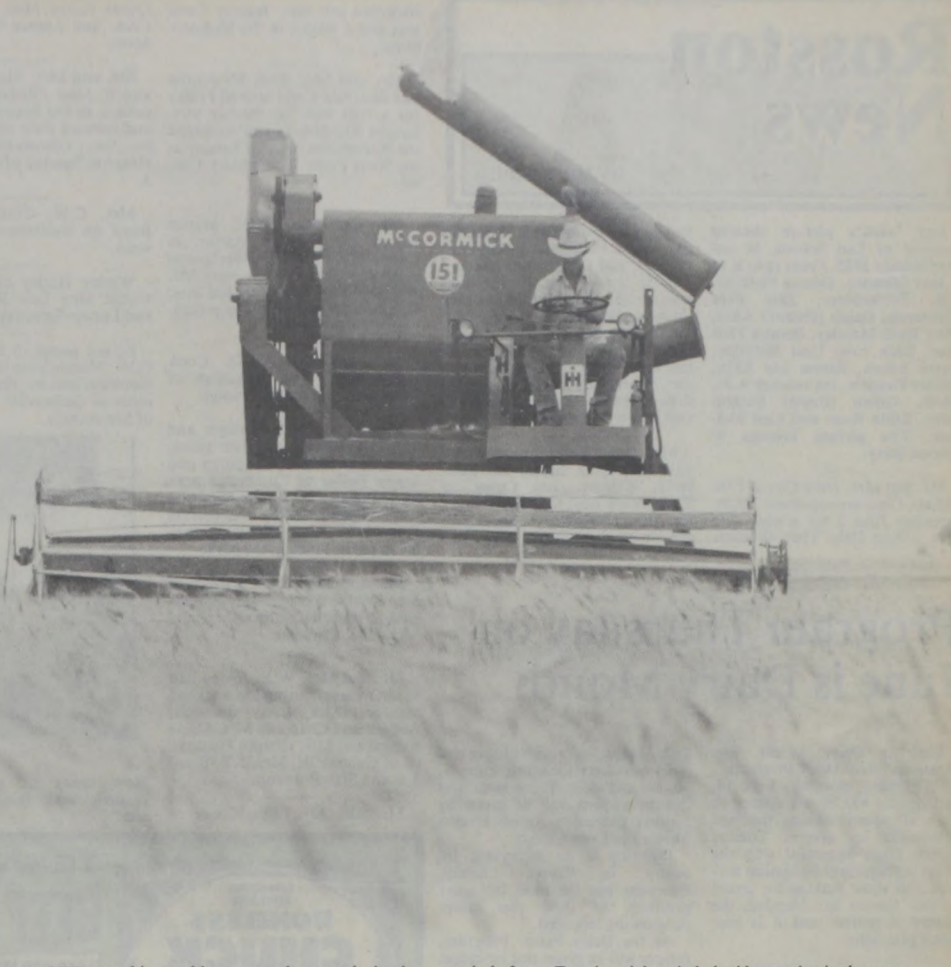

Rainfall amounts were generally less than an inch, ranging from seventh-tenths in the western part of the county to nine-tenths around Gainesville. The gentle rain did little damage to crops and area experts predicted with sunny weather Wednesday the harvest could resume again as early as Thursday.

"All this will do is slow it down," county agent Craig Rosenbaum said Wednesday morning. "It would be nice if they could get the grain out, but then again they can always use the rain on pastures, hay crops and maize."

"This will stop them for a day or two and give them a chance to get their equipment back in good shape," he added.

Elevator operators in the area pegged the harvest from one-third to half finished and said yields were generally better than had been expected. One Muenster operator said he had seen yields as high as 60 or 70 bushels to the acre, while the average was in the 40-50 range. In Gainesville the average was reported around 40 with average quality.

The Weather Service predicted possible thunderstorms again Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, sweeping across the area from the west, with clearing conditions Friday and Saturday.

TOM DANGELMAYR puts his combine to good use early in the week, before a Tuesday night rain halted harvesting in the area.

Craig Rosenbaum County Agent's Report

Gardens are making excellent growth lately. Just the other day I was looking at some tomatoes in a garden and fruit is setting well due to the good weather conditions we have been having. We should have good fruit set until our daytime temperatures get above 97 degrees F. and night temperatures are around 75 degrees F.

The first is at planting and the second should be a series of applications when the first fruits are about an inch in diameter. Use balanced fertilizers with high phosphate and potassium (5-10-10) levels on sandy soils and those with high phosphate levels (10-20-10) on our black land soils. Fertilizers containing high nitrogen levels tend to make foliage growth with little fruit development. Begin fertilizing for the fruit set on through the time the temperatures get too hot to set fruit. Sidedress the plants every week to ten days. A general sidedress recommendation is one to two tablespoons of your complete fertilizer sprinkled around the plant and then worked into the soil. And, more than a dozen insects attack tomatoes. Aphids, leaf miners, leaf-hoppers, whiteflies and spider mites can be controlled by spraying with kelthane, malathion, or sulfur dusts. Tomato hornworms and fruit-worms can be controlled by dusting or spraying with Sevin (Carbaryl) or BACILLUS THURINGIENSIS (Biological Worm Control, Dipel, Thuricides). Stink bugs, flea beetles and Colorado potato beetles can also be controlled with Sevin (Carbaryl). Before using any insecticide, read the label and follow all directions and instructions.

It pays to topdress pastures.

 Pastures are too often overlooked in an otherwise comprehensive fertility program. The fact is, proper fertilization of pasture will greatly increase meat and milk production. You'll see faster weight gain, more pounds of gain per acre, a longer grazing season and greater carrying capacity. It can also dramatically increase your milk production. Begin with a soil test. Then apply the fertilizer shown to be needed. Add lime, if your soil is found high in acidity. Let our Fertilizer Specialist help you. He has the know-how and we have the materials. Come see us soon. We're ready when you are.
