VOLUME VII

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, JULY 23, 1943

NUMBER 35

I feel like a boy who spent the day pushing little ducks into the water. Sort of guilty. I was one of a group detailed to make the rounds checking on violations of military courtesy, improper uniform, and poor soldiering in general. It serves to get the men on the beam, but it also serves to put the checker-uppers on GI black lists.

In general the procedure is something like this. Wander around like anyone else with nothing to do until you spy a guy who falls to salute or does not look like he is supposed to. Then pounce on and begin the inquisition. "Haven't you ever been told about saluting? What are those buttons for? Where is your necktie? Let's see your dog tags." Not one out of ten will have the tags on his neck where they are supposed to be. Either he has 'em in his pocket or he gives you some yarn about forgetting to put 'em on after the last shower. Between times you plug in a lecture about soldierly conduct and jot down a mess of notes that will eventually come back to the poor unfortunate's commanding officer.

When the man just lets the inquisition take its course it isn't so bad. But every now and then he pops up with a first class sob story. Fair samples are: "Honest, sir, I've never been called down for anything like this before. Please don't report this, it would mess up my perfect record. If you do our whole battery will have two hours extra drill every night for a week." Chances are you'll believe him and start hating yourself. Maybe you'll repent enough to tear up the slip as soon as he's out of sight. But don't ever expect me or any of these others to tell how many tickets are torn up. It's a military secret.

One thing, however, does give a glow of satisfaction. That is to put the squeeze on the MP's. I'd rather not try to explain the inconsistent attitude toward men who have an equally thankless job but, considering all the grief they dish out, you figure it's their turn to take it. That in spite of the fact that our sympathy really ought to be with them. 'Cause the poor devils are hated every day as much as we are the one day.

The job has its amusing angles too. A couple of us while at the bar for a short brew were advised by fellow indulgers that we'd better watch our salutes, etc., 'cause the Gestapo are storming the town. Just as bluntly we disclosed that we are there. The reaction was worth a chuckle. At that, they picked a good name that we can use until a better one comes along.

Then there was the Chinese boy who turned the tables on us. He made us answer more questions than we usually ask before admitting that our credentials were OK. Even then he did not trust us completely. He showed us his dog tags but would not pass 'em over for us to read. The report on him isn't so hot, probably will never get back to his outfit. Not knowing any Chinese we couldn't understand much of his English. He was either plain dumb or dumb like a fox.

Another advance in the art of camouflage. GI underwear of the future will desert the conventional white in favor of the OD hue. Which provokes a natural question: "What's the diff? Men aren't supposed to go into action without their pants and shirts." But it so happens that many a position has been betrayed by the presence of laundered underwear drying on brush, tent ropes, etc. Nothing shows up better on an aerial photo. And there you are. A perfect target for a bombing raid or an artillery concentration.

Now that war activity is getting more active again, lots of wishful thinkers — besides me — are looking for signs to support their hopes for an early victory. Meaning '44 at least, and perhaps even '43.

When it comes to prognosticating Con's the guy who should keep his voice low. Remember this column's mention last November

K OF C ACTIVITIES IN WAR TIME TOLD

LINDSAY.— The activities of Knights of Columbus lodges in war time was the topic of the talks made at the regular meeting of the Gainesville-Lindsay council last Tuesday evening. Guest speakers were Rev. Richard Eved and Muenster, Rev. Herman Laux of Rhineland, and Rev. Alfred Hoenig of Corpus Christi. Grand Knight H.P. Schad presided.

It was brought out in the talks that the $25,000,000 war bond drive inaugurated by the Knights of Columbus some time ago, was oversubscribed, the total running past $5 million.

Fourteen members of the council are in the armed forces. It was pointed out, and members present at the monthly meetings write to three different members at each meeting, the letters being mailed to correct addresses by Joe Walter financial secretary.

GOOD RAIN WOULD BE BENEFICIAL FOR CROPS IN THIS AREA

A good rain would be beneficial to crops in general now. County Agent Albert Brient said this week in commenting on cotton, he said that the crop is fine and does not need moisture, but a good rain would help some late corn, peanuts and other feed crops. Showers would also prove beneficial to farmers in breaking their stubble lands. Grain harvest is nearing completion in the county with only a small amount to be threshed this week.

At the present prospects for cotton are the best in several years Mr. Brient said. There is practically no insect damage and the cotton is clean.

Farmers are advised to continue watching their cotton for insects and should dust if needed but should not dust unless there are enough insects to warrant it.

Miss Evelyn O'Connor of Sherman spent the weekend with her parents.

and styled C.T. Chasteen Plaintiff, vs. May Chasteen Defendant.
 A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:
 Suit for divorce stating that plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married January 10, 1934 and that said marriage relation still exists, but that no children have been born of said marriage and that no property rights are involved.

For cause of action plaintiff alleges that defendant, about February 1941 began a course of cruel harsh and unusual treatment toward plaintiff, which continued until about the 10th day of February, 1942, when plaintiff and defendant separated and since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife; that said conduct rendered their living together as husband and wife insupportable; that during said time defendant associated with other men and kept company with them and had improper relations with them and that she finally left plaintiff and has kept her residence secret from him and that she has refused to perform her wifely and household duties to him.

Wherefore plaintiff prays that the defendant be cited to appear and answer herein, and on final hearing that he have judgment dissolving said marriage relation and for general and special relief, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.
 The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.
 Issued and given under my hand and Seal of said Court, at office in Gainesville, Texas this 20th day of July A.D. 1943.

Holloway Plaintiff, vs. Opal Holloway Defendant.
 A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:
 Suit for divorce alleging that plaintiff and defendant were duly and legally married in Hidalgo County, Texas, on or about March 9, 1941, and continued to live together as husband and wife until or about February 17, 1943, at which time, due to the omissions and commissions of defendant, this plaintiff was forced to abandon said defendant.
 For cause of action plaintiff pleads cruel and inhuman treatment. Plaintiff would show to the Court that this marriage could not have been a happy and lasting union, in that it was a forced wedding, by reason of the pregnancy of defendant; that it was not the intention of either party to be married otherwise, and that after their said marriage defendant did not even attempt to make plaintiff a dutiful wife, but neglected him and her household duties as a wife; that a child (a boy) was born to them and is now 22 months of age; that he is now and has been making a monthly allowance for the support of this child, and to the mother and will continue to do so in the amount and at such time as may be directed by this court; that the defendant refuses to live with plaintiff, and says that she does not intend to live further with him as his wife; that said marriage relations still exist, and that their further living together as husband and wife is insupportable.
 Wherefore plaintiff prays that the court that defendant be cited to appear and answer herein, and that he have judgment dissolving their said marriage relations, and for such other and further relief as he may be justly entitled to, either at law or in equity, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.
 The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

BANKING

Through courtesy Muenster State Bank

It might be of interest to classify the various kinds of Banks in existence in the United States today. According to information available on the subject, on a functional basis, the principal types are: (1) commercial banks, (2) saving banks, (3) trust institutions, (4) investment banks, and (5) Federal Reserve banks.

We are most familiar with the term commercial bank. The business of a commercial bank is to receive deposits subject to check and to make loans to patrons of the bank. It will be noted, however, that commercial banks sometimes have many, if not all, the powers and privileges incidental to saving banks, trust institutions and investment banks.

Commercial banks provide customers and the public with a safe depository for current and temporary idle funds and with convenient means of payment in the form of checks. On the other hand they also provide business, individuals, farmers and other patrons with money to enable them to carry on their various enterprises. Nearly all commercial banks furnish a savings department on which interest is paid for certain type of deposits. (This function is limited to a great extent for the duration, so as to enable people to invest their money in War Bonds)

Trust institutions were and are operated for more or less a fiduciary capacity, to handle such matters as executors, administrator guardian and trustee. Investment banks are usually associations to handle the investment of entire issue of securities from corporations, the government or other banking institutions.

The Federal Reserve Banks can be termed as "bankers banks". They are primarily instituted to act as banker to the government, and they are now the only bank in this country allowed to issue currency. They are not banks owned by the government, but have, like other banks, private capital. They render a great service to the government as well as to all our banking system. Perhaps one of the most important conveniences rendered by the Federal Reserve is the handling on clearing checks issued any place in the United States. There are 12 Federal Reserve Banks chartered in the United States. Dallas has the only one in Texas.

The Federal Reserve Banks make it impossible to "freeze money" in any one part of our country as has happened before the organization of the Federal Reserve Banks. Even though the Reserve Banks are private corporations, they were created by an act of congress and are strictly controlled by a Board of Govern-that the next Armistice day would find yours truly back at the old job? There was a slight wager connected with that. Now, in view of the critical shortage in certain liquid commodities, Con is frankly concerned over the availability of said commodity for the pay off. And if available, the price.

So, admitting to have bungled the time table before — though he would feel much easier with a six month extension on the bet — Con won't attempt to predict when. But he puts a lot of stock in certain pertinent facts. Such as the unquestioned superiority of allied air, sea, and land forces, and the continued growth of allied power while axis power is declining. This is the beginning of the end, all right. Each skirmish and each day will broaden the allied margin of advantage until the time when Hitler and Hirohito have to admit they're licked.

The following paragraphs are filched from AT EASE, a column in our post newspaper. Now what was that WAC thinking of when she came in and requested a copy of the technical manual "Unarmed Combat for Soldiers."

We see in the papers where a Cleveland foundry is offering beer and pretzels twice a day to reduce absenteeism. We asked our mess sergeant why he didn't follow suit but he couldn't see it our way. "Anyway," he said, "when was any of youse guys absent from chow?"

The MP's swear this really happened. A soldier called the other night from Wichita Falls and told a surprised desk sergeant, "Make room for me. I'm coming in on the bus and I'm really drunk." Two hours later he reeled into the station, identified himself, and was promptly jailed. Well, we've heard everything.

ors out of Washington who control the operations of the entire twelve banks.

All matters of policy where the public interest is involved are vested in the Board of Governors, while the administrative and operating details are left to the individual Districts or rather to the Banks in each separate District.
