Show Sunday offers antiques of another kind

Displays and demonstrations of rumbling farm equipment mark the second year of the Antique Machinery Show this weekend.

Sponsored by the Cooke County Antique Tractor and Farm Machinery Association, the event will be held Saturday, Aug. 29, and Sunday, Aug. 30, at the Tractor Pull Arena north of Lindsay. Gates open at 11 a.m. both days.

Among the day-long displays will be unique and unusual equipment including antique hand tools, binders, plows, mowers and mule drawn balers. New exhibits this year will be a Case Steam Tractor from about 1914, an Aultman-Taylor Tractor and an Advance Rumley Oil Pull, both pre-1924.

"We'll have about 80 tractors and 50 hit-and-miss motors there," said Leon Fuhrmann. "And, all of the machinery is in working order."

Other events at the Antique Machinery Show will be demonstrations throughout the day, antique cars and trucks, wheat threshing, hay baling, corn grinding in grist mill, old-time plowing and tractor races including a "Slow Race." For the younger farmers, a Kiddie Pedal Tractor Pull will be held.

A tractor parade will begin both days at 2 p.m.

Bud Ford of Rosston will serve as announcer of the show.

Fuhrmann explained the beginning of the Antique Machinery Show when he told that "a lot of people were interested, so we thought we'd have a show." Now in its second year, this event expanded from one day to two days this year.

Admission to the Antique Machinery Show is $2, with no charge for children under 12. Lunch and refreshments will be available for purchase.

City adds 1¢ to ad valorem rate

Muenster's property tax income will be raised next year eight percent over this year's income.

Because property valuations have risen $2 million to an approximate $38 million total, an effective tax rate of 41.992 cents per $100.00 valuation would have raised about the same amount of city income. "This would clearly not be enough to fund the city and start building back a little capital," said Mayor Ted Henschel at the public hearing held last Thursday night to set the ad valorem tax rate.

The increase will be relatively painless though because the actual tax rate will be only about one penny higher than it was over the past year. The city council voted unanimously to set the city tax rate at 45 cents per $100.00 valuation. The current year's rate is 44 cents.

Juveniles cause trouble in Muenster

Three juveniles from Gainesville were arrested in Muenster and taken to Cooke County jail late Friday night after causing trouble and damage here.

According to Police Chief Helen Tompkins, problems with these three minors began earlier that night when they were involved in a scuffle outside The Ranch. They then walked south on Main Street where they shouted at people driving by and even threatened some passers-by with a huge knife they carried.

"It was the biggest buckknife I've ever seen," Tompkins told. The juveniles used this knife to cut the chrome and other parts of a Muenster resident's vehicle as they made their journey.

The trio approached the pickup driven by Shawn Vogel, stopped for a traffic light at the intersection of Main Street and Highway 82. One of the three jumped in the back of Vogel's pickup while the other two "made comments" through the pickup's open window where passenger Keith Klement sat. As the light turned green and Vogel accelerated, the juvenile in the back hit Klement through the open window, breaking Klement's nose.

Progressing on foot east on Highway 82, the three made additional threats with the knife to people at Dude's Gulf Station and on Hennigan Auto Parts' parking lot.

They were later apprehended near Encore Video and arrested by Muenster Police Officers Boyd and Stovall. All three were released shortly from Cooke County Jail. Charges in the case are pending.

City Secretary Celine Dittfurth said, "This income will yield a balanced budget. If we can stay on it, with no unforeseen expenses or big problems, we should have a $900.00 surplus at next year's end. This is not a big income increase - it's just barely enough, and we've already made some operational cuts to insure that it is. There will surely be no big paving projects next year."

Officials expressed concern that the 8 percent limit not be exceeded, thereby risking a possible tax roll-back election.

By comparison, the ad valorem rate for the city of Gainesville is currently 57 cents and may increase to 59 cents.

City Manager Joe Fenton is confident with the budget he has submitted. He indicated that the increased income will keep all city services intact and allow for needed increases but will not allow for capital improvements.

All paving bids rejected

Southeast Muenster residents took it very calmly when the city council asked for new bids on the paving projects on their portions of Mesquite, Eddy, Endres, Cross and Hillcrest Streets. The special city council meeting was held Thursday night specifically to award the contract. However, a large miscalculation in the bid request sent out by the city rendered the returned bids ineffective. Also, some of the contractors did not include performance or payment bonds nor two-year maintenance agreements. Some did. All of the contractors indicated definitely or probably that they could give better prices on the paving job because the actual size of the job was much larger than that specified in the bid requests. The rejected bids ranged from $3.95 to $5.51 per square yard of hot lay asphalt mix laid down two inches thick and rolled to 1.5 inches. All the contractors said that they examined the site before bidding and realized that the job was bigger but priced the smaller job because that's what the paperwork said.

Because more preparation work on the base was still needed and lower prices were promised, there was no opposition to going through the bid procedure again, requiring two more weeks before paving begins.

New bids will be opened at a special city council meeting Monday, Aug. 31, at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall. The contract will be awarded on Wednesday, Sept. 2, at the regular monthly city council meeting.

The normal first Monday of the month meeting was changed to avoid the Sept. 7 Labor Day holiday, and get necessary business done early in the month.

Jaycees go door-to-door for MDA

The Muenster Jaycees will conduct a door-to-door donation campaign this Thursday evening,

Aug. 27, to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. As in years past, the young men's service organization will seek to knock on every residential door in Muenster between 6 and 9 p.m. and, identifying themselves as Muenster Jaycees, ask for any size donation. The proceeds will be presented to the Muscular Dystrophy Association during the upcoming Labor Day Telethon.

Project chairmen Jack and Neal Flusche ask all Jaycees to report to the City Park meeting room by 6 p.m. Thursday to get their route assignments.

Anyone who misses the volunteer and wishes to contribute may give his donation to any Jaycee or mail it to Drawer J, Muenster, TX. 76252, marked MDA. The chairmen noted the tremendous generosity of Muenster area residents in past years and appealed for help in fighting this greatcrippler of young people.

"You have heard the commandments imposed on your forefathers, 'You shall not commit murder; every murderer shall be liable to judgment.' What I say to you is everyone who grows angry with his brother shall be liable to judgment; any man who uses abusive language toward his brother shall be answerable to the Sanhedrin, and if he holds him in contempt he risks the fires of Gehenna."

New teacher brings more German pride

The newest member of Sacred Heart's faculty, Eric Gray, is working to revive an old part of Muenster's heritage - the German language.

"I was shocked that German wasn't taught in Muenster," Gray said. And when he was hired in April by Sister Cabrini Arami to teach the language at Sacred Heart, he was pleased.

Born and raised in Denison, Texas, Gray had heard good things about Muenster. "Grandpa always told me Muenster was 'The Promised Land.' He wanted to move here," Gray noted.

It wasn't until nine years ago that Gray first visited the town - as a member of the Subiaco Men's Choir. Even then, he was "impressed with the community."

As for teaching at Sacred Heart, Gray is enthused. "The classrooms are small, and you can do more with the kids," he mentioned.

Gray plans to use books and slides as teaching tools, and the walls of his classroom are filled with German posters. "You cannot teach just a language. You have to teach culture and some history, too," he remarked, adding that "German is a whole different way of thinking."

This instructor went on to say that one of his new students told him, "I'm taking German because it'll make my Grandma happy." Also, so far three Muenster adults have approached him inquiring about German classes for adults.

In addition to his German I class, Gray will be teaching Religion II, Algebra I and II, Geometry and Trigonometry/Calculus.

Eric Gray himself is half-German and half-Irish, with relatives in Windthorst. He is the fifth of 12 children.

Attending Subiaco Academy for four years influenced his decision to teach, Gray revealed. At Subiaco, he received the Gold Medal Award in both Latin and Math for two years each and was Valedictorian of his graduating class.

However, Gray didn't take his first German course until he entered the University of Dallas. "I was always interested in German," he explained. "I liked my grandfather, and he could speak German."

As a sophomore at U.D., he traveled to Rome for a semester where he was "wounded forever." Weekend trips to Austria and Germany from Rome at this time confirmed his love for the German language and inspired him to ap-

Landscape funding to be awarded

Eight Texas communities will receive landscape development projects for their efforts in the Governor's Community Achievement Awards Program. In its July business meeting, the state highway commission authorized the highway department to set aside $700,000 for the projects.

The cities - Dallas, Waco, Galveston, Euless, Greenville, Cuero, Seymour and Whitewright - were selected by a panel of judges appointed by Keep Texas Beautiful, Inc. The group holds a beautification competition among cities of comparable populations each year. This past year, 74 cities entered the program.

Sometime in the next few weeks, representatives from the winning cities will meet with the highway department's district vegetation managers to determine where the landscaping projects will be located. Departmental policy requires that the sites be on state highway right-of-way in or around the winning communities.

The $700,000 is divided among the winning cities as follows, on the basis of population size:

Dallas, $285,000; Waco, $130,000; Galveston, $100,000; Euless, $60,000; Greenville, $50,000; Cuero, $30,000; Seymour, $25,000; and Whitewright, $20,000.

ly for a Fulbright Scholarship, an exchange program which promotes peace through awareness.

Upon returning to Dallas, Gray began his junior year determined to return to Europe one day. "I worked and studied - German isn't easy," he admitted. "After the first two years, the fun was over."

Gray was honored before receiving his degree with the Teller Award, an honor given to the best student in the education department. On the same day that Gray was given the Teller Award, news came that he had also received a Fulbright Scholarship.

He then spent the next two years teaching in Vienna, Austria where "I wasn't a tourist anymore. It really got my German going." He taught in both a technical school there (Hohere Technische Bundeslehranstalt) and a "normal" school (Bundesoberrealgymnasium).

When in Austria, he also traced his family roots and contacted distant relatives. After his two scholarship years overseas, he was hired at Sacred Heart.

Eric Gray cites many of his colorful interests, including photography, carpentry and handicrafts such as making Indian jewelry. He's an avid history buff who particularly enjoys stories from the Civil War era and the settling of the West. Also, he's a self-taught guitarist and singer who plays in a "semi-pro" band with two of his brothers.

Muenster can only greet Eric Gray with a big "Willkomm!"

THE ECONOMY AND YOU

THE BEST WAY TO HONOR OUR FOUNDING FATHERS

By Richard H. Fink

Two hundred years ago, America's founding fathers were in Philadelphia debating the details of a new Constitution for their homeland. This year, Americans should reflect on their commitment, their wisdom—and try to improve the Constitution by adding the one thing that they forgot in their masterpiece.

As Thomas Jefferson noted, "I wish it were possible to obtain a single amendment to our Constitution... an additional article, taking from the federal government the power of borrowing." Jefferson and other Founding Fathers realized that the lack of a constraint on government borrowing was a hidden trap for the young Republic.

Luckily, for the first 150 years of United States history, presidents and congressmen restrained themselves and balanced the federal budget most years. Politicians recognized that deficit spending was defrauding the future in order to enrich the present.

Unfortunately, politicians in recent years have gone on a wild spending binge. Federal spending has increased 72% since 1980—an increase of over $425 billion. Our national debt has doubled in the last six years and now exceeds two and a quarter trillion dollars.

Few people realize how much harm federal deficits are doing to America. Every federal budget deficit is another millstone around our children's and grandchildren's necks. Every $200 billion deficit obliges the average taxpayer to pay as much as $200 in additional taxes EVERY YEAR FOR THE REST OF HIS LIFE just to meet the increased interest payments on the national debt.

The best way to honor our Founding Fathers this year is to amend the Constitution as Jefferson suggested. Now more than ever, America needs a constitutional amendment to require a balanced budget amendment.

A recent New York Times/CBS News poll found that 85% of the American public are in favor of a balanced budget amendment. Thirty-one states have already called for a convention to amend the Constitution by adding a balanced budget amendment. If two more states ratify the call for the budget amendment, then Congress will be forced to call the convention.

Congress may, however, act on its own. Two hundred and thirty-seven congressmen recently co-sponsored a bill to add a balanced budget requirement to the Constitution. This is the largest number of congressmen ever in favor of a balanced budget amendment.

What would a balanced budget amendment do? Prohibit Congress from spending more than it receives in tax revenues in any year. If there were a national emergency, a "super-majority" of congressmen could vote to temporarily allow spending to exceed tax revenues. This would assure that the amendment would not restrict national defense during a war.

But do we really need a constitutional amendment to balance the budget? Can't we trust congressmen to honor their promise to taxpayers to balance the budget and control federal spending?

No. In 1978, 1981 and 1985, Congress passed laws requiring it to balance the budget every year. Yet, Congress has never respected its own laws on this subject. Only a constitutional amendment—providing a higher authority than Congress—will do the job.

Some people think that if Congress can just raise taxes one more time, then politicians will finally be able to balance the budget. But Congress is already planning a tax hike of $91 billion next year—over $900 per American family. Tax hikes only encourage congressmen to spend and spend even more money.

The only real solution to deficit spending is to end politicians' ability to spend without limit. Only when politicians are allowed no choice will they stop spending more money than they take away from citizens in taxes.

As Jefferson observed, "To preserve our independence, we must not let our leaders load us with perpetual debt." The federal debt now amounts to over $10,000 per person for every man, woman and child in this country. Unless we want the federal debt to bury every American family, we must pull in the reins on Congress.

Our Founding Fathers did a brilliant job of setting up the mechanism for a long-lasting, representative government. The best way to celebrate the anniversary of the Constitution is by making it even better.

Get a good start in kindergarten

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Enterprise is indebted to Dennis Hess who brought this item to our attention. He recalls that he received it through a Sam's Wholesale Club Business Newsletter. We think it is quite timely, with the opening of school dominating family life this month and instructions on health and safety part of every morning's ritual. ... And very important, particularly the last sentence of the last paragraph.)

All I ever really need to know I learned in Kindergarten

By Robert Fulghum

Most of what I really need to know about how to live, and what to do, and how to be, I learned in kindergarten. Wisdom was not at the top of the graduate school mountain, but there in the sandbox at nursery school.

These are the things I learned: Share everything. Play fair. Don't hit people. Put things back where you found them. Clean up your own mess. Don't take things that aren't yours. Say you're sorry when you hurt somebody. Wash your hands before you eat. Flush. Warm cookies and cold milk are good for you. Live a balanced life. Learn some and think some and draw and paint and sing and dance and play and work every day some.

Take a nap every afternoon. When you go out into the world, watch for traffic, hold hands and stick together. Be aware of wonder. Remember the little seed in the plastic cup. The roots go down and the plant goes up and nobody really knows how or why, but we are all like that.

Goldfish and hamsters and white mice and even the little seed in the plastic cup - they all die. So do we.

And then remember the book about Dick and Jane and the first word you learned, the biggest word of all: LOOK. Everything you need to know is in there somewhere. The Golden Rule and love and basic sanitation. Ecology and politics and sane living.

Think of what a better world it would be if we all - the whole world - had cookies and milk about 3 o'clock every afternoon and then lay down with our blankets for a nap. Or if we had a basic policy in our nation and other nations to always put things back where we found them and cleaned up our own messes. And it is still true, no matter how old you are, when you go out into the world, it is best to hold hands and stick together.

Volunteer firemen host barbecue

Muenster Volunteer Firemen were well pleased with the attendance of their friends and supporters at the third annual barbecue supper on Saturday, Aug. 22, in the city park.

The event was held to increase the fund for a new firetruck which will be delivered next year. "Meat for the supper was prepared by Mike Sturm and David Fisher, who have helped the fire department in this way for the past two years. Ed and Ginny Schneider did an excellent job on beans, potatoes and other items on the menu," said Fire Chief Herbie Knabe. Firemen and their wives spent many hours helping to prepare the meal. They expressed appreciation to H & W Meat Co. for use of their facilities and Sacred Heart Parish for use of folding tables; and especially to all who attended and to many who offered extra donations.

Knabe added, "We are pleased because, to date, this was the most productive barbecue event we have sponsored. We served at least 904 plates, and many came back for second helpings. Everyone was invited to enjoy "all you can eat."

Amendment forces loan payments

The U.S. Department of Education is moving to enforce legislation passed last year by U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, demanding that student loan defaulters pay their debts.

The department has sent official warnings to pay up to almost 950,000 defaulters who have refused to repay a total of $1.9 billion.

"These are people who have, in effect, stolen money from the taxpayers and drained the student loan fund of cash that should be going to help current and future college students," Gramm said.

Previous efforts to reclaim unpaid loans from ex-students have revealed that defaulters include some of the most prosperous members of society, Gramm noted.

"Some are professionals who relied on student loans to finance the educations that are now paying off in good jobs and high salaries," Gramm said. "There is no reason that the large majority of these loan defaulters should not be required to pay their bills."

"The victims of this massive fraud are obvious. The victims are the taxpayers who have been duped by these deadbeats and the students who are being denied the help they require to attend college," Gramm said.

"We collected $135 million last year by withholding tax refunds from student loan defaulters and so far this year, the Education Department has managed to reclaim $226 million. But these amounts are small change compared to the $1.9 billion that is owed," Gramm said.

Under the Gramm legislation, defaulters are being warned to pay before Oct. 1 or risk specific action to collect not only the outstanding loans, but the cost of tracking down the offenders.

EVERY NOW AND THEN we get to hear the remark that Muenster will be really home-dry in the near future... that anyone selling beer in a dry territory is subject to a fine ranging from $100 to $1,000 in addition to a forced vacation at Huntsville. Whether or not such drastic penalties are ever imposed remains to be seen. But we do hope that the law will become so disgraceful that the general public, and not just the beer sellers, will make some effort at having it changed. As it is anyone who wants a drink gets it and the few who provide the drinks are in constant dread of a raid. We favor a law so drastic that some of our friends who vote dry and drink wet will be disgusted with their votes. After a few months of that condition another local option election would go over with a bang!

Business men who have a hard time making collections can get a good idea from the man who sent his slow pay customers bills for more than twice the amount of their account. In many cases the people came in to protest the bills and point out the exact indebtedness whereupon the credit man humbly apologized and offered to accept payment for the corrected figure—and received it.

Hoedbeck Arrests Man Suspected of Forging Check Here Two Years Ago

A man who gave his name as J. W. Johnson was arrested here Friday morning by Constable Frank Hoedbeck after W. L. Stock, proprietor of the local cotton gin, identified him as a forger who had been active here about two years ago.

At the time the man made his appearance, Mr. Stock said, he suspected him of being the person who had passed bad checks here before, and when he saw that the suspect used the same old tactics he summoned Officer Hoedbeck.

On the pretext of finding someone who had used wheat for sale the man requested his victims to write their names and address, which, it is thought was to be used later as a pattern for forging a check.

Mr. Hoedbeck placed his suspect in the custody of Sheriff Luther McCollum at Galesville who took the man's fingerprints and placed him in the county jail. The fingerprints were referred to Washington for identification.

HIGHWAY PROGRESS DELAYED ONE WEEK BECAUSE OF RAINS

Construction work on Highway 5 has been at a standstill during the past week because of the rain. It was stated, however, by members of the road crew that activity will again be going at full blast at the beginning of next week and it is possible that some work will be begun this week.

It is estimated that grade work east of Muenster will be completed in about one more week. The piles of rock that were blasted out just outside the city limits have been removed to the side of the road for future use and other similar blasting work has prepared the rock hill near I. A. Schuch's farm for removal. A few more shots and a week's work should prepare the entire road east for the sub base of gravel.

McGruff gives thanks

Last Thursday McGruff, the Crime Prevention Dog, appeared at the Gainesville Courthouse Square where he called forth area sponsors of his program to show his appreciation.

Attending the ceremony from Muenster were Kiwanis member Butch Fisher, MHS Principal Eddie Griffin, Sacred Heart third grade teacher Steve Kohler and Jerry and Betty Rose Walterscheid.

All of the sponsors, who are purchasing tapes and materials for elementary classes in the McGruff program, received certificates of appreciation from McGruff. Also, Gainesville Police Chief Carl Dunlap was given a special plaque for the cooperation and support shown to the program by the Gainesville Police Department.

New sponsors of classes in Muenster are the Muenster Jaycees, Cooke County Farm Bureau, Beta Kappa, Knights of Columbus and Jerry and Betty Rose Walterscheid. They join the prior sponsors: the Muenster Kiwanis, the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers' Club, the VFW and the VFW Auxiliary.

Area schools which have adopted the McGruff program are Sacred Heart, Muenster Public, Callisburg, Era and six elementary schools in Gainesville.

Promoted by the National Crime Prevention Council, McGruff asks children to "Take a Bite Out of Crime," by learning to avoid drugs, alcohol, child abuse, molestation and abduction. McGruff also provides other health, safety and crime prevention tips.

Gainesville Lion Club member Claude Selder Jr. said that "people are really interested in getting the program into schools because they know the benefits of it. Kids will listen to McGruff."

Burglary hits MHS field house over weekend

Eleven new footballs and 40 pairs of white gym socks were stolen from the Hornet Fieldhouse last weekend, reported Police Chief Helen Tompkins.

Sometime between after Friday night's scrimmage and Sunday afternoon when the loss was discovered by Coach Bob Gross, someone entered the fieldhouse through the Woodshop Room. Because there were no signs of forced entry, Tompkins suspects that the thieves used either a pocketknife or a key to get in.

The locks on fieldhouse doors have since been replaced.

A reward for information leading to the arrest in this crime is being offered.

School zone speed limits to be enforced

Along with the beginning of the school year and the increased number of young pedestrians comes a caution for all drivers to be alert and observe the speed limit in the school zones.

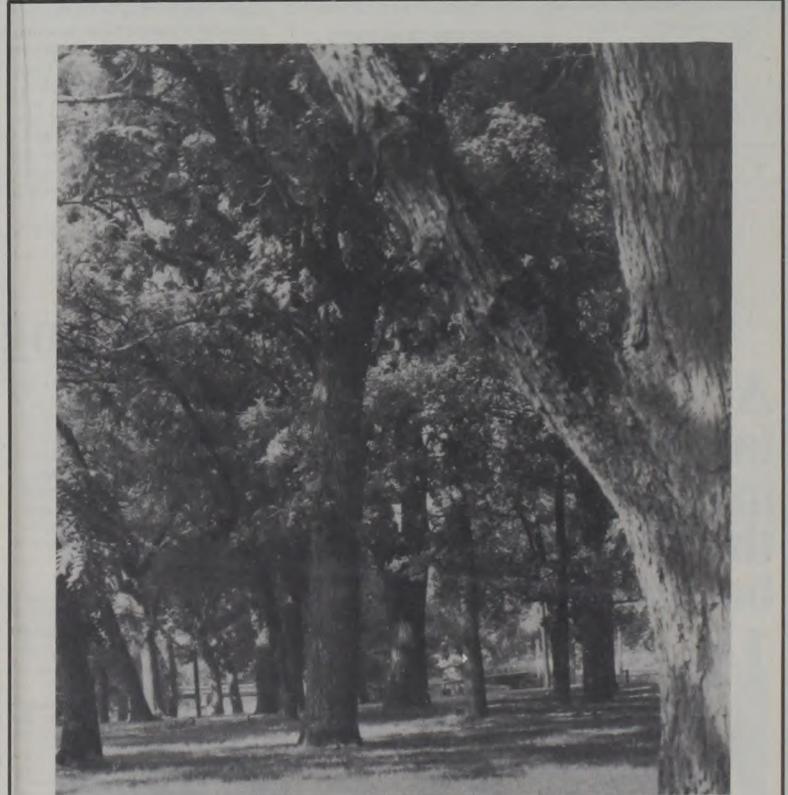

"There will be no warnings in the school zone," Police Chief Helen Tompkins stated. "We won't talk."

When the school zone lights on Main Street flash, the speed limit is 20 miles per hour. And between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m., the speed limit is 15 miles per hour on Sixth and Seventh Avenues in front of both schools.

"A fine of $50 plus $2 for each mile over the limit will be issued to speeders in these areas," she added.

But Tompkins' safety warning was not for drivers only. She urged all children to be cautious around cars, adding that "sometimes kids just don't think."

MRS. BILLY JOE TANKERSLEY
... nee Shawna Lee Hellman ...

Couple united in ceremony

The wedding of Shawna Lee Hellman of Lindsay and Billy Joe Tankersley of Wellman took place in St. Peter's Catholic Church in Lindsay on Saturday, Aug. 22, at 5 p.m. with Father Cletus Post officiating the nuptial Mass and officiating the double ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of C.J. and Alice Hellman of Lindsay and the groom is the son of Carma Tankersley of Wellman and Don Tankersley of Angleton.

A graduate of Lindsay High School in 1983, the bride also attended Texas Tech University and will graduate from Tech in December 1987 as a high school teacher. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi Educational Honor Society, Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society, Golden Key National Honor Society, Double T Dolls and High Riders.

The groom is a 1982 graduate of Wellman High School and graduated from Texas Tech University in May 1987 as a civil engineer. He is also a member of Chi Epsilon Civil Engineering Honorary.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown featured a sheer illusion yoke with Alencon lace wedding band collar. The fitted bodice had accents of Alencon lace and taffeta ruffles over the shoulders and to the basque waistline, highlighting the long, fitted illusion sleeves. A touch of Alencon lace reached the edge of the sleeves at the wrists. The full flowing skirt carried appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace, and was enhanced with triple rows of ruffles at the hemline, continuing into a full chapel-length train. The treasured gown was worn by her sister on her own wedding day. The bride also had a gold cross and chain necklace, worn as wedding jewelry by her maternal grandmother, mother and sister.

She carried a bridal bouquet made by the groom's mother, of daisies and traditional wedding flowers, with a shower of white satin ribbons tied in lovers' knots and white lace streamers with narrow ribbon inserts.

ATTENDANTS

Christy Hellman of Lindsay was her sister's maid of honor. Rhonda Dieter of Gainesville, sister of the bride, and Jill Fuhrmann of Lindsay, Crystal Lacy of Amarillo, Bonnie Neeb of Hurst, friends of the bride, and Kelly Kiesel of Grapevine, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

The bridal attendants' attire, each one a different color of the rainbow, were made by the bride's mother. The crepe satin gowns were designed with a fitted bodice and a high collar that continued to a V-back neckline ending with a self-fabric bow trim. Full gathered tea-length skirts were attached at the shaped waistline.

They carried bouquets of white daisies and forget-me-nots and a satin ribbon in coordinating colors.

Kent Bell of Brownfield, a friend of the groom, was best man. Brent Tankersley of Lubbock and Brad Tankersley of Brownfield, both brothers of the groom, and Britt Wyatt of Lubbock, Curtis Estill of Brownfield, Bo Rose of Houston, all friends of the groom, were groomsmen.

Ushers were Stan Dieter of Gainesville, bride's brother-in-law and Dusty Rogers of O'Donnell, Texas, groom's brother-in-law.

Mass servers were Chad Hoberer, Charles Becker and Danny Becker, cousins of the bride.

Melissa Postnickoff, organist, and Amy Assiter, vocalist, provided wedding music. "Trumpet Voluntary" was played for the bridal entrance.

Votive candles, daisies and forget-me-nots in colors of the rainbow were used for altar decorations. Pew markers in the center aisle were white satin bows tied with clusters of daisies.

RECEPTION

The Sacred Heart Community Center in Muenster was the scene of the reception, buffet dinner and dance hosted by the bride's parents, following the church service.

Michelle Walter and Kim Hoberer secured guest signatures in the bride's book.

The bride's table was draped with lace overlays on white satin, accented by white satin bows with clusters of daisies. Centerpieces were white daisy trees with puffed satin hearts in the colors of the rainbow.

A special decoration for the wall behind the main table illustrated a rainbow starting with a lacy white umbrella overflowing with daisies and colored hearts.

The three-tiered wedding cake was placed over a lighted fountain. The top layer held a keepsake ornament of double crystal hearts with bells. Cake decorations included white daisies and forget-me-nots in the colors of the rainbow. Assisting with the cake service were Sally Walter, Lisa Walter, Jennifer Walter and Lori Hoberer, cousins of the bride.

A niece and nephew of the couple, Amy and Jason Tankersley, distributed tiny bags of birdseed before the couple's departure for a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta. They will make their home in Lubbock.

A rehearsal dinner followed the wedding rehearsal on Friday and was held at "Billy and Muncha's" in Lindsay.

A scrapbook commemorating Stroll and Supper for Saragosa was also sent to the town. The scrapbook was made by J.A.M. members and was filled with articles, photos, greetings, signatures and artwork.

Dinner attendance pleases festival sponsors

Forestburg's Watermelon Festival had better attendance this year than ever before, commented several of the chairmen.

The only concession reporting so far was the dinner chairman, Myrt Denham. "We're proud of our part in it," she said. "We had lots of customers and lots of compliments. Many came at least a half hour early, so that by the 11:30 opening time, the line inside the Community Center was 'standing room only.'" We are reasonably sure of clearing more than $1200."

Mrs. Denham continued, "We feel we owe some of the latecomers an apology because we ran out of barbecued brisket, although we had plenty of ham and meat loaf and all the vegetables and cobbles. Next year we'll do better and will make adjustments to provide lots more brisket. We will continue to firmly adhere to our festival policy, offering all you can eat with our dinner."

Another chairman expressing pleasure with attendance was Jewel Dill, who was in charge of the Arts and Crafts show.

Reports of other chairmen and winners of trophies at the parade, and prizes at the drawing, will be published as soon as they become available to The Enterprise.

Hornets score 1 against Chico

The Muenster Hornets had their first test of the year when they scrimmaged the Chico Dragons last Friday. James Hennigan scored Muenster's only points for the night on a 55-yard run. Chico had a drive that landed in a one-yard touchdown run.

Coach Bill Jump was pleased with the effort of the team and thought James Hennigan, Bobby Don Thornhill and Chris Klement really played well for the first scrimmage of the season.

Chico returned 11 experienced starters on defense compared to Muenster's lone returnee, Brian Hess.

Muenster will have one more scrimmage before regular season play starts. At 6 p.m. at Howe Friday night, the Hornets will face a stiffer challenger. The Bulldogs have made the playoffs the past three years and are picked third in District 11-AA by Texas Football.

Coach Jump is hoping for improvement without sustaining any injury.

Scrimmage cancelled due to injury...

Tigers held scoreless

The Sacred Heart Tigers outdistanced Alvord by 39 yards in a scoreless first scrimmage. "The team felt real good," commented Coach Joe Pasqua. "The first bunch didn't score, but we moved the ball real well."

The Tigers completed 9 of 15 passes for 114 yards and gained 91 rushing, averaging 5 yards per play.

Sacred Heart reached the Alvord 15-yard-line only to lose the ball by a fumble and drove to the 13 before running out of downs. Alvord got to Sacred Heart's 20, but ended the drive with a fumble.

with a pulled muscle; Donnie Knabe, recuperating from car accident injuries; and Steve Koelzer with an injured foot. Several players are also missing practice because of a flu virus. "If we get everybody well, we'll have a good team." Sacred Heart's next game will be against Era, Sept. 4, in Muenster.

Taxidermy course offered at CCC Sept. 1

Sportsmen and sportswomen who want to preserve and display their hunting and fishing trophies can learn to do so in a special non-credit course beginning Sept. 1 at Cooke County College.

Taxidermy is the subject of the course, and the instructor is longtime CCC biology instructor Bill Stanley.

The 15-week course will be offered in a unique three-session format, with the first five-week session devoted to fish, the second to birds and the third to mammals. Students may sign up for one, two or all three sessions.

Classes will meet on the CCC campus on Tuesdays from 6 to 9:45 p.m. The cost is $25 per session, and students will need to provide some supplies.

"One very important aspect of taxidermy that isn't emphasized enough," Stanley says, "is the necessity for knowing about the animal's habitat as well as its habits. Without such knowledge, the end result of a mounting can look very artificial."

"I believe very strongly that animals, like people, have dignity and that one of the most important goals of taxidermy should be to preserve that dignity."

This, he explains, is why it's so important for a person learning taxidermy to also develop an awareness of nature and natural history as it relates to the animals with whom we share our environment.

"For persons who are heavily into hunting and fishing," Stanley points out, "learning basic taxidermy and mounting one's own trophies is a great way to fill slack time between seasons."

Enroll in person at the CCC Continuing Education Office in Room 109 on campus. For information, call 817/668-7731, Ext. 274.

Soccer season kicks off

Dallas Sidekicks Mike Powers and John Hedlund will be at Edison Park in Gainesville on Saturday, Aug. 29, to kick off the Cooke County Soccer Association's fall season.

Sign-up for the season will be from 9 a.m. to noon. The Sidekick players will conduct demonstrations beginning at 10 a.m. Dr Pepper will be served by the Association at the sign-up.

If boys and girls are unable to attend, special sign-up applications will be passed out at area schools on the first day of classes. Sept. 6 is the last day for accepting applications.

The registration fee of $20 will cover a player's uniform, insurance and membership in the North Texas State Soccer Association.

There will be an eight-game season with the first game on Sept. 26 and the last game played Nov. 14. Teams will be formed in Cooke County communities where they will practice. Games will be played in Gainesville on Saturdays.

The Association will also send a team from each age division to play in the NTSSA's Tournament of Champions held in Dallas the first weekend of December.

Interested youth, ages 5-19, and their parents are encouraged to come to the sign-up this Saturday to find out more information and meet the Sidekicks.

Scrimmage cancelled

With the Tigers plagued by injuries, Coach Pasqua cancelled the scrimmage this Friday with Alvord. "We don't want to get into the same situation as last year," said Pasqua. "We want to be ready for Era and Oakridge."

Injured Tigers include senior Scott Taylor with a bruised back; Randy Miller, out for three weeks

THE MODEL H,16-30 Advance Rumely Oil Pull Tractor appeared in 1919. The two-cylinder engine operated at 530 rpm and developed a 4,674-pound drawbar pull and cranked out 32.52 brake horsepower. Production ended in 1924, with a total of 56,647 oil pulls being built in 14 different models.

Foreign sales, particularly to Russia, led to the downfall of Rumely. Heavy losses incurred, and in June 1931, Allis-Chalmers bought out Advance-Rumely. This tractor, as well as many others, can be seen at the Antique Farm Machinery Show this weekend in Lindsay.

Business loans available for rural residents

Authority is available to guarantee loans for Texas rural residents for use in creating new business or expanding existing enterprises. J. Lynn Futch, FmHA State Director has announced.

"Although the Farmers Home Administration guarantees a loan made by a commercial lender, we are interested in the economic health of our rural communities and welcome inquiries about this program," Futch said. "Our business and industry program was created primarily to provide jobs in rural communities and towns up to 50,000 in population."

"There may be many people in rural areas of Texas who are not familiar with the opportunities available under the B&I program, especially the fact that we can guarantee loans for a variety of sizes of business, including family-size enterprises," he added.

"We are especially interested in anything we can do to help improve job opportunities for farmers who are trying to find new occupations." James B. Murdock, local County Supervisor, stated that inquiries have been increasing statewide about the guarantee program. He (she) also said that participation by a local or area bank or savings and loan association in an application or preapplication is essential.

Mr. Futch said information about the program can be obtained from the FmHA office located at Room 211, Federal Bldg., Gainesville, Texas, telephone number 817-668-7277.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

We have been getting several inquiries about seed testing for fall plantings. The Texas Department of Agriculture has Seed Testing Laboratories over the state which test many types of field seed for germination and purity. If you wish to have your wheat or oats tested by the State Lab, you will need to send a representative sample to the Texas Department of Agriculture Seed Laboratories, 241 East McNeil, Stephenville, Texas 76401. A complete test costs $5 and the check should be sent with your sample. For wheat and oat samples, they need two pounds of seed. The wheat will require 12 days of germination while the oats will require 15 days.

Your bulk seed should be sampled by inserting a probe into the bin. As the seed is sampled, examine it for uniformity. You will need to send the following information with the sample:

- A. Your name and address
  - B. Kind, variety
  - C. Lot number or other identification
  - D. Year grown and origin
  - E. Test desired
  - F. Seed treatment if any
- Samples should be mailed in cloth bags or strong cardboard containers. Paper sacks or ice cream cartons are unfit because they will burst.

This past year we had problems in late harvested grain with sprouting. Be sure and check your wheat for the presence of sprouted grain. In the event of some sprouted grain in your planting seed, be sure and up your seeding rates. If the percentage of sprouted kernels is very low, cleaners can remove some of the damaged kernels but on higher percentages, this wheat should not be considered for planting. Any wheat harvested with more than 15 percent sprouted seed is designated sample grade and is unacceptable in conventional marketing channels. Small grain planting will be upon us shortly and early analysis will benefit seed germination and growth.

Jim Blalock, Area Agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will be in Cooke County on Thursday, Sept. 3, for two meetings. The meetings will be held at 1 p.m. at the Cooke County Electric Co-Op in Muenster and at 3 p.m. at the Cooke County Fairgrounds in Gainesville.

Blalock will cover subjects of

Texas A&M scientists emphasize lean beef

COLLEGE STATION — Fat is out, lean is in and cattlemen who don't know the difference may find themselves out of business, say beef researchers at Texas A&M University.

"The survivors in the beef industry are ready to produce the beef products that are meeting health guidelines and responding to consumer demands," says Dr. H. Russell Cross, an animal scientist specializing in lean beef studies. "The 'new breed' of beef producer is listening and working closely with health professionals to produce a product that will be a positive contribution to the health and well-being of the consumer."

The new beef product has been in development the past few years through genetic research, said Cross. It meets the American Heart Association dietary guidelines for limiting total fat and cholesterol, he added.

Cross, Dr. Jeff W. Savell, Dr. Gary Smith and other researchers of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) at Texas A&M conducted the National Consumer Retail Beef Study (NCRBS) with the assistance of the Beef Industry Council and The National Cattlemen's Association.

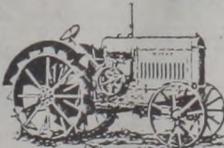

"The most significant result of the study was that consumers believe that beef products are too fat," Cross reported, adding that the consumers' definition of leanness is related to the fat left on their plate, not differences in marbling. He said the image of beef was improved as more trimmable fat was removed.

"Efforts to reduce the fatness of beef without sacrificing eating quality should be a common goal of all meat and animal scientists," Cross said.

Summerfest was fun for all!

All levels of the science department at Sacred Heart School will benefit from the money raised on Sunday by Summerfest. But everyone, including the faculty members sponsoring the event, enjoyed the fund drive.

Prize winners in Summerfest raffles abounded. In the Flea Market Raffle, Debbie Fisher won a school desk, Janet Voth won a crayola quilt made by Lou Voth, and Florence Grewing won a teddy bear. In the S.H. Preschool Quilt Raffle, Mrs. B.J. Sicking won a large patchwork quilt made by Rose Hofbauer and Peggy Grewing won a baby's quilt made by Terri Escobedo.

The flea market was a big success, selling desks, toys, games, appliances, furniture, books, ceramics, glassware and more new and used items. The leftovers from the flea market went to the Diocese Thrift Shop in Dallas where Sacred Heart Parish will get credit for them.

Entertainment of all types was provided at Summerfest. Wendell Black furnished taped music all day on his sound system, some of the tapes being the singing of Shawna Grewing. Pam Fette and Emily Klement also entertained with their playing and singing.

State park offers some of Texas' best fishing

Texas' state parks are known to many Texans and out-of-state visitors for their excellent camping, picnic and other facilities. But now the parks are becoming popular with fishermen as well.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Fisheries Division has been working with the Parks Division to create year-round fisheries in lakes within state park borders. Many parks also are on the shores of larger reservoirs that have been stocked and managed by department fisheries biologists.

An example of the former is the 65-acre lake at Tyler State Park near Tyler. Biologist Charles Inman said the lake was stocked this year with native and Florida largemouth bass, channel and blue catfish, hybrid sunfish and copnose bluegills.

During the winter months, the lake is stocked with catchable-sized rainbow trout. In all, six state park lakes received stockings of rainbows this year, Inman said. They are Tyler, Buescher, Cleburne, Daingerfield, Meridian and Bonham.

"To maintain high production in Tyler State Park Lake, fishery and parks personnel have installed fish attractors and a fish feeder, and applied lime and fertilizer," Inman said. Bank access to the lake is excellent, and facilities include fishing piers and a boat ramp.

Other state parks having lakes, or located adjacent to lakes, that were stocked during 1987 include: Lake Arrowhead, 24,100 blue catfish; Lake Livingston, 898,585 striped bass; Possum Kingdom, 217,740 striped bass; Lake Texoma, 60,050 striped bass; Lake Whitney, 358,757 striped bass, 235,500 Florida largemouths; Lake Fairfield, 49,025 hybrid striped bass, 353,439 white crappie; Lake Brownwood, 145,101 hybrid striped bass; Lake Somerville, 184,600 hybrid striped bass; Huntsville (Lake Raven), 16,850 Florida largemouth bass; Lake Mineral Wells, 32,487 Florida largemouths; Lake Corpus Christi, 100,000 Florida largemouths.

To obtain the department's free parks facilities brochure, write the TPWD, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744, or call toll-free 1-800-792-1112.

Phone 759-4311 to report news items to the Muenster Enterprise or send to P.O. Box 190, Muenster, Texas 76252.

Crafts were made and sold throughout the day. Mary Hess was the clown, and games, particularly Dunk-A-Teacher, Goodie Walk and Plinko, were big attractions.

Foods sold during the festival included barbecue, sausage on a bun, sausage on a stick, nachos, frito pie, soft drinks and tea.

The final tally of money raised is not in yet because all bills are not paid, reported Summerfest Chairman Patti Bayer.

Sacred Heart would like to give special thanks to the following people for their help with Summerfest: H & W for help in preparing the food, Hofbauers for the use of their Germanfest booth, the teachers in the dunking booth, Pam Fette for publicity, the committee chairpersons, and especially everyone who came.

Farm credit system receives revision

Several key issues of the Farm Credit System underwent significant revision during the recent congressional markup of the bill by the House Agriculture Committee.

"This legislation provides tools needed to allow both the farmer and the Farm Credit System to work out of the many credit problems they both face," said the Stamford Democrat.

Basically the legislation contains five major components:

1) Guarantee of Borrower Stock: A five-year guarantee of farmer/borrower "B stock" to ensure investments in the system will be preserved.

2) Restructuring of Distressed Loans and Borrowers' Rights: These provisions would provide that loans in nonaccruing status would be restructured if such restructuring would prove to be less costly as compared to liquidation of the loan. New borrowers' rights include: review of adverse credit conditions, homestead authorities, rights of "first refusal" so family farmers have an option to repurchase foreclosed property, borrower access to information and an improved FmHA interest rate buy-down program.

3) Farm Credit System Assistance: Authorization of funds to be appropriated to prevent the Farm Credit System from collapsing. Couple the federal assistance with needed reform and improvement in System management, by creating a Federal Temporary Assistance Corporation to make appropriated funds available. The TAC would work with troubled FCS institutions to develop business plans that maximize self-help and make efficient use of federal funds.

4) Secondary Market: Establish a new secondary market for agricultural loans, under which commercial farm lenders and the FCS will gain new access to capital markets. With this access, farm lenders can obtain funds to finance their farm-borrowers at reasonable interest rates.

5) Farm Credit System Improvements: The bill provides that an "FDIC type" insurance program be established to assist FCS institutions that become unsound in the future. Reorganization of the system's structure is provided by dissolving the 36 Federal Land Banks and Federal Intermediate Credit Banks and vesting their powers and capital into the Production Credit Associations and Federal Land Bank Associations which they serve. Authority will be provided for the local associations to establish a new type of capital that would be "at risk" and eligible to pay dividends to borrowers.

The local associations would have established new capital adequacy standards to provide a measure to gauge the strength of the institution. "This bill represents a good compromise crafted by the House Agriculture Committee. I feel confident the bill will be the type the House of Representatives can be proud of," said Stenholm.
