Jaycees name Felderhoff '88 Outstanding Citizen

The Muenster Jaycee chapter held its annual banquet and awards program, installation of officers and presentation of the "Outstanding Citizen Award" for 1988 on Saturday, June 18, in the Sacred Heart Community Center at 7 p.m.

Alphonse Felderhoff was named "Outstanding Citizen of Muenster for 1988". The presentation was made by Jim Endres, past president and master of ceremonies.

In his presentation, Endres related that the award winner was born on Aug. 13, 1922, one of twelve children of Mr. and Mrs. John Felderhoff. In November 1942, he entered the Armed Services; served in the 101st Airborne Division and became a paratrooper; was wounded on June 8, 1944 and again on September 19, 1944 and received the "Purple Heart" and was hospitalized several months. He was discharged on March 25, 1946.

In Muenster he worked as a roughneck and later as a driller through May 1949. On June 1, 1949, he and his brother Vincent bought half interest in a drilling rig with another partner. They acquired the other half interest in June 1953 and are still operating under the same company name for the past 35 years with three drilling rigs.

He also has interest in farming and ranching northwest of Muenster.

On June 6, 1950, he married the former Sis Lutkenhaus. They have three sons; Ross, Scott and Kenneth, and four grandchildren, all of Muenster.

Al Felderhoff was elected to the Muenster City Council in 1959, serving two terms; was elected to the Muenster Hospital Board in 1962 and is now vice president of the board. He is a founding member of the "Muenster Industrial Foundation." For eight years he served on the Cooke County School Board and from 1981-84 served on the Tax Appraisal District of Cooke County.

He is a member of the Knights of Columbus; life member of the VFW; former vice president and now a director of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

The twenty-sixth annual installation and awards banquet featured the 1988-1989 officers: Kim Walterscheid, president; Steve Trubenbach, first vice president; Brett Walterscheid, second vice president; Ron Trubenbach, secretary; Mark Lippe, treasurer; Shawn Flusche and Joe Pagel, state directors; David Flusche Jr., past president.

Also, directors Neal Flusche, Darren Voth, Terry Walterscheid, Chris Bean and Craig Monday.

The program line-up included Jim Endres, past president and master of ceremonies; Claude Klement, past president, giving the Invocation; Joe Pagel leading the Pledge of Allegiance; Ted Henscheid, mayor, charter member and past president, with the welcome address; David Flusche Jr., past president, announcing the Key Man Award and Outstanding Chairman Award to Jack Flusche.

David Flusche Jr. also announced the President's Partner Award to Neal Flusche. Wayne Klement, state senator, was the presiding officer. Please See JAYCEES, Page 2

Mill hosts Dairy Day, June 29

Bringing the latest technology and information of the dairy industry to dairymen of the North Texas area is the purpose of Dairy Day on Wednesday, June 29.

Muenster Milling Company is sponsoring the daylong event at Sacred Heart Community Center, said Ronnie Felderhoff, a manager of the company. The program features recognized dairy experts from around the United States who will present programs and answer questions.

"I brainstormed the idea for the event myself," Felderhoff said Wednesday. "We like to keep the local dairymen informed with what's going on. Since it's hard for dairymen to get out, we decided to bring the speakers here."

Felderhoff said the company sent invitations to about 300 local dairymen. If any area dairymen did not receive invitations, however, he said they are welcome and encouraged to come. There is no cost for those who attend.

Dairy Day is set to begin with registration from 8:45 - 9:15 a.m. Different speeches on topics including new concepts in feeding replacement heifers and calves, fly control on dairy farms, dairy cow nutrition, dealing with heat stress in dairy cows and the past, present and future in artificial insemination will be presented.

A catered lunch free for those attending will be served from noon to 1 p.m. The final scheduled event on the agenda is a question and answer session at 3:15 p.m. Please See DAIRY DAY, Page 7

Deadline to file is July 1

The last day for taxpayers to file a protest on this year's property appraisals is Friday, July 1.

If taxpayers think their property has been appraised too high, or think there is an error on their statements, they should go by the Cooke County Appraisal District Office, 200 West California St. in Gainesville, during business hours, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

They first will meet with an appraiser. If they still are not satisfied, they may ask to appear before the Appraisal Review Board which will have hearings July 3 to July 14 at the CCAD board meeting room upstairs. This year's ARB members are Jerry Wimmer of Muenster, James Jirasek and Terry Herrman, both of Gainesville. Please See PROTEST, Page 3

JACK B. MURDOCK

Murdock hired to be Sacred Heart principal

Sacred Heart School Board last Thursday hired Jack B. Murdock, a former teacher and school administrator from Richardson, as SH principal for the 1988-89 year.

Murdock was hired for the post to replace last year's principal, Bronte Gonsalves, who is completing full-time doctorate studies at the University of North Texas.

Although he is serving until June 30 as director of special projects at Glenwood School in Richardson, Murdock has come to Sacred Heart several times recently to become familiar with policies and procedures there. His contract with SH officially begins July 1.

"It is my intent to be here as long as they'll have me," he said Tuesday. "I hope to develop a lasting relationship with the students, teachers, parents and school board - to really become part of the community."

He heard about the SH principal's opening, Murdock said, from Ed Doherty, superintendent of Catholic Schools for the Fort Worth Diocese.

As a student at North Texas State University, Murdock earned a degree in biology with a minor in chemistry. He did graduate work in biology there, and taught science education as an adjunct faculty member at the university for six years. He earned his master's degree in education administration from Oklahoma University.

He was assistant headmaster at the Fort Worth Country Day School for seven years before becoming headmaster and executive vice president for six years at Heritage Hall School in Oklahoma City. He then became an administrator for four years at an intensive language school for international adults called The English Language Service Language Center.

Murdock said he has continued to teach during the years he served as administrator at schools.

"I feel like when you're in the classroom every day you understand what problems the teachers have and the learning opportunities of the students," he said. But he does not think it will be possible for him to teach during his first year at Sacred Heart, a new school for him.

Although he is not Catholic, Murdock said he accepted the post of SH principal because he is in favor of the morals and values taught at Catholic schools.

"Sacred Heart School has a long tradition of excellence, and I certainly hope that I can improve the quality of education and growth in opportunities for the students attending," he said.

Murdock has a wife, Shirley; a 23-year-old son, Kevin and a 17-year-old daughter, Erin. His family will live in Richardson until their house sells, he said.

The first day of the 1988-89 SH school year is set for Monday, Aug. 29.

June sales tax rebate shows increase

Muenster's sales tax check for June was up a whopping 47.53 percent from June 1987, according to a comparison summary from Bob Bullock, state comptroller.

The payment for this month was $7,736,511, an increase from $5,244,101 in June 1987. The check to Gainesville, at $73,695,74, was up 23.71 percent from last year's June payment. But Lindsay's check of $3,101,65 was down 18.07 percent.

"Local governments will continue to see a healthy increase in revenues from their sales taxes as the state's economy mends and consumer confidences grow,"

Bullock said.

Texas' economic outlook will continue to improve, barring a national recession or a collapse in oil prices, he said. Local sales tax revenues statewide will continue to increase at an average rate of more than eight percent a year through 1991, he projected.

Checks totaling $65.1 million, an increase of 23.5 percent from last June, were sent this month to the 878 Texas cities that collect local option sales taxes.

Muenster's 1988 payments to date total $50,640,911. This amount is a slight increase of .36 percent from payments to date in 1987. The total county payments to date amount is up 13.45 percent at $652,502.52.

Bullock recently said that the state should have enough money to continue current levels of state services in its 1990-91 budget period without new taxes. This was his first revenue estimate for the '90-91 budget which the Legislature will write when it convenes in January.

Bullock said the sales tax growth of 7.9 percent per year and motor vehicles sales tax growth of 6.2 percent per year will boost '90-91 major fund revenue to $29.9 billion, a 4.8 percent increase over 1988-89.

Natural gas tax revenue will be up 5.7 percent per year in '90-91, but oil taxes will gain only 1.2 percent per year as production continues to decline, Bullock said, even though average prices will rise to $20 a barrel in 1990 and $21.61 in 1991.

He said the revenue forecast could change if there is a national recession, a sharp drop in oil prices over a period of time or further court challenges to state taxes. He did not put a price tag on any of these possibilities.

Bullock noted that even though the revenue picture is bright, "it has no money to handle any increased spending by the Legislature."

Letters to the Editor

Citizens of Muenster,

I was passing through your wonderful German community Sunday, 6-12-88, going home to Iowa Park, Texas from Lake Texoma when my family and I stopped at Bayer's Kolonialwaren und Backerei to purchase cookies to take home with us.

We had made our purchase and went to my boat, set my wallet on the fender of it for a few minutes to get the kids a coke. Forgot to pick my wallet up and put it in the truck. Somewhere it came off the fender in your fair town. One of your outstanding citizens by the name of JoAnn Pagel found it along with the money, credit cards and personal papers and turned it into City Hall.

We received a letter Monday, 6-13-88, that the wallet had been found and was waiting for us. It is so nice to know there are still honest people like JoAnn Pagel who will take time and turn something like the wallet in.

The whole community of Muenster has someone to be proud of in a citizen like JoAnn and they should tell her so. I personally know I do.

Thanks so much for returning my lost wallet. I will never forget your honesty.

Sincerely,
Mr. Jerry D. Clifton

To the Editor:

Most insurance companies consider any place over 20 years old, and over five miles from a fire department too great a risk to insure.

We live in a 30-year-old wood frame house eight miles from the nearest fire department. In the past three years our insurance premium has increased from $350.00 a year to $850.00, with steadily reduced coverage.

We have never filed a claim in the 18 years we have lived here, but are down to only one company that will offer us any insurance. If this company decides not to renew our policy next year, the Federal Land Bank will probably demand the balance due on our loan on the house.

I have written the chairman of the State Board of Insurance, the chairman of the House Committee on Insurance and my state senator for help in reversing the trend for rural insurance.

I have suggested to them that a rural homeowner's insurance pool be established similar to the pools for high risk insurance drivers or workmen's compensation coverage. If a policyholder does not file any claims for some period of time - say five years - the premiums could be reduced as an incentive not to abuse insurance coverage.

With the insurance industries' position on rural coverage, I would not build a new home in a rural area and will advise anyone else not to. They may insure a new home now, but they are presently free to drop coverage whenever they think the risk is too great.

I urge all rural residents to write Austin in support of the insurance pool or suggest your own ideas to improve the rural insurance dilemma. Two important addresses are:

Committee plans for '89 publicity

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Fourth in a five-part series on committee divisions preparing for Muenster's Centennial.)

The smallest division of the Centennial Steering Committee is the Publicity Division; Janie Monday and Lisa Walterscheid are its only members.

And so far, the division has not had much to do with Centennial preparations. But its involvement will grow as 1989 approaches and Centennial publicity becomes necessary, Janie said Friday.

"We haven't begun to function much yet because our job is to publicize what other committees are doing," she said. "Our work will come later as events happen - to encourage attendance."

Publicity work the division has done includes submitting articles and advertisements to The Muenster Enterprise and promoting the history book with posters.

"I'm not sure yet whether our advertising audience will be limited to this community or whether we will try to touch on the Metroplex, too," Janie said.

Future means of publicity the division will use are inserts in the 1989 Germanfest brochures, inserts featuring souvenirs to go on utility or bank statements, banners across the highway and stamps local businesses can use on their correspondence.

The division also plans to set up a booth at Germanfest with the Marketing Committee to promote the Centennial and sell souvenirs. "We hope to establish stronger ethnic eminece there," she said. 1989 events planned by Muenster organizations are many, and Janie said she feels the organizations will want publicity for them. A Mass commemorating the celebration of the first Mass of Sacred Heart Parish is the Centennial event Janie thinks will be the most outstanding event planned. The Mass will be celebrated next June at a Muenster football stadium to accommodate crowds from Muenster and other communities plus many dignitaries. A host of other events requiring Attention!

The names of Dr. Chris Bean and Muenster Pharmacy, sustaining members of the Muenster Jaycees, were omitted from the organization's ad last week.

The Jaycees would like to remind their Germanfest helpers that a party in their honor is set for Saturday, June 25, from 6 p.m. til 7 at the Muenster City Park. Workers are invited to "An Evening in the Park" for fun, food, games and swimming. Everyone is asked to bring lawn chairs.

The Jaycees wish to express thanks to Golden Distributing Company (Coors) of Wichita Falls for their help during Germanfest. Their name was inadvertently missed in last week's Jaycee ad.

Clearing up doubts of centennial histories

There seems to be some erroneous feeling in the community that unless your family has been here for 50 years or so, or does not have a German Catholic background, you need not, or are not, welcome to put your family history in the Muenster History Book.

No matter what your national origin or religious preference, if you have lived here in the past or are presently living here, you are encouraged to submit your family history. You have contributed to, supported and been friends to the people of this community and the inclusion of your history is important and necessary to make the history of Muenster complete.

Also, there should be as many interesting little stories to be told as there are families in Muenster. They will be placed throughout the history book to add extra color and human interest. The stories needn't be of earth-shattering importance - just something that will make you say to yourself, "Oh, yeah, I remember those times," or make you chuckle as you read it. Your story could be two or three paragraphs or maybe just a line or two to add to our "Did You Know That?" column.

If you feel you can't write it yourself, call Ray Wilde (759-2535) or Lorena Taylor (759-2968) and they will write it for you, giving you credit for the story.

Double ring ceremony unites couple

MR. and MRS. JOE EVANS
...nee Karen Sue Williams...

Karen Sue Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ray Williams of Muenster, became the bride of Ronald Joe Evans, son of Jimmy Evans of Gainesville and Mrs. Patricia Evans of Gainesville, on Sunday, June 5.

The Rev. George Thompson officiated for the traditional, double ring ceremony in Mission United Methodist Church of Gainesville at 3 p.m.

The bride is a graduate of Muenster High School and Cooke County College and is employed at Wal-Mart.

The groom is a graduate of Gainesville High School and is employed at Weber Aircraft.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a gown of white lace over white satin. It was designed with a fitted bodice, sheer illusion yoke edged with a wide lace ruffle, and high lace collar tied with a satin bow. Sleeves of illusion and lace were puffed at the dropped shoulder, and fitted from elbow to wrist.

Tiers of matching lace ruffles fell from the center back waist, surrounded the hem, continuing into a soft, chapel-length train.

She wore a white, derby style bridal hat decorated with pearls and a pouf of illusion in back, drifting into a tiered veil.

For "something old," she carried a handkerchief that belonged to her late grandmother, Cora Addington. For "something borrowed" she wore a necklace belonging to her maid of honor.

Her bridal flowers were yellow roses, white mums and daisies in a cascading arrangement.

Kim Eldred of Muenster, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a tea-length gown of yellow lace over satin, designed with a ruffled, sleeveless bodice. She carried white and yellow roses and wore a matching halo.

Amanda Johnson of Gainesville, niece of the groom, was flower girl.

Tommy Case of Gainesville, a friend of the groom, was best man.

Linda Pruitt of Lake Kiowa presented traditional organ music and Tricia Gieb of Muenster was vocalist, presenting "We've Only Just Begun," "Nadia's Theme," and "The Wedding Song."

Decorations in church included tall white candleabra entwined with greenery and holding lighted white candles and yellow ribbons. White silk bows marked family pews.

An informal reception followed in the fellowship hall of the United Methodist Church, hosted by parents of the bride. A buffet of pick-up foods and fruits was served, followed by wedding cake and punch.

Theresa Murray of Gainesville presided at the guest book, at a table holding a portrait of the bride and Victorian candleholders with yellow candles.

The white wedding cake, baked and served by Carolyn Bayer, was decorated with yellow roses and rhinestone double hearts. A ceramic bride and groom figurine under a lace archway graced the top layer. Cake servers and reception assistants were Betty Gilpin of Muenster and Clella Murray of Gainesville.

Guest tables were decorated with white cloths, white ribbon, yellow wedding bells and yellow candles in crystal candleholders.

A surprise guest at the wedding was the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Brian Cole of Idaho. Also coming from out of town were Mrs. Barbara Tucker, Wanda Tucker, Johnny Tucker and Irvin and Peggy Williams, all of Fort Worth; Joy Hamilton of Albuquerque, N.M., and Delwin, Betty and McKenzie Wallace of Denton.

A bridal shower honored the bride-to-be preceding the wedding. It was hosted by the maid of honor, Kim Eldred, and friends Theresa Murray and Clella Murray.

Since returning from their wedding trip, the couple resides in Gainesville.

Three students attend Catholic convention

Three Muenster students and their sponsor attended Celebrate '88, an annual Catholic youth convention, on June 11 and 12 at the University of Dallas campus in Irving.

Robin Greathouse, Kristen Klement, Sherilyn Sicking and sponsor Linda Knabe were among more than 500 high school students and sponsors who attended the event. Students from 28 parishes of the Diocese of Fort Worth were present.

"Jesus Christ, the Ultimate Candidate," was the weekend's theme. It was carried out in t-shirts, buttons, workshops and general and special sessions.

Wayne Romo, campus minister at Our Lady of the Lake University in San Antonio and grandson of former Muenster resident Mrs. Mary Owen, was Master of Ceremonies. He began Saturday's sessions with a greeting and introduced guest speaker Bobby Valentine, manager of the Texas Rangers.

Valentine told the youth to focus on the main thing - Jesus Christ - not sports, family, friends or education. Jesus is there all of the time for everyone and will help through the good times and the bad times if we let Him, he said. He answered questions from the youth and sponsors about his personal and professional life.

Valentine closed his presentation by telling the crowd to remember the three R's he uses in his daily life: Responsibility, Respect and Reality.

The youth then attended workshops on various topics including "How Can I Know What God Wants of Me?," "Whom to Marry," "Keeping the Faith When the Pressure is On," "Sexuality," "Looking Toward College," "Praying," "Dealing with Terminal Illness," "The Mass," and "What it is to be a Christian." The workshops were given by members of the Diocesan youth team and visiting speakers. The sessions were followed by a dance, a delicious banquet and a dance.

Sunday's sessions began with breakfast, followed by The Great Debate - a panel of youth ministers and youth who answered questions from the floor on topics with which the youth were concerned. Topics discussed included nuclear war, abortion and love.

After lunch, Wayne gave a closing session during which he said, "Be concerned about the things you're supposed to care about, even if you have to take risks to do it - even if it means you may wind up getting hurt. You will learn and grow from the situation, and you'll be a better person for it."

A slide show featuring scenes from the weekend was then shown. This was followed by celebration of Mass with Bishop Joseph Delaney as celebrant. All parishes participated in the liturgy in some way. Sacred Heart's representative was Robin Greathouse reading Prayers of the Faithful.

Everyone enjoyed meeting new friends and old friends. They are looking forward to Celebrate '89 to be held June 10 and 11 at UD.

Sacred Heart Parish hosted more than 600 students in Muenster for Celebrate '87 last year. That year was the first time the event was hosted by a parish.

VFW Auxiliary celebrates 40 years

by Rosa Driever

The Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 6205 Monday night celebrated the 40th anniversary of the organization with a covered dish meal after the regular June meeting in the Post Home. Members provided salads and desserts and homemade bread to complement fried chicken prepared by Rohmer's Restaurant. Post members were special guests to share the food and join in a social hour of card and domino games afterward.

President Frances Bayer conducted the business session during which she read a history she prepared on the Auxiliary for the centennial book. The history dates back to May 3, 1948, when 18 women attended the organizational meeting. The Auxiliary received its charter on June 7, 1948 - date of its birth. Membership has grown to 132 today.

George Mae Trachta was the first president.

Principal business on Monday consisted of committee reports including a successful Memorial Day program, services at Sacred Heart Cemetery and Buddy Poppy sales. Also member participation in Sacred Heart Bible School June 13-17. Another report revealed member participation in a program at the Bonham VA Hospital attended by Julia Cunningham, Hilda Sicking, Bonnie Hess, Juanita Knabe, Armella Cler and Frances Bayer who made the trip on June 3 in the city's mini bus with Pat Walterscheid, driver. The group received volunteer t-shirts for their service to the hospital patients.

In other business, members voted to a $100 contribution to Camp Sweeney and made plans to assist in swim classes at the Muenster pool.

President Frances Bayer received congratulations on her election to the District 1 office of junior vice president. The honor came during the district meeting she attended in Sherman.

Members signed get well cards for Marie Walter and Lupe Evans and sympathy cards for Ida Mae Bindel and Wilma Mosley.

Linda Knabe volunteered as refreshment hostess for July, and Bonnie Hess won the door prize.

At next month's meeting officers elected for a new term will assume their duties.

Reminder!

The Sacred Heart Class of 1938 8th grade and the Class of 1942 High School is coming together July 2 at the Knights of Columbus Hall for a class reunion. Happy Hour is set from 5 to 7 p.m., followed by dinner and a program and a dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Class members are encouraged to bring memorabilia from the past that they would like to share.

Henry Pels Sr. family holds reunion

One hundred and twenty family members of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pels, Sr. joined in a reunion at the Muenster City Park Saturday evening, June 16. Special honor was accorded to Sister Imelda Pels of Holy Angels Convent in Jonesboro, Ark., who was here on her annual vacation.

Everyone brought covered dishes for a 7 p.m. buffet supper; then enjoyed visiting, picture taking, games and getting acquainted with the newest family members.

Fuhrmann family reunion set

St. Henry's Day, the annual feast day celebrated with a Fuhrmann family reunion, will be observed on Sunday, July 10, beginning with Mass in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay at 11 a.m. It will be followed with a catered meal and drinks in the Lindsay City Park.

Agnes Owen at wedding of grandson

Agnes Owen has returned from a five-day visit with her daughter's family in Memphis, Tenn., and attendance at the wedding of her grandson on June 4.

The wedding of Jeffrey Hollis, son of Betty Jo and Thomas Hollis, to Laura Louise Andrews, daughter of Mrs. Cynthia Taylor Otto, took place in the Church of the Resurrection and was officiated by Father Peter J. Buchannani of Memphis.

The groom is the grandson of Mrs. Agnes Owen of Muenster and the late Raymond Owen, and Mrs. Rosalie Hollis of Leisure City, Fla. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Taylor of New Port Richey, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Andrews of Belter, Tenn.

Both are graduates of Wooddale High School in Memphis. He is attending Memphis State University, majoring in Finance and is also employed by the NIKE Corporation. She is employed by Citizens Southern Mortgage Co.

Giving much pleasure and getting a lot of attention was a table display of antique pictures and mementos, one of which was the 77 year old wedding dress of the late Mrs. Henry Pels Sr.

Slides and movies of bygone days were shown by Guy Pels and Rita (Pels) Bayer.

Highlight of the reunion was a visit by all to the Henry Pels Sr. farm and homeplace (now owned and remodeled by Alphonse Felderhoff.) All the Pels children grew up there, and grandchildren joyfully visited there often.

The entire group posed for pictures on the spacious front porch of the house as they did many times in years past on family occasions.

The oldest person at the reunion was Sister Imelda Pels who will celebrate her sixtieth year in the convent in 1989.

The youngest present was David Anthony Walterscheid, 7 month old son of T.J. and Jeanine Walterscheid, grandson of Annette and Sonny Walterscheid and great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Knaut.

Traveling the greatest distance to attend the reunion was Sister Imelda of Jonesboro, and Guy and Rosemary Pels and daughter, Monica of Gurdon, Ark. Mrs. Ed Pels had the largest number of family present with all nine children, their spouses and youngsters in attendance.

The out-of-town list included:

Sherri (Muller) Ardila of Austin; Jerry Pels of Houston and stepson and family; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Melton and son of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pels and Monica of Gurdon, Ark.

Girl Scouts receive awards in ceremony

A special day for all Muenster Girl Scouts was Sunday, June 12 - the day of their awards program at the Muenster VFW Hall.

The girls have worked hard all year and looked forward to receiving their achievement badges to display on their vests or sashes.

Members of Daisy Troop 494, the kindergarten-age level of Girl Scouts, received a one-year membership star and a certificate of closing of the year. These girls are now eligible to become Brownie Girl Scouts and to take part in Brownie activities this summer. Karen Cler, Jana Coker, Kristen Creed, Sarah Ann Hess, Kristen Knauf and Anne Flusche were Daisies with Cathy Creed and Janette Hess as their co-leaders.

Members of Emily Klement's Brownie Troop No. 60 received their triangular "Try-It" badges. Trisha Endres, Laura Klement and Kammi Barnhill received the World of the Arts, World of Well-Being, World of Today & Tomorrow, World of the Outdoors and the World of People. Brownies receiving World of Arts, World of Outdoors, and World of Well Being are Allison Baver, Carrie Coker, Shawna Endres, Amanda Wimmer, Dea Marie Cler, Summer Jones, Kristine Hartman, Yvonne Martin.

Junior Troop 43 under the leadership of Irene Hartman worked together on several badges: Community Health & Safety, Exploring Foods, Music Lover and Prints and Graphics. Kerri Barnhill, Ashley Hartman, Sabrina Truebenbach and Laura Vogel each received these badges. Sabrina Truebenbach also received Child Care. Julie Walterscheid received Exploring Foods, Music Lover, Prints & Graphics, Group Sports, Hobbies & Pets, Food Raiser, Do-It-Yourself, Computer Fun and Popular Arts. Rae Ann Walterscheid was awarded Community Health & Safety, Exploring Foods, Group Sports, Hobbies & Pets, Tending Toddlers, Foods, Fibers & Farming and World of Well Being Dabbler.

Junior troop 495 presented a skit written by the girls and displayed models which they constructed of the four World Centers in Girl Scouting. The centers are in Mexico, India, England and Switzerland. By making this presentation the girls completed their Hands Around the World badges.

During a May overnight trip to Camp Letoli at Saint Jo, the girls discovered the many ways in which to make prints, rubbings and graphic displays. They each designed and painted their own t-shirts and earned a camping patch and their Prints and Graphics badges.

Together in the classroom at Sacred Heart School and by visiting businesses that use computers, the girls earned their Computer Fun badges. Each girl received a one-year membership star for this past year in Girl Scouting. Kari Crow, Karri Endres, Nicole Endres, Vanessa Felderhoff, Kathy Hacker and Loretta Reiter received these awards. Karri Endres, Nicole Endres and Vanessa Felderhoff also completed one badge in each of the five World of Girl Scouting, taught a song to the Brownies, performed a service project, learned about careers available to women and found out a little about how they spend their time in order to earn their Sign of the Rainbow. Karri Endres also earned her Individual Sports badge and Vanessa Felderhoff earned Science Sleuth.

Nicole Endres, unable to be present at the awards program at the cathedral in Fort Worth, received the Roman Catholic religious recognition "Family of God."

Cadette Troop 45, under the leadership of Lou Moster, performed the flag ceremony to open and close the proceedings of the day. Each received a one-year membership star. Cheramie Moster, Tonya Knabe and Misty Knabe received their Dreams to Reality interest patch which they earned by attending a weekend campout at Camp Gambill in Paris, Texas, where they learned about careers available to women.

These girls and Julie Felderhoff and Allison Klement received prizes for their participation in the annual girl scout cookie sales project. Jeanne Greathouse, leader of Cadette Troop 53, spoke of the many long hours the cadettes put in to complete their achievements. They participated in the weekend at Camp Gambill and received their Dreams to Reality interest patch. Each girl worked on and received her Money Management Interest Project Patch. The Cadette Challenge Pins indicate that the girls have participated in five different activities in which they learned to know more about themselves and other people. The Leadership Pins show that each girl has spent at least 25 hours in a service project and served as an officer in some organization.

Robin Greathouse, Kristen Klement, Dawn Knabe and Jenny Yosten are to be congratulated for their achieving the Cadette Girl Scout Silver Award. This award has been the culmination of two year's work for these girls and has involved many and varied activities in each of the Worlds of Girl Scouting as well as service projects and career exploration activities. Jeanne Greathouse received a five-year membership numeral to attach to her Girl Scout pin. Each leader received a plaque as appreciation for her commitment to the girls and to the Girl Scout program. Special awards certificates were presented to organizations in the community that have made contributions to the program in some way. They are Muenster Switch, Bayer's Kolonialwaren, The Hut, the Muenster Enterprise, Tops & Teams, Dairy Inn-One Stop, Knabe Tire and Raidator, Community Lumber Company and Muenster VFW.

All of the Girl Scouts wish to thank everyone who has assisted with the group's growth and development this past year. Thanks for the opportunities available for field trips such as the Science Place and weekend and summer camps.

The City of Muenster, Sacred Heart School, Knights of Columbus and the Muenster Kiwanis received plaques of appreciation given by the Cross Timbers Girl Scout Council for their help with funding and meeting places.

promotion by the division are also in the planning stages. Among them are election of a Muenster king and queen, a historical pageant, a fashion show featuring styles of the past and present and the raffling of a Centennial quilt made by SNAP members. A Muenster museum, established for the celebration, will also be promoted by the division.

"I think the museum's a real plus for us," Janie said. "It will show our heritage and be a vehicle to sell Centennial items."

Help in promoting Muenster's celebration will come from local high schools. Janie said the MHS Band plans to learn German songs to perform at an outdoor concert. At Sacred Heart, the drill team plans to learn ethnic routines and incorporate some ethnic dress in their uniforms for 1989. Janie said it is hoped that both groups will put on their German performances in other towns.

Events she said the Steering Committee would like to see take place are the formation of a German dance group here and an organization taking on the project of saluting Muenster's oldest citizens.

"Right now it seems like a lot of work," she said. "We're just planting the seeds and haven't reached the harvest yet. We'll have to keep the faith and keep plugging away."

At a meeting of the Steering Committee, Janie said "he understood that the meaning of the word "muenster" is "place of worship."

"I'm amazed at the courage of our ancestors," she said. "And when you think that their intention was to establish a Christian community, and you look back on it, it puts all sorts of meaning into living here."

"That's one benefit I've gotten from the Centennial already."

SH hires full-time boys' coach

John Sims, formerly the offensive and defensive lines coach of the Celina High School football program, signed a contract last month to be the head boys' coach at Sacred Heart High School.

Sims said the SH School Board in May hired him full-time to coach high school football and boys basketball and track. He said he thought he was probably coach of the junior high boys' program, also.

"I was hired to develop a year-round program for the boys and increase interest in boys basketball and track," Sims said Tuesday. "You can't build programs with part-time coaching. It's a year-round proposition."

At East Texas State University, Sims earned a degree in education with teaching areas of history, health and physical education. He played football at Samuell High School in Dallas, Kilgore Jr. College and at the University of Tampa in Florida.

He worked as the head coach of the physical education program at Presidio High school for two years, head football, basketball and track coach at St. Paul's High School for one year and was the offensive line and defensive coordinator for two years at Pettus High School before coaching in Celina.

Sims stressed his belief in the importance of school tradition, pride and academics

"Academics and athletics go hand in hand," he said. "If they don't cut it in the classroom, they won't cut it on the field."

He already has begun weight workouts and some football drills on weekday evenings, which is allowed by the Texas Association of Private Schools. About 15 boys are coming each evening, he said.

"The talent is here to play, and I've got some pretty good leaders coming in," he said. "The sooner I can get them in and get them into what I'm doing, it's possible that we'll have a pretty good season."

Sims has a 10-year-old son.

JOHN SIMS

Cullen, who will be enrolled in the fourth grade at SH in the fall. His hobbies include history, old movies, travel and watching and participating in sports. Sims and his son live in Muenster.

Alcohol and boating are a deadly mix

It happens quickly. A person, clumsy with the effects of one too many drinks, slips into the darkness of cool, suffocating water. Not realizing how near death he is, he gasps for air, but instead inhales a flood of water. Then slowly and silently, his body drifts down into the deep, unforgiving lake.

The party's over. And so are the good times.

Gruesome as the scenario sounds, it describes many drownings which are often the result of boating while intoxicated. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Fort Worth District, cautions boaters, fishermen and even swimmers to use common sense while out on the water.

Alcohol, which induces fatigue and a loss of coordination, balance and judgment, is a factor in more than 50 percent of all boating accidents. Many of the deaths are a result of people, already lacking coordination and the ability to react swiftly, who fall out of boats or capsize the unstable crafts.

Motion, engine noise, sun, wind and glare all further contribute to the serious impairment of an individual's reaction time. To counter these effects, the National Safe Boating Council suggests that people apply the designated driver concept to boating - one member of the party staying sober to operate the boat. But whether operator or passenger, a drunk person is always at risk on a boat.

Texas Farm Bureau sues Dept. of Agriculture

WACO - The Texas Farm Bureau and five of its members have filed suit against Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, seeking inclusion of hay as a perishable crop under the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986.

In a letter to Lyng, TFB President S.M. True of Plainview explained that hay is "perishable, labor intensive, and has critical and unpredictable labor demands." True said hay's inclusion as a perishable crop will alleviate serious labor problems experienced by hay producers.

"Making hay a perishable crop will make it eligible for the Special Agricultural Worker (SAW) program. This is a chance to help livestock producers who have been shut out of this important source of labor," True said.

A similar suit was filed in Lubbock last year seeking inclusion of cotton in the Act. That suit resulted in cotton being classified as a fruit, making it eligible for the SAW program.

The five plaintiffs joining Texas Farm Bureau in the suit are Don Smith, dairyman, Sulphur Springs; Russ Arnold, cattleman, Trinity; James Wood, rancher, Gilmer; and Warren and Anna Madison, ranchers from McLennan County.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Long, hot Texas summer days are often hard on ornamental landscape plants and increase the demands on the gardener to keep them in a healthy, attractive condition. It is important for the gardener to prepare for hot, dry days of June, July and August during early summer, prior to summer heat and possible damage.

The first step in being prepared for summer in the landscape is to have chosen ornamental plants which will tolerate our local summer conditions. Plants which will harden themselves for possible drought and constant high temperatures will demand a minimum of summer maintenance and care.

During summer, water or soil moisture becomes extremely important and essential for good plant production. Because continual watering is oftentimes costly and time-consuming, it pays to conserve the moisture around plants.

The best way to conserve garden moisture is by mulching. A good mulch will not only retain valuable moisture needed for plant growth but will insure several other things as well to improve gardening success.

A mulch insulates the soil and protects it from drying and hard baking effects of the hot sun and winds. Mulched soils are cooler than unmulched soils and generally show less fluctuation in soil temperature. Cooler, more even temperatures and less moisture evaporation from the soil surface causes plants to grow at a more constant rate.

Mulches also break the force of rain and irrigation water and tend to prevent erosion, soil compaction and crusting. A mulch helps the soil absorb water more readily and helps prevent the splashing of soil and certain plant disease organisms onto plants and flowers during a rain or overhead irrigation.

The mulch covering also prevents germination of many weed seeds. Fewer weeds provide less competition for available moisture and nutrients. Using mulches to control weeds is much safer than using chemical weed controls or risking damage to tender, newly formed roots by cultivation.

Mulches are usually applied two-to six-inches deep, depending on the material used. In general, the coarser the material, the deeper the mulch. For example, a two-inch layer of cotton seed hulls will have the same mulching effect as six inches of oat straw or four inches of coastal bermuda hay.

There are inorganic mulches such as gravel or crushed rock. Even though these are attractive in the landscape and prevent the soil from drying so rapidly, they too reflect heat which can be damaging to some plants when in sunny locations.

By far, the more common and better mulches are the organic types. There are many of these, and selection will be determined by appearance desired and availability in your specific area.

A few of the more widely-used mulches include the following: bark (pine and redwood), grass clippings, hay, leafmold (oak), peanut hulls, pine needles, sawdust and woodchips. Your choice of a mulch should be well free, clean and long lasting. Organic mulches improve the soil structure when they do break down and decompose in the soil, making for better aeration, drainage and water-holding ability.

Even though peat moss makes an excellent soil conditioner when worked into the soil, it is often a poor mulch as it will draw moisture from the soil and tends to pack and crust over the upper soil. Woodchips, some bark and sawdust will oftentimes take available nitrogen, which is essential for plant growth, out of the soil; therefore, when these are used, it may be necessary to replenish the nitrogen source.

Be prepared for summer. Cultivate the soil, water well, then mulch over. Your summer labors will be less, as well as your summer water bill.

TIPRO elects 1988-1989 officers

John E. Watson, senior vice president for public affairs with Mitchell Energy Corp. in The Woodlands, was re-elected president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) during the group's 42nd annual convention June 6 in Galveston.

Also re-elected were Catherine Terrell Smith of Fort Worth as secretary, Bennie Downing of Austin as treasurer, Julian G. Martin of Austin as executive vice president and A. Scott Anderson of Austin as general counsel.

Elected as regional vice presidents of TIPRO were: Gale Galloway of Austin, South Texas Region; Don Boyd of Corpus Christi, Coastal Region; James E. Russell of Abilene, West Central Texas Region; Joseph K. McMahon of Wichita Falls, North Texas Region; James W. Walker of Amarillo, Panhandle Region; and Peyton Yates of Artesia, New Mexico, Out-of-State Region.

Continuing their terms as regional vice presidents are: Neal Anderson of Houston, Houston Region; T.D. "Rusty" Howell of Marshall, East Texas Region; Robert A. Dean of Midland, Far West Texas Region; and R. Charles Gentry of Dallas, Dallas - Fort Worth Region.

TIPRO is the largest statewide association of independent oil and gas producers and royalty owners in the nation.

Beef referendum results are viewed as 'highly positive'

National beef checkoff referendum results, announced May 27 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, were seen as extremely positive by industry, education and research groups involved in the effort.

Nationally, 78.97 percent of the eligible cattle producers, dairy farmers and importers voted to continue funding the U.S. beef research and promotion. Of the 256,505 total ballots cast, 202,408 were affirmative votes, while the remaining 54,097 voters registered negative votes, or 21.03 percent rejected the referendum.

In Texas, 37,945 people voted in the referendum. Affirmative votes were cast by 32,269 persons, or 88 percent. Voting "no" were 5,676 persons, or 12 percent.

Dr. Ernest E. Davis, economist in livestock marketing with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, said it is very critical that this funding be available to cattlemen not only for advertising and promotion but "also for future research and continuing development of genetically-designed cattle to meet consumer and packer carcass and meat demands."

Davis said approval of the referendum will allow funds spent on that research to come from cattlemen rather than private funding.

"This means that cattlemen may own the genetics, instead of a private company," Davis said.

Passage of the referendum will permit long-range information planning that will benefit all segments of the beef industry, said Dr. John R. Beverly, beef cattle project group supervisor for the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. "Broader promotion and information projects can now be planned in this post-referendum period. Besides product development research and promotion, more comprehensive marketing research and educational efforts can be generated that should have a positive impact on all phases of the beef industry," Beverly said.

According to Anne Anderson, executive director of the Texas Beef Industry Council, Austin, strategies to be used to influence consumers will include reaching them through education of physicians, dieticians, nutritionists and children - the consumers of the future.

"The Beef Industry Council will strive to reposition beef as a food that is fashionable, light, healthy, wholesome, versatile, nutritious and good tasting by working with food editors of magazines as well as the broadcast media," Anderson said.

The referendum provides the accountability needed so producers are aware that funding decisions have been made by producers, Anderson said.

The beef checkoff program, which began Oct. 1 of 1986 as a result of the 1985 Farm Bill's Beef Promotion and Research Act, required that $1 from every head of cattle sold or imported in the U.S. be put aside for beef promotion and marketing efforts. The program is controlled by a 113-member board of 108 producers and five importers.
