Former Champion Eliminates French Woman Golf Player

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, Ottawa, champion of the United States in 1916, 1918 and 1920, today eliminated Mlle. Simone Thion De La Chaume of France, champion of her own country and England, in the third round of the national women's golf championship tournament. The score was three and two to play. In the other matches today, Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, Kansas City, scored an upset by defeating Mrs. Henry Pressler of Los Angeles, western champion, 2 and 1. Miss Ada MacKenzie, Toronto, Canadian titleholder, came from behind to down Miss Virginia Van Wic, Chicago, one up, and Miss Maureen O'Connell, Hawthorn, N. J., Metropolitan cham-

...ed for a time in victory. Miss Maureen O'Connell, N. J., former holder of that crown, at they had gone two extra holes. DENY INJUNCTION CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Columbia broadcasting chain too was denied an injunction to restrain promoters of the Dempsey Tunney fight from giving the exclusive right to broadcast the match to the National Broadcasting Company by Circuit Judge Ira E. ORIENTATION OF FRESHMEN TOPIC AT KIWANIS MEET

The Kiwanis Club held its regular weekly luncheon at noon today, with several visitors present. A splendid program, and the largest attendance of the membership since last spring, was given by Rev. J. Wesley Lewis and Prof. O. E. Winebringer explained what was meant by Freshman Orientation Week at Howard Payne College. This plan of introducing incoming freshmen, they stated, is carried out in 75 per cent of the colleges and universities. The Placement, or Adaptability, test enables the instructors to better plan the work of the students, thereby avoiding too many unnecessary failures, the speakers explained.

Visitors present were Ray Miller, recently of Graham, who will open up a grocery store here; Dr. M. E. Davis of the Bible Department of Howard Payne College and Mrs. Edgar Godbold, of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Welda Wetzel of the Hall Music Company had charge of the phonograph and played a number of excellent pieces.

Little Boy Hurt When Run Down By Automobile

Eugene Van Dyke, nine year old son of Mrs. J. L. Silk, an employe of the Central Texas Hospital, was run down and seriously injured late Wednesday afternoon while crossing Center avenue at the intersection of Lee street, by an automobile driven by a son of R. L. Harvey.

Mrs. Silk's son was rushed to the Central Texas Hospital where his injuries are being treated. Reports from the hospital this morning are to the effect that his condition is considered serious but not thought fatal. He sustained a fractured skull, a dislocated knee and internal injuries.

Accounts of the accident do not agree, some being of the opinion that the Harvey boy ran by a red light while others say that young Van Dyke was crossing the street under a red light. No action has been taken by city police, it is stated.

Representative A. L. Pierce, of Coleman, was in Brownwood today, returning to his home after placing his son and daughter in John Trafton College at Stephenville. Mr. Pierce reported conditions as good in his county.

BURNEY GETS 10 YEAR TERM FOR SEDUCTION

W. A. BURNEY, chiropractor of 1105 First street, Brownwood, and formerly of Rising Star, was found guilty of seduction and given the maximum sentence of ten years in the state penitentiary in 88th district court at Eastland last Thursday.

Modena Hulin, a Rising Star girl, whose marriage to Burney was annulled in 35th district court here on March 23, was the complainant. Dr. Burney, on the witness stand, swore that five men came to him in Brownwood on December 20, 1926, and at the point of a pistol, and a threat that if he did not accompany them, or refused to marry the girl, that he would "come back a corpse," forced him to get into a car and go with them to Fort Worth.

Charges Follow The seduction charges were filed later after Dr. Burney filed proceedings at Brownwood to have the marriage annulled on the ground of coercion. The court having annulled the marriage, the defense in the case took position that since marriage was a complete defense against a charge of seduction, the state did not have legal grounds on which to prosecute the defendant.

Burney, Brownwood chiropractor who was convicted in district court at Eastland last Thursday on a charge of seduction, and given a sentence of ten years in the state prison, was released under $10,000 bond Saturday, pending appeal to the state Court of Criminal Appeals, and was back in his office here today.

It was a klan frame-up from beginning to end, Burney said this morning. He related the story of his abduction by a party of five unmasked men, one of whom he recognized as a Fort Worth doctor, on the night of December 19, 1926, and his trip with the men to Fort Worth where he was compelled to marry an Eastland county woman.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
To the home of Prof and Mollie Elwell in Camdenville, Indiana, one night in October, 1898, is brought a woman who had fainted on a passing train. That night twin girls are born to her and she dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins have been adopted and named Margaret and Elizabeth. They are called Rusty and Betty.

Jim Elwell, the son, enlists in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at Sedan and reported dead. But he is identified in a New York hospital and his mother and father hasten to him to find his memory and speech gone. He is like a living dead man.

The day before his parents are to take him home Jim wanders away from his nurse, Nellie Downing.

A frantic search is begun. Late that night he is found in Bellevue hospital, unconscious, his skull fractured, expected to die. He had been hit by a truck. The twins are in Indianapolis at the home of their uncle, John Clayton, the mystery of their identity having been cleared up while Jim was in France. John Clayton is notified that Jim, whose life had been despaired of, now has a chance to live and he speaks of his joy to Martha Dalton, an old friend of the Elwells, and they discuss the possibility of Jim's being cured and marrying Nellie Downing.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIX

"WOULDN'T Jim, with his mind back," Betty continued, "be the same old Jim he always was, a perfect darling, but old Jim just the same—a big boy of an artist whose only knowledge of girls is what he learned from the girl pals he knew from the night they were born?"

"Do you suppose that Jim, accustomed all his life to these two tomboys—girls as full of faults as a chestnut burr is full of stickers—but loving them just the same because he had trained them himself, and knowing they loved him—that dear old Jim is going to forget all about his pals and fall in love with the Paulthess Lady just because she nursed him in France and happened to be on hand when his memory came back?"

"I tell you, Dalty," she finished, speaking severely to their old friend, "your romance is too romantic—and anyhow I'm not going to have Jim falling for any nurse!"

"Nurses are not so bad," remarked John Clayton oracularly, and looked significantly at Martha Dalton. She bowed slightly and smiled at him.

"You said it, sister!" Rusty was exclaiming. "We won't have our Jim trying up with any profession but the stage and he can even aspire to a grand opera star there, if he wants to, can't he?"

"Or a new and famous danseuse in Russian costume, perhaps," supplemented their Uncle John. "I reiterate, however, that nurses are not so bad. I tried to get it across a moment ago and you never even paid Martha Dalton the compliment of acknowledging it."

He shook his head. "I'm afraid your training has suffered since Jim's been away."

Elizabeth Marvin snuggled her coppery head against the white-gray of his own.

"Well, I only hope," she said softly, "that his nurse can help him to get back his memory and that Mollie and Prof bring him home pretty soon."

She slid off her chair and stood up.

"I must go and write a letter," she announced. "I've about a million things to tell Mollie and quite a few things I want to say to Nellie Downing."

She paused. "Yes, Uncle John, our training probably has been neglected a little bit since Jim left. But—rather mysteriously—we've also grown up a bit in that time."

John Clayton chuckled and bestowed a knowing look on Martha Dalton.

"Be very careful, dear," he said, turning back to his niece. "Mind your p's and q's, and don't let your pen slip."

Rusty followed her sister upstairs and presently Martha Dalton rose with the remark that she thought she would "catch a little nap."

"Still water," he mused, "runs deep. I don't know how to express it any better than that. Unless I'm greatly mistaken, those two young ladies could tell us all something that would surprise us considerably. Considerably," he repeated, and reached for a cigar.

During the first two weeks of Nurse Dalton's visit at the Clayton home she made three ineffectual attempts to impart to her host the information that she must return to Camdenville. On the third attempt he stopped her at the beginning.

"Now, listen very carefully to me, Martha Dalton," he said, his lips smiling but an undertone of real seriousness shading his voice, "and forget about this going back to the old nursing job and living alone again."

He hadn't forgotten, he said, and never should, what he owed her. "My sister Edna was very dear to me, even if she did marry against my judgment, and what you did for her made me your debtor for all time. That debt is in the class with the debt I owe Prof and Mollie. Nothing that I can ever do ever will balance the accounts. But I have the right to expect and insist upon being allowed to pay a little interest on my debts."

"You are very fond of the girls," he continued earnestly. "That I know. And both of them think the world of you. Now, I've been considering this matter for a long time—ever since Mollie Elwell during her visit here drew for me a word picture of you as you looked that night twenty years ago when you brought Edna to Prof and her."

He wanted her, he said, to make her home there, as companion and a kind of chaperon for the girls.

"This," he explained, "will be an honorary position—not that of an employe, of course—and I want to put sufficient funds aside in the shape of an endowment so that you never will be embarrassed for want of money."

"I've spoken to the girls about this and it pleases them immensely. So now you see how utterly useless it is for you to be talking about going again. This thing they call work and you, Martha Dalton, have reversed position. Hereafter instead of work telling you what time to get up in the morning you can now tell work to go plumb to hell and ring for yours to be served in bed for you."

That it seemed was that. John Clayton had spoken, Martha Dalton was thinking that after all there was something in the story about eating a loaf of bread on the waters. It had taken twenty years for Martha Dalton to get hers back. But she got hers, all right—served in bed in case she liked it that way.

Margaret and Betty Marvin made of Nurse Dalton a repository for all their little feminine confidences, the kind they couldn't tell their uncle, he being a mere man. There was one little confidence, however, that her most durable confidante failed to extract. Still, that didn't matter, she consoled herself. It was all in the family, anyhow.

Letters from Mollie Elwell were not as frequent as they had been previous to Jim's accident. Prof did most of the writing these days.

Most of their own letters were addressed to her, though, and they looked forward to the day when they should see her familiar handwriting on an envelope. It would mean that Mollie Elwell was well again.

When such a letter did make its appearance one day it was fallen upon eagerly and answered individually and collectively by all of the house of Clayton.

The letter bore good news—of the Elwells' homecoming, but to John Clayton it also brought disappointment. He had expected that Jim might—

It read as follows:
"My dear ones:
"All things, we are told, come to him who waits. Perhaps they come to her, too, if she has learned to be a good waiter. Prof says that is one of the best things we have been doing since coming east—learning to wait."
"As you were told by Nellie Downing, Jim's escape from death was by a very narrow margin. The fracture, however, was not as dangerous as at first supposed, although he was unconscious from it for five days—"

"Five days! Think of it!" breathed Rusty.

"Some hope," the letter continued, "was held out to us at first that if he regained consciousness his brain might clear up again. This hope was shattered the moment he opened his eyes. So far as I could see, there was not the slightest change either way."

"He is far from strong yet, but the doctor says he will be in shape to be taken home in another week. But I must tell you now, my dears, what the specialists say, that there isn't a chance in a thousand that Jim will ever be any better mentally than he is now. His physical health probably will return—that is, he will take on weight and get strong. But his mind—oh, well, it is God's will and as Prof says, we have much to be thankful for at that. Had Jim died I don't think I could have lived. In fact, I know I shouldn't."

"And now, dear girls, I must tell you something else. You have mentioned frequently in your letters that you, Prof, Jim and I—accompany you to Europe."

"I am afraid that it will not be possible. Jim must have rested and quiet—particularly quiet—and be kept free of the things that might excite him, for, as you have been told, he is very susceptible to emotion. And it is that I would caution you against."

"Both of you, of course, want to see Jim and I want that you should. But in view of certain things that I needn't go into I think it would be best if you just met him and then left at once. For, oh my girls, I just can't bear a great deal more and the thought of what might have been is terrible. You must go on with your plans just as though Jim had died. We cannot go with you. I shall, of course, be expecting to find you, with Dalton, awaiting us at the old home. Please don't meet us at the train. Let the meeting take place at the old house."

"Ever your affectionate Mollie."

There was a postscript to the effect that she would write to give the time of their arrival.

John Clayton put the letter down and looked around him. And he saw a very strange thing. One of the girls—Betty—had been listening with downcast expression. Now she burst into tears and began to run her hands wildly through her hair.

"There," she cried incoherently, "there, Martha Dalton, is your romance for you. And he'll never get well—he'll never get well 'Oh, my God! And we had hoped and prayed. Do you think I'll go to Europe without him? Do you think Mollie has a right to keep him all to herself? Go on with our plans as if John had died! Oh!"

Celebration of Lodge Birthday Monday Evening

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Brownwood united in an enjoyable program and social hour at the I. O. O. F. hall Monday night, celebrating the Seventy-sixth anniversary of the Rebekah lodge. The local Rebekah lodge was organized about thirty years ago, and for several years has observed the custom of celebrating the anniversary of the founding of the order.

The opening address of last night's program was delivered by Mrs. W. H. White of the Rebekahs, and response made by A. J. Butler, representing the Odd Fellows. Other numbers on the program were: Reading, Dr. A. Hillman; duet, Mrs. W. M. Hooper and Mrs. Ernest Marable; Piano solo, Miss Salter; pantomime, by six Rebekahs; drill, by Rebekah Drill Team; song, Master Billie Hooper; piano duet; Mrs. Camp and Mrs. Hillman.

After the formal program there was a social hour and ice cream and cake were served.

SLOW LIGHT RAINS CONTINUE HERE AND IN NEARBY SECTION

Light rains continuing after the weather report given Monday afternoon—at which time the rainfall of Sunday night and Monday registered 82 inch—had brought the total precipitation in Brownwood since Sunday afternoon to .90 inch at 1:30 this afternoon. Drizzles or very light rains, with low clouds overhanging, have continued since that hour.

The temperature at 1:30 was at the comfortable point of 69 degrees having maintained ever since Sunday night a status of more than 30 degrees below the hot weather of Sunday afternoon. The extreme temperatures of Sunday afternoon and Sunday night were 101 and 53 degrees, respectively the thermometer having made a plunge of 46 degrees within a few hours. The highest temperature Monday was 66 degrees.

Reports received by the West Texas Telephone Company, as stated yesterday, showed the rains pretty general throughout this section of the state, some of towns in adjoining counties, however, reporting only light showers at that time.

YOUTH ON WAY TO GUATEMALA HE RADIOGRAMS

JAMES P. ROBBETT, missing son of Mrs. Vida Y. Robnett of Brownwood, is safe on board the steamship Castilla, bound for Guatemala, according to a radiogram received by Mrs. Robnett late Friday night.

Young Robnett had been missing for exactly a week, his clothing having been found in a Galveston bath house last Saturday morning. His message, which was sent by radio to New Orleans and relayed by Western Union from that point, read:

"Mrs. Vida Robnett, Brownwood, Texas.
"Well, on way to Guatemala, 'JAMES.'"

The steamship Castilla is of the United Fruit Company line, making weekly round trips to Guatemala, according to a message to the Bulletin from New Orleans today. The steamer left the New Orleans port Friday, Sept. 9, and again yesterday, September 16, for Barrios, Guatemala, with a cargo of flour. Since young Robnett is known to have been in Houston on Friday, September 9, it is regarded as certain that he left New Orleans yesterday on the Castilla, and as soon as the ship was at sea filed the radiogram which reached here late last night.

For a week the family and friends of the young man have feared that he had drowned while bathing in the surf at Galveston, although a careful search of the beach for miles in every direction failed to disclose a body. The family here is unable to assign a case for young Robnett's trip to Central America, and will await with much anxiety and interest a letter which is promised in his brief radiogram of Friday night.

Robnett had been employed in Houston for some time as publicity agent for a kennel and fair association, whose season was soon to close. In a message which was received from him a week ago he mentioned that he was thinking of changing his location soon, having declined a position proffered him in Houston.

A free will offering will be taken and the money will go to the Christian Endeavor treasury to be used in their work.
Rev. J. B. Henderson and family came home Saturday morning from several days' visit with relatives in DeLeon, Breckenridge and other places.
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Allen were Brownwood shoppers one day last week.
Grandfather Mauldin is here visiting his daughters, Mesdames Luke and Whit Reeves.

Last Wednesday afternoon fire got started in the pasture near Robert Ferguson's barn and had it not been for Lee Stewart it might have destroyed the barn and all its contents. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson were at Mr. Franklin's when the fire was discovered. Mr. Stewart phoned them and they got there just in-time to save the barn. It is not known how the fire started but it is supposed that some one hunting dropped a cigarette or cigar stub in the dead grass which soon became a blaze. There were two or three acres of good grass destroyed. Mr. Ferguson feels lucky not to have lost his barn.
Mrs. J. R. Deen and her mother, Mrs. G. M. Norris, visited relatives in Brownwood last Friday.

Dr. and Mrs. Niel of Zephyr attended the quarterly conference here last Saturday.
Bryan Richmond is still confined to his bed. Miss Loleta Woods is taking his place in the bank. The many friends of Mr. Richmond hope he will soon be well again.
Carl Ramsey, who is employed by the Santa Fe Railway Company in Brownwood, spent the week-end here with homefolks and attended church.

Nat Franklin and Raymond Tidwell who are attending John Tarleton College, came home for the week-end.
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Burns Lane at the home of Mrs. Lane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cade, a baby girl, September 18th.
Miss Gertrude Lowe of Brownwood visited Mages Maud and Joe Dabney last week-end.
J. C. Hicks is doing some work on the public school building at Clio.
The Sunday schools of Blanket made the following report on attendance last Sunday: Baptist 76, Methodist 68, U. B. A. Presbyterian 71, Cumberland Presbyterian 15.

At the fourth quarterly conference for Blanket charge last Saturday the following officers were elected for the coming conference year. The stewards are: Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stewart, J. W. Franklin, W. E. Flowers, C. H. Tidwell, Mrs. H. M. Bettis, Mrs. F. G. Bettis, Mrs. John Strickland, Uncle Clifford Smith, Robert Ferguson, Sunday school superintendent, W. F. Moore, assistant superintendent, Heber L. Moore, secretary and treasurer; Lois Fuller, superintendent of Junior Department; Clara Smith, secretary of Junior Department; W. F. Moore, charge lay leader, also district steward.
Mrs. Langston returned the first of the week from several days visiting in California.
Dr. Chastain is home this week from Best, where he has a position in a drug store. He is suffering from what seems to be a spider bite on his eye. The physician thinks it was a spider, but Dr. Chastain says it bit him at night and he doesn't know what it was. We hope no serious results will follow.
The rain fell here Sunday night and Monday. The ground seems to be thoroughly soaked.
H. L. Moore is doing some carpenter work in Brownwood.
Rev. J. B. Henderson filled his regular appointment in the Baptist church here Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Sumner had quite an exciting experience with snakes last Sunday morning. They were getting ready to go to church and heard the turkeys making a noise. They went to see what the trouble was and found two monster rattlers. Mr. Sumner stated that the place where they crossed the road looked like a car wheel had rolled. They succeeded in killing them both, but some of their rattles were broken off. They supposed there had been about 25 on each snake. They were close to Mr. Sumner's house and in the woods where they had hunted turkey nests a number of times.
Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Allen moved to the Joe Dabney place last week.

Mrs. Eddings is planning to move to the place recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Weatherby and family.
The public school is to begin here next Monday.

There is home for a few days' rest, before entering McMurry College in Abilene for the winter term.
Mrs. Lane spent Sunday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith.
Tom Hamm has relatives visiting him from Breckenridge.

Bangs

Bangs public schools opened on Monday with R. M. Wedgeworth, superintendent, and his corps of teachers. We predict a very successful term of school.
Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McCreery of Thrift were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eads Sunday afternoon.
Mrs. Mary Bray of Elkins is nursing Mrs. J. C. Allcorn, who has been ill for several days.

The Bangs girls have ginned over a thousand bales of cotton this season.
Fred Cover has purchased the tailoring and dry cleaning plant of W. W. Gubb and is now serving the public at the Wilson garage.
The small son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cole, whom we reported seriously ill last week, died on Tuesday and was laid to rest the following Wednesday in the Trickham cemetery. Sympathy of many friends is extended to these heartbroken parents in this saddest hour of their lives.

Bangs was visited by a slow rain that began Sunday night and was a very welcome guest at this time, for this was surely a dry town.
Mrs. E. C. King and daughter, Mrs. Viola Lloyd of De Quincy, La., have been visiting relatives here for several days.
Miss Ella Gilbert was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McCreery of Thrift this week.
Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Williams of Brownwood visited relatives here Sunday.

Homor Schulz, Howard Payne student, has been real sick at his home here for several days, caused from vaccination dry town.
Mr. and Mrs. Hunter of Abilene, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McGeorge last week.
Mrs. J. C. Johnson and son, Joe, were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Brooks Sunday, and also attended church here.
Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chestnut, daughter and son left Saturday night for Nashville, Tennessee, and other points where they will visit Mr. Chestnut's parents.
Mrs. Clyde Lemon and son have returned from a two weeks' visit to relatives in Fort Worth.
Nolan and Carl Heffington made a business visit to Ozona Saturday, returning Monday.

Frank Morgan and A. A. Seale have recently purchased the garage known as the Wilson garage. These men are well known here and are hustling business men and are also agents for the Chevrolet cars.
Mrs. C. B. Guyger and son, Maurice, spent the week-end in Proctor visiting relatives.
Mrs. S. P. Martin has returned from a two weeks' visit to relatives in Fort Worth.

Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Daniel and daughter, Mrs. Sanders and children, and Mrs. Daniel's father, left Monday for San Angelo and Big Spring. Mrs. Sanders will stay in San Angelo while the rest of the party will visit relatives in Big Spring.
Miss Zeida Harris has gone to San Angelo to enter college there.
Misses Maud and Vada Franklin of Blanket came in Friday and will again teach in the school here.
Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hall have recently made a visit to their son, Rev. Laekin Hall and family, at Lexington, Oklahoma.
Mrs. Alma Lester of DeLeon came in Saturday and begun her work as teacher in the school here Monday.
Mrs. Mark Boler and children visited Mrs. Boler's sister, Mrs. Spindie, at McDaniel Sunday.

PECAN GROWERS ARE TO HAVE TWO LARGE MEETINGS THIS FALL
ARLINGTON, Sept. 19.—(Sp.)—Two events of major importance to pecan growers, especially those of Texas and Louisiana, are to be held within the very near future. The first will be the annual meeting of the National Pecan Growers' Association at Shreveport, September 27 to 29, inclusive, and the National Pecan Show, which is held at San Saba a little later—October 3-9.
Announcements of these two events and their dates were made today by J. A. Evans here, who is the chief executive of the Pecan Growers' Association of Texas.
It is desired that many exhibits be entered, and contestants are being requested to forward these as promptly as possible to the Chamber of Commerce at San Saba. It is said that the nut display this year will "open the eyes" of the oldest growers.
The Shreveport meeting will have the co-operation of the Louisiana State University and Agricultural and Mechanical College, as well as that of the United States department of agriculture.
A number of recognized authorities will be on the Louisiana program.

Long Prize List
The following major prize list, with money upwards ranging as high as $250, has been hung up by the Texas association for its San Saba meeting. There are other prizes in addition.
Regional prize of $250 for best and most representative display of pecans, native or budded, assembled and displayed under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce representing West, East or South Texas.
Sectional prize of $250 for the most representative display of native or standard varieties of pecans or both, from any section of the United States that have reputations of being pecan centers, among which are Gonzales, Texas; Selma, Ala.; San Angelo, Texas; Albany, Ga.; Wharton, Texas; Ocean Springs, Miss.; Monticello, Fla.; San Saba and Junction, Texas. Pecans from several adjacent counties may be included in a sectional display.

County prize of $100 for the most elaborate display from any one county. A display shall consist of native and improved varieties, or both, entered under the supervision of the local county chamber of commerce or some civic organization where no chamber of commerce exists.

Negroes Scared When Possemen Search Homes
POSSEMEN searching for the four men who kidnaped Sheriff Fred White threw a scare into colored residents of the "Flat" late Tuesday when they unceremoniously entered a number of homes assumed to find missing desperadoes.
The negroes objected strenuously to the illegal search of their homes, but further than to ask whether the "daves" carried any "papers," they offered no resistance to the entrance of the possemen.
One colored citizen, however, drew a much heavier fright than any other in the entire "Flat." When the possemen came into his place, without previously warning him, they found him industriously engaged in task of manufacturing home-brew with some dozens of bottles scattered about within easy reach. He was not molested at the time, but it is understood that he has signed the pledge and declared his allegiance to the W. C. T. U.

TEXAS AND TEXANS
BY WILL H. MATYS

Texas Wool and Mohair
SHEEP and goat raisers of Texas see prosperous times just ahead. Their flocks are in splendid condition. Shearing is well under way, and the wool and mohair registers the quality of the fleece. Prices are considered fairly good, and there is a prospect of an advance along with the advance in cotton prices. The flocks of both sheep and goats are being increased and improved, many are being raised on better feed, and have been brought in recently from other states. Good prices are being received for the stock that is being sold for slaughter. Most of the farms of Texas have room for at least small flocks of sheep or goats that can be cared for at small expense and that would yield a nice profit.

Famous for Berries
Lindale, in Smith county, has proven that it pays a community to specialize in some one crop which it can produce to best advantage, but to diversify with other crops that can be grown. Lindale has become famous for its blackberries, 5,000 acres of land around the town being devoted to that crop and some 300 farmers and hosts of berry pickers sharing in the dividends that never entirely fail. Four thousand men, women and children are employed for six or eight weeks. Three canneries, with a combined capacity of 200,000 cans daily are kept busy during the season. At other seasons these can sweet potatoes, preserves, jellies, beef and other farm products. These are sold largely over Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and West Texas, Abilene being the largest wholesale distributing point. An average of 160 cars of berries are shipped from Lindale annually and they bring in about $600,000 a year. Lindale is prosperous.

Satterwhite on Self-Government
Lee Satterwhite, the Panhandle statesman, presided recently at a conference in Washington of members of legislatures from 35 states, which he called to discuss centralization of governmental powers, repeal of the Federal estate tax and other taxation problems as related to Federal and State governments. In his opening address Mr. Satterwhite said there is need for "restoration of self-government" through a check upon centralization of power in the Federal Government. Quite true, and if Mr. Satterwhite will get his ear close to the ground he will find that there is in Texas somewhat the same feeling as to the encroachment of State government upon county and local affairs.

San Angelo Junior College
San Angelo has let a contract for $250,000 for a building in which to conduct a municipal junior college. The junior college is intended to provide freshman and sophomore instruction for students of the city and county. Educators are finding it cheaper and better to have young students take this work at home and much safer for immature students to be at home with their parents. At the age at which the high schools graduate boys and girls the home influence is very much needed. In the smaller schools, where the facilities are capable, the instruction is more personal than it can be in the larger schools and therefore better adapted to the youthful mind. For these reasons junior colleges are becoming popular.

Making an Education Possible
Southwestern University has arranged to give a group of orphans a chance for a college education by starting a small farm near the University on which the boys may earn their way by the sale of milk, eggs, chickens and other small-farm products to the University, the boys caring for the farm and doing the work under the supervision of a competent superintendent. This excellent idea is likely to grow. Why can't any college that is really anxious to help boys and girls secure an education establish not merely one or two farms nearby, on which earnest students may work to pay for their education? Doubtless there are a few well-to-do landowners near every school who would be glad to allow the use of land on which deserving boys and girls could work part of an education in their effort to get an education.

Odessa's Growth
The recent growth of Odessa, in Ector county, is shown in the statement that in line with the installation of a $145,000 waterworks and sewer system, the city has motorized its fire equipment at a cost of some $10,000. The explanation of this is that this was needed "to protect local property including approximately $2,000,000 in new business and industrial projects launched here during the last year." Can any other town of like size in Texas point to a greater year's growth?

Texas Lignite Being Used
Bastrop and Rockdale lignite mines are to supply the city of Austin with 45,000 tons of lignite during the next year under a contract recently made. Dean Taylor of the University of Texas has made the statement that there is enough lignite under the ground in Texas to supply the State with all the cheap power it can use for an almost unlimited time. All that is needed to realize on this great volume of stored wealth is to encourage its fullest development.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—Early advances were followed by declines in the cotton market today. Hedge selling and liquidation in advance of the ginning report due tomorrow precipitated the easier tone. Failure of the predicted frost to materialize also helped the decline.
In the afternoon the market steadied somewhat on short covering and prices recovered 9 to 14 points of the loss, with December trading at 20.70 compared with 20.95, the day's high.

Cotton futures closed steady at a net decline of 17 to 19 points.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(P)—Expectations of large ginning figures from the census bureau tomorrow and a more favorable view of weather prospects seemed responsible for reactions from an opening advance in the cotton market today.
After showing early net gains of about 15 to 18 points, the market sold 10 to 16 points below yesterday's closing quotations, but was steadier by covering at the decline and showed slight rallies in mid-afternoon.
Cotton futures closed steady, 28 to 40 lower; spot quiet; middling 20.70.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER

- 1—Sets new coast-to-coast record!
- 2—Wins 1st and 2nd places in Atlantic City Stock Car Race!
- 3—Climbs Pikes Peak—22 mins. 47 secs.

During the first week of September, The Studebaker Commander, by thrilling victories over time and space, again proved itself "the greatest achievement of post-war automotive engineering."

Endurance—Stamina—Dependability

New York Harbor to San Francisco Bay in 77 hours and 40 minutes—total elapsed time. You may not have Ab Jenkins' craying-to-shatter records, but you will find in the car which he used dependability, freedom from repair expense, long life, and abundant, eager power for all your needs.

Speed—Smoothness—Comfort

In the 75-mile race for stock cars listed below $2000. at Atlantic City on Labor Day, two Studebaker Commanders finished first and second, with average speeds of 85.95 and 84.58 miles per hour. The latest models of Chrysler "72," Buick Master Six, Nash Advanced Six and Hudson were also entered. You won't ever want to go that fast, but you can find daily use for the acceleration, the smoothness, the comfort which the quiet Big Six motor offers at ordinary speeds.

Mountain Climbing

In the stock car race to the top of Pikes Peak on Labor Day, The Commander was second only to a car which lists at three times The Commander price.

Thus we not only claim but prove that this versatile automobile will outperform any other car within a thousand dollars of its price.

No wonder The Commander outsells the combined totals of all the other cars in the world that equal it in rated power.
