Mammography is newest hospital service offered

Muenster Memorial Hospital has joined a growing trend in the United States and Europe, offering technology that provides comprehensive, affordable and efficient means for diagnosing breast cancer in its earliest stages.

The Muenster Memorial Hospital Breast Diagnostic Department opened Friday, Oct. 9, 1987, and includes the newest low-dose mammography machine, the CGR Senographe 500 T System which is the ultimate in full-capability breast imaging, offering the finest in routine and magnification imaging.

Mammography is the process of taking an X-ray picture of the breast using low radiation to keep exposure to a safe minimum. Recent studies by the American Cancer Society indicate breast cancer seen by mammography before it can be felt will usually have twice the cure rate of cancer detected by hand. Studies also show a mammography can detect a lesion one to three years before it can be felt.

There are presently two types of mammograms. One is a screening procedure which consists of only two views of each breast. The other is a full mammogram which consists of three views and gives the physician a more complete study, in order to give a better diagnosis. Muenster Memorial Hospital offers only the full mammogram.

Guidelines from the American Cancer Society state that women between the ages of 35-40 should have a baseline mammogram. The procedure then should be repeated every one to two years between the ages of 40-49; and one every year for women over 50.

No one understands a woman and her feelings better than a woman. Muenster Memorial Hospital has decorated the diagnostic room For Women Only, to suit the taste of a woman. And since women may feel apprehensive when it comes to mammography and breast disease, the hospital staff female Radiologic-Technologist Kay Bynum has been fully trained at Harris Hospital of Fort Worth, Texoma Medical Center and at Lewisville Hospital to perform the mammography.

And to do everything possible to make the patient's visit comforting and reassuring.

Since time is important, appointments will be scheduled so that there is minimum waiting time. Once a patient's visit begins she can be sure it will be thorough and discreet. The technologist will also show a short, five-minute film on breast self-examination.

The American Cancer Society (ACS) recommends a schedule of breast self-examination (BSE) and professional breast exams by a physician. Only 25 percent of women perform BSE on a regular basis. After viewing this film, the patient will receive pamphlets from the American Cancer Society to assist in monthly BSE exams.

An analysis of the patient's mammogram exam will be studied by the Muenster Memorial Hospital radiologist and a report will be sent to the physician of her choice.

Muenster Memorial Hospital created this new service for the women of Muenster and surrounding communities to tell them "We Care About You And Your Health Welfare."

A woman may make an appointment herself as a self-referral, or have her physician refer her for a mammogram.

Call Muenster Memorial Hospital, 1-817-759-2271, Radiology Department for more information or scheduling.

Women will find the new diagnostic room for Mammography very appealing. A former large patient-room has been converted to a two-room suite plus bathroom. Ceilings were lowered and new recessed fluorescent lighting installed.

Mauve, fabric-covered vertical window blinds have been hung and new carpet laid, extending into the bathroom. New paint and soft, restful wallpaper in a mauve and cream subdued leafy design is used throughout.

Round glass and chrome tables are in both rooms. One holds a screen for viewing films and tapes. The other holds a floral arrangement in complementary colors. Chairs are covered in muted velvet.

Decor of the newly arranged area is very appealing.

Wendell Black presented Good Neighbor Award by KC's

Wendell Black was presented the Good Neighbor Award for 1987 by the Muenster Knights of Columbus, in their annual observance of Columbus Day.

The honor included a carved wooden plaque presented to Mr. and Mrs. Black by Grand Knight Allen Sicking in Sacred Heart Church at the 8 a.m. Mass, followed by their attendance as honor guests at a Communion Breakfast in the KC Hall.

In his presentation remarks,

Allen Sicking said, "Following a tradition that is a quarter-century old, the Muenster Knights of Columbus Council has selected the Good Neighbor of 1987. This award is presented to a non-Catholic member of the community recognized for his contribution to the spirit of harmony between the Faiths. This award is also a tribute to the honoree's service to the community and to his own church."

"Our Good Neighbor" for this year is a native of the Muenster area; he is a graduate of Era High School and North Texas State University and a member of Myra Baptist Church.

"He is a writer and performer of gospel music and is a published member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers."

"The K of C Good Neighbor for 1987 is Wendell Black!"

"Wendell's contribution is demonstrated in many areas. One of the more notable is the time and effort he spent to help last summer's Stroll For Saragosa - just one more example of his willingness to help his neighbors. His songs and his friendly smile are indicative of his worthiness to be called a Good Neighbor."

Father Victor Gillespie, celebrant of the Mass, added his congratulations at the close of the service, mentioning the many instances when Wendell Black's singing added to solemnity of the occasion.

Wendell and his wife Dee Ann are residents of Muenster. He is an electrician by trade and in partnership with his brother, Bill Black. He also owns a well-equipped recording studio in Myra, in partnership with his sisters.

A number of Knights of Columbus and their spouses attended the breakfast in the KC Hall, catered by Nellie Martin and Hilda Sicking. Widows of deceased members were guests. Allen Sicking was master of ceremonies.

The featured speaker was John Crumley of Fort Worth, State Advocate of the Knights of Columbus. His remarks included reference to the importance of promoting the ecumenical spirit by honoring one who has fostered harmony among various faiths through community service.

Joe Fisher gave concluding remarks. He gave ring rosaries from an anonymous donor to everyone present. And he thanked Betty Rose Walterscheid and Aileen Knabe for decorating guest tables.

Autofest car show on the right road

Things are very busy around the Chamber office as final preparations are underway for the 2nd Annual Autofest Celebration being held Saturday, Oct. 24. Judging from the numerous calls from across Texas which have been coming into the Chamber regarding Autofest, attendance will be far ahead of last year. In addition, pre-registrations by mail are far surpassing what was expected, with entire auto clubs entering all their members' autos.

What's in store for those who come to Autofest? First of all, there is no charge! The event will be held on the streets surrounding Muenster Ball Park and open to everyone. The four streets will be closed to regular street traffic beginning at 7 a.m. At 7:30 registration for the Volksmarch will begin at the entrance to the ballpark grandstands. At 8:30 registration for autos entering the Autofest will begin at the intersection of Walnut and 2nd Streets. At 10 a.m., most events will get underway, lasting until 5 p.m. when trophies will be awarded to the various winners.

There will be plenty to watch as the autos will participate in several games which are designed to demonstrate driver skills. One of which is titled "Dead Slow Race." Drivers will be asked to run a short course on a timed basis to see who can go the slowest (without stopping). Drivers are also tested on their ability to drive up to a post and stop, with the winner being judged as the one who comes closest, but does not touch the pole. Other games include Basketball Toss, Blind Driver Navigation, Tire Change, Tire Roll, Wrench Toss and more. All games are subject to available time and weather conditions.

While organizers have placed an order for weather much the same as we have been having over the last month, they also have made contingent plans for the autoshow to be held on Nov. 7 in case of a full rainout. However, the Knights of Columbus and Volunteer Fire Department will have the Autofest Dance at the Sacred Heart Community Center regardless of the weather conditions.

Other items of interest going on at the Autofest site include an open craft sale and show. Anyone with arts and crafts is welcome to come and set up on the street in a designated area free of charge. In addition, a number of local businesses will have fun-booths at the Autofest site, giving away items to those who participate in their games. There will be free "Autofest" balloons for the kids, and numerous auto-related promotional items available from various merchants and the Chamber.

Local entrants are being sought for the show itself. The trophy classes and sponsors are: 1900's, Muenster Chamber of Commerce; 1910's, Endres Motor Company; 1920's, Endres Motor Company; 1930's, Rohmer's Restaurant; 1940's, Hennigan Auto Parts; 1950's, Gregg's Chevrolet; 1960's, Glenn's Paint & Body. The Muenster Wholesale Beer Distributors will sponsor a trophy each: Showmanship Award, Old Millwaukee; Best of Show, Budweiser; People's Choice, Miller Lite. Hoedebeck GMC will be hosting the trophy for the new area of judging, "Commercial Class," which will cover pickups and trucks. The specialized area of judging, "Custom Modified," is still not adopted by a sponsor at press time.

From all indications, Oct. 24 will be a fun day for all age groups. It hopefully will give the young a look at what it was like to own an auto 50 or more years ago; bring back memories to those who did own one of those autos; and provide a great place for proud auto owners of the antiques and classics to show off their investment.

For more information, call the Muenster Chamber of Commerce office, 817-759-2227.

Trustees offer information opposing tax transfer

At their Oct. 5 meeting, the Muenster I.S.D. Board of Trustees unanimously passed a resolution opposing the proposition that would transfer the assessing and collecting of ad valorem taxes from the Cooke County Appraisal District office to the elected Cooke County Tax Assessor-Collector's office.

Muenster I.S.D. Trustees ask that all patrons consider the following information before they go to the polls on Nov. 3.

Presently, the Cooke County Appraisal District is governed by a board of five members who are elected by the boards of trustees of the various taxing entities of Cooke County. The boards of all taxing entities of Cooke County review and approve or disapprove the proposed budget of the Cooke County Appraisal District each year. Approval of this proposition would result in an estimated decrease of $100,000.00 in the annual appraisal district budget now used to pay for assessing and collecting functions. The chief appraiser would still answer to his elected board, have his budget reviewed annually by the taxing entities, and supervise the remaining staff in the appraisal of county tax parcels each year.

Passage of this proposition would not result in the closing of the doors of the Cooke County Appraisal District, but would merely create another office and staff for assessing and collecting taxes. This second office would have to be staffed, equipped, trained, housed and funded by the taxpayers of Cooke County.

Should the proposition pass, only the commissioner's court would be able to exercise any review or control over the size of the budget for this newly created office. Much local control could be lost. It is estimated that the new tax assessing and collecting office would need a budget of $150,000.00 to a possible high of $210,000.00 to fund this second office during the first year or two of operation after the change. The increased monies would be needed for staff salaries, inservice training to secure required state certification for the new staff, bonding fees, utilities, office space, office equipment, furniture and purchase or lease of a computer and needed computer software. In a Sept. 29 meeting, County Judge Jim Robertson informed administrators of county taxing entities that any additional costs incurred by the county to provide this service would be passed on to the taxing entities of the county. Most entities would probably be forced to raise their tax rates to provide for the increased costs resulting from approval of this proposition.

Muenster I.S.D. is presently spending less on appraisal, assessment, and collection of taxes with the Cooke County Appraisal District than they did in 1980-81 when the Cooke County Tax Assessor's Office last assessed and collected taxes for Muenster I.S.D. In 1980-81, Muenster I.S.D. received their first tax check from the Cooke County Tax Assessor-Collector's office on Dec. 30, 1980 even though Muenster I.S.D. taxpayers started paying taxes on Oct. 1, 1980. The Cooke County Appraisal District now remits taxes collected to Muenster I.S.D. on a daily or weekly basis starting on Oct. 1. This enables Muenster I.S.D. administration to invest tax monies for longer periods of time, thus

Tom Flusche is new trustee

Tom Flusche has replaced Dale Klement as a member of the Muenster ISD board of trustees. He was sworn in during the regular October meeting. Dale Klement resigned in August. During the meeting, trustees also heard a report on a recent Texas Education Agency monitoring visit to the school cafeteria. Superintendent Charles Coffey said the lunchroom received high ratings from the TEA team.

PSALM 20: 8-9

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to an article in the Oct. 9 edition regarding the disqualification of Valley View for district football honors. The article was compiled from an article which appeared in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Through no fault of our local paper, the article, unfortunately, did not necessarily portray the entire truth.

District Executive Committees are made up of all school superintendents in the district. In the case of District 9A, there are 14 schools, including eight in the East Zone which do not compete directly with Valley View in zone play. The vote for disqualification was unanimous.

On page nine of the Administrator's Manual for Football, the following statement appears: "If a student's parents do not reside in the school district to which he changes, the student will be ineligible for all League activities at the school until he has been in attendance there for a period of one year." Experienced coaches and administrators in public schools are all aware of this rule. If they aren't, they certainly should be. Probably most schools in the district have at least one student who falls under this rule. Not only does the manual state this rule clearly, the District Executive Committee reiterated it in early September by ruling the player in question ineligible for the season. Someone apparently took it upon themselves to disregard the rule the rest of us follow, and it would certainly appear to be a flagrant violation.

The District Executive Committee had no choice but to render the decision to disqualify. Indeed, such a violation could have resulted in disqualification for up to three years. Although no one in education wishes to penalize students from any school with an action of this type, at some point the integrity of the system must be maintained.

The "hard feelings from other schools" to which Mr. Kassen alludes would appear to be nothing but an effort to try to paint others as the "heavy," when in fact, the mistake was flagrantly disregarding a rule of student eligibility. One would hope that all schools will learn from the unfortunate incident and follow the rules as they are defined by the University Interscholastic League. When we decide which rules we care to follow and which we don't, the system will self-destruct and amateur athletics will be a thing of the past.

Williamson's House Bill 1785 approved

"The heart of sound financial government is accountability. House Bill 1785 is the first and most important step in seeing that the State's money is wisely budgeted and spent." With that statement, Comptroller Bob Bullock summarized the impact of the first successful effort in Texas to modernize state government accounting practices. Authored and sponsored by Cooke County State Representative Ric Williamson, House Bill 1785 launches a statewide restructuring of the way state agencies account for expenses and revenues.

"In terms of statewide application, House Bill 1785 was one of my three objectives in the 70th Session of the Legislature. Ultimately, the standardization of our accounting practices will save tax dollars in the hundreds of millions of dollars annually," said Rep. Williamson.

Speaker of the House Gib D. Lewis said, "This is a very positive, first step toward bringing state agencies forward into the modern age of accounting principles. I am convinced a consistent and modernized statewide accounting system will ultimately result in the savings and better management of our state tax dollars."

Williamson has subsequently been appointed by House Speaker Gib Lewis to the Interim Committee on Uniform Accounting Systems. This committee will develop the pilot program to be used to implement the automated uniform statewide accounting system created by the passage of House Bill 1785.

While signing the bill into law, Gov. Bill Clements observed that "A uniform accounting system is one example of the business initiatives taken for granted in the private sector that can be used in state government for more improved management. That means delivering better services for our citizens and insuring that it is being done without burdening the taxpayers. Streamlining state government, making it leaner and better managed, is in the best interest of every taxpayer."

Williamson concluded that "some issues are philosophical and partisan in nature. Accountability, planning and oversight to save taxpayer dollars cross all philosophical and party lines. Every time we can streamline state government, we produce a good product for the taxpayer."

GOVERNOR CLEMENTS congratulates State Representative Ric Williamson on passage of House Bill 1785.

RUMOR?

We at The Enterprise suppose it must be called a rumor when a story is floating about, but no one will release names or specifics. And no one is willing to be quoted. "They" say that there may have been a recent abduction attempt on a child wearing what appeared to be a Sacred Heart uniform.

Whether fact or fiction here and now, it does happen untold times, nationwide. We think even a rumor concerning innocent and defenseless children and those who would prey on them needs to be out. Please, watch out!

Constitutional amendments explained

AUSTIN - This is the second installment of a six-part series of articles examining the 25 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution and the two referendum propositions, all of which go before voters on Nov. 3, 1987.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 6 is to provide for the issuance of bonds and State financing of development and production of Texas products and businesses. It would authorize the Legislature to issue up to $125 million in general obligation bonds to provide venture financing.

In recent years, the Texas economy has suffered a severe economic downturn. Numerous businesses have failed and many people have lost their jobs. Other states which have experienced some of the same problems have used State-supported economic development programs to stimulate their economies. The program envisioned by Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 6 would provide assistance in three categories: (1) development of small agricultural business; (2) development of new products and improvement of existing products; and (3) stimulation of the small non-agricultural business sector.

Under the terms of the proposition, up to $100 million in general obligation bonds would be used to provide initial funding for a "Texas Agricultural Fund" to encourage the production, processing and marketing of Texas agricultural products grown by small agricultural businesses inside the state. Among the services which the State government could offer to such businesses are: direct loans, loan guarantees, insurance coverage and co-insurance.

Up to $15 million in general obligation bonds would be used to establish a "Texas Products Development Fund" to foster the development of new products and improvement of existing products. Among the services which the State government could offer to such businesses are: equity investments and loan paybacks and guarantees.

Up to $10 million in general obligation bonds would be used to set up a "Texas Small Business Incubator Fund" to assist small, non-agricultural business growth through outright grants and through loans. A business being assisted by this particular Fund would be exempt from property taxes in much the same way that charities are exempt. Other advantages of this Fund are that participants may share common working quarters, equipment and support personnel. They would have access to professional consultants for advice related to the technical and management aspects of conducting a commercial enterprise.

Because Article III, Section 49 of the Texas Constitution prohibits the State from operating in debt, these economic development programs cannot be implemented without changing the Constitution.

FOR ARGUMENTS:

As the Texas economy struggles to revive itself and reduce unemployment while keeping inflation under control, the State government can provide a significant boost. The programs which proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 6 would create would rebuild and diversify the State's economy. Oil and agriculture - long the mainstay of our economy - are both in trouble.

Many potential new businesses - both agricultural and non-agricultural - simply cannot establish themselves because they are unable to obtain private financing in current economic conditions in Texas. Much the same problem is evident among existing small businesses which would like to develop new products and expand services.

Although the agricultural sector is in trouble, it need not remain so. Using economic stimuli, agriculture can resurface as the productive industry that it once was and socially-indispensable industry that it is and always will be.

Projects seeking assistance under this proposal would be carefully screened for merit and genuine need. The main theme of this whole proposition is the belief that once small business entities overcome start-up obstacles, their potential for job-creation is phenomenal. And because these programs are funded by general obligation bonds, there would not be an endless drain on State resources.

AGAINST ARGUMENTS:

The financing of private business ought to be strictly a private matter. It is inappropriate for the State government to attempt to finance - with the taxpayers' money - what private investors deem unworthy of the risk. Besides, State government is functioning on an austere budget right now and simply cannot afford the luxury of giving away or loaning what little money it has.

Texas State government has traditionally operated on a pay-as-you-go philosophy. Texans, since the days of the Republic, have been fearful of abuses and scandals that almost always occur from the granting or loaning of public money. Human nature has not changed so dramatically from 1836 to 1987 and the safeguards should not be abandoned for the sake of expediency.

If it is necessary to spend more money, those expenditures should be directed toward upgrading and expanding our colleges and universities and our vocational education programs - the true "incubators" of business.

Obviously, there would be a screening process to pick and choose those potential businesses that would receive assistance. This opens the door for cronyism and favoritism and also means that one worthy entrepreneur receives assistance while another - just as meritorious - could be denied aid. Such circumstances represent an unfair advantage in favor of the recipient of the assistance.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 7 would provide for the issuance of up to $400 million in general obligation bonds to establish a Local Project Fund for public facilities.

At this time, it would be particularly ill-advised for the State government to take on more debt. This, and other, bond proposals on the November 1987 ballot, set a dangerous trend.

Above all else, we should remember that local governments should be responsible for their own local projects. We should not intermingle State government with local matters. Local communities should foot the bill for their own facilities and not look to Austin for bail-outs. This proposal is a wolf in sheep's clothing.

Local jurisdictions are free to incur bonded indebtedness under current law. There is no need to amend the Constitution. To do so means that the State is abandoning its current indifference to local use of financing public construction by bonded indebtedness and would actually encourage local governments to use this ill-advised method of financing. Full, one-time payment of the cost of construction projects is smarter because it avoids interest expense and also keeps things nice and simple.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 8 authorizes the Legislature to provide for the issuance of up to $500 million in general obligation bonds. The proceeds from bond sales would be used for acquiring, constructing, or equipping new facilities, or for major repair or renovation of existing facilities, of corrections institutions, including youth corrections institutions, and of mental health and retardation institutions.

Current facilities of the Texas prison system youth corrections institutions and mental health and retardation institutions are far below most projections of future need. Because of federal court orders, Texas is required to reduce overcrowding even at the PRESENT time to say nothing of planning for the FUTURE.

FOR ARGUMENTS:

Allowing the State to issue general obligation bonds and the use of proceeds for more quickly acquiring, constructing, or equipping new facilities and repairing existing ones, will make it possible for Texas to comply with federal court orders and avoid costly penalties.

Bearing in mind that State government is experiencing a budget crunch, bonded indebtedness is preferable to the pay-as-you-go method of financing at this particular time.

Proper and thorough oversight of the bond program is provided for in the implementing legislation which accompanies this proposed amendment. The oversight would ensure that bond proceeds allocated for the most important projects and that proper procedural methods are followed in the bond issues. The oversight would also ensure that building projects were fairly distributed around the state.

AGAINST ARGUMENTS:

The overreliance upon bonded indebtedness to meet the State's financial responsibilities in the present may portend financial disaster in the future. Texans should not abandon the pay-as-you-go tradition which has kept Texas comparatively strong among the 50 states. Even bad times in Texas are better than good times in some other states thanks to the pay-as-you-go philosophy. We must live within our means and not become hooked on credit.

The Legislative Budget Board staff has estimated that an extra $46.5 million per year would be needed to pay the interest and to repay the principal over a 20-year period. Based upon this estimate, by the year 2008, the State would have paid about $940 million out of general revenues for initial construction and renovation projects worth about half that amount - $500 million. It is better to pay-as-you-go rather than to incur ridiculous and inflationary interest expenses down the road. Gambling on bonded indebtedness is not a panacea for temporary budget shortfalls.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 9 would remove the provision making members of the Legislature ineligible, during their elected terms, to seek other elective or appointive offices that are created or for which the salary and/or benefits have been raised during the aforementioned term. At present, legislators cannot for example serve as State judges or as members of executive boards or commissions during the period for which they were elected, even if they resign before the expiration of their term.

Currently, the Senate is prohibited from confirming a legislator who is a gubernatorial nominee for an appointive office that was created or for which the salary and/or benefits have been raised during the legislator's term even if he or she resigns and is replaced before the term expires.

FOR ARGUMENTS:

This proposal would remove obstacles that can keep a highly-qualified legislator - with extensive experience and knowledge of State government - from serving in SOME elective and appointive offices and not in OTHERS. Under current law, no legislator is eligible to seek an office for which even a modest and perfunctory cost-of-living increase in salary and benefits is granted by the Legislature if such creation or increase in emoluments takes effect during the term of office to which he or she was elected to the Legislature. Another issue is the inconsistency of the prohibition. For instance, half of the members of the Senate would be eligible - if any of them so desired - to run for the office of Governor in 1990 if their Senate terms expire in January of 1991. But the other Senators, whose terms would expire in January of 1993, would be prohibited from running.

If the prohibition is intended to prevent legislators from unethical enrichment, then this proposed constitutional amendment addresses that perfectly legitimate concern by stipulating that an ex-legislator shall not receive the pay raise or the increase in benefits if he or she is elected or appointed to such an office. This approach makes much more sense.

AGAINST ARGUMENTS:

This proposed amendment is intended to address the ambitions of a handful of persons - members of the Legislature. It is bad public policy to amend the Constitution merely to benefit a tiny few however uniquely qualified or exceptionally talented they might happen to be.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 10 would allow the Legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxation any tangible personal property, such as boats, airplanes and recreational vehicles which are not used in the production of income.

Under current law, household goods and personal effects not held or used for the production of income are exempt from ad valorem taxation levied by local taxing jurisdictions. (In 1982, the State property tax was abolished.) Such property as boats, airplanes and recreational vehicles that are not used for the production of income do not fall in the category of household goods and personal effects and, therefore, are subject to local ad valorem taxation. This proposed amendment would exempt such property from local taxation, but a local jurisdiction could turn around and override the exemption and tax such property anyway. Now if that sounds a little goofy, here is the explanation: Article VIII, Section 1 of the Texas Constitution provides that "[a]ll real property in this State, unless exempt ... shall be taxed in proportion to its value..." This means that even if a local jurisdiction does not want to tax boats, airplanes and recreation vehicles, it is forced to do so if it uses the property tax method of raising revenue. The proposed constitutional amendment would allow those jurisdictions that want to tax such property to do so without concomitantly forcing other jurisdictions to do so that do not want to.

FOR ARGUMENTS:

This proposed amendment would provide uniformity in the exemption of property not used for the production of income. With the already-existing exemption of household goods and personal effects, it makes little sense to keep the burden of taxation upon other non-income-producing property like boats, airplanes and recreation vehicles.

In some instances, it would cost a local taxing jurisdiction more to administer the collection of the tax on such property than it would bring in revenue. The proposal would allow those jurisdictions that find the collection of the tax to be unprofitable to discontinue that collection effort.

AGAINST ARGUMENTS:

It is silly to argue that property not used for the production of income should, by virtue alone, be exempt from taxation. The average residential home is also not used for the production of income and yet this proposed amendment would not exempt the average residential home.

If personal effects, household goods, boats, airplanes and recreational vehicles should be exempt, then the average residential home should be too. This proposal is a sham.

Home Hospice may soon offer its services in Cooke County

This community faces many needs, and the number and scope seem to grow each year. One of the greater needs is for Home Hospice and it is coming increasingly to the forefront, as awareness of the needs and fears of terminally ill patients becomes reality, touching an ever-widening circle of families.

Hospice is a medically-directed, nurse-coordinated program for patients terminally ill in the last six months of their lives.

Hospice reaches out also to patients' families. It offers support and relief to the exhausted caregiver. Hospice does not leave after the death. It lends support in bereavement and grief as long as there is the need. Bereavement support groups are open to anyone undergoing a grief process. Home Hospice shines as a community commitment to care for the dying, their families and for those who grieve.

Home Hospice has been rendering a vital service in Grayson County for 10 years and it is beginning its function in Cooke County, drawing upon the valuable experience amassed by the neighboring organization. It hopes to begin service by Jan. 15, 1988, if necessary support is found within the county.

Home Hospice was explained to members of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce by Linda Lira, R.N. during the Tuesday luncheon meeting at The Center Restaurant. Ms. Lira is a resident of Cooke County who works with the Grayson County Home Hospice. She was accompanied by Linda Hirneise.

She told the groups that in 1986 in Cooke County, there were 275 deaths with 61 listed as caused by cancer.

"The image of Home Hospice is generally one of dealing with death and dying," she said. "However, Hospice is really life-affirming, and dying is an integral part of dying."

"Hospice care believes that the dying have basic rights which include the right to enjoy maximum quality of life, the right to self-determination and the right to remain a viable family member in their own environment.

"Hospice care allows the dying patient the privilege of remaining at home surrounded by family, friends and familiar surroundings. Therefore, they are able to live life to its fullest, in spite of a life-threatening illness, whatever kind of illness. Hospiced also recognizes the unique needs of each family member and strives to meet those needs.

"Hospice can be seen as a circle of care. The attending physician directs medical care of the patient. The registered nurse, social worker, counselor and clergy provide extensive medical, emotional and spiritual care and support. Volunteers are highly-trained friends who help in dozens of much needed ways.

"Death with dignity is not possible when there is extreme pain - physical pain, social pain, spiritual pain, psychological pain and the bureaucratic pain of Medicare, insurance forms, Social Security, etc. Hospice is prepared to help ease the pain and assist the patient and the family in making life more comfortable. Hospice sees that the terminally-ill patient encounters difficulties that are compounded by worries about the future, regrets, unfinished business, finances, fear and depression." She emphasized again, "Hospice does not leave after death. The care lasts as long as the need exists.

"A group of concerned citizens is working to bring Home Hospice to Cooke County. We feel a need exists in Cooke County for the type of service Hospice can provide.

"All funding provided for by Cooke County residents will be used to provide care within Cooke County.

"The operation of Home Hospice of Cooke County will be governed by a board of directors composed of Cooke County residents committed to Hospice care in Cooke County. Many of them have had experiences in their lives that made them realize the value of the program and the need for the loving circle of care that Hospice provides for a dying patient, the family and friends..."

"To qualify for Home Hospice of Cooke County care, a patient must be:

- 1) a resident of Cooke County
- 2) have a life expectancy measured in weeks and months

3) get approval of the personal physician

4) have patient/family consent and have provision made for a primary care-giver

"Hospice care will not be denied due to inability to pay for services provided."

Hospice is a private, non-profit organization, licensed by the state ... services provided by Hospice are covered by Medicare, Medicaid and private insurance ... since treatment is given regardless of race, creed, handicap or ability to pay, it is necessary that partial funding must come from the community in the form of donations, memorials, grants and support from the business community ... Hospice will need countywide community support of time, talent and money.

While some office equipment has already been donated, also needed will be plain paper copier, answering machine, and general office supplies. Contributions, all tax deductible, may be sent to: Home Hospice of Cooke County, P.O. Box 936, Gainesville, Texas 76240.

A class in "Life Awareness/Death Awareness" will be offered as a mini-course at Cooke County College Nov. 7, 14 and 21 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., open to anyone but required for volunteers who wish to work directly with patient care through Hospice. In addition, there are also many areas where volunteers are needed other than in direct patient care.

Home Hospice needs volunteers as patient care volunteers; bereavement care volunteers; administrative volunteers; Hospice auxiliary members; contributions and memorials.

Local firm slates kickoff of award

Earl Russell, the local representative with Edward D. Jones & Co., a St. Louis-based financial services firm, has announced the kick-off of the local Edward D. Jones, Sr. Heart of Gold Award. This award will honor an individual who has dedicated his or her time and energy to helping those less fortunate than him or herself.

"There are people in our community who have built their lives around helping others. Unfortunately, these people often go unrecognized. The Edward D. Jones, Sr. Heart of Gold Award recognizes these unsung heroes, and I hope anyone knowing such a person will take the time to nominate him or her for this honor," Russell said.

Nominations for the Heart of Gold Award can be made by filling out a brief form available at the local Edward D. Jones & Co. office, located at 701 East California, Gainesville. Deadline for nominations is Nov. 6, 1987.

A panel of judges consisting of community members yet to be named will select the local Heart of Gold winner in November. The winner, along with candidates from other communities throughout the nation, will then be eligible for the National Edward D. Jones, Sr. Heart of Gold Award. The winner of the national award, who will be announced in February of 1988, will receive a $5,000 donation to his or her favorite charity and tickets for an all-expense paid, week-long vacation for two in Key West, Fla. Each of the 10 runners-up will receive a $1,000 donation to the charity of their choice. Last year's recipient of the Edward D. Jones, Sr. National Heart of Gold Award was Mrs. Marlene Giordano of Shelbyville, Ind.

earning some interest which enables the school board to keep patrons' total tax bills or annual tax rate lower than it might otherwise be. The Cooke County Appraisal District is presently collecting 96 to 97 percent of taxes levied annually. The appraisal district employs a delinquent tax attorney who is collecting many delinquent taxes in an efficient manner.

Muenster I.S.D. patrons who desire additional details are invited to visit with any member of the board or Superintendent Charles Coffey prior to the election. Current members of the board are Annette Anderle, Harold Bindel, Jerry Bynum, Tom Flusehe, Joe Hellman, Dennis Hess and Richard Pagel. The Cooke County League of Women Voters is sponsoring a panel discussion at the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce at 7 p.m. on Oct. 15, 1987.

In summary, Superintendent Charles Coffey commented, "Our trustees' vote for the resolution to oppose this change appeared to be based on the simple logic that the proposed change would probably cost more and possibly be less efficient than the existing system." Coffey feels it is possible that a great deal of misleading information has been circulated to secure voters' signatures on the petition calling the election. Coffey urged Muenster I.S.D. patrons to visit with any school trustee or the superintendent to secure any information they might need prior to voting on this important issue.

social and emotional problems of young people.

"We plan to work with kids of all ages," states Herman Carroll, president of the Kiwanis Club of Muenster. "We know that there are more problems and pressures facing young people today, and we're surveying the community to find the best projects to help them."

A major project of the Muenster Kiwanians Club and other participating North Texas area Kiwanis Clubs will be a Martial Arts Exposition by the world's Top Masters.

Masters from U.S.A., Canada, Mexico, Spain, Korea and other nations will gather Nov. 14, 1987 at North Texas State University Men's Gym in Denton for an unprecedented show of individual and team demonstrations.

"These masters are the very best in the world today," said Muenster Kiwanian Alton Ladd, himself an avid student of Tae Kwon Do. "They have agreed to this exposition chiefly because the proceeds will go totally to the Special Olympics program for handicapped children."

The plans are being directed in large part by Master Choi of Choi's Tae Kwon Do Academy of Denton and Gainesville. According to Ladd, Master Choi is widely recognized as one of the best among the upper echelons of martial arts instructors. He will demonstrate also.

The event is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 14, 1987 at 7 p.m., Men's Gym, NTSU campus, on Highland across from the Coliseum. Tickets are $5.00 in advance, $8.00 at the door, $3.00 for all students. Children under 12 are free if accompanied by an adult.

More information can be obtained from Master Choi's in Gainesville, 817-665-1179, or in Denton, 817-382-3854.

Lighting balloting is over.. And the winner is...

When the balloting for the choice of style of lighting is over on Friday afternoon, the real work just begins. The ballot boxes spread around town will be picked up on Friday throughout the day. The next step is sorting, counting and logging comments. At the next City Council meeting to be held on Nov. 2, the results will be made public. The discussions will also involve permits, placement, power usage and details the Council will need to help make a decision regarding taking over long-term maintenance of the adopted fixtures.

Calls continue to come to from businesses interested in adopting a fixture or two, and several residents have inquired as well. There seems to be a small amount of misinformation going about regarding fixture placement. While everything is tentative at this point, suggestions were to place the fixtures only where lot owners wanted them, provided the State Highway Department approves of the location for safety. Several residents were concerned that the fixtures would be forced on them. Hopefully, this message makes it clear that it is up to the landowner to make that decision. Once that style, maintenance and other problems can be worked out, the matter will be referred to the Highway Department. Adoptees should not dig the hole and lay any electrical wire just yet. With over a three-month wait due to the bid requirements on government contracts, things appear to point to an arrival time sometime next spring.

POWER OFTEN LIES IN THE HANDS OF AN UNKNOWN FEW.

They hold no public office. Yet, their duty is to service and protect us all. They're all part of the team of men and women at your electric company who go to work when the lights go out. The job of finding and fixing a break in a power line isn't an easy one. It takes people to answer your call. Dispatchers to direct the crews to the problem. And, finally, a select group of Troublemakers and Servicemen who must be able to complete their task even in high winds and thunderstorms. Or, on occasion, when wires are brought down by the weight of ice and snow. It takes people who can get the job done, no matter what the time of day. Or night. The team responsible for restoring your power is just part of our commitment to service. And that's something you can count on.

MRS. CHARLES EDWARD SCHUMACHER
...nee Alice Ann Fuhrmann...

Following Lindsay wedding...

Couple at home in Gainesville

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Schumacher have returned from a wedding trip to Galveston and are at home in Gainesville.

They were married in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay on Saturday, Oct. 10, in a 5 p.m. Nuptial Mass with double ring ceremony, officiated by Father Nicholas Fuhrmann and Father Cletus Post.

The bride is the former Alice Ann Fuhrmann, daughter of Joseph Paul and Marie Fuhrmann of Rt. 2, Gainesville. The groom is the son of Richard and Florence Schumacher of Rt. 6, Gainesville.

Alice Ann is a 1981 graduate of Lindsay High School; attended Cooke County College and graduated from East Texas State University in 1985. She is employed as a secretary by Cooke County Electric Co-op.

A graduate of Gainesville High School, the groom received his degree from West Texas State University in 1981. He is employed as a mechanic by S and W Tractor Co.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She was wearing a formal gown which she designed and made of white acetate satin. It featured a fitted bodice with sweetheart neckline, leg-o-mutton sleeves, a full skirt gathered to the basque waistline and a chapel-length train. Matching lace edged the sleeves, neckline and train.

Her two-tiered illusion veil was attached to a wreath of white silk flowers and pearls. Her bridal flowers were carried in an arrangement of white and blue roses, white stephanotis entwined with a rosary, with blue and white streamers.

For tradition, she wore a birthdate penny in her shoe and a pearl necklace "borrowed" from her bridesmaid. "Something new" was a gift from the groom of pearl earrings; and her garter was "blue."

ATTENDANTS

Lucy Fuhrmann was her sister's maid of honor; and Linda Schumacher, a cousin of the bride and sister-in-law of the groom, was the bridesmaid.

They wore floor-length, royal blue taffeta gowns with the front-pleated skirts gathered to the basque waistline. Bows accented the shoulders above elbow-length puffed sleeves.

They carried bouquets of blue flowers with blue and white streamers.

Jennifer Otto of Nocona, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a royal blue taffeta gown made similar to the bride's. Bridal attendants' dresses were made by the bride's mother and sister and by Margie Fuhrmann.

Patrick Lusk of Dallas was ring bearer.

All flowers for the wedding were made by Margie Fuhrmann, bride's aunt and godmother.

Kevin Schumacher was his brother's best man. Gene Schumacher, another brother, was groomsman. Pete Fuhrmann of Greenville, bride's brother, Jim Schumacher, groom's brother, and Harvey Jack Smith of Gainesville, a friend of the groom, were ushers.

Glenn Fuhrmann and Ted Fuhrmann, cousins, were Mass servers.

John Schumacher of Kenton, Okla., groom's brother, was lector for the special liturgy. Billy and Margie Fuhrmann and Agnes Kneupper, godparents of the couple, presented Offertory gifts of bread and wine at the altar. Skipper Bezner, groom's brother-in-law, assisted as Eucharistic minister.

Patsy Henry was organist for the traditional wedding marches and was her own accompanist on organ or guitar for vocal selections.

The church altar was decorated with two large arrangements of white and blue flowers, lighted candles and the Unity candle.

The bride presented a rose to her mother before the ceremony and to the groom's mother as she left the altar.

RECEPTION

The bride's parents hosted a reception in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Gainesville for 300 guests. Donna Harlow of Canton, Tx., sister of the groom, and Susan Schumacher, groom's sister-in-law, presided at the guest book, at a table covered with a lace cloth made by the bride's mother. The Unity candle was displayed.

Mickey Spaeth, groom's cousin, made the wedding cake and Janie Schumacher made the groom's cake. Both were served by Janelle Fuhrmann, Jessica Fuhrmann, Brandy Bezner, Jennifer Bezner and Elizabeth Holder.

Dinner was catered by Mrs. Ed

Schad and her sisters.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home on Friday, Oct. 9.

Two showers honored the bride

- elect. On Sept. 13, bridesmaids gave a recipe shower and on Sept. 20, the groom's sisters and sisters-in-law hosted a miscellaneous display shower.

Mammography:

A Picture Worth A Thousand Words.

What is a Mammography?

It's an X-ray that creates an image of the breast.

What are the benefits?

Mammography can find cancers too small to be felt. It has been proven effective in saving women's lives.

Are there risks?

The amount of radiation needed to produce a high-quality mammogram is in an acceptably safe range. When you weigh the benefits against the minimal risks, you'll most likely agree that it's in your best interest to have regular exams.

Is Breast Cancer really a threat?

Every fifteen minutes, three women develop breast cancer, and one woman dies of breast cancer. One out of every eleven women will develop breast cancer sometime during her life.

Den 4 Cub Scouts visit Fire Hall

Cub Scouts of Den 4 kept in tune with fire safety with a visit to the Muenster Fire Department. The tour was given by Fire Chief Herbie Knabe. He showed the boys equipment used to put out fire. He explained how they use foam, where they store different things on the truck and he showed how the siren is different sounding on each truck. Herbie started the old 40-year-old truck so we could hear how it runs. He let us spray the fire hose on the pumper truck, telling us it carries 530 gallons of water. The best part was when he gave us a ride on the fire truck and let us blow the siren.

Afterwards we enjoyed refreshments of brownies, Rice Krispie treats and Cokes provided by Eric Miller. Next event is the Scout Show on Oct. 17.

Reported by Mark Walterscheid and Royce Knabe.

Secular Franciscans of Sacred Heart Parish met Sunday in church to honor the feast day of their patron, St. Francis of Assisi, with a special liturgy. Observance of the Oct. 4 date was incorporated with the fraternity's regular meeting on Oct. 12. Twelve members and Franciscan nun Sister Barbara Bernauer were present.

The celebration began with unison singing of the hymn, "Prayer of St. Francis." Marie Henscheid, prefect, led the opening invocation after which Sister Barbara read an account of the death of Francis entitled, "Francis, the Journey and the Dream." Responses by members were taken from Psalm 142.

A period of silent meditation followed after which the prefect voiced intercessions and members responded. The song, "How Great Thou Art," concluded the ritual.

In a brief business session, members heard a letter from one of their adopted families in India and voted to add a Christmas donation to the regular monthly contribution for the two families.

Afterwards the group went to the Henscheid home for a social and refreshments of ice cream, cake, cookies, and coffee.

The serving table, with a white lace centerpiece, featured a statue of St. Francis and a floral arrangement.

St. Richard's Villa has many visitors

by Rosina Kubis
September's birthday party on Sept. 3 for residents of St. Richard's Villa was a fun time for all but there were no special birthdays so all of them were honorees. Betty Gilpin baked a chocolate cake and Brandi and Tammy Gilpin helped us serve it. Mildred Lawson played her accordion, and sang.

On Sept. 14, Father Victor Gillespie came to celebrate Mass. Afterwards residents enjoyed refreshments of cookies and punch.

Labor Day was very special at St. Richard's Villa. Residents were served a picnic lunch. In the afternoon all were treated with ice cream sundaes. Janice Bayer and Eileen Fisher came to play the piano and sing with residents.

Jan Cain came on Sept. 11 and, assisted by her mother Marcy Wilde, gave facials to the ladies.

On Grandparents Day, Sept. 13, Baptist Church services were held. Rita Richey played the piano and Eddie Ramsey sang. Rosina Kubis, activity director, served doughnuts and coffee. An extra treat was an afternoon Bingo game from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. followed by refreshments that included Grandparent Cake, baked by Betty Rose Walterscheid and served to residents and guests.

Rosemary Dankesreiter brought her piano students on Sept. 26. Joy Tisdale, Amy Dankesreiter, Lonie and Andrea Bartush, Peggy Grewing, Leslie Grewing and Sheila Huddleston played piano. Dana Dankesreiter played guitar, and her brother Tommy came along to help.

Marie Hundt and Gertie Horn brought cookies the next day. Linda Flusche and Mary Endres have been coming on alternate Tuesdays to play the piano and sing with residents.

Residents and staff offer special thanks to the regulars who come every week: Pam and Elizabeth Fette; Elsie Lohner; Irene Hartman; Joe Hoenig; Louise Fisher; Betty Felderhoff; and Caroline Hess.

Ladies who bring the Bingo games to St. Richard's Villa residents deserve a special "Thank You." They are Betty Yosten; Marie Henscheid; Amanda Fuhrmann; Dorothy Yosten; Thelma and Edward Dill; Lu Vogel; Augusta Walterscheid; Agnes Klement; Marie Hundt; Martha Sicking; Margaret Reiter; Margaret Kupper; Catherine Hermes; Leona Eberhart; and Julia Cunningham.

Out-of-town guests who came to visit residents included Larry Thornberry of Mesquite, visiting his brother Paul Thornberry; Diane and Rosemary Swoboda of Fort Worth, seeing Mary J. Arcola; Mr. and Mrs. Murray Jones of Corpus Christi; Mildred Fulton; Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Rosson of San Antonio; Rachel Barrette of Graham; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holley of Whitesboro.

Many people come to visit friends at St. Richard's Villa but sometimes forget to sign the guest book. They are all most welcome, but the Villa urges them to write their own names and the names of their relatives. St. Richard's Villa wants to compliment all visitors and to share the happy times they spend with residents.

Girl Scout Troop 495 plan future activities

Girl Scout Troop 495 met on Oct. 1 to plan a special pinning ceremony for girls who were not able to attend the Sept. 20 investiture. They practiced a flag ceremony, wrote invitations and planned other details. A special snack for the meeting was shared by all. Each girl made an "edible fire" of cheese, marshmallows, pretzels and lemonade. These items were used to demonstrate how to build a teepee fire which the girls will later use when they go camping in November.

As a service project the girls colored the "angels" to be used on the Christmas trees for the "Littlest Angel" program in December.

Members of Troop 495 are Karri Endres, Nicole Endres, Vanessa Felderhoff, Kathy Hacker, Leasha Perryman, Loreta Reiter and Rhonda Sloop. Leader is Loreta Felderhoff. One guest, Kari Crow, was at the meeting.

Future plans include an overnight trip to the Science Place in Dallas, ice skating and overnight bowling event, a Dad-N-Me event for the girls and their fathers, and an overnight at Camp Letoli near Saint Jo. The girls will also be involved in service projects throughout the year. To help them pay the fees for these events, the girls will be selling calendars in the fall and cookies in the spring.

Ready for Lindsay showdown...

Hornets win district opener

The Muenster Hornets met their first district opponent as well as their first Class A opponent this season and came away with a 50-6 victory over the Prosper Eagles. The win left Muenster 1-0 in district play and set up a possible title showdown this Friday night with district foe Lindsay (1-0, 4-2). Due to UIL sanctions against Valley View and the strengths of the remaining teams, the Muenster vs. Lindsay contest almost assures the winner of a playoff spot and district title.

Getting back on the winning track and running its record to 2-4 for the year was imperative for the Hornets last Friday night. Head Coach Bill Jump saw it no other way.

"We challenged the guys to go out and be aggressive on every play, told them exactly where Prosper was ranked, and what a loss would do to this program," he said. "Fortunately, they responded in a big way."

Indeed they did. Muenster led 30-0 at halftime and with 5:01 left in the third quarter, they led 50-0. Sophomore James Hennigan paced the assault with 16 carries for 127 yards and 4 touchdowns.

Jerry Brawner completed 5 of 10 passes for 102 yards and 2 touchdowns, and Chris Klement was good on 3 of 4 passing attempts for 56 yards and 1 touchdown.

After Klement hit J. Shane Wimmer on a 26-yard scoring strike with 35 seconds left in the first half, Weldon Hermes brought the crowd to its feet with the play of the game. Hermes intercepted a Prosper pass and rambled 31 yards to the end zone for a 30-0 Hornet lead, bowling over 2 would-be tacklers at the goalline.

Brian Hess scored his first touchdown this season when Brawner connected with him on a 41-yard aerial for the final Muenster tally. Prosper avoided the shutout when Ricky Gillespie found Chad Chestney on a 20-yard touchdown pass late in the game. Muenster stopped the Eagles' attack with 1 fumble recovery (Scot Vogel) and four interceptions (Hermes, Brawner, Klement and Billy Youngblood).

Muenster gained 378 yards and 20 first downs but suffered 15 penalties for 115 yards. It was by far the best offensive output of the season. A far cry better than the 3 first downs and 47 yards managed the week before at Van Alstyne.

"It was great to move the ball," Jump said, "but past performances are meaningless this Friday night. Everywhere you coach or live there is a rivalry that has a way of working itself into a frenzy almost every year. Lindsay is that kind of game for us."

Muenster will enter the game minus six starting positions. Junior linebacker-guard Weldon Hermes is out due to no pass-no play. Junior guard-tackle Jeff Hellman will be out for the year with a knee injury. Junior noseguard-punter Bobby Don Thornhill will not play because of a hyperextended elbow, and senior Mike Armstrong, a starting linebacker, has left the team. Filling the offensive guard slots will be Jeff Christian and Keith Vogel. Stuart Hess will assume the kicking duties. Shawn Vogel will see action at noseguard, and linebacking chores will be manned by Donnie Boydston, Scot Vogel and Troy Pagel.

Kick-off will be at 7:30 p.m. at Hornet Stadium. Come and support the Hornets!

Muenster Little Red wins 3rd contest

The Muenster Hornet Junior High squad won its third game against one loss with a 14-6 win over the Prosper Eagles. The Little Red defense shut down the Eagle attack, limiting them to 4 first downs. Their lone touchdown came on the opening kickoff of the second half to break a 0-0 deadlock.

Trailing 6-0, halfback Mike Vogel began chewing up big yardage, and Ryan Sicking made it count. Sicking scored two second half touchdowns and Vogel made the important two point conversion. Vogel also had two scores nullified by penalty.

The win lifted the Hornets to 1-0 in district play. They travel to Lindsay tonight for a 6 p.m. encounter with the arch-rival Knights.

Starting lineups for the Little Red are:

OFFENSE: Jason Biffle, 8th, center; Cody Trubenbach, 7th, guard; Jeremy Jones, 7th, guard; Chris Kubis, 8th, tackle; Sam Walterscheid, 8th, tackle; Tony Perryman, 8th, fullback; Mike Vogel, 8th, tailback; Ryan Sicking, 8th, flanker; Mike Gobble, 8th, quarterback; Doug Hennigan, 8th, end; Justin Ramsey, 8th, end.

DEFENSE: Tony Perryman, 8th, noseguard; Sam Walterscheid, 8th, tackle; Jeremy Jones, 7th, tackle; Justin Ramsey, 8th, end; Ryan Sicking, 8th, end; Mike Vogel, 8th, linebacker; Chris Kubis, 8th, linebacker; Doug Hennigan, 8th, corner; Rex Huchton, 8th, corner; Mike Gobble, 8th, safety; Jason Biffle, 8th, safety.

Volksmarch for Muenster walkers!

The Autofest Volksmarch was organized with the Muenster walkers in mind. The first Volksmarch, held during Germanfest, was held at a time when most of Muenster walkers were busy with other activities or visiting family. The Muenster Kiwanis Club decided to have another AVA-sanctioned walk at the Autofest so that Muenster walkers could have a chance to participate.

Everyone who walks for health or fun is encouraged to support the local club's event on the 24th. Registration gets underway at 7:30 a.m. and lasts until 2:30 p.m. when the last walker must complete the course. Pre-registration will cost $4.00 for both medal and stamp, $5.00 on the 24th, or $1.50 for a stamp in the AVA booklet. Look for the registration table at the entrance to the Muenster Ball Park grandstands. Call 759-2536 or 759-2227 for pre-registration or for more information.

Kiwanis Club sponsors annual supper

The Muenster Kiwanis Club is sponsoring its annual Pancake Supper on Friday, Oct. 16, 4:30 to 7 p.m. as a club benefit.

The location is the MHS Cafeteria. Tickets are $3.00 adults and $2.00 children. Sponsors suggest this will be a good meal before the football game.

Contest ends in tie

In the fourth week of The Enterprise football contest, Mickey Haverkamp and Chris Stoffels tied with 20 correct picks. Both listed tie-breaker scores of 28-6 and therefore split the week's prizes.

Brothers Craig and Chris Stoffels now lead the contest with 74.29 percent of the games correctly picked. Mickey Haverkamp follows with a 73.61 average, then Mark Klement at 72.86 percent.

All entries picked Sacred Heart to win and Lindsay to win with just one thinking Muenster would be defeated. Most tie-breaker scores picked the Hornets to win by 3 or 4 touchdowns. Henry Knabe's guess of 45-0 was the closest.

Everyone predicted Gunter's win over Cumby. All but two favored Gainesville, but the game's tied score gave all entries a miss. Also, no one picked Notre Dame to lose to Pittsburg.

Four contestants chose 19 correct. Two had 18 and three with 17 right choices.

Winners picked up their cash prizes at Lora's Flowers and Gifts, last week's tie-breaker sponsor.

Muenster's Culp wins

Sophomore Yancy Culp of Muenster High School entered the Gainesville Cross Country Relays at Cooke County last Saturday and finished eighth in a field of more than 80 runners. He finished the three-mile course in an official time of 19:11 and was not beaten by any other Class A entry.

Deanna Bierschenk, Jeannene Walterscheid, Jane Klement and Aletha Brawner entered the girls' field of more than 80 runners and finished 15th, 42nd, 43rd and 57th.

In the junior high division, Muenster had 3 entries of the 47 total and all three finished in the top 10. Amy Dankesreiter placed second overall. Tonya Knabe was fourth, and Christie Christian finished tenth.

He & She Tourney set for Sun.

Area golfers are invited to participate in a "he and she" scramble tournament. The two-person teams will have a shotgun start at 9 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 18, at the Nocona Municipal Course. A $25.00 per team entry fee will include green fees and all proceeds go towards the prizes. About 20 carts are available for rent, first come, first serve. Interested golfers should call Tom Flusche at 759-2203.

The tournament is sponsored by the Muenster Jaycees.

Tigers triumphant over Warriors, 51-0

The Sacred Heart Tigers rolled to their second district victory with a 51-0 shutout over Lakehill Saturday night in front of a large homecoming crowd.

The Tigers drove for 4 first half touchdowns despite the 65 yard-flagging they received for penalties.

Ryan Bayer blocked the Warriors' first punt to set up, but the Tigers were unable to capitalize on the turnover. On the Tigers second possession, a 41-yard run by Wayne Becker set up quarterback Darrell Dangelmayr's touchdown keeper. The extra point pass failed.

The next two plays were ruled from the book. A Warrior fumbled Deano Bayer's kick, then downed the ball in the end zone, giving Sacred Heart a 2-point safety. The Tigers were to receive a free kick, but the ball, kicked into the wind, went 10 yards, rolled back, was recovered by Lakehill and ruled an on-side kick.

The visitors were unable to move the ball and punted. The next play, Dangelmayr found junior split-end Curt Bayer open and threw deep for a 36-yard touchdown. The kick failed and the home team took a 14-0 first quarter lead.

The first scoring in the second quarter came early. An 11-yard run by Ryan Bayer, Scott Taylor's 39-yard run and Dangelmayr passing to Curt Bayer, then Taylor gave Sacred Heart another 6 points. The kick once again failed.

During Lakehill's next possession, lineman Max Hastings picked off a tipped pass near midfield. The ground game moved the ball to the 7-yard line when the visitors stopped the drive with an interception. The Warriors once again couldn't muster a first down, giving Sacred Heart the ball on the 43-yard line. Staying with rushing, the Tigers moved the ball into the end zone on a 1-yard run by Becker; the punt failed. The teams went to the lockers with 26-0 on the scoreboard.

Senior Amy Henscheid, daughter of Ted and Carol Henscheid, was crowned homecoming queen during halftime festivities.

The Tigers scored four more touchdowns during the third quarter. Scott Taylor ran in from the 2 with 8:48 still on the clock.

Deano Bayer's kick gave Lakehill the ball on the 20-yard line, but on their first play, Becker recovered a fumbled pitchback, setting up a Dangelmayr quarterback keeper touchdown.

Becker struck again two plays later, intercepting a pass for a 20-yard run to the end zone. The kick was good, giving Sacred Heart a 45-0 lead.

On the Tigers' next possession, Taylor caught a screen pass from Dangelmayr for the final score of the game, 51-0.

Action slowed down during the fourth quarter, with all the Tiger reserves getting on the playing field.

"The boys played real well," said Coach Clack. "It's nice to get back with our level. Scott had a good game, and Darrell a good night of throwing."

Deano Bayer led the defense with 14 tackles, Becker followed with 11, holding Lakehill to a total of 93 yards rushing, and 9 yards passing.

Ryan Bayer blocked a punt and Becker recovered a fumble and picked off two passes. Taylor and Max Hastings also intercepted a Warrior pass.

Offensively, Becker led the rushing with 106 yards in 11 carries, Taylor rushed 64 in 6 carries, adding to a total of 267 yards.

Curt Bayer and Scott Taylor caught three passes, each for 63 and 61 yards.

The Tigers remain healthy with the exception of Glen Swirczynski and Donnie Knabe, traveling to Dallas to play Tyler Street Academy Saturday night.

The 0-9 season finish last year doesn't count with this team. Under a new rookie head coach, the Crusaders have 38 players and good depth.

"If we play the way we're capable, we'll play a good game," said Coach Clack. "Tyler has a great running back and a long pass receiver."

Tyler Street is 3-3 for the season and 2-1 in district play.

Directions for Tyler Street game

TIGERETTES of the Week - Vickie Schmitt and Kerri Yosten.

Cubs gun down Braves

The Sacred Heart Cubs traveled to Nocona to tangle with the Braves this past week and returned to Muenster with a 26-0 win. The victory upped the Cub record to 3-1.

Helmuth Koelzer opened the scoring with a 2-yard around end. The conversion failed. In the second period, Kelly Bell went off left tackle from four yards out to give the Cubs a 12-0 halftime lead. Gary Hess opened the scoring in the third period with a 6-yard run.

Koelzer converted the two. Greg Hess picked off a Brave pass to set up a beautiful 28-yard run by Kelly Bell to end the scoring.

Cubs credited with outstanding performances were Kelly Bell, Greg Hess, Steve Fisher, Helmuth Koelzer, Jason Frost, Gary Hess, Scot Hennigan, and Bill Park. Next action for the Cubs will be at Callisburg Thursday afternoon with game time scheduled for 5:30.

Farm/Ranch

Biffle re-elected to Conservation Board

Jake G. Biffle, Jr. of Myra was re-elected to the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District board of directors Oct. 6, 1987. Biffle represents Zone III of the district.

The purpose of the Upper Elm-Red SWCD, with headquarters in Gainesville, is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch lands within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers and ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of landowners.

The board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreement with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purposes. As one of five individuals serving on the district board of directors, Biffle will be responsible for district policies and procedures for carrying out the district program within the framework of the Texas soil conservation district law.

In Texas there are 206 soil and water conservation districts. Each is a legal subdivision of state government organized by local agricultural landowners with the assistance of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board. Unlike most other legal subdivisions of state government, SWCDs do not have the powers of taxation or eminent domain. All conservation programs managed by the districts are of a voluntary nature to the landowners or operator.

Rate hikes could lower long-term yields

Further increases in the discount rate should signal the Federal Reserve Board's serious intent to lower inflation and stabilize the dollar. This should renew investor confidence and lead to lower interest rates. A noted economist reports.

"Looking out two to three years, if inflation is controlled, we could see long-term bond yields as low as they were last year or even in the 6 percent range," says A.G. Edwards economist Raymond Worsecck.

"The Federal Reserve Board's Sept. 3 increase in the discount rate should not be viewed as a sign that rising interest rates will become a long-term trend," Worsecck states. In fact, further hikes in the discount rate should eventually bring down long-term interest rates, he adds.

"The reason is that, in recent months, an inflationary psychology has been driving interest rates up and prices down in the bond market," he explains. In other words, investors worried about inflation were demanding higher yields from longer-term investments.

Continued hikes in the discount rate (the rate the fed charges member banks for overnight loans) should cause the economy to cool down and should help control inflation. "Raising the discount rate should begin to quell investors' inflationary fears," Worsecck says. "And when that happens, we'll see long-term yields stabilize and possibly decline, because investors will demand less of a return from long-term bonds."

According to A.G. Edwards' investment strategy committee, the time is right for bonds. "We recommend that bond and bond fund investors maintain their positions and consider additional purchases," Worsecck says.

"Today's high bond yields are a bargain versus bond yields 12 months ago. And on a risk-adjusted basis, bonds could offer a greater total return prospect in the next six to 12 months than the stock market," Worsecck says.

Investors who lock in today's high rates could take profits on their bond investments if rates eventually drop to the 6 percent level, as Worsecck expects.

Worsecck also recommends that investors consider interest-sensitive stocks, such as utilities.

Control disease using resistant varieties

The most economical form of disease control in wheat is through use of resistant varieties.

Dr. Norman L. McCoy of Dallas reports varietal resistance can be classified into general resistance and race-specific resistance.

General resistance slows down the epidemic development of the disease attacking the wheat and is found in most varieties, but the amount of resistance varies, he notes.

Race-specific resistance is effective against some diseases and ineffective against others. In the diseases that it affects, race-specific resistance completely inhibits the production of the disease, but other diseases can infect the wheat, he adds.

McCoy, a plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says varieties with a combination of the general and race-specific types have the best resistance.

"Researchers are presently developing varieties that have increased levels of general and race-specific resistance," McCoy says.

McCoy, who works on leaf rust and other wheat problems with Dr. David Marshall, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, says wheat varieties are completely resistant when first released and grown, but new races of the diseases develop and take over the wheat.

McCoy says varietal diversification, deliberately growing varieties with different resistances in adjacent fields, can reduce the spread of leaf rust and other diseases.

"The best strategy is to grow a variety from a different group, each with a low percentage of leaf rust, in each field," McCoy says.

"Rust spread is minimized because spores produced in one field will cause little infection in the others."

Another tactic is to grow a number of varieties in seed mixtures rather than separate fields. This brings the varieties into closer contact and further reduces the spread of disease.

Mixtures should be made with varieties having similar maturities, for ease of harvest operations, and similar heights for visual uniformity, McCoy advises.

Grain quality and grading characteristics should be considered before mixing varieties and soft and hard varieties should not be mixed, McCoy says.

McCoy suggests determining which diseases will need controlling in local areas before planting.

Leaf rust is the most widespread and destructive wheat disease in Texas. High risk leaf rust areas are north-central, central and southern Texas.

Powdery mildew and Septoria diseases are other diseases to watch for. The fungi that cause the rust and mildew diseases are identical visually, but differ in the varieties they attack, McCoy says.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

With the drought stress that most small grain plantings are now experiencing, there is the possibility of additional stress by insects. This past week we received a report from the Muenster area about greenbugs on wheat and oat plantings. Greenbugs are aphids that suck plant juices and inject toxins into small grain plants.

Under favorable conditions greenbugs can develop into large numbers. These conditions include temperature and moisture. Greenbugs reproduce rapidly at temperatures between 55 and 95 degrees F. The beneficial insects that feed on greenbugs reproduce slowly when temperatures are below 65 degrees F. This can cause greenbug buildups because the beneficials will reproduce slowly while the greenbugs are reproducing at a great rate. The question arises as to what temperature will stop greenbug damage. The average temperature must be below 20 degrees F. for at least a week to kill 99 percent of the greenbugs. Greenbugs will cause more damage when crops suffer from deficient moisture like we have now.

Producers can sample for greenbugs by walking across a field and taking five to 10 random counts per 20-acre field. A count consists of one foot of row. Count the bugs in these one-foot segments to get an average population over the field. The need to apply an insecticide will depend on the number of greenbugs present, size and vigor of plants, temperature, time of year, moisture conditions, the stage of growth, and whether there are ample beneficial insects present. There are many factors to consider, but as a general guide, the following chart will help in determining insect control.

Plant height (inches)	Number of greenbugs per linear foot
3-6	100-300
4-8	200-400
6-16	300-800

The appearance of dead plants can also indicate a need for treatment.

In selecting an insecticide, be sure and look at harvest and grazing restrictions. Remember that the colder it gets, the higher the rate of insecticide that is needed. Also, the colder the temperature, the longer it will take to kill insects. With the drought stress we are experiencing, producers should check fields for insect populations.

CCC schedules varied fall courses

Ranging from antiques and fish production to computers and rag basket making, this fall's lineup of community service mini-courses at Cooke County College may be the most widely varied ever.

More than two dozen different courses will be offered, the first of them beginning in mid-October. All are being offered on a non-credit basis.

Cathy Keeler of CCC's Division of Continuing Education says a brochure detailing the content, cost, meeting times and instructors for all the classes should be ready by the first of October.

"We wanted to go ahead and announce some of this now, however, to allow those who are interested to begin making plans to enroll," Keeler said. "We've already been receiving inquiries."

"Many of these classes are so popular that they fill up in a hurry. It would be a good idea to go ahead and call us about the class or classes of your choice as soon as possible."

Keeler added that most of the classes have space for a limited number of students.

The mini-course brochures will have a registration form that can be mailed in. Otherwise, persons wishing to sign up should go to the CCC Continuing Education Office in Room 109 on campus.

The fall '87 schedule of mini-courses will be of special interest to artists and artisans alike, with not one but seven arts and crafts classes set to begin in mid-October.

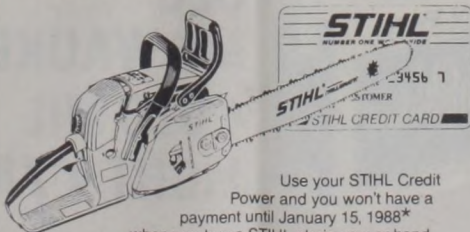

To learn more about any of the mini-courses to be offered this fall, or to request registration forms by mail, contact the CCC Continuing Education Office at 817-668-7731, Ext. 272.
