Keeping baby warm

Muenster Memorial receives infant radiant warmer unit

By B. J. Fenton

An infant radiant warmer unit, with an open crib, is now in operation at Muenster Memorial Hospital.

According to Joan Walterscheid, director of nursing, the unit has been used with four infants thus far, one of which was in need of transfer to another hospital.

The purpose of the unit is primarily to provide a source of heat for the new born and to help the infant maintain a constant body temperature.

However, the unit also serves to provide more maneuverability and working space between infant, doctors and or nurses.

The unit itself is easily moved where needed, including from one facility room to another, Walterscheid said.

Emphasizing the need to keep newborns warm, Walterscheid said that a newborn is naturally wet and exposed and must be dried immediately. But, it must also be kept warm.

If a newborn is not kept warm, its body temperature can drop drastically at an instant. If that happens, "The baby struggles for oxygen, respiratory problems can develop and a whole vicious circle of problems begins," Walterscheid said.

With the new unit the baby is assured of being kept warm while it is being dried, and if it needs oxygen it's right there.

"There's less chance for problems to develop," Walterscheid said. "If the baby already has problems, the quicker we can keep it warm and get it to oxygen, the quicker we can bring it out of the problem."

At Muenster Memorial all babies are put into the radiant warmer after delivery, even c-section babies.

A prob coming from the warmer controls is placed on the baby's abdomen, the desired temperature is sent and constant monitoring of the body temperature is established. The overhead warmer lights will come on or go off in accordance with the prob reading and designated temperature set on the controls.

If there are no problems with the baby or mother, both are taken to recovery where the newborn is placed in an isolet for observation.

If there are complications and the baby needs oxygen for any reason, the infant warmer also has that provision. A plastic dome fits over the baby's head and, without having to bring in additional equipment or move the newborn to a different facilitator, the problem is solved.

The unit also has an oxygen analyzer, which monitors the concentrated mixture of oxygen going to the plastic oxygen dome.

The new radiant warmer also has a Billy Ruben light for photo therapy, thus providing another service in one convenient, easy to maneuver, easy to work in unit, Walterscheid said.

The $9,000 unit was purchased through the combined donations of the Young Homemakers of Texas and the Muenster Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Walterscheid said the unit is part of the hospital's efforts to keep up with the latest equipment and care facilities for its patients.

She said the hospital has two labor rooms, approximately five bassinets, one isolet and one incubator — in addition to the new radiant warmer.

There is also an ultra sound unit available to expectant mothers. (This unit is also used to get an "inside view" of soft tissue problems in the lower abdomen, such as tumors, in both men and women patients.)

Walterscheid added that Lamaze classes are offered at the Please see Warmer, Page 3

22 MHS grads receive diplomas

Reminded that they had left their mark on Muenster High and the time has arrived to begin striving for a mark in society, twenty-two MHS seniors received diplomas last Friday night in graduation ceremonies in the school auditorium.

Their speaker was George Hatfield, superintendent of schools of Purcell, Okla. He complimented the class for its overall excellent record in academics and athletics, thereby acquiring the tools to become productive citizens in service to the community, the church and the government.

And the goal of their efforts, he added, is to help make the community and nation a better place to live and make a living. It's a goal to keep in mind starting now with entry into college, technical school or a job.

He further pointed out that the present graduates are tomorrow's adults, destined to take over the reins of society in constantly advancing technology. Illustrating, he said that the four-minute record of the mile run, attained in 1954, has been broken six times since then.

Principal transfers

Eddie Green, principal of Muenster Public School for the past three years, this week announced his resignation to become the principal at Palmer, which is located south of Dallas on I-45.

The change is equivalent to a promotion. Palmer is a 2 A school with enrollment of about 250 and growing steadily. Another incentive is returning to the area of his native Italy, Texas, where relatives and school friends are located.

Green will continue on the job here until June 30 and report to the new assignment on July 1. The change also creates another vacancy on the Muenster faculty. His wife, Ann, is a teacher.

Grains gathered Farmers facing sub-normal harvests

Several times lately news reports have told us about enormous trade deficits and official meetings with representatives of other governments trying to adjust policies giving us a better ratio of imports and exports.

At the same time, there are reports of jobs lost and factories closed over here because American industry can't compete with foreign prices. Related to the closing of one factory was the story of a man now earning $3.50 an hour as a warehouse custodian after losing a steel plant job at $22.00 an hour, a job which ended because it could not compete. His plight applied to hundreds of other workers, amounting to a disaster for the entire city.

With the situation existing in dozens of other areas, it becomes understandable why trade is so distressingly one-sided and why thousands of workers have big financial problems. Our sympathy has to be with people whose pay suddenly shrinks by more than 80 percent. And we also have to realize that they need enormous help from us taxpayers.

Thinking it over, we have to realize that the sad situation very likely is the fault of the workers themselves, and most likely the labor bosses. Common sense tells us that when trouble is ahead it's time for management and labor to get the problem is obvious. High priced labor has priced the product out of the market. But a reasonable cut in pay would enable the plant to stay open and the workers to earn a living. On the other hand, stubborn insistence on big pay hurts all.

United Airlines presents a typical dilemma. It wants to cut pilot pay because of operational losses, but the two sides can't get together. And we average people can't understand why there isn't more flexibility when fabulous salaries are involved. We Americans are proud of our high standard of living, but does that mean that some workers deserve the Farmers of West Cooke County have their combines busy nowadays harvesting a mediocre wheat crop. As seen by grain dealers Dolphy J. Hellman at Tony's Seed and Feed and Ronnie Felderhoff of Muenster Milling Company, the harvest is far short of the two previous bumper crops, but it is better than the near crop failure of several years ago.

Quality of the grain is down, ranging from 55 to 60 and averaging about 58. Last year the average was usually over 60. The dealers agree that the likely cause was the abundant rainfall in May. The ideal condition is dry weather during the last two weeks of maturing after adequate rainfall before.

This year the rain continued until just before cutting and farmers got busy as soon as moisture tests permitted. First delivery here was Aloys Fuhrmann of Lindsay to Muenster Mill on Thursday, the 23rd with a 55 test. Tony's Seed and Feed got its first load from Frank and Reggie Bayer on Saturday. It tested 56.

The best day up to now was clear and balmy Sunday. Since then the early morning dampness was slower in clearing.

Despite excessive rainfall which damaged the crop, there have been no problems with ground conditions. So far, there are no reports of machines being stuck.

According to scattered reports yields, like tests, are expected to be below the past two years, possibly as much as one-fourth to one-third off at a figure of 35 to 50 bushels per acre, as compared with 50 to 60 last year. The best reported this season is 60. Last year it topped 70 several times.

The season, just getting in full swing, is expected to last another 10 to 14 days. That's what farmers are hoping for, and why they are packing the most possible hours into their work day. Continued good weather will allow them to get all the grain that's there, but wet weather can hurt in several ways. Besides shattering out some of the grain or breaking straw so that grain heads can't be picked up, it can hasten the growth of weeds. At later cutting, then, the green weeds will be included with the crop and will give up some of their moisture in the threshing process. The result: surplus moisture harms the test. Further, the lower test, along with possible grain loss, is reflected in lower yield.

Still another unfavorable factor is the price of grain. It's $2.95 per bushel now for hard wheat and $2.80 per bushel for soft wheat. Last year each of the prices was about 50 cents per bushel higher.

The combination of factors adds up to an obvious fact. Farmers are under attack from several directions this year.

NON-STOP COMBINING is the order of the day for Leonard Fuhrmann as he unloads wheat into a waiting semi-trailer truck for hauling to the elevator. Fuhrmann, from Lindsay, is working a level of luxury they insist on?...especially when they are causing economic distress to job losses and fouling up a very important trade balance.

The entire situation looks like a problem to be tackled at home more than in trade adjustments to be sought with other nations. First of all, manufacturers need tax inducements to modernize their plants. And as the second element in becoming more competitive, they need to cut labor costs. We can do lots about improving the trade balance before dickering with foreign business.

And the end result of it all would be a more stable economy. When pay levels are adequate rather than prohibitive, it means more workers and more overall worker income; it means more factories in production; it means less welfare payments; it means a more stable nation. As regards more or less domestic buying, the outlook seems better with more adequate-level incomes as opposed to some high incomes offset by some joblessness.

When it comes to statesmanship, here is a challenge to congressional leaders and labor leaders and industry. They can make lots of improvement by ruling out special interests while concentrating on the greater benefits for the entire country.

And the recent news report is encouraging relative to the Marxist campaign in Central America. Following the refusal of Congressional liberals to support President Reagan's proposed $14 million aid to the anti-Sandinistas of Nicaragua, a group of Texans has raised a purse of private funds to help. Their reasoning agrees with the President's. The Contras, rebels of Nicaragua, are the rightful winners of the revolution to depose Somoza and have been replaced by the Marxist-backed Sandinistas. The Texas group reasons that Red takeover of Nicaragua can be prevented if the rebel guerrillas can successfully resist the Reds. In fact, this can be a turning point in the Communist plan to take over all of Central America and Mexico in its eventual goal of subduing United States and the rest of the free world.

Reagan and the Contras' friends have agreed long ago that the Red conquest has advanced too far, and it is high time to stop it. But liberals of the government refuse to see it that way. Why? Is it because they still believe and trust the Reds?...or because they think fighting for freedom is a lost cause?...or because they are taken in by the Red propaganda line?

Whatever the reasons, this is the eleventh hour and high time for the U.S. to become more involved in its future. Otherwise we'd better hope and pray for other happenings to come to our aid. Possibly that the evil system of economic failure will be wiped out by inner decay, or that the Reds will over-extend their evil empire and lose control.

Civil Rights Act of 1985

THE STRUGGLE for freedom is never-ending, for the forces of regimentation are ever among us. It is tragic, but true, that there are some people who simply cannot be content with permitting others to live their lives as they choose. Others must be forced to live and act as those in power choose for them to live and act.

Thus, the forces of regimentation are back again in this Congress with one more attempt to vastly expand the power and control of the federal government over every aspect of our lives.

Their new threat to individual liberty is titled the "Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1985." The implication in the title that some rights have been lost and must be restored is ironic but correct. But this bill will simply continue the process of eroding away rights and in fact compound the evil.

The facts are that the series of civil rights legislation passed over the last two decades has infringed on the rights of the vast majority of the people.

For example, busing infringes on the rights of school children and parents. Affirmative action, a euphemistic term for quota racism and reverse discrimination, infringes on the rights of millions of our citizens.

There are many other examples which could be cited to demonstrate that civil rights are being violated in the name of civil rights.

Recognizing this, the American people have demanded changes, and the Reagan administration and the Supreme Court have responded to this demand from the people.

A newly constituted Civil Rights Commission is taking a position based on consideration of the rights of all the people, not simply privileges for some.

The Justice Department has recognized the injustices resulting from ill-conceived civil rights regulations and has moved to change direction.

And the Supreme Court has made a few sound decisions recently in this area. This has concerned the forces of regimentation who know exactly what they are doing.

As columnist James Kilpatrick said last August with regard to the 1984 Civil Rights Act, "Such ultraliberal sponsors as Kennedy of Massachusetts and Cranston of California know exactly what they are doing. Theirs is the ultimate grab for federal power..."

This is the crucial issue again this year: the grab for federal power — and the resulting diminishing of individual rights!

The new bill, S. 431 in the Senate and H.R. 700 in the House would, according to a recent article in Human Events, "...greatly increase federal power over state and local governments, private institutions, businesses and farms in ways that never existed in the past..."

Reported the paper, "In short, Kennedy, Hawkins and Co. are attempting, by subterfuge, to enact legislation that will mean a quantum jump in federal regulation, interference and control..."

If you value your freedom, you had better make it your business to learn more about the proposed Civil Rights Act of 1985!

Benson is president of the National Education Program, based in Oklahoma City.

This land is your land

Since the days of Spindletop, Texas independent oil producers have been the backbone of what has long been this state's biggest industry. They represent the well-head of entrepreneurial spirit in Texas.

That's why we at the General Land Office appointed a Blue Ribbon Commission made up of oil industry experts and depend heavily on independent producers and their knowledge of the industry to improve our policies for the leasing of oil and gas rich state lands.

The cornerstone recommendation of that committee was to raise the state's minimum per-acre cash bonus. In the three sales held since the recommendations, this major recommendation has paid off. Our latest lease sale in April contributed a total of $23.2 million to the Permanent School Fund — and set records for the highest bonus and highest average per-acre in Texas General Land Office history. In fact, the five-year average bonus fee has increased dramatically, tripling our per-acre bonuses from $96.95 per acre to the record high in the last sale of $283.08 per acre.

But, more importantly, these recommendations have increased the participation of independent producers by more than 54 percent over the last three sales.

In the October 1983 lease sale, the last sale before the changes took effect, 49 percent of the participants were independents. In the April 1984 sale, the first sale to include the increased bonuses, independent participation grew to 51 percent. This trend continued in the October 1984 sale, where independent participation jumped to 63 percent.

With the latest sale, April 1985, the participation of the independent oilmen has jumped to a whopping 84 percent, proof that the policy changes are paying off. Since these policy changes, the state has more than doubled its revenues from leasing, but not at the expense of the independents — a fear that was expressed by that group when the recommendations were implemented.

These changes have been good news for the millions of Texas schoolchildren who depend upon this revenue to help finance their education. But, just as important, it hasn't meant bad news for the state's oil and gas entrepreneurs — the independents.

It's this type of efficient management improvement that the General Land Office is making every day to provide all Texans with a partial solution to the current fiscal crisis faced by state government.

State Capitol Highlights

AUSTIN—Texas lawmakers neared an accord on the state budget by giving conference committee approval to a new twist on motor vehicle inspections.

If approved by the full Legislature before adjournment at midnight, Memorial Day, inspection sticker prices will go up from $5.25 to $7.75, an increase of $2.50.

But Texans who buy a new car will have to pay $15, good for two years. This new twist is a result of lawmakers' efforts to find an extra $150 million to balance the budget by raising various state fees.

Also proposed was a $50 increase in the cost of filing a suit in state district court. Child support cases were exempted.

Hightower Wins One

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has had tough going this session with budget writers cutting his outlays and limiting his staff, but last week his foes carried the battle against him too far. Hightower, perhaps riding on a sympathy backlash, finally won one in the Legislature.

When House Agriculture chairman Bob Saunders, D-LaGrange, moved to dilute Hightower's power to regulate pesticide use, particularly his protection of stoop laborers in the Rio Grande Valley, he found himself not only up against the Mexican-American Caucus, but enough handfuls of conservatives from both parties to warrant surrender.

He abandoned his proposal which was backed by chemical lobbyists and the Texas Farm Bureau, two groups which Hightower angered earlier with his new, stringent pesticide regulations.

Abortion Foes Defeated
Also abandoned last week was the attempt to pass stricter abortion regulations. Abortion foes L. B. Kubiak, D-Rockdale, and Jan McKenna, R-Arlington, tried to build their measure into other legislation renewing the Texas Department of Health, but some key lawmakers threatened to filibuster.

The Speaker asked Kubiak and the others to retreat and avoid a confrontation that could lead to a special session this summer.

State Agency Axed

The Speaker called it right, too, as House members demonstrated when Bruce Gibson, D-

Cleburne, and some other anti-abortion foes tried to revive the Texas Health Facilities Commission by tying it to abortion regulations.

The controversial commission regulates who can build and expand hospitals and nursing homes, but House members voted 97-49 to axe it.

Even some pro-life lawmakers voted to dismantle the commission, including McKenna. House and Senate leaders pronounced it dead for this session.

Mauro Big Winner

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro came out a big winner this session, when the governor signed new law giving him added land management authority, not only over public school lands, but all other state-owned lands as well.

Mauro will have added powers to trade low-revenue state land for property bringing more money to public schools. His new responsibilities call for him to assess and make "best use" recommendations for land owned by other state agencies.

Mauro, a Democrat, owes much of his success to a quiet bipartisan effort headed by the bill's Republican sponsor, state Sen. John Leedom of Dallas.

Among the foremost thoughts to live by is our pride and good fortune in being American; that our country, founded by great men, is also developed and preserved by great men. And our rich heritage is accompanied by a responsibility to stand up for the principles that made the country great...morality, justice, freedom of opportunity and faithfulness to God.

A parting thought: "Be proud of your diplomas, set your goals high and keep pace as the goals rise."

More food for thought was presented in the valedictory message by Anita Meurer and the salutatory by Patricia Herr. They expressed the customary gratitude to parents, faculty and associates and looked forward to the future with good wishes and regrets at parting.

Principal Eddie Green presented the seniors to the Muenster School Board as qualified candidates for graduation and assisted Dolphy Joe Hellman, board president, in presenting the diplomas. Added ceremonies were the customary changes of rings and tassels by the class sponsors, Joni Sturm and Edgar Dyer.

Other presentations were trophies and scholarships to valedictorian and salutatorian plus scholarships to state and independent colleges and a perfect attendance certificate to Anita Meurer.

Also on the commencement program were Superintendent Charles Coffey introducing the speaker; Mrs. Ann Green at the piano for processional and recessional; Harold Bindel, school board vice-president in the invocation; and Dennis Hess, board secretary in the benediction.

MHS GRADUATION ceremonies were held last Friday evening in the High School auditorium. Above, left, George Hattfield, superintendent of schools in Purcell, Ok., gave the commencement address. ## Optometrists offer educational program to senior citizens

The Texas Optometric Association has developed a free educational program for senior citizen groups.

The "Seasoned Citizen" project consists of a series of slides followed by a question-and-answer session. Presented by a trained doctor of optometry, the program explains simply and graphically the changes that take place in our eyes as we mature.

It is available upon request to almost any group.

The slides show what the doctor sees when he looks into a patient's eyes, and the doctor explains what it means.

He shows how eye exams can be used for early detection of some potentially serious health problems, such as high blood pressure and diabetes, whose symptoms often show up in our eyes before they appear anywhere else.

The "Seasoned Citizens" program is planned to last about an hour, including the question-and-answer session. It was developed to give older adults a chance to ask an eye doctor about their changing vision.

For further information on this educational program, including scheduling a TOA member to give the program before your group, contact Eugene M. Hayes, Director of Public Information, Texas Optometric Association, 6201 Guadalupe, Austin, TX 78752, (512) 451-3588.

Dot approves $1,366,090 to Texas for elderly, handicapped transit aid

Urban Mass Transportation Administrator Ralph L. Stanley today announced that $1,366,090 is being made available to the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation to assist private nonprofit agencies in purchasing 109 vehicles, computer equipment, and radios, to provide transportation services to the elderly and handicapped.

Funding for the program is derived from the five cent increase in the federal fuel tax.

Grants to the states are made under Section 16(b) (2) of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, to assist private nonprofit corporations and associations in providing transportation services to help elderly and handicapped persons go to jobs, community and health services and other private and public facilities.

The Urban Mass Transportation Administration provides financial assistance to the nation's public transit systems, which operate buses, subways, trolleys, commuter trains and ferry boats.

For further information on the UMTA program, contact Regional Administration Wilbur E. Hare (817) 334-3787.

Westgate opens outpatient department

The opening of the Outpatient department at Westgate Medical Center exemplifies the trend of health care that focuses on the consumer.

This new department will serve as the centralized area for the coordination and scheduling of all outpatient medical services.

"The goal is to bring the services to the patient, instead of making the patient visit and wait in each outpatient waiting area," Executive Director Don Ciulla said.

With special designated parking for quicker and easier access to this area, patients will receive service in a timely manner.

This area will house outpatient registration for SINGLE DAY SURGERY, laboratory work, x-ray, physical therapy and some cardio-pulmonary services. It will also be the site for preadmission testing.

The Outpatient department will serve as the location for physician office small surgical procedures. Dr. Peggy J. Dyer, M.D. will perform some plastic surgery procedures in this area, and believes that it will provide a "unique type of outpatient surgery."

"The prices are not exorbitant, overnight hospitalization is usually not required, and yet a full back-up team is ready to assist if necessary," Dr. Dyer said.

Screening Clinics will be another important service that the Outpatient department will offer. Breast screenings, blood pressure checks and blood sugar screenings are a few of the screenings offered.

hospital and are taught by Darlene Miller, RN, and Shirley Endres, LVN.

"The sessions are on-going throughout the year and are held here in the hospital. We recommend them for any expectant parents," Walterscheid said.

Husbands are encouraged to be a vital part of the birth and post-natal experience. Husbands are given free reign to go and come or stay as they like while wife and baby are in the hospital.

However, Walterscheid noted that visitors are limited both in the labor room and during the recovery period for the good of both mother and baby.

"Our staff is fully trained and excited about our new infant radiant warmer," Walterscheid said. "It's something we have wanted for a long time. It will make all of our jobs easier and will enable us to provide better service to the community, and to deliver babies to the very best of our ability through our personnel and equipment."

Muller-Herr reunion draws 120 relatives

More than 120 relatives attended the annual Muller-Herr reunion held traditionally on the Sunday nearest Memorial Day.

The covered dish dinner and supper featured barbecued chicken, prepared by Pete Hellinger of Lindsay, on his portable trailer barbecue unit.

Several gifts were presented including one to the oldest person present, Theo Miller, age 89; and to the youngest, the infant twins of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Felderhoff; also a gift to the guest coming the greatest distance, the Steve Scherers of St. Louis.

Among relatives who were attending for the first time were Jim Herr and his wife Martha of Conway, Ark., who were accompanied by a son, Kevin, and a daughter, Mary Lynn, and her husband, Steve Scherer of St.

Louis. Jim Herr is a son of the late Leo Herr, a Muenster native whose parents, the John Herrs, Sr., were Muenster pioneers. They came with Adolph Herr of Arlington and his son, Dr. David Herr.

Others coming from a distance were Andy and Rosemary Stelzer of Post, Texas, here for Memorial Day and the reunion.

Three of the originators of the Muller-Herr reunion attended the Sunday celebration. They are Theo Miller, and Mrs. Katie Bernauer of Muenster and Mrs. Mary Schnitker of Pottsboro.

Picture taking, reminiscing, swimming and volleyball provided entertainment. Dinner and reunion headquarters were in the Pavilion of Muenster City Park.

New committee members are Irene Hartman, Sug Bindel and Cindy Gehrig, joining Mary Lamkin, Kathy Berres and Jean Greathouse.

Lupe Evans, district scout official, told the group about the Webelo and Cub Day Camp and Jean Greathouse told about events planned for the summer.

Walters family to visit hometown

John, Ancilla and Andrea Winters have returned to Fremont, California, after a ten-day visit with the Kneupper and Winters families and many friends in Gainesville, Lindsay and Muenster.

One of the many highlights of the visit was the baptism of Andrea Gloria Winters in St. Mary's Church during the noonday Mass celebrated by Father Nicholas Fuhrmann.

Baptismal sponsors were an uncle and aunt, Greg and Connie Kneupper, of Denton.

Andrea wore the christening dress worn by all the Kneupper children. The petticoat dates from about 1906 when great-grandmother Spaeth made it to use for all her children's and grandchildren's baptisms.

Andrea Gloria was born in San Jose, California, on Feb. 16, and joined the Winters family on Feb. 18, 1985.

Following her baptism, an "open house" was held in the home of the maternal grandparents, to honor the newest addition to the family and to welcome Andrea into the Kneupper family.

Library to sponsor story hour

A new story and activity hour for children, ages three to six, will begin on Tuesday, June 4, from 9 to 10 a.m. in the TP&L meeting room. It will continue for eight weeks, with one exception. No program will be held on Tuesday, June 25, to avoid conflict with Vacation Bible School.

The program will include film strips, stories, songs, little plays for the purpose of creating interest in reading and use of library facilities.

Children should be pre-registered, either by phone or at the Muenster Library.

Debbie Hess, chairman, 759-2890, and Mary Moster, librarian, 759-4291 or 2283, may be phoned for more information.

Six Flags Over Texas begins daily schedule

Six Flags Over Texas has begun daily operation for the summer months.

The Arlington theme park hosted more than a half million visitors during its weekend-only spring season which began in early March.

The park's general manager, Bob Bennett, said attendance was up nearly 15,000 persons over last spring's figures. He credited the strong showing to generally favorable weather conditions, introduction of Bugs Bunny and other Warner Bros. characters as park celebrities and the offering of a discounted ticket for small children.

A regular Six Flags one-day ticket is $14.95. This year children under 42 inches are being admitted for $7.95.

Forty-two inches is the minimum height requirement for some of the park's larger thrill rides.

Six Flags' summer season will extend through Labor Day. The park will then return to weekend-only operation for the fall season which will last through the end of November.

Memorial services held War victims honored

Deceased service men of the community were honored at memorial service Sunday in Sacred Heart Cemetery. The event, conducted by the Muenster VFW Post and Auxiliary, was headed by Andy Stelzer, Muenster native and past state commander of VFW, as the speaker.

He asked an attendance of some 250 persons to honor and be ever grateful to the unselfish heroes who fought not for personal gain but in defense of the ideals that had been adopted by their founding fathers more than 200 years ago.

He asked all to appreciate that these men gave their lives so that we can continue the American way of freedom, opportunity and peace. On our part, he added, it is proper to rededicate our lives to preserving the sacred principles.

He further stated that honors are also due to many, many survivors still present to remember their departed companions. They endured the same sacrifices and laid their lives on the line. They deserve to share in the nation's appreciation. As a fitting finale to the day's thoughts, he suggested the pledge of allegiance to the flag, the nation and Almighty God.

Father Denis Soerries participated with a blessing of the service men's graves and a prayer closing with the thought that the remembrance of those who died for our temporal welfare is offered in the name of Jesus who died for our eternal welfare.

The memorial ceremony opened with a procession from Sacred Heart Church after a Memorial Mass. It included Father Denis and Mass servers with the crucifix, also the VFW color guard and the honor guard headed by Art Bayer, Auxiliary officers with wreaths and first communion children with individual long-stem red carnations.

First stop at the cemetery was at the central monument (the crucifixion group) where Mrs. Charles Knabe laid a wreath and Father Denis led in prayer for all deceased of the community.

Next stop was the section of service men's graves where Mrs. Arthur Bayer and Mrs. Arnold Schilling presented wreaths at the monument and the children placed flowers on the graves, and on the graves of service men in other areas of the cemetery. Following the talk by Stelzer and blessing and prayer by Father Denis, the honor guard gave a three-volley rifle salute and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Weinzapfel ended the ceremony with taps.

Specially honored with corsages and boutonnieres were the community's gold-star parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bayer, Mrs. Theresa Moster and J.M. Weinzapfel.

WHERE OTHERS HAVE THEIR BRANCHES, WE HAVE OUR ROOTS.

Today's banking picture leaves a lot to be desired. The big financial networks have branches everywhere. The home office dictates policies for everyone... which means the real decision makers are often hundreds of miles away. While you're looking for personal service... big banks' employees are climbing the corporate ladder. Their main concern? Personal success.

At our Independent Bank things are different. We have our roots firmly planted in the community we serve. When you need to see a decision maker, you see a neighbor who's responsive to the local economic climate and has the responsibility for making your money work here... in our community.

If your bank gives you the feeling you're out on a limb... maybe it's time to bank the Independent Way.

Basketball camp offers fundamental skills

Area boys and girls have the opportunity for hands-on experience at a two-week basketball camp being sponsored by the alumni of Sacred Heart.

The camp, with special emphasis on shooting, offers two sessions: boys and girls camp June 3-7; and a special girls camp June 10-14.

Both camps will be held at Sacred Heart High School.

The primary purpose of the camp is to provide boys and girls the opportunity to attend a basketball camp at minimum expense and to improve their knowledge, skills, fundamentals and enthusiasm for the game.

The fee is $35. Enrollment is limited and will be guaranteed on a first-pay first-play basis.

The camp is open to all boys and girls presently in grades 3-12. Players who have played on a high school varsity team are ineligible, according to UIL rules.

Any student who is planning on attending Sacred Heart is eligible for camp.

Each session will run Monday through Friday, beginning at 8 a.m. and ending at noon.

The morning camp will allow all participants the opportunity to attend other summer endeavors.

The camp will emphasize the fundamentals which are required to be a good basketball player, with a special segment of the camp devoted to shooting.

All girls and boys will do drills together and will be grouped by ability in the playing of league games.

Parents are welcomed to come and observe daily instruction and games.

The staff will be under the direction of Coach Jon LeBrasseur, and other college players.

During each week session, a special college coach will attend the camp to lend insights and skills needed to compete on the collegiate level.

Special camp features include: video tape analysis, camp T-shirt, individualized instruction, "Let's Talk Basketball," and a self-improvement plan.

All participants are required to report the first Monday of each session at 8 a.m. Each day will end at noon.

Each day the athlete will be given the opportunity to improve his or her skills through a structured schedule of shooting, passing, ball-handling drills and station-work.

In addition to individual instruction, athletes will spend a portion of each day participating in group play where teamwork and leadership will be stressed.

VFW members honored at banquet

Two members of the Muenster VFW Post were specially honored at Sunday's Memorial Day banquet in the post home. Commander Virgil Hess presented a watch to Arthur Bayer for 32 years of service to the club, especially as leader of the honor guard at memorial services and other events.

The commander also presented a watch to Herbie Herr for his services, especially as quartermaster and frequently as a post representative.

Honored guests at the banquet were Muenster native and past state commander Andy Stelzer, and his wife Rosemary. Andy spoke at the memorial service earlier in the day.

He was extra complimentary to Art Bayer and the honor guard, saying they are the sharpest in the state. Members of the guard are Meinrad Yosten, Herbie Yosten, Dink Hudspeth, Bernard Hesse, Willie Fischer, Johnny Rohmer and Leo Becker.

CCC offers basic EMT qualification

Teaching life-saving skills is essentially what the paramedic training program at Cooke County College is all about, but it can also be a real "life saver" for graduates in terms of employment opportunity and job security.

"The need for immediate, high quality emergency medical care is one thing that isn't affected by fluctuations in the economy," said Laura Yeagan, director of CCC's Department of Paramedicine. "The demand for certified paramedics and emergency medical technicians (EMTs) is high and is likely to remain high for years to come."

"Qualifying for basic EMT certification could be just a few months away for those willing to invest only a summer's worth of their time in a special intensive training program we've set up," Yeagan explains. "It will earn 11 hours of college credit at an approximate cost of only about $180, not including books."

Successful completion of the coursework will allow students to take the EMT certifying exam.

As an added plus, it also is equivalent to the first semester of study required for CCC's two-year associate degree program in paramedicine.

Classes for the basic EMT program this summer will meet on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 6 to 10 p.m. on the Gainesville campus. In addition to the convenience of evening classes, students may choose either a Tuesday or Saturday for an all-day clinical session.

Any person who is a high school graduate or who holds GED certification and is at least 18 years old is eligible to apply for admission to the EMT training program this summer at CCC.

Because of the highly specialized nature of the training, however, some admission requirements beyond those for other courses are involved.

Convenience is the key

DI One Stop tops list of Muenster new business

By B. J. Fenton

Muenster's newest addition to the business world is the DI One Stop located at 308 Division Street on West Hwy 82.

The five-man business venture opened its doors April 19, and is managed by Tom Herr. Assistant manager is Ben Bindel.

The convenience store is open seven days a week from 6 a.m. until 11 p.m. And convenience is certainly what they deal in.

Located next door to a fast food restaurant, the Dairy Inn, and only yards away from a car wash, the newly established store offers not only Muenster smoked cheese, sausage, a variety of snacks, milk, bread, beer and wines, but also picnic supplies, Blue Bell ice cream and petro for the auto.

According to Bindel, with any $10 purchase of gas or items from the store, you get a free car wash.

Few businesses can truly offer what the DI One Stop has on hand, Bindel said. He explained that the idea for the DI One Stop came about as the result of a desire to have an establishment where the traveler or family could wash the car or gas it up while buying food and beverage supplies for the weekend trip, family picnic, or everyday use.

To have all those things available in one spot saves time and spells convenience, especially for the traveler who is not familiar with the town or the area, and who might otherwise have to make several stops instead of just one.

Bindel said Southland Distribution Center out of Tyler helped establish and stock DI One Stop. Southland is the major distributor for the 7-Eleven stores.

New Texas employment guide now available on the market

Texas managers and supervisors: how well can you do on this employment quiz?

- Can you legally discharge an employee who has filed a claim for Workers Compensation?

- Can you report an illegal alien to the Immigration and Naturalization Service for practicing in a union?

- Are employees and employers legally required to give notice of termination?

Answers to these questions and thousands more are available in the new second edition of "Employment in Texas: A Guide to Employment Practices and Regulations." (By the way, if you answered yes to any of the above, you may be in violation of regulations that govern working conditions in Texas.)

This new book spells out these regulations. Small employers who cannot justify the cost of a full-time personnel department will find this comprehensive guide an indispensable source of pertinent information. It is an excellent reference and concise reminder for medium- and large-sized companies.

This book incorporates a description of applicable laws and regulations, and illustrates how these affect the employer and employee. It omits verbose explanations of employment law, for easy access and understanding.

Chapters offer material on hiring, discrimination, and insurance. The book also includes chapters on union organizing, strikes, employee disability or death, and unemployment compensation.

("Employment in Texas: A Guide to Employment Practices and Regulations, 2nd Edition," 1985, 300 pages, index, 3-ring binder, ISBN 0-87201-248-4, $49.95 (U.S. and Canada). Export $59. Available in bookstores or directly from the publisher: Gulf Publishing Company, Book Division, Dept. B3, P.O. Box 2608, Houston, Texas 77001. Include $49.95 plus $2 transportation cost. Texas residents add 5.125% (Houston MTA residents 6.125%) sales tax.)

What our little community needs is a very nice restaurant - nothing elaborate, just new, neat and nice. Then the next need is someone with the stamina, desire to do it and the "stay with it" power to operate it. It wouldn't be a get-rich-quick endeavor, but one could make a living at it. That is the writer's "thought" for the week.

member of the Forestburg Homemakers Club. That organization sponsored a project and donated the money for the repair and upkeep of the cabin. The Forestburg Homemakers now have the responsibility of the log cabin given by Charles Wilson. More information may be obtained from Debra Dill.

County Agent's Report

Basic tractor safety outlined

Tractor safety is a serious matter, for violation of some basic operating rules could mean injury or even death.

All farm workers should be instructed in tractor safety when they first begin work and at least annually thereafter, says Dr. Gary S. Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Nelson offers these guidelines for tractor safety:

- Securely fasten seatbelts if the tractor has a roll-over protective structure.
- Where possible, avoid operating the tractor near ditches, embankments and holes.
- Reduce speed when turning and crossing slopes and on rough, slippery or muddy surfaces.

— Stay off slopes too steep for safe operation.

— Watch for dangers or obstacles, especially at row ends, on roads and around trees.

— Allow no extra riders.

— Operate the tractor smoothly — no jerky turns, starts or stops.

— Hitch equipment only to the drawbar and hitch point recommended by the tractor manufacturer.

— When the tractor is stopped, set brakes securely and use the park lock if available.

With farm activity in full swing across Texas, now is a good time for farm workers to be instructed in basic tractor safety, says Nelson.

The hay producer who believes a delay of a few days in cutting would be of little consequence in hay production should give the matter additional thought. Considerable feed value could be lost.

Research has shown that delaying harvest results in both protein and digestibility losses in the hay.

In southern perennial grasses, digestibility drops about 0.1 to 0.2 percentage units per day between four and eight weeks of age.

Costal bermudagrass has been shown to lose 25 percent of its crude protein by delaying cutting from the fourth week to the sixth week of growth. A further delay to the eighth week reduces crude protein an additional eight percent.

While producers can increase their total volume or number of bales of hay by delaying harvest until the sixth week of growth hay quality will suffer.

With bermudagrasses, there is little value in delaying harvest past six weeks of growth because dry matter yields do not increase after six weeks. Considering the loss of protein and digestibility, a maximum amount of quality hay can be produced by harvesting every four to five weeks.

While many factors affect maximum yield of digestible nutrients per acre, the most important factor is the stage of plant maturity at harvest. All forage plants, grasses, and legumes, become lower in protein, digestibility and acceptability to livestock as they progress from the vegetative stage to the reproductive stage of growth.

Cutting and baling hay while grass is in the vegetative stage preserves the hay's feed value while harvest delays result in feed value losses.

Attention farmers

Remember to look for wildlife when harvesting your crops

Don't forget wildlife when harvesting wheat and oats. Quail, pheasant, mourning dove, turkey, and other birds find food and cover in fields of small grains.

Strips of unharvested grain around field edges near brush or tall grasses provide excellent food for quail and turkey. Pheasant will use unharvested strips along terraces or around areas in the field that are too wet to cultivate. Mourning dove will feed on shattered seed where soils are shallow and the stand of grain is thin.

Even if the entire field is combined, these same areas can be left untilled until next planting season to benefit wildlife. Without tillage, waste grain is available to the birds and an 8-inch stubble provides suitable cover until it deteriorates. If an area in the field has a thin stand of wheat and a good stand of native sunflowers, save this area for dove hunting next September.

Do not burn the small grain stubble. Wildlife benefits are lost as well as organic matter; it also exposes the soil to erosion. The Upper Elm Red SWCD and U.S. Soil Conservation Service encourages soil protection through proper use of small grain residues.

Farm market opens in Gainesville

Good news for all you city folk getting hungry for the welcome taste of fresh, Texas grown fruits and vegetables! The Gainesville Produce Market, located in the old downtown market square, will open for 1985 on Saturday, June 1.

The market will sell locally grown produce and other products (including delicious home-raised frozen pork!) each Saturday from 8 a.m. until noon or sell-out. Market members may also open the market on additional days during the week, as produce is available - watch for opening notices!

Early produce, grown by Gainesville area residents, should include: beans, greens, onions, turnips, carrots, potatoes and perhaps some berries and early peaches.
