Williamson detained by Special Session...

Farabee fills the bill

"We're going to have to cut the budget. We're going to have to raise some taxes," warned Senator Ray Farabee Tuesday night in his presentation given at Scoop It Up, held in the crowded Cooke County Electric Co-op Auditorium. Money talk dominated discussions as Senator Farabee spoke with citizens who came hungry for homemade ice cream and full of concerns and questions.

Mrs. Mary Ann Williamson, wife of Representative Ric Williamson, began the program by apologizing for her husband's absence. At the time he was in Austin at the Special Session debating the Appropriations Bill. She said that he was sorry he couldn't come, but that "he feels that we would probably rather have him in Austin keeping taxes low."

Mrs. Williamson also stated that Rep. Williamson is willing to come to the Muenster area after the Special Session to speak with residents.

In her introduction of Senator Farabee, Mrs. Williamson identified him as being "one of the few statesmen instead of politicians." Farabee, who represents 29 counties in addition to Cooke County, had just flown in from Austin.

"Our state is in a difficult circumstance," Senator Farabee began, citing a narrow tax base, falling oil prices and a declining economy as contributing to the problems Texas faces. He feels that anyone would have a hard job being governor of Texas at this time, and he stated that "although I'm a Democrat and proud to be one, I sympathize with Governor Clements."

Farabee also credited part of the complexity in Texas' situation to the expectations of the people of the state. "People live longer, and correspondingly there is a greater need for services," he added.

"Earlier this evening we were talking about cutting the budget across the board. We may do it, but I don't advise it. Some programs are more important than others," Farabee mentioned programs for the elderly and for unwed teenage mothers as important services that shouldn't be cut.

The senator predicted a finalized budget for the state by mid-August.

Much of Farabee's discussion also centered on education in Texas. He cautioned that education was often the first item on the budget to be cut because 60 percent of tax money goes to that area.

Farabee urged that Texas needs to make a commitment to quality education, and he indicated that the education reform bill backed by H. Ross Perot several years ago was a good start. "You do a great job here in Muenster and you do a great job in Lindsay. But all school boards don't do as good a job."

Juanita Bright opened the series of questions from the audience to Farabee with a concern regarding controlling waste in the spending of tax money. The senator replied that "there is a certain amount of waste in every business," and that much of what is spent is controlled by the Texas Constitution. He also attributed part of the waste to the complexity in Texas that he had spoken of earlier and to the diversity and disagreement of Texas voters.

In response to a question asked by Dennis Hess regarding the 45 percent increase in sales tax in the past year, Farabee claimed that Good News!

When they heard this, they were deeply shaken. They asked Peter and the other apostles, "What are we to do, brothers?" Peter answered: "You must reform and be baptized, each one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ, that your sins may be forgiven; then you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. It was to you and your children that the promise was made, and to all those still far off whom the Lord our God calls."

Swirczynski witnesses surrender

During World War II, the Fourth of July was "just another day" to American soldiers stationed overseas. There were no grand parades with waving banners or Sousa marches; actual gunfire replaced fireworks displays. But the everyday activities of Ray Swirczynski of Muenster were a little different from those of other soldiers at that time; Swirczynski was a baker for General Douglas MacArthur and his troops.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swirczynski, he gained cooking experience at the age of 17 while working at Steve and Clara Fette's cafe on Muenster's main street. He later moved to Illinois and worked in oil fields, and it was at this time that 30-year-old Swirczynski was drafted. He began his service to the U.S. Army in March of 1943.

Upon arriving for basic training in Cheyenne, Wyoming, Swirczynski was soon given his first baking duties, for officers had learned of his prior cooking experience. He spent several months in the officers' camp there but was then sent to Camp Stone, California for a few weeks, "getting ready for overseas," Ray said. On Oct. 23, 1943, he landed in Melbourne, Australia.

After being sent to several cities in Australia, Swirczynski was finally assigned to Brisson, where he began his baking duties for General MacArthur and his map-makers and guards. "That's when they assigned me to G.H.Q. (General Headquarters)," Ray explained. From that point until after the surrender of the Japanese in September of 1945, he traveled with General MacArthur.

Because Swirczynski was a baker, he received the privilege of a Class A pass. Although Ray said that he was "happy with what I had," his duties weren't without problems. He was required to bake enormous quantities - for 1300 soldiers at the Manila Hotel - often working around food shortages. Many places where he was stationed came under enemy fire, and one mess hall where he baked was blown up. Ray remembers, though, that after a while, soldiers "didn't have fear anymore. You had your daily job to do, and you went and did it."

Mr. Swirczynski stated that General MacArthur frequently strolled around his camp at night. "I knew when he was going to make an invasion of the islands because he'd walk and walk." Often, MacArthur would go to the mess hall where the bakers were doing their nightly work. There, he ate fresh doughnuts, drank coffee, and visited with the bakers. Ray commented that in the mess hall, "MacArthur never talked about war. He always asked about

Paving assessments examined at hearing

Street paving and curbing assessments were the topics of conversation Monday night at the public hearing called for that purpose. The City Council heard opinions from concerned landowners on Eddy, 9th and 5th Streets.

The following action will be taken: On South Ash and West Eddy Streets, the paving assessment to adjoining landowners will be $2.42 per running foot or $4.84 if a curb is installed. The curbing requirement has been waived for this project in the same way it was for North Ash Street last year. The city and county will cooperate on the job. An exception to the assessment is the small piece of land between FM 373 and the Brushy Elm Creek bridge on the south side of Eddy. Art Bayer argued that since this property is small, virtually unusable and often flooded, the paving would not enhance his land value. He showed pictures of the recent flooding. The council agreed about halfway and voted to make the assessment for that part only $1.21 per foot for the paving.

Councilmen split their vote concerning the section of 9th Street. By a 2 to 3 vote, they declined to assess Al Horn $8.80 per foot to finish curbing along 9th Street west of Maple. Without the assessment, that project remains on hold. Aubrey Tuggle and Claude Klement voted for and Councilmen Ray Endres, Al Hess and Willie Wimmer voted against the assessment.

The property belonging to Mr. and Mrs. John Appel will be assessed $7.15 per foot for curbing adjoining their property along 5th Street at Hickory. The lot is only 50 feet wide and Appel felt since zoning regulations do not allow a house to be built on the lot, their value would not be enhanced. Council did not agree and voted 4 to 0 for the assessment. Ray Endres abstained.

End of Session Retrospect

By Richard F. Williamson, State Representative and Gregory D. Watson,
Administrative Assistant

AUSTIN - If Texas is at the crossroads of the future, then the question is simple - which road do we take? According to the leader we follow (the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor or the Speaker of the House) we could be facing the expensive and unknown journey or perhaps an affordable trip that will lay the groundwork for economic expansion and tax equality. This is the second in a multi-part series of articles looking into the current State budget stalemate in the Texas Legislature.

The first installment focused upon the numerical reasons behind the impasse and the differences between the Senate and House of Representatives and their differences with the Governor. This installment will focus more closely upon the individual position of the Governor in the budget battle.

Governor Clements was elected last November on a platform of holding the line on taxes and State spending. It is not unreasonable to assume that when voters elected him, they agreed with that position and want him to stick to it. By the same token, however, voters also elected 150 members of the House of Representatives and half of the 31 Senators. And there is nothing unreasonable about assuming that they, too, have their mandates from the electorate.

Once again, the House has adopted a spending plan of $39.4 billion, the Senate has adopted one of $39.9 billion and the Governor has said that he will veto a spending plan above $37.6 billion. But even the differences just between the House and the Senate have kept any plan from even being presented to the Governor.

Governor Clements originally stated that he would not support a budget that exceeded $36.9 billion. Later, however, he revised that ceiling upward to $37.6 billion. The latter figure would, according to the Governor, provide the current level of services adjusted for population changes. The Governor argues that the Senate and House propose to increase spending in programs that are not essential to public education, higher education, highways, human services and/or business regulations. This increase in spending may be desirable and might even produce a service to the population but at this point in time, the increase cannot be justified, according to the Governor.

The impact of the budget crisis on specific State programs is difficult to assess. It all depends on which plan you look at - the Governor's plan, the Lieutenant Governor's plan or the Speaker's plan. And even then, the impact cannot be determined with precision. However, here is a summary of areas that are sure to be impacted by the Governor's plan:

Higher Education - Expect tuition to rise as the State shifts more of the cost onto students for their education. Cuts in such things as library hours and acquisitions, organized research, and campus grounds maintenance should come as no surprise.

Health and Human Services - Human Services such as convalescent care, programs for the visually- and hearing-impaired, Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) and truancy/runaway tracking and recovery services.

Law Enforcement - Anticipate some reductions in services offered by the Department of Public Safety as salaries for troopers remain at present levels or increase only sluggishly.

Agriculture - Curtailments in fire ant research, market news information and seed regulation services are quite possible.

Again, Governor Clements has revised upward the ceiling he imposed on a budget that would be acceptable to him and which he could, in good faith, sign into law. No doubt the Governor made that revision in recognition of the fact that many State services, such as health care programs, are either simply indispensable or, like establishing out-of-state and foreign markets for Texas products, help to diversify our economy the lack of which is what got us into this whole mess in the first place.

In light of the negative impact on some State services, many people question why the Governor continues to oppose permanent tax increases but supports one-time ideas such as the state lottery and a temporary sales tax to fund prison construction. The Governor remembers that in the early part of this decade huge budget surpluses developed that were never returned to the taxpayer via lowered tax rates. His fear is that if we either raise the rate or expand the base during an economic recession, those same surpluses will develop again when the economy improves and again the size of government will expand beyond what is necessary. If a substantial tax increase now were to also result in an embarrassing surplus, just what assurance would taxpayers have that their money would not be hurriedly and mindlessly squandered?

The Governor believes that there is another major problem with the budget that can only be solved during periods of cash flow crisis - the problem of duplication and inefficiency. As long as pressure is on lawmakers, the Legislature will continue to consolidate agencies, close colleges that are not productive, adopt uniform accounting systems, develop meaningful workload requirements and, in general, upgrade the quality of the taxpayer's investment in government.

Finally, the Governor is committed to a modern tax structure that moves the State away from dependence on the oil industry and redistributes the tax burden more fairly while providing for a growing revenue source as the population grows. However, such a far-reaching decision as tax restructuring should not be made while debating spending plans - the two concepts are separate and distinct problems.

The road that Governor Clements prefers is one of limited government growth and recognition of economic limits. His critics argue that this lack of vision guarantees that Texas will never be able to compete with the other high-growth states. Next week, we will look at Lieutenant Governor's approach - a different road to travel.

the family back home." "He was real good to us," Ray added. "He never called us 'soldier.' He'd always call us by 'son,' or 'gentlemen' if there were more than one of us."

Swirczynski recalls that he and and bakers to go with him to Tokyo while the terms of the peace treaty were to be negotiated. One of Swirczynski's activities during his three weeks in Tokyo was teaching Japanese women to cook using indoor stoves.

"He was real good to us." "He never called us 'soldier.' He'd always call us by 'son,' or by 'gentlemen' if there were more than one of us."

another Muenster soldier stationed nearby, Marty Klement, chanced into witnessing a historic moment. They were watching a movie in the basement of a building with General MacArthur and several others when the telephone rang.

When in Tokyo Bay, Swirczynski cooked a meal for a hungry New York Times correspondent who came to cover the Japanese surrender on board the battleship Missouri. The journalist offered Ray his other free pass to board

"Gentlemen, looks like the Japanese want to give up. Let's get on with the show."

MacArthur spoke on the phone for a while and then announced to the small crowd, "Gentlemen, looks like the Japanese want to give up. Let's get on with the show."

"I almost went through the ceiling," Ray laughed.

General MacArthur then asked Swirczynski and a few other cooks the ship during the signing in exchange for meals while he remained in the area. Swirczynski agreed to the deal, and on Sept. 2, 1945, he watched the formal surrender from the fourth deck of the ship.

Swirczynski returned to Muenster after his service in the war. He held various jobs before starting Ray's Drive-In in 1968. This convenience store and bakery is now Bayer's Kolonialwaren, owned and operated by Swirczynski's son-in-law and daughter, Chas and Carolyn Bayer.

Two hundred and eleven years have passed since the signing of the Declaration of Independence, proclaiming the value of freedom and human rights. Proud citizens such as Ray Swirczynski have since served under great leaders like General MacArthur to uphold the ideals this document represents. These men and women fought to protect the independent nation of the United States of America, envisioned by the Founding Fathers over two centuries ago.

the amount raised by the old sales tax wasn't enough then. In addition, factors in Texas such as the increasing crime rate and increasing birth rate cause the need for greater taxes.

Gary Fisher's question of what would happen if the price of oil went back up while taxes were up was responded to by Farabee with the statement that oil prices going back up "wouldn't make that much difference." The senator also stated that oil productions are going down.

Farabee addressed an inquiry about illegal immigrants by first mentioning merits of the aliens: they work and pay sales tax. However, he ended with the observation that "we need a stronger identification system. We can't take care of people here much less new ones coming in."

CROWD 350 STRONG RAZZ BOY FRIENDS IN DONKEY GAME

About 350 people were on hand last Sunday night to cheer for the donkeys when a crowd of the local fellows tried desperately to get some co-operation from the obstinate little beasts in the first donkey game here in several years.

The donkeys did a good job of backing up their trainer's promise that they would provide plenty of trouble for the boys. One young animal especially gave the fans many a laugh by streaking out on a cross-country gallop every time his turn came to run the bases. The other three base runners were more inclined to pitching and one of them had a favorite trick of lowering his head and unloading passengers down his neck. Donkeys in the field were slow but dependable and could usually be relied upon to retrieve a ball in time to get the base runner out at first.

The game ended at 1 to 1, both runs being made by the same animal.

SHIRTS FOR THE BALL TEAM

From now on when the Muenster boys go out on the field they will look more like members of the same ball club. Prior to the game Thursday night, the boys' official shopper, Walter Blietler, unwrapped a bundle of fancy bright yellow polo shirts.

Ed Schmitt, Jr., is getting set for the plowing season with a new Oliver Row Crop 70 tractor and a heavy disc plow. At the same time his brother, Al, is fixing up a new 70 and a one-way plow. Both sets of equipment were sold by Gainesville Farm Machinery Co. late last week.

All All Set for Big Time With New Outboard Motor

A little boy with a pretty red wagon could not be more tickled than Al Walterscheid is with his new outboard motor. For the rest of the summer Al expects to spend his spare time on fishing trips to Lake Dallas or Lake Bridgeport.

Last Sunday he and Matt Schmitz gave the new gadget its first tryout at Lake Dallas, but they first made sure the boat was supplied with oars. They reported splendid luck with both motor and fish.

Mystery Surrounds Action Of Thresher Hand; Crew Wonders if He's G-Man

According to recent reports workers on the Bayer thresher crew had their labors spiced with a touch of adventure during the past week. One man on the force was marked as a city rube because of his amateurish methods of handling teams. Nevertheless he carried on for several days before submitting his resignation.

When encouraged to remain he disclosed that he had a good income from another source and that the man he was looking for was not there anyway.

Since then the fellows have been wondering whether their companion was a G-man.

While Oscar Walter is taking his vacation his work at the J. B. Wilde Motor Co. has been turned over to Jake Horn, Jr.

Vincent and Werner Becker plan to leave sometime next week for Harford where they will assist Carl Luke in his wheat harvesting.

Stalls Car on Tracks; Too Scared to Move as Locomotive Appears

W. N. Milner, an employe on the R. W. McKinney construction crew, had a narrow escape Monday night when the car in which he was riding stalled on the Katy tracks in South Muenster just as the 6:45 eastbound train was pulling in.

Milner, apparently scared witless at the sight of the approaching locomotive simply sat in the car until the engine had almost reached him then slowly got out and left the automobile to its fate. All the time Depot Agent Henry Stelzer was waving and shouting frantically and the engine whistled continuously.

Fortunately for both man and automobile the engineer had his brakes applied and was almost stopped before he came in contact with the car. The only result was that the left side of the body was dented and the front end of the car was swept around a few feet. Immediately afterward Milner drove the car away under its own power.

The driver had ample time to start the car, pull it off the tracks with the starter, or even push it off, but, as he explained, when that big locomotive loomed up a few yards away he simply was scared stiff.

Safety belt paid off for Dallas survivor

When Dallas attorney Christopher Turner heads out for his Fourth of July picnic, you can bet he'll be wearing his safety belt.

If he had failed to buckle up one morning last February, he probably wouldn't have been around for Valentine's Day.

"I'm sure I would have had a severe spinal injury, and probably would've been killed," said Turner, looking back on the Feb. 10 accident that demolished his car and sent him to a hospital emergency room. "The seat belt saved me. There's no question about it."

The 43-year-old attorney, an official member of the Texas Safety Belt Survivors' Club, was on his way to the office when a speeding car struck the left side of his Mazda GLC as he crossed a street. "I had stopped at the stop sign," recalled Turner. He looked both ways, then started through the intersection, watching his right side. He had no warning of the crash until, "out of the corner of my eye, I saw the car coming in my front door," he said.

"The roof folded like an accordion ... the driver's side was crunched into the passenger's side," Turner said. It was close quarters for a man who stands 6'3". The ceiling collided with his head, causing a concussion, but he credits the safety belt for keeping his spine in one piece. "I and the belt and the seat all moved together ... it kept the top half of me from being torn away from the other half," he said.

"Stories like this one are worth thinking about, especially with a three-day Fourth of July weekend coming up," said George R. Gustafson, president of Texas Safety Association and a spokesperson for the Texas Coalition for Safety Belts. "Chris Turner's accident - his first, in 28 years of driving - shows that belts can make the difference between life and death, even for the best of drivers.

"Many Texans, and many out-of-state visitors, will be on the roads in the next few days. With speed limits up to 65 miles per hour on some rural interstates, the risks will be even greater," said Gustafson. "If people don't fasten their belts and take the extra moments needed to properly restrain their young children, this holiday could end in tragedy for many families."

Secular Franciscans plan solemn profession

The Secular Franciscan Fraternity of St. Peter's Parish in Lindsay held a business meeting on Tuesday, June 9, at 2 p.m. in the home of the William Flusches.

Principal items of business included plans for solemn profession of two new members, Mmes. Elizabeth Hoberer and Frances Zimmerer. The ceremony will begin with 7:45 a.m. Mass on July 16 followed by the ritual observance of profession. The members were asked to remain in church for a regular prayer meeting to conclude the ceremony.

Mrs. Tony Hermes, president, conducted the meeting, opening with Consecration of the Order of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and prayers from the Ritual. A candle was lit during the prayer.

Veronica Klement read from Scriptures and Mary Stoffels read four paragraphs from The Rule of the Secular Franciscan Order.

Mrs. Hermes read an acknowledgement from the Sacred Province in receipt of the per-capita contribution sent in April; also a thank-you note from St. Francis Village for the package of cancelled stamps.

Members will again sponsor a Garage Sale before opening of school. Definite date, time and place will be announced at the August meeting.

The prescribed closing prayer and prayer to St. Francis brought the meeting to an end.

After adjournment, the hostess, Elvira Flusche, served cake, ice cream and coffee. Mrs. Bernadine Schmidtkofer won the door prize, a statue of St. Barbara.

Thanks to all merchants and individuals who contributed towards making Cooke County Cub Camp a big success!

Good ol' summertime

The "good old summertime," goes the song, is here. The year is half over. One consolation is that the humidity in August will be negligible compared to the humidity we have endured in June.

Weather statistics provided by Steve Moster are as follows:

	High	low	Precip.
June 24	84	78
June 25	92	70	.25
June 26	92	72
June 27	88	70
June 28	90	68
June 29	90	68
June 30	88	70	.16

The .41 inch of precipitation received the last week of June, combined with the month's earlier total of 5.59 inches, brings the monthly amount to 6.00 inches; added to the previous yearly total of 23.20 inches, the present year-to-date rainfall total is 29.20 inches.

Average rainfall in Muenster is about 33 inches. At mid-year, we're close to breaking the record.

Important Notice

The Federal Communications Commission requires telephone companies to increase subscriber line charges, effective July 1, 1987. The charges are to residential and single line business customers will increase by $0.60 per month. This increase applies to single-party and multi-party line customers.

These subscriber line charges are designed to recover a portion of the costs of connecting telephone customers to the nationwide telephone network that in the past were recovered through interstate long distance charges. We anticipate that the increased subscriber line charges authorized may be offset by reductions in charges by long distance service providers.

The new charges, effective July 1, 1987, are:

Individual line or trunk, including multi-party lines, each $2.60

If you have a question about these charges, please call 759-2251 in Muenster and 726-3333 in Valley View for more information.

Harlow Children's Ranch keeps busy

The summer days of boys at Harlow Children's Ranch have been filled with many events and activities. Recently, the Ranch Awards Banquet was held, followed by the dedication of the Prairie Valley Branch School located on the campus on Nocona Lake.

Also, the boys have visited the LBJ Grasslands and spent one day at Black Creek Lake fishing, picnicking and hiking. They enjoy frequent outings to nearby Nocona Lake, where they fish, swim, and water ski. Not only do the boys enjoy these outings on the lake, but they also enjoy times of singing and other fellowship.

In addition to their times of fun, the boys at Harlow Children's Ranch are learning responsibility. Each boy keeps up his own room, and they have regular chores and duties which they perform.

If there is anyone, especially adult, single males, interested in becoming a child care worker at HCR, please contact Ray Harlow at 817/825-6290.

June 27 ceremony unites couple

Sara Frances Kirkham of Southlake became the bride of William O. (Billy) Huchton of Grapevine on June 27 during a Nuptial Mass and double ring rites at 4 p.m., officiated by Father Barthow in St. Francis Catholic Church of Grapevine.

The bride is the daughter of Dick and Judy Kirkham of Southlake and the groom is the son of Mrs. Theresa Huchton of Muenster and the late A.J. Huchton.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Bishop Dunne High School, and attended Stephen F. Austin State University and Tarrant County Junior College. She is a sales representative for athletic equipment employed by BSN Sports of Dallas. The groom is a 1977 graduate of Muenster High School and attended Cooke County College. He is a concrete foreman employed by Prestige Gunite of Keller.

Before an altar decorated with arrangements of mixed white seasonal flowers and gladioli and mums, with a background of four, seven-foot tall palms, the bride was presented by her parents.

For her wedding, she chose a formal white tulle and lace bridal gown. It was designed with bodice of embroidered seed pearls and ruffled cap sleeves, with a ruffled, tiered chapel length train. Her waist-length illusion veil fell from a garland of white roses and seed pearls, sprinkled with white baby's breath.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white silk orchids, rose stephanotis, seed pearls and baby's breath, and, for sentiment, she wore a 23-year-old pendant belonging to her mother.

Attending the bride were her sister, Dixie Shull of Benbrook, as matron of honor and Sherina Wingrove of Austin, her cousin, and Dana Behan of Irving, a friend, as bridesmaids.

They were gowned in mauve organza over taffeta, designed with ruffled neckline and cap sleeves. Their bouquets held silk spring flowers with lace and rose streamers.

Stephanie Huchton, daughter of Neil and Peachie Huchton of Muenster, and niece of the groom, was flower girl. Jacob Huchton, son of Terry and Julie Huchton of Midland, and nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Roger Haverkamp of Watauga, cousin of the groom, was his best man and Steve Fette, a friend, and Neil Huchton, groom's brother, both of Muenster, were groomsmen.

Richard Kirkham of Denton and Chris Kirkham of Wayne, Okla., bride's brothers, were ushers.

Mass servers were Rex Huchton, groom's brother, and Jason Huchton, groom's nephew.

Richard Kirkham, bride's brother, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Sunrise, Sunset."

Lyle Huchton, groom's brother, gave the Readings for the wedding liturgy and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kirkham, the groom's mother, Mrs. A.J. Huchton, and the groom's brother, Terry Huchton, presented Offertory gifts at the altar.

RECEPTION

Following the church service, the bride's parents hosted a reception at The Elks Lodge in Grapevine. Angie Kirkham registered two hundred guests in the bride's book.

The bride's table was covered with a lace table cloth, and centered with spring flowers and candles. The white wedding cake by Ida Mae's of Jacksboro was sprinkled with sugar flowers in shades of dusty rose, blue, grey and green. A sugar floral arrangement graced the top keepsake layer.

Reception assistants were Marla Fette, Amy Fette, Kerry Haverkamp, all of Muenster, and Genie Walsh and Sherry Duncan. Spring flowers decorated the reception room.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Las Vegas and will be at home in Grapevine upon their return.

Among pre-nuptial parties were showers on May 16 in Southlake hosted by Mmes. Colleen Hess, Rhonda Pagel, and Terry Cagle and on June 14 in Dallas hosted by Joe and Marie Clement. The rehearsal dinner was held in the Fox Hunt Restaurant in Grapevine.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. A.J. Huchton; Neil, Peachie, Jason and Stephanie Huchton, all of Muenster; Terry, Julie, Jacob and Kate Huchton of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Huchton, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Huchton and children, all of Bedford; and Lyle Huchton of Denton.

Mrs. Ernie Hellman; Peggy and Larry Gobble; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schilling; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Klement; Ed and Darlene Otto; Emma Lou Hess; Howard and Darlene Hess; Gene and Patty Hess; Roy and Carol Clement, Steve and Marla Fette and family; Mickey and Bernard Haverkamp and Kerry; Glenn and Jeanie Hess.

Also Mike and Joanie Sturm; J.T. and Renate Pagel; Wayne and Tammy Wimmer; Monte and Jackie Endres; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Mollenkopf; Smoke and Carol Koelzer; Pat Walterscheid; Carol Knabe; Brian and Mary Hess; Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Bednorz; Rose Stoffels, all of Muenster.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Aloys Fuhrmann of Lindsay; Nicky Stoffels and Bonnie of Gainesville; Roger and Monica Haverkamp of Watauga; Glenn Trachta and Wayne Trachta of Decatur; and Kenny Hess of Dallas.

Sherenschnitte is featured program

A program on the art of Scherenschnitte was the special feature at the June 10 meeting of the Muenster Extension Homemakers Club in the home of Louise Bayer.

Lucille Lutkenhaus, vice president, opened the meeting with the club prayer and the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag, followed by an inspirational, "First Day of School for the Baby." In addition, Lucille reported on attendance at the program planning meeting where plans were made for the 1988 yearbook.

Armella Lutkenhaus gave the Scherenschnitte program which highlighted the meeting, noting that the hardest aspect of learning this ancient craft is learning to pronounce the name.

(Scherenschnitte is pronounced shear-in-schnitt-tah).

This art of cutting paper into decorations has been practiced in many countries for many years. Seventeenth century Germans are credited with bringing the art to America where it gained popularity as enhancements for celebrations such as births and marriages.

With the advent of mechanized paper cutting tools in the early 20th century, the art was nearly lost. However, Scherenschnitte has made a comeback due to renewed interest in early American crafts.

The hostess, Louise Bayer, served blueberry cake, ice cream and coffee to 19 members.

Liz Koessler will host the July meeting.

Muenster Girl Scouts awards presented

CYNTHIA FLEEMAN and Stan R. Tempel have chosen July 10 as their wedding date. Their engagement and approaching marriage have been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fleeman of Gainesville and formerly of Muenster. Parents of the future-groom are Ray Tempel of Lindsay and Joe and Mary Moore of Gainesville. The bride-elect is a 1984 graduate of Muenster High School. She is a department manager at Wal-Mart. Stan Tempel is a 1987 graduate of Gainesville High School; graduated from Cooke County College in 1982, and attended North Texas State University for one year. He is the manager of Gainesville Auto Sales. The couple plans to reside in Gainesville following the 6 p.m. ceremony in Whaley Methodist Church, officiated by Rev. Joe Ed Goolsby.

Muenster Girl Scouts closed the school year and concluded several months of effort with an awards program held at the Muenster VFW Hall. Barbara Reynolds, Field Director from Nocona, was a special guest for the event.

The opening and closing flag ceremonies were conducted by Robin Greathouse, Dawn Knabe, Tonya Knabe, Misty Knabe, Allison Klement and Vanessa Felderhoff.

Seven members of Brownie troop 60 (in grades 1-3) received "Try-Its" in three different worlds of interest. The girls participated in many group, as well as individual, projects and activities. In the World of People, the girls learned songs, games and customs of girls in other countries.

The World of Outdoors activities included learning about plants and animals by having a "seed race," an ecology hunt, making rubbings of natural objects, making a "walking salad." Girls also learned about kapers (duties) in the out-of-doors planning, preparing for and carrying out food preparation over a campfire, and clean-up.

The World of Art activities included making dough shapes and collages, singing, making puppets and performing an original puppet show.

Members of Troop 60 are Laura Klement, Karri Endres, Nicole Endres, Becky Endres, Kammi Barnhill, Vanessa Felderhoff and Trisha Endres.

Leader Irene Hartman presented a special First Aid badge to members of Junior Troop 43. These girls did an extensive first aid project, consisting of visiting Muenster Memorial Hospital, discussing the contents of and gathering a first aid kit for their use, learning the treatment for various types of accidents and illnesses. Several girls earned other badges individually. Members are Sally Fisher, Ashley Hartman, Sabrina Truebenbach, Julie Walterscheid, Keri Barnhill, Laura Vogel and Rae Ann Walterscheid.

Junior Troop 45 members received a number of badges including Group and Individual Sports, Child Care, Junior Citizen. Julie Felderhoff, Misty Knabe and Allison Klement earned Outdoor Cook, First Aid, Math Whiz, and Troop Camper as a result of a weekend trip to Camp Gambill in Paris, Texas and an overnight at Camp Letoli in Saint Jo. Patch to recognize their assistance with the activities of Brownie Troop 60.

They also received the "Sign of the Rainbow" to show the all-around emphasis of their participation in the Girl Scout program.

Lou Moster presented members of Cadette Troop 53 an eight-part World of Service patch. To earn the patch, each girl must complete eight different service projects, one in each of the five worlds of interest as well as a community, council and international project. Some of the projects were the following: making favors for residents of St. Richard's Villa, participating in the Adopt - A - Highway program, obtaining an international pen pal and preparing beds and planting periwinkles at AMPI. Jeanne Greathouse recognized each girl for her participation in the interest area of horseback riding. After spending several months learning the parts of a horse, the types of gear, feeding and care a horse should have and grooming, the girls did the grooming, care and riding. Dawn Knabe, Robin Greathouse, Jennie Yosten, Cheramie Moster, Tonya Knabe and Kristen Klement received an interest patch and a certificate of completion.

Barbara Reynolds presented certificates to Troops 45 and 53 as recognition of their completion, as a troop, of the eight-part World of Service project.

Announcements were made of summer activities to come and refreshments were served by Troop 43.

Heritage meeting held

Nine people from the Muenster community met Wednesday, June 24, to discuss the forming of an organization to preserve the heritage of Muenster. No definite group was formed but the need for a centennial committee to begin work on ways of celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founding of Muenster in 1889 was expressed.

Those in attendance stated a willingness to work to this end and ask that anyone interested in being a part of this endeavor would contact either Juanita Bright or the Muenster Chamber of Commerce office at 759-2227. The next meeting of this group will be July 22 with time and place to be announced.

Late registration and open house set at SH

Late registration will be offered at Sacred Heart School for Pre-School through twelfth grades on Monday, July 6, 9 a.m. to 12 noon in the Sacred Heart Library. New families must bring health records and registration fees.

Sacred Heart Pre-School will hold Open House on July 6, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Because of its individualized program, children will be accepted at any time during the school year. However, any parent who intends to enroll a child in the fall must pre-register on Monday, July 6, in the high school library to assure a place for the child. Enrollment is limited.

Kiwanis Swim Night makes a big splash!

According to Muenster Kiwanis Club member Gary Fisher, the first Kiwanis Swim Night on Friday, June 26, was "very successful." One hundred, thirty-two swimmers came, most of whom were between the ages of 6-14, although there were "pretty many parents there."

Swim Night is held every Friday from 7 to 10 p.m. "It will continue as long as there appears to be a demand for it," Gary said. One donation of $1.00 was received.

Gary also mentioned that the Kiwanis received several requests for water volleyball and other organized games. A Game Night with swim races may be a possibility in the future.

Haverkamps visit in Jonesboro

Mary and Lee Haverkamp accompanied their daughter and son-in-law, Olivia and David Forgey of Dallas, on a trip to Jonesboro, Arkansas, going especially to see Sister Mary Anselma Haverkamp at Holy Angels Convent.

Olivia Forgey and the others also visited with two of her former teachers, Sister Theresina and Sister Eymard and several who were former grade school teachers here.

"Mother Cabrini Arami was the perfect hostess," they all agreed, "as well all the other nuns."

They brought greetings from all the sisters, who are now busy preparing for the 100th anniversary of the Olivetan Benedictine Order in Jonesboro, Arkansas, coming in July.

To us, every day is Independence Day.

Independence is what our country is all about. And it's what our bank is all about. We're not a branch of a giant regional or national financial institution, but a local independent bank with our roots firmly planted in this community. That's the way we like it. And that's the way our customers like it. Because it gives us a better understanding of our community, a better insight into our local economy, and a better rapport with our customers than an absentee owner could possibly have.

Independence. We celebrate it 365 days a year.

Cub Scouts held Day Camp

"Soar Like an Eagle" was the theme of the Cooke County Cub Scout Day Camp. Held June 22-26 at the Muenster City Park, the day camp provided a full, fun week for everyone involved.

Camp director was Lupe Evans; and Loretta Felderhoff served as Program Director. Registrations were handled by Karen Brooks; Camp Nurse was Sharon Balsley; and Paula Carden was in charge of small fires.

Activities during the week and the staff people in charge were: Swimming - WSI Carol Henscheid and Den Leader Connie Hoberer; BB Guns - Den Leader Johnny Ortego and James Bryan; Archery - Field Director John Morton; Physical Fitness - Den Leader Charlotte Baker; Games - Den Leader Shirley Knabe; Nature Trail - Committee member Jane McLeroy; Crafts - Den Leaders Charlotte Baker, Becky Leonard, Lois Patrick and Ernie Martin; Outdoor Cooking - Leaders Connie Bryan and Golda Lones.

Noon activities consisted of a gun demonstration by James Bryan, a Bubble Blowing Contest, and a "Heavy Metal" race in which the Cubs competed for the biggest collection of metal bottle and can tabs. Over 20 pounds of bottle and can tabs, all from the park, were collected in one day. Also, on Thursday, the Cubs released balloons with their names and addresses in hopes that someone far away would find the balloons and write back.

Friday night's Closing Camp Fire was well attended by parents and family members. The Staff and Junior Staff were introduced, and the Cubs performed the song or skit they had prepared during the week.

Eighty-six Cubs, 35 more than last year, attended the 1987 Day Camp. This increase is proof of the steady growth of Cub Scouting in Cooke County, due to leadership and supportive parents. Packs attending the camp include Pack 653, chartered by the Whaley Methodist Church in Gainesville; Pack 663, chartered by the First Christian Church in Gainesville; Pack 664, chartered by the Muenster V.F.W.; Pack 1167, chartered by Knights of Columbus of Gainesville; and Pack 670, chartered by the Church of Latter Day Saints of Gainesville.

Boy Scouts who were members of the Day Camp Junior Staff were Jason Theiford, Steve Bezner, Gus Felderhoff, Chad McCage, Kyle Morris, Jason Smith, Kenneth Walterscheid, Scott Weston, Murlin Evans, Jimmy Herr, Johnny Gamble, Mark Flusche and Brandon Walterscheid. Boy Scout Coordinator was Shirley Weems.

This was the first year that Girl Scouts joined the Day Camp Junior Staff. They were Julie and Vanessa Felderhoff, Misty and Tonya Knabe, Pamela Patrick, Debbie Thomas, Tonya Ortega and Kelly Baker.

At the Closing Camp Fire, Camp Director Lupe Evans announced that next year would be her last year to be certified to operate a Cub Scout Day Camp. She would like for someone interested to volunteer to work with her and sign up for the first class available for training in 1988.

Muenster Public Library offers many activities

The Summer Activity Hour, sponsored by the Muenster Public Library, has reached its halfway mark. The remainder of the sessions will be in July on Wednesdays from 9 to 10 a.m. at the same location - the City Hall Council Room, 400 N. Main St. Leaders and helpers are pleased with the attendance of 3 to 5 year olds and continue to plan film strips, stories, hand and finger plays and rhymes for the month of July.

The Reading Program is also in full swing. Several readers have completed the requirements and have received their certificates and ice cream cones from the Dairy Inn.

As an added incentive, pages from a dinosaur color book are free to readers. The library will display as many of the colored pre-historic animals as possible.

Also, the July and August rotating selections of large print books and video cassettes are ready for library patrons.

Library hours are Tuesday, 8:30 to 5:00; Wednesday, 2:30 to 5:30; and Thursday, 8:30 to 5:00.

Paul and Marie Endres visit 3 weeks in Turkey

Paul and Marie Endres have returned from a fascinating visit with their son, Clifford, and family in Istanbul, Turkey and the surrounding area.

Together they made visits and trips to many historical places including famous mosques, palaces and castles on both the European and Asian sides of the Bosphorus.

Of special interest was a trip to the ruins of the ancient city of Ephesus, one of the most famous and prosperous cities of all ages. "Excavations in the area have revealed artifacts from as far back as 1300 B.C.," said Marie Endres. "Most of the ruins we saw were from the Roman Era. These include fabulous temples, libraries, palaces, public baths, the outdoor Grand Theatre which seats 25,000 and is still in use today, especially the marble street and as a Town Hall."

When Christianity spread out into this territory, Ephesus became an important center of this "new" religion, since one of the seven churches in Asia Minor was located within the city.

"St. Paul came to Ephesus in 50 A.D.," related Marie Endres. "St. John, one of the writers of the Gospel and the Chapter of Revelations in the New Testament, lived, died and was buried here on Ayasuluk Hill in 100 A.D."

"Later, a small chapel was built over his grave. A huge basilica was erected on the tomb by the Byzantine Emperor, Justinian and his wife, Theodora, in 550 A.D. These are the ruins we saw during this trip."

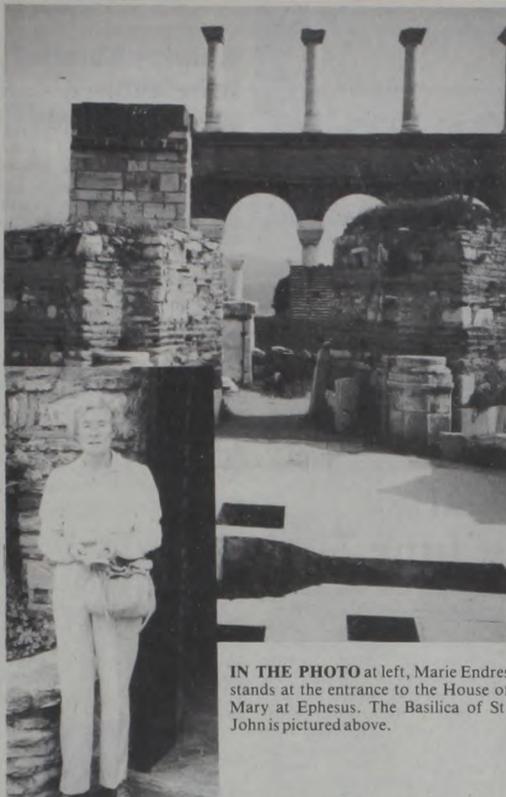

On another day the Endres families Paul and Marie, Clifford and Donna toured an area near Mount Salmisos and also on the summit. At the top is a stone dwelling that has been restored. It is called The House of the Virgin Mary. The Endreses have pictures they made both inside and outside.

"It is believed," said Marie, "that following the Crucifixion when Christ gave Mary into the care of St. John, the apostle brought her to this house to live, where she would be safe from persecution. The interior is now converted into a chapel. Pope Paul VI declared the House of Mary a place of Pilgrimage in July 1967."

"We did travel much more," said Marie, "since we were there almost three weeks. Recalling the many incidents and places will enrich memories of the trip for many years."

Clifford and Donna Endres, their son Nick and her daughter Shannon will be returning in mid-August to live in Austin. They spent one year in Izmir and one year in Istanbul while Clifford served as a Fullbright Scholar to Turkey.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS:

"Don't worry, I'm a good driver!"

The trouble was, this 'good driver' had a few drinks before he got behind the wheel. Good driving requires more than keeping alert and driving defensively. What you do before you get into that car is even more important. If you drink alcohol and then get behind the wheel... no matter how good a driver you are... you become a danger to yourself, your passengers, pedestrians and other motorists. This July 4th holiday, please, don't drink and drive. We want you to have a safe holiday weekend.

U.S. farmers can view July 9 crop analysis

A press briefing offering analysis of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's July 9 report on planted and harvested acreage will be televised nationwide by satellite from the Chicago Board of Trade (CBOT) 90 minutes after release of the statistics.

Since many farmers have purchased dish antennas to expand their access to the wide variety of television programming available by satellite, the CBOT is notifying the public of the broadcast.

The briefing will offer comments on short- and long-term impact on commodity prices by a panel of three CBOT grain traders and analysts.

The broadcast begins at 4 p.m. Eastern Time (3 p.m. Chicago time). It will be carried on Westar IV, Transponder 6D, with audio on 6.2 and 6.8 MHz.

Girl Scout activities planned

A "Just-for-Fun" event was held in Gainesville on June 10 when 12 girls from Muenster participated in a bowling party.

Six girls - Ashley Hartman, Sally Fisher, Misty Knabe, Julie Felderhoff, Vanessa Felderhoff and Mandy Barnhill - completed a horseback riding mini-course at the Saint Jo riding arena on June 27. Each girl earned her choice of either the Horse Lover or Horseback Rider Junior Girl Scout merit badge.

Several girls were on the Junior Staff for Cub Scout Day Camp in Muenster. They may use these hours worked toward their community service hours. They helped with swimming instruction, crafts, games, nursery and administrative duties.

The next event for girls entering grades 4, 5 and 6 or girls new to Scouting will be a Basic 8 in Camping on Wednesday, July 15. The program will be given by Dixie Clardy from the Council office in Denton and will be held at the Muenster City Park from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The cost is $3.00 per girl. Bring a dunk bag and mess kit (plate, cup, utensils).

On Monday, Aug. 17, 7-9 p.m., a swim/watermelon party will be held for all Scouts in Muenster. This includes Brownies, Junior Girl Scouts, Cadette Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts.

The official beginning of the Girl Scout activities for the fall will be a fly-up/bridging ceremony. Brownie Scouts will "Fly-Up" to Juniors and Junior Scouts will "Bridge" to Cadettes as they progress to the next level in their Scouting experience. Other members and leaders will participate in a ceremony to rededicate themselves and their efforts to the Scouting program in the coming year. At this time, new members will be formally accepted into the organization.

Anyone who is interested in the program may call Irene Hartman, Lou Moser, Loretta Felderhoff or Emily Klement for more information about the activities or program.

Agrifacts . . .

At the time of the Revolution, wheat fields in New York State were yielding 25 to 35 bushels an acre. With poor fertilizing practices, yields dropped to 8 bushels an acre over the next half-century.

In 1886, thought was given to establishing a national storm warning system for farmers. Cannons would be fired at federal locations, such as post offices, to warn of approaching storms, flood or frost.

Gainesville C of C to host rodeo

Competition will be sanctioned by the Cowboys Regional Rodeo Association (CRRA), and there will be seven events - team roping, bareback, bull riding, saddle bronc, calf roping, steer wrestling and barrel racing.

"Of course, we'll be having the rodeo clowns or 'bullfighters' and various kinds of specialty acts and events, too," Leftwich said. "We're also working to organize some very special events just for youngsters, and we'll be announcing details in the coming weeks."

"We want everyone to keep in mind also that we're planning a big rodeo parade downtown on opening day, Aug. 20. We're trying to contact all the area riding clubs and similar organizations to invite them to participate."

"In short, our goal is put on a first-class show that we hope, within a couple of years, will become one of the premier rodeos in the northern Texas area."

Leftwich added that the Chamber rodeo committee is eager to hear from any area riding clubs or other groups it may not have contacted directly that wish to participate in the parade and grand entry. Trophies will be awarded to top riding organizations in the parade.

Chamber president Rodger Boyce pointed out that the Chamber operating budget has been pared "to the bone" in an effort to channel the biggest percentage of available resources possible into programs and projects which directly affect economic development.

"The more resources we have to work with, the more successful we're going to be," he said, "and the more successful we are, the more it's going to directly benefit each and every resident of Gainesville and Cooke County."

"That's why this fundraising effort, although we think it's going to be a lot of fun, is such serious business. We hope everyone can support it to the greatest possible extent possible, whether it's buying an ad in the program or on a chute gate, donating money or materials to increase seating capacity at the arena or just buying a ticket to come see the show."

Barely 60 days remain before the first chute is opened by the Gainesville Area Chamber of Commerce to bring professional rodeo back to town, and organizers say work on the event will proceed "fast and furiously" over the next two months.

Chamber spokesman Johnny Leftwich, acting as "top hand" for rodeo committee chairman Jack Brainard, said this week that Wing Rodeo Company out of Bogata, TX, has been officially contracted to produce the show and supply stock.

For more information contact the Gainesville Area Chamber of Commerce at 665-2831. Performance dates are Aug. 20, 21, 22 at the Gainesville Riding Club Arena.

Dangers of sulfites

Sulfites are often used as food preservatives, especially on fresh produce. People may be unaware of the presence of these sulfites, until an unfortunate few experience allergic reactions.

Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service says, "Asthmatics run the greatest risk of having allergic reactions to sulfites. Researchers estimate that between 5 and 10 percent of them are sulfite-sensitive. However, most people aren't affected."

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is working to help consumers become aware of the presence of sulfites in their food. On July 9, the USDA's new labeling law goes into effect. It requires all sulfites present at levels of 10 parts-per-milligram or higher be listed on food labels.

"Sulfites are most often added to produce and seafood to keep them looking fresh. They are also used in the processing of many foods, as ingredients in processed foods, and as bleaching agents," says Hunt. "Many baked goods, dried fruits, wines, beers, starches, fruit juices, pickled and frozen vegetables, syrups and relishes contain some sort of sulfites. They may also be present in some types of medications."

"Sulfites have been banned for use in fresh meat and poultry because the preservatives often mask spoilage," adds Hunt.

Sulfites include sulfur dioxide, sodium sulfite, sodium bisulfite, potassium bisulfite, sodium metabisulfite, and potassium metabisulfite.

"Sulfites have been used for centuries as preservatives and for types of food processing. To this day, some foods, such as dried fruit, could not be produced commercially without the use of sulfites. So the total ban of sulfites isn't feasible," Hunt maintains.

"Avoiding the dangers of sulfite is up to the individual," she says. "The new labeling law should make sulfites more identifiable, and they have been prohibited from restaurant use since 1986. Sulfite-sensitive people need to be very careful about reading labels before purchasing any food or medication, but there is no danger for everyone else."
