NUMBER 17

Ronald Reagan's very substantial victory in last Saturday's South Carolina primary leaves little doubt that he is the front runner for the GOP presidential nomination.

The outcome was sufficiently decisive to convince Connally that it is time for him to quit the race. He had to feel terribly let down after his big effort plus the help of Strom Thurmond and the state governor led him to expect the top position. As an experienced politician, he knows that this record is very little to bank on for the rest of the race.

Bush, though still in the running, apparently has his backers worried. This seems to be indicated by the fact that Gerald Ford, who likewise is a favorite of the party's Eastern liberals, is conditioning to replace Bush in the race. There was a meaning between the lines when he said that he considers running because "Reagan can't win in November". Obviously he thinks that Reagan can beat present contenders for the nomination. However, he and the party liberals also think that he's a better prospect than Bush to beat Reagan. A good bet if Ford gets in is that he will eventually become Bush's replacement.

This brings up the question of whether Ford and his backers are right in assuming that he can beat Reagan for the nomination, and also that his chance in November would be better than Reagan's. First of all, in the race for nomination, the country will recall that the two men had a very close contest in 1976. Ford barely won in spite of having the incumbent's advantage. He got double exposure on the media, as president and candidate, while Reagan was only a candidate. Also, he got the benefit of strategic sabotage by Reagan's campaign manager, Sears, who influenced an ill advised selection of Reagan's running mate. The same Sears got Reagan off to a bad start this year.

Considering that Ford barely won in '76 when those factors favored him and when he had a much earlier start, he has little ground for confidence that he can win again this time. Besides, other conditions have also changed. This time Reagan is much better known and the nation's mood is much more conservative.

Lots of people will remember that Ford leaned strongly to the liberal side during his administration. He was guilty of a deficit budget, inflation and three years of inactivity in the energy crisis. In addition Ford did little for our military preparedness while aiding the Soviets with trade policies that enabled them to speed their military program. One has to wonder what makes Ford think that he has a better chance at the nomination than Reagan.

Next one has to wonder what makes him think that he is the stronger opponent for Carter. Perhaps he has forgotten that in the last election he lost to Carter in spite of the advantage of incumbency. This time the situation is reversed. Carter has the advantage, and the sign is that Ford himself can't win in November.

Another sign is that the Country has its fill of wild spending, inflation, bureaucracy and those other characteristics of liberalism. Furthermore people are alarmed about the country's loss of respect around the globe and its policy of betraying our friends and favoring our enemies. Things that have been going on violate common sense and fairness. We're definitely drifting toward economic and social chaos plus a very real danger of world domination by communism.

Banquet and Germanfest Plans Reviewed at Chamber Meeting

The annual banquet Wednesday night and the Germanfest on April 25-27 occupied the attention of Muenster Chamber of Commerce members at their regular meeting Tuesday.

They were informed that their recent election by mail they had chosen Dick Ferber and David Fette as their new directors joining Sam Endres, Henry Weinzapfel and Alvin Fuhrman, also that Lupe Evans and Monica Hess are additional directors appointed by the board. And finally that officers were elected as follows by the board from its membership: Sam Endres, president; Henry Weinzapfel, vice-president; Lupe Evans, secretary; Alvin Fuhrman, treasurer.

Relative to the festival, chairman Dick Ferber said that preparations are on schedule and include a number of improvements. This time there will be two tents, and there will also be portable toilets to supplement the facilities on hand. In addition the committee is trying for improvements in security, traffic control, parking and a shuttle van service from uptown parking to the park. Likewise the concession space is well occupied, entertainment is booked for dances and the pavilion, the German Fun Run will have 5 and 15 km. races, and there will be a motorcycle rodeo, horseshoes and various other contests. In addition there's the assurance that food, beer and soft drinks will be abundant.

An item included with the other improved facilities is the sidewalk around the pavilion and leading to other

Mixed Drinks in City Legalized by Vote of 194 to 71

In a local option election last Saturday the voters of Muenster legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the city. They favored the proposal by a count of 194 to 71.

Two requirements will have to be met in order to make the mixed beverages available. First of all the place of sale must be located with the area of the city in which other alcoholic drinks may be legally sold. This area is on both sides of Main Street and both sides of Highway 82.

The next requirement is a state license to sell the beverages. Estimated time to get it is one month.

It's a welcome comfort factor replacing dirt and gravel footing, a specially welcome change in case of rain.

City Water Permit Delayed by Study of Alternate Proposal

Another official delay has postponed progress on Muenster's proposed municipal reservoir. Representatives of the city and the water district, in a hearing before the state water board last Friday, were told they will have to wait another 60 days while the city of Dallas conducts a study on the feasibility of selling water to Muenster from Lake Aubrey, which is currently in the planning stage.

Representing the city and the water board at Austin were Mayor Leonard Endres and Mrs. Endres, City Engineer Don Fleming, and Water Board President Henry Weinzapfel. They were assisted by a hearing attorney and a citizens' advocate who strongly supported the city's application for a permit. Nevertheless the court decided that Dallas should have a hearing on its proposal and ordered a 60 day continuance. However the court compromised slightly with Muenster in reducing the request for continuance to 60 days. Dallas had applied for 90 days.

As explained by Weinzapfel, Dallas is deeply concerned about its water supply as the Metroplex continues its expansion. To protect its interest it has secured water rights to the entire Trinity watershed, which includes the Muenster area. When Muenster asked for a lake of its own it was opposed by the city of Dallas.

Muenster originally received its permit in November 1974 and has had it renewed annually while awaiting surveying, planning, etc., by the USDA Soil Conservation Service, which is sharing the cost because of the project's flood control feature. Regulations specify that the permit expires after five years and an application must be filed for a new permit. The Muenster group was in Austin for that purpose when they encountered the opposition from Dallas.

Weinzapfel said that Dallas has proposed a denial of the permit along with an offer to sell water to Muenster from the lake which is currently in the planning state at Aubrey. A pipe line is suggested as the method of transporting the water to Muenster. A study of the feasibility of this plan is the reason for the 60 day continuance.

The proposed method involves purchase and installation of 40 to 50 miles of pipe line plus pumps to move the water to Muenster and the cost of operation and maintenance. The Muenster board estimates that the Dallas plan would be more expensive than providing the local lake and facilities.

Another difficulty is a sharp reduction in quantity of water allowed in the permit. The original application specified 999 acre feet per year. Currently the figure is set at 500 acre feet.

The status of the project was reviewed last week in a meeting of the city council and water board with representatives of the Soil Conservation Service. SCS disclosed that the present cost estimate is $1,180,060 to the city and $1,913,660 to SCS. Surface area at spillway level will be 533 acres with a capacity of 10,500 acre feet. Some 6000 acre feet of that quantity is for flood control, and permitting it to flow away leaves a permanent pool of 4,550 acres with an area of 309 acres.

When the permit is in order and all the local data is complete a public hearing will be set to present the facts on construction and debt retirement before submitting the project for a vote of the city.

MHS Hosts 500 At Track Meet

Though the opening events were rather nippy and some of the facilities were not complete, the first meet on Muenster's new track was a pleasant, competitive and well managed event. Coach Jerry Stinson said the temperature moderated toward noon and lots of hot contests resulted from the 23 boys teams and 22 girls teams participating. And his staff of helpers did a fine job of keeping the action going and recording results. He also stated that the track is super fast, enabling many participants to improve on their own records.

Stinson said the concession stand did a fine job of accommodating more than 500 youngsters, but unfortunately the rest rooms were not ready, and the crowd had to use facilities at the school, some 200 yards away. He added that construction of the new project is due for completion before the next meet on April 1.

Both local schools were well represented at the meet. Sacred Heart girls tied for second with 64 points and boys had 18, for a total of 82. Muenster High boys were third with 57 and girls had 17 for a total of 74. In addition Kevin Klement of MHS took individual scoring honor with 29 points. He was first in the high

Kenneth Fitts Declares Candidacy for GOP County Sheriff Race

Kenneth Mac Fitts of Gainesville has authorized the Enterprise to announce that he is a Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Cooke County.

Without an opponent in his party, Fitts is assured of the GOP nomination and a place on the general election ballot in November.

His formal statement to county voters will appear in a later issue of the Enterprise.

U S Census Questionnaires Will be Hand Delivered

Residents in this area will have their 1980 census questionnaires hand delivered by enumerators, rather than have them come through the mail, as will be the procedure in most of the rest of the country, Bill Yarbrough, Census District Manager, said today.

Local people, hired and trained for their work, will begin March 11, dropping off the questionnaires, door to door. At each household they ask for the name and telephone number; inquire if a questionnaire in Spanish or other foreign language help is needed; and remind householders that the questionnaire is to be filled out and mailed back in the enclosed postage-paid envelope on April 1, the day of the official count of the Nation's population.

LESSONS OF HISTORY
 The great philosopher, George Santayana once stated, "When experience is not retained... infancy is perpetual. Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it." History and historical leaders have left us many important lessons dealing with the principles of liberty and the consequences of violating them.

British historian Alexander Fraser Tytler wrote at the time of the founding of America, in describing the disintegration of the Athenian republic: "A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover they can vote themselves largess out of the public treasury. From that moment on, the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from the public treasury -- with the result that democracy collapses over a loose fiscal policy, always to be followed by a dictatorship."

Our Founding Fathers left us wise counsel. In his first annual address to Congress on December 3, 1793, President George Washington said, "There is a rank due to the United States among nations which will be withheld, if not absolutely lost, by the reputation of weakness; if we desire to avoid insult, we must be able to repel it, if we desire to secure peace... it must be known that we are at all times ready for war."

Patrick Henry counseled, "No free government, or the blessings of liberty, can be preserved to any people but by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality, and virtue and by a frequent recurrence to fundamental principles." From this platform we attempt to present the philosophy of freedom as best we know how in the belief that principles are important and that failure to live by them inevitably leads to disaster.

In his first inaugural address, Thomas Jefferson outlined what type of government we should have. After describing the good life being enjoyed by his fellow Americans he asked, "with all these blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and prosperous people?"

"Still one thing more, fellow-citizens, a wise and frugal government which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government; and this is necessary to close the circle of our felicities."

In Benjamin Franklin's Principles of Trade he wrote: "In general, it would be better if Government meddled no further with trade than to protect it, and let it take its course. Most of the statutes, or acts, edicts, and placards of Parliaments, for regulating and directing trade have, we think, been either political blunders, or jobs obtained by artful men for private advantage under pretense of public good." This quite accurately characterizes most of the programs of the federal government today in the area of commerce.

It is felt the preceding gems of wisdom from history provide us with key principles for guiding our national destiny. Guizot, the French historian, once asked James Russell Lowell, "How long do you think that the American Republic will endure?" Lowell replied, "So long as the ideas of its Founding Fathers continue to be dominant."

AUSTIN — Gov. Bill Clements told a press conference last week he definitely will not call a special session of the Legislature this year, because the House of Representatives would be too involved in electing a new Speaker to attend to his special issues.

Some people say the Governor has long been looking for an excuse to back away from his promise to call the session, and the current dilemma of Speaker Bill Clayton gives Clements an easy way out.

Clayton will face a federal grand jury on March 17 to answer allegations he took a $5,000 bribe in his chambers this fall. The three-term Speaker's political future will depend on his statements in the courtroom.

Several candidates have already filed to run for his chair, should Clayton be indicted, and more are sure to follow if the indictment comes down.

Last week Clayton told reporters that if he is indicted he will seek a speedy trial to clear his name before the 1981 Legislature convenes in mid-January.

If he is not granted a trial by January, he will not seek a fourth term as Speaker, Clayton said.

Speaker Candidates
 Meanwhile, the list of speaker candidates is growing weekly, although most are declining to say whether they will run in '81 or '83.

Rep. Wayne Pevetto, D-Orange, was the latest to file but at least half a dozen others have either filed or announced for speaker.

They include Reps. John Bryant of Dallas, Gib Lewis of Fort Worth, Bennie Bock of New Braunfels, Al Brown of San Antonio, Tom Uher of Bay City, Tim Von Dohlen of Goliad and Lynn Nabers of Brownwood. All but Nabers and Von Dohlen have officially filed. Other names mentioned include Bill Caraway of Houston and Dan Kubiak of Rockdale.

Mondale Visits Austin
 Vice President Mondale addressed the Texas AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education last week, announcing the administration's campaign team and vowing that minorities will play a role in Carter's reelection. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is chairman of the Carter-Mondale campaign in Texas. Mondale told the 1,200-member audience that a compromise windfall profits tax has been agreed on that will produce about $224 billion over the next 10 years from oil companies' income.

Connally To Quit?
 Heading into the weekend's presidential primary in South Carolina, Republican candidate John Connally's son said his father may withdraw from the race if his campaign does not improve dramatically in four upcoming southern primaries.

Connally needs to finish first or a strong second in at least a couple of the primaries, and South Carolina is regarded as one of his best shots.

The younger Connally, John III, also said his father and fellow Texan George Bush are feuding and that Connally was upset with Bush's remarks that Richard Nixon's still-secret Watergate tapes could incriminate Connally, who was Nixon's treasury secretary.

Computerized Redistricting
 The Texas Legislative Council voted last week to buy a computer system to help redraw legislative districts after the 1980 census.

It will cost $514,000 and many are hopeful it will cut down on the amount of gerrymandering which will take place.

The Legislature will redraw state legislative and congressional districts during the final 30 days of the 1981 Legislature. The system selected will allow legislators to draw a map on a computer screen and then determine, based on the data, the demographics of the district.

White Raps Clements
 Attorney General Mark White fired a couple of hard salvos at the economic policies of Clements and the Governor's handling of the oil well blowout still going in the Gulf of Mexico.

White criticized Clements' demand for a five percent reduction in state employees by saying "with rape, robbery, murder and drug smuggling increasing, do you want to cut our law enforcement by five percent?"

Extension Club Sponsors Fun Talk By Sue Goldstein

A program that promises to be an absolute delight is scheduled for Tuesday, March 25 at 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of Whaley Methodist Church, 701 Rosedale in Gainesville.

It will present Sue Goldstein, "the underground shopper herself", who is a dynamic and exciting speaker. Sponsored by the Family Living Committee of the County Extension Service, the program is open to everyone and admission is $1 per person to cover expenses.

Sue Goldstein's presentation starts four high points, stating that she: 1 forces into the heads of her listeners large quantities of money-saving shopping tips. 2 - she exposes herself to every imaginable shopping experience, in order to locate the very best bargain outlets. 3 - makes people kick themselves when they discover "how much - too much" they've been paying. 4 - mercilessly tickles large audiences with her "Wild Brand of Humor."

Coffee and door prizes are included with the entertaining evening. The County Extension Service and the Family Living Committee offer a sincere welcome and urge attendance of all interested persons.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
 U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
 142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
 WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

An Administration looking for "quick-fix" solutions to inflation — and with a dangerous law at its disposal — could institute controls which would force your bank to withhold a car loan or set an artificial limit on the amount you can charge on your credit cards.

The law is the Credit Control Act of 1969. It gives the President the power to give the Federal Reserve sweeping credit-restricting authority. The controls could take a variety of forms: high minimum down payments for auto loans or home mortgages, limitations on credit card accounts, requirements for major appliance loans or mandatory ratios of business and consumer loans.

These controls would be grossly unwarranted federal interference, and they would accomplish little or nothing. Our financial markets are simply too complex to be controlled by government fiat. If selective controls are placed on credit card purchases, the home owner can enlarge his mortgage to get money for consumer purchases. Additional controls would then have to be imposed to plug loopholes, leading ultimately to comprehensive controls.

Credit controls merely treat the symptoms, rather than the causes, of inflation. And, credit controls distort economic activity and direct business away from the best uses of money and credit.

In February of last year, I introduced legislation (S. 389) to require the President to get prior congressional approval before using the authority of the Credit Control Act. I also co-sponsored legislation to repeal the law outright.

When hearings were held on these bills, I warned that the mere existence of standby credit control authority could cause interest rates to be higher than they otherwise would be in anticipation of future controls. The Congress failed to heed my warnings, and that prediction now has become a reality in home mortgage rates soaring to more than 15 percent.

It is imperative that the Congress act immediately to repeal or modify the law. Failure to do so may well result in a politically expedient but ultimately disastrous decision by the President to exercise the authority given him in this ill-conceived act.

The Administration has been saying it does not plan to exercise that authority, but I for one take little comfort in that assurance in the wake of a series of fits of fiscal and economic irresponsibility. Rash and ill-conceived actions — interspersed with a strange paralysis of leadership — on the part of the administration already have brought us to the edge of economic catastrophe.

We are saddled with the worst inflation record and higher interest rates in more than 30 years. Some are predicting that the rate of inflation will go as high as 20 percent. Obviously, the problem is a critical one. But controls — whether they be on wages, prices or credits — are not very useful.

In dealing with credit controls, we merely redistribute the flow of credit from one sector of the economy to another. The rate of inflation cannot be reduced unless government spending is reduced and the nation's productivity increased.

Membership Drive Launched

Muenster Knights of Columbus will be busy the next two weeks making phone calls and knocking on doors to make contact with all possible prospects in their current membership drive, which hopefully will be the council's largest ever.

The KCs are looking for Catholic young men, age 18 and older, who are interested in programs dealing with the retarded, handicapped, aged, youth, vocations, education and assistance to parishes. Knights of Columbus is a world-wide fraternity with more than 1,300,000 members estimated at more than 5.5 million.

Grand Knight Wayne Klement reports that about 25 members joined the council last year, a good group that helped account for an active, interesting and useful year. Included in their many projects were the German Fun Run, Pro-Life Campaign, aid to the deaf, kids' free throw contest, kids swim party and picnic, blood donation, parish picnic projects, Christ in Christmas, Boy Scouts, film strips for school and CCD, Communion breakfasts, wake services, bingo, dances and more.

Klement added "We plan to do more for our community and parish and we invite new ideas and new energy to help at the job. Persons interested are asked to contact Grand Knight Wayne Klement, Deputy Grand Knight Harold Flusche, or Membership Director Claude Klement.

Historical Trails Featured in Talk at Garden Club Meeting

Mrs. O. L. (Katherine) Walker of Lake Kiowa was the guest speaker at the Muenster Garden Club meeting Monday, March 10 in the home of Mrs. James Hess. Mrs. Walker is an authority on Historical Trails of America and used that as her subject for a very informative and entertaining program.

She opened with a poem "Trail to Texas" and then told the history and legend of several prominent historical trails. She pictured for members the beginning of the CHISOLM TRAIL, mainly a cattle trail from South Texas to the McCoy Stockyards in Abilene, Kansas of the 1860's. She said that as many as 5500 cattle were driven by cowboy crews through stampedes, dust storms, rivers, Indian raids, etc.

Typical crews usually included about 12 cowboys, a trail boss, a cook who often acted as doctor, dentist, barber, or most anything else that was needed.

The King Ranch often sent along larger herds, while smaller ranchers banded together. Stampedes were usually the biggest worry. The heritage of cowboy music was developed by cowboys who sang to calm the cattle at night.

EL CAMINO REY, along the Pacific coast was so rugged that it could be traveled only on foot or by horse back. Trails for stage coaches were developed during the California Gold Rush. This is now California Highway 101. Mrs. Walker told an interesting side light referring to EL CAMINO REY. One of its stage coach drivers, named Charley Parkhurst, was particularly known for his "mean whip" and held off many robbers with it. He was a small person who wore a patch over one eye. After retirement he opened a stage-stop, and after his death in 1879 it was discovered that Parkhurst was a woman, who had a daughter in an eastern school.

Mrs. Walker also told that the Butterfield Overland Mail Co. opened this trail with first delivery of mail in 1858. John Butterfield said "Nothing must stop this mail". According to contract, he was allowed 26 days to make delivery from St. Louis, Mo. to San Francisco. This trail led through Cooke County, and after 1861, the company became Wells Fargo!

She also told legends of Texas Wild Flowers and said there are over 5,000 species. Indian legends tell how Indian Blanket, Indian Paint Brush and Texas Bluebonnets became state flowers. It seems the Bluebonnets came into being because an Indian Chief's daughter sacrificed her favorite doll in the altar fire to save her tribe. As a reward, the next morning, the surrounding hills were covered with blue flowers the color of her doll's head-dress.

Mrs. Walker continued to delight club members with stories of fact and legend and invited them to attend a tour of homes and a tea at Lake Kiowa on May 13, 1 to 4 p.m. Guides will meet guests at the gate. Admission will be $1.00 each.

Mrs. Holly Koch presided for the business meeting, attended by 13 members and one guest, Mrs. Pat Hess.

Reports were given by members who attended the District Meeting in Dallas on March 6. The guest speaker was Dr. James L. Johnson, floriculturist of Texas A&M University who also demonstrated arrangements.

The Muenster Garden Club received a first place award for its President's Report and a Director's Citation for its support of the Mini-Park and assistance in Nursing Home programs.

Mrs. Dolores Miller reported on the County Council meeting and the plant exchange at Leonard Park to be held in April.

The annual Crape Myrtle sale sponsored by the Garden Club, will begin this week. Shrubs are available for $3.40 each, at the home of Mrs. Alice Roark. The project coincides with the "help Beautify Muenster" theme, sponsored annually.

Following the meeting Mrs. James Hess served dessert and coffee. The April meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Young, with Miss Bettye Dadds presenting a slide program and narrative on Texas Wildflowers.

Are you protecting a $1200/acre farm with $200/acre life insurance?

If your life insurance plan hasn't kept up with the increased worth of your farm, your heirs risk losing part—even all—of their inheritance. Estate and property taxes, among other things, are levied against current values. And an out-of-date farm conservation-life insurance program won't provide enough cash to pay them. I'll be glad to work out an up-to-date plan for you which will guarantee that your family can afford to keep their inheritance. Call me soon.

Hornets Clobber Chico 18 - 5

Muenster High's baseball team looked great last Friday in rolling over Chico 18-5 in a 6 inning contest. The most pleasing part of their performance was a team batting average of .514 ... 18 hits out of 35 times at bat ... which Coach Kim Nix hopes to see them carry through the season. Fielding, he said, has been good from the start.

The Hornets started with slugfest. With regulars in the lineup they batted around three times in the first three innings and scored 15 runs while the Dragons scored 3. In the next three, Hornet reserves scored 3 and Chico 1. As pitcher for the first three innings Phil Wolf fanned 9 and allowed two hits and one walk. Tim Schneider in his first try on the mound struck out 4 and gave up 3 hits and 4 walks in 3 innings.

Dale Swirczynski led the MHS hitting with a triple, a double and two singles in five times at bat. Todd Richey with a double and 2 singles, and Floyd Felderhoff shared the next honor at 3 out of 4. Don Frazier hit 2 of 3, a triple and a single, and Tim Schneider also hit 2 of 3, a pair of singles. Other hitters were Mark Felderhoff, a double, and Jerry Serna, Wylie Lewis and Phil Wolf, each a single.

The dime isn't really worthless. It still makes a fairly good screwdriver.

Tarleton offers fun courses for the non-music major

STEPHENVILLE — By signing up for certain courses, Tarleton State University students may be fulfilling a lifelong dream of learning a musical instrument or improving their vocal ability.

Three classes, piano, guitar and voice, are offered to students this spring, regardless of their major.

The piano major is offered for students with little or no musical background. "By mastering a few chords," says music professor Gregory Pike, "virtually every pop tune becomes accessible to the beginning piano student."

The same philosophy underlies the course design in guitar and voice. All three courses are taught for the students' enjoyment and relaxation.

Job prospects look encouraging for Aggie graduates.

COLLEGE STATION — Nearly 95 percent of the eligible spring graduates at Texas A&M University have jobs lined up before leaving the university and a large percentage will command top dollars despite predictions of recession and increased unemployment, university officials report.

Of the 2,700 potential graduates, most will have degrees in engineering, agriculture and science — all highly prized by employers.

Salaries for Texas A&M students have in recent years been above average in all fields, especially engineering, said Ron Winn, associate director of the university's placement office. Petroleum engineering topped the latest list at $2,007, chemical engineers averaged $1,788 and other engineering disciplines ranged from $1,745 to $1,483, based on figures voluntarily reported to the university by its 1979 fall graduates.

Correction!

When winners of the Public School Arts and Crafts Show were announced last week, Jeff Walterscheid's name was inadvertently missed. He is in the third grade and received the Best of Show Award for his model of the space ship "Phoenix."

SCHOOL NEWS

of Muenster Public School

Liturgly for CCD Honors R. Knabe

Ronnie Knabe was the honored one for the CCD Liturgly on Wednesday, March 5 which was carried out by his fourth grade classmates, taught by Mrs. Sharon Walterscheid and Mrs. Kathy Vogel. The liturgly marked Ronnie's return to classes after a serious illness hospitalized him in Fort Worth for several weeks.

It was themed: "Little Hurts - Jesus Makes Us Better," and the corresponding altar banner was made by Michelle Monday and Meredith McDaniel.

Others participating were Darla Bindel who read the theme; also Danna Hamric first reading; Staci Walterscheid response; Jamie Walterscheid gospel acclamation; also Michele Huddleston, Pat Hellman, Michelle Monday, Melody Klement and Michael Walter who gave the petitions and prayers of the faithful.

The Offertory prayer was given by Donna Walterscheid. Gifts were presented by Meredith McDaniel, Pat Hellman, Michelle Monday, Charlene Switzer, Melody Klement, Ronald Walterscheid, Danna Hamric, Staci Walterscheid and Jamie Walterscheid.

Mass servers were Stuart Hess, Bryan Wimmer and Alan Hudspeth. During the previous school day, all classmates signed the altar banner and after Mass Michael Walter presented it to Ronnie Knabe.

Special guests were Ronnie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Knabe, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hoedebeck and his teachers, Mrs. Barbara Robison and Mrs. Carol Dyer.

2nd Grade

As part of a science unit on dairy cows and dairy products, second graders had an opportunity to help make butter.

Mrs. Sherri Robison brought cream and an old butter churn to the classroom. Each student took a turn at churning. After the butter was prepared students sampled it on crackers.

A trip to the dairy is planned for later in the spring. Another science project just beginning is the incubating of chicken eggs. The students will observe the growth during the hatching period by means of candling.

Kindergarten

Room mothers, Mrs. Clifford Sicking of the morning class and Mrs. Dale Klement of the afternoon class surprised Mrs. Williams on her birthday, Tuesday, March 4, by bringing punch and cupcakes for the parties. Pupils were given bubble gum treats and Mrs. Williams received a birthday cake and a gift from both classes. Cathy Flusche attended the afternoon party and also brought a birthday gift. Another guest at the afternoon party was Cody Klement.

Microwave Popcorn

Be careful with microwave popcorn - there's a slight danger of damage, and the popcorn may be dried out, a family resource management specialist cautions.

If you're popping corn in your microwave, you could damage the oven itself - even if you have a special popper for the oven, Lillian Chenoweth says.

Mrs. Chenoweth is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

There are so many variables involved that at least one major microwave manufacturer recommends against the practice.

Another manufacturer can recommend only their brand of popper for use - only in their oven with strict adherence to the precise times.

If you still want to try microwave popcorn, first check the cookbook that came with your oven. Although many food-product packages offer information and directions, these may not apply to your oven.

Since other popcorn methods take about as little time as microwave popcorn, it may be wise to use one of these.

I leave you this week with the following poem which holds much in it for all of us.

Tomorrow
He was going to be all he wanted to be - tomorrow
None would be braver or kinder than he - tomorrow
A friend who was troubled and weary he knew,
Would be glad of a lift and needed it, too;
On Him he would call, to see what he could do - tomorrow.
Each morning he thought of letters he'd write - tomorrow
And thought of the folks he would fill with delight - tomorrow
The greatest of workers this man might have been
The world would have opened it's heart to him then.
But in fact he passed on and faded from view.
And all he left when his living was through
Was a mountain of things he intended to do - tomorrow.
Who the author is I do not know but truer words were never penned - thus I pass them on to YOU and YOU.

Texas Ag Income Soars in '79

Cash receipts from agricultural marketings reached a new high in 1979. Although final figures are not yet in, Texas Agricultural Extension Service estimates place cash receipts at more than $9.6 billion, up from $7.9 billion in 1978.

However, while sales were up sharply, net farm income increased only moderately due to the ravaging effects of inflation.

In spite of the increased receipts, Texas remains third in the nation in total receipts from agriculture behind California and Iowa.

The big jump in cash receipts stems largely from a bumper cotton crop, combined with a strong cotton market, and an excellent beef market, points out Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension marketing economist.

Cash receipts from all livestock are estimated at $5.3 billion for the past year, with receipts from beef alone reaching the $4.1 billion mark.

Crop receipts are expected to total about $3.9 billion for last year. Cotton accounted for $1.5 billion of that amount. Receipts from sorghum are estimated at $431.5 million while wheat receipts are expected to come in a strong third at $415.3 million due to record-breaking yields.

Projected cash receipts from crops show corn in fourth place at $333.2 million, followed by vegetables, $223 million; nursery plants, $159.6 million; and soybeans, $143.6 million. Completing the top 10 crops as far as cash receipts are concerned are peanuts, $96.6 million; hay, $64.6 million; and pecans, $48.5 million.

Following beef on the ledger of cash receipts from livestock, the poultry industry came in second with a total of $497 million. Cash receipts from milk are expected to reach $450 million while receipts from hogs should total more than $127.2 million.

Receipts from agriculturally related areas such as timber, hunting, fishing and horses are estimated at $474 million.

"The past year had its share of 'firsts' as far as crop production is concerned," notes Anderson. "The wheat crop averaged 30 bushels per acre - a record - and cash receipts from the crop were up 167 percent over 1978. Peanut production reached a new high at 516 million pounds, and the pecan crop set a record at more than 80 million pounds."

While corn and sorghum acreage declined some in 1979, harvested cotton acreage was up sharply by 700,000 acres while harvested wheat acreage jumped a phenomenal 1.9 million acres.

According to Anderson, the projected agricultural cash receipts of more than $9.6 billion, including supplying and servicing agricultural production and processing and marketing farm and ranch products, added some $35 billion to the Texas economy in 1979. He also notes that the estimated value of farm assets in the state - land, buildings, livestock, machinery, crops, inventory on farms, farm household goods and financial assets - total more than $65 billion.

"All this means that agriculture continues to be a vibrant, growing industry in Texas," points out Anderson. "With the growing worldwide demand for more food and fiber, the potential for Texas agriculture is great indeed."

The manager says, "and is being used in four other areas throughout the country. If results show that response to the census is improved, both in completely filled-out questionnaires and in timely mail-back, it could well be the method used nationwide in future U. S. censuses."

The manager asks people to watch for their enumerators. They're easy to recognize. They carry large portfolios boldly lettered "U. S. Census - 1980" against a red, white, and blue background. Each wears an official identification badge bearing the U.S. Department of Commerce seal and the words "Official Credential, Census Enumerator." Like all Census Bureau employees, they have sworn to keep confidential all census information given to them.

Daily "Recovery Period" Helpful For Families

Put a "recovery period" in each day, a family life education specialist suggests.

"Use the after-work-through-dinner hours in your family as the time to regroup from each day's busy and complex activities," Diane Welch says. "As family members return to the home, make the end of the day a time of family tranquility." Mrs. Welch is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

FAMILY FOCUS

Focus on pleasant news and actions. After family members have had a chance to settle down, you can settle problems with far less duress. Avoid using mealtime as a time to handle disputes or make "heavy decisions" or "solve problems."

SHARE TASKS

Share tasks related to the evening meal. When tasks are shared, family members often "visit with each other" and no one feels the "overload."

LISTEN

Make a special effort to listen to other family members and allow them to share information about their day's activities. Work toward utilizing this time as a time of communicating with each other.

'RECOVERY' A 'MUST'

As a result of today's lifestyles, family members are being affected more by stress and pressures, Mrs. Welch says. "With children involved in more and more activities and more mothers entering the labor force, family life becomes more hectic in terms of demands upon family members' time and energy. "In many families, a special effort is needed to bring family members back together. "Try putting a recovery period in each day, and see if it isn't just the 'cure' for 'pressured' family relationships," the specialist says.

Stenholm Returns $30,000 Unused Funds to Treasury

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm today announced that he has returned a total of over $30,000 in unused 1979 operating funds to the U.S. Treasury and after one year in office is streamlining other operations in his Congressional offices. "While I realize that $30,000 is merely a drop in the $500 billion-plus Federal budget bucket, if every Congressman in Washington had made the same expense cuts, we could have saved a total of over $13 million last year," Stenholm said. He also pointed out that he plans other operational changes, including the elimination of a number of standard constituent congratulations, such as weddings, anniversaries, birthdays for those under 90 years of age, sending new parents copies of the publication "Infant Care" and other congratulatory mail. "I'll be very honest," Stenholm said, "and tell you that these forms of constituent communication are very helpful to incumbent Congressmen. At the same time, they keep a Congressman in touch with the people he serves and are appreciated by those who receive them. But, the fact is that they also cost money." "It is very easy for Congress to talk about cutting the budget and quite another thing to actually make those cuts personally," he continued. "In all good conscience, I cannot ask others to make economic cuts before I have done all that is possible to cut my own operational expenses." Stenholm said he was not "minimizing the importance of constituent communication," but felt he needed to streamline his operations in order to "offer more services at less cost." He said he would be relying more heavily on the District radio, television and newspapers to keep constituents informed of his work in Congress. "I'm pleased to say that the news media has been very cooperative in what I feel is a joint responsibility - to keep people informed. It is important that every person in the District has access to my voting record in Congress, as well as a clear understanding of the reasons behind that vote."

Six Flags Installs Gasoline Station

Six Flags Over Texas has installed its own gasoline station in order to provide fuel for its guests and the general public. The park's general manager Ray Williams said that the decision to establish a gas station at Six Flags was made to help ease traveler uncertainty about fuel availability. "During the gasoline crunch last year, our attendance dropped about five percent. By installing our own pumps, we hope not only to make gasoline available, but also convenient," Williams said. The Six Flags station, which began operation March 1 with the opening of the park's 20th season, is located in the parking lot adjacent to the picnic area on the south side of the park. Five self-service islands, with a total of nine two-sided pumps, offer regular, unleaded and diesel fuel. Staffed by park personnel, the Six Flags station is open for business during park operating hours. To offer complete gasoline availability information to the public, the park has also established a gasoline hot line at 214-641-7200. "Through the use of this telephone number, we can communicate to thousands of potential visitors information on the availability of gasoline not only in our park but also at stations surrounding the park," Williams said. He added that Six Flags' fuel prices will be competitive. As an additional aid to travelers, a convenience store will also be located at the station. Motor oil, ice, soft drinks, snacks, cigarettes and other convenience items will be available at the store. Six Flags, which introduced its new roller coaster "Judge Roy Scream" this season, is open Saturdays and Sundays until May 17, when it begins daily operation. During the Easter holiday period, March 29 through April 10, it will be open daily.

Confetti...
 More and more the American people are becoming aware of these facts. They are realizing that our present standards are not those on which the country's greatness was founded, and that their only hope is to get back to their traditional ways.

Their best hope of achieving that is to rally behind the leadership of Reagan, who more than any other contender for our top job is identified with the original American way.

To present our problems in other words: after 50 years of national decline through liberalism, isn't it about time to try conservatism? Common sense tells us to change from the direction we're going now.

And let's not be influenced by detracting remarks about Reagan's age. After all, the quality of leadership is our first concern. The White House needs ability a lot more than it needs physique. But even conceding that Reagan may not be able to finish his term, he could provide wonderful insurance by choosing someone like Jesse Helms or William Simonds for vice president.
