Council puts tighter control on Germanfest funds

City to hold gate percentage

If you didn't vote in the city council election you had a lot of company. Only 99 votes were cast as votes of confidence for returning councilmen Aubrey Tuggle and Claude Klement. Also elected and accepting the oath of office was Roy (Tiny) Endres, in his first term on the Muenster city council. After welcomes and very little ceremony, the council took up a long agenda for consideration and action.

Mayor Rich Grewing expressed his thanks and that of the council and the community to out-going councilman John Pagel for his 4 years of service to the city.

Gary Endres representing the Chamber of Commerce, addressed the council in discussion over the park use contract for Germanfest. A major area of disagreement was the handling of the yearly contribution to city park improvement made by the Chamber. The contribution consists of 5 percent of the gross gate receipts at the Germanfest, for example, amounting to $2,317.43 last year. The special fund has in the past been administered by the city park board, the Chamber and the Jaycees. It has funded all or part of such projects as sprinkler systems and swimming pool slides at the park. Citing inequities and poor reporting of the fund condition in the past, Mayor Grewing sought to bring the fund under tighter city control. He said, "The city has the ability and responsibility to use the fund as it sees fit." He also felt if the money is contributed to the city the city should control it. Gary Endres stated, "The question is, does the money belong to the city or the Chamber? The Chamber doesn't feel it belongs entirely to the city." Councilman Claude Klement said, "The money wasn't intended to be a rent as it now appears."

City Manager Joe Fenton clarified the matter referring to a past contract. "The funds should be paid to the city, to be administered by the city, the Chamber and the Jaycees. The questions are who should be on the signature card and who should recommend spending?"

Councilmen voted 3 to 2, that the city would be the sole administrator of the 5 percent of gate receipt donation. The council also refused to make a yearly report to the Chamber regarding the use of the funds and included all city parks in the acceptable use areas. A contract reflecting these terms was accepted and signed

Tuesday by the Chamber of Commerce.

In further action the council examined tax forms presented by chief appraiser Bill Sherman. The county will provide these at no charge. The council will study the offer.

The city audit was presented by the auditor reflecting a clean financial picture as of September 30, 1985. Tax billings were 97 percent paid and the cash balance is good considering over drafts of the previous year.

Gary Fisher addressed the council on behalf of Operation: Clean Sweep. He requested that the city adopt litter citation filings in accordance with state procedure and fine levels. Fisher also presented a model anti-littering ordinance for consideration. The council expressed thanks for his efforts and moved to draft a resolution supporting anti-litter efforts until the ordinance can be acted upon. Fisher asked for any available help for the next March Against Trash slated for Saturday, April 12, to begin at the Chamber of Commerce office at 115 E. First Street at 9 a.m.

Bids were opened for the water tower painting job. The two lowest bids, in the $5,500.00 to $6,500.00 range are being investigated by the city manager to assure adherence to specifications.

Rufus Henscheid reported that he had contacted most of the residents in the Southtown neighborhood requesting their financial assistance in paving Ash street and Eddy street from Highway 82 to FM 373. He stated that the county had agreed to do all labor and hauling and requested that the city consider contributing the gravel for the base wherever needed. The council admitted it was a good opportunity and directed the city manager to investigate.

Mayor pro-tem will be Ted Henscheid and Roy Endres will be street commissioner. These appointments complement the existing commissioners who remain the same.

Request for information on paving on East 7th street by Muenster ISD was read. A $2000.00 grant to Muenster Public Library was approved.

The council approved the park board, Chamber of Commerce and Jaycee request that the current balance of $2700.00 in the Germanfest gate fund for the city park be used to help pay for the new bridge being constructed in the park.

Chamber enters busiest month

Muenster Chamber of Commerce members heard a report on Operation: Clean Sweep at Tuesday's luncheon, giving the information about the March Against Trash and were informed of the next phase of the Operation, which is Clean Sweep II, the final clean up before Germanfest. April 12, 1986, at 9:00 a.m. in the Chamber office will be the kick off time for this clean up. Organizations will be paid 4 cents per pound for trash picked up on April 12 or April 19. The need for bodies to show up for this final round of cleaning was stressed.

Alvin Fuhrmann reported the bridge over Brushy Elm Creek is in place and thanked Joe Fenton for all his hard work in getting the bridge and work done. He also thanked Jack Flusche for the work he has done on the bridge. Precinct 4 and Rosalie Bayer were cited for the help in securing and placing the bridge.

Alvin told everyone the Myra Fire Department will be doing the clean up during and after Ger-manfest this year. He also asked that all mowing of roadsides and lots be done by the 19th of April so that the efforts of Clean Sweep II will be made easier.

Discount Tickets are on sale now at the Chamber of Commerce office. Anyone interested in purchasing these tickets need to come by the Chamber office and pick them up. They are priced at $1.75 if purchased in lots of less than 10 tickets, more than 10 tickets are $1.50 each. The Chamber office is open weekdays, 9-12 and 1-4.

Maudine Griffin reported on the East Texas Conference on Tourism that she and Monica Hess attended in March. The second largest industry in Texas is tourism, bringing into our state last year $14.5 billion in revenue. Texas is the number three state in preference of destination. There were 3.2 million visitors to the Texas Tourist Bureaus located at the twelve major ports of entry to the state. She stated the main emphasis of the conference was the Visitor. Any visitor to our town should feel we are glad they are in our town.

Monica Hess thanked Alvin Fuhrmann for the Chamber Newsletter this month, also carried on page 2 as a letter to the editor. She also stated that the billboards are being painted at this time and will be complete before Germanfest.

Method outlined to adopt a highway

This plan was a brainchild of the "Tyler" district manager, and was so popular and had such great success that the Highway Department in Austin took interest and made the program a "Texas Wide" effort.

Muenster has made formal notice with the Highway Department of intent to participate in the program. The Highway Department has acknowledged the request and given preliminary requirements and offers of help.

Muenster organizations should make a decision if the club or group is interested in adopting any area roadways. The roadways which will be selected by the groups will then be approved by the Department. A sign will be erected which notes the group's name who is adopting the section. The primary sections are the 4 major roadways entering Muenster. These are North and South Hwy. 373, East and West Hwy. 82. A section is usually 2 miles long with at least two general cleanups during the year. The department will assist in both safety and cleanup help.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

When the thousands of visitors come to Muenster at the end of this month we want them to leave with a good impression of our town. The success of our Germanfest cannot be measured by how much money was made the three days of the Fest alone but on the lasting impression that we make. This will pay us more dividends for years to come than the Germanfest itself. We want them to think of Muenster when they want to start a new business, build a new home and retire, or just a ride in the country to buy some of that good food and meet the friendly people they met during Germanfest.

First it is a good time of the year to clean up the town. It's spring, and it will be clean for most of the summer. We are proud of it, and we want to show off, our curbed and paved streets -- freshly mowed lawns -- flowers in bloom. Spring is in the air, and our visitors first chance to get out after the dreary winter days.

We want them to feel that we are a great place to shop. It would be short sighted on our part to inflate our prices to make a few extra bucks during Germanfest and make our visitors feel that our goods and services are too expensive to come back and trade. Especially you that are selling under your regular business name. If your prices are high at Germanfest and you do not give courteous service, this will reflect not only on the whole town, but especially your business.

We want all who come in contact with our visitors to be friendly. One discourteous person can cause that visitor never to come back to Muenster.

It is estimated that our visitors will spend close to $150,000 in Muenster the Germanfest weekend. There is not a single person in Muenster that will not benefit some way even though it may not ring your cash register that weekend. It is said that new money coming into a community will turn over 9 times. This will be the equivalent of almost a million and a half dollars in spending power for our town. An organization or individual receives money, they in turn spend the money in Hofbauers or Fishers, they in turn go to Rohmers or the Center for lunch, Stan buys a new tire from Knabe Tire Company, Herbie Knabe buys an auto part from Hennigan Auto Parts, Pat needs gas for his car, etc., etc., Each time the money is spent, the city of Muenster receives 1 percent in city sales tax.

You do not have to be in business to benefit from Germanfest. The profit made by a school group or organization may make it unnecessary for them to come by and be asking for donations. The K.C.s, Chamber, Jaycees, Kiwanis spend profits on the fire department, ambulance service, baseball lights, improvement in the park.

Every business in town relies on out of town trade to stay in business. I do not know of a local business that could survive with just Muenster trade. Our restaurants, grocery stores, auto parts, Ben Franklin store, oil field supply, bull dozers, oil field drilling, car dealers, gasoline stations, etc., etc., yes, also the telephone company.

When the visitors come to town during our Germanfest, let's show them that we appreciate their coming, and that we want them back again, for a visit, a week, a month or a lifetime.

Hance opposes new private school regs

Kent Hance, Republican candidate for Governor, announced today that he will organize and lead a statewide drive to prevent the State Board of Education from passing new regulations which place private schools under state authority for the first time and impose unneeded restrictions that border on violation of individual rights.

"I believe that people should have a choice," Hance said. "I believe in strong public schools, strong private schools and strong home schools. The goal is to achieve quality education and to allow parents the freedom to choose their children's schools."

Hance also said that the new regulations are too restrictive and could lead to small private schools facing closure and would put unrealistic restrictions on home schools.

The Board of Education, appointed and doing the bidding of Gov. Mark White wants to sweep down for the first time to impose state regulation on thousands of students in hundreds of private schools all over the state.

Hance also cited the fact that the State Board of Education has no rulemaking authority under the Education Code relating to truancy, which is covered in the new regulations.

Under current law, Hance said, general rulemaking authority for accreditation applies only to public schools, and therefore, any rule promulgated for a non-public school stands to be invalidated under the Texas Administrative Procedures Act.

"I seriously question whether the authority to make or enforce these regulations," Hance said. "I don't understand why Governor White has allowed this sort of procedure to continue when the rights of so many Texas parents and students are about to be violated."

Hance said that one possible result, in an extreme case, is that under the new rules, the state could remove a child from the home of the parents who are in non-compliance with the regulation. Violation of the rules gives the state the authority to place those children in foster homes or even in juvenile detention centers should the parents continue to resist.

Tax valuations dramatically affected by oil price drop

Richard C. Hudson, chairman of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, today expressed his concern about the valuation of oil and gas properties by local jurisdictions in light of the dramatic drop in crude oil and natural gas prices.

"These dramatic declines in oil and gas prices are unprecedented in the last 50 years that the Texas oil and gas industry has been supporting our state and local governments through severance taxes and local property taxes." Hudson said. "This economic condition was recognized by the State Comptroller in May of 1985, almost a year ago, when he gave his estimate for revenues for the current biennium, and there have been other factors that have heralded this dramatic event."

Never before history has the oil and gas industry experienced such an economic downturn. Drilling operations and the workover of older wells have been curtailed or in many instances abandoned. Oil and gas exploration projects are being postponed or totally scrapped as companies restructure their organizations to survive.

"The property tax law provides that valuations be on a fair market value," said Hudson. He urged that "local taxing jurisdictions make their valuations based on market conditions that have existed for well over a year and currently exist in the values of oil and gas."

Hudson stressed that "in areas where major oil and gas properties are located, government officials must seriously consider drastic

SELLING FED ELECTRA

By Edwin Feulner

Though it was never the federal government's intention to compete with Pacific Gas and Electric and other public utilities, the feds currently are generating and selling electricity in twenty-six states.

The government owns five power-generating facilities, called power marketing administrations (PMAs): the Bonneville, Southwestern, South-eastern, Alaska, and Western area power administrations. Along with the 53-year-old Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), Big Brother Electra operated 174 plants in 1984, providing nearly 10 percent of America's entire electric power.

The Reagan administration wants to get the government out of the electric business, which it shouldn't have gotten into in the first place, and has suggested in its fiscal 1987 budget selling the PMAs. The administration is getting some powerful grassroots support from Citizens for a Sound Economy, a quarter-million-strong citizens lobby, but is facing an equally powerful backlash from business and consumer groups in the five PMA regions.

The administration's budget plan leaves much to the imagination. Philosophically it is sound; it is patently unfair, the argument goes, for U.S. taxpayers in towns and cities not served by the PMAs—places such as Lynn, Mass., Duluth, Minn., and Wheeling, W. Va.—to be subsidizing commercial and residential customers of the PMAs.

But winning the philosophical battle doesn't explain how the administration is going to get the thousands of people who are benefitting from the cheap electric power to give up their freebies. And without such a game plan, the proposal is as good as dead.

Now to the rescue comes Milton R. Copulos. You might remember the foolish Copulos from several years ago when President Carter and many of the country's allegedly "most knowledgeable" energy experts were wringing their hands over the OPEC oil cartel. While they were saying "woe unto us" and predicting $50-a-barrel oil, silly Copulos was saying "All we have to do is decontrol energy prices and the OPEC cartel will fall apart." He predicted oil prices would eventually plummet well below $20-a-barrel. And he predicted a potential oil glut. We did (decontrol); they did (fall apart); and it did (the recent closing price of oil on the spot market was around $12-a-barrel).

The thing about Copulos is that he understands the way the world works. And that's the beauty of his plan for selling the PMAs.

Don't put the PMAs on the auction block, where only a handful of big companies could afford to snap them up, he argues. Instead, he says, sell them to the public through stock offerings. And in order to win the backing of the people who now benefit from the subsidized electricity the PMAs sell, give employees and customers of the PMAs special discounts on the stock.

My distinguished conservative colleague, James J. Kilpatrick, has called the idea of "privatizing" the PMAs a bit far-fetched. But there is nothing far-fetched about it if the government uses the kind of plan offered by Copulos.

First, the Copulos plan offers instant gratification, and would bring into the U.S. Treasury an estimated $60 billion or more in revenue from the sale of stock. If the government sold the power-generating assets of the TVA as well, the figure could approach $100 billion.

Second, the Copulos plan is realistic. Politics, it is said, is the art of the possible. The Copulos plan was not designed by a day-dreamer, but by a seasoned political pro with deep roots in Maryland's populist Democrat tradition. It is a people plan; the people most affected by the sale of the PMAs would be the people who would benefit the most from the sale.

It is also a plan that has been tested—by Margaret Thatcher in Great Britain, who used exactly this strategy to "privatize" Britain's phone company, British Telecom, and other nationalized companies and industries.

Selling the PMAs would be a good way to test the British privatization model in the U.S. It would also be a good way to see just how serious Congress is about cutting the deficit.

Learning Center holds open house April 4

The Young Children's Learning Center and Sacred Heart Pre-School held open house on Friday, April 4 in celebration of the National Week of the Young Child.

A special liturgy at the 8 a.m. Mass, officiated by Father Victor Gillespie, was in memory of the late Lee Toothaker, the former adopted grandfather of the students. The theme was "Today's Children-Tomorrow's Destiny," also the Learning Center motto.

Sandra Walterscheid gave the welcome. Donna Fuhrmann and her sister Michelle gave the first reading. Laura and Anne Flusche led the responsorial psalm. John and Matthew Nasche led prayers of the faithful.

Presentation of Offertory gifts was made by Patsy Bayer and Dee Walterscheid, Christy Yosten and Kayla Felderhoff, Le Ann Mollenkopf and Amanda Mollenkopf, and Loretta Felderhoff and Deann Felderhoff. Lydia Walterscheid read a closing meditation from one of Maria Montessori's writings.

Organ accompaniment and songs were given by Ruth Felderhoff and Eileen Fisher, who were thanked for sharing their musical talents.

More than 150 guests visited the new facility during the open house. Children demonstrated work for admiring parents and grandparents and guests. Those who missed open house are welcome to come and visit.

Drawings held during the day gave prizes to Allison Bayer book; Lupe Evans-tote bag; Jesse Luke-book; Sister Carmelita Meyers-tote bag; Michelle Fuhrmann-tote bag; Sandra Fuhrmann-gift certificate; Barbara Felderhoff-tote bag; Jeanne Flusche-valise; Patti Bayer-gift certificate; Rebecca Harris-tote bag; Eric Fisher-Book; Juanita Knabe-tote bag.

Parents of the children provided refreshments and assisted the staff with hostess duties. Floral arrangements enhancing the celebration were gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Droll, Muenster Building Center, Bouquets and Gifts and Dustin's Office Supply.

Staff members are Patsy Bayer, LeAnn Mollenkopf, Christy Yosten, Mary Whittington and Loretta Felderhoff. Also Patti Bayer helps with music lessons.

Applications are now being accepted for next year's enrollment. There will be a choice available for all day, morning or afternoon sessions. Children are taken on a first come - first served basis. Applications are available at the Learning Center office.

CCC offers scholarships

Through a special scholarship program, teachers at Cooke County College are showing students that good grades really can "pay off" -- literally.

According to Ann Waggoman of the CCC faculty, they can in fact be worth up to $175 in cash per semester. The Cooke County College Faculty Association (CCFA) scholarships in that amount may be applied toward tuition and fees, books, supplies or other related educational expenses.

Ms. Waggoman, English instructor and chairperson of the CCCFA scholarship committee, says eligibility for the awards is extended to current high school seniors considering enrollment at Cooke County College, as well as to currently enrolled CCC students and students at other colleges who may wish to transfer.

To qualify for the scholarship, applicants still in high school should rank in the top 20 percent of their class academically and should have at least a strong "B" average. College applicants must have a grade point average of at least 3.0.

CCC presents musical

The unparalleled genius of Richard Rodgers, master of American musical theater, will be showcased by the Cooke County College Departments of Music and Drama here April 10-12.

"I Remember Mama," Rodgers' last Broadway musical, is scheduled for four performances on stage in the newly renovated Little Theater in the CCC Student Center.

Curtain Time for the Thursday, Friday and Saturday evening shows is 7:30 p.m., and there will be a special 2:30 p.m. matinee on Saturday, April 12. Tickets are on sale in the CCC Bookstore at $2 each and should be purchased in advance since seating is limited.

"We're excited about this show for a number of reasons," says Glenn Wilson, musical director. "First, of course, there's our new facility. Second, we're 'resurrecting' the annual spring musical that's been such a popular tradition here at the college in past years.

"Third, and most important for our audience, we've got a great cast and one heck of an entertaining show that truly, the whole family will enjoy."

WITH AVERAGE BILLING, YOUR ELECTRIC BILL WILL BE ABOUT THE SAME EACH MONTH.

Everyone knows electric bills go up and down throughout the year. Some months they're low. Some months they're higher, depending on how much electricity you use.

But for most of us there aren't any highs and lows in our monthly income. It's pretty much the same from month to month. So, balancing the monthly budget can be a problem.

Well, Texas Power and Light Company has an answer. It's the Average Billing Plan. And each month after you join, you'll pay an average of your monthly electric bills over the past twelve months. No more ups and downs.

Of course, you're still paying for all the electricity you use. But with average billing, your electric bills will be about the same each month. So budgeting will be that much easier.

If you want to know more about our Average Billing Plan, call your local TP&L office today.

CCC holds secretarial workshop

Organizers of Cooke County College's "Secretarial Workshop '86" are billing this year's program as "the very best yet."

Sponsored annually by CCC's Supportive Staff Association (CCSSA) and Divisions of Business Administration and Continuing Education, the workshop will be conducted April 16 (Wednesday) from 11 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Estelle Wood, CCSSA president, reports that the workshop is designed for any person who has a secretarial-clerical type job, including those who may have job titles such as administrative assistant, office manager, bookkeeper, clerk-typist and so on.

"Here at CCC, our individual job descriptions and titles vary so widely," Wood says, "that we refer to ourselves collectively as 'supportive staff.' But basically our day-to-day tasks are very similar and require many of the same types of skills."

Wood stresses, however, that this year's program is not so much aimed at the secretary as an employee as it is at the person inside the employee.

"While there will be practical, job-related information, there will also be ideas for improving interpersonal relationships and communications skills, some unique fashion and grooming tips and some neat 'just-for-the-fun-of-it stuff' as well."

Cost of participation in this year's workshop will be $15 per person. This includes the registration fee, a special salad luncheon and afternoon refreshments. Participants' bosses are not invited to the luncheon this year.

"Speaking of bosses," Wood says, "I'd like to remind them that the week beginning April 21 is 'National Secretaries Week' to be highlighted by a special 'National Secretaries Day' on Wednesday, April 23.

"We're suggesting that bosses give their secretaries an early gift of appreciation by treating them to this workshop. Both the employer and employee will benefit."

Wood points out that space will be somewhat limited, so interested persons should sign up as soon as possible. Registration forms are available in the office of the CCC Division of Continuing Education in Room 107 on campus. For more information, call Wood at 668-7731, Ext. 264, or the Continuing Education office at the same number, Ext. 223.

Posing for this portrait was a special fun time for Brenda and Franklin Leon, who spent an exciting vacation for three weeks in Holland, France and Spain. The picture is the proud possession of her parents, Carl and Pat Walterscheid.

Leons spend three weeks in Europe

Brenda Leon has sent glowing accounts to her parents, the Carl Walterscheids, of a trip she and her husband, Franklin Leon made to Amsterdam, Paris, and Madrid, spending three weeks in Europe on an exciting business and pleasure trip.

The Leons are residents of Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, where Franklin is Brand Manager of Heineken Beer. Invited to a training program in Amsterdam, Holland, he became familiar with the handling of Heineken in Europe and visited the huge brewery where Heineken is brewed for export to the whole world.

While Franklin was busy in the office, Brenda had time for sight-seeing and shopping. She visited the Royal Palace which dates back to the 17th century, and is still in use today for very special occasions. She also visited the Nieuwe Kerk, a church where Dutch kings and queens have taken the royal oath, and have been crowned since 1814.

An interesting, historic visit was made to the famous Anne Frank House, where, during WWII Anne Frank and her family hid from the Nazis for two years.

Together, the Leons visited one of the many diamond-cutting factories, and also the Rijks Museum National Museum where they viewed famous paintings of El Greco and Rembrandt and other artists.

From Amsterdam they went to Paris, visited the Arc de Triomphe de L'Etoile, climbed its spiral staircase of 210 steep steps to the top. They also went to the top of the Eiffel tower. "The view was incredible," said the Leons.

A most fascinating sight was the Cathedral of Notre Dame. There they saw beautiful gold chalices, gold and ivory crosses inlaid with diamonds, rubies and emeralds; also a collection of Bibles dating as far back as the 1500s; also beautiful statues of the Virgin Mary and other saints of the 1600s to 1800s. They enjoyed an exhibit of elegant gowns worn by Marie Antoinette.

After spending time in Paris, Franklin and Brenda Leon went to Madrid, where finally there was no language barrier for them. They visited the Museum of Prado, viewing great paintings of Rembrandt, Murillo, Velasquez, and El Greco; also a copy of da Vinci's Mona Lisa.

In the Royal Palace of Spain, they saw rooms with "breathtakingly beautiful" chandeliers, famous paintings, rugs, a collection of over 600 clocks, and even the thrones from kings and queens of the past. Almost everything in the Royal Palace was in its original 17th century form.

The Leons experienced the cold European climate, usually around 30 to 32 degrees F., particularly noticeable, since in Santo Domingo, winter night temperatures are usually 65 degrees. They encountered snow at four different locations.

Describing everyday events, Brenda Leon said, "Never before have we had such delicious foods and wines. Europeans like full five course meals... We tried ox, found it to be very good -- also pheasant, lamb, veal and alltypes of seafood ... desserts were "out of this world", especially the chocolate mousse."

In the three European cities they found three very different ways of life, Brenda related, explaining that the Dutch were the friendliest, the French proud and possessive of their culture, and the Spaniards very kind and generous. In summing up their three weeks in Europe, Brenda and Franklin Leon said "We enjoyed our trip very much -- every minute of it but we must add that 'there's no place like home.'"

Christina Weinzapfel is baptized

Christina Julia Weinzapfel, infant daughter of Ronnie and Tina Weinzapfel was baptized by Father Denis Soerries and assisted by Father Victor Gillispie during the Easter Vigil Mass Saturday, March 29, 1986 in Sacred Heart Church.

Christina Julia was wearing a new baptismal gown, a gift from her parents. She also wore a diamond cross necklace, a gift from her Godmother, and a ring, a gift from grandparents, George and Leoba Mollenkopf. For the white garment she used a white embroidered handkerchief carried by her mother on her wedding day. The handkerchief was a gift to Tina from the late great-grandmother, Julia Christina Weinzapfel. Also used in the ceremony was a white crocheted blanket made by grandmother Leoba Mollenkopf, and a shawl, hand made by the late great-grandmother, Mrs. Gus (Anda) Hellman and used by all generations.

A reception followed in the George Mollenkopf home. A decorated christening cake was served and also a birthday cake for great-grandmother Elizabeth Mollenkopf.

Special guests were grandparents George and Leoba Mollenkopf and Henry and Janie Weinzapfel; great-grandparents J. M. Weinzapfel, Elizabeth Mollenkopf and Dora Henscheid; Godparents, uncles and aunts.

Editor's Note:
The CCD news and reports of liturgies prepared by students and teachers were submitted at the proper times each week, but printing was delayed by unusual problems caused by illness, lack of time, and short-handed operation. In fairness to the teachers and students, we apologize and ask them to bear with us.

Eighth graders taught by CCD teachers, John Walterscheid and Jerry Walterscheid prepared a special liturgy for a recent Wednesday evening Mass.

Father Denis Soerries was the celebrant and Rodney Vogel, Jerry Brawner and Ryan Sicking were Mass servers.

Jenny Wimmer gave the first reading and Jan Fleitman followed with the responsorial psalm.

Prayers of the faithful were led by Joe Paul Walterscheid, Aletha Brawner, Jeff Hellman, Joe Weinzapfel and Scott Vogel.

Offertory gifts were presented at the altar by Jeff Hellman, Aletha Brawner and Joe Weinzapfel.

Christi Klement, Dianne Grewing, Denis Bayer and Melissa Bayer assisted with guitar accompaniment and songs.

The CCD class for the tenth grade, taught by Marilyn and Kenneth Bierschenk prepared a special liturgy to commemorate the thirteenth anniversary of the Supreme Court decision that resulted in legalized abortion. Theme of the liturgy was "Children Are A Gift of The Lord."

The narrator was Staci Walterscheid, and in the entrance procession, Michelle Monday carried the Pro-Life symbol, a red rose to present at the altar.

Father Denis Soerries was celebrant of the Mass and Randy Fleitman, Ronnie Walterscheid, Brian Hess, Pat Hellman and Kevin Anderle were Mass servers.

Danna Hamric gave the first reading and Darla Bindel gave the responsorial psalm. Melody Klement and Jamie Walterscheid led prayers of the faithful, and Peachy Switzer, Donna Walterscheid, Alan Hudspeth and David Fleitman presented Offertory gifts at the altar.

Song leaders and accompanists were Christi Klement, Dianne Grewing, Melissa and Denise Bayer and Dana Dankesreiter.

The Ash Wednesday liturgy was prepared by the ninth grade CCD class taught by Jeanette and Johnny Reiter.

Father Victor Gillespie celebrated the Mass opening the season of Lent, and Mike Pagel, Weldon Hermes and Ricky Walterscheid were the Mass servers.

Keith Klement, J. Shane Wimmer and Kim Hess gave the readings and responsorial psalms; and Denise Bayer, Murlin Evans, Jennifer Bayer, Tara Walterscheid and Rhonda Stewart led prayers of the faithful. Jeff Walterscheid, Lisa Hamric and Deanna Bierschenk carried the Offertory gifts.

Eileen Fisher and Ruth Felderhoff led songs with organ accompaniment.

A special liturgy in memory of their classmate, Steven Wimmer, was prepared for the Wednesday evening CCD Mass on Jan. 8, by the eleventh grade taught by Doris Klement.

In addition to Father Denis Soerries, celebrant, and Mass servers Troy Pagel, Justin Hartman, Michael Hacker and Coy Fisher, liturgical participants were Tracey Walterscheid, Shawn Flusche, Gary Grewing, Ronnye Bayer, Laura Hess, Joe Pagel, Damie Hellman, Sam Fleitman, Rhonda Bayer, Judy Biffle, Kristi Pagel and Rhonda Trubenbach, all former classmates of Steven Wimmer.

Song leaders were Dianne Grewing, Christi Klement, Dana Dankesreiter, Denise and Melissa Bayer.

The seventh grade CCD class taught by Dorothy Fleitman and Paula Fleitman, used a special altar banner made for the occasion.

Parish members attending the Mass with the students joined them in a surprise greeting for Father Victor Gillespie, singing "Have I Told You Lately That We Love You?", immediately following the entrance procession.

Father Victor was celebrant and servers were Maurus Hacker, Rex Huchton, Charles Hermes and Albert Knabe.

Scott Hudspeth gave the readings and Raymond Stewart and Brian Reiter led prayers of the faithful.

Offertory gifts included a shamrock carried by Marcia Vogel; a Bible carried by Jennifer Bayer; letters of admiration and love written by all CCD students carried by Kim Anderle; a special Christmas gift carried by Brandon Walterscheid; and the bread and wine carried by Amy Hoenig and Mindy Graham.

The meditation song was "Wherever You Go" led by Eileen Fisher, with the entire parish joining hands. Ruth Felderhoff accompanied on the organ.

21st Cooke County art show coming soon

A local tradition is set to enter its third decade with the approach of this year's twenty-first annual Cooke County Art Show.

Sponsored by the Cooke County College Art Department, the show will run April 24-25 and 27 in the newly renovated CCC Student Center.

"The most important message we want to spread about the show right now is that only a few short weeks remain before the one day on which entries will be accepted," says Mary Frances VanPelt, CCC art instructor who is coordinating the exhibition.

"That day is Monday, April 21, she stresses, "so I urge all artists with works in progress who plan to enter to stay busy so they'll have them ready in time."

Those works may be oil, watercolor or acrylic paintings; graphic prints or drawings; original crafts such as ceramics, fibers, jewelry and wood carving; sculpture and mixed media; and both black and white and color photography.

"There will be cash awards for top entries as well as purchase awards," says Mrs. VanPelt. "Artists also are allowed to offer works on exhibit in the show for sale to the general public. In addition, ribbons and certificates will be given in each media category of each division."

Divisions of competition, she explains, include the non-student General Division open to all interested persons and a Public School Division with separate judging for elementary, middle and high school entries. As always, there will also be a special College Division exclusively for currently enrolled students of CCC.

Anyone wishing to add to the fund may send a donation to the Young Children's Learning Center, Box 559, Muenster, Texas 76252, marked for the Lee Toothaker Memorial Fund.

Civil War returns to Gainesville

On Saturday and Sunday, April 19 and 20, Civil War days will briefly return to Gainesville, Texas. A group of Civil War Reenactors will descend upon Gainesville and relive some of our past heritage. Gainesville, during the Civil War, was the site of the "Great Hanging" in October 1862 in which 42 men were executed. In addition, during the war Gainesville was subject to numerous Indian and Guerrilla attacks, as well as serving as a staging area for expeditions to take forts in the Indian Territory.

The premise for the event is: What would have happened if Union Troops did attempt an invasion of Texas for the hangings at Gainesville? The event will include a major pitched battle each day, skirmishes, scenes of camp and army life, and an opportunity to talk with the participants. All the participants will be dressed in authentic costumes of their era and all of their equipment will be authentic reproductions of Civil War weapons and accouterments.

The event is sponsored by the Cooke County Heritage Society, 210 S. Dixon, P.O. Box 150, Gainesville, Texas 76240, 817-668-8900. The activities will take place on the grounds of the Cooke County College, Highway 51 West in Gainesville. Admission is $2.50 for adults, $1.00 for children 6-17 years, under 6 free. Tickets may be purchased from the Cooke County Heritage Society or at the gate the day of the event.

For further information contact Richard A. Kastl, Director, Cooke County Heritage Society.

On Saturday, the camp is open to public at 10 a.m. and the Skirmish begins at 11 a.m. From 2-3 p.m. the "Raid on Gainesville" is presented. On Sunday, the camp is again open at 10 a.m. and at 10:30 the Civil War Chaplains service is held for participants and visitors. Again the "Raid on Gainesville" will be held from 2-3 p.m.

As mentioned in the Muenster Paper last week -- Perryman and I have moved into our new house along the Saint Jo Highway just out of the Burg. Perryman corrected me on the distance it is from the Burg -- tis only about 1/4 mile to our place and I do stand corrected. Our first "outside" visitor was Walter Kuykendall Sat., April 5. And our first real "inside" visitor were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Scott and Tim Sunday evening. We enjoyed and appreciated their visit very much.

Perryman and I want to express our very deep appreciation to Debra Dill for the delicious food she brought us for our supper on the day of our BIG move -- Mon., March 31. Believe me, Debra's kindness and thoughtfulness will never be forgotten!

If YOUR news doesn't and didn't appear in this column -- 'tis your fault, not mine. Call it in to me as it happens -- and then it will appear. I do wish to thank those of you that do call in your news items to me. It is much appreciated.

AMPI salutes passage of new legislation

"Reduction of dairy farmer income by at least $300 million over the next six months has been prevented with Congressional approval of legislation providing a fair means to meet the requirements of the new Gramm-Rudman budget balancing law."

This is how Irvin Elkin, President of AMPI, responded to the recent Congressional passage of a package of technical improvements to the 1985 Farm Bill that includes a measure to achieve savings mandated by the Gramm-Rudman law through an assessment on all milk marketed.

Prior to Congressional action, USDA had announced it would implement the required cuts by a 4.3 percent reduction in the prices paid for cheese, butter and nonfat dry milk by CCC. The net impact of this action would have lowered farm milk prices by about 55 cents/hundredweight, resulting in at least a $300 million cut in dairy farmer income.

AMPI worked successfully for the passage of the legislation which prevents reductions in farm milk prices and instead generates the $80 million savings called for by Gramm-Rudman through an additional assessment on dairy farmers April 1 to September 30, 1986 of up to 12 cents/hundredweight.

"Enactment of the bill is in the interest of dairy farmers and taxpayers alike," declared Elkin, a dairy farmer from Amery, Wisconsin. "It will generate the savings called for by Gramm-Rudman, while providing much-needed protection to dairy farmer income."

"The legislation we supported was not an attempt to evade Gramm-Rudman, but rather an effort to raise the required funds in a more responsible and effective way," explained Elkin. "The assessment is an equitable and certain means of raising Gramm-Rudman funds. The method initially proposed by USDA would punish dairy farmers while serving no constructive purpose."

From October 1980 through 1985, there were three milk price support cuts totaling $1.50/hundredweight. During this time, farm milk prices have dropped seven percent, while farmers' costs increased 15 percent. The Gramm-Rudman law threatens to drop farm milk prices much lower.

"This is the latest in a series of dairy farmer supported efforts to reduce Federal government costs. In 1984, the Milk Diversion Program which was virtually totally financed by dairy farmers, reduced government spending by over $1 billion," concluded Elkin. "Dairy farmers are doing their share and then some in tackling the big job of getting the Federal deficit under control."

Ultrasound May Improve Cattle Breeding Techniques

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Animal breeding techniques can be greatly improved by use of high frequency sound waves, called ultrasound, according to Dr. David Forrest, animal scientist engaged in reproduction research with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"Results of ultrasound research are expected to provide methods to improve artificial insemination," Forrest says, "and to detect abnormal (cystic) ovarian structures in cows with ovulation failure."

"Ultrasound may also be useful in embryo transfer programs, to improve efficiency of superovulation, and to aid in selection of recipient cows for optimum pregnancy rates."

"We also expect to use this equipment to identify cows that will be most responsive to hormonal synchronization of ovulation."

The value of ultrasound has been recognized and used for more than a decade in human reproductive medicine. And in recent years, it has proved valuable on horse breeding farms; horses are notorious for reproductive difficulties.

Other uses with domestic animals have included early pregnancy determination in cattle, horses, and swine. Forrest says it's now possible to verify pregnancy as early as 28 days in cattle, 14 days in swine, and 12 days in horses.

For those not familiar with some of today's current techniques in animal breeding, Forrest explains that for a variety of reasons in artificial insemination, for example, it is desirable to induce all animals to come in heat within a very short period of time. Hormone injections make this possible and practical.

"Non-surgical embryo transplant procedures, combined with superovulation, make it possible to greatly speed up the reproduction of extremely valuable animals.

Hormone injections can cause a valuable cow's ovaries to release many ova (eggs) instead of the one or a few she would shed naturally. These can be fertilized artificially and, after a week or so, flushed from the cows reproduction system.

Each tiny embryo can then be placed in a less-valuable surrogate mother to nurture and carry to birth. Even the surrogate mother's receptiveness can be determined by ultrasound, thus improving chances for the transplanted embryo.

The equipment used in this research is still too expensive, Forrest says, for most individual producers to purchase, but in the future, as research continues to develop additional techniques, it is expected that this type equipment will be used by embryo transfer facilities, commercial breeding enterprises, and veterinarians heavily involved in artificial insemination or embryo transplants.

Users of this equipment require training in its use and interpretation of what it shows. However, Forrest says, a technician can be trained in a relatively short period of time.

Use of this equipment is expected to become widespread fairly quickly because it greatly improves efficiency and will ultimately cut costs.
