Statement issued by Red Cross Blood Services and hospital

The following information was provided to The Muenster Enterprise by Joan Walterscheid, Director of Nurses at Muenster Memorial Hospital: "The family of Chris Dangelmayr appreciates the many friends and relatives who have offered to help replace the blood used. Because Chris is a resident of a community serviced by the American Red Cross Blood Services, the Red River Region is working directly with the blood center in Fort Worth which supplies Harris Hospital to replace the blood used. The family of Chris Dangelmayr and I encourage the community to support the next Muenster Bloodmobile."

Paul and Patsy Dangelmayr, parents of Chris, were in Muenster Tuesday night and Wednesday, attending the bedside of their son, Ron, who underwent surgery at Muenster Memorial Hospital for removal of the index finger of his left hand, necessitated by a rattlesnake bite several weeks ago.

While they are in Muenster, her sisters take turns being with Chris at Harris Hospital, until the parents return.

Patsy said Wednesday morning, "Ron is doing well now and Chris' spirits are great. That's why he is improving in ICU. Prayers and medical skill have done this for him, we know. Please continue your prayers. Chris was removed from the Trauma Center yesterday."

Cards will reach him at the same address: ICU South, Harris Hospital, 1301 Pennsylvania Ave., Fort Worth, TX 76104.

Open House set for Lora's Flowers and Gifts

Open House on Sunday, Nov. 30, 2 to 5 p.m. will formally present Lora's Flowers and Gifts, in the Old Theater Mall on Main St.

Lora Hennigan, owner, has been open for business since Monday in the completely remodeled building at 213 North Main St. in Muenster.

Open House on Sunday, Nov. 30, will provide an opportunity to visit and view the full 47-ft. long display and work area. Door prizes will be given and free fresh carnations will be presented to the first 100 guests. There will be balloons for the children.

As guests enter the centering double doors on the left, they are met by the display of many fresh floral arrangements in the three-door floral cooler, which is backed up by a large cold storage space.

Wandering around the room, one sees an old-fashioned European pull cart on two antique iron wheels, holding a profusion of silk flowers. There are two displays of Russell Stover candies; two revolving displays of greeting cards (one is Flavia Originals); there are baskets, toy boxes, miniature sleighs brimming with Teddy Bears and stuffed animals.

Centering that area is a stair-step shelf display of fresh green plants and potted blooming plants, and basket arrangements of fresh fruits.

Dominant at the west end is an outstanding display of glass shelves on a mirrored wall, holding arrangements of dry and silk flowers, baskets, candles and Christmas flowers and ivy containers to greet a new baby and mother.

On the south wall is an antique wardrobe with shelves for a display of gift items. There are huge quilted Christmas stockings and an antique authentic railroad ticket desk used now to hold a cup display. There are Bunkie Playmates and always more fresh green plants, red birds and pine branches.

One short wall holds a glass-shelved display of cut glass, religious statues, and beautiful bird figurines from the Kensington Collections.

Near the entry door is a two-unit work station and on the east side are storage rooms for equipment and floral supplies and a sizable, deep stainless steel, triple tub.

Lora Hennigan attended classes in the spring of 1986 in Richardson for the study of floral design, with the instructor Nancy Johnson.

In May through June, she attended the Ann Kao Design Studio in Duncanville and received the "Certificate of Achievement" for successfully completing all requirements for the Advanced Workshop.

In July, she went to Houston to study at the Frankie Shelton School of Floral Design, where she received a certificate upon completion of requirements for the Course in Floral Design.

Lora Hennigan will be assisted by Betty Rose Walterscheid. The shop will open each weekday at 9 a.m. Phone number for Lora's Flowers and Gifts is 759-4080. The shop will feature free delivery of any item for sale, fresh floral arrangements, potted plants, fruit baskets, gifts and silk arrangements.

LORA HENNIGAN completes a fresh arrangement to place on display in the glistening floral cooler at Lora's Flowers and Gifts, first occupant of the recently remodeled Old Theater Mall.

Remember trying to erase a mistake on four carbon copies?

Times have changed...

Not too many years ago we used manual typewriters with lots of carbon paper. Typing a letter took a lot of time and effort and sometimes the end result wasn't quite what we'd hoped for.

That was before electric, self-correcting typewriters and quick copy machines. Today, word processors allow us to make corrections on the screen and print as many copies as we need. We can get much more work done much faster. That's progress.

Times have changed for your cooperative, too.

The Brazos System used to build natural gas power plants. The gas was delivered to the boiler by a simple system of pipes and controls.

Today, we build lignite coal power plants. They are large and complex. The fuel is delivered by conveyor belts. It must be crushed and then pulverized to powder. Intricate controls are required. Even so, we expect lignite will continue to be the most economical choice for making your electricity. Lignite costs considerably less than natural gas.

Your business, Cooke County Electric Cooperative, benefits from that choice, and so do you. The power of the kilowatt hour can do so much good... don't waste it.

Letters to the Editor

Dear People of Muenster,

I am sorry this long overdue note of gratitude has taken so long to get to you. I was among the wagoners that rolled through your lovely town and camped one night back in June.

My name would make no difference to you, because there were so many of us...but, I must say that this was one of the fun stops that we made during our trip.

It seemed as if every town was trying to outdo the last in welcoming all of us, and all succeeded!

The food you served was delicious, and the dance was also a whole lot of fun. So many of you were extra special to me; however, I never met so many people with the same names! Are all of you related?

If I am ever back through that country again, I will make it a point to stop in your town again; and remember...

Thank you all again, and...

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, TEXAS!
Most sincerely,
/s/ Martha Clawson

Letter to the Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the citizens of Muenster on your very fine hospital. My husband has recently had knee surgery on two separate occasions, performed by your skillful surgeon, Dr. Knight, and has progressed exceptionally well both times. We have found the entire staff and personnel of this hospital to be extremely efficient, caring, friendly, and always willing to meet our every need. The nurses are, without exception, among the finest. They are most efficient, alert, attractive and pleasant. The food, in our opinion, is exceptional also - well-prepared, delicious and served attractively.

We commend especially Mrs.

Bruns, Dr. Knight, Dr. Juarez, Carroll, the administrator, and all who are employed here for the excellent care and attention which we have received. We regard Muenster Memorial as a wonderful hospital and the people of this community are most fortunate.

Sincerely,
/s/ Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schlegel

Double nickel: worth as much as a wooden nickel

by Richard A. Viguerie

WASHINGTON, VA. - A friend of mine used to be a reporter in Fort Payne, Alabama. Once he was interviewing the local spokesman for the state troopers about the trooper's plans to crack down on speeders. It seems that the federal government had been threatening to deny highway funds to Alabama unless the state started enforcing the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit.

"From now on, when we say '55,' we mean 55," the trooper declared. "Of course, that doesn't mean we'll give somebody a ticket if they're just going 56 or 57 or 58..."

And so it goes. Try driving between Birmingham, Alabama, and Atlanta Georgia at 3 a.m. - as my friend does once a week - and you'll see how seriously the 55 mph speed limit it taken. Indeed, if you try driving that stretch of roadway at that time of day going 55, you're likely to get run over by an 18-wheeler doing 75.

"Double nickel" is a remnant of a bygone era, the Days of Shame (a.k.a. the Carter Administration), when the government contrived through price controls to create an artificial energy shortage, then imposed draconian controls on Americans' behavior in order to conserve fuel. Remember the thermostat police, who went door-to-door making sure that your office was stuffy in the summertime and chilly in winter? Remember the billions of gasoline ration coupons that were printed up and then had to be destroyed because they worked in change machines just like real dollar bills? The same geniuses gave us the 55 mph limit.

According to a recent article in Reason magazine by Alan Pisarski, who was special assistant in the Department of Transportation during the Carter Era, "55" was pretty much pulled out of a hat. In an effort to mitigate the effects of the energy crisis, DOT did studies of various speed limits and their effects on fuel consumption. Hypothetical speed limits ranging as low as 40 mph on interstate highways, but even the DOT bureaucrats knew that the people would never accept a limit that low. So they came up with 50 for cars and 55 for trucks. Then columnist Jack Anderson wrote an article giving the impression that the higher limit for trucks - a reflection of truck's different transmissions - was supposedly a political payoff to the trucking industry. As a consequence, DOT's final proposal was: 55 for everybody.

Nevertheless, the federal government controls very few miles of roadway in this country; how could it set a nationwide speed limit?

The solution, worked out by associates of Ralph Nader, was for Congress to require that each state impose the new limit or lose ten percent of its federal highway funds. Intimidated, each state complied.

Today, in the absence of price controls on oil, petroleum is plentiful. Yet the 55 mph limit remains, because it "saves lives." Or does it?

The number of highway deaths dropped in the year after "55" was enacted. And the number has continued to drop - even though the average speed on interstates has continually crept upward. Today the average speed is almost identical to the average a decade ago, yet the fatality rate is down dramatically.

Proponents of the law claim that it saves one life every 25 years of added driving time. But that figure includes congested urban freeways where the speed limit would be lower even if there was no federal law. On rural interstates, the claim is that one life is saved for every hundred additional years of driving time - a ratio that is unacceptable by almost all ethical standards.

Even those claims are suspect, however. A study by Charles Lave, chairman of the economics department at the University of California at Irvine, finds absolutely no correlation between driving speed and traffic fatalities. It is the variance of speed on a given highway - the number of vehicles travelling at different speeds - that increases the likelihood of a fatal wreck.

...which makes sense, when you think about it. Theoretically, if all vehicles on a certain half of a divided interstate were going the same direction at exactly the same speed, how many collisions would there be? The answer: none.

On average, states where motorists drive faster don't have higher fatality rates. Sometimes the rates are lower in states with higher average speeds, possibly because the variance of speeds is lower.

The National Research Council concluded that double-nickel costs us at least $120 million a year, plus an additional billion hours behind the wheel. Even the National Academy of Sciences, commissioned to write a report supporting "55," stated only that it be retained "on most of the highways now posted at 55."

The evidence indicates that the limit causes law enforcement officials to spend an inordinate amount of time giving tickets to motorists going 65 on highways designed for 70 mph, while other folks are driving at 45 or 55 on poorly-patrolled rural roads. In Delaware, for example, 60 percent of the enforcement manpower is expended on 3.6 percent of the highways. In Nebraska last year, there were 207 fatal highway accidents; only seven were on the interstates, and speed was not listed as a contributing factor in a single one. Nationally, nearly one-quarter of all fatalities take place on back-country roads.

Recently the U.S. Senate approved a five-year test raising the limit to 65 on rural interstates, but the measure was killed by a 218-198 margin in the House. The President, fulfilling a campaign promise made in 1980, supported the measure, and it may pass in the next Congress. Let's hope so. 55 mph: It's not just a stupid idea. It's a stupid law.

4-H and Kiwanis ask community's aid

Weather permitting, the 4-H and Kiwanis Clubs will pick up litter along East Hwy. 82 on Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. Rain will be the only reason for cancellation, according to Highway Department personnel.

Club members are asking for help from the community to prevent future litter accumulation. Specifically, it is known that the majority of litter along roadsides comes from male owners of pickup trucks. The age group identified as the worst offender is the 17 to 35 year olds. Most do not intentionally toss the litter onto the road, but use the pickup bed as a moving trash can without a lid. The trash blows onto the road for someone else to pick up.

The community can help in the prevention of litter by reporting all offenses to proper authorities, use of litter bags for personal litter, and use of trash cans for large litter such as ice and paper sacks, beer boxes, cans and bottles. Homeowners are asked to secure bags of household garbage to prevent blowing now that the winter winds have returned.

Anyone interested in helping in this litter cleanup effort should meet at the Dairy Inn at 2 p.m. The 4-H members will be attending the Cooke County 4-H Food Show in the morning, and are looking for members to drop by the roadside to help when the food show is over. The organizers are asking both club members to bring a friend to help, for there is no better way to get the message across than "hands-on" experience.

CCC offers computer course to machinists

GAINESVILLE - It's time to add another item to the list of equipment normally found in machine shops and the machine tool departments of manufacturing operations. It's spelled C-O-M-P-U-T-E-R.

According to Louis Harvill, teacher of two special courses in what's known as "computerized numerical control" (CNC) at Cooke County College, computers are themselves becoming almost indispensable "tools" for many precision metalcutting machine operators.

Harvill speaks from experience. He has for several years been CNC programmer for the Valenite Division of Valeron Corp. in Gainesville, a manufacturer of precision machine cutting tools.

What melds machining and computer technology together, Harvill explains, is the CNC concept. In the most simple terms, CNC involves programming a computer to mechanically and automatically operate machine tools and certain other processing machines.

What results, as compared with a strictly manual operation, are parts machined to extraordinarily precise specifications. Naturally, productivity is increased and waste and defects decreased.

But is CNC still another example of technology displacing human workers? Not so, says Harvill, explaining that the human machine operator's function is by no means eliminated by CNC.

"Instead of the operator's function is changed to that of an 'overseer' with other duties such as workpiece loading and unloading, information feedback, maintaining order and so on," Harvill says.

He adds that the effective operation of the machine tool with CNC becomes the responsibility of the CNC programmer. He stresses, however, that CNC is not a machining method but merely a concept of machine control.

"For example," he explains, "CNC doesn't change or alter the basic concepts or methods of drilling, boring, milling, tapping and so on. What it does is control these operations so that they are done more efficiently and to much more precisely exacting specifications.

Den 4 Cubs see computer room

In keeping with the theme of November, "What Will Be," Cub Scouts of Den 4 went to explore the computer room at Sacred Heart High School. They learned how the school uses the computer in teaching, in business, storing information and writing and rewriting letters. They were also shown the proper use and care of a floppy disk and how to insert it into the disk drive. They even were able to get hands-on experience by playing a game in which different shapes and colors had to be put in a secret combination to get a reward from "Gertrude, the Goose." After returning from the computer room, they enjoyed refreshments of cookies and cake provided by Darrell Russell. They then continued their meeting by making Indian necklaces as a part of their Indian costume with bear claws and beads.

They then adjourned, taking home with them the milk cartons and twigs to complete their bird feeders; and the information they need for the Pushmobile Derby Saturday in Fort Worth for all of Longhorn Council.

Den 4 Cubs enter race in Denton Nov. 1

Cubs of Den 4 joined Cubs from around the county Nov. 1 for a fun-filled morning of racing and all-around good time. They attended the first-ever Pushmobile Derby for Frontier Trails District. The Pushmobile Derby was sponsored by Dower Buick in Denton on the spacious parking lot of First Baptist Church.

Upon arriving, each den registered according to age and rank. Den 4 raced in the Wolf Division. Each car was then assigned a number and told which heat they would race in. Den 4 won their first heat and each boy received a blue first place ribbon. Later, they were in the Wolf Den runoff race and came in second in what turned out to be a close race. Each boy also received a red second place ribbon.

After racing was completed, an awards ceremony was held. Den 4 also received a blue and red ribbon at this ceremony to be attached to their den flag. Best design awards were also given. Callisburg, which is a new pack, received a trophy for their design.

After the awards ceremony, the boys of Den 4 enjoyed a picnic of pizzas and Dr Pepper before returning home. The boys enjoyed their outing tremendously and are already making plans for returning next year.

Members of Den 4 are Darrell Russell, Royce Knabe, Joseph Mark Walterscheid, Ryan Klement, Michael Flusche, Bradley and Greg Fisher and John Klement. They were accompanied on their trip by David Fisher, Lou Moster, Shirley Knabe and Rodney Knabe.

Museum announces crafts class

The Morton Museum of Cooke County History is pleased to announce that a Crafts Class for children will be held at the museum on the first two Saturday mornings in December, the 6th and 13th. The children will be taught to make a gift suitable for a woman and one suitable for a man as well as a Christmas ornament, all based on designs taken from magazines published in the 1870's, 1880's, 1890's, and so on. On the second Saturday the children will also have the opportunity to play games like those children used to and refreshments will be served.

The classes will be taught by Shana Powell and Kathy Steed and are open to all children from the ages of three to 11. There will be two sessions taught each of the Saturday mornings. The first will be from 8:30-10:00 a.m. and the second from 10:30-12:00 noon. The first session is open to children from the age of three to six and the second from seven to 11. The registration fee is $10.00 and it covers everything. The last day for registering a child will be Dec. 3. To register, simply call or come by the museum and give us the child's name and you can send your check to the museum. Payment must be sent before the class begins. Since we can only take a limited number of students, we have to go on a first come, first serve basis. So hurry and register before it is too late.

For more information, call the museum at 668-8900.

Old Fashioned Holidays at Museum

The Morton Museum of Cooke County History is pleased to announce the opening of its new exhibit, "Old-Fashioned Holidays."

This display will examine the traditions of the holidays, in particular Christmas, and will look at the ways our ancestors celebrated those special occasions. Quite a few toys for the kids of all ages are also going to be included in the exhibit, along with examples of crafts employed by people long ago and more often today to prepare for the holidays.

The museum, especially our Log Cabin area, will be decorated for the holidays and other surprises await the visitor. The exhibit will be open to the public beginning Nov. 18 from 12-5 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday until the beginning of January.

For more information, call the museum at 668-8900.

ASHLEY WALTERSCHEID

Ashley is one!

Ashley Walterscheid's first birthday celebration was a party held on Sunday, Nov. 9, at the home of her parents, Donna and Craig Walterscheid. Ashley's actual birthdate is Nov. 3. The cake and decorations carried out a teddy bear and balloons theme. Ashley opened and displayed her gifts while pictures were being taken.

Among the guests attending were grandparents, Evelyn and Donnie Walterscheid and Betty Ann and Don Flusche; Ashley's uncles Karl, Steve and Dickie; friends and cousins Joe, Pam, Kelly, Glen and Debra Dangelmayr; Curtis, Janet, Amy and Jessica Pagel; Todd, Brenda and Tiffany Richey and Vickie Thurman. Ashley's first birthday picture was taken by Karen Trubenbach at the Memories Portrait Studio.

JIMMY JACK BIFFLE III

Jack celebrates 2nd birthday celebrated with clown

Jimmy Jack Biffle III celebrated his second birthday with a party on Nov. 2 in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jack Biffle II, one day before his Nov. 3 actual birthday.

Theme for the party was "Clowns." A clown cake was made by Cathie and Francis Fuhrmann.

A special guest was "Happy, The Clown" who played with the children, helped award game prizes and party favors.

Cake and ice cream were served to friends and family members: Aunt Linda and Tony, Jonathan, Kenneth and Matthew; Aunt Darlene and Willie, Waylan and Tanya; Grandma Luke and Grandma and Grandpa Biffle; and baby sister, Jayna.

Also Kimberly Nix, Justin Hess, Debra and Michael Voth, Tiffany Richey.

Movies and pictures were made, and gifts were opened and displayed.

On Nov. 3, Jack and Jayna, and Brooke Endres and her mother accompanied the honoree's mother to McDonald's for lunch, and then to Leonard Park to spend the time at the zoo. Brooke and Jack share their birthdays on Nov. 3.

Phone 759-4311 or 4351 or send to Box 190, 76252, news of illness or injury to be included in our "News of the Sick" column. Patients appreciate "get-well-cards" from friends who hear of their illness through the column in the Muenster Enterprise.

Eileen Luke was hostess to the Muenster Garden Club when 12 members met in her home Friday morning at 9:30.

Loretta Felderhoff presented a program on the art, preparation and uses of potpourri. She told how the practice dated back in history to Egyptians and drifted down through the centuries.

She demonstrated several kinds, dry or moist, oils used, dried flower petals, spices and other ingredients necessary for construction of potpourri. She also showed attractive coverings, sachet bags or containers suitable for gift-giving, and provided materials as members constructed a sample.

She also described the "Wild-flower of the Month," Poinsettia, which originated as a wildflower in Mexico and was brought to his Carolina home by Joel D. Poinsett, ambassador to Mexico and an amateur botanist.

Marie Endres, club president, led the business meeting. Holly Koch reported on winners of the essay contest sponsored by Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. and entitled: "Innovative Gardening, Our Challenge." The winners are: Intermediate Class - 1st, Angela Endres; 2nd, David Rohmer; High School Class - 1st, Richard Fuhrmann; 2nd, Phil Reiter; 3rd, Vickie Schmitt; Honorable Mentions, Lisa Hamric, Noelle Hesse, Carol Koesler. Marie Mosman told that 1,000 points of accomplishments by members were reported to the District II offices of state garden clubs. Daryl Ferber told of attending a community meeting when ideas were shared on using the $20,000 allotted by the "Keep Texas Beautiful Contest" in the continuing improvement projects.

Dolores Miller brought samples of Germanfest souvenirs, all of excellent quality, as suggestions for the club's booth at Germanfest. Marcy Wilde reported on the recent Cooke County Council of Garden Clubs meeting she attended in Gainesville, telling also that the District II convention will be held in Gainesville in 1988.

Marie Endres told that the District II Fall Convention on Nov. 21 in Fort Worth will be held at the Worthington Hotel and that one of the meetings will occur in the recently-restored Tarrant County Court House, because a flower show, "Fantastic Chrysanthemums," will be staged there.

Members signed a sympathy card for Margaret Hartman and a get-well card for Angela Antonetti. The hostess served a brunch of quiche, homemade sweet rolls, spiced tea or coffee. The next meeting will be on Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. Enrique Juarez at 10:30 a.m.

Holiday In The Park starts Nov. 28

ARLINGTON - Six Flags Over Texas' Christmas entertainment event, Holiday In The Park, will begin its second annual run the day after Thanksgiving.

Last year more than 100,000 persons visited the Arlington theme park during its first-ever winter festival.

Most of Six Flags' rides are silent for Holiday In The Park. The attractions are elaborate Christmas decorations, live holiday musical shows, carolers, craftsmen, strolling bands, shops filled with gifts, an array of holiday foods, a nightly parade and more.

Two popular rides will be open. Visitors can join in singing songs of the season aboard the Six Flags Railroad with its puffing antique steam engines. And, appropriately, there will be rides on the new Avalanche Bobsled. Looney Tunes Land with host Bugs Bunny and activities for small children will also be open.

A snow hill will be built with tons of icy artificial snow for sledding.

For an extra fee, visitors may ride through the park in open carriages drawn by horses with jingling harness bells.

The 1986 version of Holiday In The Park will be staged only during the evening hours to take full advantage of the spectacular holiday lighting displays.

More than 325,000 twinkling lights will be seen in the park's lavish decorations, including 7,000 green bulbs which will transform the Texas Chute Out parachute tower into a 200-foot tall Christmas tree visible for miles around.

A parade of lighted floats carrying Bugs Bunny, Sylvester, Porky Pig, Daffy Duck and other Warner Bros. cartoon stars will wind through Six Flags each night.

The cartoon characters will also appear in their own holiday show on the stage of Looney Tunes Theater.

"Jolly Holiday," a full-scale musical production featuring 14 young performers will be staged in the Southern Palace Music Hall, and a country music revue with a holiday sound will be presented in the Crazy Horse Saloon.

Bands, choirs, and groups of costumed carolers will serenade visitors throughout the park.

Santa Claus, of course, will be greeting young visitors each evening in brightly-decorated surroundings.

Holiday In The Park will begin at 4 p.m. and will remain open until 10 p.m. most nights. The event will be staged on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings only for the first two weeks, then daily through New Year's Eve. The park will be closed both Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. Opening day for Holiday In The Park will be Nov. 28. Daily operation will begin Dec. 12.

Admission is $4.50, plus tax. Children age two and under are admitted free. Parking is also free.

Walters attend Parents' Weekend at son's school

Chris, Peggy and Jennifer Walter and a friend, Toni Reiter, attended Parents' Weekend at Subiaco Academy Nov. 7-9 as guests of Michael Walter. Enroute, they stopped in Chandler, Okla. for Peggy's mother, Georgia Daugherty, who accompanied them to Subiaco. Mrs. Daugherty was in Chandler to care for her sister, Edna, a recent stroke patient.

On Friday night, Mike and his father observed Peggy's birthday by taking the group out for dinner and later they went to the Subiaco Trojans-Ozark, Ark. football game. They also enjoyed a visit with Father Stephen Eckart.

Saturday morning all of the Walter group drove to Eureka Springs, Peggy's hometown. There they visited her father's grave, and Jennifer did a gravestone rubbing for a class project. The Walters also visited in Peggy's brother's home and went sightseeing and shopping in Eureka Springs before returning to Subiaco.

Saturday evening Mike's parents met his teachers. Mike made the honor roll for the first quarter grading period. Sunday morning they all attended the celebrated students' Mass and after Mass they were together for dinner in the student cafeteria, and later to take Mrs. Daugherty on a conducted tour around the academy and monastery. The Walters returned Mrs. Daugherty to Chandler, Okla. before they drove home.

Cub Scout News

Cubs of Den 4 held their first November meeting on Nov. 3. They opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance, led by Darrell Russell, using the new United States flag presented them by the VFW Auxiliary.

They then discussed the Turkey Shoot which was held Nov. 9 at the Muenster Park. It was also time to elect a new denner and assistant denner for the month of November. Boys elected this month were Darrell Russell as denner and Royce Knabe as assistant denner.

The boys then started their November project. They made tomahawks using paneling scraps and dowel sticks. Hopefully, by the end of the month, they will have a complete Indian costume.

They held a special candlelight ceremony honoring Mark and Royce. Both boys have completed their first three achievements toward the Wolf rank. Mark and Royce were presented their Progress toward Rank patch plus their first bead which is to be worn on their right pocket after their Bobcat induction, which was held up from October due to patches not arriving on time. The other boys in the den were encouraged and excited because they are just one achievement away from their own special ceremony and recognition patch.

The meeting was adjourned with the living circle and motto and refreshments were served by Mark Walterscheid of Rice Krispie treats, bananas and Kool-Aid.

Den 4 met Nov. 10 at Royce Knabe's home. They toured Muenster jail and got to feel the experience of being locked in and decided they did not like it. Helen Tompkins, Chief of Police, took each boy's fingerprints and explained how fingerprints are used in solving crimes and finding people who are missing. She also explained how everyone has fingerprints and not two fingerprints are alike. Chief Tompkins then showed the boys what marijuana looks and smells like, some of the bongs that are used to smoke it with, and roach clips that are used for holding butts. The boys then got to try on the gas masks that they use in case of fire and Chief Tompkins told them how they are used. She also told them how tire casts were made with special chemicals. Upon leaving, the boys thanked her for letting them come, and how much they enjoyed the visit.

They then returned to Royce's home where they made Indian headbands with vinyl and feathers and arm jingles with vinyl and bells.

Refreshments of cookies and punch were brought by John Klement and enjoyed by all.

Gehrigs spend weekend at Subiaco Academy

Jim, Cindy, Michael and Karen Gehrig were in Subiaco, Ark. Nov. 7-9 visiting their son and brother, Jason Gehrig, a sophomore at the Academy. It was Parents' Weekend and a time for meeting teachers and friends.

Jason was listed on the first quarter honor roll with an average 95.43, placing third highest of the student community.

During the weekend, one of the highlights was the Subiaco Trojans football game Friday night with Ozark, final game of the season, with the Trojans losing 26-23.

The Gehrigs enjoyed seeing Jason participate in team sports. Early Saturday morning he rode with them to Arkadelphia, Arkansas for the State Cross Country Track Meet.

Approximately 120 boys ran in the combined division (2A and 3A), a 3 1/2-mile course in which Jason and five other Subiaco classmates competed. The Trojan teams finished but did not place in the State Meet.

Subiaco students will be dismissed for the coming holidays, and Jason will be home for Thanksgiving Break, Nov. 26-30.

Sacred Heart teams claim opening wins

The Sacred Heart Tigers, Tigerettes and JV Tigerettes opened the 1986-87 basketball season on the right foot by sweeping the Lindsay Knights in action Friday at Lindsay. The Tigers scored a 56-40 victory and the Tigerettes posted a 51-28 win and the JV Tigerettes coasted to a 40-13 victory.

The Tigers claimed a 14-8 first period lead behind the scoring of Glenn Swirczynski and Wayne Becker who canned four each. The second frame was more of the same as the Tigers raced to a 31-16 half-time lead. Craig Voth and Todd Thorson were the big guns for the Tigers as they each scored six.

"We tried to keep running and it got us in trouble in the second half as we had too many turnovers," said Coach LeBrasseur. "If we make up our minds and dedicate ourselves, we could have a good season." The Tigers saw their lead shrink to seven in the final half, but seniors Todd Thorson and Casey Houtchens picked up the fire power by totaling 10 and 7 respectively.

Scorers for the Tigers were Todd Thorson 16, Casey Houtchens 13, also with a team-leading 17 rebounds, Craig Voth 8, Glenn Swirczynski 6, Wayne Becker 5, Steve Knabe 4, and Frank Hastings and Steve Becker 2 each.

The girls' contest was all Tigerettes as juniors Vicki Walterscheid and Danna Hamric led the Tigerettes to a 32-13 first half lead. "Vicki and Danna are improving with each practice and are providing great leadership for us," said Coach Jon. "Danna and Vicki have all the girls working hard and the improvement is showing the more we work together." The Tigerettes continued to open the lead as their pressure defense resulted in a 48-23 third period lead. The fourth period saw both teams preparing for the next contest and the final score of Sacred Heart 51 and the Knightettes 28.

Scorers for the Tigerettes were Danna Hamric 14, Vicki Walterscheid 12, along with a team-leading 7 rebounds and 5 blocked shots, Molly Koelzer and Noelle Hesse 6 each, Donna Walterscheid 5, Juline Bartel 4, Lisa Hamric and Vickie Schmitt 2 each.

The JV Tigerettes allowed the host Knights to take a 6-2 first period lead before Debbie Schmitt found the range and hit four field goals in pacing the Tigerettes to a 17-6 half-time lead. The second half saw the JV Tigerettes outscore the JV Knights 23-7 and resulting in a 40-13 victory. Scorers for the future Tigerettes were Debbie Schmitt 12, La Becca Hess and Amy Walterscheid 8, Janie Fisher 6, Tina Schilling 4 and Angela Endres 2.

Sacred Heart splits with Prairie Valley

Sacred Heart's Tigers and Tigerettes hosted the Prairie Valley Bulldogs in their home opener Tuesday evening in the Tiger Den. The Tigerettes upped their record to 2-0 while the Tigers dropped a 44-36 contest to slip to 1-1.

The Sacred Heart Tigerettes took a 44-13 halftime lead into the locker room as Vicki Walterscheid led the way with 14. The tenacious Tigerettes' defense continued the half-court pressure in the second period and outscored the guests 24-19 for a 68-33 win. Scoring for the Tigerettes were Vicki Walterscheid, 14 points and 15 rebounds; Lisa Hamric, 12; Danna Hamric, 11 points; Molly Koelzer, 7 points and 7 steals; Julie Rohmer, 6; Noelle Hesse, 6; Michelle Walter, 4 points and 7 assists; Juline Bartel, 2; Donna Walterscheid, 2; and Jennifer Fuhrmann, 2.

Next action for the Tigerettes will be in the Prairie Valley Tournament with the girls opening up at 5:00 against Paradise. "Paradise will be one of the best teams we will face all year," said Coach LeBrasseur. "They are big and fast and they have the experience to play us pressure man defense." "They will bring out our weaknesses."

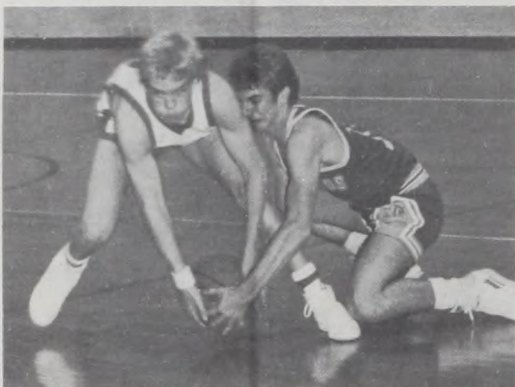

Turnovers! Turnovers! Turnovers! That was the story for the Sacred Heart Tigers as the Prairie Valley Bulldogs jumped all over the Tigers in the first period 16-2. "In the first period we had four shots, seven turnovers and one rebound," said Coach LeBrasseur. "You're not going to win many games with those stats." The second period the Tigers showed some improvement but the Bulldogs shot the lights out and raced to a 30-9 halftime advantage.

After a halftime discussion on defense, the Tigers narrowed the Bulldog lead to 37-34 but missed a free shot and turnovers spoiled the Tiger comeback bid. "That Wayne Becker played a ballgame," said Coach LeBrasseur. Becker scored eight points and led the Tigers with six steals. The Tigers had to foul late in the contest to get the ball and the Bulldogs cashed in from the charity strip to take a 44-36 victory.

Scoring for the Tigers were Craig Voth, 10; Wayne Becker and Casey Houtchens, 8 apiece; Todd Thorson, 6; Steve Knabe and Darrell Dangelmayr, 2 each. Next action for the 1-1 Tigers will be in the Prairie Valley Tournament against Paradise Friday at 6:30.

The Tigers and Tigerettes will return home next Tuesday for an engagement with the Horns from Forestburg. Game time is slated for girls at 7:00 and boys to follow. Also a reminder - a few season tickets are left for purchase, the season ducats allow the fan the opportunity to attend all home games at a great price. Tickets will be on sale through Monday.

Hornets split 6 as season opens

Muenster High School and Junior High School Hornets and Hornettes were very busy Monday as Loop action got underway here and at Saint Jo. The high school teams met Callisburg here and managed one win in four contests while both junior high teams brought victories back from their trip to Saint Jo. The Varsity Hornets opened with an impressive 52-31 win over the AA Wildcats. Both junior high teams jumped to 1-0 district records and a share of first place with a 29-27 win for the boys and a 34-18 margin for the girls.

VARSITY GIRLS

Muenster 52 Callisburg 31

The Hornettes jumped out to a 10-0 lead and never allowed the Wildcats to get closer than five. Staci Walterscheid paced the balanced scoring attack with 15 points, followed by Meredith McDaniel with 13, Dana Wimmer with 8, Melody Klement with 6, Shonna Reiter and Charlene Switzer with 4 each, and Jennifer Carroll with 2. Walterscheid, Wimmer and McDaniel led the rebounding stats with 9, 8 and 7.

"We had an excellent team effort tonight," said an excited Coach Heers, "and showed a lot of poise considering our youth." The Hornettes suited up four juniors, two sophomores and two freshmen for the game. Laura Hess (Sr.) will rejoin the team next week and Michelle Monday (Jr.) is out with the flu.

Heers and the Hornettes enjoyed their win but immediately started preparation for Saturday's opponent, the Valley View Eagles.

"Coach Golden may have the best squad they have had in several years," said Heers, "and we have to play them in their gym, too. They pass the ball real well. But we shot 41%, which is getting better, and got everyone involved in the scoring, so we're feeling pretty good."

VARSITY BOYS

Callisburg 57 Muenster 40

The Hornets were behind 27 to 11 by halftime as a cold-shooting first-half left them chasing the Wildcats. John Alderman paced Callisburg with 26 points and 7 out of 8 free throws in the 4th quarter.

Coach Heers felt that the Hornets got much more from the game than the surface indicated. "We really showed some intensity and desire during the second half," he said. "Stuart and Ryan hustled all over the court, and so did Kevin, Brian and J. Shane. We found out we could play some man-to-man well, and realized it takes 4 good quarters to win."

Ryan Klement shot 7 out of 17 from the field and 4 of 5 from the free throw line for 18 points. Brian Hess added 9 points with Kevin Anderle and J. Shane Wimmer each chipping in with 6 rebounds. Twenty-six turnovers by the Hornets pretty much stymied their chances for a comeback and kept them to only 46 field goal attempts for the game.

"We'd like to get 65 or 70 shots a game," added Heers, "and that means you must get the ball down the floor. Our ballhandling wasn't good, but we have had 2 excellent days of practice since the game and we are looking much better."

UIL rule changes explained

Despite a recent decision by the UIL rulemaking body granting local school districts the option of allowing girls to play junior high football, League officials said the change will not open high school boys' football teams to girls next season.

"The high school rule barring practice and participation by girls on boys' football teams remains in effect," Dr. Bailey Marshall, UIL director, said. "In effect, the League has reverted to its 1984 status when its rules did not apply to junior high athletics. Since no rule exists, schools may adopt and enforce their own guidelines regarding girls on boys' junior high football teams."

Presently, only Austin Bedichek junior high student Tina Trejo, who is playing under the protection of a court restraining order, may play junior high boys' football.

"The 'junior high boys only' restriction will be removed from the UIL's Constitution and Contest Rules if the concept is approved by the State Board of Education," Marshall said, adding that he expected approval at either the November or January meeting. "For practical reasons, the rule will go into effect next fall, if approved by the SBOE."

Marshall said he did not believe the rule change would effect the League's stance toward girls on boys' teams and vice versa. "I do not anticipate a challenge to our basic non-discrimination policy. The administrators who make up our rulemaking Council still believe strongly that girls should not play high school boys' football."

In other action, the Legislative Council, a 20-member group of high school superintendents and principals representing the five UIL classifications and four regions per classification, defeated a proposal that would have had a tremendous impact on high school athletics. The Council, which met Oct. 19-20 at the Capitol Marriott in Austin, rejected a plan to restrict all high school activities to one competition per calendar week (Monday through Saturday). If passed, it would have had a "tremendous impact on schools, especially in sports such as volleyball, baseball, basketball and soccer," Dr. Bill Farney, UIL athletic director, said. "There are a number of schools concerned with extensive travel during the school week. This is a very real concern that will be addressed by future councils."

The proposal was passed by the Legislative Council's Policy Committee Sunday but was defeated 12-5 by the entire council, Monday.

Other major action taken by the Council included:

Boys' Baseball - Amended the Boys' Baseball Plan so that students may not practice nor play on non-school baseball teams from the opening day of school in the fall until the starting date for the high school baseball season. The proposal was placed on the UIL's referendum ballot, which will be mailed to school in early February. Results will be announced the first week in March.

Boys' Baseball - Passed a provision to permit the umpire to restrict a coach to the dugout for minor violations of sportsmanship. The coach, thus restricted, could not come onto the field except to attend to an injured player, and could not coach from the coaches' box. Further abusive or flagrant behavior would require banishment from the game. The change will take effect in the 1986-87 school year.

Boys' Baseball - Beginning next year, baseball teams may begin out-of-school practice on the Monday prior to Feb. 1.

Boys' Football - Amended the Boys' Football Plan to make the penalty for post-season football participation loss of eligibility to participate in varsity football, rather than loss of eligibility in all varsity athletics. To be placed on referendum ballot.

Boys' Football - Amended Junior High Football Plan so that equipment may be issued on any one day during the week preceding the first day of school, although the first day of practice is the first day of school. The first day for junior high (seventh and eighth grade) games shall be no earlier than the first Monday after the first playing date for high school, and no earlier than the 10th day of school.

Basketball - Amended the bench decorum rule so that the coach may stand in front of his or her seat to briefly communicate with players but must then immediately return to the seat. The proposal will go into effect pending approval by the State Board of Education.

Athletic Training Camps - Placed on referendum ballot with favorable recommendation that students who change schools to attend a resident athletic training camp would not be eligible for varsity competition for one year from the date of enrolling in the camp.

Officials' Fee Schedule - Amended the Constitution and Contest Rules to increase officials' game fees for a double-header in all sports except football. Football game fees are increased for games that exceed the first step of gate receipts. Junior high fees are increased if the gate exceeds $75. This proposal will go into effect during the 1987-88 school year.

Post-Season Penalties - Placed on referendum ballot with a favorable recommendation a proposal giving district executive committees a range of penalties to apply if students violate outside participation restrictions in soccer or volleyball. The penalties would replace the current mandatory one-year loss of eligibility penalty.

Post-Secondary Courses - Placed on referendum ballot with a favorable recommendation a proposal allowing students to enroll in select post-secondary academic courses without loss of UIL eligibility in the corresponding UIL academic contest(s).

Athletic Amateur Rule Exception - Placed on the referendum ballot with a favorable recommendation a proposal to allow UIL participants to teach beginning swimming lessons for reasonable pay without loss of eligibility. Under current athletic amateur rules, athletes may not accept pay for teaching swimming lessons.

Study Items - Appointed special committees to study non-school volleyball restrictions, maximizing use of the school-day athletic period, and regulations pertaining to summer workouts and use of school facilities and equipment.

State Marching Band - Placed on referendum ballot with no recommendation a proposal to continue the UIL-sponsored state marching band contest, held each November at The University of Texas at Austin. The item will be voted on by schools participating in the 1986 marching band contest.

The referendum ballot will be mailed to schools by Feb. 1. Ballots must be marked, signed and returned by Feb. 15. Results will be announced on Saturday, March 7, during the UIL Girls' State Basketball Tournament. For more information, contact the UIL at 512/471-5883.

87 4-H'ers to compete in county food show

Eighty-seven local 4-H members will have an opportunity to display their foods and nutrition know-how when the Cooke County 4-H Food Show gets underway this Saturday, Nov. 22, at Whaley United Methodist Church in Gainesville.

4-H members will choose to prepare a dish in one of the four areas of Main Dishes, Fruits and Vegetables, Nutritious Snacks and Desserts, and Breads and Cereals.

Youth from the third grade through 13 will compete in the Junior Division while youths ages 14-19 will compete in the Senior Division.

Judging of entries is scheduled to begin at 9:45 a.m. Immediately following the judging, a public display of exhibits and a tasting bee will be held.

An awards program will culminate the activities. A winner and runner-up will be named in each of the four entry classes in Junior and Senior Divisions.

Although the ability to prepare food is an important part of the 4-

H Foods and Nutrition Program, each 4-H member should realize how important nutrition is and will be required as a 4-H contestant to demonstrate their knowledge of nutrition, meal planning and health-fitness practices in their lifestyle.

The 4-H program in Cooke County is open to all youth 3rd grade to 19 years of age regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Farm-City Week Nov. 21-27

"Farm and City: Partners in Progress" is the theme of this year's Farm-City Week Nov. 21-27. Purpose of the observance is to focus on the teamwork of farm and city people as partners in the growing, processing, marketing and consumption of food and fiber.

In other words, Farm-City Week is aimed at promoting better understanding between farm and city people and increasing the knowledge and appreciation of each for the American way of life.

Farm-City Week is under the direction of the National Farm-City Council, Inc., which is coordinated by Kiwanis International.

Agricultural production, marketing and processing provides jobs and income for about a fourth of the working force in Texas. One out of every 35 Texans is a farmer or rancher, and about 25 percent of the state's retail trade business is directly associated with agricultural production and selling of food and fiber products.

Total cash receipts from Texas agricultural sales were about $9.3 billion in 1985. Economic activity generated from these marketings exceeded $30 billion.

Total farm assets in Texas are estimated at $98 billion. With 160,000 farms in Texas, assets average about $600,000 dollars per farm. Many commercial size, full-time operators, have much more than a million dollars invested in their farm or ranch business.

Texas ranks in second place in total cash receipts among the leading agricultural states, surpassed only by California. Texas, however, is traditionally number one in the sales of cattle and calves, cotton, grain sorghum, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cabbage and spinach.

One farm worker today provides food and fiber for more than 80 people. He also creates jobs for more than five nonfarm people who produce the things farmers need and who process, transport and merchandise the crops farmers harvest.

American agriculture is the world's largest commercial industry with assets exceeding $1 trillion. This industry employs nearly 23 million people, a full 22 percent of America's total labor force. The agricultural industry encompasses manufacturing, farming, transportation, processing and merchandising.

Farm and city people make the best food and fiber team in the world and give this country the capacity to feed its own people and to export for economic gain as well as for humanitarian purposes.

STATE HAY SHOW SET FOR DEC. 11-12 - The Texas State Hay Show will be held Dec. 11-12 at the Coach Light Inn in Brenham. Hay entries are due Nov. 21 for seven classes: Coastal bermudagrass, other bermudagrass, other perennial grasses, mixed grasses, summer annual grasses, winter annual grasses and legumes. Winning entries will be recognized at a luncheon on Dec. 12 in conjunction with an awards program by the Texas Forage and Grassland Council. The council will conduct a series of educational programs the morning of Dec. 12. A 4-H and FFA hay judging contest will be held the afternoon of Dec. 11, notes a forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

THAW TURKEY SAFELY - Thaw your holiday turkey in the refrigerator as recommended on the package directions, advise Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service food safety experts. Thawing the bird in a microwave oven or by putting it in a watertight package under cold running water are also safe thawing methods. But don't thaw the turkey by letting it sit on the kitchen counter, since room temperatures allow bacteria which cause food poisoning to grow.

SAVE THE STUFFING FOR LAST MINUTE - Food safety experts with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service recommend stuffing a holiday turkey right before you cook it. Warm, moist dressing is an ideal medium in which food poisoning bacteria can grow. To save time, prepare the dry stuffing ingredients the day before, cover them tightly and leave at room temperature. But keep the perishable ingredients, such as butter, mushrooms, oysters, cooked celery, onions and broth in the refrigerator. Then combine the ingredients before stuffing the turkey.

DON'T SLOW COOK YOUR TURKEY - Cooking a stuffed turkey in a very slow oven at 200 to 250 degrees is not advisable, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service food safety experts. Because of the low temperature, the turkey and stuffing could take more than four hours to reach a high enough temperature to destroy harmful bacteria. They recommend cooking the turkey in a 325 degree oven until a meat thermometer shows the temperature has reached 180 degrees Fahrenheit. This will destroy salmonella bacteria that can cause food-borne illness.

Cattlemen lose tax breaks

DALLAS - Beef cattle producers who raise their own replacement heifers lost two important tax-saving provisions with the passage of the Tax Reform Act of 1986.

Wiped out by tax reform were the 60 percent exclusion of long-term capital gains and the right to expense the cost of raising replacement heifers, says Dr. Ken Stokes, economist-management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Under the old tax law, income for livestock held for breeding or dairy purposes for at least two years was treated as a long-term capital gain. Cattle producers using the cash method of accounting had a zero tax basis in raised livestock because production costs had been deducted as an operating expense during the years the animals were being raised, Stokes points out.

Thus, when a raised breeding cow was sold, the selling price less any selling expenses was treated as a long-term capital gain. Only 40 percent of the gain was taxable income.

With the repeal of the 60 percent capital gain deduction, the maximum rate on long-term capital gain will not exceed the maximum individual rates. In 1987, the highest capital gain rate will be 28 percent, says Stokes.

The economist points out that under the new law, farmers who are permitted to use cash accounting may be required to capitalize the cost of raising replacement animals that take two years or more to reach their production stage. Once the animal produces her first calf, the accumulated cost could then be depreciated.

Detailed farm financial records and careful cost allocation will be required to separate the cost of raising replacements from the cost of maintaining the breeding herd, Stokes emphasizes.

To keep deducting the cost of raising a replacement heifer as an operating expense, as most producers currently do, cattlemen must use straight-line depreciation on all assets put into service in any year the election is made to deduct preproductive period costs. This cuts the year's depreciation almost in half compared to accelerated methods, says Stokes.

He predicts that loss of the 60 percent exclusion of long-term capital gains and the restriction on the election to expense costs of raising replacement heifers will increase taxes paid by cow-calf producers.

County Agent's Report

Last week several representatives of the DuPont Chemical Company were in the county to explain some of the uses of Glean and a new herbicide called Ally.

First of all, Glean now has a special local needs label in Texas for use on winter oats as a pre-emerge or post-emergence application. As indicated on the labeling, wet, cold conditions while oats are young may lead to injury of the oats. Producers should be aware of the possibility of injury under unfavorable weather conditions. Do not make a pre-emergence treatment to late fall plantings (after Nov. 1), as herbicide stress plus cold weather stress can cause crop injury. Remove grazing cattle during wet field conditions to avoid a disturbance in the herbicide barrier. If you have had heavy rainfall between the time of treatment and the two-leaf stage there can be some temporary yellowing and stunting that will cause crop injury. If you plan to use Glean as a post-emergence application, then you should apply it at 1/6 to 1/2 ounce per acre after the crop has passed the two-leaf stage. If you are concerned about spraying germinating weeds, then you would probably want to use 1/3 ounce per acre on a fall application. As always, Glean should not be used on soils with a pH of 7.9

or above. The new product, Ally, is a chemical similar to Glean that also has properties that cause it to persist in soils for long periods of time. Ally is to be used as only a broadleaf weed control. It has no ryegrass control association. Ally can only be used on wheat and barley. It is to be used at one rate on all soils and that is 1/10 of an ounce per acre. It is shown to be effective on broadleaf weeds when they are at a young stage. Producers should thoroughly read label instructions before using any of these chemicals.
