Road to be deeded to county

A road through a rural Cooke County subdivision will be deeded to the county after all for future maintenance once it is built. That decision was made Monday as the county commissioners met with developer Jim Marchbanks concerning the Landmark Estates subdivision in southwest Cooke County. The road, which will run through the middle of the 197-acre tract, was originally to have been privately owned and maintained. Marchbanks reluctantly secured that right two weeks ago from the commissioners to comply with the wishes of landowners who want to put in a thoroughbred horse farm on 100 acres of the land. The commissioners and county judge Jim Robertson opposed the idea at that time due to the possibility that future landowners in the area would complain if the county did not take care of the road. Marchbanks said, he, too, would rather the road be kept public, but that he did not want to lose sales over the issue. Monday, however, he had a different story to tell. "I showed them (the buyers) a copy of the newspaper and they said, 'If the county judge wants it to be a public road, then we want it to be a public road,'" Marchbanks said. "I've talked to the kingpin of the group, and he has agreed that it should be kept public. I think we've pretty well sold them on the idea now." The road will be built to county specifications and then deeded over to the county for future upkeep. That will eliminate the necessity of deed restrictions the commissioners had asked for two weeks ago to let all future landowners know that the county had no responsibility for the road. Marchbanks submitted a preliminary plat on phase three of his development, and will return with a final plat on phase two at the court's next meeting. Both he and the commissioners were hap-

Contest deadline nears

Tuesday last day for businesses to enter

Businesses wishing to enter Muenster's annual "Light the Town" contest have until Tuesday to fill out a form and turn it in at the Chamber of Commerce office. The contest, which offers cash awards to the top three winners in the business, organization and individual categories, is being sponsored in an effort to make Muenster a Christmas wonderland for children of all ages this holiday season. All businesses, clubs and other organizations as well as individual homeowners are urged to decorate their offices, houses, headquarters or other public places (with the permission of the owner) for entry in this year's contest. December 8 is the deadline for entries for individuals and organizations. Judging for business entries will be held on that day by an out-of-town panel. The panel will come back the following Saturday and judge the individual and organizational entries. Prizes will be presented after judging is complete by contest chairman Gary Fisher. Entry blanks can be picked up from Fisher at FMW Insurance, from the Chamber office or from most participating businesses. While everyone is encouraged to decorate whether they enter the contest or not, only those who fill out entry blanks will be judged and considered for the awards. The entry blanks list the factors which will be considered in determining award winners — things like uniqueness, the amount of lighting used, creativity and adherence to a theme. Anyone desiring further information may contact Fisher at 759-4644 or the Chamber office (Tuesdays and Thursdays) at 759-2227.

Council seeks input at meeting

The Muenster city council will meet Monday night and discuss means of raising revenue to fund the city's street-building and maintenance program over the next few years. Mayor Ronnie Felderhoff said this week that the public is urged to come to the meeting and express their views. The council, at their last meeting, suggested a sales tax election five years from now," he said. "We know Muenster has better streets than most cities this size, but we still have some paving that needs to be done, and we need to maintain what we have." Felderhoff said the council would welcome suggestions regarding "any other means of generating revenue" for street work. The item will be the first one on the council's agenda when they convene at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

might be one way to raise the needed funds. The city would add another seven-eighths of a cent to the current 5.125 cent tax, rounding it off to an even six cents. Felderhoff said the council has gotten some feedback about the sales tax suggestion, but few alternative suggestions. "The whole reason we're talking about trying to raise revenue now is to avoid a bond

Man stabbed on Thanksgiving

A 22-year-old Sanger man was stabbed three times in an incident at the Ranch, a night club in Muenster, last Thursday night. Arthur Doyle Phillips of Sanger was treated and released at Muenster Memorial Hospital after receiving two stab wounds to his upper arm and one to the back of his neck during a fight at the club on North Main. He required stitches, but was not hospitalized for further treatment. Muenster police chief Helen Tompkins said charges are pending against a Gainesville man suspected of doing the stabbing. No arrest had been made at presstime. Vehicle burglarized Thursday afternoon officers were notified that a 1985 Ford Bronco belonging to Endres Motor Co. had been burglarized sometime Wednesday night or early Thursday morning. Taken from the new vehicle, which was parked on the car dealer's lot across Division St., was an in-dash AM/FM electronic radio. The dash panel was removed and left in the vehicle. The burglary was discovered at around 4:30 Thursday afternoon. The case is under investigation.

Luke named to Pennzoil board

Muenster native Norman J. Luke has been named to the board of directors of Pennzoil Co., one of the nation's top oil and gas producers. Luke has been group vice-president for accounting since 1968 for the Houston-based company. In addition to his post on the board of directors, he will also serve on the firm's executive committee. Born in 1921, Luke attended Muenster public schools and graduated from Muenster High School. He served in the Navy in World War II as a pilot, and saw extensive action in the Pacific. After the war, Luke attended North Texas State University, earning a B.B.A. degree with honors in 1948. He began his professional career that same year with the accounting firm of Deloitte, Hoskins and Sells in Dallas. In nine years, Luke rose to the post of senior charge accountant and became a principal of the firm before joining a Pennzoil predecessor company as assistant to the controller in 1957. With Pennzoil, Luke was promoted from assistant controller to controller, controller/treasurer and group vice-president for accounting. Luke is a director of the Executive Industries Accounting Research Institute at North Texas State University — a group which promotes research and continuing education on accounting and financial developments affecting the extractive industries. In 1939 he was elected an honorary member of the North Texas chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma, a business national honor society. He is also a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Louisiana and Texas CPA societies, the National Association of Accountants and the Financial Executive Institute. Luke is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Luke of Muenster. He and his wife, Evelyn, have three children: Norman Jr. and daughters Karen and Susan. Many relatives remain in the Muenster area.

Weekend performances set on Gainesville stage

The curtain was to rise Thursday night in Gainesville on the Butterfield Stage Players' production of "Bell, Book and Candle," a comedy by John van Druten. Showtime Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights is 7:30 p.m. at the group's playhouse, which is located at the corner of Main and Denton streets in downtown Gainesville. The show will also be staged next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights (December 6, 7 and 8) at the same hour. The play, directed by Rodger Boyce, concerns a modern-day witch who falls in love with a mortal and loses her powers. The

A season of the heart ...

Quietly, through sun and rain, daylight and increasing darkness, the hillsides around us have slipped through autumn as if it were a silken robe, too beautiful to wear for long. Now the last bright yellow leaves have let go, and only the live oaks hang on to their foliage. They stand out like fat people in a famine among the upraised brown branches along the creek bottoms.

The trees are few where I grew up, but I learned to appreciate them nevertheless. My dad has probably planted more trees than anyone in town, and he nurtures them into towering majesty by providing the only thing nature, out there, does not — water.

I grew up with branches over my head; perhaps that's why this country feels so much like home.

Driving through the countryside over the last few weeks, I've learned something from the autumn trees.

We've all seen the phrase "achingly beautiful" in print at some time or another. It's almost a cliché, but no less true for overuse. Usually it is applied to music or poetry, or to a scene from nature. It describes something we see or hear that makes emotion well up inside us, brings tears to our eyes perhaps, or elicits a cry of surprised joy.

Most often, for me, it is a sunset, or a sudden vista opening up when I drive through a pass from the hills into the plains. I've had to stop my car at times just to watch the sun go down while I was traveling; I've pulled over just to walk through a patch of brightly-painted woods in autumn, to feel those leaves beneath my boots and smell the pungent damp rotteness that will bloom next spring. I've wanted to climb one of those little knob hills and see what's on the other side, away from the road and the noise.

I don't do it often enough. I think, like fishing, that the time one spends walking in the woods is not deducted from his life span.

The autumn hills around here qualify as achingly beautiful. I've spent some time lately trying to figure that term out, as applied to tree-covered hillsides, canyons full of peaceful water, green pastures dotted with chewing cows.

They're beautiful — but why the ache?

Being honest with myself, I think it's because I want them to be mine. When I see a forested creek bottom spreading around the curve of a bright green field, I want it to be my own; I want to be the guy who wakes up every morning and looks out over that scene and watches it through its changes.

That's an immature attitude, I guess, but intensely human. It's like a child who doesn't just want a piece of cake, but the whole cake. We can tell the child the whole cake would make them sick, but it has no effect — he'll have to eat himself sick and learn from the mistake.

I suppose land ownership would take the stars out of my eyes. If I had to plant those green pastures and deliver and vaccinate those calves, I might look differently upon that scene. Farmers and ranchers love the land, but not in a romantic way — usually it's more like the love of a couple who've just celebrated their 50th anniversary. No illusions, no starry-eyed hopes, but solid trust.

And love.

Maybe that's what I've learned from the trees this fall: that love doesn't require possession. I know I can't have what I long for; nobody can own all the beauty I've seen. Generations can till the fields and work the cattle, but everything is on loan from its Maker. We die and our bodies become part of the land, but the land itself goes on and on.

It's like loving your children in a sense, knowing they won't stay children and knowing you have to let them go. Still, you love them and you ache all the while.

I'll continue to ache, I suppose, when I look out over the hills in autumn. The golden light of elms and oaks and sycamores in fall sets us tumbling through a whole range of emotions, reminding us of our mortality and our immortality at the same time. We need to see God's work at this time of year, to be reminded that dying is part of living and that beauty is the most fleeting of His creations.

I'll try to be content with that, loving autumn like a child and aching as I let it go.

State Capitol Highlights ...

AUSTIN—Former Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton, who wielded the gavel a record eight years, last week proved he is very much a viable force in Texas politics.

Now a lobbyist in Austin, Clayton put together a fundraiser for current House Speaker Gib Lewis that was attended by about 1,000 guests, including most of the prominent lobbying force.

The several thousand dollars raised by the bash will go to pay for Lewis' expenses in carrying out the functions of the House Speaker.

"We invited all the lobbyists and a lot of individuals who have contributed to Gib in the past," Clayton said.

The former speaker, operating in low public visibility, apparently is in great demand these busy days just prior to the January regular session. Clayton has been asked to host fundraisers for other public officials, including Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Attorney General Jim Mattox. And his name is surfacing as a possible statewide candidate in '86.

In Austin, it's the season for raising funds. In fact, it's the last chance until after the Legislature adjourns in May to raise money to pay off campaign debts or increase officeholder accounts. State law prevents public officials from accepting contributions between Dec. 8 and the day the Legislature adjourns.

Gib Lewis' most recent contribution report showed him with a balance of about $140,000.

Budget Requests

The main function of government is to gather tax revenues and redistribute them for the benefit of all citizens, but usually that humdrum function is overshadowed by "fad" issues, the emotional issues that come and go.

This legislative session, the dominant issue promises to be the budget itself, a rare occurrence since legislators generally like to steer public attention away from the manner in which tax dollars are spent.

A growing buzz phrase in Austin is "no growth budget," and it means no increase for state agency budgets beyond what was allocated to them two years ago.

Major Agencies

Although the legislative leadership has requested agencies to compile new budgets using "no-growth" formulas, the agencies haven't complied.

Percentage of increases for major state agencies is as follows:
Human Resources, 39.4 percent; Highway Department, 25.9 percent; Mental, 59.7 percent; Health Department, 44.9 percent; Parks and Wildlife Department, 39.4 percent; Comptroller, 8.5 percent; Governor's Office, 3.8 percent; Attorney General, 7.8 percent; Agriculture Department, 37.4 percent; General Land Office, 50.3 percent; State Treasurer, 2.1 percent.

Employment Commission, 37.8 percent; Alcoholic Beverage Commission, 54.5 percent; Department of Public Safety, 30.9 percent; and Rehabilitation Commission, 28.7 percent.

Governor Threatens

Governor Mark White, upset at delays in prison system reform, last week threatened to replace all prison board members who do not move fast enough.

But prison board chairman Robert Gunn, an appointee of former Gov. Bill Clements, protested the board was moving "as fast as is humanly possible. We have accomplished more in the past six months than I would have thought possible."

The board is grappling with court-ordered changes, with overcrowded conditions, and with rising violence among prison inmates.

The terms of three of the nine board members expire in February. White has already named four members to the board and reportedly has the votes to oust Gunn as chairman.

Family Farm Loans

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower recently signed the first loan guarantee under a controversial program designed to help Texans buy family farms and ranches.

A Falls County couple used the Family Farm and Ranch Security Act to buy a 537-acre ranch at 11 percent interest.

Hightower explained the family had been running a cattle operation for years on leased land, but couldn't afford to buy their own land until this program offered the opportunity.

The program, which floats bonds to guarantee loans through local lenders, was originally passed in 1979, but political controversy has stalled its implementation. As one opposition senator has put it: "Ranchers don't need more debt."

Texas Poll

A new survey of voters by Texas Poll indicates that Texans favor changing the way judges are elected.

Currently, judges are elected by campaigning under party labels just like other public officials. But the voter sample showed that 53 percent of the voters would like to see judges run without party labels.

Respondents, given a choice of alternate selection methods, favored the governor or the Legislature appointing judges, who must then face a special kind of election in which the voters could decide to keep or oust them.

A deadly letter ...

IDEAS HAVE consequences, and some ideas are downright deadly. Among the deadliest are those expressed in the bishops' draft pastoral letter on economics.

In the letter, the bishops express their disgust over the problems of unemployment and poverty, and suggest solutions. They would subsidize big business in this country and brutal dictatorships abroad, give bureaucrats the power to decide how much you and I are paid for the work we do, raise the minimum wage so high that it would be impossible for unskilled teenagers to find work, and let politicians decide who can get loans and who cannot. They would abolish work requirements for welfare, increase foreign aid, and promote "global affirmative action." They would have business, unions, and government join together in some sort of cabal to impose their collective will on the consumer. To bring unemployment down to an acceptable level (they find "the range of three or four percent" acceptable), the bishops would make steelworkers, truckdrivers, and distemore clerks work overtime to pay more taxes so that the government can finance more road gangs.

As one of the drafters said, "To say that the bishops are not proposing radical changes would be wrong." The goal, he said, was a radical "restructuring" of the American economy. In effect, they would abolish the American free enterprise system.

It would be easy to dismiss the letter as satire along the lines of Jonathan Swift's proposal to solve the Irish famine by fricasseeing children, but the bishops aren't kidding. It would be easy to ignore the letter as the last gasp of a dying ideology, but the ideas are taken seriously by most of the politicians and bureaucrats who run our government and by the national news media.

For instance, Haynes Johnson of the Washington Post praised the bishops for "raising the standard again," the standard of "justice, compassion, and mercy." Newsweek, gushing over the "thoroughgoing, thought-provoking repudiation of the Reagan administration's supply-side economics," said the letter "rejects the classic trickle-down theory of capitalist economics..."

In fact, the letter rejects a central idea of Christianity — that individuals may choose whether or not to live by Christ's commandments. By calling for centralized control of the economy and higher taxes, the letter endorses the use of governmental power to coerce non-believers into compliance with Christ's instruction to care for the poor. (Since when is it a part of Christ's teaching to forcibly take money from one person and give it to another?) Instead of rejecting the "trickle-down theory," the letter passionately embraces it, claiming that if the government is made more wealthy and powerful, somehow the benefits will eventually trickle down to the poor.

The consequences of these ideas can be seen in much of Africa, where the bishops' theories have been put into practice. To help the poor, governments over the last two decades have set low prices for food; as a result, farmers have been paid as little as one-third of the free-market value of their crops, making them virtual slaves. While new farming techniques were doubling or tripling production in some parts of the world, food production per person in Africa has dropped 20 percent since 1960 and declined each of the last 15 years. Or consider Western Europe, where the effects of socialism have been relatively mild. Since 1970, while the U.S. created 27 million new jobs, the number of jobs in Europe fell by two million.

If the bishops want to criticize economic systems, why not start with nations where people are starving to death in the streets? Or how about the Soviet Union, where life is so harsh that the male life expectancy is plummeting? Why single out the United States — the one country in the world that has done the most to eliminate poverty, a nation where even the poor live like kings compared to most of the world's peoples?

Because, as far as many of the bishops are concerned, the problem is not poverty, but wealth. They have swallowed whole the Marxist idea that rich people, including the relatively-rich middle class, got that way by "exploiting" the poor. They apparently believe that the only way anyone can live above a subsistence level is by stealing food from babies in Africa or India...which makes as much sense as blaming an epidemic on people who are healthy.

If it is a Christian's responsibility to help the poor — and it is — he or she must not live in a fantasy world where there is a fixed amount of wealth, and a fixed amount of poverty, and the only important question is how to "fairly" allocate the wealth and the poverty. A Christian must support economic systems that lift the poor out of their condition, rather than systems such as socialism and communism that create starvation. As the Jewish philosopher Maimonides said, "Anticipate charity by preventing poverty... This is the highest step and the summit of charity's golden ladder."

If the draft pastoral letter is any indication, the bishops see it differently; they would eliminate poverty by eliminating wealth. Such a concern for the poor is reminiscent of Argentine fascist Eva Peron, whom the peasants called "Evita." "I remember I was very sad for many days when I discovered that in the world there were poor people and there were rich people," she once said, "and the strange thing is that the existence of the poor didn't cause me as much pain as the knowledge that at the same time there were people who were rich."

Some of the bishops may have more in common with Evita than they would care to admit.

fingers crossed, hoping that their preferred program will receive cooperation rather than obstruction from the Speaker.

As the new administration starts looking for ways to trim its mammoth spending program, including entitlements which are very much taken for granted, the National Federation of Independent Business suggests that a good starting place is government employee pensions. Based on a recent survey, 96 percent of the responding members say the minimum retirement age ought to be 62 regardless of how long a person has worked for the government. They seemed to base their opinion on a Grace Commission estimate that raising the minimum wage would save some $8.2 billion over a 3-year period. At this time civil servants with 30 years of service may retire at 55, and those with 20 years may retire at 60.

The idea of retirement delay has a definite budget appeal, but federal employees object they deserve consideration for their salaries' lag behind those of the private sector.

County courthouse to get new phone system

Cooke County's courthouse will get a new phone system in the near future, as commissioners finalized bid specifications Monday to replace the current leased phones.

Robert Smith, marketing representative for AT&T Information Systems out of Dallas, went over the details of the proposed system with the commissioners at their regular meeting Monday. Smith and Gainesville AT&T technician Cliff Sicking drew up the bid specs for the county, translating the wishes of the various department heads into a plan that AT&T and other companies can bid on.

The proposed system will have up to 24 lines and could handle as many as 70 telephones through a Direct Inward Dialing (DID) system that represents the latest in telephone technology. The system allows multiple numbers to run off one control panel without the need for a separate phone line for each number.

Previously, Smith had told the commissioners his company offered only a 32-line, 110-station system — too big for the county's needs — or a smaller 16-line, 55-station system which was not big enough. The 24-line, 70-station system just developed will be big enough to handle the county's needs well into the future and could be enlarged if necessary.

The bottom line for the county will mean a substantial savings over what is now being paid for leasing a telephone system — the county now pays $490 a month, with rates scheduled to go up January 1 and again on July 1.

The cost for the new system would be just over $22,000 including installation. Averaged out over three years, that would come to $390 a month, but the county will pay for the whole system upfront.

Once the county owns its own system, all they will have pay monthly will be line charges and long-distance bills to Southwestern Bell. A reduction in the number of lines coming in will save them another $150 or so a month, Smith said.

AT&T's system would carry a standard one-year warranty with a maintenance contract available on a yearly basis after that, or maintenance available on a per-hour basis. Smith said it would take his company nine to 10 weeks to install the system once the bid was awarded, with the "cut-over" on the lines taking place on a weekend while the courthouse was closed.

After a lengthy question-and-answer session, the commissioners discussed whether to leave the specifications open for either DID or operator-controlled systems. They finally decided to eliminate the option of bidding an operator-controlled system, since the DID technology is available and would be cheaper in the long run.

The computer-controlled system would automatically print out long-distance calls from each phone in the court house, giving the date, time and number called. They system would also include intercom and call-transferring capability throughout the courthouse, with 44 desk phones, four multi-button phones and four wall phones for public use, to be mounted in the hallways.

Phone numbers for county offices will change when the system is installed, Smith said. Southwestern Bell will have a recorded message to answer the old number and give the new number to the caller during the first year, until new directories could be published with the new numbers.

The commissioners approved Smith's bid specifications and voted to advertise them as soon as possible.

by the road situation was resolved. "I sure feel a lot better than the last time I left here," the developer said.

The development is along FM 373 about eight miles south of Muenster, between Era and Rosston. The 10-acre tracts are being sold through the Veteran's Land Board.

Mower bid accepted

The commissioners accepted a bid of $25,632 from Trinity Equipment Co. in Fort Worth to furnish a tractor-mounted mower for precinct two.

Trinity's bid was $5,000 lower than the nearest competitor's bid and was by far the lowest of four submitted. The Terrain-king "A-boom" mower is mounted on a Ford 6610 tractor and meets or exceeds all the county's specifications. Trinity will conduct a four-hour safety seminar with county employees on maintenance and operation of the vehicle as part of their bid package.

Other bids were: $32,612 from Hi-Way Machinery Co. of Dallas;

$30,700 from Dentex Ford Tractor in Denton, with a $1,500 discount if paid within five days of the billing date; and $33,783 from Gainesville Ford Tractor.

Station wagon sold

Cooke County Library will soon have an extra $236 to buy books with, as the commissioners Monday sold a 1974 Oldsmobile station wagon that had been donated to the county for that purpose.

Top bidder on the station wagon was Ben Fritz, an employee of precinct one who lives at Whitesboro. Eddie Brookshear submitted a bid of $225 and H.C. Gilbreath offered $189 for the vehicle.

Also on Monday's meeting, the county commissioners:

— approved a holiday schedule for county employees, identical to last year's schedule;

— approved a bond for the tax assessor-collector;

— approved a bond for Mary Pickle, justice of the peace in precinct two;

— paid bills.

Valley View sells construction bonds

A trio of underwriting firms submitted the low bid of 8.9661 percent Monday night as Valley View school trustees sold the $1.5 million in construction bonds approved last month by voters in the district.

Jim Brooks, financial advisor to the school in the bond sale, said the low bid was submitted by a group composed of his company, Schneider, Burnett & Hickman, plus West Cap Securities and Stifel, Nicolaus & Co.

Theirs was the lowest of nine bids opened by the school board in the special meeting at Valley View.

"The interest rate was less than we had estimated it would be," Brooks said Tuesday. "That looks good for the school district, since it means they'll have to pay less interest on the bonds than we expected."

Proceeds from the bonds will probably not be available until after the first of the year. They have to be printed and approved by the Attorney General's office before the funds can be issued. The process usually takes about a month, Brooks said, but with the Christmas and New Year's breaks coming up, it will probably take a little longer at this time of year.

Brooks said the nine bids submitted to the board Monday night represented 27 investment banking or underwriting firms. The high bid was 9.1904 percent.

The bonds will be paid off in 1997.

Sale of the bonds was approved by Valley View ISD voters on October 6 to fund construction of a new vocational building and a multi-purpose building to house a gym, library and cafeteria. As part of the project, the present vocational building will be remodelled into a middle school classroom complex, and the present cafeteria will be turned into more classrooms.

Plans were finalized last week for the first phase of the construction, which includes the new vocational building to be added just to the west of the present high school. Bid specifications will be going out shortly and superintendent Bert Glascock said the board hopes to award a contract before Christmas on that part of the construction.

YOU KNOW HOW TO USE ELECTRICITY. HERE'S HOW TO USE YOUR ELECTRIC COMPANY.

If you're using Texas Power & Light only for the electricity we provide, you're not taking full advantage of all the other ways we can make your life easier.

We can help you shop for a new home by showing you the energy efficient features to look for. Or we can help you make the home you're living in more energy efficient by conducting a home energy audit.

We can show you how high-efficiency air conditioners, heat pumps, furnaces, and water heaters help save you money.

We can make paying your electric bill easier with automatic bank draft billing. And help you balance your monthly budget with our Average Billing Plan.

We sponsor electric safety programs that show you how to avoid a shock. And offer information that shows you how to read your electric meter.

Electricity is just one of the many services provided by Texas Power & Light. To find out about them all in more detail, call or visit your nearest TP&L office. It's a great way to make good use of your time, and energy.

We're there when you need us.

Throngs expected for parade

Several thousand people are expected in downtown Gainesville Saturday morning for the annual Christmas parade, sponsored by the Downtown Merchants Association.

Parade chairman Charles Sullivan said this week that the parade, which kicks off at 10 a.m. at California and Weaver Streets, should draw even more than last year's extravaganza, which brought out around 4,000 people.

The parade will run along California Street from Weaver east to the First State Bank building, a distance of about 15 blocks.

Bands and drill teams from Callisburg, Gainesville High School and Gainesville Middle School will highlight the parade along with more than 20 floats, three cheerleader groups, a fire truck, several horse groups, wagons, antique cars and — most important of all — Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus.

After the parade, Mr. and Mrs. Santa will take their places on the courthouse square to listen to the Christmas wishes of area youngsters.

Sullivan said most downtown businesses would be running specials during parade time, and added that hot chocolate, donuts, popcorn and other items would be sold along the parade route as well by street vendors. Radio and television coverage of the parade is expected from the surrounding area. Although the deadline for entries has past, Sullivan noted that a group with their float ready to go for the Muenster parade could still be worked in as late as Friday. Sullivan can be contacted at Sullivan's Booterie, 665-5861. Everyone is invited to come out, watch the parade and take part in the holiday festivities.

Plans continue for parade here

Muenster event set Dec. 8

Downtown Muenster will play host to crowds and excitement next Saturday as the annual Christmas parade unfolds down the city's two main streets.

First off, a childrens' "mini-parade" is slated for 11 a.m. on Main Street in front of Gehrig Hardware. Youngsters eight years old and under are encouraged to bring out their tricycles, bicycles, wagons and other rolling stock and take part in the parade.

A trophy will be presented to the best-decorated vehicle in that parade. Then at 1 p.m. the big parade will assemble on South Mesquite Street and head west on Division Street (highway 82) to Main, where it will turn north and go another four blocks.

Floats, horses, antique cars, marching groups and other entries are expected to take part in the annual parade here. Santa and Mrs. Santa will make their appearance and listen to the Christmas wishes of all the children before the day is out.

Prizes in the big parade include $100 for the best float and $100 for the best non-float entry.

Anyone wishing to enter should contact the Chamber of Commerce at 759-2227 (Tuesdays and Thursdays) or parade chairman David Fette at the Muenster Enterprise, 759-4311.

Computer course set for Jan. 7

Jon Ward, computer instructor at Muenster High School, has announced that the first two computer classes for adults will begin Monday, January 7.

The classes, which are limited to 10 students each, will run six consecutive Mondays. Another class will begin the next night, January 8, and run six consecutive Tuesdays.

Tuition will be $30 plus books and necessary software. Because each class will be filled as soon as ten are admitted, it is important to enroll as soon as possible.

If enough students indicate an interest, it may be possible to organize other classes. Call 759-2281 for information.

Kiwanis Club slates benefit chili supper

The Muenster Kiwanis Club will hold a benefit chili supper December 8 to raise funds for a local family.

Jeff and Sandy Tempel's infant daughter, Cindy Lynn, was born prematurely and had to be transferred by CareFlight helicopter to a metroplex hospital where she was treated in the intensive care unit for several weeks. The hospital expenses incurred by the family have been staggering, prompting several efforts on their behalf in the community.

The Kiwanis chili supper will be held at the Sacred Heart Community Center from 5 to 8 p.m.

December 8, a Saturday evening. Chili will be $3 per bowl with complimentary tea and crackers. Other drinks will also be available, as well as an assortment of pies served by club members' wives.

Anyone wishing to purchase advance tickets may contact Adam Wolf, Butch Fisher, Charles Coffey, Dan Wilde, Gordon Adair, Jerry Bynum or any other member. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Those desiring further information may contact Gordon Adair at the TP&L office in Gainesville, 665-4371.

WHY SPEND SO MUCH TO KEEP WARM?

Get a gas furnace. Gas furnaces save money. In fact, if you're heating your home with a non-gas system and you switch to high-efficiency gas heat, you'll cut your operating costs in half. Sound too good to be true? Believe it. Because high-efficiency gas furnaces operate for half the cost of non-gas systems. And compared to older gas models, that are 60% efficient, new high-efficiency furnaces are 83 to 96 percent efficient. And most come with a twenty-year warranty. So you can save on heating costs for years to come. Don't spend too much to keep warm. Get a gas furnace.

An old-fashioned Thanksgiving ...

SACRED HEART STUDENTS had fun last week while learning the history and meaning of Thanksgiving just prior to the holiday. All the second graders in the school went to lunch dressed as pilgrims, while the third graders went dressed as Indians. Students made projects in the colonial style and put on a skit reenacting the first Thanksgiving. Parents, teachers and students helped with the food — both the fixing and the eating.

Schniederjan, Watson wed

MRS. PHILIP MATTHEW SCHNIEDERJAN
... nee Carolyn Annette Watson ...

The wedding of Carolyn Annette Watson and Philip Matthew Schniederjan was held Saturday in Sacred Heart Church in Muenster. Officiating for the traditional exchange of vows, double ring ceremony and Nuptial Mass was Father Victor Gillespie.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Haverkamp of Muenster and Charles Watson of Sherman. She is a 1982 graduate of Muenster Public High School and is employed by Carter's Meat Market in Gainesville.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Self of Gainesville. He is a 1981 graduate of Gainesville High School and is a foreman for Oak Creek Homes, Inc.

Presented at the altar by her step-father, Dave Haverkamp, the bride was wearing an Alfred Angelo original Victorian style wedding gown of white Luster-sheer. Pearls traced the delicate Schiffl embroidery in the sheer yoke. Wedgewood and Venice lace formed the wide ruffle surrounding the yoke and edged the elbow-length puffed sleeves. The skirt swept into a chapel train trimmed with rows of Wedgewood lace ruffles.

Her floor-length veil was attached to the back of her matching white hat.

Her bouquet was a bridal blush arrangement of white, violet, purple and lavender silk flowers, with her mother's crystal rosary entwined. With it she wore short sheer gloves.

For sentiment and tradition she wore a ruby ring belonging to her great grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Schilling; and bridal shoes borrowed from a friend, Mrs. Terry Hess.

Attendants

Matron of honor was Leslie Lawler of Gainesville, a friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were D'Ann Haverkamp, and Tina Walterscheid, both of Muenster and Tina Hesse of Lewisville. They were identically gowned in tea-length lavender linen jaquard dresses, designed and created by Mrs. Juanita Knabe, with sweetheart neckline, full puffed sleeves and tie belt. They completed their attire with gray shoes. Each attendant wore a pearl necklace, gift from the bride; she wore a floral comb in her hair and carried a white lace fan with a cluster of flowers in the bride's chosen colors.

Laura Jane Klement, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Klement was flower girl, carrying a basket of silk flowers. She wore a white, matte satin dress with Wedgewood lace, designed similar to the bride's, and had a wreath of flowers in her hair. Adam Rekerdres of Dallas, nephew of the groom was ring bearer.

John Schniederjan was his brother's best man. Adam Schniederjan of Gainesville, a brother, Bryan Williams and John Wiese both of Gainesville and friends of the groom were groomsmen.

Billy Haverkamp cousin of the bride, and Lonnie Henscheid, Jon Grantham and Gary Schumacher, friends, were ushers.

The church altar held fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli. Vows were exchanged before the altar centered with the couple's unity candle and two lighted candles. At each side of the altar were tall floor candelabra holding lighted candles arranged in heart shape, entwined with greenery. White silk bows marked pews the full length of the center aisle.

Wedding music was presented by Rene Stelzer, Emily Klement and Ruth Felderhoff, friends of the bride.

As guests were assembling, Rene Stelzer, a former classmate of the bride sang "Somewhere My Love", "Ice Castles", "Edelweiss", "Perhaps Love", "The Dwelling Place", and "I Have Loved You."

As the couple lit their unity candle she sang "Candle On The Water."

Emily Klement sang "Only a Shadow" at the Offertory, the "Alleluia" and "The Our Father," inviting the congregation to join in unison.

Bridesmaids entered in the processional to "Theme From Thornbirds"; the bride entered to "Canon in D" by Paschabel and the recessional was "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach. All were organ solos by Ruth Felderhoff.

The wedding liturgy included readings by Clair Schniederjan and Helen Allison, sisters of the groom. The Offertory gifts were presented by the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Krahl and their son, Cody all of Gainesville.

Special guests were the bride's grandparents, Mrs. Wm. (Ella) Haverkamp of Muenster and Mr.

and Mrs. W.E. Watson of Whitesboro.

Reception

A reception, dinner and dance were hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Dave Haverkamp in the Sacred Heart Community Center for more than 400 guests.

Ginny and Ed Schneider catered dinner and Mike Otts Disco provided music for dancing.

Terry Hess and Traci Stoffels presided at the guest book at a table holding the wedding invitation in a shadow box arrangement made by the bride's mother.

Betty Rose Walterscheid baked and decorated the three tiered wedding cake. The top layer held a miniature gazebo with a bridal couple figurine.

Reception assistants were Betty Luttmier, Susan Bayer and Renee Rohmer.

The bride's table, covered in lace, held arrangements of silk flowers, also ceramic name plates for all members of the wedding party and immediate family, made by the bride's mother, also a wedding plaque with joined couple's hands, their names and wedding date. Ceramic wedding bells, with her attendants' names were the bride's keepsake gift to them.

A conversation piece, added to decorations, was a pair of teddy bears, he dressed elegantly in tux, top hat and cane and she in bridal finery, long veil, bouquet in the bride's colors and a shower of ribbons, made by the bride's mother as a keepsake gift for the couple.

Guest tables, covered in white, held hurricane globes over candles, in flower rings, with baskets of silk flowers. At one corner of the reception area was a flower garden scene with latticed walls, table and seating space and floral arrangements. Pictures of the wedding couple, through the years, were displayed here. Decorations by Aileen Knabe included a large suspended basket overflowing with flowers in the bride's chosen colors.

Billy Rohmer videotaped the wedding and reception.

When the couple returns from a trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, they will be at home in Gainesville.

The rehearsal dinner on Nov. 18 was hosted by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Self at The Center Restaurant. A miscellaneous shower hosted by bridesmaids was held on Nov. 11 in the TP&L meeting room in Muenster.

Among guests coming from a distance to attend the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Reckerdres and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allison all of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Schniederjan and Gary Schniederjan all of Amarillo; Paul Schniederjan and son of Dalhart; Clair Schniederjan of Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Huchton of Houston; Lois Sicking of Lubbock and Laurie Sicking of San Diego, California.

Fourteen celebrate first communion here

Fourteen second grade children of Sacred Heart School celebrated the reception of First Holy Communion at the 11 a.m. Mass Sunday, Nov. 25, feast of Christ, the King.

Father Denis Soerries was celebrant, joined by Father Victor Gillespie as co-celebrant. Altar boys and Mass servers were Eric Dankesreiter, Jon Schilling, Gregg Hess, Aaron Berres and Jody Fleitman. Ruth Felderhoff was organist and Eileen Fisher was cantor for congregational singing.

Michael Gehrig of the 3rd grade led the entrance procession carrying the Christ candle, followed by Sarina Fuhrmann and Neil Berres carrying the crown and scepter. Jamie Hellman and Loretta Reiter gave the readings and Jennifer Fuhrmann read the gospel acclamation. The First Communion class sang the responsorial song.

Following the homily, the children were formally introduced as members of the Church who were receiving the second Sacrament of Initiation, the Eucharist. Names of the children and their parents were read to the congregation by Sister Cecilia Marie Shannon, their religion teacher.

Families join celebration — please see next page

They came forward with their candles to receive light from the Christ candle which was lit from the Paschal candle symbolizing the Light of Christ. Forming a line facing the altar, they renewed their Baptismal vows, led by Father Denis.

The Offertory procession, led by Michael Gehrig was participated in by the following children and their gifts: David Moster, sheaf of wheat; Kristen Fleitman, grapes; Michael Schilling, ciborium with small hosts; Tommy Jo Dankesreiter, paten and large host; Jason Hess, water and wine; Tammy Fleitman, monetary offering. At Communion time, the children approached the altar with their parents to receive the Body of the Lord under the species of the Sacred Heart.

As a meditation hymn, the children sang "His Banner Of Love Over Me," and remained at the Communion rail step to sing the closing hymn "The Lord Is Come."

Sister Cecilia Marie Shannon is their religion teacher and Marilyn Smith is their classroom teacher.

Children in the First Communion class at Sacred Heart and their parents are Neil Berres, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Berres; Tommy Jo Dankesreiter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dankesreiter; Tiffany Fisher, Rita Fisher; Kristen Fleitman, Mr. and Mrs. James Fleitman; Tammy Fleitman, Betty Gilpin; Jennifer Fuhrmann, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fuhrmann; Sarina Fuhrmann, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fuhrmann; Stephanie Grewing, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Grewing; Jamie Hellman, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hellman; Jason Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hess; Alison Knabe, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Knabe; David Moster, Mr. and Mrs. Damien Moster; Loretta Reiter, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reiter; Michael Schilling, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schilling, Jr.

Walterscheid infant baptized here

Dustin Shawn Walterscheid, infant son of Kim and Lisa Walterscheid was baptized in Sacred Heart Church on Sunday, Nov. 25 at 1 p.m. Father Victor Gillespie officiated for the sacrament.

Baptismal sponsors were an uncle, Terry Walterscheid and an aunt, Jean Trubenbach.

Dustin Shawn wore the family's treasured christening gown handmade by his late great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Mosman 69 years ago. It was worn before him by three generations including the maternal great-grandmother, his grandmother and his mother.

The christening robes also included a new slip handmade by Gwen Trubenbach, a new crocheted jacket by Dolores Friske and the new baptismal cap by LaVerne Homsley and Catherine Walterscheid.

Attending the baptism were Dustin's parents, Kim and Lisa Walterscheid, his grandparents Loyd and Gwen Trubenbach and Willie and Queenie Walterscheid; the great-grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Alois Trubenbach, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Friske and Mrs. Catherine Walterscheid. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Homsley were unable to attend.

Others attending were Bev Trubenbach, Toni Trubenbach,

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Trubenbach, Jr., Mrs. Terry Walterscheid and son, Casey all of Muenster and Mrs. Barbara Traweck and her grandson, Toby all of Fort Worth.

Following the church service, the maternal grandparents hosted dinner in their home.

VFW Auxiliary plans kids' party

Plans for the annual Christmas party for Veterans' children and grandchildren highlighted the VFW Auxiliary meeting on Nov. 19. The party will be held on Thursday, Dec. 13 at 9:30 a.m. in the Post Home. Elizabeth Koehler and Irma Koelzer are chairmen for refreshments and gifts.

Frances Bayer, president led the business meeting. Lou Voth was guard pro tem. Flora Mae Knabe, chaplain, led the opening prayer and pledge to the Flag. Ida Bindel, secretary called roll and gave minutes of the previous meeting.

Agnes Hesse reported on the poster contest depicting the Statue of Liberty. Third and fourth graders of both school participated. Sacred Heart School winners were, in order named, Melissa Miller, Deann Bayer, Tommy Greathouse and Martin McCoy. Muenster Public School winners were Marlene Hess, Theresa Kubis, Stacie Whittington and Jason Russell. Monetary prizes, furnished by the VFW were awarded.

Members voted to send $2.00 per member to the cancer aid and research program, also to purchase harmony pins (a cancer aid project). These items were required for established program participation. Ethel Hesse gave the treasurer's report.

Linda Knabe reported on the Veterans Day Memorial services at Sacred Heart Cemetery on Nov. 11, following the 7 a.m. Mass.

Auxiliary members brought gifts to the meeting to be sent to the Denton State School. Agnes Hesse volunteered to arrange for delivery.

Frances Bayer reported on the district convention. She told members that the next convention will be hosted by the Muenster VFW and its Auxiliary on Feb. 23 and 24.

The VFW and the Auxiliary will hold their next meeting on Dec. 10 in the Post Home. Elizabeth Koehler served refreshments to 18 members attending, and Ida Bindel won the door prize.

Homemakers review Sell-O-Rama results

Mrs. Judy McDaniel was hostess for the November 12 meeting of the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers Club when they gathered in the Cooke County Electric Co-op meeting room.

The business session was conducted by Sharon Wolf, president. Minutes were given by Anne Perkins, secretary, and the treasurer's report was made by Michele Knauf.

Plans were discussed for the club's participation in the Cooke County Extension Homemakers Sell-O-Rama on Nov. 16 and 17. Proceeds benefited the 4-H Scholarship Fund for a student in Cooke County. Also discussed were plans for participation in the Christmas party for the State School, sponsored by the Cooke County Council.

Evelyn Yeatts, county extension agent presented the program on "Being the best you can." Mrs. Yeatts began by asking her listeners to tell one special thing in life each would dearly like to do. Answers ranged from travel, learning to play the piano, getting a college degree, writing, weight loss to helping their children reach adulthood. Mrs. Yeatts gave an inspiring program on achieving personal goals with confidence and determination.

The enjoyable evening included dessert and coffee served on a table covered with an antique lace cloth centered with a Thanksgiving arrangement.

The next meeting will be the husband and wife Christmas party for members in the home of Patti and Leonard Bayer.

4-H sets meeting to build float

The Muenster 4-H Club will have a "float-building" meeting Saturday at 10 a.m. for all members and interested workers.

The meeting will be held at the former Best Steel building across from H&W Meat on North Mesquite.

Those desiring more information may call Andy Burnette at 665-5639 or Barbara Bayer at 759-2574.

Children's programs to get local recognition

The Gainesville Woman's Club is sponsoring an awards program to recognize outstanding programs for children in the community.

"Concern for Kids in the Community" awards will recognize groups and individuals throughout the area who conduct exercise or sports programs, services for disabled children, crafts, music or arts projects or other activities for children.

Those involved in the planning, supervision and support of such programs will be honored.

The program here is part of a national effort sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Healthtex, Inc., a leading manufacturer of children's clothing. Local winners are eligible for state and national awards, including an all-expense-paid trip to the GFWC's annual convention in Houston.

Nominations are being accepted now from the general public. To nominate an individual or group for the award, contact Janette Smith at Rt. 5, Box 130, Gainesville, 76240 or call 665-7541 for an official entry form. Forms are also available at S&W Tractor Co. in Gainesville.

The deadline for entries is December 31.

MHS teams win a pair at Valley View Tuesday

Muenster's Hornets got stronger as the game went on Tuesday night to come away with a 51-39 win over Valley View at the Eagle girls' home gym.

Rita Walterscheid had her way in the middle as she hit 16 points, pulled down eight rebounds and stole the ball three times. The Muenster center keyed a second-quarter rally with eight points to help her team break out of an 8-8 tie at the end of the first period.

Also instrumental in that rally was forward Dana Dankesreiter, who hit seven of her 12 points in the second quarter. She led the squad on the boards with 10 rebounds.

Kim Eldred and Staci Walterscheid added five points apiece for the Muenster girls. Becky Montgomery led Valley View's scoring with 12 points, while Lori Donnelly added 11 and Leann Pembroke and Stephanie Krahl hit six apiece.

The two teams battled through the first eight minutes before Muenster opened up a 23-19 half-time lead. It was 34-29 going into the final quarter. Staci Walterscheid hit four of her five points in the last seven seconds on a free throw, a rebound and field goal and another free throw to open the final margin from 47-39 to 51-39.

Both teams hit nine free throws, but Valley View's percentage was better as they had just 13 opportunities to Muenster's 21.

Boys win at Valley View
Muenster's boys didn't put as many points on the board, but they came away with a win nevertheless as they downed Valley View 40-23.

Ronnie Fisher led the Hornets on offense with 11 points while also dominating the boards and heading up the defense inside the lane. Jay Mollenkopf canned 10, Kevin Wolf seven and Ryan Klement five for the Hornets.

Dave Kubicek hit six points for Valley View and Mike Alexander hit five. The Eagles have only had two days to work out since getting out of football after Friday night's loss to Munday.

Muenster led 8-5 after the first quarter and 17-11 at halftime. They stretched their lead to 10 points at 26-16 heading into the final period.

The Hornets are even at 1-1 after a 41-29 loss to Pottsboro in their opener last week.

Tigerettes fall Monday

Sacred Heart boys, girls lose at Goldberg

The Sacred Heart Tigerettes lost a heartbreaker at Goldberg Monday night by a margin of 37-36.

It was the Tigerettes' first loss of the season, leaving them with a 2-1 record heading into a Friday night contest here against Callisburg.

"It was close all they way," coach Jon LeBrasseur said. "We've still got a long way to go — we haven't played real well in the games we've won, so it doesn't surprise me that we lost this one."

After Lydia Walterscheid tied the game on a free throw with just a few seconds left, Goldberg got the ball and was working for a last shot when they were fouled. Their player hit one free throw, and the Tigerettes missed a 12-footer and a follow shot on their last possession.

Sandra and Lydia Walterscheid each hit 11 points to lead the Sacred Heart attack, with Sandra also grabbing 12 rebounds. Lisa Haverkamp had six points and nine rebounds, and Sondra Hess hit five points. Rose Felderhoff led the squad in assists with six.

The boys' game was not as close as the girls', as they fell by a 59-28 score to the Goldberg guys.

John Nasche and Ken Hesse hit six points apiece, while Craig Voth canned five and Scott Taylor hit four. Chris Dangelmayr led a meagre rebounding effort with seven boards.

"This was a little step backwards for our boys," LeBrasseur said. "We thought they were improving after that last game, but they still have a lot of work to do on the fundamentals — shooting the ball, handling pressure, things like that."

It was 12-6 after one quarter and 26-14 at halftime. The Tigers trailed 39-17 going into the final period before getting outscored 20-11 down the stretch.

'Desire' key to Tiger fortunes

"Desire" will be the strong point of a scrappy Sacred Heart basketball squad this year according to coach Jon LeBrasseur.

Last year's Tigers went 8-12 on the season — the first time in LeBrasseur's five years here that they had finished below .500. This year, the squad has two returning starters and some talented but inexperienced underclassmen.

Discipline will be the key this year, LeBrasseur says.

"For us to be a contender in district this year, we will have to abandon our run-and-gun style of play," he said. "We need to become a very disciplined offensive team who will score points off a tight man-to-man defense."

Last year's "run-and-gun" offense was keyed by all-stater Neil Hesse, who averaged 29 points per game, with Duane Haverkamp adding 18 points per outing. With both those scoring threats lost to graduation, the Tigers will be relying on two returning starters — junior forward Ken Hesse, a 6'1" shooter, and junior guard John Nasche, a 5'5" guard.

Other squad members are seniors Chris Dangelmayr, a 5'9" guard, and Mike Hess, a 5'10" forward; junior Lloyd Walterscheid, a 5'11" forward, sophomores Steven Knabe, a 5'5" guard, Steven Becker, a 5'9" guard, and Craig Voth, a 5'10" forward; and freshmen Wayne Becker, a 5'10" forward, and Scott Taylor, a 5'9" guard.

"This year's Tigers will have to develop into a balanced scoring team to replace last year's offensive threats," LeBrasseur said. "We'll rely on the floor leadership and speed of John Nasche and the shooting of Chris Dangelmayr and Ken Hesse."

The Tigers opened the season with a couple of losses last week, but were hoping to find the winning combination at Goldberg Monday. They will play Callisburg today (Friday) here beginning at 7 p.m.

Archer City shuts out Lindsay

The 4-A district champion Lindsay Knights fell victim to a 12-0 shutout at Azle Friday, as their season was ended by Archer City.

The Knights were victimized by turnovers, and couldn't penetrate their opponents' tough defense at the goalline although they had some success on offense throughout the night.

"We had the chances," coach Grady Roller said. "Maybe the kids were just trying too hard. They took advantage of our mistakes, and they made two or three of their own that we couldn't take advantage of. We got beat by a good ball club."

Archer City's touchdowns came in the second and third quarters, as a speedy halfback ran for 108 yard against the tough Lindsay defense. The leading rusher in the game, however, was the Knights' Kenneth Fuhrmann, who carried the ball 19 times for 148 yards.

Quarterback Wayne Fleitman rushed for 51 yards and passed for 46, hitting four of nine aeriels but getting picked off twice by the Archer City defense.

Archer City had 292 yards rushing to Lindsay's 217, and piled up 21 first downs to the Knights' 15. Each side fumbled three times.

Lindsay running back Steve Corcoran, a four-year starter during his high school career, missed the game as he was in the hospital with mononucleosis.

Linebacker Jeff Wimmer led the Knights with 15 tackles on defense, while Kurt Hermes and Jeff Hellman made nine apiece. "I'm proud of our kids," Roller said. "We had a lot better year than we thought we'd have after losing a lot to graduation last year. I think we surprised a lot of folks, including ourselves."

Roller stressed the role four sophomores played in the success of this year's team, stepping into critical roles and performing well all year long. Eric Weems, Frank Fangman, Roy Neu and Eddie Hughes were all cited for their play.

"The kids were pretty down after the loss, but they'll pick up," Roller said. "They all deserve a lot of credit for the job they did this year."

Valley View falls to top-ranked Munday

The Valley View Eagles ended their season at 9-3 last Friday night in Graham, as they lost by a score of 28-19 to the state's top-ranked team, Munday, in a second-round playoff game.

The Eagles, runners-up in district 4-A, dominated the game everywhere but on the scoreboard. They had 344 yards of total offense, including 140 passing and 204 on the ground; they racked up 23 first downs to their opponents' 12 and penetrated five times to Munday's four.

"We gave them a couple of long runs in the third quarter, and that was what killed us," coach John Kassen said. "We had a fourth down and about half-a-yard to go down on their goalline early in the game, and we didn't get it — that really hurt us, too."

Quarterback Mike Montgomery had his best outing ever as a passer, hitting on 13 of 16 aeriels for two touchdowns and 140 yards. One touchdown pass went to Mike Alexander for 43 yards, and the other to John Grussell for 17 yards.

The Eagles' other touchdown came on a 16-yard run by Ray Sappington, who rushed for 112 yards on 27 carries to lead all ball carriers.

Gary Ward, the other half of Valley View's dynamic backfield duo, carried the ball 14 times for 93 yards, as the two accounted for all of the Eagles' rushing yardage

SPORTSBEAT

A roundup of area sports happenings

Lots of hoops...

A gymful of basketball action will be taking place around the area this week, with all local teams eliminated from football playoffs and everyone's attention turned indoors.

The schedule for various schools looks like this:

Muenster — The Hornet boys and girls varsities will be at the Slidell tournament through this weekend after action started Thursday; the two varsities and JV girls will travel to play Goldberg Tuesday, with junior varsity action starting at 5:30 p.m.

Sacred Heart — The Tigers will square off with Callisburg's varsity boys and girls at Sacred Heart gym Friday, beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday they will host Trinity Valley at 6 p.m.

Lindsay — Lindsay's varsity and jayvee boys and girls will get in a full afternoon of basketball Tuesday, with action starting at 5 p.m. as they host Pottsboro in four consecutive games.

Era — The Hornets were finishing up at the Whitesboro tournament which ran Thursday, Friday and Saturday before traveling to Valley View for girls, boys and jayvee games beginning at 5:30 Tuesday.

Forestburg — The Longhorns were set to travel to Saint Jo Monday for a two-game set beginning at 7 p.m.

Callisburg — After their match Friday at Muenster against Sacred Heart's boys and girls, the Wildcats will play at Collinsville Tuesday with the jayvee girls kicking off the action at 5:30 p.m. and varsity boys and girls to follow. Thursday through Saturday both varsities will take part in a tournament at S&S.

Forestburg tourney split...

Due to new rules governing extracurricular activities, this year's big tournament at Forestburg will be split between Forestburg and Saint Jo high school gyms in the early rounds, so as not to interrupt classes at either place.

The tournament, which begins next Thursday (December 6), will involve teams from Forestburg, Lindsay, Sacred Heart, Muenster, Saint Jo, Era, Chico and Perrin.

The first two games starting at 4:30 p.m. Thursday are Lindsay vs. Sacred Heart at the Saint Jo gym and Era vs. Chico at the Forestburg gym. Boys and girls games will be played back-to-back.

Tigerettes start fast with pair of wins

The Sacred Heart Tigerettes were off to a fast start last week as they got by Saint Jo Tuesday and then downed Valley View's girls in a Saturday game.

Sandra Walterscheid led the charge against Saint Jo with 19 points and 16 rebounds. Her rebound total was matched by that of Vicki Walterscheid, who also scored five points. Tammy Hess scored eight and Lydia Walterscheid added seven.

The Tigerettes and their hosts battled through a tough first half, with Sacred Heart holding a 9-8 lead after one quarter and 19-18 at the half. They pulled away to a 28-20 advantage going into the final frame before winning by a 42-27 margin.

Sandra led the squad in steals with seven, while Tammy had five. Lisa Haverkamp pulled down eight rebounds and dished out three assists.

In Saturday's Valley View game the Tigerettes didn't waste any time as they jumped on the Eagle ladies for a 21-4 first-quarter lead. They won the game 55-37.

Sandra's 21 points topped the scoring, but Vicki came down with 12 rebounds to lead the team on the boards. Sandra had 11 boards and Rose Felderhoff grabbed seven rebounds while also making three steals and scoring three points.

Tammy Hess added 12 points, Lisa Haverkamp six and Lydia Walterscheid five enroute to win. The squad was 2-0 going into a Monday game at Goldburg.

Pilcher sparks 'Cats over Collinsville

Scott Pilcher swished 12 of his game-high 19 points in the third quarter to spark Callisburg's Wildcats to a 38-28 win over Collinsville Tuesday night.

Pilcher's hot hand helped the 'Cats to break out of a 15-15 half-time tie and take a 29-17 lead into the final quarter. The win leaves Callisburg 3-0 after they downed Bonham 42-40 last Monday and beat Era 48-31 Tuesday.

but the 'Cats outscored their hosts 8-2 the rest of the quarter to trail 10-8 after eight minutes. David Marshall and James McNew helped tighten up the defense as they held Collinsville to just two points in the crucial third quarter.

The Wildcats hit four of six free throws on the night.

Girls win big
Callisburg's girls are also off to a 3-0 start after pounding Collinsville 45-30 Tuesday night.

Kelli Tuck dominated the game inside for the Lady Wildcats with 17 points and 16 rebounds.

Callisburg led just 12-11 after the first quarter, but stretched the margin to 20-14 at halftime and 35-22 going into the final frame.

The win, combined with victories over Bonham and Era last week, gives coach Delmer Spencer's girls a 3-0 start identical to the boys'.

The jayvee boys won their matchup with Collinsville as well Tuesday night, overcoming a first-half deficit to outscore their opponents 28-14 in the second half and win by a 43-31 margin.

Jeff Alderman had 13 points for the jayvee Wildcats, while Kelly Lemmons hit seven points and grabbed 12 rebounds. The junior varsity is 2-0 after winning an overtime matchup with Era last week.

Sacred Heart boys looking for first win

The Sacred Heart boys dropped a couple of contests during their first week of competition after turning in the shoulder pads and donning their basketball shoes.

Last Tuesday they fell to Saint Jo by a score of 61-32 despite a 12-point performance by Ken Hesse. Hesse, a 6'1" junior forward, was six-for-13 from the field to lead the Tigers, while Craig Voth added six points and John Nasche and Wayne Becker tallied four apiece.

Voth and Hesse each pulled down seven rebounds to lead the Tigers on the board.

Sacred Heart never recovered from a two-point first quarter as Saint Jo led 12-2, 20-14 and 34-28 at the quarters before blowing the Tigers out 27-4 in the fourth quarter.

At Frisco Saturday, the Tiger boys took another one on the chin as they lost 72-32. Chris Dangelmayr scored 13 points, followed by Hesse with nine and Voth with four. Scott Taylor led the rebounding with eight, while Dangelmayr had seven and Hesse and John Nasche grabbed five apiece.

It was 23-8 after one quarter and the Tigers trailed at halftime 42-17. Sacred Heart committed 29 turnovers in the game while coming up with only five steals.

Forestburg girls win; Saint Jo boys gain split

Forestburg's Lady Longhorns raised their season record to 2-1 with a 49-24 win over Saint Jo Tuesday night.

After outscoring their guests 10-7 in the first quarter, Forestburg put on a defensive clinic in the second quarter to hold Saint Jo to a single point and raise their lead to 20-8 at halftime.

It was 33-18 going into the final quarter.

"The girls had a real strong defensive first half, then had a strong offensive game the second half," coach Hollis Adams said. "They played real well, but Saint Jo had some people out due to injuries, too. I don't think we can really say we're that much better than them."

Toni Duncan led Forestburg's scorers with 15 points, while Latricia Bell and Dana Hamric got 10 apiece. Marty Lyons hit 10 for the Panther ladies and Tanya Reeves scored seven points.

In the boys' game, Saint Jo got a 31-point performance from Kevin Reeves to win 60-47 over the Forestburg squad.

Forestburg led 16-14 after the first quarter, but Saint Jo pulled out to a one-point halftime lead at 23-22, then stretched it to 40-34 going into the final frame.

In addition to Reeves' 31, Andy Sappington hit 17 for the Panthers to round out the offensive attack. Brent Shults led the Longhorns with 20 points, followed by Tommy Souther with 12.

"I felt our boys played about as well as they're capable of playing," Adams said. "We got in foul trouble in the second half and had to back off a little on defense, and they shot the ball real well."

Lindsay girls split at G'ville

Lindsay's girls varsity lost a 46-30 decision at Gainesville Tuesday night.

A dismal first quarter saw the Knightettes fall behind 16-4 to the Leopard girls. They fought back, outscoring Gainesville 14-8 in the second quarter to go in at halftime down just 24-18, but their hosts surged past them in the third quarter to take a 36-22 lead into the final frame.

Sherry Anderle led Lindsay with 10 points, while Gina Arendt and Brenda Haverkamp got eight apiece. The Knightettes hit 14 of 22 free throws.

Lindermann had 17 for Gainesville and Manuel hit 16.

After a 42-39 win over Whitesboro in their opener, the loss to Gainesville leaves the varsity with a 1-1 record heading into the Whitesboro tournament this weekend.

The junior varsity girls won by a score of 22-17 over Gainesville, with Jolanda Wimmer and Kim Smelcer each getting six points. The girls jayvee squad is 2-0 on the season.

Lindsay's boys did not play at Gainesville Tuesday. They are 0-1 after losing to Whitesboro 60-30 last week.

Lindsay board views construction plans

The Lindsay Independent School District Board of Directors met for their regular scheduled meeting on Monday, Nov. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the library.

President Frank Sandmann conducted the meeting. Tim Wimmer read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Items one and two on the agenda was to approve the General Operating checks and the Consolidated Application Checks respectively.

The third item on the agenda was the proposed building program. Two rough sketches of the proposed new building were shown. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to take the designs to a contractor to get a plan drawn up.

Superintendent Glenn Hellman reported that the tutorial program was working quite well.

The Board then went into executive session. Members present were, Carol Fuhrmann, Henry Popp, Jim Myrick, Wimmer and Sandmann. Absent members were Red Eberhart and Winston Fangman.

Booster Club holds meeting

The Lindsay Booster Club met on Tuesday, Nov. 13 in the A.V. room of the High School. The members present saw the film of the Lindsay-Era football game and also viewed a film of Archer City and Munday.

They decided to change the day of the meeting to Wednesday beginning next week, Nov. 28, to avoid conflicts with basketball games.

Program to honor top students

Junior high begins honor roll

Lindsay Junior High students will be putting forth more effort than ever with the installation of the new junior high honor roll.

At the request of some of the parents, teachers, and even the students themselves, the honor roll program has been put into being. The students of the 7th and 8th grades will be even more anxious to strive for scholastic achievement.

The new program will consist of both an "A" honor roll and a "B" honor roll. Those students who maintain a 90 percent average or above for the six weeks will hold a place on the "A" honor roll, and those students having an 85 percent average or above will be on the "B" honor roll.

Names of the students released to be on the junior high "A" honor roll for the second six weeks, October 1 through Myers, Jr. was selected as chairman of the board/chief executive officer and Wade Fikes was named president/chief operating officer. Since being appointed president and chief executive officer in 1981, Al Myers has been in the forefront of the phenomenal growth of Olney Savings from $195 million to $737 million in assets.

Don Terry, who has served as chairman of the board since 1981, will continue his responsibilities as a member of the board of directors. Myers has been with Olney Savings since 1959. He formerly served as executive vice president and chief operating officer before being appointed to president and chief executive officer three years ago. He is a former mayor of Olney and was the 1980 recipient of the John T. Mahone Award given by the Texas Savings and Loan League for outstanding leadership and active involvement in community affairs. Formerly executive vice president/chief operating officer, Wade Fikes has been with Olney Savings since 1963. He has held various positions with the organization, including executive vice president/operations and finance, controller, savings and lending officer and head of the mortgage loan department.

A graduate of many savings and loan graduate and management schools all over the country, Fikes has also been an active member of his community. With $737 million in total assets, Olney Savings Association is one of the largest savings and loans in Texas with branches in Olney, Seymour, Jacksboro, Nocona, Azle, Weatherford, Graham, Archer City, Bowie, Brownwood, Wichita Falls, Vernon, Holliday, Decatur, Boyd, Throckmorton, Anson, Albany, Cisco, Coleman, Crowell, Gainesville and Bridgeport. Also Ranger Savings in Ranger, Eastland Savings in Eastland and Electra Savings in Electra.

Cooke County roads slated for renovation

Nearly 27 miles of Cooke County roads will be seal-coated or resurfaced as part of a state program approved last week by the Texas Highway and Public Transportation Commission. An asphaltic concrete overlay will be applied to FM 51 starting at farm-to-market road 1306 just southwest of Gainesville, southwest for 7.9 miles. Seal-coating will be applied to U.S. 82 from the east city limit of Muenster to FM 2739, then continuing east from FM 1199 on the east side of Lindsay — a total distance of 8.8 miles. FM 1201 will also get a seal-coat from FM 1202 to its far north end, a distance of 12.3 miles. The Commission approved the paving under the 1985 State Highway Safety and Betterment program, which had been foregone last year due to limited funds. Projects approved will be let for bids within the next year. The program is backed by new funds made available through the recently-increased fuel tax and registration fees. Its purpose is to protect and extend the surface life of roadways — often those with cracking or slick surfaces. Most of the $128.7 million allocation will be used to apply a protective asphaltic concrete overlay to 3,185 miles of roadway in 501 separate projects statewide. The Cooke County paving is included in District Three, which will also let contracts for work in Archer, Baylor, Wichita, Wilbarger and Young counties. Just over 95 miles of roads will be resurfaced in those counties.

Guides sought for hunt for orphan youngsters

Men who enjoy helping underprivileged kids have a rare opportunity this weekend to get involved in a statewide effort to teach orphaned children how to hunt. Harold Beck, a Gainesville attorney, is a trustee of Operation Orphans, Inc., a non-profit group which coordinates deer hunts for children who live in orphan's homes all over Texas. The group cooperates with the Texas Sportsmen's Association to offer a weekend of deer hunting in the Texas hill country to orphan children during the fall deer season.

get to know the kids as well as teaching them something about hunting. "And if they can come back with a deer, they're a hero," he adds. Landowners in the area donate the hunting rights, and the sponsoring organizations furnish everything the kids need. There is a bunk house at the base camp, and Mason Girl Scouts usually provide the meals. The one thing the group is short of right now is guides, Beck says. He is asking experienced hunters in this area who could go on a weekend trip to contact him by 9 or 10 Friday morning at the very latest.

"This was started in 1960 by a game warden in that area," Beck says. "He realized the heavy doe population needed thinning out, and he was also aware that a lot of kids didn't have an opportunity to get out and hunt deer. He kicked it off and it just grew from there." Beck and other volunteers from all over the state converge on Mason County for several weekends in the fall to serve as guides and help in other ways. The children are bused in by their respective homes, and the guides hunt with them — teaching them tracking, stalking, shooting, skinning and other outdoor skills while developing a one-on-one relationship with them. That relationship, Beck says, is the key factor. "Most of these kids haven't ever had a father to take them hunting," he says. "This is kind of a big brother program in a sense — we try to get out there and

IN THANKS

We wish to express deep appreciation to all the wonderful people who have helped us in any way with the expense of medical care for our baby daughter, Cindy Lynn. At birth she weighed 4 lb. 1 oz., the same weight as her mother at birth. Now, progressing beautifully, Cindy Lynn weighs 6 lb. 13 oz. at age 7 weeks, 4 days - the identical weight of her mother again at the same date.

We and Cindy thank everyone for donations, prayers and gifts. Special thanks to all who participated in the benefit dance, especially the Muenster High School seniors, Little John's Disco, the Knights of Columbus, Neil's Kerr McGee for ice, and Clyde Fisher for cups.

Our most special gratitude goes to our parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edna Ramsey and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tempel. There is no way we can repay them for the time, support and love they gave us. God bless all of you.

Sandy, Jeff and Cindy Lynn Tempel

NOTICE OF HEARING
You are hereby notified that on the 8 day of January, 1985, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., at the Courthouse in Cooke County, Texas, the undersigned special commissioners appointed by the Judge in the 235th Judicial District Court of Cooke County, Texas, to assess the damages occasioned by the Condemnation by The City of Gainesville, Texas, of real estate in said county, the ownership of which said land is as set out above, all of which more fully appears in a certain written Plaintiff's Statement for Condemnation filed by the said City of Gainesville, Texas, with the Judge on the 29 day of October 1984, to which reference is here made, shall proceed to hear said parties and said statement and to act thereon in the manner directed by law. You are further notified that the Plaintiff's Statement alleges:

A. That the City of Gainesville is empowered by the laws of the State of Texas to exercise the right of eminent domain for the purpose of acquiring land for the construction, maintenance and operation of parks within its boundaries;
B. That Plaintiff, acting through its City Council, has found it necessary to acquire fee simple title in the above described land;
C. That the interest in the land referred to in paragraph B above will be used for a purpose for which Plaintiff possesses the power of eminent domain, namely, a park;
D. That Plaintiff is unable to determine the exact ownership of the property referred to above.
E. That Plaintiff and the owners have been unable to agree upon the value of the land for the reason that Plaintiff is unable to determine the true owners of the property.
F. In this action, Plaintiff prays for the appointment of three disinterested freeholders in Cooke County, Texas, and that Plaintiff be granted such other and further relief to which it may be justly entitled.
HEREIN, FAIL NOT, but make appearance before the Commissioners on the date, time and at the place above set forth.
WITNESS our hands this 31 day of October, 1984.

County Agent's Report

It appears that weather is causing some problems in completing wheat and other small grain plantings this year. Wheat can be and is sown in December. However, the later the grain is sown there is the possibility of some yield reduction over October and November sown grain.

Several factors should be considered for increased yields on late sown wheat. First, there is some indication that a producer should increase seeding rates of the late plantings. If you normally sow 75 pounds, then you might increase the planting rates to 85 or 90 pounds. The cooler soil temperatures and freeze possibilities can reduce plant populations.

Second would be variety selection. Some varieties have done better than others with late planting in north Texas. If you get extremely late in a December planting, then Probrand 812 might be a good choice to plant. The other day I was visiting with Jim Blalock, Area Agronomist with the Extension Service, and he said that he had seen some good yields from 812 that was planted about the first of January. This was from fields a little south of us.

The possibility of any benefit from grazing in a sod seeding situation this late is really minimal to none. We can expect some benefit in a hay situation, though. Last year we saw some yields of late sown wheat in sod for hay. Once the spring warmth hits us that grain plant should really begin to grow. So if you have some left over planting seed, you might consider drilling it in bermuda or other warm season perennial sod for an early hay crop.

The following chart shows some data on fall forage yields of oats due to planting dates for a three-year average at College Station.

Forage Yield Of Small Grain With Various Dates Of Planting

Date of Planting	Harvested Forage Dec. 1
September 15	710
October 1	690
October 15	210
November 1	0

Which ever way you are planting, whether grain or forage yields, expect a decrease in production the later you plant.

Agricultural briefs

Cotton moving westward

Slowly but surely, cotton production in Texas is moving westward. More than three-fourths of the state's cotton crop is now grown in western areas, primarily the plains, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

That includes the area that stretches from the Panhandle southward to about San Angelo and northward to Abilene and Wichita Falls. Cotton production has increased steadily in irrigated areas of the plains because the crop uses less water than corn or grain sorghum and uses it more efficiently. And in dryland counties of the plains, cotton is the only crop with a real chance year in and year out.

Ag worker's comp

Effective Jan. 1, certain agricultural labor will no longer be exempt from worker's compensation laws in Texas. Worker's compensation addresses on-the-job injuries, and the corresponding insurance provides benefits to those injured or disabled while performing work-related functions.

Recent Texas legislation brings agricultural labor under worker's compensation while providing exemptions for some employers under specific circumstances, mainly related to the payroll size of farming and ranching operations.

Decatur dairyman wins award

Buchanan honored by Farm Bureau

A dairyman from Wise County is the winner of the 1984 Texas Farm Bureau Outstanding Young Farmer & Rancher Award.

Calvin Buchanan and his wife, Virginia, of Route 1, Decatur, were announced as winners of the Award Monday night at the 51st annual TFB convention in San Antonio. The other finalists were Bobby McDonald, from Route 2, Sulphur Springs (Hopkins), and John Sykes and his wife, Teresa, of Route 3, College Station (Brazos).

The finalists were chosen from 33 entries from 32 county Farm Bureaus. All three finalists received an expense-paid trip to the 1984 TFB Convention, and each will receive an expense-paid trip to the AFBF's Young Farmer & Rancher Conference next February at Albuquerque, N.M.

For winning the award, the Buchanans additionally will receive an expense-paid trip to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting, Jan. 7-10, at Honolulu, Hawaii. The Buchanans also receive one year's free use of a three-quarter ton Ford pickup, compliments of Bird-Kultgen Ford of Waco.

Buchanan, 30, is in partnership with his father and manages a dairy farm which he has expanded since he began farming about 10 years ago. He has 460 Jersey milk cows within the milking herd. He also has 340 Jersey replacement heifers and 325 Holstein heifers. Buchanan said he buys small heifer calves, raises and breeds them for resale.

Buchanan raises sudan hay and coastal bermuda hay for winter grazing. He also has 600 acres of wheat which he converts to hay for grazing purposes.

The Buchanans have two daughters, Rachel, 5, and Rebecca, 3.

DON'T KISS $8,938 GOODBYE

That's how much you could lose just on resale value if you don't buy a John Deere

Looking for a big discount when you buy a tractor? Don't get stuck with an even bigger discount when you want to trade.

Always consider resale value when you price a field tractor. Because the differences among brands may sometimes be bigger than ANY purchase incentive.

Compare John Deere with our two leading competitors. According to the Spring 1984 Official Guide of the National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association, the average 5-year-old John Deere 4440 sells for 106 percent of its 1979 list price. One leading competitor averages 87 percent of its 1979 list price. The other averages 73 percent.

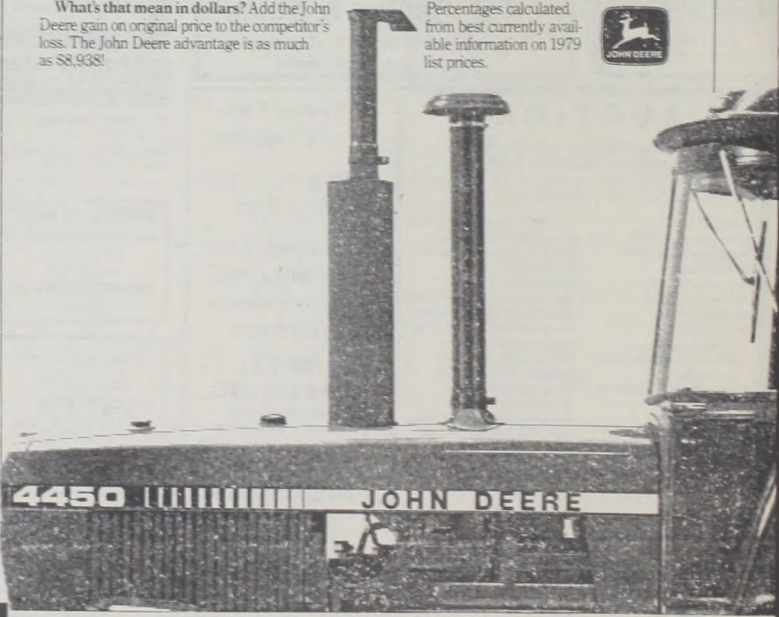

What's that mean in dollars? Add the John Deere gain on original price to the competitor's loss. The John Deere advantage is as much as $8,938!

Is this only true of one model? No. Every 40 Series 90- to 180-hp tractor has an average resale price that's higher than its new price five years ago.

Is resale your only John Deere advantage? No. Don't forget the remarkable fuel efficiency of today's 50 Series John Deere Tractors. And don't forget our unmatched reputation for high quality and high reliability. See your John Deere dealer. He'll be happy to explain the big difference between a low-price tractor and a low-cost John Deere: 100-hp 4050, 120-hp 4250, 140-hp 4450, 165-hp 4650 or 190-hp 4850.

NOTE: Average resale prices taken from Spring 1984 Official Guide of The National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association.

Percentages calculated from best currently available information on 1979 list prices.
